Lindsey Wins State 4-H Club Honors

Sterling Edwin Lindsey, Coke County 4-H member of Robert Lee, has been chosen to receive the 1971 Danforth Leadership Training Award for Texas.

He will attend about two weeks of summer training at American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp at Stoney Lake, Mich., Aug. 16-28. The announcement came from the state 4-H office at Texas A&M University.

Lindsey is the 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Lindsey of Robert Lee. He is a high school senior.

The camp is sponsored annually by the Ralston Purina Company in memory of its founder, the late William H. Danforth, who for many years was interested in developing the leadership capabilities of outstanding young people. The camp is conducted for the outstanding "Four Square" 4-H boy and girl from each of the nation's states and from each of five Canadian provinces.

Pennzoil United Company will provide the delegates transportation to the camp.

He is a member of the First United Methodist Church and is president of the church's youth organization.

Coke County horse owners will be able to have their horses immunized against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) this Saturday, July 24. Two area veterinarians will be in the county to administer the vaccine to prevent the dreaded VEE disease.

Farm and Ranch Safety Encouraged In County

Coke County farmers and ranchmen are being encouraged this week to observe safety rules and do everything possible to prevent accidents and injuries on their places. An ad urging everyone to take care and avoid hazardous situations is also being sponsored by interested firms and individuals.

"No Texas farm or ranch could operate without water, fire and machinery. Yet these essentials are also the agri-businessman's greatest threat," according to the Vice President for Farm and Ranch of the Texas Safety Association.

Joe L. Smetana of Waco made the comment recently while discussing Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week to call attention to the need for greater efforts in accident prevention in rural areas of the state.

"Last year in Texas, water, fire and machinery accidents claimed the lives of at least 100 persons engaged in agricultural pursuits," Smetana revealed. Other factors accounted for 63 deaths.

Smetana said that accidents involving farm and ranch machinery were the biggest killers among the three. Forty persons died in such accidents in 1970. Nineteen deaths involved tractors, six involved shredders, two came in cultivator accidents, and two involved mowers.

Six of the deaths occurred when vehicles fell off jacks. Two more occurred when the victims were struck by vehicles in motion, and three deaths resulted when the victims were struck by other machinery.

STEPPING OUT of a protective tractor cab to promote Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, July 25-31, is Texas Farm Bureau Queen Harletta Capps of Vernon. The theme for this year's observance of Farm and Ranch Safety Week is "Protection—make it work for safety." Tractor overturns accounted for 60 per cent of the accidental deaths involving tractors in the U.S. in 1970. It is estimated that 90 percent of the lives lost in tractor Overturns could have been saved by protective cabs or roll bars and safety belts. Special emphasis on accident prevention in agricultural pursuits are being made during the week by the Texas Safety Association, Texas Farm Bureau, and other agricultural organizations.

Austin — Back to school time isn't too far off for more than two million young Texans, and State Board of Education has approved a record $302.4 million statewide available school fund allotment.

Board set $121.90 as the state allocation for each pupil in public schools this year. Figure is based on the average daily attendance during 1970-71 of 2,479,400, although actual enrollment was over 2.7 million.

Local school districts may use their allocation to help pay annual operating expenses, including teacher salaries. Available school fund draws investment earnings from the $835 million permanent school fund.

In other preparations for the upcoming school year, Board of Education also:

* Approved an $887,500 contract with Southwest Educational Development Laboratory for a bilingual teaching program tailored for four year old children of Mexican-American farm workers. Ten bilingual specialists will work with 100 youngsters in McAllen and Hereford to develop an experimental project next school year and field test it in 1972-73.

* Approved a new accreditation plan to provide computer data to warn of developing weak points in school systems. Data will provide scientific analysis of information needed to decide which schools should be visited by accreditation teams. Such teams visit about 200 of more than 1,100 Texas school districts each year.

* Entered an agreement to link Texas Education Agency and U. S. Office of Education in a $1.8 million program to evaluate new special education pilot projects expected to have national impact on the teaching of handicapped children.

* Allocated $23.2 million to buy new textbooks (see below).

DISEASE SPREADS — A sleeping sickness-like disease spread among horses (and in a few humans) in the South Texas-Rio Grande Valley area.

U. S. Agriculture Department which originally had scheduled an experimental vaccine against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis in 13 counties, later released it statewide and slapped an embargo on Texas horses.

