WILLIAM J. BRYAN ON THE TARIFF QUESTION

Democratic Administration Now Busy Breaking Down the Obnoxious Payne-Aldrich Tariff Wall

SOME OBJECTIONS OF SPECIAL INTEREST DISCUSSED

American Nation Will Look Upon the Administration of President Wilson With Great Admiration

With the enactment of the new tariff law, the country will witness the passing of an economic fallacy which has for a long time done duty in behalf of favor-seeking corporations.

In the beginning, protection to infant industries was advocated as a means of giving variety to our manufactures; its advocates at that time never thought of defending it as a permanent institution. When the infants reached lusty maturity and still clamored for public assistance, the champions of protection advanced to new ground and began to insist upon a permanent tariff wall on the ground that production here is now, and must be for the future, more expensive than abroad, although they have steadily refused to investigate the difference in cost.

It would seem difficult to conceive of a more easily exploded fallacy than that which underlies the present claims to the protectionists, and yet many honest and sincere citizens have supported this doctrine in spite of the fact that every industry which does not pay must be carried upon the shoulders of those which do pay.

Every industry in this country which cannot stand alone must, of necessity, be a burden upon the industries that can stand alone, and this is not only an injustice to those industries upon which the load is placed, but an actual subtraction from the value of the total product. To illustrate: If there are ten enterprises in a community, each one self-supporting, the total value of the community's product will be the sum of the products of the ten factories, and the total profit of the ten. If, however, only nine of the factories are self-supporting and the tenth can live only by enforced contributions from the other nine, the total profit of the community is the profit of the nine less the contribution made to the tenth.

No one has been more successful in casting ridicule upon the economic theory underlying protection than the French economist Bastiat. He uses three illustrations which have been quoted all over the world by those who have had to meet the economic fallacies upon which the case of protection rests. Refuting the contention that a nation is justified in buying at home at a higher price than which it can purchase abroad at a low price, he supposes the following case: Two men are alone on an island and are making a canoe out of a log. Some boards float up to the shore, and one of the men says: "Let us make our canoe out of these boards. It will save labor." The other replies, "No, if we use the boards, what will we do with the labor we are now putting into the log?" And, again, he supposes that two men are supplying themselves with food and fruit by their own effort, spending four hours in the afternoon gathering fruit. A man comes from another island where they have a great deal of game but no fruit and proposes to furnish them all the game they can catch in four hours for the fruit that they can gather in two hours. One of the men says, "Let us do it, we will save two hours." The other replies, "No, we would lose two hours." The third illustration puts the manufacturers of candles in the position of petitioning the government to exclude the light of the sun on the ground that it costs the sun nothing to produce light and that they therefore cannot compete with its rays. They contend that they are thus deprived of the benefits they would derive from the larger demands for candles—society, they claim, is injured by the freely furnished light of the orb of day.

Of course Bastiat's position is indignantly rejected by the protectionist as theoretical, and yet even the beneficiaries of protection must have theory and it is that if people will give the protected interests the money to buy with, they will use the money to purchase the products of those who furnish the money. This is the home market idea; but what advantage is there in having people buy your product if you, yourself, have to supply the money which is to be paid back to you? But the day of delusion is passing and the people are soon to learn how expensive has been the deception practiced upon the public by those who have secured privileges and favor from the government.—W. J. Bryan.

Miss Brown to Japan

One of the most successful and interesting social functions of the season was the farewell reception to Miss Winifred Brown at the beautiful home of Captain and Mrs. T. J. Molinari, Tuesday evening. The reception was given by the members of the Central Christian church in honor of Miss Brown, who left today for San Francisco from which place she will sail on the seventh of October as a missionary to Tokio, Japan. Her special work will be that of teaching music in the christian college of that place.

Between forty and fifty guests were in attendance. As the guests came in they were required to register their name in a little souvenir booklet prepared for the occasion by some member of the church. The guests were next escorted to a daintily decorated table upon which was a punch bowl containing delightfully delicious cherry punch, which was enjoyed to the fullest by all.

