

Only One Issue

This is distinctly a year of patriotism, a year in which there is but one problem before the American people, but one object to strive for, but one thought in common; that is the winning of the present war for humanity. The scramble for money, for preferment for distinction has given place to this one paramount endeavor. True there are some few politicians who are seeking to make of this war a stepping stone for their own aggrandizement. They are, for the most part, Republicans. Some few Democrats, or alleged Democrats, in congress sought to handicap the lawful authorities in its prosecution of this conflict, but they were promptly eliminated from public life by their constituents at the polls. Unhappily, this has not been true of those Republicans in congress who hampered the administration in its war arrangements. Many of these who come from rock ribbed Republican districts were returned to their seats to further hamper our boys in France. It seems incredible that any American citizen could so far forget his duty to his country, to his soldier boys on the front, as to attempt to block the administration in its efforts to get reinforcements to the boys who go over the top; to get them food and clothing, ammunition and guns, yet such there are. New Mexico, to her everlasting shame, is going to have to set the seal of her disapproval upon one such; one who is attempting to make his renomination and election upon his war record. He poses as a Republican, and it is a matter of congratulation that no Democrat has ever questioned his ownership by that party. Likewise, it is a matter of some congratulation that his actual, bonifide, home is in El Paso, Texas, and not in the sunshine state. The coming election is not a contest between the old parties, but it is a contest between the patriotic citizens of America and those who seek to make the war a cloak for their own selfish ends. The Republicans, that is the great majority of them, are just as patriotic, just as earnest and just as honest, as are the Democrats. Their boys are just as much in this fight as are the boys of the most loyal Democrats in the and to these the Journal has no criticism to make. There is and can be but one question before the voters in the coming election, but one issue. The whipping of the Hun; the winding up of this job at the earliest possible moment. But the job must be done thoroughly, completely, as well as expeditiously. Our boys must not come until this has been accomplished, but they should not be compelled to stay one hour longer than is necessary to complete their work. This cannot be accomplished by sending those congress who are at cross purposes with the administration, who will hamper our arrangements, put stumbling blocks in the path of those charged with the carrying on of the program. Politics must give place to patriotism else will our boys on the firing line be uselessly sacrificed and the contest prolonged indefinitely.

A TYPICAL SOLDIER GATHERING

The Army Y. M. C. A. is the gathering place of the soldiers in every camp. It is his substitute for home, and he soon learns to go there when he is threatened with homesickness. He is seldom disappointed, for the "Y" slogan is "something doing all the time." This crowd was too big to get inside the building, so they had the program outside. The soldiers are listening to a lecture on mental and physical cleanliness by Dr. Clark, a noted sex lecturer. The picture was taken at Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas, where thousands of soldiers from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and other states receive their training for the big adventure.

John T. Hoover Killed

John T. Hoover, of near Canton, this county, was killed Monday night in an auto wreck two miles this side of Clovis. It appears that the car occupied by Hoover had left Clovis and was on the way to Portales when the wreck occurred. The car in which the deceased was riding was driven by W. T. Tate and there were two other occupants, ladies. Hoover was riding in the seat with the driver. A car was noticed coming towards them and from the direction of Portales, the driver of which seemed to have lost control and the car wobbling from side to side, though driven at a terrific speed. Tate pulled his car to the right side of the road as close to the embankment as possible, and stopped, the onrushing car of the other party hitting it straight head-on. Hoover was thrown forward, his neck hitting the glass wind shield and cutting the juglar vein, death occurring within a few minutes. The other car was driven by O.C. Spetter and, besides two Mexicans, contained about sixty quarts of "booze." Spetter and party were arrested by Sheriff Dick Moye, of Clovis and he, and one Mexican were given a preliminary hearing the next day, the justice binding them over to await the action of the grand jury and placing their bond at fifteen thousand dollars each. It has not been long since this man, Spetter, paid a heavy fine for shooting quails out of season. At the time of the wreck Spetter was drunk, he was driving an Oakland six and from all accounts was stepping on it some.

