Somewhere in France

American expeditionary forces. May 26th, Mrs. W. L. Doyal. Dear Mother:—I will write you a few lines. I got your letter a few days ago, was sure glad to hear from you again. I got a letter from A. J. and he said he was going to El Paso to spend the summer. Roy Clark got back with the battery A a few days ago and said he saw Lee Langston before he left there. Was at Camp Hill. I guess he likes the army pretty well. I thought I told you that Cobb was in the battery. He went to Albuquerque about the time I did. I have not heard from Ira two months, don't know his address now or I would write again. Mama, please send me some tobacco to smoke, for we cannot get it here and I almost go crazy for a smoke sometimes. I could do without anything else if you will send me some smoking tobacco I will buy you a Liberty bond. Send some Durham tobacco. Lee E. Doyal

First Aid Course

Drs. Williams and Wollard will conduct a first aid course school in Portales, the cost to those attending will be one dollar, half of which goes to pay for the books and one half as payment for the course. None of this money goes to the physicians. The first lesson will be given as soon as the class can be organized. All ladies and young ladies who can spare the time are urged to take this course. The advantages are so numerous and obvious that one will suffice, ie, the fact that physicians will before long be very scarce in all communities and the instruction given this class will be of paramount importance in all cases of sickness.

Red Cross Notes

Another gauze room has been secured, the church building on the west side of the track, and there are now quite a number meeting at that place and making surgical dressings.

Under advice from the front the local chapter has been requested to send six pairs of socks with each sweater, the reason being that enormous quantities of these articles are necessary to provide against what is known as "trench feet."

Roosevelt county's quota of refugee garments has been fixed at five hundred and fifty. These garments are for French refugees who have been driven out of their own country by the enemy and who are in desperate condition. Three hundred of them are for little girls and all will be required for June.

There is now plenty of thread for knitters and all who will knit are urged to notify Mrs. J. P. Stone.

Employment Office at Roswell

The federal authorities have caused an employment office to be opened at Roswell and all those who want employment are requested to send their address to the examiner in charge, U. S. employment office, Roswell, N. M. This agency has tab on every kind of trained help needed and it can be of assistance to you if you are in the notion of going to work.

Home Guards

Col. J. B. Priddy received a communication from the adjutant-general Friday of this week instructing him to proceed at once and organize a company of home guards, with a limit of twenty-eight to begin. Also to send in his recommendations as to the officers who are to command the company. He at once called upon some of those he thought would like to become members of this company and found that he had not made a single bad guess. The trouble will be to confine the number to twenty-eight, all who are eligible being anxious to join. No person within the draft age may become a member. Some of the old dubs may get a chance to fight some yet.

Chances are Slim

John Trotter, who was shot by C. E. Wantland Saturday, was taken to Amarillo Monday of this week where, it was hoped, an operation might be performed and the bullet extracted, but reports from that place hold out but little hope. Dr. J.S. Pearce, the physician in charge here, received word that the operation was impossible at this time and grave doubts were entertained as to being able to operate later. It appears that the wound bleeds internally and that the patient must lie in a certain position all the time, and this position is one that precludes the possibility of administering the chloroform. In the meantime the wounded man is receiving every attention possible and should a chance materialize, he will be given the full benefit of it. As stated in the Journal last week, the details of the shooting are not available to the public, but the impression among the majority of the neighbors of the men appears to be to the effect that the shooting, while unfortunate, was justifiable on the grounds of self defense. Mr. Wantland is now under bond in the sum of one thousand dollars to answer to the grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Several Paid

This week Marshal Jess McCormack has been rounding up violators of the traffic ordinance and several have been given reminders that the town ordinances were promulgated to be enforced and not simply to encumber the records.

The merchants of Portales have all agreed upon the one delivery per day system at the urgent request of the government. Now, don't holler, but take the matter philosophically. These are war times and we at home must sacrifice many of our little conveniences to the end that this war may be prosecuted with the utmost vigor. We have, none of us, as yet made any sacrifices and, while this is sort of an innovation, there is no reason for complaint.

