PORTALES, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY OCTOBER 21, 1915.

Number 44

DISTRICT COURT IS IN SESSION

Work was resumed in the district court Monday morning with the empanelling of the petit jury. The first trial was that of Edgar F. Foreman, of Dereno, who was charged with "unlawfully shooting cattle." Late Tuesday evening the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty." The defendants attorneys were Compton & Compton and J. E. Pardee and the state by Asst. Dist. Attorney Hockenbush and Jas. A. Hall.

Jack Lightfoot plead guilty to larceny and receiving stolen property. He was sentenced not less than 18 or more than 24 months to the state penitentiary and fined $500.

Taylor B. Wiley alias C. B. Williams plead guilty to forgery and false pretense. He was sentenced not less than 12 or more than 14 months in the penitentiary and fined $50.

The case of Theodore Lard, indicted for larceny and receiving stolen property was continued until next term. On application of the district attorney a change of venue was granted in the Sam Conn case to Chaves county.

The civil docket was taken up Thursday morning. There are four jury cases and three non-jury cases which it is expected will be tried this term. This term is going to be much shorter than was anticipated.

Judge G. A. Richardson showed the same leniency in excusing those who were summoned on the petit jury as he did last week with those summoned on the grand jury. There were several farmers whose crops were badly in need of attention and whose attendance meant much loss to them who were excused by the court.

Mrs. Luikart Entertains.

The U. D. C. met with Mrs. W. I. Luikart of Clovis on Tuesday at 1:30. The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white. The following program was rendered: Mrs. S. J. Nixon, "Moonlight on the Hudson;" Mrs. T. E. Mears, reading, "Origin and Working of Chapter;" Mrs. Pearl Leach Rogers, "Alpine hour;" Mrs. H. F. Jones "Why I am a Daughter;" Miss M. Humphrey, vocal "Beautiful Bird."

Those present were most of the former residents who now live in Clovis, 20 U. D. C. members and many others. The chapter went in autos. It was a very enjoyable affair and the writer finds her self at a loss to rightly express her appreciation as well as the Chapter's to Mrs. Luikart. A delicious two course luncheon was served.

Portales Wins.

The Portales High school football team journeyed to Hereford, Texas Saturday and beat the high school team of that place in a well played game by the score of 38 to 12. The local team is getting the reputation as a fast aggregation of players as they received a challenge from the Albuquerque High school team a few days ago.

R. M. Sanders left Sunday for Dalls, Mineral Wells and other Texas points on a vacation trip.

Portales Meeting Pleases Women.

The delegation of Santa Fe women who represented the different clubs of the city at the State Federation, held in Portales last week, returned last Saturday each and all most enthusiastic in praise of the magnificent effort put forth by the citizens of Portales in entertaining the visitors to the federation.

Mrs. Rupert F. Asplund, president of the State Federation, stated that the receptions, luncheon, operetta, the many private dinners given, and the automobile drives were representative of the generous spirit of hospitality that prompted each and would have been a credit to a town many times the size of Portales.

The president's reception given on Tuesday evening at the Armory, received highest praise. The auditorium in which was held the biennial in Chicago two years ago, was copied in the decoration of the armory, with most pleasing result.

The drive to Clovis and luncheon was mentioned with much pleasure, but nothing seemed to please more than the operetta given the last evening of the visitors' stay. The talent employed, the directorship and the staging of the little opera combined to produce a wonderful work of art, and a most pleasing entertainment.

Now that Portales has set the pace Las Vegas will be taxed to keep up, when the federation meets there next year.—New Mexican.

From Kansas City.

G. W. Robertson, president of the First National Bank of Elida and one of the prominent cattlemen of that section stopped in Portales Sunday on his way home from Kansas City where he had gone with a shipment of cattle.

"What do you think of the cattle prospects?" he was asked? Mr. Robertson replied that the demand for cattle was good and in talking with cattle men from many states, there seems to be a scarcity in all parts and that cattlemen generally look for the price to go higher. He also said that many cattle are shipped from Kansas City back to stock the ranges in the different states.

Capitalist Here.

H. B. Curtin and wife of West Virginia were here the first of the week looking over the 2000 acres of land they own in this vicinity. Mr. Curtin was on his way to the coast to attend the fairs and expected to stop and inspect other lands he owns in western New Mexico.

He is a big lumberman and is said to be many times a millionaire. The property he owns here was purchased through W. O. Dunlap who accompanied him while inspecting it. He is well pleased with the advancement Roosevelt county is making. That Mr. Curtin has invested so heavily in land here is sufficient to show that he believes our country has a great future before it.

