

Dimmitt High to graduate 86 Saturday

1:1

By Don Nelson

The two Navy pathologists who performed the autopsy on President John F. Kennedy finally broke their long silence last week.

They told the Journal of the American Medical Association the same thing that they had told the Warren Commission—that two bullets had pierced President Kennedy's skull, and that the entry-exit characteristics proved that both had entered his skull from above and behind, on an angle consistent with where Lee Harvey Oswald had stationed himself in the Texas School Book Depository.

There was no third wound from any angle, they said.

The conspiracy theorists immediately tried to discredit them.

Maybe one reason is that they don't want their profitable industry to come crashing down.

But their main reason for trying to discredit the two pathologists is that they simply don't want to give it up. They want their conspiracy as much as a compulsive drinker wants an excuse for the next binge.

I wish these conspiracy theorists would just accept the scientific evidence and take their psychoses somewhere else.

Aw, man, did I really do that?
Did I really say in last week's column that Sandy Baker is a student at Texas Wesleyan University?

It was Sandy's daughter, Jamie, who found herself sitting next to Jimmy Carter at the inauguration of the new TWU president.

While Jamie was singing at the inauguration, Sandy was at Plains Memorial Hospital giving shots, saving lives and doing other nurse things.

I can't believe I did that.

Performing community service is now a requirement for every person on probation. It's a new state-wide policy.

On the first Saturday of the new program, five local probationers cleaned up the city park, cut weeds and painted tables, benches and trash cans.

Good.
I think everyone who owes the government a debt—whether it's time on probation, or money received for welfare or Food Stamps—should be required to do community service.

There shouldn't be any free rides.
And there's plenty of work to be done.

BIGGEST TREE IN THE COUNTY?—Krissa McLain, 2-year-old daughter of Chris and Theresa McLain of Hart, is dwarfed by this giant cottonwood tree along Running Water Draw southeast of Hart. Ray and Jeff Robertson of Dimmitt measured the circumference of the tree trunk at 24 feet at its base. Do you know of a larger tree in the county?

Dimmitt High School will graduate 86 seniors Saturday during commencement exercises at 8 p.m. in the DHS Auditorium.

The processional will be performed by Dwight Joiner and the Methodist Bell Choir under the direction of Jane O'Kelly, followed by Casey Summer's invocation.

Monica Villanueva will deliver the salutatory address and Christy Killough will give the valedictory speech.

Principal R. L. Stockstill will present scholarship awards, followed by the presentation of the class by Supt. Bob Barrett.

David Schaeffer, president of the school board, will award diplomas.

Tory Mathews will deliver the benediction, and Joiner will perform the recessional.

'Garage Sale Day' plans completed

Plans for Dimmitt's "City - Wide Garage Sale Day" are progressing with individuals signing up to be placed on the map.

In addition to home garage sales, booths will be rented at the courthouse square as well as indoors at the former Wallace - Brown Ford dealership.

Call the Chamber of Commerce at 647-2524 for a courthouse space costing $15 and call 647-5530 for the Ford dealership location.

Individuals are encouraged to sign up their sales with the chamber and list two or three specific items they will be selling.

Deadline for being placed on the map is Monday. This annual event is being advertised in more than a dozen communities in a 50-mile radius and is a project of the chamber's retail merchants committee.

Brown bag series will start Friday

The first of a summer series of "Brown Bag Concerts" at the Centennial Plaza will be Friday at noon, featuring Richard Young.

Young is the minister of music at Dimmitt's First Baptist Church, and served as director of the Centennial Singers in the first concert ever held at the gazebo.

All of the "Brown Bag Concerts," scheduled monthly during the summer, will be held on Fridays, and music lovers are encouraged to bring their own lunches and enjoy the concerts during lunch hour.

Sponsored by the county, the concerts will feature local volunteer talent performing on the gazebo's 400-watt sound system.

Gwen Bryant is the organizer of the series. She said that cold soft drinks will be sold by local Boy Scouts for those who don't want to bring their own.

Hospital chief calls new lawsuit 'scary'

"What is scariest about this lawsuit is the precedent it sets. It has the potential of taking every cent of tax money we collect, and that could close this hospital," said Joe Stevens, administrator of Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt.

Stevens was commenting on a lawsuit filed last week by the Amarillo Hospital District against the Castro County Hospital District, seeking payment of $26,006.15 for treatment given to three indigent patients from Castro County.

The suit, along with separate suits against two other rural hospital districts, was filed in Potter County's 47th District Court. It alleges that the Castro County Hospital District is obligated to provide health care services to qualified indigent residents because that is the purpose of the hospital district tax levy.

"These are patients that are qualified indigents of those hospital districts," said Kevin Gross, president of Northwest Texas Hospital, where the services in question were provided. Gross made his comments in an interview with the Amarillo Globe News.

"They (the patients) were treated here for services those hospitals could not provide, just as we pay High Plains Baptist Hospital for cardiac services that we do not provide," Gross continued.

Stevens said that NWTH is "getting greedy."

"This has never been tried before. It could close a lot of small hospitals in Texas," Stevens said. "If they win this case, the other hospitals we transfer patients to will say 'pay us,' and we could be called on to pay the doctors, too. This runs well beyond the $26,000 in this suit."

Stevens said that from 1989 through May 5 of this year, the local hospital has transferred 172 patients to NWTH, with 105 of those having some form of insurance and the remaining 67 listed as "self-pay." Stevens said some of the "self-pay" do pay the bill, but some are indigents who are unable to pay.

"We transfer far more paying than non-paying patients," Stevens said. "That hospital profits from the paying patients sent by all of the surrounding counties."

He added that he felt NWTH should be willing to accept some of the non-paying along with the paying patients.

"As far as I'm concerned, the hospital (NWTH) has taken the first step to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs," Stevens said.

He commented that Amarillo merchants ought to be "infuriated" with the hospital.

"When patients are transferred to Amarillo, money is spent in a lot of places other than just the hospital. We could transfer them to someplace besides Amarillo. Lubbock has better facilities overall than Amarillo," Stevens said.

Concerning the suit, Stevens said the matter would be discussed at the Wednesday night meeting of

Reynolds is new CEA

Bryan Reynolds of Amarillo has been hired as the new assistant county Extension agent for Castro County.

Reynolds was approved by a unanimous vote of the County Commissioners' Court members at their meeting Tuesday.

Annual cost to the county was set at $4,000 salary, $3,000 travel, and $1,000 conference expenses.

Reynolds will begin his duties June 1, and he and his wife, Paula, plan to move into a house in Dimmitt this weekend.

District Extension Supervisor Bob Robinson told the commissioners that he and Castro County Extension Agent J.D. Ragland agreed that Reynolds was best qualified for the job here. Robinson also said that Dimmitt was Reynolds' first choice of assignments.

Reynolds was named an outstanding graduate of the animal science department at Texas Tech University. After establishing a "distinguished" 4-H career, Reynolds attended Calendon Junior College on a livestock judging scholarship.

"Lone Star Millions," the game that will launch the Texas Lottery will begin Friday with ticket sales starting at 6 a.m.

Among the county businesses that will sell tickets are Allsup's Convenient Store, IGA Foodliner, Harry's Package Store, Corner Place Package Store, Red X Travel Center, Town and Country Food Store, Video Magic and Fast Stop Gas and Food, all in Dimmitt; and Elmer's Package Store, Joe's Beer and Wine No. 2 and Oasis Package Store, all at Nazareth.