As the reception was an informal affair, the guests were now left, for awhile, to entertain themselves in the way that best suited them. There were no dull moments here, as was true of the entire evening. The time was spent in merry conversation, in singing and especially, in viewing the many presents sent to Miss Brown during the past few days from living christian friends in Texas. These gifts came from several churches and individuals. Many of them are costly, and all of them are very appropriate. They speak in no unmistaken tones of the real worth of this talented christian young lady and the esteem in which she is held by those who know her best.

Following the rendering of a touching solo, "Abide With Me," by Mrs. Louie Kohl, Minister J. H. Shepard, for a short time, assumed the roll of toastmaster. After a few well chosen remarks appropriate to the occasion, he introduced the following who spoke briefly and interestingly:

County High Schools

The citizens of Tiaban and LaLande are busily engaged at this time in the circulation of petitions the object of which is to cause the county commissioners to call an election for the purpose of locating a county high school at each of those places. This is a step in the right direction and something that should be looked after right here in Portales. If the citizens of Portales will only get busy the required petition can be obtained before the adjournment of the coming term of the commissioners court, which will begin next Monday and probably be in session for two or three days, and the county high school for Portales can easily be secured. There can be more than one of these schools established in each county and there is no reason why Portales should not have one of them. The petition must be signed by one-fifth of the qualified voters of the county, and in a matter of this kind all ladies who have attained their legal majority are on the par with the man when it comes to voting. Let us get busy and settle this matter so that our position as an educational center will be forever settled. Do it now so that the expense of more than one election can be obviated, because if the required petition is presented in time Portales can be voted on at the same time that the vote is taken on Tiaban and LaLande.

Capt. T. J. Molinari, Rev. Kirkpatrick, Prof. Long, and Mrs. Shepard, the guest of honor was then introduced and responded in a happy way to all the preceding speakers. Rev. Smith closed this part of the program with a most earnest prayer for the missionary and the cause to which she had consecrated her life.

Refreshments, consisting of cake and chocolate, were served, after which the guests retired to their homes voting the affair a most happy event and grateful to their host and hostess and grateful for the cause that brought them together. Miss Brown will carry the prayers of a great host in Portales with her to Japan.

GROCERIES BOUGHT WHOLESALE PRICES

Representatives of Wholesale Grocery House Peddle Junk to the Citizens of Portales and the Valley

CHEAPEST CLASS OF GOODS EVER INTRODUCED TO PUBLIC

Support Your Merchant Who Pays the Taxes and Helps to Upbuild the Country in Every Sense

The wholesale grocery business seems just at this time to be pushed in the Portales country—that is the agent who calls at your door will tell you that he is selling at wholesale. Did you ask him what he would sell you standard brands of meats, lards, salts and flour at, or did you simply take in his bait when he quoted prices on spices and extracts. Yes, spices and extracts are their leaders, and those they do not offer you in standard and well known brands. There is as much difference between the various brands of spices, extracts and numerous other articles of household goods as there is between a cheap calico garment and a nice silk garment, and yet each garment may be a dress and made up from the same pattern—yes, it is a dress alright. The home merchant can and will sell you the same goods that the wholesale peddler offers you and sell them to you at the same, if not really cheaper, prices, but if your home merchant were to insult you by offering you these cheap articles you would refuse to enter the door of his establishment again. But, just to try the home merchant, why not procure the prices of the wholesale peddler, together with the brand of goods that he offers you, and then go down to your grocer and see at what price he will sell you the same goods? This is a fair proposition both to the consumer and the home merchant, and in the end it will save to the consumer dollars because you can get the goods at home and just as cheap as when you order it. Then why not ask the wholesale peddler to give you a little time on your account, explaining to him that your wife has been sick. Will he countenance your proposition? Will he extend you the favor of a short credit? And, why not sell the wholesale peddler, or trade him perhaps would be better, your eggs and chickens for groceries. Ask the wholesale peddler to donate to some public enterprise, or to assist in the many charitable deeds that your home merchant daily helps with by donating his cash. Ask him why he doesn't pay some taxes in Roosevelt county and assist in running the county and city government. Ask him if he will let you leave a load of water-melons at his store and sell them for you to his customers. There are a thousand accommodations you can receive from your home merchant that the wholesale peddler will look upon you in scorn if you were to approach him upon the subject. Think this matter over, consult with your home merchant about his goods and his prices, and then you will surely do your trading at home instead of sending your money out of the country, to some distant state, where it will be forever gone.