The following purchased Ford's last week from the proprietors of the Highway Garage: C. F. Fay, Rev. A. C. Bell, of Portales; Emmet Gore, Upton; H. A. Covington and Jess Hudgins, Elida; and B. A. Hill.

ROOSEVELT COUNTY EXHIBIT WINS FIRST PRIZE

State Fair the Greatest That Has Ever Been Held in New Mexico and Competition Was Strong Between Counties For Premiums

GREATEST PIECE OF ADVERTISING EVER SECURED BY OUR COUNTY

Citizens Appreciate Work Done By Those Who Had Exhibit In Charge And Will Give Reception To Them At Armory Friday Night.

As predicted in this paper last week Roosevelt county captured first prize at the State Fair at Albuquerque last week. It was a great fair, in fact the first great State Fair that New Mexico has ever held. There was great competition among the counties, each struggling for supremacy. While Roosevelt county had the material it remained for the Fair Committee and their assistants to get it up in the best possible shape. They all worked like Trojans with the result that in the final scoring, arrangements and appearance was one of our county's strongest points.

The award met with the general approval of the Fair visitors for it is said that fully 90 percent of them picked Roosevelt county as the winner. The result was disappointing to many of those who did not win, but satisfactory to everyone as the fairness of the judging and the judges was not questioned. The greatest praise is due R. E. Putney, president and R. W. Wiley, secretary of the state fair association for their management of the Fair. The judges were R. S. Trumbull, Walter H. Olin and H. M. Bainer, agricultural agents of the El Paso and Southwestern, Denver and Rio Grande and the A. T. and S. F. railroads respectively. These gentlemen are all experts and are the best who could have been secured for the purpose.

The charges that Roosevelt county spent large sums in getting up the exhibit are not true. There are other counties that spent as much or more and did not make anything like the showing. While it took money to get up the exhibit it was the unique and artistic manner in which the most excellent products of the state were displayed that brought the $1,000.00 prize to Roosevelt county.

The people of the county appreciate the work done by the Fair Committee, A. A. Rogers, Coe Howard, Carl Turner, their secretary, Dr. Reid and assistants Carl Moss, Dan Vinson, E. J. Norris, Chas Goodloe L. B. Tucker and others at the local fair and at Albuquerque and will give a reception in their honor at the Armory Friday night.

Every Inch A Queen.

Miss Fannie Williamson

The State Federation of Women's clubs never made a bigger hit than when it chose Miss Fannie Williamson, of Portales, to be Queen of the fair, and the fair management is being congratulated on every side for having shown the good judgment to leave the selection to that body.

Miss Williamson is every inch a queen. She not only looks but acts the part. With a regal beauty that would command attention in any company she combines a graciousness and charm of manner that make it a pleasure to be near her. In the many social affairs at which she was entertained during the week she was always the center of attraction and always wore her honors well.

Roosevelt county did well by the fair, but never better than in sending the fairest of the fair to do the social honors of the occasion.—Albuquerque Journal.

FAIR COMMITTEE THANKS CITIZENS

The Roosevelt County Fair Committee wishes to congratulate the citizens of Roosevelt county upon the successful local Fair at Portales and the more than successful participation of Roosevelt county in the State Fair. Roosevelt county is today the best advertised county in New Mexico and probably the best advertised county in the entire Southwest.

The manner of judging at Albuquerque was such as to render an absolutely fair and close analysis of the resources of a county as shown by that county's exhibit at the State Fair. We want the citizens of Roosevelt county to understand that there was competition and sharp competition at this exhibit. We also want those farmers particularly who furnished fruit, vegetables and grain to this display to know that it was the quality of their fruit, vegetables and grain which won this decision. Roosevelt county took 85 or 90 blue ribbons as well as a considerable number of red ribbons and some yellow ribbons; the first; second and third prizes on exhibits. Roosevelt county took sweepstakes on Indian corn over the entire state; took sweepstakes on fodder crops, watermelons, on the best display of vegetables sweepstakes on sweet potatoes and in addition to this of course took the Grand First Prize as the best county display in the entire State. The Portales utilities Company has a photograph of Voucher No. 998 in the sum of $1000 made to the order of the Roosevelt County State Fair Exhibit Committee, which they will be glad to show anyone coming in as evidence that this County not only won the first prize but that the State Fair was conducted on such a basis as to be able to pay their prizes promptly.

The committee will render a detailed report setting out in detail all moneys received and moneys expended, both on the County Fair and the State Fair. Nearly all of the bills are now paid but there are a few outstanding which do not admit the closing of a complete report for this issue of the paper. Generally speaking the Committee is going to be able to report the County Fair and the State Fair all paid for and a healthy balance in the treasury.

