Economizing Water Supply.

The New Mexico experiment station is making the study of irrigation problems its chief line of work; and among other problems is studying the most economical amount of water necessary for the production of crops. There are three directions says a press bulletin in which even an approximation to the least amount of water necessary for producing a full crop would prove very valuable.

The first is in pumping. Here each inch of water added above what is absolutely necessary increases materially the cost of producing the crop. Whether the crop is produced at a profit or a loss may depend on the use of a few inches of water more than is absolutely necessary.

The second is in estimating the size of the storage reservoir for the irrigation of a given area, or the area which can be irrigated from a reservoir of given size. In either case each acrefoot of water can only irrigate a certain area of land, and if a third more water than necessary is used, then the area which can be irrigated from the reservoir will be decreased one-third.

The third is in enabling us to economize in the use of the water of our present canal system. There is carcely an irrigation system in New Mexico, or anywhere else, where there is not more land that can be easily reached than there is water for under the present methods of irrigation. If the amount of water used could be materially decreased without decreasing the crop yield, it would then be po sible to increase the acreage under cultivation in that locality.

In many places, in other states, the people have found that they can do with very much less water than they formerly thought was possible; and such a thing may some day happen in New Mexico.

Not only would a more economical use of water permit the enlargement of the cultivate area, but it would save the man who has located on low land from being damaged by the seepage from the excess of water used by his neighbors above. Much of the alkali in the irrigated districts is due to the waste of water, either from over irrigation or from leaky ditches.

The experiment station is expermenting on wheat and alfalfa. This year one of the principal objects in the wheat experiments was to find out whether different amounts of water supplied after the wheat began to head had any marked effect on the yield, and if so, which amount was most eco

One set of six plats was irrigated thirty-five acre inches of water per acre in seven irrigations, and gave an average yield of eighteen bushels per acre: another was irrigated once in two weeks, received twenty-nine acreinches per acre in five irrigations, and one-tenth bushel per acre, yielded sixteen and six-tenths bushels per acre; a third was irrigated once in three weeks after heading, received twenty-five acre-inches per acre in four irrigations, and yielded fifteen and one-tenth bushels per acre, and a fourth set consisting of two plats received eighteen acre-inches per acre in three irrigations, and yielded ter and six-tenths bushels per acre. All of the plats received an irrigation at sowing, another in April and the third the middle of May when the wheat began to head. From these results we would infer that eighteen acre-inches was not enough; and as the ten acre-inches over twenty-five only gave three bush els of wheat more, it would seem that twenty-five acre-inches was the most economical amount used.

It is only by repeating such experi ments year after year that we will finally learn just what amount to use. After heading the set of plants irrigated once a week received usually four acre-inches of water each week, but they generally lost in the moisture content of the first six feet of soil until the wheat was out. Practically none of the thirty-five acre-inches applied penetrated below the fifth foot. The detailed results of these experiments will soon be published as a sta-The results of the experiments with alfalfa will form the subject of later

Slaughter at Roswell received word from St. Louis saying his lot of Shorthorns had taken the first prize at the World's Fair and his lot of two-year-old Herefords the second prize. This same lot of Shorthorns took the first prize at the Royal Stock Show, and the same Herefords took the third prize at the same time. Slaugher's Herefords are famous throughout the entire West. Mayor A. R. Gibson has received word from Porto Rico of the shipment of a box of oranges frim his grove near San Juan. Porto Rican fruit is unexcelled for size and flavor and the mayor wishes to show his friends what they are doing on the little island in the fruit raising line. It costs 90 cents to ship a box of oranges from California to New York and only 35 cents from San Juan. Mr. Gibson has a twentyfive-acre orange grove in Vega Alta, a short distance from the capital of the sland.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

A Roswell dispatch of the 12th inst. says: The largest artesian gusher in this section of the valley was brought in to-day eight miles from this city and one mile from Hagerman's big orchard. The depth is only 481 feet but there is a river of water gushing high over the casing.

An eastbound freight train at Wat rous, on the 14th inst., while coming out of a switch, crashed into an extra freight train going west. Engineer McCann suffered a broken arm and other injuries and several cars were piled up. The track was blocked for hours.

