City RS funding talks hit snag

WIND STORM VICTIM—This cattle truck was just one of many victims of the year's first major windstorm Tuesday. The truck was northbound on FM 1055, preparing to turn in at Dimmitt Feed Yards to pick up a load of cattle, when it was blown over by wind gusts estimated as high as 70 mph. Its driver, John Knowles of Clovis, escaped with a cut on his leg.

This was one of two wind-related accidents on county roadways Tuesday. The high wind also blew down utility poles, a public telephone booth and signs in the city, blew out a door at the courthouse and plate-glass windows in several businesses, and caused roof damage to buildings. Damage from the wind and dust is still being tallied.

Is the Castro County Historical Museum eligible for city Revenue Sharing funds since it's located outside the city?

Should the city dole out such large shares of its Revenue Sharing funds to non-governmental service organizations when the city government has already been doing without capital outlays for a year under a "bare bones" budget?

Should the city be allocating more RS funds than the county to support the library, senior citizens' center and museum?

These and other questions brought the city's public hearing on Revenue Sharing expenditures to a halt Monday night. The Dimmitt

Board of Aldermen postponed final adoption of RS fund expenditures until these questions can be studied further.

Also, the board ordered that a tentative city budget for 1981-82 be submitted, to be studied side-by-side with the proposed Revenue Sharing budget.

Mayor Elmer Youts, in opening the public hearing, reviewed the original requests that had been made for the city's Revenue Sharing funds, and allocations which the aldermen tentatively approved during the preliminary hearing earlier.

All the original fund requests were trimmed by 6% Youts explained, because that's how much the original requests exceeded the funds which the city expects to receive from the federal government under the Revenue Sharing program.

Tentative "external" allocations included $14,100 for Rhoads Memorial Library, $13,630 for the Senior Citizens, Inc., $8,460 for the museum, $1,903 for the Chamber of Commerce and $3,290 for the Mental Health/Retardation program.

Tentative "internal" allocations included $226 to pay the city health officer, $14,946 for new city vehicles, $4,700 for city park upkeep, $20,304 for sealcoating of city streets, and $9,400 for the purchase of a computer for the city's administrative department.

City Manager Garnett Holland questioned the legality of using city Revenue Sharing funds for the museum, which is located outside the city limits.

City Attorney Jack Edwards commented, "There's a question as to whether you could spend Revenue Sharing funds on something out of the city."

Also, recent cases question whether you can spend Revenue Sharing funds on any private organization.

The board reviewed a page from the Revenue Sharing Handbook which states, "Recipient governments may expend Revenue Sharing funds only in accordance with state and local laws and procedures that are applicable to the expenditure of their own revenues."

Alderwoman Ann Armstrong said, "I'd like to see the county at least match what we do."

The board studied a listing of both city and county [See FUNDING, Page 14]

RUSSEL O'BRIAN WITH HIS TWO METEORITES
... They fell from the sky more than a century ago

Old meteorites provide windfall

Russel O'Brian "harvested" something 20 years ago that is just now paying off.

O'Brian, who farms 14 miles west and 1 1/2 miles north of Dimmitt, unearthed a meteorite while listing a field some 20 years ago and, about two years later, he found another in the same field.

"The listers had a sub-soiler, and you could tell when you hit a rock with one of them," O'Brian said. "I went back and dug down about eight inches and found them."

O'Brian at first thought the heavy stones had been used for weights of some sort. He stored them in his barn and later, when he had time to wash them off and study them, he realized they were meteorites.

"They were dark brown and pock-marked," he said. "I'd say they're about twice as heavy as the average rock."

One of the stones weighs 20 pounds, 1 1/4 ounces, the other 23 pounds, 2 ounces.

They stayed in O'Brian's barn until Anthony Acker ran an ad in the News offering $40 per pound for meteorites.

Acker purchases the meteorites for a friend, Glenn Huss, who is the director of the Meteorites Institute of America in Denver.

"He (Huss) has been traveling through the country ever since I was a kid, buying them from us," Acker said. "Travel has gotten too expensive for him to operate that way anymore, though, so he reimburses people for their expenses now if they'll send them (the meteorites) to him."

After shipping O'Brian's meteorites to the Denver lab, Acker received confirmation that the stones were, indeed, meteorites.

The Denver lab described the meteorites as "both specimens from one stone which broke in the atmosphere" approximately 130 to 150 years ago.

The exterior surfaces indicate that one specimen suffered a break very late in [See METEORITES, Page 14]

Massive vandalism done to home

Total damage is still being tallied after a destructive weekend spree by three Dimmitt juveniles through the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wade

Maynard at 717 Cleveland St. The three reportedly broke into the home, overturned furniture, spilled food on the floors and furniture, sprayed leather shoe dye on paintings, and wrote profanities on the walls with markers.

They also allegedly put soap in the fish tank, poured ketchup on the bar counter and scattered papers throughout the rooms.

The kitchen cabinets and refrigerator were left open and some food was left out, officers said. The utility area was scattered with clothes and broken glass from a door window, which was reportedly shot out with a BB gun.

In the office, desk drawers were taken out and their contents scattered about the room. Some trophies were broken and a .22 automatic rifle was missing from the room, officers reported.

Also, holes were poked in a wall, dresser drawers were overturned and books were swept off the shelves.

The police report included the comment, "This is a brief explanation as to the condition to some of the rooms throughout the house."

Neighbors called the police after the damage was discovered Sunday. The Maynards were in Dallas at the time of the incident.

Three juveniles were arrested and turned over to county juvenile authorities.

Cam George, county juvenile probation officer, said she has not yet received a full assessment on the extent of the vandalism.

In another vandalism case, five juveniles were brought in to city police officers in connection with vandalism done to a vacant house at 217 SW Fourth St., owned by Truett Boothe.

The juveniles were released to the custody of their parents after being ordered to clean up the house and make restitution.

Cancer Society will meet Tuesday

The Castro County Unit of the American Cancer Society will meet Tuesday at 5 p.m. in the city hall meeting room. All board members and interested persons are urged to attend.

Margie Wilson, ACS District 15 representative, will be here to formalize plans for the annual Crusade kickoff in April.

Firemen launch drive for 'jaws'

The Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Dept. has opened a "Jaws of Life Fund" at the First State Bank, and is hoping to accumulate enough money to buy one of the expensive life-saving tools.

