PORTALES, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY AUGUST 3, 1916.

Number 33

Editor in Judson Community

We made a short trip through the Judson community last Saturday, returning Sunday. The people in that part of the county are prospering and from our observation the most prosperous are those who are raising hogs and milking cows.

LEWIS TIPTON

Lewis Tipton is one of the new comers, but he was quick to learn that one had to have stock to make a success in this country and he has acquired about 800 acres of fine land and has something like 100 head of cows some of which he milks and sells cream. He also raises enough hogs for his own use and is farming some on the side. Mr. Tipton is making good and likes the country fine.

WAMP HENSLEY

Wamp Hensley is one of the old timers in this community and has been so successful at farming, that he has just learned that a man has to have live stock in order to make the most money and has recently got control of a section of choice land, and some 60 head of cattle. He also milks and sells the cream, and raises some hogs as a side line. Result, he is fast becoming a wealthy stock farmer.

PHIL HENDRICKSON

Mr. Hendrickson and his industrious wife have been very prosperous since they have been giving their attention to live stock. They have recently built them a beautiful home, of which they are justly proud. Mr. Hendrickson first built a fine, large barn, and he says that the barn has built the house. One cannot visit this home without feeling that it is good to be a stock farmer in Roosevelt county.

JAMES A. LEE

James A. Lee came to this country a little more than ten years ago from the farming part of Oklahoma, and for a few years made good at straight farming. Mr. Lee was one of the last to give up the belief that one could not, under all conditions, make good by this method alone, but he is now one of the most enthusiastic stock men in that community and has a nice bunch of cattle and brood mares. He also believes in hogs and chickens, with which he is making money.

A. R. SEIF

Mr. Seif was one of the first in the Judson community to see the possibilities of stock farming, and began several years ago to milk cows, selling cream, and raising hogs on his skim milk. He has made wonderful progress in this business and has his place well equipped for his chosen profession. Those wishing to embark in the cream and hog business would do well to see Mr. Seif and get his experience and advice before beginning, for he has had the actual experience in building up his business from the bottom and has made mistakes that you could avoid by his advice.

J. S. Seifried Ships Hogs

J. S. Seifried, of Rogers, shipped a car of fat hogs to Fort Worth, Texas, last Friday. Mr. Seifried is getting his ranch prepared for the raising of hogs and will give the most of his time to the care and sale of hogs. He raised the most of this car load and expects to realize the top market.

See Deen-Neer Co., add, on back page.

Sunshine

Tom Turner is visiting in Clovis.

Melrose was well represented at the concert Saturday night. The Bradley family have been having a siege of measles.

T. N. Monroe and family of Clovis were house guests of L. F. Monroe over Sunday.

Lester Jones has erected a house on his claim. Step lively girls, he will likely need a house-keeper.

Uncle Tom Carter is spending the week at Murdock, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Dale Brady.

Misses Edna and Ethel Beall of Tolar attended the concert Saturday night.

The Alens young people of Melrose were guests of the Bradley young people Saturday.

M. M. Dowrie rented a place near Floyd and moved his family there last week.

Misses Etta and Nellie Monroe left Monday for their old home in Temple, Oklahoma, where they will attend the summer normal of music.

Brother Purvis will preach at the school house next Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Davis and Oscar Roark had a runaway Wednesday. Mr. Davis' buggy was badly damaged and Oscar's beauty marred for a few days.

The singing school closed Saturday night with a concert and pie supper. The proceeds of the pie supper, $24.06, went to help defray expenses of the school. The concert was a highly enjoyable affair and the community is justly proud of the ability of its young people.

The Misses Monroe are competent teachers and while the class was small its music showed careful training.

Plant Forage Crop

Live stock has been, is, and will be most important in Roosevelt county. Without it there can be no prosperity even in the valley itself. The condition of the range at present is lean and the owner of live stock must either find feed near home or move his stock to where feed is more plentiful. The irrigation farmer has now the opportunity to still plant feed that will save the cost of shipping live stock out before time.

Breeding stock on the slope is not plentiful enough to permit it to be moved elsewhere on account of shortage of grass. Every hoof of breeding stock should be kept and the farmers by planting forage crops now can avert the situation.

Carl Turner Ships Two Cars of Hogs

Carl Turner, the champion hog raiser of Roosevelt county, shipped two cars of swine to market last Friday. Carl says that the hog business is just now getting good. He has been to considerable expense in getting his place fitted up to take care of hogs and is now realizing some clear money from his business.