John T. Hoover, the victim of the wreck was a Roosevelt county boy, was one of the first to be called to the colors shortly after the operation of the first registration. He had been to Camp Cody and, for physical defects, was given an honorable discharge shortly before meeting his death. His mother, at the time of the wreck, was on her way to Clovis and he was to have been there to meet her the next morning.

Deceased is well known to many of our citizens and is described as being a young man of good habits, sober and industrious. Automobiles are all right, in fact, they are a public necessity in this day and time, but, like shotguns, they are extremely dangerous in the hands of drunks. New Mexico should have laws something like those of other states, providing for licensing all parties who drive gas wagons, and driving them while intoxicated, should not only subject the offender to a heavy penalty, but should forever bar him from driving one in the state after conviction.

Hands on Your Pocketbooks

Captain Jack Wilcox has been appointed chairman of the committee to secure Roosevelt county's quota of the fourth Liberty loan, and Jack will get the money. You might just as well get in the road early because he will have plenty of help and you must unlimber.

In keeping with above request and in view of prevailing local conditions, we have decided, beginning October 1st, 1918, to require payments of all accounts on first day of each month following purchase. If your account is not paid by the 10th, of each month, no further charges will be made.

All owing us to October 1st, will please call and make settlement as we want to separate the old accounts from the new ones on above terms. In making these new terms we are going to offer merchandiss at less margin of profit than heretofore. Some goods of course no change can be made as they cannot be replaced at all or only at advanced prices.

District Court

There was a short session of the district court this week, during which the grand and petit juries were drawn for the October term. Clemens, charged with the larceny of an automobile, plead guilty and was permitted to enter the draft for the army.

Judge and Mrs. R. E. Rowells motored here from Clovis Sunday and were the guests of Judge and Mrs. George L. Reese.

Democratic Convention

Last Saturday the county Democratic convention, called to elect delegates to the state convention, and to transact such other business as might properly come before the convention, met at the court house. Judge George L. Reese was elected temporary chairman and R. H. Grissom, of Elida, temporary secretary, which organization was later made permanent. The following were elected delegates to the state convention; James A. Hall, George L. Reese, J. A. Fairly, E. B. Hawkins, D. W. Jones, H. B. Ryther, R. G. Bryant, J.S. Long, J. B. Priddy, A. L. Gregg, S. A. Morrison, A. J. Evans, Z. T. Campbell, R. H. Grissom, A. A. Beeman, G. T. Littlefield, H. A. Roberts, C. S. Toler, Ed Wall, J. E. Johnson, S. E. Johnson, J. B. Crawford. These delegates were also elected as delegates to a district convention to be held at Santa Fe for the purpose of ratifying the nominees of the late primaries for district judges. The committee on resolutions reported the following, which were adopted: "We, the Democratic party of Roosevelt county, New Mexico, in convention assembled, do hereby reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of the Democratic party, both national and state, and we especially endorse the efforts of our matchless leader Woodrow Wilson, in his prosecution of the present war for humanity. He has won the respect and confidence of all true Americans, regardless of party, and of the enlightened thinkers of the world. We congratulate the people of the state of New Mexico upon the loyalty and patriotism of our Democratic members of congress, senator A. A. Jones and William B. Walton, who have stood firmly by the president in the prosecution of this war." Upon motion unanimously carried, it was decided to take up a collection for the purpose of securing and framing a picture of our president, Woodrow Wilson, the same to be hung in auditorium of the court house.

For this purpose fifteen dollars was raised and John W. Ballow appointed to see that the objects were properly carried out. The delegates were instructed for the unit role only, with a provision that those elected and attending in person were to cast the vote of the delegation, with a provision that no proxies were to be allowed.

State Convention

The state Democratic convention has been called to meet at Santa Fe on September 26, this year, for the purpose of nominating a full state ticket. Portales has elected twenty-two delegates with one-half vote each.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MR. SUN'S DELIGHT.

"At last they have appreciated me, and how they have enjoyed it," said Mr. Sun.

"What a Happy Old Fellow I Am!"

"I will explain it to you," said Mr. Sun. "Do," said Mr. Moon, "and please hurry, for if not, you will become sleepy and will have to go to bed, and I will miss half the story."