"Jaws of Life" is a multi-purpose tool that works off of a hydraulic pump powered by a gasoline engine. It has a powerful cutter that can snip a car's door post or steering column, and its "jaws" employ up to 30 tons of force to pull open escapements for victims trapped inside wrecked vehicles.

The least expensive version of the tool costs approximately $8,000.

"They're expensive, but the way we look at it, the first time it saves a person's life, it has paid for itself," Fire Chief Randy Griffith said.

The Jaws of Life tool is needed more now than ever before at accident scenes, Assistant Fire Chief Tommy Cleavinger added.

"People have been getting trapped in wrecked vehicles for years, but the problem seems to be getting worse as the cars get smaller and lighter," Cleavinger said. "The new, smaller cars don't have the framework that the older cars had, and a simple rear-end impact can sometimes jam the doors closed."

The Jaws of Life can help firemen get an accident victim out of a vehicle quicker and more safely than can any other commonly used tools, Cleavinger said.

"The main consideration in trying to save a person's life after an accident is not just to get him or her out, but to be able to do it in such a way that you don't hurt him any worse while you're trying to get him out," Cleavinger said.

The tools are in such widespread use now that Castro County seems to be one of the few counties around that doesn't have one. There are [See FIREMEN, Page 11]

Fire damages home Tuesday

Firemen were able to contain a rural home fire during Tuesday's windstorm to the roof of the structure.

The home, located five miles south and one mile east of Nazareth, is owned by the Louis Huseman family.

Damage was concentrated in the shingles and part of the eaves.

Nazareth Fire Chief Gene Kern estimated damage to the house could run to "several thousand dollars" with water damage. He said the fire apparently started in the shingles.

He said there was some smoke damage to the inside of the home.

Man placed on probation

Gene Wiggins was given seven years' felony probation after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of aggravated assault in Judge Marvin Marshall's 242nd District Court Tuesday.

The charge was in connection with a stabbing incident that took place last Aug. 18.

Wiggins was also ordered to pay victim Bonnie Ray's medical bills.

Moulton announces for city court post

Fred Moulton, a former longtime city and county peace officer, has announced his candidacy for Dimmitt Corporation Court judge.

He will oppose Judge L. G. "Shorty" Manning, Ferne (Mrs. W. W.) Jones and Leon Sandoval Jr. in the April 4 city election.

Moulton has been a Dimmitt resident more than 30 years. He and his wife, Virginia, have a grown son, O'Neil.

A veteran of World War II,

Moulton served in the Pacific Theater of War.

In announcing his candidacy, Moulton said:

"I have served Dimmitt and Castro County as a police officer and deputy sheriff for a total of 15 years, and I believe my years as an officer will be an asset in the performance of the duties of Corporation Court judge.

"I will be as fair and impartial as possible in my contact with everyone in the performance of the duties of office."

THEFT ATTEMPT—With 12 seconds left in the first half and Nazareth trailing by 29-33, the Swifts' Calvin Schulte tries to spear the ball away from a Wellman player in the Region I-A Tournament quarterfinals Friday night in South Plains College's Texan Dome.

The Swifts took control in the third quarter and earned a 70-60 victory. However, they failed in their bid to repeat as regional champions when they lost to Valley in the semifinals Saturday. For the regional tournament story, see Page 9.

Bobcat Band, three others get top marks

Dimmitt High School's Bobcat Band was one of four bands that achieved a Sweepstakes rating in the Region XVI UIL Band Contest Thursday and Friday.

The bands from Sudan, Lockney and Littlefield high schools were the other three that received Division I ratings in both concert and sight-reading competition.

Nazareth High School received a III in both concert and sight reading, and Hart High School Band got a IV in both categories. In last week's UIL Choral Competition, the Dimmitt High School Choir received a III rating in concert and a IV in sight reading.

Mayoral challenger has 'no ax to grind'

R. L. Fleming, who has served as mayor of two other cities, has announced his candidacy for the Dimmitt mayor's post.

He will challenge longtime Mayor Elmer Youts in the April 4 city election.

In his announcement of candidacy, Fleming said: "Since I have been asked by several Dimmitt residents to seek the office of mayor, I have agreed to file for that position.

"My wife, Marie, and I have only lived in Dimmitt nearly three years, but recently lived in Friona 25 years, where I was serving my 14th year as mayor when we moved away. Prior to moving to Friona, we lived several years in Melrose, N.M., and I served four years as mayor there.

"We have two children and seven grandchildren. Our daughter, Mrs. Don Reeve, with her husband and three children, live in Dimmitt. Eight years ago my son-in-law and I went into the Chevrolet business here. Our son, Ray Dean, with his wife and four children, live in Friona, where he is in the building construction business.

"I was in the construction business in Friona for 22 years. Prior to that I was an International Harvester dealer in Melrose. Before that, I had been a grocer and a farmer. "I want you to know I have no ax to grind, but think I have had experience in city government to do a good job for Dimmitt. I will certainly do my best if the citizens of this city have enough confidence to elect me as their mayor."

Hance sets town hall session here Saturday

Congressman Kent Hance has scheduled a public town hall meeting in Dimmitt for 10 a.m. Saturday in the city hall assembly room.

Hance will discuss many of the issues confronting Congress and the people before opening up the meeting for questions from the public.

"I have found that these town hall meetings are one of my best sources for finding out the feelings of the people of the 19th Congressional District," said Hance. "Also, it has given the people the opportunity to relate their problems and concerns to someone who has access to the facilities to aid them.

"I also have discovered that some of the answers to legislative problems have come, in some fashion or another, through the opinions and suggestions of people who attended these meetings."

This will mark the second consecutive session of Congress that Congressman Hance has scheduled town hall meetings across his West Texas District. During the last session of Congress, Hance held at least two open meetings in each of the 17 counties in his district in an attempt to stay in close contact with the grass roots of his constituency.

Hance invited and encouraged all interested citizens to attend and participate.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Put on the Full Armour

"Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God"...

In Paul's letter to the Ephesians, he makes a comparison of the children of God and warriors. He says that our loins should be girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness. He makes many more comparisons that exhort us to a proper life. Another thing that Paul urges is that we gather together and worship the Lord. No part of our armour is greater than regular church attendance. Much strength for the week is derived from worshiping with others.

Book Club met Wednesday afternoon for a business meeting presided over by Ruth Coleman.