What the Farm Credits Law Is

Creates twelve federal banks and permits any number of joint stock land banks to make loans at reasonable interest for long periods on farm lands.

Provides a federal farm land board of five members to control these banks.

Banks are empowered to lend on first mortgages on farm lands in amounts of $100 to $10,000 for approved purposes. No loan may be made for more than 50 per cent of the value of the land and 20 per cent of the value of the permanent insured improvements.

National farm loan associations, local organizations, composed exclusively of borrowers, are authorized.

The act prohibits the federal land banks from charging more than six per cent on any mortgage.

Borrowers will share in the net profits of the bank, because they are stockholders. It is contemplated that ultimately the borrowers will be the only stockholders.

Long time loans are provided by authorizing mortgages for periods of from five up to forty years.

Small annual or semi-annual payments on the principal are made a required feature of all mortgages.

Joint stock land banks are authorized. They are corporations for carrying on the business of lending on farm mortgage security and issuing farm loan bonds.

Making Good As Postmaster

We regret that we do not have a cut of the likeness Arthur F. Jones, who is one of the leading citizens of Portales.

The Herald-Times said that the Democrats would have to make an extraordinary selection to secure as good a Postmaster for Portales, as the republicans had in the person of C. O. Leach, who had held the position of Postmaster of Portales for some twelve years, and of course was a very proficient officer as well as a splendid man, personally.

The Democrats, however, felt no hesitation about results when it was known that Arthur F. Jones would be the successor of Mr. Leach in this office, and his conduct of the office since his induction therein, has been just what his friends expected, and that is the very highest, standard of efficiency, which could have been excelled by no one, with however much experience, and at the same time with the utmost satisfaction to the patrons of the office, who are universally well pleased with the conduct of the office.

All this is merely in keeping, however, with the record of Mr. Jones, from boyhood up, for he has always measured up to the highest standard in any line of work, he has ever undertaken, as his long service as assistant cashier, and later, cashier of the banks of Portales, and engagements in other business enterprises attest. It is safe to say that the record of Mr. Jones as postmaster will be one that every person can point to with pride, and could be excelled by few, and will, of course, be a source of gratification to the Democratic party.

We do not believe in waiting until a man dies to say deserving things about him, and when a man makes good as has the subject of this sketch at all times, we feel that he is entitled to have those things said about him even though yet in his young manhood.

J. S. Seifried of Rogers returned from Fort Worth Wednesday, where he had been with a car of hogs. He got within 5c of the top market price.

What This Drouth Teaches

Two cows and one grass in July is a very uncomfortable situation. That is the way some of us feel it now. The last two years gave us lots of grass and our credit was good, and we bought heavily, stocked our range heavily, and now feel it heavily.

Pay day is coming and with a slow, low market we may be caught between the upper and nether mill stones and be ground out like this New Mexico sand.

Some of us feel like we had made a mistake and hope it is not too late to correct it.

We now see that over-stocking will not do, for the dry years will come.

We shall be compellen to keep a herd that our grass will sustain and the herd that will bring us a living return.

It seems to your humble scribe that in counsel through your valuable paper there might be safety. Why can't you get some who seem to have hit the happy medium of not too much nor too little, to give their experience in your columns for our mutual benefit. Success is what we want and we will listen to the man who is succeeding.

It also seems to us that if you will visit us and get data from men who are too timid to write it themselves, that it will help us. A Cowman.

Yes, Mr. Cowman, we would be glad to have anything that is in your mind that would help anyone to make money, or that would be of general interest to our subscribers. We have recently purchased a Ford from the Highway garage for the express purpose of getting out to some community each week.

have to say about cream separators this week

Ninety-eight per cent of the world's creameries use De Laval's exclusively.

CREAMERYMEN have better opportunities than other separator users to see which separators are most efficient and durable. That is why they select De Laval's.

More De Laval's are in use on farms than all other makes combined. Time and experience have proved to a vast majority of farmers that no other separator gives as good service as the De Laval.

Each year, in the United States and Canada alone, some 40,000 farmers discard inferior separators and replace them with De Laval's. They learn from experience that the so-called cheap separators are wasteful and costly at any price. They would have saved money if they had bought a De Laval in the first place.

If you will bear these facts in mind in selecting a separator, you will realize that the wisest course is to buy a De Laval.