By the first of this week the vaccine was being distributed to veterinarians in all areas of the state and the vets had begun the big job of vaccinating all horses in the state.

Later, a state Animal Health Commission order halted movement within the state or out of state of horses not vaccinated at least 14 days earlier.

Several persons were hospitalized in Brownsville with VEE symptoms. Cases in horses increased sharply, though laboratory confirmation lagged behind discovery of symptoms.

Disease, described as "flu-like" among humans, is deadly to horses, and concern was expressed for the equine population. Emergency situation stopped all rodeos, horse shows, race meets and other activities involving horses.

TEXTBOOKS AVAILABLE FOR REVIEW — Textbooks considered for 1972-73 school adoption can be looked over by interested citizens at 20 regional education service centers over the state.

Texas Education Agency, the largest single buyer of textbooks in the world, has $23.2 million available for the next school year. New books cost an average of $8.10 for each of 2.7 million pupils. Abilene and San Angelo are two of the spots where the books may be inspected.

1.5 MILLION NEW VOTERS — Texas may have 1.5 million new voters in 1972 largely as a result of 18-21 year olds' becoming eligible for all elections, according to a state senator's forecast.

New law goes into effect Sept. 1 which permits registration of a Texas voter for a three year period instead of annually as at present. Registration will also be open year around except for a 30 day cutoff before any election.

AG OPINIONS — All Texas counties must adopt the jury wheel system and terminate selection of jury panels through use of commissions, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

New state law providing for waiver of indictment in non-death penalty cases is constitutional, Martin said in another opinion.

COURTS SPEAK — District judge in Midland ordered the lawsuit attacking constitutionality of the new Texas House of Representatives redistricting transferred to Austin where it may be tried this month.

Texas libraries were refunded nearly $500,000 as a result of the Attorney General's price fixing suit against children's book publishers.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a Texas 1969 statute on possession of LSD, but a new challenge was filed here on changes in the law this year. Court again upheld sodomy statute.

Short Snorts

Governor Smith, House Speaker Gus Mutscher and several others were questioned a second time by Securities and Exchange Commission in its stock probe.

Major Texas crude oil buyers recommended to the Railroad Commission a 30,344 barrel-daily decrease in production next month.

Under a new law motor boat owners must provide Coast Guard approved life preservers for children 12 years old or under.

Traffic accidents killed 1653 Texans this year, compared with 1621 in 1970.

Texas has taken the first steps toward a $12 million updating of law enforcement communications system.

House General Investigating Committee sent out questionnaires to state representatives asking information on stock scandals — and included questions on whether the press had been "biased" in reporting news. Revenue from cigarette smoking jumped $3.2 million — to $18.9 million — from June 1970 to June 1971.

U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen shies away from talk about his being a favorite son presidential candidate in 1972 and stresses need for Texas Democratic party harmony.

office manual was one of the items discussed at the two day area training workshop for county FB office personnel recently at the Holiday Inn in Lubbock.

Mrs. Arrott Learns at FB Workshop

Mrs. C. E. Arrott of Bronte, office secretary for the Coke County Farm Bureau, attended an area "discussion meeting" recently in Lubbock.

The workshop-type conference was one of four held across the state by the Texas Farm Bureau. Purpose was to provide county secretaries and state Farm Bureau office personnel an opportunity to discuss ways and means of improving office procedures at both levels.

In addition, the office secretaries heard lectures and viewed a slide film on the history and purpose of Farm Bureau. Concluding speaker on the program was TFB Executive Director O. R. Long who reviewed the overall organization structure and outlined "opportunities for office secretaries."

Mrs. Creola Wobbe of Waco, TFB assistant secretary, discussed general office procedures and the processing of membership transmittals. J. D. Jordan of Mason, TFB field services department, discussed finances, board agendas and reports, and screening mail.

Millard Shivers of Dallas, director of rural development for Blue Cross/Blue Shield, spoke at a banquet meeting and conducted a discussion on group medical care programs. Some 198 county Farm Bureaus sponsor Blue Cross/Blue Shield groups for their members.

Other sessions included discussion of county Farm Bureau newsletters and other expanded program activities such as commodity activities, marketing programs, and group accidental death insurance.

ROYCE PHILLIPS OPENS OLD EDITH STORE

Royce Phillips, who recently purchased the Edith Store building, said that several out of town sportsmen have inquired there about deer leases. Ranchers who are interested in leasing land to hunters may leave their names at the Edith Store and it is possible that some leases may be effected.