Tickets cost $1 each and anyone 18 years and older can play.

A player scratches the latex covering off of all six stars on the front of the ticket. Under each star is a prize amount ranging from $2 to $10,000, or the word "Entry." A ticket with three matching prize amounts wins that amount.

The chances of winning instant cash is one in 7.9.

Winning tickets of less than $600 can be redeemed at any business that sells the lottery tickets.

Prizes of $600 or more can be redeemed at one of 24 Texas Lottery Claim Centers.

Any ticket with the word "Entry" appearing three times is eligible for the Grand Prize Drawings. Eligible tickets must be mailed to: GRAND DRAWING, PO Box 149777, Austin, Tx. 78714-9777.

One of every 600 tickets will be an "Entry" ticket entitling the person to enter the Grand Drawing.

Twelve $1 million winners will be announced starting on June 18 and continuing every week until September 3.

The Comptroller's Office estimates that in the lottery's first 15 months, Texans will buy more than 1.2 billion lottery tickets, generating $461 million in profit to the state and $60 million in commission to the retailers.

The Hereford Chamber Singers held their Spring concert on Monday night with several from Dimmitt attending. The theme was "Spring Fling" and was spelled out in colorful letters on black curtains in the background. Spring flowers decorated the front of the stage.

Jerry Jansa of Dimmitt played the bass, Bobby and Bera Boyd (cousins of Kate Beecher) sang Sing a Simple Melody and Amy Gililand (a former Dimmitt resident) portrayed a "bag lady" on the streets of New York City, as she stopped at the corner of "Walk" and "Don't Walk" streets.

They opened the concert by singing Some Enchanted Evening, and other songs included Summertime, Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen, You'll Never Walk Alone, and She Wore Blue Velvet.

Thursday morning, Avie Lewis presented Mrs. Feaster's first grade class in a musical, "Once Upon a Time." The stage was decorated with flowers and trees, a tool shed and McGregor's Garden. Some of the characters were Mother Rabbit, Flopsy, Mopsy, Peter Rabbit, and Cotton Tail, the Mouse, the Sparrows, and the Black Cat.

Others were dressed as cabbage plants, beans, radishes, and gooseberries. Peter Rabbit crawled under the garden gate and ate too much and got sick, then couldn't find his way out of the garden. When he finally got out, he was too sick to eat supper when his brothers and sisters enjoyed a delicious meal.

Joanne Snider brought her HECE class to the museum last week. Those visiting were Claudia Luna, Misty Cantu, Susan Venhaus, Misty Correa, Rita Correa, Robyne Boyd, Lamonical Thomas, D.D. Leingang, Maria Rosado, Veronica Estrada, Melissa Guzman, Shellie Murillo, Rosie Enriquez, Amy Glidewell, Eva Jane Garcia, and Beatrice Ramos.

Out of town visitors to the museum were Leo Montez of Albuquerque, N.M., and Victor Vialpando of Amarillo, who are with the Navy and were in Dimmitt to talk to some of the graduates. Cecilia Constancio of Woodland, Calif., stopped by while in town for her father's funeral.

The Thursday Bridge Club met at the Senior Citizens' Center with Susie Reeves as hostess. Each member brought a sack lunch and had cookies for dessert. Those enjoying the day were Ina Rae Cates, who won high score, Alma Kenmore, with second high score, Dugan Butler, Virginia Crider, Johnnie Vannoy, Helen Braafadt, Gladys Benson, Mary Small, Neva Hickey, Dude McLauren, Ferne Dickey, Louise Mears, Edith Graef, Loranel Hamilton and Cleo Forson.

When Tammy Robb brought her fourth grade class from Nazareth to the museum it was "Texas Day," and the students were dressed as cowboys, Indians and in Pioneer dress.

The Clarks held their family reunion last weekend at Hereford. Inez (Clark) Lee and her daughters and family—Carolyn and Don Moke and Charlene and Jack Howell—attended. On Thursday, Jessie (Clark) Claunch and her daughter, Sandra Watson, came out from Fort Worth.

The Castro County Cemetery Association held its Memorial Day service on Monday morning at the Dimmitt City Hall meeting room instead of at the cemetery due to inclement weather. A crowd of about 45 attended.

The group sang America the Beautiful, The Battle Hymn of the Republic, and My Country, 'Tis of Thee. Richard Young sang I'm Proud to be An American. Paul Kenley read "The Gettysburg Address," and spoke on "Memories of those loved ones who have died."

D.C. Taylor presided over the business meeting, and Dorothy Sheffy read the minutes and gave the financial report. Louise Mears registered the guests.

The graduates were honored at the churches on Sunday. Those at First Baptist were Scott Atchley, Robyne Boyd, Sine Christensen, Jennifer Felts, Amy Glidewell, Ashley Heard, Coby Heller, Sheryllyn Hunter, Karen Ivey, Sheri Lytle, Stephanie Major, Richard Newman, Tessie Newton, Casey Summers, Kristi Wright, and Alice Young. A beautiful purple and white flower arrangement with a cap and diploma decorated the area in front of the pulpit.

Charlie and Sue Summers entertained their family in their home on Sunday, honoring Casey who is graduating from high school. They all attended church at First Baptist. Family members attending included Kyle and Flo Touchstone, Tanner, Ty and Trey of Lubbock; Roy and Carla Schilling, Chana and Keila; Melvin and Juanita Summers; Rex and Cory Lust; Joe Lust, Kathy Smith, Zachary and Tiffany Smith and Mitchell Barber; Houston and Doris Lust; Gerald and Patty Summers and Curt; Casey, Coby and Carol Summers.

Milton and Sandra Bagwell had as their guests over the weekend their son, Steve, and family of Fort Worth; their son, Scott, and family of Lubbock; their son, Kyle, also of Lubbock; and their son, Randy, who came in from Denver. Also visiting were Robert and Vicki Funck and family of Amarillo. Ivor and Hazel Bagwell joined them for dinner and an afternoon of visiting and watching little ones play inside, since it had rained and they couldn't play outside.

May 18, the Girl Scouts of Dimmitt celebrated their year with a Recognition Ceremony.

Troop #193 began the program with a flag ceremony. The National Anthem was an outstanding Cappella rendition by Robin Gonzales.

Each troop told about their activities during the year and then made a brief presentation. Six troops totalling 78 girls participated in such things as: making Indian masks and learning a dance, touring a gin, a father-daughter Valentine banquet, sharing their families' wishes for the world, going for a family star gazing night, and overnight camping at the Science Spectrum in Lubbock.

Some of the girls enjoyed attending the Caprock Council's Girl Scout Fair. This year the fair celebrated Girl Scouting's 80th birthday.

Leaders were given symbolic gifts recognizing the many facets of leadership. Some of the gifts were gum "for sticking to it," clothes pins for "when they felt hung out to dry," rubber bands for "holding it all together," and a chocolate "kiss" because "they deserve it."

William and Rosetta Bellinghausen of Dimmitt flew to Dallas recently to attend the funeral services for their friend, Jo Maidhoff of Arlington. Jo and her husband, Lon, were visitors in Dimmitt last year on the Fourth of July.