We will be glad to bring a De Laval out to your farm and let you try it out and see for yourself that it does offer you the greatest value for your money. We are willing to prove every claim we make for the De Laval. Just phone us or send a post card and we will see that you get an opportunity to try a De Laval.

Sooner or later you will buy a DE LAVAL

Drugless Healing vs. Medicine in the U. S.

The following article was written by Eli G. Jones, M. D. of Burlington N. J., Statistician for the Medical Association. Dr. Jones is not a drugless healer, he is a regular physician, stands high in medical societies, and writes extensively for medical periodicals and doctors as well as the public know the truth of his statements. The following article was written by Dr. Jones for the Wisconsin Medical Recorder, on the principle that "honest confession was good for the soul," and it is as follows:

"Oh, wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us
To see oursel as others see us."

"I believe the profession does not fully realize the rapid growth of drugless healing in this country. To prepare a paper of this kind I have been to considerable labor, time and expense to get at the real facts, and to get reliable statistics that could be depended upon. In every instance I have gone to headquarters. The attempt is to show that whenever anything that an irregular has built up and proves, even against opposition, is good, that it is time for the uneducated man to assume all rights to the same, gobble it in, and then annihilate it under pretense of being the only man capable of demonstrating its scientific value. Physicians are no more fit to jump into that line than a carpenter would be to professional work. 'Special study' along anti-podal lines does not make proficiency in this.

"By sticking to the old theories, old ideas, old remedies, we have shown a lack of progress. Thus it is that many diseases of our people are not being cured by physicians, but, as the following table will show, the mortality is certainly not decreasing as it ought to. There it is that we have exposed a weak point to the enemy. Deaths from the following named diseases from 1890 to 1900:

	1890	1900
Consumption	102,199	111,059
Pneumonia	76,498	106,971
Heart Disease	44,969	69,315
Disease of Kidneys	19,457	36,724
Typhoid Fever	27,068	35,379
Cancer	18,939	29,475
Apoplexy	14,936	29,475
Inflammation of Brain and Meningitis	17,475	25,664
Paralysis	16,570	23,865

Influenza, diseases of the stomach, scarlet fever, septicaemia, diabetes, rheumatism and cerebro-spinal fever also show an increase in the mortality. Of deaths from appendicitis, in 1900 there were 5,111. It is a fact, and not a pleasant one to contemplate, that many causes of the cases of the above diseases are being cured by the drugless healers. Thus it is that they grow and fatten on our failures.

"While we, as a profession, have loudly protested that certain diseases are incurable by medicine, the drugless healers have cured them without medicine.

"We have exposed another weak point in our neglecting the study and treatment of chronic diseases. Patients have gone the rounds of the doctors to get relief, but as they could not find it, they drifted into the hands of the drugless healer. Within the past century our people, from an excessive use of tea, coffee and other stimulants, have become a nervous, hysterical people. Insanity is on the increase with nervous diseases. Many of these nervous patients go to other doctors because the physicians do not understand how to treat such cases. Many of them pass into the hands of the drugless healers. They find some one who can minister to a mind and nerves diseased.

"Another weak point that we have exposed to the public is the fad and mania for operations. In every case where the surgeon can possibly find any excuse for an operation it is done. Thus it is, that our American women, for many of the ailments that they have, are being unsexed and degraded to gratify the surgeons lust for operations. How can the American women perform the duties of a wife and mother when she has been mutilated and unsexed?

"Child-birth is a natural process of nature, yet it is the fad not to wait for nature, but to deliver the woman by instruments. This 'medlesome midwifery' has caused a fearful increase in cancer of the uterus, until we have 60,000 married women in America suffering from this disease. This is something that we shall be called to account for at the bar of public opinion, and is just so much more capital furnished the enemy with which to condemn us.

"We have raised the standard of medical education: we have lengthened out the course of study in our medical colleges; our teaching has become more and more technical and scientific, until it has reached the point where doctors are graduated, loaded down with technical knowledge and lacking the practical knowledge 'how to heal the sick.' As the years pass on less and less time is given to the study of materia medica and practice, until at this time we give fifty per cent of the time to surgery. It would seem from this that it is of more importance to know how to 'cut up' our patients than to know how to cure them.