W. D. McAdams, president presided at the Tuesday meeting of the BCD. Thirteen members and one guest, J. O. Rudd, were present.

Main business of the meeting was a further discussion of the brochure promoting Robert Lee and the Lake Spence area. Melvin Childress said that he had discussed the idea with the water superintendent for CRMWD who offered their help and support for the project, saying that the brochures are needed. It was thought that promoters around the lake area should be contacted to help with the project.

G. C. Allen announced a UCRA meeting would be held Tuesday at Robert Lee State Bank and invited anyone interested to attend.

SERVE AS JUDGES

Miss Deone Derrick, Miss Sheri Pitcock, Mrs. Larry Jameson and Mrs. Fay C. Roe, Coke County Home Demonstration Agent, were in Colorado City Tuesday morning to serve as judges for the Mitchell County 4-H Dress Revue.

TEXAS SAFETY ASSOCIATION President J. U. Parker, Houston, presents Governor Preston Smith with a special honor from the statewide safety organization. Parker explained to the Governor that a resolution praising Smith was passed during TSA's 32nd Annual Texas Safety Conference. The resolution honoring Governor Smith commended him for his "untiring efforts and personal leadership in the fight for a safer Texas." It also praised the Governor for what was termed "outstanding contributions to the fields of traffic and occupational safety in Texas."

FARM, RANCH SAFETY —

day operation. But he does not have to become the victim of machines, if he will follow a few simple rules," said Smetana.

He said that farmers and ranchers should read and follow instruction manuals for the operation of machinery. The TSA vice president also said that guards and safety devices should be kept in place, and that machines should always be shut off before anyone attempts to unclog or adjust them.

"Children should be kept away from machinery and all workers should be taught to stay clear of the moving parts of agricultural machines," Smetana warned.

"Tractor overturns accounted for 16 of the deaths involving machinery last year," he continued. He said these deaths might have been avoided if the tractors had been equipped with protective frames or protective cabs and safety belts.

"But the best way to prevent this sort of thing is to prevent tractor overturns themselves," Smetana advised.

"One more thought about machines. Operators of slow moving vehicles need to periodically check the condition of their SMV emblems. Damaged or faded emblems must be replaced. The orange fluorescent centers of the emblems fade and will only last about two years," Smetana said.

Water was the next accident villain discussed by the Texas Safety Association spokesman.

"Water oriented accidents claimed 31 rural Texas lives last year," he said.

The deaths came in boating, swimming and fishing accidents on Texas farms and ranches. The most important safety step rural families can take in this area is to teach every member of the family how to swim. Stock ponds, streams and creeks should be properly guarded to protect small children. Twenty of last year's fatalities were under 19 years of age, seven of those were 9 or under.

Smetana said that flotation aids should be kept handy near all agricultural water hazards and that family members should know how to administer mouth to mouth resuscitation.

Fire was the next safety hazard discussed by the expert.

"Fire destroyed at least one human life on Texas farms and ranches in each month, except October, during 1970," Smetana said.

"Twenty-nine people perished in the blazes."

He said that proper preparation for emergencies such as fire is one way of saving lives. Inspections should be made on a regular basis of appliances, electrical wiring, and power tools, and defects eliminated. Heating systems, portable heaters, and other possible fire hazards should also be checked.

Another major cause of farm and ranch deaths was falls. Fourteen persons died as a result of falling accidents in 1970.

Another area of special emphasis during Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week is agricultural chemicals. Though there were no deaths attributed to use of agricultural chemicals in 1970, there is always an element of danger when pesticides, herbicides and other chemicals are being used, the TSA farm safety expert said. "In general," Smetana said, "there is no reason why farm and ranch activities have to result in loss of life, injury, or property damage, if all rural residents would simply be more alert to the possible hazards of everyday life."

"Accidents can be prevented, and the annual Texas farm and ranch death and accident injury toll can be reduced," Smetana concluded.

numerous questions have arisen concerning VEE and the inoculation program. He said the vaccination of horses is now mandatory and that the veterinarians will give the vaccine at no cost to the horse owner if the animals are brought to the locations named above. A small road charge may be made if the veterinarians have to travel further to give the vaccine.

Anyone knowing of a horse which is sick or has died from an unknown cause, and/or is suspected of having VEE is urged to report the information as soon as possible to one of the following men:

Paul Coulter, C. J. Millican, Charlie Speck, Nolan Pentecost, J. F. McCabe Jr., Walter King, Joe (Binks) McCutchen, and James Arrott, or to the County Agent's office.