"I will begin at once," said Mr. Sun. "Of course, I know that many folks appreciate me—they always have. I hear of them saying when they build houses or rent apartments: 'Now, I must be where I can have the sun shining in my windows.' 'That's appreciation for you.' 'It's not appreciation for me; it's appreciation for you,' said Mr. Moon.

"Oh, well, you know what I mean," said Mr. Sun. "I mean that that is real appreciation. Well, to continue, doctors will tell their patients to keep out in the sun, and plants and flowers will look up at me and will say: 'Make us strong, Mr. Sun.'

"But, all the same, there have been many who didn't half appreciate me. They'd get up long, long after I did. They'd go to bed long, long after. They would use artificial light such as electric light and gas and lamp-light when they could have had me—free!

"Yes, they never half appreciated me. Well, this year, they at last came to realize that I did amount to something. They saw finally that I saved light and heat as well as being a nice old fellow.

"So they all decided to change their clocks so they would get up earlier—and hence have more daylight.

"They moved their clocks ahead one hour, early, early one morning and they've kept it up. I didn't dare allow myself to be too happy about it for the longest time. I was so afraid that any day they might change. But no, not a bit of it.

"They've kept it up all through the summer and they've had one hour more of me every single day. That's what I call appreciation, and, Mr. Moon, if you will not think it is too conceited of me, I might add I think it is also good sense."

The moon grinned. "I agree with you," he said.

"Well, Mr. Moon, I am at last becoming sleepy. But I have told you all my story."

"It was an interesting one, a wise one and a flattering one to you, my good friend."

"Pray pardon me, Mr. Moon, if I become sleepy while talking to you. I assure you it's not the company, as folks say when they yawn before someone, but it's the way old Nature has of bossing me around.

"When it's bedtime, it's bedtime." "I quite understand," said Mr. Moon.

"And you'll never think, because I become sleepy talking to you, that it is your fault?" asked Mr. Sun.

"I will never think such a thing," Mr. Moon replied.

"Good!" exclaimed Mr. Sun. "Ah, what a happy old fellow I am now. Mr. Moon understands me, the people appreciate me and I am more of a help in the world than ever before. For an extra hour through the spring and summer I aid folks in saving light they formerly wasted. It makes me very glad," he smiled, as he sank down behind a hill for his night's sleep.

And Mr. Moon grinned delightedly and said, "Mr. Sun deserves this honor which has been paid him."

"Make Us Strong, Mr. Sun."

Packers' Costs and Profits

How much do you think it costs—

1. To dress beef, cure hides, and prepare all the numerous by-products?
2. To cool the meat for two or three days before shipment?
3. To freight it to all parts of the country in special refrigerator cars, iced daily?
4. To carry it in hundreds of branch houses, each with its refrigerating plant?
5. And to deliver it to the retailer—sweet and fresh—in less than two weeks after dressing?

Swift & Company did all this for you in 1917 at an expense of less than 2½ cents per pound of beef sold, including an average profit of ¼ of a cent a pound.

Railroad Classification Requirements Outlined—Make Compartments of Same Size.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Do you know the railroad classification requirements for a standard egg case? If not, you should; so here they are:

Standard Egg Case.—3-16-inch veneers; 7-16-inch ends and centers; 7-16 by 1 1/4-inch cleats; 7-16-inch center board must be nailed in middle of case.

Right Way to Arrange Strawboard, Excelsior, Cork Shavings or Cut Straw for Fillers.

The two compartments must be of the same size.

Fillers.—Hard calendered strawboard.

Set to consist of ten trays and 12 flats.

Pack top of case with corrugated cushions, excelsior, cork shavings, or cut straw.

Use flat between eggs, both top and bottom.

Excelsior, cork shavings or cut straw cushions must be smooth and of uniform thickness.

SELECTION OF POULTRY FEED

Reduce Cost by Using Low-Priced Substitute Grains—Oats Are Cheaper Than Corn.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

While farmers, as a rule, have fed their poultry the grain that was cheapest on the farm, many poultry specialists and most small poultry keepers have been accustomed to use their favorite poultry feeds without considering either the quality of the supply or the possibilities of using cheaper substitutes.