Arthur E. Curren, former newspaper man of Clovis, was out to the DZ lake this week doing development work on the numerous mineral claims filed by himself and associates. There were four in the party, all from Clovis. Mr. Curren says that all the indications point to rich potash deposits, which the development, so far, only tends to confirm. Here's hoping Arthur, though it would be a miracle if a newspaper man was to find anything good this side of heaven.

Mounted Policeman W. O. Biggerstaff came in the latter part of the week from his trip to Fort Sumner, Yesso and other points in De Baca county. He brought with him two prisoners, one charged with being a slacker and one with the larceny of cattle.

John Young this week shipped out some cattle to Arkansas for pasture.

General Education.

It takes a master mind to live entirely on its own thoughts, notably if one would not grow morbid, and a good book will do wonders to remake health by resting and awakening thoughts.

The habit of the day seems to be to eliminate poetry from chosen lines of reading. This is an error. Those who are to a reasonable proportion familiar with best verse will find that they have a smooth and easy grace in general expression that is worth while.

No one can afford to live without softening their thoughts and keeping art before themselves in whatever form it may be available, and poetry is one of its most available forms.

BRITISH AIRMEN SHOW QUICK WIT

Ability to Deal With Unexpected Situations Gives Them Superiority in Air.

RAMS HUN IN AERIAL FIGHT

Young Pilot, Caught With Gun Jammed, Crashes Into German Craft, Sending It Hurling to Earth.

Behind the British Lines in France.—A British machine rammed a German airplane in an aerial battle a few days ago. The British machine afterward made a successful landing, but the German machine was demolished. The whole incident, shows the necessity for an airman to develop an almost supernatural ability to deal with unexpected situations. It is generally believed one of the chief reasons for the present German inferiority in the air is that the average German pilot is incapable of adjusting his mental balance in performing or anticipating the unexpected.

In this particular contest the German airman got his gun to bear at point-blank range on the British pilot in midair, the Britisher's gun being temporarily out of action owing to a jam.

The British machine was one of a squadron engaged in a long distance reconnaissance behind the German lines. They had been heavily attacked by a German patrol, but by splendid gunnery and superb airmanship had driven off the Germans after downing four of them.

Quick Wit Saves Briton.

It was while pursuing one of the fleeing German machines that the pilot's gun jammed, and he was forced to break off his pursuit and climb up to the shelter of his squadron until his gun could be got into action again. Before he could regain his altitude the German dived down on him. The enemy plane came out of the heart of the sun straight at him, so he did not see the approach of his antagonist until the latter's bullets came whizzing through his wings. Glancing up, he saw his enemy only a few yards away.

It was impossible for the British pilot to dive or sidestep. The German would simply have followed him down and continued to pump in bullets at point-blank range. Neither could he remain on his course or a German bullet would surely reach him.

In a flash he summed up the situation, saw the only chance open to him, and snatched at it instantly.

Drawing back his control lever he sent his machine shooting upward to meet the oncoming German. Before the later realized what was happening the two airplanes were in collision.

But the British pilot had so judged things—more by luck than good management, he afterward declared—that his undercarriage crashed into the enemy's upper plane, tearing it clear of the main structure.

Lands Crippled Craft Safely.

Both machines turned turtle as a result of the tremendous impact and nose-dived earthward, a dive from which the German never recovered. He went crashing completely out of control.

The British pilot flattened out his machine after falling 500 feet and was able to rejoin his squadron minus his undercarriage, but with his machine otherwise almost undamaged.

But he had yet to land his machine in safety, and landing an airplane without an undercarriage is no easy task. His comrade all got down before him and gathered in a silent

DISHWASHER TAKES $10,000 IN BONDS

Atlanta, Ga.—One of the team captains in the Liberty loan campaign was canvassing a company at Camp Gordon and paused to interview a private who was washing dishes in the kitchen.

"You ought to be able to handle a $50 bond at least," he insisted. The commander will arrange to hold payments out of your pay, and you'll have a bit of a nest-egg when you get back from France. How about taking your subscription?"

"I'd rather draw all my pay, thank you," he said. "I may need it. But you may put me down for bonds to that amount," he added, handing a check to the captain.

The check was for $10,000. The private was W. J. Etherington of Pennsylvania, who owns a controlling interest in one of the big coal companies. He subscribed $50,000 to each of the former bond issues and had taken an equal amount in the third issue through his home bank.

group at one corner of the aerodrome to watch him come down. His commander was so certain disaster impended that he ordered an ambulance to be got ready.

