REVIVAL AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONTINUES

Rev. House Preaches Some Powerful Sermons

MANY ARE BEING CONVERTED

Some 35 Additions to the Church to Date

The revival services conducted by Evangelist Ernest House at the Central Christian church have been in progress for three weeks and the attendance and interest is unabated. Large congregations continue to greet the Evangelist at each service and his sermons are much appreciated.

The song service conducted by Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Baird is a very attractive feature of the meetings. Mrs. Baird is a skillful pianist and Mr. Baird is one of the most enthusiastic and efficient of leaders. His solos are much enjoyed.

The meeting will continue over Sunday and the fact that some thirty-five have at this date (Wednesday) united with the church, speaks highly for the trio of Christian workers.

Fickensher Back to Town

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fickensher returned Thursday from Marlin where Mr. Fickensher has been for the benefit of the excellent mineral water. He is much improved and immediately re-opened the Cozy Theatre to the satisfaction of his customers. Mr. Fickensher has given us an orderly, well managed place of entertainment and we welcome him back in our midst.

The Losers

James Jones will roll a peanut past the court house with his nose.
John Harkin from a black jack will receive half dozens blows.
Eph Thompson all this winter will appear in his straw hat.
Tom Ludlow every evening will yowl like a pussy cat.
Tis thus we show our stanchness and our faith in what we claim. And that to us our party is much greater than name.
Lige Potzman takes Hen Miller for a nice wheelbarrow ride.
Abe Early wears green whiskers—he had them dyed today.
Sam Judson gets no hair cuts and cannot shave for a year.
Mart Willis wears a placard reading "Kick me" at the rear.
For thus we show our stanchness our fealty to the cause,
And mark our right to pick out who shall make the nation's laws.
Luke Fergus on a broomstick will go riding all about,
Pete Jesse wears his garments with his coat wrong side out.
Ed Green must live on crackers till the 17th. of May.
Frank Meeker likes donkey every morn must wildly bray—
These sacrifices show us what true patriots will do
To prove their devotion to the old red, white and blue.—

SHALL NEW MEXICO CEASE TO ADVERTISE HER RESOURCES

The Bureau of Immigration has Been of Great Benefit to The Sunshine State

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT—SOMETHING MUST BE DONE SOON

See your Representative and use your Influence to aid The Best State in the Union

We are in receipt of the following from the Bureau of Immigration of Albuquerque with the request that we give it publication. This institution is one of greatest powers for boosting our resources in the state and should receive the encouragement and support of all.

By careful management and rigid economy the Bureau of Immigration was able to get through the fiscal year which ended on November 30th, and will be able, with the assistance of the publicity Association, to continue its work until such time as the next legislature shall say whether or not the Bureau in its present, or some other form, is to be continued.

Only the most necessary literature has been printed. The calls upon the Bureau of Immigration for the little Home-seekers Guide to New Mexico, which in its present form carries a complete review of the state, if supplied, would have exhausted the entire appropriation for the past fiscal year. These little books are distributed not only from this office but by the railroads entering New Mexico, by the land offices, by U. S. Commissioners, by commercial bodies and by many land companies and individuals.

The supply of these books on hand is now practically exhausted. There is no money available to print any more. By carefully conserving them we have been able to keep enough to use in answering the inquiries coming direct to this office. There are requests on hand at the present time for more than five thousand of these books which we cannot supply. These include request from the Santa Fe railroad which is spending more than $50,000.00 a year in advertising this state, from other railroads entering the state, from the U. S. land offices which receive large numbers of inquiries daily and from land companies in and out of New Mexico who are spending thousands of dollars in development work and in advertising the country.

The plain hard fact is that after January first, New Mexico as a state will have nothing in the way of literature with which to answer inquiries concerning our resources. All of the hundreds inquiries concerning our resources, all of the hundreds of inquiries which come to this office; to the governor's office; to the secretary of state and to other public offices from which complete information about New Mexico may reasonably be expected, must go un answered and the people interested turned away, unless the officer undertakes the impossible task of describing the state to each person inquiring by means of a personal letter.