While the Bellinghausens were in the Dallas area, they visited in Ovilla with their son, David, and his wife, Melody, and children, Jordan and Canaan.

Hans and Ulla Bohman and their baby son, Martin, of Stockholm, Sweden, spent five days with Ulla's "American parents," Dan and Hazel Nelson. Ulla was Dimmitt High School's American Field Service exchange student in 1979-80. This was her second trip back to Dimmitt since her graduation, but our area was a new experience for Hans, although he was once an AFS exchange student himself in New Jersey. The Nelsons' children, Mel, Robert and Pam, all came in for the weekend, and Hans and Ulla enjoyed a hamburger supper Friday night, a trip to Palo Duro Canyon Saturday, a visit to the farm Monday, and lots of visiting and "catching up" on each others' lives.

Mike and Martha Burnham and their two sons, Michael and Matthew, of Albuquerque, spent the weekend with Mike's grandfather, B. M. Nelson. Sunday afternoon they all visited in Don and Verbie Nelson's home with Mike's cousin, Connie Nelson - Daniel, and her daughters, Kate and Anna, of Lubbock, and with Hans and Ulla Bohman of Stockholm, Sweden, and their baby son, Martin.

Hart's drug-free program gets award

Hart Independent School District's Pay Day program was selected as an honorable mention winner in the district-wide category for the 1992 "Awards for Excellence in Texas School Health," and a group of representatives from the school will accept the honor June 11 at the Texas All-Well Conference in San Marcos.

Hart's Preparing America's Youth (PAY) program has become a local institution in Hart, according to HISD Administrative Assistant Toni Robertson.

Sunnyside

By Teeny Bowden, 647-5703

The rain has fallen nicely, with no hail and little wind, bringing a total 2.3 inches of moisture. Wednesday afternoon brought .10, and another .80 fell Wednesday night. On Thursday night, another .10, then Friday and Saturday added 1.10 more, with another .10-inch Saturday night and Sunday.

There will be a wedding shower June 13 for Tami Field, bride-elect of James Herriage. It will be from 2 to 3 p.m. at the Springlake First Baptist Church.

Mattie Axtell of Earth, a former Sunnyside resident, had major surgery in Amarillo recently, and is getting along as well as can be expected for being almost 92 years old.

Larry and Lori Duke and children, Ashlee and Alyssa, of Dallas arrived Friday night for a visit with his parents, Robert and Frances Duke. Larry and Lori left Wednesday for Angel Fire, then Robert and Frances and the granddaughters joined them at Angel Fire on Sunday, along with their daughter, Sandra, who came in on Saturday.

The Sunnyside School Reunion work day had to be rescheduled to today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at Teeny's house. All who want to come are certainly welcome. Plans will be made for the reunion and letters will be sent out.

The meeting had to be put off from May 20 due to a doctor's appointment Teeny had forgotten about with her arthritis doctor. Also, Sharon Sadler drove Teeny to Amarillo again on Thursday for spinal injections.

Kevin took Rita Bural to Amarillo early Monday morning because of some problems with the eye she had injured some time back in an accident with a tree limb.

Lowell and Genevieve Westmoreland of Littlefield visited last Sunday afternoon with her parents, Alton and Betty Louder.

James Killough of Dimmitt led the singing for us at church Sunday, and Justin Damron was honored as the salutatorian of his eighth grade class. We also sang "Happy Birthday" to him, since his birthday is May 26.

Sunday morning, LaWanda Wilson drove the family pickup, and her daughter, Melinda, drove her car to move her things to College Station, where Melinda will teach fourth graders in a day care center this summer. She will probably teach at the high school level in that vicinity this fall.

Don Fry of Sapulpa, Okla. had dinner and a short visit with Teeny Bowden Tuesday. He was in Dimmitt on business and to visit his brother, Mike, and his in-laws. He is still busy building houses, and Lupina is still working at the hospital there.

Last week, Teeny Bowden met Joe Hoard at K-Bob's for dinner and a short visit. He had been given a few days off. Virginia and Kathy will join him in Canadian when school is out. He said it was a quiet town with not much going on.

Emma Jean King went to Hobbs and Eunice, N.M. this week to visit with Jimmy and Margret and Otus Williams and Britni.

Last week, her brother, Thurman Oler of Beeville, visited with her and Billie and the rest of the Oler family.

Chanin Ross, a former resident, graduated Saturday with honors at Stephen F. Austin State University. She graduated cum laude in fine arts with a bachelor of music degree. She has been on the dean's A honor roll five times.

We Salute

Our Graduates

To our graduating seniors:

At this milestone of your lives, you're hearing lots of advice—some of it challenging, some praiseworthy, some downright scary.

We don't think you'll receive much advice that's better than what Rev. Vernon O'Kelly gave the Methodist seniors Sunday morning. Here are excerpts from his message:

"You face a very scary world... You're losing the protection of the family and friends that love you. You're going out into a world of immorality—even a world of riots..."

"The world is fearful out there—broken families, 20% of our children living in poverty. The traditional family is coming apart at the seams..."

"You may not be scared... but we, as your parents and your church, are frightened. We see ourselves letting you go into a world that is really kind of scary for us."

"Race relations are worsening... We see people killing and fearing and hating one another still."

"There's the drug problem... Some of us are going to retire in less than 10 years, and as I look at you, I realize that you're going to have to take over and see that the crack babies are somehow gotten through school and into the work force—and their attention span, they tell me, is two minutes..."

"Then there's AIDS. You know it's present here in Dimmitt, Texas. Any young person who has been sexually active in Dimmitt has a good chance of already having AIDS."

"We have left you a legacy of fear and horror, haven't we? What are you going to do?"

"But listen to the words of St. John the Divine: 'Do not fear what you are about to suffer. Don't be afraid.'"

"He knew that fear is self-defeating."

"You are going to suffer... But remember, evil is always self-defeating. With patience, with endurance, and holding to the right and the true and the good, you're always on the side of victory—always."

"So do not fear what you are about to suffer. Equip yourself. Don't be afraid to fail. Be afraid, rather, to not try."

"There are things you'll fail at. But any success you may have in life will be the result of your failures as much as your successes, if you let those failures develop character and will."

"You're going to get bloody out there. But be willing to risk everything for the right and the good, and in the end, God will give you the 'crown of life'."

Nazareth

By Virgie Gerber, 945-2669

Funeral mass was read for Sister Jeanne Heiman, 75, in St. Scholastica's Convent Chapel in Fort Smith, Arkansas with the Abbot from Subiaco Seminary officiating. Sister Jeanne Francis Brockman gave a beautiful tribute to Sr. Jeanne before the service began. A marvelous dinner was catered by the Sisters at the convent after the funeral to all family and friends.

Bobbie Hafernik of Taylor has been here the past week visiting with friends and staying in the home of her friend, Martha Schulte. Bernita Hoelting, Martha Schulte, Bobbie Hafernick and Virgie Gerber enjoyed visiting with long time friends Swede and Rosemary Schmucker in Hereford Wednesday afternoon.

Amarillo Funfest Softball Tournament this past weekend. There were 65 teams participating. The Nazareth Ex's team members are Stanley Hoelting, Marvin Schmucker, Ricky Backus, Rex Acker, Eric Wilhelm, Mark Klemman, Sid Gerber, Todd Hill, Chris Schmucker, Heath Schulte, Joey Waldo, Craig Huseman and Neal Hoelting. Their coach is Stanley Hoelting.