Herrick Gets Decision

The Higgins-Herrick bout which was pulled off at Juarez last Sunday according to schedule lasted for four rounds instead of the scheduled twenty. Higgins is a Roswell boy, the son of Policeman Fred Higgins, and had many friends and admirers who confidently hoped to see him come out the winner, however the referee gave the decision to Herrick in the fourth round. Herrick did not succeed in knocking Higgins down, and he therefore did not take the count, but it is said the decision was rendered in order to prevent further punishment. Higgins was standing the punishment bravely and was considerably disappointed when the referee called the bout off.

Miss Eva Crosby entertained the rook club on Saturday afternoon—Rook was played and a delightful two course luncheon was served. The members were Misses Janice Wyly, Bess Culbertson, Oneida and Lucile Mundy, Mary Lillian Hopper and Eva Crosby. The substitutes were Helen and Allene Mundy.

Assistant district attorney, James A. Hall, was looking after legal business in Roswell first of the week.

Died

Sunday morning at ten o'clock the spirit of Ernest Stovall took its flight from its tenement of clay. Ernest was twenty-five years old and was one of the splendid young men of the county. He leaves a father and mother, four brothers and two sisters and a host of friends to mourn his death.

His body was laid to rest Monday afternoon in the Eliland cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of people. Rev. F. G. Calloway conducted the funeral service.

The Herald extends condolence to the bereaved family.

Card of Thanks

We thank our friends that so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our dear son and brother.
Mr. and Mrs. Stovall and children.

Frank Shaw, a local broom corn buyer, estimates that at the least calculation there will be twenty cars of corn shipped from Portales this season. Broom corn is now bringing from one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five dollars per ton.

Dan Vinson is in Colorado picking up a bunch of lives ones to whom he expects on his return to sell some Portales lands.

Exposition Managers Meet

At a recent meeting of the New Mexico Board of Exposition Managers held at Santa Fe, New Mexico, the board approved plans for the building which is to be constructed at San Diego. The style of architecture is modeled after the old church at Acoma, New Mexico.

The site for the building was selected some time ago. The building when constructed, will occupy a commanding position and will front toward Point Loma and the sea.

The following is the report of the meeting:

Pursuant to call made by the chairman, the board of Exposition Managers met at Santa Fe in the office of the chairman, September 15, 1913, there being present Messrs. S. T. Clark, Guy A. Reed, and the Chairman, R. E. Schuler and Manuel U. Vigil not being present.

Report was made by the chairman in which it appeared that all orders made by the board at its meeting held at Santa Fe on August 14th, 1913 had been carried out.

Upon motion by Mr. Clark it was resolved to make report to the Governor of the state as to progress of the work in charge of the board.

The matter of inviting the cooperation of the women of the state in the matter of a New Mexico exhibit was carefully discussed and considered, and upon motion by Mr. Reed it was resolved to invite the governor of the state to appoint a Woman's Auxiliary Board, the membership consisting of at least one representative from each county in the state.

The question of visiting different portions of the state was discussed and as a matter of publicity it was decided that the entire board would visit all portions of the state at its earliest convenience.

The subject of the plans featuring the educational system of the state were considered and upon motion the chairman was instructed to invite the various boards of education and school district directors to cooperate in the matter of an educational exhibit at the exposition; the plan as outlined being in the nature of moving pictures portraying the educational work of the entire state.

Mr. Clark was authorized to confer with the representative of the mining and agricultural interests of the southwestern portion of the state in the matter of properly portraying upon films the mining industry in that portion of New Mexico.

Like portrayal upon films of the mining interests in other portions of the state was ordered, the same to be taken up by the chairman and Dr. J. J. Schuler. In the matter of the agricultural, live stock, and irrigation interests of the state, it was resolved to ask the president of the state college of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts to assist the board in the matter of making and exhibit, all of which was placed in the hands of Mr. Reed.