In the meantime Kansas, Texas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, California and the northwest, are sending out daily tons upon tons of elaborately illustrated, carefully prepared literature, and reaching with it practically everyone interested in investment or in a change of location.

It is a condition which in its effect upon the development of the state is appalling. New Mexico's hands are tied while her neighboring states and the northwest are getting the great flood of population and money that is this year moving westward.

It is true that a few active communities are spending or preparing to spend large sums of money in advertising their advantages. This money is raised by popular subscription and it is not fair to expect that these communities should spend funds so raised for the general exploitation of the state as a whole. The state should do as practically every other state in the west is doing—provide the general advertising and thus pave the way for those communities which are sufficiently alive to look out for their own interests.

New Mexico at this time has dropped from a fairly prominent place to the tail end of the development procession of the west.

The situation as regards our immediate future is serious. What are you who have large property interests in New Mexico; what are you who are interested in the development of irrigation and land projects; what are you who desire a rapid growth of your community, going to do about it.

The legislature convenes on January 10th. It is up to the legislature to say whether this state shall remain at the tail end of the development procession or whether it shall go forward.

It is up to you who are most interested to say to your legislators what you desire done and what should be done.

Let there be no misunderstanding regarding the attitude of the present Bureau of Immigration. None of the members of the present Bureau desire to continue in a work to which they have given freely of their time and energy and thought during the past three years. It makes no difference to the Bureau what form this work may take, how it may be done, or by whom, so that it is done well. We know what the work has accomplished and what can accomplish with proper support by the state.

In view of the above we simply suggest that you who are most interested in our development see to it that your members of the legislature understand the situation and the importance of immediate action.

Calumet Guarantees Baking Economy

Have you ever stopped to think just what "economy" in baking really means? Some folks seem to have the idea that saving a little on the cost of the of the materials—the flour, eggs, etc.—is economy. Others are of the opinion that they have been economical when they buy the low-priced baking powder, and save 19c to 25c. But both are wrong. For the real economy—the economy that counts—consists in doing away with the failures that so often waste far more than is saved in buying low priced materials.

And that beyond a doubt is the reason that Calumet Baking Powder is the favorite of millions of cooks. It absolutely prevents failures—and guarantees success—which in the end, is the same thing as economy.

Calumet is unfailing—it makes every baking good—more tasty, more delicious, more evenly raised—simply because it is not only pure and wholesome itself—but so uniform in quality that you can always depend upon it. Two Worlds Pure Food Expositions—One at Chicago in 1907 and the other at France in 1912—have officially pronounced Calumet the best baking powder made.

No doubt about it, you will like Portales.

Christmas is almost here and you should try to make as many as possible happy and by so doing be happy yourself.

I do not understand why so many of the G. O. P's continues referring to Cleveland's time, when we have had four years of such prosperity "for the interest."

To ascertain better and better what the will of the republican party was and is with us, I ask them to look back over the past four years and note what a republican house did, with other collective wisdom, "Taft's preferential tariff commission" for the tariff, for this alone was there greatest object. Nevertheless in the inexplicable universal votings and debating of these ages, and idea or rather a dumb presumption to the contrary of human nature, has gone idly abroad over our country, and at this day especially in our eastern cities, poor human beings are to be found whose practical belief is that if we "vote" for the republican party, so prosperity will thenceforth be, and practical men have to imagine that the laws of this universe, to get the greatest impression of good are decided by voting. Then it is an idle fancy for us to feel the intimidation they wish to cause, by referring to some past administration.

One thing that struck me in the last campaign, was the curious way in which the greatest men of our country tried to expose each other, "both good republicans" and who expressed opinions of the crudest kind, have been very civilly treated and placed at the head of the party. And then the great division of the G. O. P's at last the voters opened their eyes, but only to see that the interest came back and presented the name of T. R. "who have been so crooked as explained by Taft" for nomination of the Republican ticket.