Kevin and Melinda Gerber of Plainview, and Keith and Virgie Gerber met with Gene and Susie Gerber of Odessa at the Roswell Inn on Friday evening. We drove on into Ruidosa Saturday morning. After getting settled into a cabin surrounded with pine trees and the Ruidosa river close by, we drove to the Ruidosa Downs and enjoyed the afternoon at the horse races. The rest of the time was spent visiting, playing cards, and "Baldersdash," shopping and enjoying good food. Also, we went on a tour of the "Inn of the Mountain Gods," a beautiful resort in the mountains. A very enjoyable trip - lots of rain everywhere.

Congratulations to Jerry and Tricia Rose of Amarillo on the birth of a daughter, Andrea, on May 24 at Northwest Texas Hospital. She has one brother Eric. Grandparents are Ed and Ruth Rose of Amarillo and Virgie Gerber. Great-grandmothers Alma Parker of Marshall and Meta Stork of Nazareth.

A lingerie shower was held in the home of Dana Schulte in honor of Crystal Kitten, bride-elect of Ricky Backus Sunday evening.

A stag party was also given for Ricky Backus Sunday evening at Fritz Gerber's. Friends and relatives attended.

The Nazareth Ex's softball team, sponsored by Denny Heiman's "19th Hole" won 5th place in the

It was a special time to visit with the teachers that have been in the Nazareth Schools; Sister Adrian, Herman Joseph, Anita, Josella, Sonata, Stella, Joesetta, Jovita, Florence, Immaculata, Roberta, Herbert, Francis Ann, Norbert, Jane Francis, Consuelia, Maureen and Tarcissus.

Those attending the funeral from Nazareth were Fritz and Julene Gerber, Denny, Delores, and Darrin Heiman, Cecil, Dickie, Ronnie and Keith Hoelting, and Nan Davis. Also attending were Bill and Betty Mae Sellers of Oklahoma, Father Harold Heiman of Subiaco, AR., Estelle Keys of Lubbock, Dianne Norris of Dallas, Andy and Oleda Schumacher and Glen of Dimmitt, their daughter Charlotte, and grand daughter Tressa.

Carl Dean and Mary Klemman enjoyed a trip to McKinney to visit with Esther Braddock and her son, Kevin. On Saturday they all drove to Seageville where they attended Mass at St. Martin's Catholic Church during which their god-child Megan Braddock received her first communion. Megan is the daughter of Dick and Mary Brad-

Jessie Ric Tenorio and Kimberly Marie Washington

Couple to wed July 18

Kimberly Marie Washington and Jessie Ric Tenorio will exchange wedding vows Saturday, July 18. The wedding will be in Plainview at Brown Memorial Chapel at 2:30 p.m.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Washington of Dimmitt. Mary Rubalcaba of Hart is the mother of the groom.

Washington is a 1987 graduate of Dimmitt High School and is presently studying secondary education at Wayland Baptist University. She is employed at K-Mart and plans to graduate in 1993.

Tenorio is a 1987 graduate of Hart High School and served in the US Army for 2 1/2 years. He is currently employed at Excel Meat Co.

Villanueva wins Coke scholarship

Monica T. Villanueva may receive up to $5,000 per year for up to four years of undergraduate study through the 1992 Coca-Cola Scholars Program.

The Dimmitt senior has been named a National Scholar in the program, which grants the scholarship for study at any accredited US post-secondary institution.

Villanueva, the daughter of Stephan and Amparo Villanueva of Dimmitt, is salutatorian of her graduating class. She is president of the Student Council and has participated in Odyssey of the Mind and UIL speaking competitions. She also has been nominated for a National Honor Society Scholarship and Student Council Scholarship. As a Big Sister for Child Protective Services, a tutor for elementary students, and a member of her church youth group, Villanueva is making a difference in her community, according to a program spokesman.

"Monica exemplifies what the Coca-Cola Scholars Program is all about — the total student, well-rounded, community oriented, socially responsible, and academically strong," said Stewart Swarts, Plainview Area Manager for Southwest Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Inc., local sponsor of the program.

Engagements

Bart Huseman and Colleen Orrick

Saturday vows planned

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Charles Orrick of McLean announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Colleen, to Bart Huseman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Huseman of Nazareth.

The couple plans to wed Saturday in Holy Family Catholic Church at Nazareth.

Orrick is a recent graduate of West Texas State University with a degree in agricultural economics. Huseman is a graduate of the School of Business at West Texas State University and is employed at Corporate Systems Incorporated in Amarillo.

I took up golf because it was something my husband and I could do together.

I took up tractor driving for the same reason... it didn't last.

If you make a mistake driving a tractor you can take out whole buildings, crops or groups of laborers. Yep, golf was definitely the way for me to go.

I pictured us tooling around in one of those cute little carts laughing gaily and sharing "quality time" - right!

As usual, I forgot to figure in the basic differences in the male/female viewpoints. (I get into more trouble that way.)

You see, I play golf. Golf is a leisurely nine holes on a sunny morning with very little wind.

In golf, the most important factors are that your visor matches your socks and shorts and that you finish in time to beat the lunch crowd to a restaurant with a nice salad bar.

My husband, on the other hand, plays GOLF. GOLF is playing to 36 holes or pitch dark, whichever comes first, in driving rain, gale-force winds, or broiling sun. (Only wimps and women play in good weather.)

GOLF means you bring at least one other male along, so someone knowledgeable can be awed by your skill.

In GOLF, the most important factors are that you verbally relive each shot at least four times, (What is a sport without commentary?) and you locate an after-hours restaurant that serves massive quantities of Mexican food.

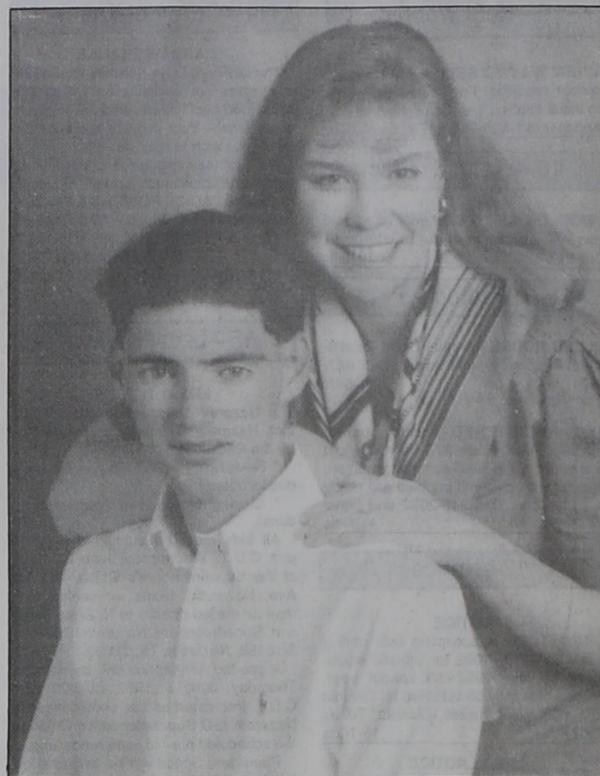

We just don't look at golf-or life, for that matter-in the same light.