But the pilot confounded all their fears, and thereby added greatly to his professional reputation. He stalled his airplane when only a few feet from the ground—that is, he pointed its nose upward until the forward speed was nearly off the engine. Slowly the tail sank downward. The rear skid touched earth and dragged along the surface for a few yards. Then the airplane fell forward and stopped with a jerk.

Hardly a fastening was strained, and the pilot coolly stepped down on the turf to receive the congratulations of his comrades.

HEROINES RISK LIVES

Attend Belgian Wounded During a Gas Attack.

Two Women Are Decorated by King Albert for Bravery in Action.

London.—Caught in a German gas attack on the Belgian lines, Baroness Tserclaes and Miss Marie Chisholm risked their lives to attend to the wounds of King Albert's soldiers. Both women are in London recovering from the effects of the German gas.

They were equipped with gas masks in their dressing station, which was immediately behind the battle line, but discarded them without thought of the danger in order better to attend the wounded. Both have been decorated by King Albert for bravery.

The women had conducted an advanced dressing station on the Belgian front for three years. They worked in the cellar of a house just behind the Belgian positions along the Neuport-Ypres railway. In a recent attack the Germans drenched the whole Belgian front with gas. They then attacked, but the Belgians repulsed them.

The gas fumes penetrated into the cellar, where the women were working. They donned their gas masks and continued to attend the wounded, but found they could not work so well. They discarded their respirators. They worked steadily for hours, binding up wounds and rendering first-aid assistance. Both finally collapsed and had to be taken away.

FLOATING GARDEN IS LATEST

California House-Boat Owner Has Flourishing Crop in the Making.

Alameda, Cal.—Alameda has the original floating garden. William Hull, a house-boat resident of this city, heard the president's call for war gardens. It occurred to him that he might build a garden on piles and thus do his bit.

Hull constructed a sidewalk around the boat, placed boxes thereon filled with rich soil and now has a flourishing crop in the making. He estimates that it will be possible to produce over a hundred pounds of vegetables this season.

TOMMY LAUGHS DESPITE HIS WOUNDS

Here is a case of the bitter being bitten. This wounded Tommy is being brought to a dressing station by captives. Tommy takes life easy while Frits is made to carry him around. And Tommy has learned to smile at disaster.

THEY FIGHT LIKE HEROES

Yanks Win Praise for Work at Apremont.

"No Brighter Page in All American History," Says Pennsylvania Doctor.

An Atlantic Port.—"No brighter page in all American history has been written than that covering the deeds of American soldiers fighting the Prussians," declared Dr. William T. Ellis of Swarthmore, Pa., who arrived here on a French liner, in describing the fighting he witnessed in the American sector at Apremont, northwest of Toul.

"Our boys fought like heroes," he continued, "although they were outnumbered four to one. I saw one soldier, a Greek by birth, who had joined the army in New York. His rifle was shot from his hands, but he drew a knife, leaped forward and killed a German lieutenant.

"The Americans never gave an inch and always drove the enemy back. They did not lose a prisoner, but captured three truckloads of the enemy."

Albert Van Hecke, formerly a professor in the University of Louvain and now secretary to the Belgian secretary of public works, also was on board the liner. He will make a tour of this country to study industrial conditions in preparation for the restoration of Belgium.

"If I had not been on the spot I would not believe some of the instances of bravery—motion-picture stuff, you might call it. One captain from Boston, who was a dry goods merchant at home, was in the trench when German sappers started to move forward preparatory to a raid.

"This captain ripped off his shoulder bars to prevent identification by the Germans and seized a rifle. To hell with the saps," he shouted to his men, and went over the top in the lead.

"Well, they captured that German trench and came back with prisoners, the captain being unharmed."

TAKES UP HUBBY'S DUTIES

Assures Management of Big Business When Husband Goes to War, and Succeeds.

Denver, Colo.—Mrs. Stanley S. Outwater is living evidence that at least one wife can take care of a $100,000 business. When war threatened between America and Germany Mr. Outwater put his wife in training in a large insurance office of which he was manager. At the first call of President Wilson for soldiers and sailors Outwater enlisted in the marine service. Mrs. Outwater took over the management of her husband's business, and in the first six months on the job showed a satisfactory increase in returns.