The Republicans figure themselves on being especially practical have great contempt for the orizers, and to be guided exclusively by facts, before altering a it is the custom to appoint a committee of inquiry who sends for able to give information concerning the matter in hand and ask some thousands of questions, some of the answers to the questions are printed and circulated to make us think we are getting a square deal. Nevertheless the representatives of the republican party, pertinaciously adhere to theories long ago disproved by the most conspicuous facts, they pay great respect to petty detail evidence, but of large truths they are quite regardless. Thus the experience of government of many years has shown there management is almost invariably bad.

I do not wish to predict of our Democratic administration but I see no reason why we can expect more for the common people.

MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts in Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good. One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more.

Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui. Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes? Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

TWENTY YEARS EXPERIENCE GROWING BROOM CORN.

(By Mrs. L. Milburn, Dermot, Kans.)

My experience in growing broom corn covers a period of twenty years, having planted the first crop in 1891. Have raised a crop every year since then, with the exception of 1898, when the crop was a total failure, owing to the dry weather. My smallest crop was one ton, and the largest twenty-seven ton. The prices received have been all the way from $25.00 to $150.00 per ton. It has been by experience that any price less than $50.00 per ton is a losing proposition, in this locality, as it is fifty miles to a railroad and costs about $7.00 per ton freight to deliver broom corn to the market.

It depends on how much help a man has, whether he should plant a large or small crop, but consider that twenty acres is sufficient for one man to handle.

The following is my method of raising broom corn. The selection of seed is the most important. A patch of the best brush should be picked out, cut out everything that does not show pure and good seed. Let it stand until ripened, cut and keep it separate from other brush.

Ground should be prepared by either discing or listing in the winter, any time that it is not freezing after the first of January, which should be followed by listing with blank listing. The seed should be planted about the first of May, beginning with a certain amount according to the acreage, and continuing to plant about every two weeks until the 20th. of June. This makes the crop come on in better shape, and gives more time to harvest the crop.

In this country, we use what is called the Knife Sled, and the first thing we do is to follow with the harrow. In a week or two the ground should be harrowed the second time, depending however, on the rain and growth of the crop. When about knee high a disk cultivator should be used, and later, it is our custom to use four horses to lay the crop by. The weeds very seldom bother after this time. Cutting should begin when the bloom begins to fall, and continue until finished. The field should be gone over twice, as the brush doesn't all ripen for the first cutting. Pile four rows of brush together, and mash down a bunch of sticks on which lay the brush. This will keep it off of the broom corn. The brush will be ready to haul in and place in the rick, in from two to five days, and is hauled on a rack 2 x 6 sixteen feet long, and latter placed in ricks about thirty to forty feet long. It should be placed in the rick by laying the butts together placing the seed out and gradually drawing it in until one layer wide on top, after which I place bound cane, or some other kind of feed to cover it to keep dry and protect it from growing.

Seeding can be done at any time but should be done as soon as possible after it is ricked. The Chain Seeder is a great deal faster than the old style Hand Seeder, and after the brush is seeded and baled, it should be stored in sheds until sold.

About one quart of good clean seed per acre in our locality will apply to both Standard and Dwarf. The selection of seed is the most essential thing in broom corn raising, and next a thorough preparation of the seed bed. The more you can work your ground before planting the better the brush will be, and will not require as much work later on. This method applies to Southwest Kansas, and may not suit all localities.

POOR BALING OF BROOM CORN ONE OF THE GREATEST FAULTS.

(By James W. Harris of Enterprise Broom Works, Chicago, Ill.)

If the farmer will take more care and interest in securing the very best broomcorn seed, and at harvest time take the proper precaution to see that the stock is cured and dried and free from seed and baled securely, he will have no trouble in getting a better price for his crop than the careless farmer who disregards all the above items.

The greatest fault of the broom corn from Oklahoma to manufacturers stationed as far east as Chicago, is the poor baling. A large percentage of the western broomcorn unloaded from the tracks at Chicago is in such a condition that it has to be tied in bundles before it can be hauled. The result is a large loss to the shipper and the manufacturer, all of which could be avoided by a little more care on the part of the grower.