Just because my skill level is somewhere between pathetic and mediocre, my husband keeps trying to teach me how to play. He thinks I want to improve. I just want to get out of the house.

And, I may be cowardly, but during a thunderstorm the last thing I want to be is part of a foursome in spiked shoes swinging metal clubs toward the sky.

Still, I go golfing with my husband. Married folks have to grab their "quality time" where they can.

Who knows, if we weren't on the golf course together, I might have to watch ESPN with him. Frankly, I'd rather brave the elements.

Marilyn Renee Williams and David Webb

July 4 wedding set

Dr. and Mrs. James Williams of Albuquerque, New Mexico announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marilyn Renee' to David Kyle Webb, son of Dr. and Mrs. Morris Webb of Tulia.

The couple will exchange wedding vows Saturday, July 4 in Albuquerque at the Montgomery Boulevard Church of Christ.

Williams and Webb are 1991 graduates of Abilene Christian University. Williams is employed as an accountant with Weaver and Tidwell in Fort Worth. Webb is a junior high coach/teacher at Dimmitt Middle School.

At the end of forty days Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made, and sent forth a raven; and it went to the fro until the waters were dried up from the earth. Then he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters had subsided from the face of the ground; but the dove found no place to set her foot, and she returned to him to the ark, for the waters were still on the face of the whole earth. So he put forth his hand and took her and brought her into the ark with him. Genesis 8:6-9

President George Bush has recognized Youth Exchanging with Seniors (YES) of the South Plains area as the 775th Point of Light for the Nation.

YES is designed to enhance the independence of rural senior citizens while closing the gap between the elderly and the young. The program is a collaborative effort between the Texas Agriculture Extension Service (Texas A&M University System), Texas Tech University College of Home Economics, and the Texas Tech University Health Science Center.

Kalina and Karmen Pohlmeier, both members of the Nazareth 4-H Club and YES program, were interviewed by telephone by the Washington, D.C. Points of Light office earlier in the spring along with several other YES project participants in the surrounding counties.

Participants in the YES Project in Castro County include Holly Axtell, Amy Beck, Rala Byrnes, Holly Campbell, Michelle Flores, Sherri Hunter, Nikki Kenley, Kathy Patterson, Tisha Rice, Kim Spring, Sheila Langford, Kim Gabel, Mary Garcia, Jennifer Felts, Jennifer Sava, Candi Matthews, Marion Lauer, Mary Ellen Ramaekers, Amy Glidewell, Melissa Guzman, Christy Killough, Renee Garcia, Karmen Pohlmeier, Kalina Pohlmeier, Frances Dozal, Criselda Corrales, Brenda Reyna, and Antonio Beanes.

"Adult sponsors and advisors include Dana Beck, Yvonne Hays, Martha Jo Hyman, Barbara Kenley, Shirley Barnes, and Rita Huckert," said Carolyn Osborn, County Extension agent.

The YES program is an intergenerational project piloted for a 20-county area of rural Texas. Since its inception in 1990, nearly 450 4-H Club members and members of Future Homemakers of America have undergone training to be service providers and companions for senior citizens. During the six hour orientation session, the youth are taught constructive citizenship skills and how to communicate with their elderly friends.

To date, youth providers have devoted over 2,500 volunteer hours to assisting over 200 senior citizens in their communities.

The youth service providers enhance the independent life style of rural senior citizens by performing such tasks as basic gardening, running errands, and small household projects like vacuuming and light bulb replacement.

In return, the young people acquire insight into the life experience of their elder friends that help them to set personal goals such as attending college and career choices. Friendships have developed between the youth providers and their senior companions during these weekly visits. The generation gap is also bridged through community projects. Opportunities such as landscaping, painting the local post office, and sponsoring rock-athon, a fundraiser to benefit the senior citizen center, have created better understanding and camaraderie among all the participants.

President Bush recognizes a "Daily Point of Light" six days a week. Daily Points of Light are those who successfully address our most pressing social problems through direct and consequential acts of community service. Individuals, families, businesses, groups, and organizations of every conceivable type are taking successful action to combat drug abuse, illiteracy, inadequate education, environmental decay, homelessness, hunger, AIDS, and other critical ills.

Daily Points of Light recognition is intended not only to honor those who are making a difference in the lives of those in need, but more importantly to urge every individual, family, business, union, school, place of worship, club, group, and other institution in America to make serving others central to their life and work.

As the President said, "If you have a hammer, find a nail. If you know how to read, find someone who can't. If you're not in trouble, seek someone who is..."

"The growth and magnification of Points of Light must now become an American mission... it is increasingly clear to more and more Americans that our greatest social problems - drugs, education reform, the environment, crime - will be solved only by the active engagement of tens of millions of individuals and millions of groups and institutions who have never been involved before in these problems and who will never be compensated one nickel for their work."

President Bush salutes the young people and senior citizens of the program for exemplifying his belief that "From now on in America, any definition of a successful life must include serving others."

For more information about the county activities, call the Extension Office at 647-4115.

Richards to judge OM world contest

Vickie Richards, Odyssey of the Mind coordinator for the Dimmitt Independent School District, has been selected to be a judge at the OM World Finals May 28 through 30 at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Fifteen foreign countries will be represented at the world competition including Mexico, Russia, Saudi Arabia, Australia, China, Japan, Poland and the Philippines.

Richards has been a representative to the state board for 2-1/2 years, a regional problem captain for two years, and served as a state judge for two years.

Applications for world judge were turned in last fall, and the final selection was made in April, Richards said.

She said Texas has one of the largest OM memberships, with 950. Twenty-one of the Texas applications were selected for consideration and nine were chosen as world judges.

CPS board discusses need for more foster families here

Members of the Castro County Child Protective Service Board discussed the need for foster parents during the May meeting.

At present, there are only two active foster families in Castro County.

According to Donna Stump, there are 19 children in care of Castro County, all of them remaining in the same placements from the last month.

Stump also reported that one child is suffering from severe health problems.

Marshall Young presented a $250 check from the Hereford Elk Lodge #2269. The money is greatly needed and appreciated and will be used to help pay living expenses of children in the care of Castro County.

American Fructose donated 17 desks, 4 file cabinets, and 35 chairs to the Castro County Child Protective Service Board. The Board will sell them during the City Wide Garage Sale on Saturday, June 6.

The items will be available in the building next to the Chamber of Commerce from 9:00 to 1:00. At 1:00, any remaining merchandise will be auctioned off.

In new business, the Board set guidelines for reimbursements of expenses. Parents who transport their children to and from counseling will receive one half of the cost of travel, up to $10 a trip.

The clothing allowance, given twice a year to caregivers, will be $75 for newborn to 12 years and $100 for 13 to 18 years.

The Board will spend $25 on birthday gifts for children in care. Christmas gift expenditure limits were also set. Preschool children will receive $20 worth of gifts; kindergarten through 6th grade, $35; and 7th through 12th grade, $50.

The coloring contest entries were judged, but due to the lack of participation in the preschool category, the preschool entries were judged with the kindergarten entries. The winners in the K - 2 category were Laura Gerber of Nazareth first; Kade Wilcox of Nazareth second; Ky Wilcox of Nazareth third; and Cynthia Gonzales of Hart fourth. The winners in the 3 - 6 category were Lindsey Kay Gerber, first; Sage Annen, second; John Farris, third; and Mark Lange, fourth, all of Nazareth.