An insect of the Hercules variety, weighing three ounces, was able to support on its back a brick weighing more than a pound. A human being, if subjected to a proportionate weight, would be crushed.

Calomel Loses You a Day's Work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone Instead

Read my guarantee! If bilious, constipated or head-achy you need not take nasty, sickening, dangerous calomel to get straightened up.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much, but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.—Adv.

The Ways of Ladies.

"A feller in town," related a neighbor who had been over to Tumlinville, "was cranking up a lady's Ford car and got kicked."

"That's the way with ladies," commented Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "Prob'ly the feller was winding it up as fast as he could but, of course, that didn't make no difference to the lady. Tuther day when my wife found me asleep on a bench in the shade of the smokehouse she landed on me like a catamount and threatened to fling b'llin' water on me, just b'cuz I hadn't done something or nuther that she'd told me to do. Aw, them confounded ladies is all alike—they think all men are their stepsons."—Kansas City Star.

Raw Deal for Rudyard.

One of Mr. Kipling's trees was injured by a bus, the driver of which was also landlord of an inn. Kipling wrote this man a letter of complaint, which the recipient sold to one of his guests for ten shillings. Again the angry author wrote, this time a more violent letter, which immediately fetched $5.

A few days later Kipling called on the landlord and demanded to know why he had received no answer to his letters.

"Why, I was hoping you'd send me a fresh one every day," was the cool reply; "they pay a great deal better than bus driving."—Boston Transcript.

The Misses Eulalia Wollard and Pearl Bramlett left Sunday for Albuquerque to attend the state university. Miss Wollard has just completed her work in the High school in this city.

J. B. Priddy and family and Dr. J. F. Garmany and wife returned the latter part of last week from their fishing trip to Lakewood. They say that fish were plentiful, such as they were, being buffalo, carp and hickory shad. They had a nice time regardless.

The prohibition meeting advertised for the court house on last Saturday night was not much of a success, in fact it is stated that the speaker did not make his address. This is no indication that Portales is for the saloon, on the contrary, it has voted on three separate occasions on the liquor traffic, and on each occasion, the verdict has been dry. Our people consider this matter settled in so far as we are concerned, and would sooner devote their time and energy in fighting the common enemy, the Hun, than listening to speeches from imported orators and on subjects that we are all pretty well agreed on.

Dr. S. G. Von Almen, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist from Roswell, was here the 20th filling his regular dates. Dr. Von Almen and Dr. Swearingin have volunteered for service in the army and been accepted and this will, probably, be the last trip here for Dr. Von Almen. In all probability Dr. Swearingin will be here on the 20th of next month but as to later dates there is no certainty, both expecting their call within the next sixty days.

Miss Hallie made quiet a reputation here as a reader and the Journal is glad to note that her talent in this direction is appreciated by the people of Albuquerque.

J. T. Rhodes and family left this week for Amarillo, Texas, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Rhodes is one of the old timers here and has a world of friends who will be sorry to learn of his departure, but who will ever hope for his prosperity and happiness.

Wiley Franklin (Diamond Dick) an old timer in Portales but now of El Paso, Texas, passed through here last Sunday enroute for Roswell, where he had bought quite a bunch of cattle. Wiley has lots of friends in Portales, quite a few of which were at the station to see him.

HOW THE PIPELESS FURNACE OPERATES

New System of Heating Is Getting Attention.

SAVING IN FUEL IS CLAIMED

Idea Was First Conceived Fifty or Sixty Years Ago but Only Recently Has It Been Successfully Applied.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.
Fifty or sixty years ago some one conceived the idea that a stove with a jacket around it, placed in the basement, with an opening above it, could be made to heat a house. He thought so well of the idea that he made a model, drew plans and specifications and secured a patent.

The heater was built. Because of the jacket an inflow of air was needed. This was provided by an air duct leading into the space between the jacket and the stove from out of doors. Heat poured through the opening above, but for some reason the house wouldn't get warm. After experimenting a while, the inventor gave it up and allowed his patent to lapse.