Maja Martinec, exchange student from Zagreb, Yugoslavia, was the guest speaker. Maja showed colored slides of her city and other towns, with many beautiful churches, some fine old buildings and many tall modern buildings.

very clean with fine trees and flowers. Some pictures were of beautiful lakes and waterfalls and forests. Her home state is Croatia, and the Adriatic Sea divides her country from Italy. Maja is a pretty girl, has dark hair and eyes. She lives with Jim and Ellen Hrabal and daughter Debbie. She says the schools are different. At her home school, she takes 12 or 14 subjects and the school hours are different. She is the youngest in her family. She has brothers and a married sister. Her mother enjoys working her garden of flowers and vegetables. Maja says the farmers grow corn, rye, rice, sunflowers and have many grape vineyards.

The people travel mostly by bus and trains as the cities were built many years ago and didn't leave parking places. She says the people are much like the US folks. Someone asked about her favorite food. She says steak and gravy. One picture was a big stadium like for football, but Maja says they play soccer, a similar game. Now she is learning needlepoint from Betty Parish. You must meet her before she goes home in June.

Sue Merritt introduced her to the group and Carole Dyer and Joyce Davis served those good little lemon square cakes and coffee to around 40 ladies. The table had an arrangement of fresh Jonquils and shamrocks on a white linen cloth. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ray Axtell and Norma Dawson from Earth.

The Friday bridge met at the Senior Citizens Center for games and hamburgers with Cletha George as hostess. She served that apple cake and coffee to Retta Cluck, Ruth Coleman, Gladiola Shipley, Betty Renfro, Myrtle Sheffy, Bernice Hill, Opal Bearden, Tina Rawlings, Betty Cartwright and Faun, Welker were high score winners and Dorothy Elder.

Two injured in accident on Broadway

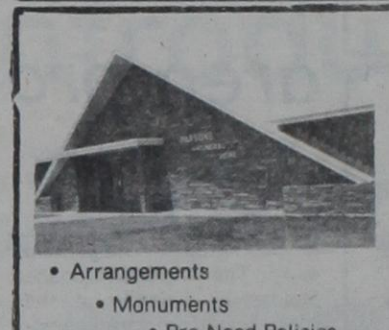

Betty Webb and Michae Odom, both of Dimmitt, were treated and released at Plains Memorial Hospital last Thursday for minor injuries they received in a traffic accident about 7 o'clock that evening.

Webb was northbound on North Broadway and had stopped at the intersection of West Etter, attempting a left turn, when her 1978 Oldsmobile was struck from behind by Odom's 1971 Chevrolet Camaro, officers said. Odom was cited for failure to control speed.

The two were taken to Plains Memorial Hospital by DPS Trooper Ron Morgan.

Amstar Plant photo wins area professional award

Werner Koelzer of Hereford has received a first-place ribbon and "Best of Show" trophy for his first professional photographic competition entry. The awards were made Sunday in Amarillo at the conclusion of the spring meeting of the Panhandle Professional Photographers Association.

The twice-awarded commercial print is a nighttime photograph of the Dimmitt Amstar Plant. Koelzer did the work from atop the Dimmitt Agri Industries, Inc., grain elevator next to the plant which produces cornstarch and high fructose corn syrup. The photograph entitled "Mixed Lights," highlights the various colors of lights at the plant and also portrays the orange-tinted clouds of the late evening sky.

Koelzer will enter his photograph in national Professional Photographers Association competition next month.

Betty Koelzer, also of Koelzer Photography in Hereford, received a third-place ribbon in the portrait division of the Panhandle competition.

Conservation

Soil, water booklet at local SCS office

By BARNEY G. LEE
Soil Conservation Service
A large part of the true wealth of the United States is in its soil and water. How much have we used? How much do we have left? How long will they last? These and many more questions are addressed in a beautifully bound booklet published by the US Dept. of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service.

If the value of our natural resources is not yet fully appreciated, it is because we have had ample soil, and usually enough water, to grow all the food and fiber we need. Most years, we have supplied ourselves in abundance, fed the people of many foreign nations, and still had enough left over to create a worrisome surplus.
But our soil and water resources are not without limit. They are finite and vulnerable, as we have been reminded on occasion by gullies, exhausted land, dust storms, and drought. Despite these periodic lessons, however, we continue to waste these resources, diminish them, abuse them.

This USDA booklet, done with beautiful color pictures and colored charts, speaks about two-thirds of our land — the rural nonfederal land of the United States. This is where our crops are grown, where much of our livestock is pastured and grazed, and where our private forests are managed. Many of the facts in this booklet were supplied by the Natural Resource Inventories, begun by the Soil Conservation Service in 1977.

The story told by this booklet makes it clear that we must mend our ways and replace waste and carelessness with conservation. We still have time — for a little while.
Copies of the booklet are available at the local SCS office at Third and Bedford in Dimmitt.

Milo growers must watch for new greenbug, midge

As if grain sorghum growers didn't have enough to worry about, they must now deal with a new type of greenbug in addition to the perennial villain, the midge.

The new greenbug, or aphid, labeled biotype E, was found in 1979 in the Texas Panhandle. Now it's a potential threat to the entire sorghum crop in Texas because it attacks sorghum hybrids that were previously greenbug resistant. It is known to exist presently in Northwest Texas from the Panhandle to Vernon, south to the Roby-Rotan area and west to the Midland-Odessa area.

This means that Texas producers can no longer depend on greenbug resistant sorghum hybrids for battling the tiny green aphids," points out Dr. Thomas W. Fuchs of San Angelo, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"It also means that producers need to check their fields more closely than ever for greenbugs — at least weekly from the time the crop comes up until it reaches the hard-dough stage. Spray programs at particular levels of greenbug infestations will become more critical to reduce damage from the pest."

Insecticides currently recommended for greenbug control are effective on the new biotype. Fuchs notes that details on determining spraying needs are spelled out in the publication "Insect and Mite Pests on Grain Sorghum — Management Approaches," which is available at the county Extension office.

"Hopefully, sorghum hybrids that are resistant to the new greenbug biotype will be available in a few years," says Fuchs. "Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists have already identified sources of resistance in certain plants and are including these in their breeding programs."

While greenbug damage can be severe, the real culprit in sorghum production is the midge, a tiny orange-colored fly that can reduce yields more than 90 percent.