In the matter of application for employment it was ordered that all such applications be filed with the board to be acted upon at the time when services other than those of members of the board were necessary.

The chairman was instructed to make careful inquiry as to cost of a motion picture camera and equipment for the use of the board, same to be purchased after January 1, 1914. It was resolved to procure the services of a competent man for the field work in the operation of the motion picture camera.

Pursuant to advertisement made by the board requesting the submission of plans and specifications for a building at the exposition, a number of plans were submitted, and after the most careful consideration, the plans submitted by the firm of Rapp and Rapp of Santa Fe, were adopted.

Upon motion of Mr. Clark, it was ordered that a folder be designed and printed, showing the plans and specifications for the New Mexico building, and that the same be distributed throughout the state by the board, accompanied by such other advertising literature as the various commercial bodies throughout the state cared to use for publicity purposes.

Under instructions from the board of directors of the New Mexico Museum, Dr. Edgar L. Hewett appeared before the board and announced that his own services and those of the staff of the museum and School of Archeology were at the disposal of the board of managers without cost to the board. Dr. Hewett on the part of the State Museum also tendered the use of the large collection of negatives belonging to the State Museum.

Dr. Hewett outlined at length the purpose and scope of the exposition management, and the board tendered him its thanks for the information gained thereby.

Upon motion it was resolved that Messrs. Clark, Reed and Vigil were authorized to visit San Diego at the earliest possible day for the purpose of conference with the exposition officials and the letting of the contracts in San Diego for the construction of the New Mexico building. The chairman and Dr. Schuler having already visited the exposition and cognizant of conditions, and believing that money would be saved by their not accompanying the other members of the board to San Diego.

Upon motion it was resolved that the chairman and the members of the board together with the governor of the state, visit eastern New Mexico for publicity purposes at an early date; Mr. Reed was authorized to interview the different commercial organizations and arrange an itinerary for the trip.

After further discussion of business the meeting adjourned.

Physicians Indicted

The Bernalillo county grand jury which adjourned on the 27th, evidently believes that the law which requires all physicians to file a certificate with the county clerk of all deaths and births attended by them should be enforced—that the legislature enacted the law for some purpose and that the physicians are not immune from the mandates of the law. This grand jury brought in 25 true bills against as many Albuquerque physicians for the failure to file such certificates, and it is said that the physicians are now contemplating entering the court room in a body and all will plead guilty. We would presume that in case there was not sufficient money in the crowd with which to pay the fine, they might convert the Bernalillo county jail into a college of medicine and surgery and proceed at once to instruct the neglectful physicians—just a kind of post graduate course, you know—as to the law applicable to their chosen profession, and incidentally refresh their memories in some of the branches of medicine to remind them of their college days.

Buy More Property

H. Pickensher is demonstrating his faith in Portales and the Portales country by his works. Just recently he bought a choice five acre tract adjoining the city on the southwest, and Monday of this week he bought the John R. Hopper, home in the southeast central part of town—wise man. The man who plants a little money in Portales real estate today will reap a hundred fold, as it were, tomorrow.

District court in session at six in the morning and two men sentenced to the state penitentiary before breakfast, is something that is rather hard to believe. Yet, this is the record made in the court of Judge John T. McClure at Roswell last Monday morning. Perhaps in the respect of an early convening hour Judge McClure holds the record in New Mexico. Court was opened at six o'clock Monday morning in the court house at Roswell with Judge McClure presiding, James A. Hall of the district attorneys office, Wily Parsons, clerk, C. R. Young, sheriff, James W. Johnson, deputy sheriff, Captain Johnson, court bailiff, and Dave Calderon interpreter, present. Immediately after the convening of court Mr. Hall requested permission to file two informations, one against Frank Emillio, charged with the larceny of two horses the property of Rumaldo Chaves, and the other against Jose Velardo who was charged with having made a deadly assault upon Susano Rodriguez. Judge McClure directed the clerk to file the informations and the defendants were then arranged and each entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Sentence of the court was pronounced without delay, Emillio drawing not less than two years and Velardo not less than one year in the state penitentiary at Santa Fe. Court then recessed so that those who had not risen early enough in the morning to eat before court was called might repair to a nearby restaurant and partake of a morning's meal.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

BIBLE-STUDY ON GRAVES OF GREEDINESS.