We are positive that when manufacturers and their buyers secure corn that will protect them from this loss, the grower would find it financially to his advantage.

FASHION HITS TOP

REACHES HIGHEST STAGE OF PERFECTION EVER KNOWN.

Comfort, Beauty and Common Sense Are More Admirably Blended Than Ever Before—Smart Garments Schoolgirl Needs.

To those who understand the history of dress, fashion seems to have reached a stage of more perfection than the world has ever known. Comfort, beauty and common sense are admirably blended. Skirts for walking purposes are short, as they should be; they are narrow, slimming in tendency and immensely chic. The short, trim coats that go with such skirts, when well made and in suitable textures, take a good fifteen years from the middle-aged woman's life. There is no such thing, indeed, as the hateful "certain age" in present dress. One is either young or else old, for under sixty walking frocks have pretty much the same character.

The very materials consider line above all things nowadays. Street materials are in the plain colors that conduce to slimmness, and all trappings are put on with the same eye. Such evening materials as are favored are velled so that the outlines of the patterning are lost and crude colors shine through the outside, in only a rich, soft blur. Everyday shirt waists are compact little things that ignore the startling plaid and checks of long ago, and the roughest topcoat, for bad weather even, is made a garment with a certain elegance through the mere choice of tints and weaves that lend a look of youthfulness and slimmness. In a way, we are only big, conspicuous, with our furs and hats. Both are enormous, and though hats are cheaper than of yore, furs are dearer. As a trimming, too, the animal skin is used on everything, street frocks, evening toilets of the thinnest gauge, wedding satins, mourning bonnets. There is a terrible danger with the present lavish use of this gracious and ever becoming cold weather material—wild animals are becoming exterminated so rapidly—we may not have a muff next year. But sufficient unto the day is the loveliness thereof.

Our illustration shows two garments which are indispensable in the schoolgirl's wardrobe—a pretty afternoon dress and a polo top coat. The dress is of a thinish French wool in brown and white, and it is trimmed with platings of plain brown and round brown crocheted buttons. The vest is of a pure white lace in a simple pattern, decked with five tiny bows of brown silk. The hair bows are of white taffeta, and the shoes of brown velvet with brass buckles. The whole get-up, as it stands, displays the utmost elegance despite the simplicity of the gown, but a wool in a plain color, and a more ordinary guimpe, would turn the design into a very practical thing. Blue serge would make a smart school dress in this way, and a deep coral cloth, with the bottoms of the sleeves made a little more elaborately, would be a stylish and becoming material for dress up.

The polo coat, which is the sort of top garment a mother would buy for her daughter when she cannot afford a fine coat suit and furs, is of a reversible tweed, the outer side notched, and the under plaided. This turns over to form the collar and cuffs, which are plainly edged with a cloth in one of the colors. Such coats, while loose, are very becoming to young figures, and they may be bought ready-made from fifteen dollars up. But they would cost far less if made at home, and as winter materials are greatly reduced just now it is possible for the home sewer to turn out one of these coats for eight or nine dollars. When made in one of the furry white coatings, or in a pale blue or gray, the polo coats make admirable evening wraps for young girls. Huge brass buttons are used on the coats for evening use, and sometimes a smart one is provided with an attached hood, silk lined.

Echoes from Raton

Raton Happenings Always Interest our Readers

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighborhood town? The generous statement of this Raton resident leaves no room for doubt on this point.

L. R. Berry, 344 Maxwell, St., Raton, New Mexico, says:

"Some time ago I suffered from rheumatic twinges brought on I believe by uric acid in my system. The trouble crippled me. Hearing of Doan's kidney Pills I procured a box and they brought much relief. I am sure that I will find permanent relief from my ailment, as the remedy has already proved to be beneficial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

He Advertised—At Last

There was a man in our town,
And he was wonderful wise;
He swore (it was his policy)
He would not advertise.
But one sad day he advertised,
And thereby hangs a tale,
The ad. was set in small type
And headed "Sheriff's sale."
