A pair of burglars broke into at least two barns west of Dimmitt Friday night, taking almost $5,000 worth of tools and equipment and causing $1,000 or more in damage to barns and vehicles.

Burglarized were the farms of Howard Smithson and Dan Bruton. Tracks indicated the same two burglars also drove through two gates at the Edgar Dennis farm, and officers believe the same two may have been responsible for the weekend theft of $236 worth of tools from a barn on the Ronnie Lance farm southeast of Easter.

Hardest hit was the Smithson farm, where the burglars cut and peeled enough steel siding near the door of a large barn to crawl through, pounded off the door locks, damaged the doors, smashed out the windows of two pickups, and stole an estimated $3,500 worth of tools, weapons and shop

Shane Smithson and Don Cornet discovered the burglary at 8 a.m. Saturday and notified the Sheriff's Dept.

Howard Smithson said a tractor and shredder had been backed up to the west end of the barn, but the burglars disconnected the shredder and moved it out of the way to get to the door.

Tire tracks indicated the burglars approached the barn through a cotton field and parked their vehicle behind a line of farm machines that were parked on the edge of the cotton field near the barn, Smithson said.

Once inside the barn, the two burglars smashed a window of Smithson's new pickup and took a 22-caliber pistol in a case, a Cobra radar detector and a Motorola calculator from the pickup, Smithson said.

From the barn's workshop area, where Smithson manufactures specialty trailers, the burglars took a Speedaire portable air compressor with a Briggs & Stratton motor and a 20-ft, air hose, two Makita electric pipe-cutting saws, and "a whole bunch of tools," including three complete socket sets, a set of heavy-duty Stilson wrenches, Crescent wrenches and a Black & Decker right-angle grinder.

They dumped the contents of several plastic trash buckets onto the barn floor and carried the loose tools away in the buckets, Smithson said.

They also broke a window out of an older pickup that was parked at the east end of the barn, he added.

"I've had some stuff stolen from the outside, but have never had my barn broken into," Smithson said. "There's probably no way we'll ever be able to inventory everything that was stolen. We'll come up missing things for some time to come.

At the Bruton farm, the burglars drove around a fenced-in farmyard area to a corner where a storage boxcar is located. They removed a fence post and broke into a double door on the side of the boxcar, then removed a new set of socket tools, three new Goodyear tractor front tires, eight 15-inch wheels and other equipment. In the farmyard, they also took a plow cylinder and hoses, a tractor cylinder, tractor battery and other items.

The Sheriff's Dept. estimates the value of Bruton's stolen equipment at

Bruton said he thinks there's a connection between Friday night's burglary and an earlier one at his farm, in which the burglar removed stored goods through the same double door of the boxcar. "They drove straight through the gate, around the fence and to the backside of the boxcar where the double door was," Bruton said. "They knew just where to go-they never missed a turn. There were two of them —there were two sets of shoe tracks, different sizes."

At the Dennis farm half a mile east of the Bruton place, the burglars turned in and drove through two wire gates without stopping to take them down, but apparently stole nothing.

Monday morning, Lance reported that $236 worth of tools and equipment had been stolen over the weekend from his barn two miles south and half a mile east of Easter. Officers suspect that this burglary may have been committed by the same pair Friday night.

Saturday morning, Robert Benton, who lives on FM 1055 southwest of the Smithson and Bruton farms, discovered a pistol case along the roadway and turned it in to the Sheriff's Dept. Officers said it was Smithson's.

Sheriff's officers reported Tuesday that they had questioned three men about the burglaries but had made no arrests. Meanwhile, the Sheriff's Dept. has called in the Texas Rangers to assist with the investigation, and the Castro County Crime Line has posted a $500 reward for information leading to a criminal indictment in either of the burglaries.

Crime Line offers $500

The Castro County Crime Line is offering a $500 reward for information leading to the indictment of either person who burglarized the barns of Howard Smithson and Dan Bruton west of Dimmitt Friday night.

Sheriff's officers say the burglaries were committed by two men. They stole tools, shop equipment, firearms, electronic equipment, tires and farm-machine parts valued at approximately $4,800, and did $1,000 or more in damage to Smithson's barn and pickups. The stolen items, which the burglars may try to sell in the area, include:

City to post school limit

The Dimmitt Aldermen voted Monday night to place school speed limit signs on Front Street for a 20 miles per hour zone from Jones Street to Stinson Street.

The reduced limit will be for designated hours, which will be selected after discussion with school personnel, according to City Manager Reeford Burrous. Burrous said the signs will cost approximately $39 each.