New Solicitor General. The New Mexican prints the following sketch: George W. Prichard of White Oaks. Lincoln county, who has just been ap-pointed by Governor Otero, solicitor general of New Mexico, is an attorney, who has been a member of the New Mexico bar for twenty-five years. He was born at New Harmony, Indiana, the son of James E. Prichard, who was a judge on the bench for a number of years and whose father was a soldier in the War of 1812, Colonel Prichard's mother, whose maiden name was Martha Downs, died when he was but a lad. His family on both sides were Kentuckians, whose ancestors came from Colonel Prichard's early education was derived mainly from private tu-tors. He graduated from the literary and law departments of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, leaving that nstitution in 1872. He at once entered upon the practice of his profes-sion and was successful from the start, being noted in his early youth for his loquence. He practiced law at Little Rock, Arkansas, for some years after graduating. Governor Powell Clayton of that state appointed him lieutenant colonel of the Arkansas militia. In 1876 Colonel Prichard was a canlidate for presidential elector on the Republican ticket, a rare honor for so young a man. In 1879, Colonel Prichard came West in quest of health and settled at Las Vegas, in this territory. Twice he was elected to the Legislative Council and served his constituents in an efficient and creditable manner, and made an enviable record for honesty and carefulness.

In 1882 President Arthur appointed him United States attorney for New Mexico, which position he filled creditably and efficiently until the Cleveland administration appointed a Democrat in his stead. In recent years Colonel Prichard has been a resident of White Oaks, Lincoln county, and has been engaged in the practice of his profession, always taking a strong interest in territorial road arrived at Santa Fe on the 16th inst. It consisted of two trainloads of twenty cars each. They were loaded at Estancia and billed to Wood River, Nebraska, via the Denver & Rio Grande. Through a singular coincidence two aged residents of Santa Fe, brother and sister, died within a few minutes of each other on the night of November 8th. The deceased were Teodocio Rodriguez, aged 78, who leaves five children: Mrs. Anna Rodriguez de Ortiz, aged 67 years, who leaves six children. Both died of typhoid fever.

A Santa Fe dispatch of November 11th says: According to an announcement made to-day by Willard S. Hopewell, manager of the New Mexico Fuel and Iron Company, the work of laying the steel will commence next week on the Santa Fe Central branch of twenty-six miles to the Hagan coal fields. The function will be at Moriarity and the terminus at Hagan.

A Las Vegas dispatch of the 16th inst. says: John Murphy and John and Jim Black, alleged to be notorious desperadoes of the Indian Territory, were brought here to-night and to-morrow will go before Chief Justice Mills for a hearing on the charge of having held up a Rock Island passenger train at Logan, New Mexico, last July. Special Officer McIntosh of the Rock Island, who is here with the prisoners, trailed them to the Indian Territory and after six weeks arrested them with the assistance of United States Marshal Tom Lilly. Four men held up the train, cut off the express car, blew open the safe and escaped with an amount that the railroad declined to name. The fourth man is believed to have been Tom Boswell, who was killed while trying to escape from prison last week at Chickasee, Indian Territory. Evidence was very strong against him and is said to e conclusive against the men brought The three prisoners, while in jail in Indian Territory, made three attempts to escape. A reward of $12,000

GETS UNCONDITIONAL PARDON PASS UNANIMOUS RESOLUTIONS VAST UNDERGROUND SCHEME IN GREAT LABOR CONVENTION

Pardon Board Extends Clemency to the Slayer of Fred Womack on the Radcliffe Estate in Gunnison County.

Denver, Nov. 21.-The state pardons poard last Friday granted an unconditional pardon to Frank A. Mahaney of Gunnison county, and finally closed one of the sensational murder cases in the history of Colorado.

William Radcliffe, an Englishman, owned and maintained large private game and fish preserves in Gunnison county. Frank A. Mahaney, who is said to be a half-breed Indian, was in the employ of Radcliffe. He shot and killed Fred Womack, a citizen of the county, who was poaching on the Radcliffe estate.