According to Fuchs, the key to avoiding midge damage is uniform early planting or sorghum. Since midge only attack sorghum during the flowering stage, farmers that plant early usually escape damage to their crop because the pests have not yet increased to damaging levels.

"Midge have a life cycle of only about 16 to 18 days so infestations can build up rapidly and destroy late-flowering heads of sorghum. Growers that find at least one midge per sorghum head should begin a spray control to prevent extensive crop damage," points out Fuchs.

Experiment Station scientists also have a breeding program underway to develop sorghum hybrids that are resistant to midge. However, this task is much more difficult than developing greenbug resistant hybrids because both parents of the sorghum plant must be midge-resistant while only one parent has to have greenbug resistance, explains Fuchs. Resistant hybrids may be available in three or four years.

Along with these two key sorghum pests, growers also need to keep their guard up for wireworms, white grubs, chinch bugs, headworms and seed-feeding bugs. It's enough to boggle the mind.

TELEVISION is a triumph of equipment over people, and the minds that control it are so small that you could put them in the nautilus of a flea and still have enough room beside them for a network vice president's heart.

Tech scientists tap the sun

Crosbyton solar project to be unveiled Friday

The first electricity ever produced from solar steam and sold commercially will be generated in a West Texas cotton patch that has long used solar energy for crop production.

When the switches are thrown at the Crosbyton Solar Power Project (CSPP) at 2 p.m. Friday and electricity races through the municipal power grid of Crosbyton, a West Texas town of 2,500, Texas Tech University researchers will claim several firsts for commercial electricity generated from solar steam:

—Texas Tech's 65-foot-diameter solar collector bowl will become the first device to produce such electricity from direct use of high-temperature solar steam.

—Lighthouse Electric Co-op will become the first utility to transmit such electricity.

—The Crosbyton Municipal Electric Power Co. will be the first to sell the electricity.

—Residential and agricultural customers of Crosbyton will be the first to purchase or consume electricity generated from solar steam.

Planned for the day of the vernal equinox when the sun is directly over the equator, the demonstration at the world's largest single solar collector will highlight seven years of Texas Tech research and show publicly the technical feasibility of producing solar-thermal electricity.

Project Director John D. Reichert said, "We want to make a contribution to solving America's energy problems. We believe those problems are real and we think we have a concept that might help ease them."

The CSPP, operational since Jan. 23, 1980, was designed as the prototype of a much larger five-megawatt system that could eventually provide much of Crosbyton's electric needs, if implemented. The prototype demonstration will generate an estimated 10 kilowatts of electricity.

"First steps are always small ones," Reichert said. "This will be no exception, but it is that crucial first step. We do not claim to be the biggest electric power plant you ever saw, but we will be doing something that has never been done before."

Generating electricity will be a bonus for the Texas Tech electrical engineer and his research team because the project already has returned several solar-thermal firsts. Reichert said the list of CSPP achievements includes:

—Having completed the only design verification system in the history of the federal high-temperature solar-thermal program.

—Becoming the only Department of Energy (DOE) solar project work force with system-level operation experience and data in high-quality steam.

—Representing the only solar concept capable of efficient production of electricity for which the cost of the full-scale system can be, and has been, projected directly from actual, verifiable costs of a design verification system.

—Becoming the only high-temperature solar concept whose predicted performance has been tested in detail and totally verified.

—Building the only first-of-its-kind hardware in the history of the federal program that hit the maximum theoretical performance.

Focal point of the system is the 65-ft. fixed solar bowl with its 430 trapezoidal mirror panels. Tilted 15 degrees to the south for optimum solar exposure, the bowl, built by E-Systems Inc. of Garland, reflects sunlight to a receiver-boiler.

Fixed above the collector bowl, the receiver-boiler is suspended in cantilever fashion from a pivot point at the center of the curvature. By tracking the sun and maintaining a straight alignment between the sun, the receiver-boiler and its own shadow, the boiler unit will be struck, after one or more reflections, by all direct sunlight which enters the dish.

The concentrated effect upon the boiler, an 18.5-ft.-long cylinder six inches in diameter, is that of 600 suns, Reichert said.

Covering the boiler cylinder is a spiral-wound ribbon of two Inconel 617 tubes, each 430 feet long. Inconel 617 is a special nickel alloy which can withstand the high temperatures better than conventional metals. The special boiler was manufactured by Glitsch Inc. of Dallas.

Water pumped through special tubing is turned to steam by the reflected sunlight's intense heat, so hot that it creates 1,000-degree Fahrenheit steam and makes the flat-black tubular boiler rod appear a brilliant white.

To produce electricity at Friday's demonstration, the steam will be used to turn a conventional turbine attached to an electric generator.

"Once the steam is produced with the right temperature and pressure, it is just a matter of using standard equipment to produce electricity," Reichert said.

Two computer systems are used at the solar site. The first is a Bristol process controller which operates the tracking mechanism on the receiver-boiler unit and the valves regulating the water and steam. The second is a Hewlett-Packard Data Acquisition System which monitors the actual performance of the collector, receiver and boiler by taking more than 100 measurements at 20-second intervals during operation.

These results are later compared with computer-predicted performance, based on mathematical models which incorporate factors on the sun's brightness, ambient temperature, wind speed and time of day. Actual performance curves and predicted performance curves are almost identical throughout the course of the day.

"There is an uncanny, almost unbelievable, agreement between the mathematical models predicting what the system would do under various conditions with what we have, in fact, measured," Reichert said.

"A major technical accomplishment is that we have a proved method of describing and predicting the capabilities of our system. We can now project the performance of the larger five-megawatt system with great confidence. Building the larger system has been our goal from the beginning."

The proposed system would employ 10 200-ft.-diameter solar collector bowls, having 90 times the reflector area of the existing model and costing an estimated $25 million. An additional $8 million is necessary, Reichert said, to build the fossil fuel portions of the hybrid generating plant that would use solar steam and natural gas to produce electricity.

The hybrid plant would require natural gas for those periods when sunlight was not available. Of the plant's total annual production, about 20 percent would be directly attributable to the solar network. Such a plant would save a fifth of its fossil fuel bill, said Reichert, and those savings could amortize the capital investment.

"I still subscribe to the theory that a major cause of inflation is the cost of energy. I believe we are already an energy-based economy," said Reichert. "One little plant would not save Texas or the nation, but it would allow us to deploy a solar option."