The aldermen went into executive session to discuss personnel changes. They also "talked a little bit about the budget, but no deci- lius. sions were made," Burrous said.

Rodeo time!

The thrills of bull and bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, barrel racing and calf-chasing are in store for those attending the annual Dimmitt Rodeo Friday and Saturday nights.

Sponsored by the Dimmitt Roping Club, the rodeo will begin at 8 o'clock each evening with the Grand Entry. Admission prices are $3 for adults and $1 for children 12 and under. The Roping Club will operate the concession stand, selling sandwiches, soft drinks, candy and snacks.

A rodeo dance will follow each night's performance. Cowboys will test their skills in bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and team roping. For those who are less experienced but willing to try, there are separate novice divisions in bull riding and bareback riding. Cowgirls will compete in breakaway roping and barrel

And there are two events for youngsters—kids' steer riding for those 15 and under, and a calf scramble for those under 12.

Entry deadline was 6 p.m. Tuesday.

"The entry list will be pretty full," a Roping Club spokesman said. "We're expecting some of the participants from the XIT Reunion Rodeo at Dalhart to be here; a lot of -them like to make two rodeos the same weekend."

Prison terms in Texas are a joke, Bivins says

"A sheriff I know had a convicted burglar tell him, 'Sheriff, I made $91,000 this year and only had to spend a little time in prison for it. How much did you make?"

That incident is indicative of the crisis in Texas' criminal justice system, Teel Bivins told the Dimmitt Lions Club Tuesday.

Bivins is the Republican candidate for the seat in the Texas Senate being vacated by Bill Sarpa-

"The root of the crisis in our criminal justice system is the Texas Dept. of Corrections," Bivins said. TDC admissions have increased during the last five years by 149%, but during the same period our prison capacity has increased by only 50%. "A convicted felon now spends only 25% of his sentence in prison," Bivins said. "Six years ago it was 50%. The prison system simply doesn't have room for all the

The problem creates a backlash on local jails and taxpayers, he

"There are 5,000 prisoners being kept in the county jails of the state at local taxpayers' expense because there's no room for them in the state prisons," Bivins said.

"The bottom line is that incarceration in Texas is simply no longer a deterrent to crime. Criminals know that if they're convicted they won't have to serve much time.

Bivins said state legislators and government planners are looking at a long list of options to try to ease

"Some feel that the only thing we can do is to double the capacity of the TDC within the next 10 years," he said. "Others are looking into such options as deferred adjudication, electronic monitoring (in which a non-violent criminal serves time on probation with an electronic signaling device locked to his ankle), and other options," he said.

"In the long term, the single best weapon we have is education, and the early identification of those in our education system who are in danger of being admitted to our criminal justice system," he said.

"There's no easy answer," Bivins said. "But we have to ask ourselves, 'Can we afford not to incur the cost of correcting the system?"

Saturday stake-out leads to 'feed bust'

Three weeks of groundwork paid off when law officers conducted a stake - out Saturday morning and arrested three Hereford men on felony theft charges at 3K Cattle Feeders northeast of Easter.

The three men reportedly had loaded several tons of finishing ration from 3K's blending plant into two trucks and were driving away from the feedlot area when they were arrested.

Sheriff Lonny Rhynes, Deputies Jerry Bailey and Manuel Flores and Game Warden Chuck Cosper who had been on stake-out since 4 a.m.-blocked all exit routes from the feedlot and made the arrests, Rhynes reported.

One of the men was an employee of the feedlot, Rhynes said.

After spending the weekend in the county jail, the three were arraigned Monday before Justice of the Peace Marshall Young, who set bond at $7,500 each. All three posted bond Monday.

The "feed bust" was made possible by the cooperation of the feed- $135 per ton, officers said.

lot's management, Rhynes said.

"They noticed about a month ago that they were losing some feed, and came in to talk with us about it," the sheriff said. "They offered to do some investigating on their own, to keep track of their feed inventory. If we had gone poking around out at the feedyard, it could have blown the whole thing.

"They helped us establish the pattern of the thefts, and it was really helpful," he continued. "Based on that pattern, we thought early Saturday morning would be a good time to stake it out, and we got lucky.

"This was the first time we've been able to make this kind of case Arrested were Juan Angel Carri- on stolen feed," he added. "Usually Gregory Aldrete Zepeda, 43, all of it's been stolen. If it hadn't been for the cooperation of the feedyard, we felony theft over $750 and under couldn't have made these on-thespot arrests. They worked on it about as much as we did."