There is now being organized a State Fair Association for the purpose of making a permanent State Fair Headquarters for future fairs. Roosevelt County will be asked to participate in this State Fair to the extent of about $1000 as her pro rata of the permanent County Hall, this hall to be built upon ground to be owned by the State Association which will enable a permanent fair to be held and permanent quarters to be owned by each County. More information will be given on this later.

Every citizen of Roosevelt County should remember that their county stands at the head of the State. They should also remember that Roosevelt County has a position to maintain and every other County in the State is going to start in right now to push Roosevelt County out of first place next year. It behooves us to get busy right now on the preparation of next year's exhibit. In the meantime steps should be taken to provide for a permanent Roosevelt County Fair Grounds and buildings. CARE OF A WATCH

Uncle Sam's Experts Will Tell You All About It.

WINDING IS ALMOST AN ART.

It Should Be Done Cautiously and With the Strictest Regularity—Even the Size of the Watch Pocket May Affect the Accuracy of a Timepiece.

Do you know how to handle, carry and wind your watch properly? Do you know at what time of the day you should wind it, the pocket in which it is best to carry it and the position in which you should leave your watch at night or when it is not in use?

These are some questions which Uncle Sam will answer for his 100,000,000 nieces and nephews or such of them as are the possessors of pocket watches. Instructions as to the use and care of watches are given in a publication issued by the bureau of standards. They are based on conclusions reached by scientists after careful tests and on the practical experience of some of the leading watch manufacturers of the land.

The importance of handling a fine watch carefully and of winding it regularly is known to almost every one. But rules for the proper treatment of watches always have varied greatly, and it is for this reason that the bureau of standards investigated the matter and prepared standard instructions which it advises owners of watches to follow.

The bureau, in its set of rules, first cautions against allowing a watch to fall or receive a severe jar, either of which is liable to injure the mechanism, especially in the bending of a pivot or the breaking of a jewel. The mere fall of a watch to the end of its chain or the jar it may receive when the article of clothing in which it is being carried is thrown down or dropped may cause serious injury to the movement. Even the sudden motions or jar of jumping on or off a street car may injure it seriously.

Likewise care should be taken to keep a watch from becoming magnetized by proximity to electrical apparatus, although the troubles from this cause are being reduced by the present type of construction of dynamos and motors. The watch case should be opened as seldom as possible and then only in places where there is little chance of dust getting into the movement. A broken watch crystal should be replaced promptly, even if the watch has a hunting case.

Concerning the importance of winding a watch regularly the bureau of standards states:

"Even the delay of an hour in the time of winding may cause considerable variation in the rate in some instances. The winding should not be done jerkily, but steadily and not too rapidly, and its conclusion should be approached carefully to avoid injury to the spring or winding mechanism."

"It is generally regarded as slightly better to wind the watch in the morning than at night, as the large variations of the balance under the tight spring will perhaps give more uniform results with the movements and jar of the watch during the day than if the balance wheel were subjected to the lesser tension twelve hours after winding. The difference is, however, not so important as the regular winding of the watch."

"The pocket in which one carries his watch, the size of the pocket and the kind of watch chain or fob used have a more important effect on the uniformity of a watch's rate than is generally realized. In a large pocket the watch is apt to turn to the right or left by various amounts, giving irregular rates, unless one adopts some method of holding it upright. Perhaps the best method to prevent a watch turning in this way, other than actually pinning it in place, is to keep the watch in a chamotte or kid watch bag, such as may be obtained from jewelers, in correct size to fit one's pocket. The watch cannot turn in this if of the proper size, and the friction of the bag in the pocket prevents it turning. The bag also protects the watch and keeps it cleaner."

The care of the watch at night or when it is not in use is another important item concerning which the bureau of standards states:

"At night or when the watch is not in use it is desirable to leave the watch in the same position as during the day, and preferably in some place where it will not be subject to any great temperature change. If it is desirable to leave the watch in a horizontal position during the night for the sake of compensating any considerable gaining or losing of the watch in the pending up position during the day the same precaution to avoid marked temperature changes should be observed, and the regularity with which such a change of position is carried out may be as important as regularity of winding."—Washington Star.

The fact that our county won first prize at the State Fair last week is the greatest piece of advertising that we have ever received. The 140 live farmers on the farmers special from the eastern states who were there and inspected the exhibit will return to their homes and tell what wonderful and varied crops they grow in Roosevelt county New Mexico. Not only that, but on excursion writers from, the best agricultural papers in the east who will write stories of the very best boosting character for their papers. More than this, many people right here in New Mexico did not know what was grown in Roosevelt county till they saw the exhibit. There seemed to be general satisfaction in the manner of awarding the premiums. We just simply had the goods and had them displayed to the best advantage. The charges that exorbitant sums were spent to get this exhibit prepared are far fetched, because only $500 was given by the county commissioners for this purpose while some counties appropriated $1000 from their treasuries. One of the strongest scoring points in exhibit was the arrangement and appearance. This shows that the committee and the secretary worked hard and faithfully to show Roosevelt county products up to the best advantage and they succeeded.