Those who attended the meeting were Donna Stump, Janie Crosby, Clara Patton, Toni Robertson, Edith Huseman, Marshall Young, Gracie Killough, Fay Killough, Randy Smithson, Jerry Bailey, and Kathy Welch.

Police Calls

A 17-year-old Dimmitt youth allegedly confessed to police officers May 20 that he had burglarized the Ellison home on Northwest Eighth Street in Dimmitt on May 11.

Mrs. Ellison told police that on May 11 she had noticed that someone had gone through some drawers in her bedroom, but she thought it might have been done by a family member. She recalled that a wood panel had been removed from a window equipped to hold an air conditioner, but said she thought it might have blown down.

After taking inventory of their belongings, the Ellisons reported items missing that were valued at $250, including some coins, a personal stereo and some jewelry. The youth and an accomplice reportedly were identified by an employee of the local business where some of the coins had been cashed in.

A 17-year-old Dimmitt youth was shot in the right leg just below the knee in an incident around 4:23 a.m. Sunday. The victim told police that he and five witnesses were standing out in the yard of a home on Northwest Sixth Street, when a white car passed by and its occupants shouted at them.

The victim and the witnesses reported that the next thing they heard was gunshots, and the victim was wounded. He was taken to Plains Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. Investigation is continuing.

Two Dimmitt women told police that a 24-year-old Dimmitt man had entered the residence of one of the women around 7 p.m. Sunday, and would not leave when asked to. Also, he reportedly assaulted the other woman by pushing her against a wall and hitting her with his hands.

Failure to appear in District Court resulted in a warrant being issued for a 17-year-old Dimmitt youth who was arrested on the charge around 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Two Dimmitt men reported stolen license plates over the weekend. Around 1:30 a.m. Sunday, Armando Castaneda said someone took the back license plates from two vehicles, one his and one belonging to the church he preaches at. He set replacement value at $10 each for the plates.

Juan Reyes said the back license plate was taken from his car sometime Sunday night or Monday morning while the car was parked at the Star Dance Hall.

A 24-year-old Dimmitt man was arrested around 1:05 a.m. Monday after he reportedly stole two packs of cigarettes valued at $4.86. The man also was charged with public intoxication.

A 36-year-old man was arrested around 12:55 a.m. May 20 on charges of forgery by passing. At 11 p.m. May 19, a 25-year-old Dimmitt man was charged with credit card abuse.

A Dimmitt woman complained to police that someone has been making obscene phone calls to her at her place of employment.

A 24-year-old Dimmitt man was arrested for disorderly conduct after he used profane language to a police officer.

Welps places at state meet

Bryan Welps of Hart High School placed fourth in the discus throw at the State Track Meet for Class AA schools.

Welps qualified for the meet, held in Austin May 15-16, by placing second at regional.

Dimmitt High School Seniors of the Class of 1992 are invited to a chemical-free graduation party Sunday from 12:30 to 4 a.m. at the Dimmitt VFW building.

The party will follow the graduation ceremony Saturday, and the graduation dance; then half an hour after midnight, the party will begin.

With "casino" action offered for entertainment, party-goers will be able to "bid" on prizes offered at auction every 30 minutes. A grand prize will be offered at the close of the event.

Attendance will cost $15 for each senior, and $5 extra if you bring a date.

Once participants leave they may not return.

Senior parents are sponsoring the party.

'I'M PROUD TO BE AN AMERICAN'—Richard Young sings a patriotic song Monday morning for the Memorial Day Observance of the Castro Memorial Gardens Association. The meeting was held in the Dimmitt City Hall meeting room due to rain. Paul Kenley brought a message of inspiration, followed by the business session of the association.

County gets good news on jail

Castro County Commissioners voted Tuesday to authorize the annual audit, hired an assistant county agent, and agreed to have changes made at the jail.

The auditing firm of Davis, Kinard and Associates of Abilene will perform the annual audit at an estimated cost of $9,800. A letter from the auditing firm said, however, that the audit would still not be a total guarantee against fraud or questionable practices, since they would not be able to examine every county transaction.

Danny Newton of Newton Electric in Dimmitt told the commissioners that the Texas Commission on Jail Standards clarified the ruling it made on the Castro County jail at its last inspection.

Newton said that at first the TCJS had said that the entire jail area needed to have a constant temperature in the range of 65 degrees to 85 degrees.

But Newton said a letter from the commission clearly pointed out that the problem is restricted to the women's cell area of the jail, which will bring down the cost of the project considerably.

Newton estimated the cost of the installation of a heat pump cooling and heating system to be approximately $4,941. He said any removal or reworking of the current water circulating system would be in addition to that. He said it could add as much as another $1,000, if no difficulties come up.

Newton also recommended that the county use a larger power input line than is needed now, so that other units could be added later, if required.

The new assistant county agent will add another $8,000 to the annual budget, with $4,000 allowed for the county's portion of the agent's salary. Bryan Reynolds was selected, as recommended by County Extension Agent J.D. Ragland and district Extension Supervisor Bob Robinson.

In other business, Joe Crespino appeared before the commissioners to talk about the county's redistricting plan. He said he feels the county needs to accept the US Justice Dept.'s ruling that rejected the county's submission and go forward in seeking a more suitable plan.

"The redistricting means a lot to the Hispanic community. Just give us a chance to be a part of (the political picture)," Crespino said. He said he felt the county's plan diluted minority voting strength. Crespino asked why the essential data could not be entered into a computer and let an impartial machine redraw the lines fairly.

Castro County Judge Polly Simpson replied, "That's what Bob Bass is doing."

Bass is the Austin attorney who is representing Castro County in the redistricting process and is the county's authorized negotiator.

County Attorney Jimmy Davis said that Bass informed him that he is waiting for word on the county's request to consolidate lawsuits in the district on similar matters. Authorization for consolidation has not been given yet.

Davis also told the commissioners that he did not think any federal court would rule to invalidate the results of the March primary elections.

Davis said the Justice Dept. had requested a higher percentage of minority population division for Castro County than had ever been requested before.

"It is not being applied fairly to all," Davis said, adding that other counties in the area had plans that were approved with much lower percentages.

Davis said part of the delay in forming the county's case in the pleading is a refusal by the Justice Dept. to release information on figures that were used in determining the department's decision. Davis said Bass is preparing to sue for the information under the Freedom of Information Act.

"They tell us about groups of illegal residents, but they cannot show us any statistics on that," Davis said, referring to the department's letter saying why Castro County's plan was rejected.

Precinct 3 Commissioner Jeff Robertson told Crespino one of the difficulties in dividing the precincts is that the population of each of the four precincts must be as close to 25% of the county's total population as possible.

Pct. 1 Commissioner Harold Smith said he thinks different boundaries could be used for voting precincts and for road precincts, after the other commissioners expressed dismay at a plan Smith had proposed earlier that would make the percentage of road miles in the precincts lopsided.

Smith said the county should let the State Attorney General's office draw a new plan and "terminate" Bob Bass.

County Judge Polly Simpson said she was told by Bass that the attorney general's office would not undertake such a project.