Officers said the feedyard management estimated that approximately 13 tons of feed had been stolen over a month's time. Most of the feed loaded by the three suspects Saturday morning was a finishing ration of rolled, flaked corn which has a market value of about

Donna Behrends has returned from a wonderful vacation and studying in Europe. The class was sponsored by the German Dept. of Texas Tech under the direction of Prof. Dr. Gobel, head of the German Dept.

There were nine students in the group, including Donna's roommate, Karen Johnson of Houston. They flew to Dallas, Atlanta, and on to Munich, Germany, where they stayed for three days. They had fun at the Hofbrau Haus, a tourist attraction. They sang with the businessmen who were there for lunch. After three days of sightseeing in Munich, they rode the train to Vienna, Austria. They were speaking German to a man and finally discovered he was from Australia, so they started speaking English to him.

Donna and her roommate were in an apartment that was an hour's walking distance from their school, but the scenery is so beautiful, they enjoyed every minute of the walk. The school is the International European Studies through Chicago. On the first day they attended orientation. Some of the rules were do not smile at the men, how to avoid being killed by a terrorist, and they learned the combination to get into the school building which was formerly a palace. Their language instructor was Dr. Gobel from Tech, and after a few lessons he made them speak only in German.

Dr. Lechleitner, a psychologist, taught a class. She said she was a little girl during World War II. She told about the history of Austria and Hapzburgs and Babenburters, the Imperialists families. Austria was occupied by Russians, Americans, French and English for a 10year period, ending in 1955.

Dr. Lechleitner took the class on a walking tour through all the cathedrals including Schonbrunn summer palace. They also toured the Alpine Gardens in the Belvedere Park, "Anker" Clock, Botanical Gardens, Chapel of the Imperial

After one week of classes, Donna and her friends spent the weekend in Salzburg where "The Sound of Music" was filmed—a beautiful setting. They toured museums, went to Mass, and heard the Vienna Boys Choir, and attended the opera "Don Giovanni."

After the month of classes was over, Donna, Karen, Julie McClure, and Leah Cannon toured other parts of Europe. They went to Venice, Italy, where they took a gondola ride, and their guide sang to them.

They took a train and a ferry to Greece, then went to Brindisi, Patros, and to Athens, where it was 120 degrees. They stayed at the Youth Hostel, and it was so crowded, they slept on the floor in the corridor. They took a ferry to Paros, where they stayed for three days. It was hot and dry there, then to Ios for R.H. They had fun there with the tourists and it was the girls' favorite place. They flew out of Athens to Rome where they went to the Coliseum, Vatican City and the Sistine Chapel. They went to Florence, where the stores carry all leather products. They saw the Viffici Museum, and Michelangelo's sculpture, "David." The girls went to Nice. Monte Carlo and the Riviera, and took a train to Geneva, Switzerland. They rode the train through Switzerland and back to Munich, and then returned home.

Don and Ann Ethington, and Phyllis Murphy and son, Michael, took a trip to the mountains of New Mexico recently. They drove to Lincoln and stayed in the Lincoln Inn, which is a replica of the one built in the 1800's. The Lincoln County Courthouse, where Billy the Kid escaped, is locked up due to lack of funds, but the outside has been restored. It doesn't take long to walk around the little village, but there are several places of historical interest. They found a Bed & Breakfast that has recently been opened. Cleis Jordan and her husband, Jeremy, own it. Cleis showed them around. Originally it was an old store, and for a while, one room had been used as a jail until the courthouse was finished. Billy the Kid was held prisoner there until transferred to the new jail. The rooms are beautiful. Cleis majored in music and played the organ for the little group. She had a set of pipes made for it, which makes it sound like woodwinds. The grounds are pretty and there is a lovely little cottage they also rent. The place comes complete with a resident ghost, but Cleis isn't sure who he is. Billy the Kid, maybe?