That man probably never knew how near he came to helping solve a modern heating problem. Either he did not know or overlooked the fact that in heating a house, or a store, or any type of building, the air heated by the fire must displace the cold air in that house, or store building. He had neglected to provide an outlet for the cold air and, in consequence, his invention was a failure.

Recognition of this fact made possible the furnace which came after. A "cold air register," placed in a central position suggested that the first paragraph, or rather the first two paragraphs of this article be read again. The pipeless furnace was invented in Civil war times. But the modern inventor had the benefit of the scientific facts of the circulation of air and the experience of the furnace men in the application of these facts. All he had to do was to get the cold air out of the building, so it could be replaced with heated air.

Circulation is Provided.
This he did by making a register, one section of which was the counterpart of the cold air register and the other of the hot air into the building and at the same time sucked out the cold air. In other words, it provided circulation.

If you are not an expert on heating devices, you will undoubtedly have a lot of questions in your mind. The writer had, but he had an advantage over you—he asked them of men who are experts, and got the answers. They are now passed on to you.

"How," one man was asked, "can a house, say one and a half stories high, containing six rooms, be heated from one register?"

"Then it was explained. No attempt will be made to quote the expert literally, but here is what he said, in substance:

The modern house is open. That is, there are practically no rooms on the first floor, with the exception of the kitchen, that are shut off from the others. This is necessary to make a pipeless furnace efficient.

Warm air rises and as it rises it forces the cooler air towards the floor. When the heated air hits the ceiling it does not stop, but continues to wherever it can find air colder than itself.

This continuous stream of heated air eventually drives out the colder air and heats the room. That's one room.

"How," the prober continued, seeking defects in the system, "can this furnace heat any part of the house except the room that contains the register?"

Scientific Basis of System.
Now what follows is the scientific basis upon which is founded the success of the pipeless furnace.

The pipes which carry the heated air from the ordinary type of furnace to the rooms above are usually ten inches in diameter. The area of a ten-inch pipe is one-half a square foot. One of these pipes leads to each room tion in the building, "sucked" out the cold air as the heated air was discharged into the rooms. But here, too, the inventor and the manufacturers who produced these furnaces overlooked something.

Section Through Five-Room Bungalow Showing How House Is Heated by Pipeless Furnace.

Heat Wasted on Basement.
In the basement a maze of pipes was strung, each pipe leading to a room above. These pipes, as the heated air passed through them, threw off much of the heat. In fact, the basement, where no one habitually sits or stays any longer than is necessary got the first crack at the heat.

Then, only a few years ago, four or five at the most, along came a man with an "original idea." It was original, too, in part.

"Why not," he probably said to himself, running his hand through his hair, or holding his chin between thumb and forefinger, or doing some one of the many things men do in stories when they are in deep thought—"why not save that wasted heat?"

So he set about to save it and he did. He invented the pipeless furnace. For the benefit of those who do not know what a pipeless furnace is, it is that is to be heated. Thus, all the heat that can be introduced into a single room through a pipe of this character must come through this small opening.

In contrast, the area of a doorway in an ordinary home is 17 square feet, and 35 times as much as a pipe opening. A double door is twice as large and if there happens to be colonnades, or no doors, there is just that much more area for the induction of heat. Thus instead of carrying the heat into a room through a small pipe you carry it in through the door openings. Or, rather, you don't carry it in, but it goes in whether you want it to or not.

In the house taken as an example—six rooms, one story and a half—40 per cent of its area is basement, 40 per cent on the first floor and 20 per cent on the second. These proportions, of course, differ in different types of buildings. The percentages in individual cases are easy to figure. But taking the one mentioned, by eliminating pipes in the basement, 40 per cent of the heat produced is saved, with a consequent saving of 40 per cent in fuel to obtain the same degree of heat where heat is needed.

Only About Half the Steer is Beef

Live Weight 1200 pounds

100%

Dressed Weight 672 pounds of Beef

56%

When Swift & Company buys a steer weighing 1200 pounds, only about 672 pounds goes to market as beef; the other 528 pounds consists of hide, fats, other by-products, and waste.

When the packer pays 15 cents a pound for a steer, he sells the meat to the retailer for about 24 cents. But the packer gets only about 6 cents a pound for the other 528 pounds.