Shortly after the murder Radcliffe's country home and much of his prop-erty was razed by a mob of ranchmen and residents of the surrounding coun-The case was taken up between United States and British governments. Radcliffe was awarded $25,000 for losses sustained at the hands of the

The consideration of the Mahoney case by the pardons board attracted much public interest. Seven of the who convicted Mahaney, together with fifty business men of the county and many of the residents of Fruita. Mahaney's home town signed the petition for his pardon. It was pointed out that Womack had threatened Mahaney's life on numerous occasions and that he had been repeatedly warned against his practice of poaching. Other extenuating circumstances were cited to the board. After remaining in session for half the day the unconditional pardon was granted. The property owned by Radcliffe in Gunnison was one of the most beautiful mountain residences in the state. The grounds embraced a number of cautiful lakes and hills. Game and fish abounded. Radcliffe was seldom at the place and the natives were opposed to him because he refused all requests for permission to hunt and fish on the estate.

Many of the residents of the county, according to testimony introduced at the trial, were in the habit of poaching on the Radcliffe premises. Radcliffe hired Mahaney and others to guard his property. Mahaney held a eputy sheriff's commission. He claims that Womack was the most persistent of all the poachers. He had been ordered from the premises several times. Mahaney came upon Womack one year 1902. He was fishing in one of the lakes and refused to move. An encounter followed in which Womack was shot dead. Popular opinion immediately sided with Womack. For a time it was feared that Mahaney would be lynched. Within a short time after the shooting a mob raided the premises of Rad-

Teller County Mine Taxes.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Nov. 19 .- The commissioners of Teller county, sitting as a board of equalization, compromised on the valuations on non-producing mining properties. The reductions are substantial. For the year 1901 they are 40 per cent, and for 1902 they are 20 per cent.

If these reductions are without further resistance by the mining companies, fortunes in taxes are likely to be paid into the county treasury before the end of the year, as there are perhaps 200 companies owning property in the Cripple Creek district and in sections close thereto that have paid no taxes for years, and that have been awaiting the outcome of suits pending, or some such compromise as provide for the disbursement of proposed to-day by the county commis-

A Successful Concert.

The Portales band in its concert one week ago last night at the Methodist church made good its promise to excell all previous efforts. Though Mr. Meeker was handicapped in recent weeks by changes in the make up of the band and at the last moment lost one player by sickness he was able to present a pleasing program and entertained the audience in a way to commend the organization in future efforts. From a critical standpoint the "Gleaming Star Serenade" received most favorable comment. The proceeds of the concert were more than sufficient to put the band out of debt. We hope the boys will be provided with uniforms by the Fourth of July next.

THE body gets its life from food properly digested. Healthy digestion means pure blood for the body, but stomach troubles arise from carelessness in eating and stomach disorders upset the entire system. Improperly masticated food sours on the stomach, causing distressing pains, belching and nausea. When over-cating is persisted in the stomach becomes weakened and worn out and dyspepsia claims the victim.

Thedford's Black-Draught cures dyspepsia. It frees the stomach and bowels of congested matter and gives the stomach new life. The stomach is quickly invigorated and the natural stimulation results in a good appetite, with the power to thoroughly digest food.

You can build up your stomach with this mild and natural remedy. Try Thedford's Black-Draught today. You can buy a package from your dealer for package from your dealer for 25c. If he does not keep it, send the money to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., and a package will be mailed you.

Mrs. Henry Story, of No. ville, Ohio, says: "My husband uffered from rheumatism so back hurt and he had such pain in his left arm that he could not rest night or day. The doctor did him no good and it was not until he tried De. Williams' Pink Pills that he was helped. Six boxes cured him completely and he has not had an ache or a pain since. We think the pills are the best medicine in the world."

A GREAT INSTITUTION. It is unusual that a single institution in a city of 8,000 people will overshadow in importance every other interest, but such is the case with the American School of

A stranger in Kirksville is immediately with the idea that the town impressed with the idea that the town is sustained by this institution, in fact, Kirksville has been made what it is to-day by Dr. Still and his famous School and Infirmary. It is the largest patronized uninstitution of its kind in the United States.