After Lincoln, they went through Capitan, and saw the grave of Smokey the Bear. The Smokey Bear museum is there also. The ghost town of White Oaks was next with its share of Victorian homes and old buildings. They visited in the home of the Mayor, Bud Crenshaw, and enjoyed some of the stories he told about the early days of this old mining town. They drove on to a tiny place called Ancho and went through the museum, which is housed in the old depot. Carrizozo was next. There is a drug store there with a beautiful antique soda fountain and several homes and buildings of interest to antique buffs. Leaving Carrizozo, they went on to Fern Sawyer's ranch and her lovely home with flowers everywhere. She is a friend of Phyllis, and she is also listed in the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

The next stop was Nogal to look at some art work, and then on to Ruidoso to spend the night. It rained really hard, so after breakfast in a pretty restaurant by a little creek, they went on to Cloudcroft and stayed at the lodge. Don and Phyllis both have birthdays in July, so they celebrated with a birthday meal at the Lodge. It also has a ghost, one named Rebecca, and there is a beautiful painting of her in the formal dining room. She worked there in 1911, and was murdered, but no one knew who killed her. It seems she has lots of fun using the phones and throwing glasses and other pranks, which sometimes scare the guests.

Phyllis saw several of her old friends there, including David Mc-Donald, whose father owned the McDonald Ranch where the first atomic bomb blast was set off in 1944. It is now known as the Government officials said it was their patriotic duty, and they would be paid $1,000 a year. The McDonald home and ranch site were opened to the public for the first time a few years ago, and some of the children's toys were still there. It has since been closed.

The next stop was Mayhill to see the RV park Phyllis owned before coming to Dimmitt. It was so pretty with all the trees and flowers. They went on to Pinon where Ann lived for a short time when she was 5. Several people remembered her and her father. One was Mrs. Tanner. who was postmistress for many years, and her daughter, Betsy, was Ann's only playmate in the little town. Most of the area children lived out on ranches. They had a very interesting visit with Mrs. Tanner, and she remembered a lot of incidents from that time to tell them. The last stop was Roswell with a visit of another of Ann's friends, then home to Dimmitt.

Local Scouters travel to international event

Two Dimmitt girls returned July 27 from a 24-day trip to Canada, where they participated in International Echo Valley '88, an international "event" for Girl Scouts and Girl Guides (the Canadian equivalent of Girl Scouts).

Mary Jane Lumbrera, 16, daughter of Chevo and Mary Lou Lumbrera, and Diane Peralez, 16, daughter of Arnold and Dalia Peralez, have both been in Girl Scouts for 10 years, and are both in the troup sponsored by Mrs. Lumbrera. They said this was their first opportunity to attend such an event, and now they are already planning to attend another one, scheduled in 1990 in either Switzerland or Nor-

The Echo Valley event was held in Fort Qu'Appelle in Saskatchewan, Canada, with about 3,000 in attendance, including 150 from the

"We were among the 10 Texans, all of whom were from the Panhandle-South Plains area," the girls said. The 10 all rode up together in a van, along with two sponsors from Lubbock.

"We did a lot of sightseeing along the way, too, including seeing a lot of forest fires, especially in the Yellowstone region," Peralez said. They also got to see Mount Rushmore and the Denver mint.

For their 10 days in Echo Valley, the participants stayed in six-man tents grouped in sites of 50 campers each. The sites were grouped into "villages" of 500 each.

"We were in different sites, but the same village," Lumbrera said.

Since the gathering was held in Canada, the girls were included in the group called "Internationals," which often received special treatment. Other nations represented included Japan, Korea and Australia.

"It was weird being considered international," Lumbrera said, "but everyone liked the way we talked."

"They would come up to us and say, 'Let me take your picture-I've never seen a real Texan before,' like we were from outer space or something," Peralez added.

"We took pens, patches, concho key rings, and even some Texas dirt to trade for items from other girls," Lumbrera said. Both girls showed hats covered with pins and emblems from other countries, states and tourist attractions.

"We got to help serve meals, and met a lot of people that way," Peralez noted. "I got to serve the VIP's, and I met Mr. Curry, whose company makes the cookies sold by Girl Scouts and Girl Guides."

Lumbrera said they got to see Roberta Bondar, the first Canadian woman astronaut. She spoke at one of the sessions. Class subjects included child abuse, teen suicide, positive thinking, friendship, "Survival and You," "Parents Against Alcohol," and "Peacemaking in a Nuclear World."

Daily activities the girls could select from included swimming, horseback riding, wind surfing, canoeing, kayaking, drama, dancing, singing, and arts and crafts.

Both girls agreed that the food at the camp wasn't very good, but added that "once in a while all the meals served in an entire day would be edible."

Before camping out, the participants were assigned to five-day home visits with families in the area, and experienced their way of

"I cooked tacos for my 'family' and they survived," Lumbrera quipped. "I ate some of their ketchup chips, which are sort of like our nacho chips, but they tasted awful."