This means that the packer gets about 16 cents a pound for all the products from a steer for which he pays 15 cents.

The difference of 1 cent per pound covers the cost of dressing, preparation of by-products, freight on beef to all parts of the United States, operation of distributing houses, and leaves a net profit of only about 1/4 of a cent per pound on all dressed beef sold.

Large volume of business and utilization of parts that were formerly wasted, make this achievement possible.

LET US EAT POTATOES.

Someone is originating a new way of serving potatoes almost every day.

They are the standby for all occasions and for all meals, this season. Because of the bountiful supply, patriotic women who wish to save wheat will be more generous with the potato. Because of the high cost and scarcity of animal fats, deep frying is not so popular as formerly, neither is sauteing, for both methods take fat. Vegetable fats are still on the list of admissible fats and they make most satisfactory ones to use in various ways; they are not very expensive and are common in the market. Corn oil, olive oil, and many of the cottonseed products are all good.

Potato Patties.—Select potatoes of uniform size, pare, cut off a slice then hollow out to make cups. Let stand in cold water till time to prepare, then wipe dry and fry in deep fat. The shell should cook tender in eight to ten minutes. Drain on tissue paper in the oven door; sprinkle inside with salt. Use these shells to hold creamed peas, sweetbreads or any other desired creamed dish. Creamed fish or chicken are especially good and the shell is eaten with its contents.

Yellowstone Potatoes.—Select large, smooth potatoes; scrub well and bake until done. Make two cuts in the form of a cross on the top of each; take up with a towel and crush to loosen the potato and let out the steam. Set on a hot napkin on a hot plate. Place a generous piece of butter in the opening and fleck with paprika.

Oak Hill Potatoes.—Cut five hard-cooked eggs and five cooked potatoes into slices a quarter of an inch in thickness. Make a sauce of four tablespoonfuls each of sweet fat and flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, and two cupfuls of good milk. In the bottom put a layer of potatoes and cover each layer until all are used with a layer of the sauce. Cover the top with the sauce and finish the top with a cupful of buttered crumbs. Set in the oven to brown. Serve very hot.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY.

A most satisfactory griddle cake may be prepared by using sour milk, soda, a beaten egg and corn flour to thicken. Add the soda, a half teaspoonful, to a cupful of sour milk, then add a beaten egg, a little salt and corn flour to make the batter of the consistency liked. A little baking powder sifted into the corn flour will improve the cakes.

Buttermilk Drops.—With a pint of buttermilk, add three eggs, a tablespoonful of fat, a teaspoonful of salt, and corn flour enough to make a batter, sifting a teaspoonful of baking powder to each cup, adding a small amount of soda if the buttermilk is at all sour. Bake in a hot oven.

Beet Piquante.—Take two cupfuls of boiled beets cut into cubes; two tablespoonfuls of butter, two of flour (barley) and one-half cupful of water in which the beets have been cooked, one-fourth cupful of vinegar, one-fourth cupful of cream, one teaspoonful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt. Melt the butter, add the flour, and when well mixed add the beet liquor and cream. Then add the vinegar slowly and cook until the flour tastes cooked. Add salt and pepper and then the beets. Serve hot.

Baked Bananas Belgium Style.—Remove the peel from six or eight small bananas, scrape each banana to remove all coarse fibers and lay them side by side in a baking dish suitable to serve them. Grate over them the rind of an orange and half a lemon; mix the juice of the half lemon, the orange and three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, pour this over the bananas and bake in a quick oven until soft throughout. Serve from the baking dish, one banana being a portion. This is a nice dish to serve with game or lamb, veal or fowl.

Use junket tablets for dessert. They are simple to use, make good, wholesome desserts, especially for the little people. When topped with sweetened whipped cream they are still more nutritious.

Good Salesmanship.
"Could I sell you a burglar alarm, madam?"

"Are you sure it will work?"
"Yes, madam; I may speak with some authority on the subject. I was once a burglar myself."

"Dear me! What caused you to reform?"

"This alarm."
"I'll take one."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Hot One.
Was it at a meeting of our aircraft officials? Perhaps it was and perhaps it wasn't. Anyway, a member was protesting vigorously against the snail-like progress in turning out things that were sorely needed. A "scene" ensued and the chairman tried to pour oil on the troubled waters.