DOE funding for the Crosbyton prototype will end

Sept. 30. Although the Reagan Administration has announced planned reductions in federal support of solar energy research, Reichert said the CSPP was not directly affected because no DOE money had been allocated beyond the current fiscal year.

"After five years and $6 million from the DOW, we have spent all we can morally justify on research and development," he said. "We are putting on the March 20 demonstration to show how our concept works, but we will not have completed our missions until we build the larger system."

NHS season ends in region semi's

By CHRIS ALBRACHT

The Nazareth Swifts, who last year won the regional tournament in gritted-teeth, white-knuckles fashion, learned what it was like to be on the other side of the coin as they lost to the Valley Patriots in the semifinals Saturday morning in Level-land, 72-66.

They advanced to the regional semis by defeating District 9-A Champion Wellman, 70-60, in a physical contest Friday night.

In the Wellman contest, the Swifts staged their customary slow start, as they ended the first stanza tied at 16, and trailed at halftime by 29-33.

But in the third quarter, the Swifts did their usual catch-up act. Senior Guard Dwayne Acker began the festivities with a 16-ft. jump shot to pull within a field goal, then on the inbound pass he stole the ball underneath and put it in the hole to tie the contest. Thirty seconds later, the Swifts untied it for good enroute to outscoring the Wildcats 17-3 in the crucial third stanza.

"I thought that our second half and playing with good intensity was the key to winning the ball game," said Coach Richard Dye after the contest. "We played defense in the third quarter as well as we have played all year," he added.

"I felt that Dwayne Acker's offense and Johnny Hochstein's defense were two of the big factors in the comeback," Dye commented.

For the game, Nazareth sank 28 of 60 shots for a 46% percentage from the field, and converted 14 of 25 free throws from the charity line for a 56% average.

Dye said he was impressed by the personnel that Wellman had on its roster:

"I was surprised at some of their younger people (Bill Tankersley and Douglas Young, who combined for 34 points), especially the way they shot the ball," Dye said. "But just seeing a team one time makes it awfully hard to tell much about them."

The Saturday morning semifinal pitted two old district foes from the District 5-B days of the late 1970s, as the Swifts tangled with the Valley Patriots and their big 6-7 center Richey Fuston. And it was indeed a game that brought back memories of the old Class B days of Jeff Schmucker and Gary Book for Nazareth against Fuston for the Patriots.

It was close in the beginning as the Swifts fought back from deficits of six points twice to come within one point, at 12-11, with two minutes left. But that was as close as the Swifts could come to the bigger Patriots as they trailed 18-15 at the end of the opening period.

Things changed drastically in the second quarter for both teams, as Nazareth found it hard to make a field goal while the Patriots found the route to the Swifts' basket. And it showed in two categories — the scoreboard, and fouls. The Swifts found themselves down by 14 points (37-23, after being outscored 21-8), with three starters in foul trouble, as Dale Hoelting and Bryan Huseman had three fouls and Calvin Schulte had two.

"I told the team before the game started that the first four minutes of the game would set the tempo of the contest," said Coach Dye. "The two things that we have been worried about — rebounding and getting off to a slow start, finally caught up with us."

In the third quarter the Swifts tried to make a comeback, but all efforts to do so then were thwarted by the outstanding defensive play of Fuston as he cleared the boards and blocked many shots while scoring a game-high 24 points to lead the Patriots.

In the final stanza, the Swifts began to mount the comeback as they chipped away Valley's 16-point lead to a mere four points with 12 seconds left. But a mid-court pass by the Swifts ended in the hands of Fuston, and he strolled downcourt and gave the fans of Valley something to cheer about as he stuffed both the ball and the Swifts' season in the hoop.

"I thought our younger kids played real well," said Dye, "but it was simply a case of too little, too late."

He added, "We're not going to make any excuses, but we didn't play well enough for most of the game to win."

He also said, "I think that having to comeback after playing a real physical game the night before, and having to play another physical game that morning, took its toll on us because we're not a real physical team."

Summarizing what he has seen this year and what he sees in the future for the Nazareth Swifts, Dye said, "I felt like we had a real good year. You always hate to lose, but we can look back right now and see a lot of the good things we have done, and it has given our program a real starting foundation. We're ready to now look at things we can do next year."

"We've got four good seniors (Dale Hoelting, Bryan Huseman, Neal Hoelting and Dwayne Acker), to replace, but I think our younger kids will rise to the occasion."

BACK DOOR—Nazareth's Dale Hoelting goes up for a back-door shot during the Swifts' third-quarter, 17-3 scoring run that gave them control of their regional quarter-final game against Wellman Friday night in the Texan Dome at South Plains College.

Levelland. In left background is Nazareth's Johnny Hochstein, and in right background is Calvin Schulte. Wellman players in photo are Douglas Young (24) and Kregg Wellman (10). The Wildcats didn't get a third-quarter field goal until the final 13 seconds.

What many farmers, elevator operators and industry experts are calling the "corn bloodbath" of late last year seems to be over — according to those same commodity watchers. What happened? With the education provided by hindsight, it seems that corn market hedgers were net short by a large margin, while speculators were net long. Speculators had to get out of the market when prices dropped, but buyers were scarce. Markets were congested, the Polish situation was up in the air, and the market went the other way. What's going to happen in 1981? The analysts see a major part of the carryover used up, and lower prices will probably bring overseas customers back into the market, causing a reasonable recovery moving into Spring. At least, that's what they're saying this week.

CRUNCH!—Nazareth's Calvin Schulte goes up for a fast-break layup after a steal and feed by teammate Dale Hoelting, and bowls over Wellman's Bill Tankersley in the process, during the fourth quarter of the Region 1-A quarterfinals at South Plains College's Texan Dome in Levelland Friday night. Schulte's shot was good but he was called for charging and Tankersley countered with a pair of free throws. The Swifts won, 70-60, but lost their semifinal-game Saturday morning to Valley.

Dimmitt dominates 2-AAA dream teams

Dimmitt High School dominated the All-District 2-AAA basketball teams with four players on the boys' team and four on the girls' squad. And those Dimmitt starters who didn't make all-district received honorable mention.

The girls' all-district team is dominated by seniors, with juniors Sonya Andrews of Dimmitt and Vickie Tunnell of Littlefield the only underclassmen to crack the lineup.