Numbers 11:4-34—Oct. 6.

"The supplication of a righteous man availeth much to his working."—James 5:16.

THE Israelites remained at Mt. Sinai about a year, learning important lessons. The Tabernacle was set up as a meeting place between God and the people. God was represented by the pillar of cloud resting upon its top, and at night flaring like a torch.

God's presence within the Tabernacle was seen only by Moses and Aaron, in connection with their privileged services. He was represented by the Shekinah brightness upon the Mercy Seat. Thus the Tabernacle became the center of the nation's life and interest in relation to God, who communicated to them through the mediator of the Law Covenant—Moses.

The Sin of Murmuring. Those who accept God as their Leader should never murmur—never complain. To do so is to dispute the Divine Wisdom and the Divine promises, and to that extent to break the covenant of faith, obedience and loyalty. St. Paul reminds us that the murmuring of the Israelites carries such a lesson to us.—Hebrews 3:7-10; 4:1-11.

Gathering Quail.

The Lord's dealings with Israel show us that justice, love, mercy, loyalty to God and to principle are in the Divine estimation the highest qualities, and their violation the most serious crime. If we have not looked thus at matters, it behooves us to change our viewpoint and to take the Almighty's.

This murmuring against the Lord was concerning the manna, for which at first the people had been very thankful. They allowed their minds to become so vexed that they wept like children at the thought of the fleshpots of Egypt, and murmured in desiring to return to the old conditions. Little did they comprehend the situation. Had they returned to bondage, even after a year's freedom, their lot would have seemed more wretched than before.

Moses Too Greatly Burdened.

The result of this murmuring was severe upon Moses. He was the people's representative before the Lord, and the Lord's representative before the people. Heart-broken, he sought the Lord, saying that the burden was too heavy for him to bear.

Then it was that God directed the institution of the Jewish Sanhedrin—seventy Elders, to be the court of judges, responsible to the people, to deal with and to counsel them. While Moses remained head of the nation, the seventy shared his responsibility.

By Divine direction Moses made out the list of these Elders, and requested them to meet him at the Tabernacle. All but two came. There God honored Moses as the head of the nation, and then placed a share of the responsibility upon the 70. This was indicated by their prophesying. Even the two who remained in the Camp prophesied.

Quail in Over-supply.

God then sent word to Israel through Moses that he was about to send them a thirty-days' supply of flesh, such as they had murmured for. Under the Lord's providence, a strong wind drove thousands of quail to the vicinity of the Camp. Two days and nights the people gathered quail.

Agnostics have questioned this statement, thinking it a declaration that birds fell in a solid mass two cubits high. The proper thought is that the birds, driven across the sea, were so fatigued that they flew low, about two cubits (three feet) above the ground, where they could be easily caught.

The murmurers ate so heartily that pestilence broke out among them, a fever from over-eating called "a fire from the Lord." Many died and were buried there. The place was called Kibroth Hattaavah—"Graves of Greediness." Thus the Lord permitted the unthankful to cut themselves off from further opportunity for murmuring.

The happiest mental condition conceivable is that which is satisfied with God's appointments. The spirit of discontent looks away from the Heavenly Manna, longing for other food. To such the Lord grants opportunity of fasting to the full on what they crave; but the murmurers cease from being members of His family.

The Bible supplies the Manna of Divine Truth. The Truth needs to be gathered, ground and baked. But it is God's provision, wholesome, nutritious, necessary for our perfecting as God's people. Yet some crave the fleshpots of Egypt—the world's theories. These God allows to come within their reach. They fill themselves with Higher Criticism and Evolutionary theories, and perish as New Creatures.

