From John's Home State

John B. Kéachie, who has been owner of the creamery at Stew art, Minn., has purchased an interest in the creamery at Portal es N. M. and will manage it. Mr. Keachie has been one of Minnesota's leading and progressive creamerymen and he carries into the southern territory an armful of the experience, knowledge and hustle which characterized him in Minnesota. One of John's se crets of acquiring and holding a patron's confidence (and cream) is his laugh. He laughs when others would cuss. He can laugh a sour patron into a sweet humor while walking from the front door to the boiler room. His smile and laugh neutralize a 4 per cent grouch to less than .2 of 1 per cent and put a starter in your disposition that de velops brotherly love bugs at the rate of 10,000,000 per minute John's sunny nature in the sunny south ought to make the new creamery at Portales a bright spot. Success to you, John !--Creamery Journal.

We have faith in men who can laugh heartily. It is not only a sign of good healthand good nature, but an indication of the spirit of looking on the bright side of things, which contributes so much to success. The wisdom and sanctity of a man is no longer estimated by the length of his countenance, nor by the refusal to unbend his dignity so far as to laugh on occasion. We realize now that laughter improves one's health, and sending the blood bounding through the veins and bringing about that condition which we commonly describe as "making one feel good." #### ARE FALL PIGS ADVISABLE?

One Farmer Adopts Plan of Raising Two Litters Yearly, Thereby Keeping Brood Sow Busy.

It is a question with many farmers whether it is advisable to raise fall pigs. It is our practice, writes a farmer in an exchange, to raise fall pigs, two litters a year as near as possible. We would abandon the fall pig entirely if we had to keep him until one year old before putting him on the market. We do not feel we can afford to keep a brood sow for raising only one litter a year, and we have fallen on the plan of growing two litters to keep the sows continually at work.

Spring-farrowed pigs we do not keep, as a rule, longer than eight months old. This puts them off the farm by the time the fall pigs need extra care. Up to this time they have been fed principally through the dam. When about ready to leave the dam we begin to give them a slop ration, which we keep up until they go to market. We begin feeding corn-small quantities at first-as soon as they have been weaned. The slops consist principally of skim milk, and right here we want to say there is nothing that compares with skim milk as an accompaniment to corn for the growing pigs. When there is no skim milk to be had we have used wheat middlings scalded in hot water with fair results.

acknowledge the importance of properly caring for the feet of the equine stock on the farm. Proper care of the horse's feet means that attention must be given when he is a colt. In fact, if the horseman or farmer carelessly allows the colt's hoofs to grow long and uneven, there is a great deal more dan ger of injuring the feet or deforming them than if the same carelessness is practiced with mature animals. The bones. ligaments and tendons of the colt's feet are not so hard nor so strong as those of the mature horse. and the result is that improper standing, induced by poorly shaped hoofs. throws the bones and ligaments out of their natural positions. Again, it may be a case of where the colt's legs are crooked at birth, and in such instances care and attention to trimming the hoofs may be of considerable help in straightening the legs. In handling the colt's feet it is best to begin with the front ones. Teach the colt to rest his weight on the opposite foot, rather than the one which is being held, by shoving it enough to throw the balance over on the opposite foot at the same time the other foot is picked up. The proper learning of this lesson will often save considerable trouble later when the colt must be shod.

A. J. Evans, Register SPREADING OF HOG CHOLERA

ernment inspector in charge of the hog cholera in Dallas county, Iowa, reports that 29.6 per cent of all cases of hog cholera were caused by the germs being carried from one farm to another by farmers exchanging work or visiting each other. It is important, therefore, that owners of healthy hogs keep strictly away from farms where the disease exists and should keep other people away from his own hog lots and pastures.

By using disinfectant freely on horses and wagons which have been in the neighborhood of the disease and by requiring everyone who comes on the farm or goes near the hog lot to disinfect his feet, the spread of the disease can be very greatly reduced.

Congressman Not Preaching Republican Doctrine.

His Admission That the Country May Exist, Though Under Democratic Control, Not Like the Old G. O, P. Arguments.

Though the clouds of fatuous Dem ocratic politics may gather thick and black, though despair may fill the all though destruction may threaten farm and factory interests, miner and mag nate, the permanent sources of the country will remain. The sun will continue to shed its light and beat The rich fertility of the soil will still be there. The rains and the dews will not stop .-- Congressman James K Mann.