A horse owner must sign a release stating that he does not hold the veterinarian nor the U. S. government responsible for any effects from the medicine or administration. Fourteen days after the vaccination, the horse can be moved within the state if accompanied by a vaccination receipt.

Individuals who have vaccinated their horses with Western or Eastern Equine E. vaccine should wait until 10 days have elapsed to vaccinate with the VEE vaccine. Should a horse owner vaccinate with VEE, then desire to immunize his horses against EEE or WEE, a 14 day time lapse is recommended before the additional shots are given.

Lindsey said some persons have wondered about vaccinating colts and pregnant mares. Dr. Hudman is recommending that colts three weeks of age or older be vaccinated. Also veterinarians recommend pregnant animals be vaccinated since danger of the disease is greater than that from a reaction to the medicine.

UCRA Meeting Held Tuesday

At a meeting Tuesday in Robert Lee State Bank, the board of directors of Upper Colorado River Authority passed a resolution favoring a survey of the entire Colorado River Basin by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. The resolution was passed unanimously.

The board also went on record opposing any further development on the Lower Colorado River without the program being coordinated with future developments on the upper part of the basin.

The board also commended the Weather Modification Program being carried on in the area by the Bureau of Reclamation with the sponsorship of the Texas Water Development Board. The UCRA offered their cooperation and requested that the program be continued for the next two years.

The board discussed a report that a contract was being negotiated between the City of Sweetwater and Humble Oil & Refining Co. to use fresh water from Oak Creek Lake. The UCRA secretary was authorized to write a letter to the City of Sweetwater to inquire further into the report.

Mrs. Ronald Walton and Mrs. Taylor Emerson of Bronte visited Mr. and Mrs. Oda Benton last Friday afternoon.

Bobby Bolding of Abilene and Mrs. Leota Bolding, Ricky and Roxanna of Plainview were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Conley.

Washington — For some reason there has been an increasing interest in family genealogy. People often inquire how to trace their family tree — where their family originated and why the name.

Occasionally the National Archives here in Washington can give some reference but it takes quite a bit of assembled evidence before they can give any real help.

Numerous organizations are in the business of family history research but some have been known to manufacture a history to please the circumstances and hardly the evidence on which an oath could be applied. A great many people have been duped. Some of these activities are rackets to play on the unsuspecting.

Of course, there is a degree of some egotism when we learn our ancient family had a coat of arms and why our names came out as they have. On the other hand there is satisfaction and information that we know our origins and have an appreciation of them.

Until about 1100 A.D. most people in Europe, the only people with whom we are familiar at that time, had only one name. This continues to be true in some primitive countries today.

As the population increased it became confusing to live in a village where perhaps one-third of the males were named John, a sizeable number named William and so on.

To distinguish one John from another, a second name was needed. Four primary sources furnished these second names. There was, for instance, a man's occupation, his location, his father's name or some peculiar physical characteristic, which identified him from others.

On the side of the occupation, the local house builder, food preparer, grain grinder, and suit maker may be named respectively: John Carpenter, John Cook, John Miller and John Taylor. Location identified John who lived over the hill as John Overhill, the one who dwelled near a stream might be John Brook or John Atbrook.

Then the suffix of the father's name gave William's son the surname of Williamson and Jack's son became Jackson. In some of the non-English speaking nations of Europe, the designation of a son had other spelling. In Armenia, the "ian" identified a son. In Scandinavia — Denmark, Norway and Sweden — the "sen" stands for son. In Finland, it takes the name of "nen" and in Greek "pulos." In Czechoslovakia and some of the Baltic nations "wicz" identifies the son and in Poland it is more likely to end with "ski." Spanish is often "ez."

Prefixes in some nationalities denote son, such as "ap" in Welsh — the Scottish and Irish — Mac and Norman — Fitz. The Irish "O" denotes a grandfather. Indications are that physical characteristics played a part in creating surnames. Unusually small people might be known as Small, Short, Little or Lytle. A large individual just might be called Large, Long, Lang or Longfellow.

It is surmised that some people received their names from even certain animal characteristics. A sly person might be Mr. Fox. One not highly regarded might be named Hogg and a good swimmer became Fish.