Peralez said the mother of her family tried real hard to fix a taco salad to make her feel at home. "I really liked their progies-mashed potatoes with cheese cooked in a dough covering. They were a lot better than the ones we had at the camp." One of the girls' favorite activities was going shopping, and they did quite a bit of sightseeing around the area, too.

"In Winnipeg, we went to Portage Place, a mall where the shops are in an enclosure elevated above

Police Calls

A three-year-old felony warrant bore fruit last week when Rosendo Lopez, 30, was arrested in Houston and returned to Castro County to face a burglary charge.

Lopez is charged with burglarizing the home of Lillian Carson in Sunnyside three years ago.

Justice of the Peace Marshall Young set Lopez's bond at $10,-000. He is currently in the county Thefts and burglaries highlighted police activity this week. In addition to major barn burglaries at local farms Friday night and the arrest of three men at 3K Cattle Feeders on felony theft charges Saturday morning, local residents reported three other thefts and four burglaries of homes and businesses.

While on patrol Friday night, City Policewoman Rita Varela discovered that the glass front door of the Arrow Package Store, 610 N. Broadway, had been broken out with a rock.

She notified the store's owner, Jimmy Butler, who took inventory and reported back that an estimated $169.80 in merchandise and change had been stolen.

The list of stolen goods included two bottles of Tvarschki vodka, four bottles of Jack Daniels whiskey, six cases of Budweiser beer in 16-oz. cans, and approximately $15 in change. Butler estimated the value of the broken door at $150.

Thomas Falcon reported to city police Sunday morning that someone had burglarized his "Falcon Express" mobile food stand during the night, tearing off the screen door and taking 20 cassette tapes, a pair of Sony headphones, a pack of batteries, a scale, two dozen tamales and a towel. He estimated the value of the stolen goods at $250.

Ron Miller of the Dimmitt Agri Industries Farm Store reported to police Monday that someone had broken a door window in the store and had taken a Victor printing calculator and an AM/FM radio. He said the items were worth approximately $175.

Manuel Samarripa notified police Thursday that a home at 405 NW Sixth St. into which he and his family were moving had been burglarized. The family had moved some of their belongings into the house the day before-mostly in boxes - and during the night someone broke a kitchen window with a brick and entered the home, taking a large red Coleman ice chest, he said. However, none of the other boxes of goods appeared to be disturbed, he reported.

Sofia Gill, 212 NE Sixth St., complained to city police last Wednesday that a dual cassette stereo tape player had been stolen from her front porch. She said it was a GPX brand, Model C948, blue in color, with a value of $121.

Ashley Heard, 1600 W. Bedford St., reported Monday that someone had stolen a 1974 Honda "Big Red" three-wheel vehicle from the driveway of the home over the weekend. Heard estimated the vehicle's value at $2,000.

A man who lives in a Colonial Inn apartment reported to police Sunday night that someone had stolen $118 from his wallet while he slept. He said he suspected a man with whom he had recently spent time in jail.

Bautisto Jaso Domingus, 59, was cited by city police for failure to back safely after his car struck a parked pickup near the Star Dance Hall, 500 SE Third St., Sunday night. The accident caused only light damage.

City police cited Meriean Arredondo of Route 1, Dimmitt, for failure to maintain financial responsibility after her car struck the Dairy Queen building near the drive-in window Friday night.

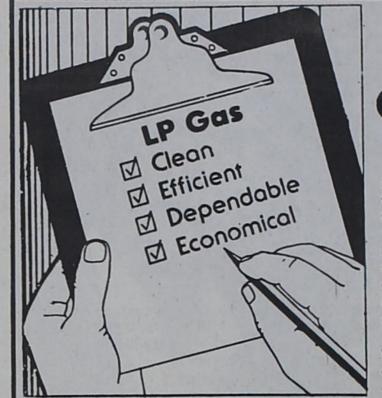

City police received complaints during the week from two vehicle owners who said other drivers "digging out" on loose gravel had broken the windshields of their ve-

City, county and state law officers arrested one person for felony DWI, two for public intoxication and three for driving without a license during the week.

Dimmitt is latest stop for Washington cyclist

Publisher

Jim Vogel came 1,476 miles to get to Dimmitt.

On a bicycle.

Vogel, 50, a high school social studies teacher in Redmond, Wash., makes a cross-country solo bike tour every summer "to help me stave off middle age."

This time he came to see his Dimmitt friends, Emmett and Sue Broderson, whom he and his wife Ginny had met on a tour of Hong Kong and China in 1986.