In another matter, the commissioners vote unanimously to pay $300 to the Sparsely Populated Entities Coalition to continue its efforts in securing variances for small landfills in the drier parts of Texas. The variances are sought to bring relief from costly regulations being imposed on landfill operations by the federal government.

The commissioners also agreed to look into establishing the position of a litter control officer for the county. Simpson said it would need to be filled by a law enforcement officer. She suggested they might approach County Constable James Dobbs about taking on the duty.

All of the commissioners had complaints about trash being dumped illegally in their precincts along county roads. The trash has to be removed by county employees if the dumper cannot be traced.

FmHA delinquency notices alarming to TFU president

Joe Rankin, president of the Texas Farmers Union, said this week that "an ominous signal about the rural economy is being sent to the nation" with the delivery of 37,311 notices to delinquent Farmers Home Administration borrowers, beginning in June.

3,967 of the delinquency notices will go to Texas farmers, Rankin said.

FmHA began the notification process last week after a 1-1/2 year hiatus from loan restructuring caused by congressional reforms in the agency's operations.

The TFU president questioned the agency's timing in sending the notices now.

"This is the busiest time of the year for farmers," Rankin said. "Now, they're faced with a 60-day deadline to put together a plan for their loan restructuring."

Noting that the 37,311 delinquent borrowers represent one-fourth of all FmHA borrowers, Rankin said, "That tells me that we have a serious income problem in the farm sector and in rural America. While a credit problem definitely exists, it exists because there's no profitability for these family farm operations."

Families receiving the notices, if unable to restructure their loans, may face foreclosure, he said.

"I don't know what could give us a clearer example of the fact that our country's federal farm policy simply is not working," he added.

FmHA came under criticism in recent years when investigators found that the agency had forgiven multimillion-dollar agribusiness loans while declaring a number of smaller farm borrowers ineligible for such treatment.

"Inefficient agribusinesses got expensive writedowns while efficient family farmers got squeezed," Rankin said.

Congress then passed reforms which forced the agency to write new regulations limiting writedowns and buyouts to $300,000 and limiting the number of times a borrower could be eligible for restructuring.

"This whole process is just devastating to farm families and their communities," Rankin said. "We're seeing a net loss of over 31,000 farmers a year as farm income continues to drop. The continued mismanagement of our federal farm programs must stop or the trend won't end."

Rankin specified a course for farmers who receive the delinquency notices to take.

"It is imperative that producers respond to these notices because there is nothing to be gained and much to be lost," he said. "If a producer receives a notice of delinquency from FmHA and does not respond by submitting an application for restructuring, FmHA will start the process of foreclosure."

"The Texas Agricultural Loan Mediation Program at Texas Tech University has been designated by the Governor's Office and certified by USDA to assist agricultural borrowers and lenders in resolving delinquent and distressed situations throughout the state."

"In this role they have arranged with the Texas Tech Agricultural Financial Analysis Project to furnish financial analysts to assist producers involved in the mediation process."

Rankin said producers should call the Ag Loan Mediation Program at 806/742-1949 for additional information regarding this source of assistance.

Has your Mom had a mammogram?

The risk of breast cancer increases with age. It is one of the leading causes of death among women 65 and older. Early detection through regular mammograms could prevent many of these deaths. Yet as women get older, they are less likely to get mammograms. Has your Mom had a mammogram? If not, encourage her to get one. It might be your chance to give her good advice.

Cotton farmers have high hopes for season

A new planting season is in full swing in the nation's biggest cotton patch, and Texas South Plains cotton farmers are exuding high hopes tempered with the wariness of experience.

The high hopes reflect the generally good soil moisture and temperatures.

The wariness comes from seasons such as last year's, which saw drought, untimely and prolonged rains, heavy insect problems and an early freeze take a heavy toll on crops and pocketbooks.

Planting projections for the 25 counties surrounding Lubbock stand at 3.2 million acres, reports Dr. James R. Supak, cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Statewide, cotton planting, originally projected at 6.1 million acres, now stands about 5.8 to 5.9 million, Supak said.

"A lot of the early-planted cotton got up to a stand in seven to 10 days—that's faster than normal."

So far there are no serious problems with seedling disease or blowing sand and wind.

"That doesn't mean we're out of the woods," Supak noted. "A couple of days to a week of cloudy, rainy weather could create problems."

Last year's crop, battered by weather and insects, yielded planting seed of marginal quality, the Extension specialist said.

"Many growers opted to put on seed treatments to minimize seedling disease problems, but money's tight; people are watching their expenditures."

Area growers who irrigate have been planting at a rapid rate to get seed in the ground during the optimum time window of May 5 to 20. The Rolling Plains, which also has good subsoil moisture, can extend that window to June 1.

Supak said a lot of growers planted early this year because they had good subsoil moisture and because last year they waited for rain which they didn't get until mid-June.

But the majority of this year's South Plains dryland crop, which makes up some 60% of the area's acreage, hasn't been planted yet.

"It could be (planted) if people are willing to bust down to the moisture," Supak said. "But that means planting down in the furrow. You can get a stand that way, and some have; but then you're in danger of getting washed out when it rains."

Dryland growers have three options—they can wait for rain, go down to moisture or dry plant.

"Most will wait it out through the 15th before choosing option two or three," Supak said.

"What we'd like to have now is a gentle, warm rain across the area for a few days, have that move out and leave warm conditions."

"Part of that reduction is because of good wheat conditions in the Rolling Plains and because of wet weather in central and south Texas," he said.

The Lower Rio Grande Valley got off to a good start. The Coastal Bend area got a bad start because of too much rain, which made planting later than the farmers like, the agronomist said.

Good subsoil moisture and good soil temperatures, needed to give cotton seeds a good start, have South Plains producers smiling cautiously. Across the area, soil temperatures at planting depth reached the desired 60 degrees about April 15.

"What was unusual was that the temperature stayed there," Supak said. "Normally we have a (storm) front or two come in and knock the soil temperature back down."

"Cotton seed needs about 100 hours at or above 60 degrees down where they live" to germinate, Supak said.

The new crop is responding well to warm temperatures.

ROW hears Danish student

The Republican Organization for Women held their May meeting in the courthouse meeting room and saw American Field Service exchange student Sine Christensen's slides of her home country, Denmark.

Christensen also answered questions about her personal family and schooling and schedule for the remainder of her stay in the U.S.

Vice-President Patsy Franks presided in the absence of Emma Jean King, and reminded the group to save aluminum cans to be delivered to Brenda Seely for sale, and to send letters to the legislature. Letters were written requesting a reduction of benefits to former speakers of the House, and reduction of medical and travel privileges to all members of Congress.

Doris Lindsey won the prize for guessing the ages of the birthday girls, Betty Freeman and Mary Lou Schmucker.

Darla Stewart, Emma Jean King and Deanne Clark will join the Doug Taylors at the state convention in June in Fort Worth.

Taco salad and strawberry cake were served to the members.

There are no summer meetings scheduled.

Three Dimmitt students received degrees from Wayland Baptist University on May 16.

Elsa Rodriguez received her one year certificate in office technology, Richard Schacher received a bachelor of science degree in occupational education and Joe Ky Schultz earned a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

18-year-old in 'new world'; new law handbook traces it

Turning 18 means becoming an adult, which means taking on a whole new set of responsibilities.