Greed, selfishness, stands connected with sin of every kind. It leads to every form of immorality, to satisfy its selfish propensities. It leads to injustice and untruthfulness in its endeavor to acquire a large share of God's blessings. It leads to anger, malice, hatred, envy, strife and murder in its endeavor to obtain a superabundant share of this world's goods. Selfishness is thus unrighteousness, and "all unrighteousness is sin."

The Local Field

T. D. Cain, Henry Rankin and R. H. Morrow of Elida were in our city Monday. These gentlemen have recently purchased the John Sexton herd of two thousand sheep and were attending to some legal matters connected with the transaction. They state that they expect to run the sheep on the Sexton range out near Liston, in Chaves county.

Henry Ney who was arrested at Clovis last week and returned to Portales, being charged with disposing of mortgaged property, plead guilty in the court of J. P. Henderson and was given a small fine and the costs, which all told amounted to about four times the amount of the mortgage. He paid the fine and costs and was discharged. He also paid off the mortgage.

An item from Clovis which appeared in the Roswell Morning News states that the recent Curry county grand jury returned indictments against some of the officers connected with the American Bank and Trust company. This is the bank which was closed last June by the state bank examiner.

J. Frank Joyce of Carlsbad, vice-president of the Joyce-Pruit company, is in Portales this week on his regular tour of inspection. Mr. Joyce seems well pleased with the business of his firm at this place and also the prospects of future increase by reason of the development of the country.

T. H. Long was in from Longs Saturday and reported that the farmers in his community would be well supplied with feed this year, that is unless an early frost should catch it before it is all harvested. He also reports that he is now shipping the cream from Longs station to Roswell, and that his pay roll is the weekly sum of $125.00—a splendid business for a country store, and yet there are a large number of stores in Roosevelt county that have a similar pay roll.

The regular quarterly meeting of the county commissioners will be held next week, beginning with Monday.

Miss Willie Mae Culberson who was forced to temporarily give up her position in the schools at Tiaban, and who is now at her home in this city account of typhoid fever, is rapidly improving. The Story of Shungopavi

Shungopavi, whose name signifies "the land of the beautiful reeds," is a full blood Moqui Indian, a descendant of the Cliff Dwellers, prehistoric man. He is a brilliant scholar, humorist and wit, and speaks the English language as well as several others. Appearing in full Indian regalia, his entertainment consists of an evening devoted to the history and legends of his race and native Indian magic, which is most mystifying. He is truly a wonderworker and will furnish a most novel and pleasing entertainment. He has been the talk of the east, where he has appeared in high grade courses, vaudeville, and at private entertainments. Because of the extreme novelty of the entertainment he always draws record breaking crowds, so be sure and avail yourself of this opportunity and hear him next Monday night at the Cosy.

Plainview Items

There are some few people in every neighborhood who are afflicted with some chronic trouble of some kind, but the worst of all chronic complaints that man is heir to is to be a growler about what he does not have control over and a great deal that he has, but he had rather complain than to try to make it better. He is always wanting to leave the country—the weather don't suit and in fact nothing happens to be as he would like. But the man that is trying by his own industry to make his own living honestly and fix up his home so that it will not only be a credit and comfort to himself and family but to his community will not have time to complain.

We see that the Portales Utilities company are advocating selling their land to men with means to develop it. We want to say to the man that can enumerate his wealth with five figures, to come south of the strip, where he can raise more feed stuff than he can gather, with a pair of good mares, two or three cows, some chickens and some brood sows. He may have to eat rabbits for awhile, but if he will stick to his job it won't be long until he will be called Mister.

J. W. Thompson has been doing some fine road building on the country road south of town.

Sunday, September 21st, the Sunday schools from Longs and Plainview met at Dora. Bro. Marshall preached a very interesting sermon in the morning. Then dinner was announced. A temporary table was arranged and after the dinner was spread we scribe viewed the table and its contents which consisted of pies and cakes to the queens taste, fruits and jellies, vegetables and nuts—everything to tempt a mans appetite, in fact it was something nice. After dinner the three Sunday schools had a very interesting program and everybody seemed to enjoy it.

Uncle Billy Brays son-in-law and family have spent a weeks visit with the old people, the first time since the old folks came to New Mexico. They returned to their home in Kansas Monday.