He arrived here at mid-day Saturday after a 25 - day trip that included two rest days. He averaged a little more than 64 miles per day during his 23 pedaling days.

"I started from Livingston, Mont., so I could go through Yellowstone and some of the other national parks on the way down," he said. Then he quipped, "I took the bus from Redmond to Livingston, and that was the roughest part of the trip."

He also saw Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming and Estes National Park in Colorado-which presented the toughest challenge of the trip, with a 6% grade up Trail Ridge to an altitude of more than real good. New Mexico and Colorado roads were not real good for biking.")

-The green-ness of our area. ("I was surprised at how everything in this section of the country is so green. You know, it's awfully dry up north. I was also surprised at the amount of corn you raise here, and your deep-well irrigation here.")

—The friendliness and courtesy of the people here. ("Generally, it's been my experience that Westerners tend to be a little friendlier than Easterners.")

That last statement he made from experience. He saw the eastern US from his bike on an earlier crosscountry tour - his longest one, 3,600 miles from Anacourtes, Wash., to Boston.

This was his eighth cross-country tour. Earlier ones also have taken him along the Pacific Coast from Seattle to San Francisco, and through the Northern Rockies from Mizzoula, Mont., to Jasper, Alber-

Those were the biggest ones, but this one was harder—over the mountains, 12,000 ft.," he said. "For a flatlander, that's high!"

His wildest experiences on this trip were courtesy of Mother Nature — a couple of tremendous lightning storms near Las Vegas,

"The static electricity from one storm knocked the information out of my trip computer, and I didn't know for a while there if I was going to survive," he said.

His most unique experience on the trip was a ride through a herd of

"I ran into a cattle drive at Rand, Colo.," he explained. "A rancher was moving a couple of hundred head to summer pasture-along the roadway. A kid 9 or 10 years old on horseback led me through the herd. I just had to trust him because I couldn't see where I was. That was fun, and I think the kid was real proud."

Part of his tour took him along a major bike trail-the Transamerica -where he met other cyclists from

"I'm not a long-distance rider, really," he said. "I met an Englishman at Yellowstone who's biking around the world. And I met bikers all along the way, many of them Europeans."

Mainly, his trip brought him in contact with "a lot of different, interesting folks-lots of friendly people," he said. "I've run into more hostility within 20 miles of home than I had on this entire trip. Also, people on the road generally give you a lot of room."

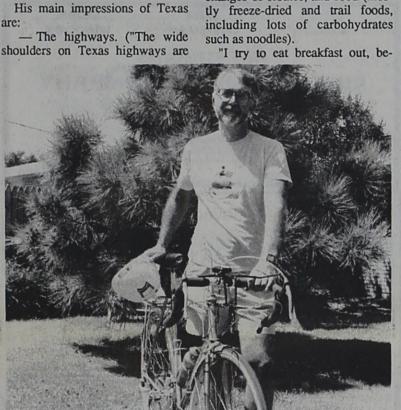

Three weeks after he started his tour, his wife Ginny left for Dimmitt in the family car, accompanied by a friend, math teacher Cyndi Goddard. The two women are biking partners at home, but they "don't do cross-country," said Mrs. Vogel, who is a school librarian.

Vogel beat them to Dimmitt by a

Players were issued their shoes, T-shirts, shorts and helmets Wednesday. Under UIL rules, they will work out in shorts and helmets Monday through next Thursday, then can put on pads and start contact work Friday, Aug. 12.

Salinas and his staff are just back from a week-long coaching camp at Red River, N.M., and are looking forward to a good start on the 1988 grid season.

"We could have as many as 60 boys out," Assistant Coach George Rasor estimated. "We've got a big senior class-about 18-plus a big sophomore class and a good bunch of freshmen."

The Bobcats' pre-season intersquad scrimmages will be Aug. 19 at Morton and Aug. 26 here against Shallowater. Both scrimmages will start at 6 p.m.

"Picture Day" for yearbook, newspaper, commercial and family photographers will be Saturday morning, Aug. 20, before the Harvest Days Parade.

Longhorns

Pre-season workouts at Hart will start at 6 p.m. Monday.

"We won't have two-a-days like most other teams, just a practice every evening," Coach James Mireles said. "We'll probably go three hours each evening."

Mireles said he expects "somewhere around 40" players to report for workouts. Before the season starts, they'll be divided into varsity and junior varsity squads.

"We won't have a freshman team," he said.