"We have had medical laws enacted making it a crime to heal the sick. These laws have proved a 'boomerang' to the doctors. They are so well protected that they can't move from one state where they are. Your gray hairs, your reputation, skill and experience won't save you; your diploma don't count for anything. It is for your medical board to decide whether you shall be allowed to practice your profession or not. The public may laugh at us for being caught in our trap. Thus, while we have become so well protected by our medical laws, the people are learning how to cure themselves without assistance. Every prosecution of the drugless healers—every time you stir them up—simply advertises them and adds thousands of friends and patrons to them. You may rest assured that the people will give you all the medical laws that you ask for. They will then know that it will only be giving you a little more rope to hang yourself with. Dating from the time when the first medical law was passed, drugless healing has been growing by leaps and bounds in this country. They are the best thing to loom the drugless healing of anything that our profession could possibly advise. In loudly proclaiming the importance of preventing disease, let us not forget to inform the public that we can also cure it. What would you think of firemen called to a burning building, telling the owner that they did not know how to put out the fire, but they would try to prevent any other houses getting afire? What are firemen for if not to put out fires? What are doctors for if not to heal the sick? (The illustration is a good one. What does a medical man do with a typhoid measles, diphtheria or other fever case, wherein the human house is being burned? Who is the fireman that is called? The M. D. What does he do? "You will need to call a nurse; she can do more good for you than I can. This is a self-limited disease, will have to burn until it burns itself out—and we can do little but call and exact as large a fee as you can give; meanwhile we will quarantine this house, so that other houses will not catch by the same kind of fire (fever)." Is not this illustration exactly what he has tried to apply to the firemen? It is occurring with every case of fever the physician has ever called to see.)

"From now on, if we want to retain the respect and confidence of the public, we must play fair and be honest with them. We profess to heal the sick, and we have simply got to 'make good' or drugless healers will grow and fatten on our failures.

ABANDONED PRACTICE OF MEDICINE

Not in active practice but fully convinced of the superior merit in Chiropractic adjustments.

Nephi, Utah, January 31, 1915.
Dr. J. Howard,
Dear Doctor:

I have been keeping my eyes open and observing cases under Chiropractic adjustments. I am convinced of the superior merit of this form of health practice. When one thinks of the tangent the profession of medicine has gone off on with its auto-sero theory, to opsonian indexes and serum ad-nauseam, one really wonders how two doctors of medicine can meet without laughing in each others faces. Now, honestly, doctor, don't it seem as though all any medical men want to do to their suffering patients is to either cut something out of him or squirt something into him.

I have a degree of M. D. and have been but am not now, in active practice. I abandoned medicine for a number of good reasons. I was, I believe, more successful than the average physician. But, being conscientious, a growing suspicion that medicine was more speculative than exact as a science occupied my mind. I saw my entire family taken away by diphtheria, while under care of medical physicians whose practice was then as the practice of the profession yet is to most liberally inoculate with antitoxin for cure in such diseases. I have seen a beautiful girl, of 18 years, die with all the symptoms of morphine poisoning after I had given her as medicine one-eighth gr. morphine sulf. I have known one-fourth gram of colomel which I gave as medicine, to cause every tooth to drop from my patient's head. Of course no blame was ever attached to me, because I had that impregnable wall of medical prestige to hide behind.

Even at the risk of being tedious, I am going to tell you why I took up the science of Chiropractic with much enthusiasm. First, a young lady whom I knew was injured in an automobile accident. After going from one city to another, consulting surgeons and specialists who passed her along from one to the other because her father was rich and she still in her invalid wheel chair was restored to perfect health in three weeks by a Chiropractor, just out of school. Her parents had been assured that because of the fracture of the arch of two vertebrae, the reparative exostosis was pressing on the cord, and that she would be a cripple for life. The way she can dance the Tango, lends proof to the charge of grave errors in medical diagnosis. Second, a friend of mine, for five years under the care of medically educated specialists, of many kinds of degrees, for diabetes, was restored in about two months by Chiropractic adjustments, and this after five years of medical care and fallacious drug medication. His health is now good; he has taken up the tread of business where he dropped it five years ago, weighing 12 pounds more than he ever did in his life.

I have investigated other so-called "cure" and really they bear investigation. If I were practicing medicine and had cured either of the above cases, I would feel as though I had done something to strengthen my faith in the beliefs of the profession. Of course, he of the ultra ethical standing would say: "These cases would have gotten well themselves." Oh, no, the patients would not have recovered; they would have died of too much drug in their systems. I remain, Yours truly,

H. G. Gould, M. D.
January 8th, 1916.

Opinions of Medical Doctors who Have Manhood Enough to Speak the "Truth."