This is little less than treason to the fundamental Republican doctrine of a special partnership with the Almighty which forbids the sun to shine and the rain and dews to fall and the soil to give forth its increase when the Dem ocrats are in power and the sacred schedules are being touched with profane hands. Mr. Mann talks like a quitter, whom God Almighty hates, as Borah's Fears Well Grounded. On the one hand, remarks Senator Borah, we have President Wilson with a solid Democracy and a growing general popularity; on the other, we have the Republicans getting ready for an internal shindy. He did not openly predict a quarrelsome division; but the prediction was implicit in his fear that the Republican party would not "do the wise thing" and adopt a liberal platform.

Favors Expenditures.

With an expenditure of $430,000,000 a year for the army and navy, the United States as a peaceable nation will be paying a fair rate of insurance against war and devastation on its wealth of $150,000,000,000 or thereabouts .- New York Herald.

More than ever, it is going to be the refuge of the minority True, there is talk of cloture, and some men predict that cloture is coming, and almost at hand. But even in that event the minority will have innings worth while in the senate. It will never be possible to control debate there as completely as it is controlled in the house.

BEST DOG FOR SHEEP FLOCK

Rattle-Brained Cur is Wuch Out o of Piace-Collie is Most Excellent for Herding Purposes.

The rattle-brained cur is as much out of place in the flock as the man of hasty temper, cruelty, thoughtlessness and disinclination of lack of natural talent for his work. The dog should be born to sheep tending and should be early accustomed to sheep and trained in their care

Many years ago it was a practice in Texas to take a puppy from its dam before the eyes had opened and place it with a ewe, let her nurse it and allow the puppy to grow up with the sheep and be with them night and day. Then the dog would become the natural defender of the flock against all dangers and foes, stay with them all of the time and possess their confidence. It was also stated that a dog so raised would bring in the flock at a given hour, when accustomed to be fed at that time.

Sheep know a strange dog instantly. The dog to work among them must not be strange to the sheep in any way, must have their confidence and command their respect and be able to "boss" them when that becomes necessary. The collie is the dog for such service. Sheep herding has been the work of the breed for generations and to tend sheep is a hereditary tendency in the well-bred collie. Mr. Sheehan Wrong.

Mr. Wickersham says that the apportionment of 1894 was ratified by a majority of the voters in the state and city. This is true; but, as I pointed out to the convention, Democracy in 1894 was not a name to conjure with The passage of the Wilson tariff law in 1893 was followed by a long period of commercial and industrial depression .- William F. Sheehan in a Letter to the New York Sun.

Mr. Sheehan has his political history slightly twisted. The Wilson tariff was not passed in 1893. It did not become a law until August 27. 1894, and then without the approval of President Cleveland. The commercial and industrial depression to which Mr. Sheehan refers began be fore President Cleveland was elected. down on the back of his head that he reached it height before the Wilson tariff was enacted, and ended while the Wilson tariff was still .n force.

"Momentous."

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, who is a prospective candidate for the victim who gets a toadstool by mis-Republican nomination for president, knows what he is talking about when he calls the tariff a "momentous" issue. Without the tariff, how are the fund in 1916? The business of fatfrying has been sadly crippled of late. The railroads, the banks, the insurance companies and the big industrial corporations are all protected by law and admonished by law. To try to light a fire under them is a waste of matches. But the beneficiaries of tar iff extortion are ready to contribute. They are always willing to pay hand somely for the privilege of getting their feet back into the trough and hogging everything. So the Republican organization leaders turn instinctively to the tariff monopolists.

History Likely to Repeat.

Senator Borah's idea of the political situation merits attention. There would be no difficulty in defeating the Democratic party itself next year, he says, were it not for the personal popularity and strength of President Wilson. Conditions like these confronted the Democrats in 1872, when they held the Republican party in supreme contempt but had doubts of their ability to "beat Old Grant," which were justified by events.

SELECTING SIRE FOR DAIRY

Breeds Standing at the Front in This Country Are Holstein, Jersey, Guernsey and Ayrshire.

In choosing the sire choose one from any dairy breed which may be preferred. The straight dairy breeds that stand in the front in this country are the Holstein, Jersey, Ayrshire and Guernsey. There are other good dairy breeds but these are the four oldest and best of all. The choice being made don't change the breed from which the sire is chosen, and exercise great care in choosing the sire.