Early growth causes onset of iron chlorosis

This year's growing conditions on the High Plains, which resulted in early growth, have accelerated the onset of iron chlorosis on trees, turf grasses, and ornamentals, said Dr. Michael G. Hickey, soil chemist and director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock.

Hickey said the condition is usually caused by alkalinity of soil and water. West Texas soils and water fall in this category, and the presence of early growth has made the problem more widespread this summer.

"The leaves of chlorotic plants range from light green to yellow to almost white, usually accompanied by striping," said Hickey. However, Hickey added that leaf veins will remain green on an affected plant.

Members of the grass family, particularly common Bermuda, flowers and ornamentals, and some shade trees are usually attacked by iron chlorosis. "This summer we're seeing chlorosis on trees we haven't seen it on before," Hickey

He recommended foliar applications of iron sulfate copper or iron chelate. For spraying lawn and turf grasses, iron chelate should be mixed at a rate of three level tablespoons per gallon of water; for ornamentals, one level tablespoon of iron chelate per gallon of water; and for fruit trees, two level tablespoons of iron chelate per gallon of

The big news this week is that Gale and Verna Sadler came in Tuesday from Moshi, Tanzania, Africa, on a three-week vacation to see their newest grandchild, Hanna Rene, who was born July 4 in Albuquerque to Susan and Greg Harmon, and to visit with the rest of the family and friends.

There were more people at the church's Wednesday night supper and prayer meeting than usual, to be with the Sadlers. Gale and Verna, Embree Roy and Willie Mae Sadler visited in Lubbock Friday with Dr. Myles and Linda Sadler and children.

Dr. Dorothy McCoy of Plain-view, Carl and Jeri Bradley of Hobbs and Bennie and Rachel Villarreal and one of their granddaughters from Littlefield visited with Gale and Verna Sadler, Embree Roy and Willie Mae Sadler Saturday. That night several took them out to a Mexican food supper at Earth, and later they all went to the home of Chris and Sheri Elkins and Heather. Included in the group were Rev. David and Debra Fletcher, Hadley, Haley and Harmony, Gerald and Pat Elkins and their she was presented her trophy in the granddaughter, Natalie Lawson of Olton, and Teeny Bowden.

During "Super Sunday" services, Gale and Verna Sadler told of their missionary work in Tanzania, and Gale brought the message. After a congregational dinner at the church, Gale and Verna presented a video program showing their house, place of work, the people with whom they work, scenery in the area, etc. Visitors present for all these events included Vanna Mae Elkins of Olton: her sister-in-law. Mary Dever of Albuquerque; Jim and Cindy Lawson, Natalie and Whitney of Olton; Chris and Sheri Elkins and Heather of Earth; and Kathryn Pierce of Littlefield. Hershel and Retha Wilson came for dinner after the services at Lee Street Baptist Church in Dimmitt.

Winners in the church library summer reading program were Harmony Fletcher in the 2-4 age group, Casie Carson in the 5 - year - old through second grade group, and Shaun Furr in the older group.

Hershel and Retha Wilson have spent a lot of their time the last two weeks with his brother, Bill Wilson; his brother-in-law, J. L. Hill, in Methodist Hospital; and his aunt, Leola Wilson of Levelland, who had been in the hospital with a broken hip.

Rev. David and Debra Fletcher and girls visited in Methodist Hospital with Hershel and Retha Wilson and their relatives Tuesday. They came back through Plainview and watched Hadley play basketball. (CORRECTION: Hadley was not with a group of girls from Lockney, as the paper printed. It was a boys' basketball camp. He was rather embarrassed over the error.) His family picked him up Friday. He won a hustling award and his 3-on-3 team won the championship trophy.

Ezell and Verba Sadler left Thursday for Hubbard Creed Lake for the Sadler reunion. Larry and Sharon Sadler, Stacy Norman and Jeremy and Laura Hurtado and Matt also attended. (CORREC-TION: Stacy Norman and Jeremy were not still at Breckenridge; they were still at Sunnyside.) All came home Sunday night except Stacy. Jim will join her at the lake, since they will move back to this area. James and Patricia Powell and their grandchildren also stayed at the Alan Jackson of Roswell brought Delores, Blake and Ben last Saturday to visit with Euless and Hazel Waggoner for a week. He picked them up Saturday. Delores helped Hazel with house cleaning.