Needing extra names for identification knights of old went a little further. The fighting man of the Middle Ages wore a metal suit of armor for protection. Since his suit of armor included a helmet that completely encased his head, a knight in full battle dress was unrecognizable. To prevent friend from attacking friend during the heat of battle, it became necessary for each to identify himself. They accomplished this by painting colorful patterns on their battle shields. These same patterns were woven into cloth surcoats worn over a suit of armor. Thus was born the term "coat of arms."

As this practice grew, it became more and more likely that two friendly knights unknown to each other might be using the same insignia and attack. It finally worked out to prevent this records were kept that granted a pattern to a particular knight and his family shared his right to display this evidence.

In some instances these records have been preserved and are in book form. Interest in heraldry is increasing. Perhaps some of the interest comes from a family pride to resent attempts of our society to reduce each individual to a series of numbers stored somewhere in a computer.

In some large libraries one might find in the genealogical department some leads on family history.

M. W. (Buster) Farris was admitted to West Coke County Hospital last Thursday for tests and observation. He is suffering from a serious back ailment.

New Labeling on Light Bulbs

A new system of labeling is now appearing on light bulbs to help you choose the best bulb for the job.

The key words in the system, required by the Federal Trade Commission, are watts, lumens and bulb life.

The term "watts" will remain stamped on light bulbs to indicate the measure of power needed to operate the bulb. Watts does not necessarily mean how much light the bulb will give off. It simply means that a 100 watt bulb, for example, operated for 10 hours will use 1000 watt-hours of power or a kilowatt hour.

Wattage is important information because many light fixtures have a limited watt level for safe usage. You usually see this information stamped inside the light fixture.

"Lumen" measures light output. Higher lumens means a brighter light.

"Bulb life" measures average hours a bulb generally operates before burning out. Conditions of use — such as improperly designed fixtures, excessive supply of voltage, excessive fixture vibration, rough handling, loosely screwed in bulbs and defective or overloaded wiring — can reduce the rated life of the bulb.

In choosing bulbs, consider three basic areas.

If you require brightness for close work, such as reading, sewing and studying, consider "standard" bulbs. They have a brighter light, but shorter life.

If you require convenience for hard to reach locations, such as a stairway light or a fixture needing removal and cleaning, consider the "long life" bulb. When you buy a "long life" bulb of the same wattage to replace a "standard" bulb, you will get less light.

If you require both brightness and long life, consider a "long life" bulb of the next higher wattage to replace the "standard" bulb. Generally, a "long life" bulb of the next higher wattage will give at least as much light as the "standard" bulb being replaced. Since you are increasing wattage, your electricity costs will be increased.

Three way bulbs deserve special mention because they contain filaments — one for low brightness and one for medium brightness. Both filaments are combined to obtain high brightness. For example, a 50-100-150 watt three way bulb shows three lumen ratings: 50 watt, low brightness; 100 watt, medium brightness; and 150 watt, high brightness.

The bulb life of three way bulbs will ordinarily be given as "average hours" (based on the filament burning out first in laboratory tests) or three different "average hours" (one average life for each brightness level, for each filament, and for both filaments burning).

One other important point is that the failure to screw three way bulbs into the socket properly is one cause for fast burn-out. Improper insertion results in faulty electrical contact. Three way bulbs should be screwed firmly into the socket but not forced. Failure to do so can result in only one filament lighting.

Decorate with Window Shades
 Problems in room decor and architectural design can easily be solved with colorful window shades.

Today, window shades make an important decorative contribution as well as functional one offering a note of color and at the same time modifying or amplifying the shape and size of windows. For example, shades that blend with walls make a room seem larger. Shades that serve as bright color divert attention from areas of the room you want to play down.

When accenting with window shades, consider how the room is used. The function of a room dictates whether a shade should be light filtering or room darkening. Consider the importance of view, light control, and privacy and insulation from cold, heat and noise. Proper selection of window shades and installation methods can control all of these factors effectively. For example, you can color select a shade to cheer up a dull room, or tone down a room with too much glare.

Decide if you want to accent your windows or disguise them, then select a color scheme. A shade can blend or contrast with walls; and it can repeat the carpet color or supply a major color scheme in almost any tone and texture.

Consider what furniture and fabrics will be used in the color scheme. Benches, chairs, table desk or sofa should harmonize with the window design to create a pleasing composition.

Windows are many sizes and shapes, yet they all can be attractively fitted with decorative shades to add a dramatic touch.