"Chiropractic adjustments eliminate the cause of disease more promptly, radically, and permanently than any other known method."

G. H. Pacthen, M. D.
"Eighty per cent of our population is affected with some sort of spinal defect, this being the cause of so much nervousness, indigestion, rheumatism, etc."

W. H. Schumpley, M. D.
"We know that most diseases are not amenable to our ordinary method of medical and surgical treatment. While under spinal adjustments acute diseases are cut short and aborted, and chronic cases recover which have been believed to be incurable."—A. A. Gregory, M. D.

Dr. Charles Mayo, one of the world's greatest surgeons, says: "Yes, surgery will give way some day to something else. Preventive medicine, that's what will displace surgery." "The drugless healer is one of the best things that has come into the life of the present day."

WOMAN EXPERT IN HOME EFFICIENCY FOR STEPHENS BILL

MRS. CHRISTINE FREDERICK SAYS IT WILL AID CONSUMERS.

INSURES STANDARD QUALITY

Consumers in Small Towns and Rural Communities Are Victims of Discrimination by Big Store Methods, Which Encourage Substitution of Unidentified Goods at High Figures.

Mrs. Christine Frederick, household efficiency expert and consulting household editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, the New York Evening Sun, Successful Farming, and various other publications, recently appeared before the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington in support of the Stephens-Ashurst bill. This measure, according to its title, is designed "to protect the public against dishonest advertising and false pretenses in merchandising."

The bill will legalize standard, uniform prices and prevent price cutting of trade marked goods by big city stores for the purpose of giving the false impression that all their other articles are proportionately low. Price cutting is merely bait to lure customers so that articles of inferior merit may be substituted at high prices.

"I appear before the committee purely in the interest of the consumer," said Mrs. Frederick, "and I do not care about the rights or wrongs of retailer or manufacturer except as they affect the consumer. There is great need that the woman consumer, who spends most of the family income for articles used in the home, should be able to buy with the least extravagance, the least inefficiency and the least waste. I believe that a uniform price on an identified article is one of the chief merits by which this most desired end can be obtained."

Mrs. Frederick declared that the passage of the Stephens-Ashurst bill will result in greater household efficiency in buying for the following reasons:

- First, it will help the consumer establish a standard in all purchasing.
- Second, it will guarantee to the consumer a continuance of those standards once they are established.
- Third, it will give a wider distribution to more kinds of products that the consumer daily buys.
- Fourth, it will save the consumer's money because the fixed price will guarantee a permanent, dependable supply of articles.
- Fifth, it will be especially helpful to farm women and small town consumers who are now victims of discrimination.
- Sixth, it will make it possible for the homemaker to practice more efficient and less wasteful buying methods.
- Seventh, it will guarantee to the consumer that the goods which she buys are made under honorable standards of manufacture, fair pay and sanitary conditions.

In her argument for identified articles Mrs. Frederick said it was admitted that cut prices tend to drive such articles from the market and she was merely showing the interest that the consumer has in having articles she buys so marked and branded that they can be identified.

"Suppose, for the sake of argument, that there is no such thing as an identified article," said Mrs. Frederick. "If there is no means of identifying, say, a pound of butter or a pair of hosiery, then every purchase of one of those necessities becomes an experiment. In each case I must make a test which takes time, trouble and money and which is worthless in the end because, should I find the article satisfactory, I can't be certain of getting the same thing again; and if it is unsatisfactory I can't be certain of avoiding it. I do not see how you can have a standard quality without a standard price. The trade mark on an article, the approved standard price and standard quality, protect the consumer because they are a guarantee that the manufacturer will continue that standard."

"Price juggling destroys the standard which manufacturers have set and tempts them—sometimes almost forces them—to lower the quality. What incentive can a manufacturer have to keep up a high standard of quality if the price is constantly cut."

Clothing Values That are Unequaled

In all the years we have been seeing and selling Fine Clothing, the value-superiority of our goods has never been so strongly emphasized as it is today. With the shortage of high-class fabrics, the trouble with dye stuffs, and the increased cost of everything that enters into the making of clothes, it has been a difficult matter to maintain our standard of value. Yet not only have we done this, but we've actually provided better values than you've ever got before. We know that these values are unequalled elsewhere in town. We invite you to investigate and see for yourself.