The Bowden windmill was lifted upright at the museum Friday morning after being reinforced all over and new ground posts set for it. Euless Waggoner said that he and his uncle Tom Patterson, who lived on the place for a while, put a new wheel on the windmill in 1933. He didn't remember that it was a Dempster they put up, but he did remember that what they took down was a Star, which was a wooden-wheel model similar to the Eclipse. Since the Bowdens moved here in 1936, we now know it had only the two wheels. Lon Woodburn said it was in good working condition in spite of its 55 years of service. Hays Implement Co. furnished the long trailer to get the windmill to Dimmitt intact.

Pat Elkins drove Teeny Bowden to her arthritis doctor Thursday, since some injections were expected, but just a regular shot of ATCH and a change of medicine was all that was prescribed.

For those who grew up in the country or in a small town this scene brings back fond memories of childhood fun, of carefree days when life was alive and shared with bosom pals. Whatever happens to those times as we grow older? Why don't we have those open companionships?

The answer lies in us, for we have become sophisticated and inflexible, lacking in trust and sincerity. The only remedy for us is some real trust in God. Real trust in Him leads our lives into paths of real trust and joy in our relationships to our fellowman. Learn more about His way of

M.H. Jackson

Funeral services for former Dimmitt resident M.H. "Bo" Jackson, 58, of Kansas City, Kan. were held July 30 in the Newcomer Overland Park Chapel in Kansas City. Cremation followed.

Mr. Jackson died July 27 at the University of Kansas Medical Center after a brief illness.

Born Aug. 13, 1929, in Dickens, he was a graduate of Dimmitt high School, and attended McMurry College in Abilene. He entered the Navy, where he served as a pilot during the Korean Conflict. He worked for Trans World Airlines for 31 years as a pilot, until his retirement last September. He reached the rank of captain.

He is survived by his wife, Nancy, of Kansas City; a son, Bruce Wayne, of Kansas City; a daughter, Brenda Spencer, of Kansas City; three step-sons, Carl Ade of Kansas City, Andrew Ade of Chapel Hill, N.C., and Clifford Ade of Colorado Springs, Colo; a step - daughter, Jennifer Ade, of Kansas City; his step-mother Ivy Jackson of Dimmitt; his brother, Kenneth Jackson of Dimmitt; and two granddaugh-parents, Mr. and Mrs. F.U. Jackson, and by a brother, Francis Lee.

Local farmers may donate hay to Midwest

Local farmers may get a chance to donate hay for use as feed in drought-stricken areas of the country, according to a recent announcement by the Texas Dept. of Agri-

"The TDA would like to know who would be willing to donate any hay from CRP acres, if they would be able to recover their baling costs of approximately $30 per ton," a department spokesperson said.

"USDA Secretary Richard Ling has made this allowance in Minnesota, and we expect Texas farmers will also be allowed to help their neighbors," the spokesperson conti-

The TDA needs to know whether there is sufficient interest in the program and how many acres might be available, so those who want to participate should call the 1-800-DIAL HAY program.

Pauline Kamenzind

Graveside services for former Castro County resident Pauline Kamenzind, 77, of Junction City Ore., were held Tuesday morning.

She died Saturday morning in a private nursing home in Junction City, where she had resided for the past eight years.

Born Sept. 2, 1910 in Jackson County, Okla., she moved to Castro County with her family in 1929, later moving to Hereford, where her parents and sister, Mrs. L.F. Stayton, preceded her in death.

She was a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

She is survived by seven nieces and two nephews, including Leona and Charles Stayton, both of Hereford.

Social Security in Castro County By TERRY J. CLEMENTS

People who are approaching 65 and who do not plan to retire should be aware that their Social He was preceded in death by his Security check will be larger when they finally do apply for it.

The reason is because of "delayed retirement credit." This credit increases a person's retirement checks for each month he or she does not get a benefit check after 65 and before 70.

The credit adds 1/4% for each month-3% for each full year-a person does not get a check because of work. It also applies to widows and widowers benefits.

The credit will gradually increase to 8% a year between 1990 and 2009.

In addition to these credits, a person's earnings after 65 may also result in a larger check that would have been payable at 65.

Of course, a person who starts getting checks at 65 can still work and earn a significant amount before his or her benefits are affected. In 1988, people 65 through 69 can earn $8,400 and still get benefits for all of the year. There is no limit for people 70 or older.

If earnings go above $8,400, then $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above this amount. The annual exempt amount will increase automatically to keep pace with increases in average wages. The exempt amount for people under 65 is $6,120 in

Pressure canner clinic planned

Clinics for pressure canner testing will be held Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the County Extension office in the Courthouse basement in Dimmitt.

Participants are asked to bring a lid only, and preservation publications will be provided.
