Screwworm Case Reported in Coke

Coke County had a screwworm case confirmed last week, on the Nolan Pentecost place, five miles northwest of Robert Lee (formerly the Overall place). The case was reported by Coke County Agent Sterling Lindsey.

He said that on the same day Runnels, Mitchell and Howard Counties also had cases confirmed.

Lindsey said that all stockmen need to watch livestock closely, particularly new-born offspring. He also said surgery should be avoided if possible since most of the screwworm cases reported this year are navel cases in new-born livestock and/or man made surgical wounds.

Heroin 'Hot Line' Ready for Use

President Richard Nixon on April 7 announced establishment of the "Heroin Hotline," a nationwide, toll-free telephone number to provide American citizens with a quick and convenient way to report information on heroin pushers.

That telephone number is (800) 368-5363. The telephones are manned at a center in Washington around the clock, seven days a week. Trained operators are on duty. The caller need not identify himself, and the rights of all callers will be fully protected.

The hotline is part of a national "turn in a pusher" program and is expected to have tremendous potential in controlling heroin traffic, according to the Assistant Attorney General in the Drug Abuse Law Enforcement Office in Washington.

Saturday, June 3, is Democratic Primary runoff day in Coke County and all of Texas.

Four contests are on the ballot and include: U. S. senator, with Barefoot Sanders going against Ralph Yarbrough; for governor Frances Farenthold is opposing Delph Briscoe; for lieutenant governor, it is Bill Hobby against Wayne Connally; and in the race for comptroller, Robert Calvert is facing Jim Wilson.

In the first primary, Yarbrough, Briscoe, Hobby and Calvert ran first in their respective races.

Sanco Homecoming Set This Weekend

Sanco's 18th annual homecoming will be next weekend, June 3 and 4. There will be a working of the grounds on Friday, June 2, in preparation for the event.

Special notice will be given this year to the "fifth generation" descendants of early day Sanco or other Coke County settlers.

The homecoming will open Saturday night with a program at the school house. On the Saturday night program will be a group of musicians from Robert Lee, including Add Davis, Ray Shandley, Lynn Shandley and Edna Havins, who play with Jack Denman of Snyder. They will play instrumental music and sing old time folk songs. A short business meeting is also planned following the musical program.

The program Sunday morning will begin at 10:30 a.m. with the theme a prayer often said in frontier churches: "Lord, we thank Thee that everything is as well with us as what it is," according to Ulmer Bird, chairman of the homecoming. Bird will be master of ceremonies for the Sunday morning session and Harvey Reid will lead the singing.

A barbecue lunch will be served at noon. Roy Martin of Sterling City will prepare the barbecue, beans and tea. Everyone is asked to bring a basket lunch. Everyone is welcome to attend the homecoming.

Special Elections Tuesday

In another election next Tuesday, June 6, Coke County voters will vote to elect a replacement for State Sen. David Ratliff, who resigned recently in the face of nepotism charges. Only candidate on the ballot will be Bill Tippen, Abilene attorney and former state representative. The new senator will serve only until the end of 1972. At that time Coke County will go into another senatorial district represented by W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland.

Beer Vote Tuesday, Too

Probably creating the most interest in the west side of Coke County is the other proposition that will be on the ballots for Justice Precincts 1 and 3, on whether or not to legalize the sale of beer for off premises consumption only in those precincts.

A petition with the signatures of 153 qualified voters was presented to the Commissioners' Court on May 8 requesting the election. The court then called the election to coincide with the special senatorial election.

Austin — The long awaited special finance session of the Texas Legislature has been called for 10 a.m. June 14.

Gov. Preston Smith issued the official proclamation last week, stating repeatedly he plans to present a 1973 budget which will require no new taxes.

The governor, who has implied he would veto a tax bill, said he does not think lawmakers can pass one without his placing the subject of revenue on the special session agenda.

Under the proclamation, Smith will allow legislators to consider "such other subjects as the governor may submit from time to time."