There will be preaching at Plainview the second Sunday night in October. Don't forget to come.

Convicted of Bribery

"Guilty!" That is the verdict of the twelve men who sat on the jury in the case of the State of New Mexico vs. Jose P. Lucero, of Lumberton, Rio Arriba county, charged with the solicitation of a bribe on March 18, 1912, which charge was investigated last year by the state legislature.

The verdict was rendered at two o'clock this morning after the jurors had been out nine hours.

Immediately on hearing the verdict, attorney E. P. Davies, representing the defendant, gave notice of a motion for a new trial and motion in arrest of judgment.

The penalty, as prescribed by the constitution of the state of New Mexico, for solicitation of a bribe by a legislator is a fine of $1,000 or one to five years in the state penitentiary.

When the verdict was announced there were present in the court room Judge E. C. Abbott, the trial judge, district attorney Alexander Read, county clerk Ortiz, deputy sheriff Baca and a few others.

Showing the strain of nine hours' deliberation on their faces, the jurors filed into the court room. When the verdict was announced by the foreman the defendant maintained the same placid expression on his face that has been seen there during the three days of his trial.

Mr. Lucero has been out on bail, and his attorney this morning called on Judge Abbott to make arrangement to have it continued.

The news of the conviction of the first of the four legislators charged with soliciting a bribe before the election of the first United States senators of the new state, spread over the city before breakfast and was traveling to every town in New Mexico a few hours afterwards. Long distance telephone calls and telegraphic messages followed in short order, showing the importance attached to the case.

The cases against Luis R. Montoyo, Julian Trujillo and Manuel Cordova, who are charged with the same offense as Lucero, will not be taken up at this term of court, because the county has not a sufficient number of jurors to provide three juries, one in each case, as is required by law. —Santa Fe New Mexican.

From The Forest Service

A marked increase in the quantity of livestock grazed on national forest ranges during the past fiscal year is reported by the forest service. Nine and a half million domestic animals have been occupied during the summer in converting one of the by-products of the forest into meat, hides, and wool. In addition, there were in round numbers three hundred thousand calves and colts and five million lambs and kids exempt from permit and therefore not enumerated.

According to the figures gathered, the amount of stock grazed under permit during the year is over four per cent greater than for the previous year, while the number of permits using the forests for pasturage purposes was increased from twenty-six thousand five hundred one, to twenty-seven thousand four hundred sixty-six. The total receipts by the government from grazing fees for the twelve months ending June 30, 1913, were $1,007,639 and the portion of this applied to schools and roads in the states in which the national forests are situated is about $352,708.

Grazing is second only to lumbering as a principal use of the national forests. Practically all of the national forests used extensively for grazing purposes are within the eleven states extending east from the Pacific coast, known as the "far western group." These states contain, according to latest reports, eight million five hundred forty-six thousand cattle, two million eight hundred ten thousand horses and mules, and twenty-eight million three hundred sixty-six thousand sheep. The national forests support in these states 17 per cent of the total number of cattle grazed, 3.48 per cent of horses and mules, and 27.5 per cent of sheep.

It is estimated that the annual product of these animals is three hundred thousand head of beef cattle of various ages and grades and five million head of lambs and mutton sheep.

Since the average net weight of a beef animal is five hundred fifteen pounds, of a lamb thirty-seven pounds, and of a sheep fifty-two pounds, the stock grazed on national forests in the eleven far-western states produce annually about one hundred fifty-five million pounds of beef and three hundred twelve million pounds of mutton. In addition, it is said the wool grown totals fifty-five million pounds, hides approximate three hundred thousand in number, and pelts five million.

This output, according to the forest service, does not involve any material sacrifice of forest or watershed protection or permanent forage productivity on the national forests. The system of range management applied by the government has proved, it is claimed, effective and simple, and the quality and quantity of the national forage crop is said to be improving each year.