But the all-district boys'

Here are the District 2-AAA all-district teams, announced this week by Coaches Ken Cleveland and Jimmy Hoyle:

Texas Grape Day set 20-21

Discussions ranging from growing grapes to wine-making will highlight the 1981 Texas Grape Day program March 20-21 in Austin. A special feature will be a "Taste of Texas Wine" the first evening, with all five commercial wines of Texas being presented and tasted. Texas now has commercial wineries in Del Rio, Springtown, New Braunfels, Lubbock, Llano and San Antonio, and new wineries are expected at Fredericksburg and Weatherford this year, points out a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Texas currently has more than 1,000 acres of commercial grapes grown in about 100 vineyards.

Flynt attends ceremony honoring Vietnam-era vets

Jack Flynt of Dimmitt, former national vice-commander of the American Legion, attended a special service at Arlington National Cemetery Monday, at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, to honor the dead and missing of the Vietnam era.

During the ceremony, national American Legion officials placed a Distinguished Service Medal of the American Legion in the archives of the national cemetery. It was the first ceremony by any major US veterans' organization giving public recognition to Vietnam-era veterans.

Texas' other representative was Allen B. Clark Jr., special assistant to Gov. Bill Clements. Clark, a former captain in the Green Berets, is a double amputee.

"It was a very impressive and fitting ceremony," Flynt commented. "I was glad the American Legion recognized the Vietnam veterans in such an appropriate way."

VETERAN'S SERVICES

By BEDFORD W. SMITH

County Service Officer A Veterans Administration grant of up to $3,800 is available for some seriously disabled veterans to purchase an automobile or other conveyance.

VA will also pay for specially-adapted equipment required for the disabled veteran to safely operate a car or other vehicle, such as a van.

This word came from Administrator of Veterans Affairs Max Cleland, who has already taken advantage of this benefit necessitated by the loss of both legs and an arm during the Vietnam conflict.

Cleland said that the program allows VA to make a one-time payment of not more than $3,800 toward the purchase of an automobile for veterans or active duty personnel with service-connected loss, or permanent loss of use of one or both hands or feet, or permanent impairment of vision of both eyes to a prescribed degree.

In addition to the vehicle and the adapted equipment, the agency will pay for the repair, replacement of or reinstallation of such equipment in subsequent vehicles he said.

In fiscal year 1979, some 1,300 veterans used this benefit at a cost to VA of nearly $5 million for a vehicle or purchase or repair of specially-adapted equipment.

Cleland urges any veteran who thinks he or she may be eligible for this grant to contact the nearest VA office. Or you may come by our office in the courthouse Mondays through Fridays, 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Officers estimated the loss might be as much as $2,500 to $3,000. The case is still under investigation.

Buster Bentley of 407 NW Second St. filed a complaint with city police after returning home to find the glass had been broken out of his back door. According to police report, a BB gun is believed to have caused the breakage. A 1977 Ford F-100 Custom pickup owned by Dimmitt TV Cable Co. was reportedly hit Sunday while it was legally parked in the 200 block of Northwest 11th Street. Witnesses at the scene identified a 1972 Plymouth Fury, driven by George Garcia of Dimmitt, as the vehicle which had struck the pickup. Garcia was charged with misdemeanor DWI.

Door-to-door sales-- your rights under law

By TERESA NUTT
County Extension Agent

Ever had second thoughts about something you bought through door-to-door sales? Did you keep the item or cancel the contract agreement?

You have certain rights when it comes to door-to-door sales -- under both a federal regulation and Texas law.

Federal Trade Commission regulations and the Texas Home Solicitation Sales Act define the rights of consumers regarding door-to-door sales.

'COOLING-OFF' TIME
One right is a three-day "cooling-off" period.

According to law, you have an absolute right to cancel the sales agreement until midnight of the third business day after signing the contract -- in cases involving door-to-door sales, lease or rental of goods or services costing $25 or more, when both the sales promotion and your agreement to buy are made somewhere other than the seller's place of business.

To cancel, simply mail a written notice of cancellation to the company within the three-day period.

'ANYTIME-CANCEL' RULE
There's another section of the law that allows you to cancel at any time.

Sales contracts you sign are required to tell you of your right to cancel under the three-day circumstances, and you must be given a separate "Notice of Cancellation" form for this purpose.

If you do not receive the required cancellation notice and form, you may cancel at any time, not just during the three-day "cooling off" period, according to Texas law.

CANCEL 'MUSTS'
After you cancel a contract, you must return the goods if the seller requests you to.

If you are not requested to return the goods within 20 days, you are under no further obligation.

The seller must refund all money you have paid within 10 days from the date of cancellation.

PROTECT YOURSELF
Make sure you're dealing with a legitimate, authorized sales representative who conducts business fairly and ethically.

Social Security in Castro County

By JANICE ULMER

Young people planning to work for the first time this summer should be aware that the first step is to get a social security number -- and the time to take that first step is right now.

Many young people may not realize that getting a social security number takes a little longer today than it did for their parents. Mom and dad probably walked into a social security office one day and walked out with a social security number and card. Today many of you can even apply by mail if you wish, but either way it takes about 6 weeks to receive a social security number and card.

The major reason for the difference is that the application is now more closely scrutinized to assure the applicant's correct identity, citizenship, or lawful alien status, and age. When the social security system first started 45 years ago and in its early years, the concern was to make it as easy as possible for people to get a social security card. Now that the system is a household word -- the nation's primary means of providing an income to a family at the retirement, death, disability of the breadwinner -- the major concern is that the card and the rights it represents are protected from fraud and abuse.

Moreover, the social security number represents your key to your earnings record and future benefits based on it. Eligibility for benefits is based on your date of birth and the amount is based on your covered annual earnings shown in your record over your working lifetime. Incorrect information on the application for a number could seriously affect your benefit rights later.

Many employers will not hire you unless you can show a social security card because the law required them to collect and pay social security taxes on the earnings of each person they employ, and they need a correct social security number for this purpose.

People 18 or over must apply for a card in person, but people under 18 may apply by mail or phone.

If you were born in the United States, a birth or baptismal record will be necessary for proof of age and citizenship. For proof of identity, we may accept any document which includes your signature, photograph, or physical description, such as driver's license, draft card, voters registration card, marriage record, school identity card, newspaper birth announcement, and similar documents.

If you were born outside the United States but are now a citizen, you will need to submit either a U.S. passport, a naturalization certificate, a U.S. citizen identity card, a certificate of citizenship, or a consular report of birth.