However, he made clear he does not plan to open the call to any other business until the 1973 budget — financing state operation — from Sept. 1, 1972, to Aug. 31, 1973 — is finally passed.

Smith vetoed all 1973 fiscal appropriations adopted by the legislature during the 1971 regular session. In anticipation of more federal aid (that never was received), the legislature did not enact a 1973 welfare budget — which made a special session inevitable even without the governor's veto.

A proposed state officials' code of ethics and a recommendation for repeal of a controversial new trailer brake law are among items to be offered the special session for action after passage of the appropriations act.

There is some speculation Smith may try to avoid the need for new taxes by proposing a welfare program finance act covering less than a full fiscal year. This would leave the balance of 1973 welfare appropriations as emergency business for the regular session next year.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court dismissed the appeal of a Dallas man who sought a reduction of the $250,000 fee awarded his ex-wife's attorneys in a divorce action.

The High Court upheld a Houston court of civil appeals finding that high fees collected by a woman in an insurance case were the result of the insurance company's prolonging litigation. National Life Insurance Company protested that legal fees ran five times as much as the insured collected.

In another case, the Supreme Court agreed that the state was immune from damages after a blind San Antonio boy drowned in a Texas State School for the Blind pool.

PARTY SWITCHING ILLEGAL — Secretary of State Bob Bullock issued a stern warning that June 3 runoff voters must "stay in the party primary where they voted on May 6."

Bullock said Republicans who voted in the GOP first primary or Democrats who voted in their own May 6 primary cannot switch and participate in the other party's runoff primary.

If violations are discovered, said Bullock, they will be turned over to prosecuting authorities. It is also a violation, of course, for voters to cast ballots in two different precincts, within the same party, reminded the chief state election officer.

$25 MILLION IN BONDS SOLD — A total of $25 million in bonds have been sold to municipalities under the state's new financial assistance program for improvement or construction of sewage treatment facilities.

Texas Water Quality Board reported it has received 106 applications for loans of water enhancement funds amounting to $28.77 million, and 72 applications totaling $24.63 millions have been approved. Thirty-four applications are pending in the amount of $4.1 million, and $4.2 million has been transferred to 16 projects where bids have been approved and cities are ready to start construction.

The program makes it possible for cities to make improvements at about 25 per cent of project costs to themselves. Bonds provide the state's share, and the federal government pays the rest.

AG OPINION — A special $1

fee is applicable to all delinquent tax receipts and certificates issued by county tax assessor-collectors for special districts and should be included in a "state cost" item on forms furnished by the comptroller, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

GUARD CALLED OUT — National Guard units from San Antonio and Austin were called out by the governor in a pilot traffic safety effort over the Memorial Day weekend.

The Guardsmen rode as second men in highway patrol cars or manned Guard trucks and jeeps on "lifesaving" patrol.

If the experiment proves successful, Smith said he may call Guard units to special duty during other holiday weekends.

Meanwhile, law enforcement officers and traffic court judges were urged to "handle traffic violators in the full measure which our laws provide."

A Vote AGAINST Beer Is A Vote For A BETTER COMMUNITY

- WE BELIEVE the more available beer is in a community, the more of it is consumed. (In most communities where it has been legalized, we see this to be true.)
- WE BELIEVE the more alcoholic beverage that is consumed the more traffic accidents we have. (State records show approximately half of the accidents have alcohol as the major cause.)
- WE BELIEVE that if we "vote in" beer, our law enforcement problems will increase.
- WE BELIEVE that more tax dollars will be spent on extra law enforcement and related problems than we gain through taxes on beer.
- WE BELIEVE legalized beer will affect the children and homes of our community.
- WE BELIEVE that Robert Lee and Coke County are getting along well WITHOUT legalized alcoholic beverages.

Washington — At the end of last week's comments, a distinction was drawn between public and private wrongs as a matter of responsibility between the courts and the legislative branch of the federal government.