"Mr. Blank must remember," said he, "that Rome wasn't built in a day."
"I know it wasn't," retorted the protesting member, "and if this board had had the work to do it wouldn't be built yet."—Boston Transcript.

That's Telling 'Em.
A friend of an elderly woman who has the reputation of adhering to the old Puritanical principles of right and wrong took her recently to see one of the modern comedies which ranks above the average for wholesome fun. At a point in the play where a dashing young woman tells a man to go to the proverbial hot place in plain language, the hostess cringed in her seat and glanced sideways at her guest, expecting to hear a wrathful denunciation of such language. But the remark of the elderly woman of Puritanical traditions was: "I guess she told him where to get off!"

"HAS BEEN A FRIEND TO ME"

Says Lady, Regarding Cardui, in Giving This Well-Known Woman's Tonic Credit for Her Good Health.

Cleveland, Tenn.—Mrs. Joanna Felker, of this place, after telling of the help she obtained from the use of Cardui 12 years ago, when it built up her health and strength says further: "The next time I used it (Cardui) was about 4 or 5 years ago. I had . . . and was just able to drag around for a good while, getting worse all the time. I suffered intense pain in the lower abdomen and back . . . Could hardly do my work, it was all a drag . . . and walking was very painful for me. I finally had to give up and go to bed, where I stayed about a week . . . and then turned back to Cardui, my old friend.

After starting the Cardui, I was able to be up in 2 or 3 days . . . The pains were relieved soon after beginning to take the Cardui, and when I got up, walking was easy for me . . . Got back my health and strength . . . and in 3 weeks was able to do most of my work . . .

It's a fine medicine, and has been a good friend to me, and I am a friend to it too. It's through taking Cardui I have been well and strong and in good health for the past 4 or 5 years . . . I will always praise it."
Cardui should do for you, what it has done for thousands of other women. It should help you. Try Cardui.—Adv.

A Word of Precaution.

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children? Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about. Any Physician will recommend the keeping of Fletcher's Castoria in the house for the common ailments of infants and children.

Children Cry For

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

S. J. Briggs & Co., of Providence, R. I., say: "We have sold Fletcher's Castoria in our three stores for the past twenty years and consider it one of the best preparations on the market."

Mansur Drug Co., of St. Paul, Minn., says: "We are not in the habit of recommending proprietary medicines, but we never hesitate to say a good word for Castoria. It is a medical success."

Hegeman & Co., of New York City, N. Y., say: "We can say for your Castoria that it is one of the best selling preparations in our stores. That is conclusive evidence that it is satisfactory to the users."

W. H. Chapman, of Montreal, Que., says: "I have sold Fletcher's Castoria for many years and have yet to hear of one word other than praise of its virtues. I look upon your preparation as one of the few so called patent medicines having merit and unhesitatingly recommend it as a safe household remedy."

In 1858 Dietrich estimated it at 1,206 millions and Kolb, in 1865, at 1,220 millions. According to the largest calculations the earth is inhabited by 1,400 million happy (?) human beings.

MOTHER HAD REASONED WELL

Decision That Combined Strict Justice and a Knowledge of the Child Character.

My child and my sister's two children were playing in the room next to where my sister and I were talking. Presently her older boy came in and said that the others were bothering him. He was building a railroad and they took his things; would mother please make them stop? To my surprise, she said surely she would; it was too bad they bothered him, and she called them in with us, and when she had started them playing there she quietly closed the door between the two rooms. In a moment it opened, and the young railroad builder said he did not care about having the door shut, he only did not want to be bothered. But the mother answered that she could not keep the little folks happy if they saw him with all the things; the door would have to stay shut. Every little while, for half an hour or so, on one excuse or another, that door came open, and just as surely a reason was given why it must be kept shut. Then the law of the Kingdom, the Spirit in Man, worked; every one knows what would happen. The boy came where we were, and leaning against his mother, had a treble in his voice as he said: "I'd rather stay in here; it's lonesome in there and I don't care about the things."

She had not told him he was wrong, but it was just as the inventor said: "If you understand the case and the law governing it, any one can tell what will happen. Certain things always work certain ways."—Eleanor Scott Staples, in the Philadelphia Ledger.