Dr. Still's school enrolls over 700 students yearly and each student is required to attend four terms of five months each before completing the course of study. There are over 2,000 graduates and they are practicing in every state and territory of the Union. About two thirds of the states have passed special laws legalizing the

At the Infirmary, patients from every the country form of disease are constantly under treatment. For the past fifteen years almost every train coming to Kirksville has brought some new sufferer hoping to find relief by the science of Osteopathy. By the thousands who have left the institution benefited by the treatment, the science has been heralded to the world as a safe and rational method of cure. Several years ago a free clinic was established in connection with the practice department of the school and this is still in operation. Hundreds of the worthy poor, who are unable to pay for treatment, are treated every afternoon by the senior students free of charge.

Woman Fought for Russia.

The Port Arthur newspaper, Novikrai, of November 12th, copies of which were brought to Che Foo by the Russian torpedo boat destroyer, Ratstoropny, contains a romantic story of a woman served valorously in many fights at Port Arthur, until death closed her strange career.

The Novikral gives many details refarding the adventures of the woman which go to make the story one of undoubted authenticity.

The husband of Haritena Korotkiewitch was serving at Port Arthur. In man's life. endeavoring to join him she was stopped at Harbin and was not allowed to proceed further owing to her sex. She then donned masculine attire, and succeeded in reaching Port Arthur shortly before the landing of the Japanese on the peninsula of Liao Tung Finding her husband's regiment, she enlisted in it. She participated in numerous sorties and in the defense of the forts, and, although her sex was soon discovered, her record for bravery, tireessness and attention to the wounded. and the excellent moral influence she exerted over the soldiers, who never swore in her presence, won her permission to remain in the ranks.

While fighting side by side with her husband the latter was wounded. His wife nursed him until the crisis in his case was passed, when she returned to the front, where she became messenger to Captain Gourzakofiky of the Thirteenth regiment. In the performance of her duties as messenger she was often seen riding fearlessly from one position to another, seemingly unaffecteed by the bursting of shells or the din of battle. On October 16th she visited the trenches with dispatches, when huge shells from the Japanese guns struck and destroyed the Russian position. Hartiena Korotkiewitch and eight others were instanly killed. They were buried in one grave with the Russian flag wrapped around Haritena's body The Novikrai concludes its story by

COSTLY GARDENS

OF THE ENGLISH MILLIONAIRES

More Than $10,000,000 in the Aggregate Spent Annually for Labor Alone. It has been said that there are a core of noblemen in the united king-of the mighty," or at least of the rich, the gardens of which cost their owners anything almost from $2,500 a year upward, while there are as many more which demand between $1,000 and $2,500 a year for their maintenance. Of these 10,000 British gardens an annual sum estimated at over $10,000,000 is spent for labor alone, and another round £1,000,000 at least goes in the purchase of seeds, plants and manure, and the general ap-keep of the gardens and glass houses.

It is difficult and perhaps invidious to say which are the most costly gardens in great Britain, but among them, are certainly those of Trentham hall, at Cardiff castle, the world-famous gardens of Chatsworth, and those of the Rothschilds, on which gold has been lavished like water.

One gets an impressive idea of the extent of such gardens as these when the kitchen garden at Welbeck covers thirty acres, that the houses in which peaches, apricots and nectarines are grown stretch for a quarter of a mile and that to stock them costs as much as $50,000. When a millionaire sets his heart on making himself a lordly says: thought to entertaining her during a pleasure garden he recks little of the cost.

kind or another. In addition to the cost of labor there furnaces to be fed, walls built for fruit growing, nets for protection, tools to buy and replace, and often-the most costly of all-seeds and plants to fur nish. Baron Schröder is credited with having spent $200,000 on his collection of orchids, and Sir Trevor Lawrence with an expenditure of $150,000. Joseph Chamberlain has thirteen glass houses, containing, roughly, 6,000 plants, many of them of great value and gathered from almost every part of the earth where orchids are to be found. The plants are arranged in different houses according to the time of flowering, so that the succession of exquisite flowers never fails the whole year round. Each plant bears its number as well as its name, and it is said that Mr. Chamberlain knows every one of his floral pets.-Chicago Chronicle