Now You Are 18 is a handbook that may help, produced as a law-related education project of the Texas Lawyers Auxiliary (TLA), a support group to the State Bar of Texas.

The booklet explains rights, responsibilities and privileges of adults in Texas.

Now You Are 18 is written in question and answer format and addresses issues such as voting, jury duty, contracts, credits, marriage, employment, military service, criminal charges and apartment leases. It does not cover all aspects of the law, but provides a basic summary of an adult's legal responsibilities and privileges in Texas.

Handbooks are provided to high school seniors throughout the state, free of charge, and they are meant to be presented and studied in class or a discussion group. The handbooks are distributed through various venues including schools, authorized human resource groups, local bar associations, law firms and individual attorneys.

The booklet is available in large print, braille and cassette form for sight-impaired persons. In August 1991, the TLA received the J.C. Penney Co. "Advocacy for the Disabled Award" for these versions of the handbook.

Since it was published in 1987, more than 400,000 copies of Now You Are 18 have been printed and distributed across the state. TLA's goal is to distribute the book to every 18-year-old in the state.

"Room sets," which consist of 30 handbooks and an educational packet for teacher use are also available for $12. To order booklets or room sets, contact Betty Ward, NYA18 Chairman, 3415 Cornell, Dallas, Texas 75205.

CPR sign-up to be June 15-26

Agriculture production can have adverse effects on soil, air, surface and ground water, and wildlife. Rising environmental concerns have prompted policymakers to curb those effects through legislation.

To help preserve the nation's natural resources, the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) was authorized by the Food Security Act of 1985 (commonly known as the 1985 farm act). Under this voluntary program, USDA pays farmers to retire highly erodible or environmentally sensitive cropland from agricultural production for 10 to 15 years.

Cropland enrolled in CRP is planted with grass or trees, or converted to other conservation uses, such as permanent wildlife habitat, filter strips, and windbreaks. The next opportunity for farmers to sign up for enrollment in the CRP program will be June 15 through 26.

"Reducing soil erosion by wind and water was the primary goal of the original CRP," explained Tim Osborn of USDA's Economic Research Service. "But more recently its focus has largely shifted to improving surface water quality and protecting ground water." Osborn's comments came in a recent issue of the Agriculture Department's FARMLINE magazine.

The Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (usually referred to as the 1990 farm act) revised USDA's operating and bid acceptance rules, and also broadened CRP, giving it wider eligibility but more targeted acreage acceptance criteria.

"Consequently, farmers who reviewed the CRP provisions before 1990 and decided it wasn't for them may want to reconsider participating in the program," Osborn said.

"Intensive agricultural production on highly erodible or environmentally sensitive land can impair surface and ground water quality, reduce soil productivity, and heighten off-farm damage from wind erosion," Osborn said. "The CRP has produced benefits in each of these areas and has increased wildlife habitat."

Soil sediment, nutrients from chemical fertilizers (mainly nitrogen and phosphorus), and pesticide residues are often carried into surface water bodies by runoff and erosion caused by rainfall. Fertilizers and pesticides can also move into ground water through a process known as leaching.

"Erosion that exceeds soil formation reduces crop yields by lowering the soil's water-holding capacity and by removing plant nutrients," Osborn explained. "Conserving soil holds down longrun yield losses and helps contain fertilizer costs."

Wind erosion in the Great Plains and Southwest can raise maintenance and cleaning costs for households and businesses, damage machinery, and adversely affect health by contributing to particulate air pollution.

The CRP was established to achieve the following goals: reduce soil erosion, protect soil productivity, reduce sedimentation, improve water quality, improve fish and wildlife habitat, curb production of surplus commodities, and provide income support for farmers.

The CRP requires participating farmers to plant permanent (perennial) vegetation on the enrolled cropland. It establishes and maintains better soil cover and wildlife habitat than could be achieved through annual acreage reduction programs, Osborn notes, because the CRP acreage is covered by long-term contracts and is therefore less likely to be disturbed.

Under the provisions of the 1990 farm act, total CRP acreage will be expanded to no less than 39 million or more than 44 million acres by 1995, including the 34 million acres that had already been enrolled before the legislation's passage.

Land currently enrolled in the CRP will remain out of production at least until 1996. At that time, contracts covering land enrolled in 1986 will expire, and USDA's annual rental payments will end.

"Because farmers will not be required to maintain the CRP conservation covers after the contract expires, a lot of CRP land will likely go back into crop production — if prevailing prices and commodity programs make this option financially attractive to farmers," Osborn said.

In the 1990 farm act, Congress made three significant changes in the CRP that could affect the future of the acres currently enrolled. First, it gave the Secretary of Agriculture authority to extend contracts. Second, it authorized the Environmental Easement Program to establish long-term or permanent land easements. And third, it stated that farmers will continue to have their crop acreage protected, provided the land remains in conservation cover.

Over the next few years, policymakers will consider ways to preserve the environmental gains achieved through the CRP—such as contract renewals, land purchases, and long-term or permanent easements.

"Many of the questions will be addressed in the 1995 farm bill," Osborn said. "The provisions of the 1990 legislation indicated a trend toward long-term easements and a desire for a more permanent solution."

But concerns for the environment will be tempered by budgetary constraints. The current CRP costs about $1.7 billion a year in rental payments.

Extensions of existing CRP contracts will mean that policymakers and others in government must take a serious look at what tracts of land need extended or permanent protection most.

"On the positive side, conservation compliance provisions apply to highly erodible cropland enrolled in the CRP, so all farmers participating in USDA crop programs will be required to devise and implement conservation plans on such land—or risk losing eligibility for other program benefits," Osborn said.

the local hospital board. He said it might be possible to consolidate the three suits, but nothing has been discussed between the rural hospital districts being sued.

Stevens said the local hospital district will most likely seek a change of venue in the case, and try to have it moved to Castro County, "since the people of Castro County will be paying for it."

Grads surprise pre-school head

Pybus Pre-School graduation Friday night at the First Baptist Church turned out to be a big surprise for kindergarten owner Cheryl Pybus.

Maybe she should have known something was up when almost 300 people — nearly twice the usual crowd — showed up for the kindergarten ceremony.

But she was too busy keeping her youngsters organized through their graduation rituals.

But after the ceremony, parents and students of two classes threw a big party that she wasn't expecting.

Those who were in her first class at Lucky U Kindergarten—who are graduating from Dimmitt High School this year—teamed with the current kindergarten class for the surprise party in the church's Fellowship Hall.

"I usually find out all surprises," Pybus said, "but this time I was totally surprised. I didn't see it coming at all. And I don't like to be at a loss for words."

The two classes added to her collection of pillows with one embroidered "1980-1992" during the reception.

During the graduation ceremony, 20 pupils graduated from Pybus Pre-School and 37 others aged 2 and 3 received special awards.

Ten of Hart High School's 31 graduates received 22 special scholarships and awards during the school's 1992 commencement exercises Friday evening.

Most of the scholarships were locally generated. The newest scholarship was the final one presented—a $400 scholarship from La Colonia Mexicana de Castro County, which went to Delfina Garcia. Presenting the scholarship was La Colonia President Gloria Hernandez of Dimmitt, who explained that the scholarship fund was established last year with money which the newly chartered organization earned during the county's Centennial celebration.