If you are not a U.S. citizen but are living in or visiting the U.S. and want to apply for a social security number, you will need an Alien Registration card I-151 or I-551 or U.S. Immigration Form I-94, I-185, I-186 or I-586 (and SW-434, if applicable), I-95, I-184, or other appropriate immigration forms. You will need to bring them to the office in person.

You should submit either the original document or a copy certified by the agency which issued it. We will return any documents you submit.

If you have trouble getting the necessary documentation, social security will be glad to help you. Give us a call at 293-4371 or visit our office at 1401-B W. 5th Street, Plainview.

View from the library

By BRICK AUTRY

After exposing problems like treacherously arranging back store rooms and cantankerous new coffee pots, it is time, perhaps, to digress in order to examine a more serious problem and one which does not present many opportunities to insert novel but cute remarks. (I hate these kind of articles. And just when I was feeling novel and cute, too.)

The Amarillo morning paper reported one day last week that the Amarillo Public Library was losing a substantial amount of books. The dollar amount of those losses would surprise a budding millionaire.

The bad news about this is that all libraries lose a lot of books. Rhoads Memorial Library loses a lot of books, too.

The library loses books in categories.

Category 1 is worn-out books. There's not much we can do about it when a book wears out except replace it.

Category 2 is lost books.

Even the best of patrons sometimes lose a book. We ask patrons to replace these books, which they usually do.

Category 3 is unreturned books. Unfortunately we have hundreds of unreturned books each year. Sometimes the patron checks out the books and leaves town soon thereafter, one step ahead of the bill collector. Of course, in that circumstance, they're in too much of a hurry to drop by the library, so we lose our books. Other times, the patrons just get selfish with their books and won't return them. One woman, for example, took out a "Robert's Rules of Order" and won't bring it back. She won't say why not. Just won't. It can't be because of the exciting reading, could it, Mrs. C?

Our program to solve this expensive problem includes the county attorney, all of our staff, the Friends of the Library and City of Dimmitt officials. If you have an unreturned library book, look out! Here we come!

Hart School Board okays 45 contracts

The Hart School Board last week approved textbooks and issued contracts to 45 teachers for the 1981-82 school year.

All textbooks approved by the board for use in the Hart Public Schools next year were recommended by the district's textbook committee.

The board accepted the resignation of Rhonda Aven as Plan 'A' teacher aide, and employed Mrs. Leonard Griswold to fill the position for the remainder of the current school term.

In extending teacher contracts for next school year, the board noted that three Hart teachers — Monty Upton, Rita Upton and Patsy Pierce — had already signed contracts with the Hardin ISD for the 1981-82 school year.

The board offered contracts to the following teachers for next school year:

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL — Debbie Emery, Alice Martinez, Barbara Hiller, Peggy Neinst, Carol Hooper, Shirley Estrada, Margaret Rambo, Ethel Averitt, Debbie Smith, Lesa Laing, Melanie Hoskins, Trannie Mapp, Carl Neinst, Demaris Stevens, Anne Bell, Janina Johnson, Kelly Reed, Elodia Rodriguez, David Fanning, Sue Alley, Debra Carlton, Karen Barnes, Cristi Thomson, Retta Knox (school nurse) and Shirley Barnes (elementary counselor).

JUNIOR & SENIOR HIGH — Ken Hoskins, Sam Browning, Jim McBroom, David Turner, Kathy Fisher, Steve Thomson, Cynthia Walker, Don Sanders, Jerry Mathis, Nancy Wescott, Su Cox, Carolyn Rowland, David Knox, Gaynette Turner, Annamary Ortega, Anne Burkhalter, Brenda Campbell, David Batson, J. V. Wescott and David Grayson (vocational counselor, half time).

Supt. Ted Averitt reported that school enrollment as of March 9 stood at 577, with 337 in the elementary grades and 240 in junior high and high school.

More about

City RS funding ...

[Continued from Page 1] Revenue Sharing expenditures for the library, senior citizens and museum. The county total was $16,300 and the city total was $29,099.

Mrs. Armstrong said, "When the county did their Revenue Sharing (for this year), the museum didn't ask the county for anything."

Mayor Youts urged continued support of these organizations.

"If we can help them until they get their buildings paid for," he said, "then we can cut them off. It's impractical to cut them off and allow the buildings to be repossessed after all we've put into them."

Police Chief Ron Mitchell presented a list of equipment priorities, compiled by the city's department supervisors. Mitchell said the list had been compiled at the board's request.

"We assumed you were going to consider this equipment in the Revenue Sharing monies," he said. "If our budget won't cover these needs, we'd like to have it out of this Revenue Sharing money."

Jo Hamilton, administrative supervisor, said that the items listed were needed last year.

"We were asked to cut out all capital outlay from our budget, which we did," she said. "We're wanting some of these things we did without last year."

The items listed as priorities included a sewer machine, office computer, backhoe, and three police vehicles.

Mayor Youts said the board would need a tentative budget from the city to fully study these requests.

Alderman Roy Lilley moved that the Revenue Sharing expenditures be tabled until the board's next meeting on April 6. The motion was seconded and carried.

Ken Ball, at the request of the board, was present to discuss his wish to locate a mobile home on a piece of property which he owns in the Miller Addition.

Edwards said that the location of a mobile home in that addition would require the signatures of all persons owning property within 600 ft. of that property line, and that there be 1,500 sq. ft. of living area in that home.

Ball commented, "To put a mobile home of that size (in the Miller Addition) would make it the richest home in the neighborhood."

Edwards said that the city could use the help of someone qualified to draw up mobile home ordinances, who could suggest what would be best for the city to do, and what not to do.

He remarked that there is a vast difference in the southwest and northwest parts of the city, which are under the same zoning laws.

"My recommendation," he said, "would be to do a total study, then draft ordinances which would go under the zoning ordinances. These would be under the authority of the Board of Adjustment."

Police Chief Mitchell recommended that the city contact the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and request that it conduct such a study.

Adopting a motion by Wayne Collins, the board authorized Holland to contact the PRPC about this matter.

In other action, the board:

- Authorized Edwards to draft a set of ordinances regarding city clean-up at the request of Chamber of Commerce Manager Delores Heller and the chamber's Clean-Up Committee.
- Went into executive session to discuss the hours and salary of the Corporation Court judge, and voted that both remain the same.
- Voted to eliminate a section of grass behind the city hall to allow more parking space for city employees.