Dexter Election

The wet-dry election held at Dexter some two months or more ago, and which was thrown into court by reason of a contest being initiated account of the closeness of the vote, has finally been settled. In an opinion rendered this week by Judge Richardson at Clovis it was decided that the election was a tie of 33 to 33, the Judge in the opinion holding two contested wet votes to be legal, and on contested dry to be illegal. The result of this is that Dexter continues to be a wet town.

O. H. Hickerson and wife of Comanche, Oklahoma, are this week visiting with their Portales relatives, J. P. Henderson and family.

Synopsis of Tariff Bill

The tariff bill, as it passed the senate, retained the principal house provisions, including free sugar and free raw wool, but revised other rates still further downward. The average ad valorem rate in the bill now is approximately 26 per cent, a decrease of 28 per cent from existing rates and nearly 4 per cent lower than the rates of the house bill.

The senate's additions to the house free list, with 1912 as a basis, will cost the government more than $44,000,000. But senate leaders think they have provided an actual increase by the following provisions:

A tax of one-tenth of one cent a pound on cotton sold for future delivery.

A tax of one-tenth of one cent a pound on bananas.

Restoring the full internal revenue tax of $1.10 a gallon on brandies used to fortify wines.

Increasing the surtax rates on large incomes. That point is disputed by Majority Leader Underwood of the house.

The senate made these other important changes:

Lowered the normal exemption from the 1 per cent income tax from $4,000 to $3,000 for single persons, with exemptions for wives and dependent children.

Exempted the incomes of mutual life insurance companies, which revert to the benefit of stockholders.

Increased the graduated surtax on large incomes to a maximum of 6 per cent on those more than $500,000.

Exempted incomes of municipalities derived from operation of public utilities.

Changed the date from which the tax shall be computed for first year from January 1, to March 1, 1913.

Free listed cattle and other live stock, wheat, hair of the Angora goat, and some other agricultural products; restored oatmeal and rolled oats to the dutiable list, and provided an elaborate inspection of meat imports.

FREE SUGAR IN 1913

Provided, in the sugar schedule, for immediate abolishment of the Dutch standard test; postponed operation of proposed reduced rates until March 1, 1914, leaving the provision unchanged for free sugar in May, 1913.

Slightly increased rates on finer cotton goods, reclassifying the whole cotton schedule, and changing the silk schedule from an ad valorem to a specific basis.

Provided for an administrative force to handle income tax collections without regard to requirements of the civil service.

Struck out a countervailing duty on wood pulp.

Greatly reduced the rates of the metal schedule.

Struck out many reform provisions in the administrative section: rejected the anti-dumping clause: the 5 per cent tariff reduction on imports in American vessels, and the requirements for inspection of books of foreign manufacturers in under-valuation cases.

Added a provision giving the president authority to retaliate against nations which discriminate against American goods by proclaiming increased rates on certain goods; adopted a provision excluding goods manufactured wholly by child labor, and provided for the creation of a commission to revise the customs laws.

Important additions to the free list included:

Antimony ore, limestone rock, asphalt, asphaltum and bitumen. Fabrics of jute yarns, wool blankets valued at less than 40 cents a pound.

Textbooks. Sugar machinery. Cast-iron pipe. Surgical catgut. Cement. Flax and hemp. Furs and fur skins. Gunpowder.

Pig iron, spiegeleisen, ferromanganese, wrought iron, iron slabs and blooms.

Photographic moving picture films.

Steel ingots, blooms and slabs. Cattle and other live stock.

Wheat. Sawed cedar.

Angora goat and alpaca wool. Paper twine for binding wool.

After adding total cost, divide by the NUMBER of acres IRRIGATED. For example on an 80 acre farm divide by 70 as 10 acres will be used by buildings, lots, ditches, roadways and so forth. ✕

If a man sells $2,000 worth of crop from an 80 acre farm grown in 200 days---six months his time is worth $1.00 per hour on basis of 10 hours a day.

Then think of a nice cool continuous operating motor and REMEMBER when you pay for electricity it is DELIVERED on your farm and all costs are INCLUDED AND YOUR TROUBLES ARE TAKEN CARE OF BY THE CENTRAL STATION. Throw that expensive, costly engine away---we will put a nice clean motor on your pump at a low cost.