The people of Roosevelt county are appreciative of the work done by their Fair Committee, A. A. Rogers, Coe Howard, Carl Turner and their secretary, Dr. J. I. Reid. Elsewhere in the proceedings of the board of County Commissioners will be seen that they took due recognition of the manner in which these gentlemen had done their work. The Herald-Times wishes to join the County Commissioners in thanking them for the people of Roosevelt for the splendid manner in which they have performed their duty.

General satisfaction seems to prevail as to the manner in which the exhibits were judged at our County Fair. However the exhibitors have learned much as to how exhibits should be prepared. It would have been better if the exhibitors had been informed as to the manner of judging of the various exhibits and they probably will be another year.

The development campaign which has been recently started by our neighboring city of Clovis seems to be well founded and should get results. Graduated dues for members of the chamber of commerce according to the amount of business they do, is a unique idea and seems just. A live wire secretary to investigate all important matters will save the business men money.

The Governor's Address.

Governor Wm. C. McDonald's address at the State Fair was broad in its scope, very timely and should be read by every citizen who was not fortunate enough to hear it. The following is the principal part of it:

The governor, after stating that united effort was important to the state in that it would bring them together in friendship and good feeling and enable them to accomplish greater advancements, read the following extract from a letter from an Albuquerque friend:

"You can speak for all of us and tell us what we need very much to know, namely that we must work together and quit all this petty self-seeking, and stand together to build up this state to a position to which it is entitled and which it has never before had."

"No great success has ever resulted from furthering narrow views and selfish interests for personal preference," the governor continued, "and not considered in connection with the general good. All along from the beginning of recorded history and from the time immemorial, and according to traditions upon which our civilization is founded, the individual has had to subordinate to a certain extent his personal preferences for the good of his fellow men in order to accomplish anything permanent and lasting for any and all."

"Our Christian civilization is founded upon the greatest sacrifice ever made for man, and those who attempt to follow in the footsteps of him who made this supreme sacrifice, should never forget that that sacrifice was necessary that we might enjoy the results flowing from it. Why, then, should man be so selfish that he cannot sacrifice his individual preference or personal advantage for the common good?"

"Most of us have learned that to accomplish anything important for ourselves we must have consideration for others. Frequently temporary advantage gained by doubtful means and methods leads to failure and disaster in attempting to obtain the results that we personally so much desire."

"In our daily lives at home, in our schools, in business and in government, it is absolutely necessary that we take into consideration the well being of those around us, and have regard for the differences of temperament, training, opportunity and locality in order to reach an understanding among ourselves for the purpose of working together to obtain what is not possible by individual effort. By conceding something and there to our neighbor we may have his support and co-operation in obtaining something that may be best for both and all. I know well how strong are the elements of human nature called prejudice and selfishness. Selfishness frequently predominates for what we believe to be self-preservation. We do not understand how narrow and insignificant our desires may be in their relation to our fellow men. We only see what is best as we conceive it, to be for ourselves temporarily without regard to general results later."

"In looking over the accomplishments of the past it may seem to us at all times that all has been done, but if you will consider for a moment the strides that have been made along all lines of human endeavor in the last fifty years, I think you will fully realize and understand that there is far more to be done in the future than has ever been done in the past."

"Let us then be up and doing, With a heart for any fate, Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labor and to wait." "It is the struggle that makes victory worth while. In all things—we not only consider the practical realities but also the amenities, the verities of the ideal life and the eternities that are immeasurable and unfathomable.

Rolled in Fresh Cigarettes the World Over

"Bull" Durham introduced a distinctive form of tobacco enjoyment to discriminating smokers throughout the world—popularized the present smart fashion and now universally accepted custom of rolling one's own cigarettes with this pure, mellow tobacco, to meet individual requirements of taste that can be satisfied in no other way.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO

The millions of "Bull" Durham smokers are men of wide tobacco-experience. They have used tobacco in many forms. They prefer
"Bull" Durham in fresh, hand-made cigarettes above all—because of the supreme tobacco satisfaction and wholesome, lasting enjoyment insured by "rolling their own."

"Bull" Durham is distinguished from all other tobaccos by its wonderfully pleasant, unique aroma. This fresh fragrance is combined in "Bull" Durham cigarettes with the most delightful mildness, mellowness and smoothness—a smoke of unusual character.