Heart Board gets $2,300 from dance

The American Heart Association board held its March meeting Tuesday.

District II director Carol Moore attended the meeting. Dr. Bill Lee, board chairman, presided.

Kathy Cole gave a report on the Heart Fund Square Dance.

"We had the largest group of dancers and the largest audience we have had in the seven years we have had the square dance," she said. There were 184 dancers from as far away as Colorado Springs, Colo., Dallas, Clovis, Dumas and House, N.M., as well as many groups from West Texas.

Kathy and Gary Cole, co-presidents of the Dimmitt Promenaders, presented a check for $2,100 to Bruce DeArmond, program chairman of the local Heart Association group.

Instead of conducting a door-to-door campaign as has been done in past years, a Heart Skate-A-Thon is planned this year. Details will be announced later. Dimmitt will soon have a skating rink, A'llan Bradley reported. James and Rhonda Killough plan to open their skating rink in the very near future in the building formerly occupied by the Gibson's Store.

Board members present besides Dr. Lee were the vice-president, Danny Rice, Barbara Keel, DeArmond, Jean Petty, Beral Hance, A'llan Bradley, and J'Lynn Ryan, a new member of the board.

Children receive first Communion

By VIRGIE GERBER

Sunday was a special day for 16 children of the second grade who received their first Holy Communion in Holy Family Church. During mass, the children presented several readings, the "Our Father" and the prayer after Communion.

A special thanks to Father Stanley and Sister Adrian for their preparation of these children and to Sister Immaculata for the beautiful singing of the children of the third and fourth grades.

Those receiving their first Communion were Cynthia Albracht, Vance Acker, Cindy Braddock, Leon Verkamp, Scott Huseman, Shane and Keith Backus, Bryce Hatla, Shelley Albracht, Darlene Heck, Wade Hoelting, Steven Lange, Janay and Blaine Johnson, Monica Kleman and Bernadette Hochstein. They were all treated to special family get-togethers in their honor.

A large crowd of family and friends gathered in the Nazareth Community Hall for a covered dish supper honoring Walter Kleman, who was just

14—CARD OF THANKS

THANK YOU

To All the Generous People of Castro County:

Thank you so very much for all your wonderful financial support given to Mary Jean at the Castro County Fat Stock Show. We were completely overwhelmed by your generosity.

Your contributions will make it possible for Mary Jean to have the best available prosthesis when she is ready to be fitted for one, hopefully this summer. There have been some exciting advancements being made. They are making one in Lansing, Michigan that you can virtually live with, even use it in swimming.

Mary Jean's initial surgery was successful in controlling the tumor in her right leg. However, there is always a danger in osteosarcoma patients that the cancer might develop in the lung. For this reason she will have to be on chemotherapy for a year. We hope to be able to do most of this in Amarillo at the new Harrington Cancer Center.

Thanks to everyone, also, for your cards and prayers while we were in Houston. Please continue to remember us in your thoughts and prayers.

We feel so fortunate to have so many wonderful friends.

Yours very sincerely,
LOUIS AND GIN HUSEMAN

I John to be study topic

First John will be the subject for the third monthly Saturday Bible Study at the Fourth and Bedford Church of Christ.

Gerald Paden of the Sunset School of Preaching will lead the five-hour study in the church's fellowship hall Saturday.

The study will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at 3:30 p.m. It will be an intensive study, but an informal one as well, with coffee and doughnuts, periodic breaks and an hour off for lunch. Babysitters will be provided free of charge for those with small children.

"We would like to assure our friends in the community that these studies are open to the public and are designed so as not to be offensive to our visitors of differing religious persuasions," remarked Dale Wells, local minister. "We hope several from the local area will enjoy this rich study with us."

Historical Commission plans update

The Castro County Historical Commission met last Thursday afternoon with all members present, including the three new members, Jeff Isaacs of Dimmitt and Marilyn Higgins and Ruth Bennett of Hart.

Plans were made to update the county cemetery record book which was printed in 1969 by the Castro County Genealogical Society, with the help of the youth of the county.

Those who would like to help with this summer project may contact Jeff Isaacs, Marilyn Higgins, Ruth Bennett or Teeny Bowden.

The fireproof file is now at the museum, ready to receive any documents or pictures you would like to see preserved for future generations. You may also turn in a family story if you did not get one in the current Castro County History Book.

WRITE "free verse" and call it poetry? I'd just as soon play tennis with the net down.

IF YOU NEED A REASON—This "Welcome to Dimmitt" sign on South Highway 385 doesn't give the visitor a very good impression of the city, surrounded as it is with trash, empty beer bottles, weeds and pieces of junk. The sign was originally designed to hold emblem plaques of all the city's service clubs, lodges, etc., plus their meeting times, as a roadside information service for visitors. It was an idea that evidently didn't work out.

Similar unsightly areas have been allowed to develop throughout the city, within sight of the public roadways. Public indignation over such eyesores is what led to the city-wide "Clean-Up, Fix Up, Pride Up" campaign underway this month. All residents of the city are being called upon to help — especially those who own or control large expanses of weedgrown, trash-blown ground such as this.

Rotary to aid Happy Helpers Interact Club 4-H'ers study during drive 'hydroponics'

The Dimmitt Rotary Club, in response to a plea by Chamber of Commerce Manager Delores Heller, voted Friday to work with the Dimmitt High School Interact Club in cleaning up the city park and the area around the Dimmitt Motel on March 28.

Dorothy Hopson, who heads the city-wide clean-up drive, also urged the Rotarians to take an active part individually in the "Clean Up, Fix Up, Pride Up" campaign.

Carl King spoke to the group on the work of the Texas Corn Growers Association toward instituting gasohol legislation, promoting legislation to aid farmers, and fighting the location of any or all of the MX missile system in the West Texas-New Mexico area.

The Happy Helpers 4-H Club of Easter learned to grow plants without soil in a process called hydroponics at its March meeting.

Jo Warren of the Flower Patch taught the nine members and two guests present to thoroughly clean the plant's root system of soil and then plant it in rocks. Water and nutrients are then added, which cause the plant to form water roots.

Several of the club members brought old jars to the meeting to be given to the Satellite School in Dimmitt.

The Happy Helpers' next meeting will be held April 6 at 5 p.m. in the Easter Community Center. The club will have a project on parliamentary procedure followed by a program on aerobics.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike . . . and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 82789, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.