The conservative view is that public wrongs do not lend themselves to judicial solutions. Rather it is a matter of legislative initiative to determine questions of public policy and spending priorities. Only a broadly based representative body can bring the judgment to bear on these factors in order to place them in perspective.

More fundamental decisions involving public policy matters should be made by democratically selected and a political body directly answerable to the people.

Properly, the courts have played a role in limiting excesses in the exercise of legislative and executive power. But, they have done so within the context of private litigation and have carefully avoided challenging governmental policy as distinguished from constitutional power to act.

In more recent years this traditional role of the courts has changed. More and more the judges have entertained jurisdiction and ruled on matters aimed at asserted public wrongs. If the legislative branch of government should frustrate the desires of a group of people by rejecting their claims, the courts are asked to furnish relief. This judicial activism is not consistent with the original role the courts were fashioned for and represents a dangerous shift of power from the people, acting through their elected representatives, to judges who are answerable only to themselves. It is a trend bad for the courts and worse for the country.

It would be well for crusading judges to ponder this statement by Justice Felix Frankfurter: "The court's authority — possessed of neither the purse nor the sword — ultimately rests on sustained public confidence in its moral sanctity. Such feelings must be nourished by the court's complete detachment — in fact, and in appearance — from political entanglement and by abstention from injecting itself into the clash of political forces in political settlements."

Mr. Justice Frankfurter was one of the most consistent advocates of judicial restraint. It has been the failure of federal courts at all levels to heed his advice that constitutes the core of some of the problems in this country today.

All too frequently, decisions are rendered on the basis that judges disagree with the congress or matters of policy. Oftentimes opinions may be couched in language challenging the constitutionality of a law but heavily influenced by their belief that congressional enactment is simply unwise.

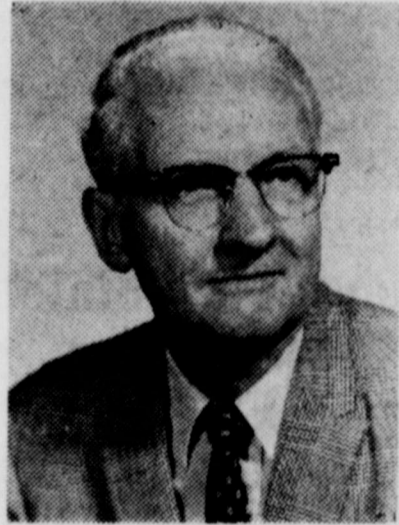

The late Justice Stone, who served for 16 years with distinction on the U. S. Supreme Court, expressed this view: "The power of the courts to declare a statute unconstitutional is subject to two guiding principles which ought never to be absent from judicial consciousness. One is that the courts are concerned only with the power to enact statutes, not with their wisdom. The other is that, while unconstitutional exercise of power by the executive and legislative branches of government is subject to judicial restraint, the only check upon our own exercise of power is our own sense of self-restraint. For the removal of unwise laws from the statute books, appeal lies not to the courts but to the ballot box and to the processes of democratic government."

Next week's article will give specific examples of more recent actions of the federal courts in issuing what is known in legal circles as "affirmative orders."

To Citizens of West Coke County

A number of people in our community are interested in legalizing the sale of beer and have exercised their right to call for an election.

Believing this to be a critical decision for the future of our community, we urge you to weigh the following questions seriously before the election June 6:

1. Would the sale of beer really benefit us, as some believe?
2. Should we make beer more readily available to those who use it —adults and minors alike?
3. Do we really need the sale of beer to "bolster the economy" and promote our community?
4. Who stands to profit from beer sales other than those who distribute and retail it?
5. Do we need the litter and clutter connected with the use, advertising, and traffic of beer added to our highways, parks and lakes?
6. Will legalized beer sales make Robert Lee and West Coke County a more attractive place for visitors and prospective citizens?
7. Above all, could it possibly make our community a better place to live and rear children?

YOU GUESSED IT!

We're Against It!