Under normal conditions, corn in nearly all parts of the United States is the cheapest poultry feed. At the present time, oats are nearly everywhere cheaper than corn. When corn goes down to $1.50 a bushel, oats should be 75 cents and barley $1.20 a bushel to give the same value for the money fed to poultry, as corn.

The common characters and conditions of grain which roughly determine their values as poultry feeds are easily estimated by the eye, or by weight or bulk in measure or containers of known capacity.

Good cracked corn is hard, bright, clean, free from soft and chaffy particles. Corn that is crushed (not cracked), and shows much soft, chaffy and scaly matter, should be rated proportionately below good cracked corn in feeding value. Cracked corn in which any considerable amount of greenish discoloration appears should be rejected as unfit for poultry.

Oats with the hulls on are at once seen to contain more indigestible matter than corn and wheat. Again, the indigestible hulls covering oats make that grain less palatable to poultry and its feeding value must be discounted.

Oats weighing less than the United States standard of 52 pounds to the bushel should be discounted in price according to the shortage in weight, while for weights above the standard the usual discount in price may be reduced.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

LOOK, MOTHER! SEE IF TONGUE IS COATED, BREATH HOT OR STOMACH SOUR.

"CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS" CAN'T HARM TENDER STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child to-morrow. Wouldn't Have to Go Abroad.

A big marine sergeant stood on the front steps of the Star building to take a look at the busy avenue before going up to the "Devil Dog" recruiting station.

While he stood there along came soldiers, sailors and marines. They streamed by. The sergeant came to salute time after time. His arm began to grow numb. As husky as he was, saluting at machine-gun rate became tiresome.

The sergeant grinned as he saluted for the steenth time.

"If salutes would win this war," he said, pleasantly, "we would win it right here in Washington."—Washington Star.

IN THESE trying times the utmost effort of every man and every woman is necessary. But the man or woman who is handicapped with weak kidneys finds a good day's work impossible, and any work a burden. Lame, achy back; daily headaches, dizzy spells, urinary irregularities and that "all-worn-out" feeling are constant sources of distress and should have prompt attention.

Mrs. J. W. Randolph, 512 E. Broadway, Enid, Okla., says: "For years I suffered from gravel and was treated with the best doctors and used all kinds of remedies without success. Once I was down for several weeks and the misery and pain I underwent was simply awful. A friend knowing my plight, recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I used eight boxes. The gravel stones were dissolved and passed off. Previous to that they passed in large grains and I nearly went wild with the pain. This was eight years ago and Doan's Kidney Pills have kept me cured all this time."

A NEW MEXICO CASE.
W. N. Bloxom, Main St., Carlsbad, N. Mex., says: "About four years ago, my kidneys were in bad shape. My back was so lame and stiff that I could hardly get around. Every time I tried to bend over, sharp, darting pains would catch me in my back and I could hardly straighten. My kidneys were in bad shape, too, when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. This medicine helped me quickly and two boxes rid me of the trouble. I am glad to let everyone know that the cure has lasted."

BETTER BE CAREFUL

Parties discouraging, or attempting to discourage others from accepting employment offered through the federal employment bureau, are in direct violation of the espionage act, and are liable to heavy fine, or imprisonment, or both. There has been some little of this in Portales and the parties are warned to discontinue at once, or suffer the penalty. The conditions at the munitions plant at Nashville, Tennessee are excellent. Wages range from forty-one to fifty-one cents per hour for common labor. Sleeping accommodations can be had for fifty cents per week, and meals at thirty cents each. The work is neither more than ordinary hard, nor is it dangerous. Our soldiers must have ammunition if we expect them to win this fight. It would be worse than criminal if this government should send these boys to France to fight the Hun and then fail to send him the necessary ammunition to accomplish his duty. He who dissuades men from working in these places is worse than the Hun we are fighting, and if caught, will be prosecuted as his crime merits. A copy of the section covering this feature of the espionage act may be seen posted on the window of the postoffice, or by calling at this office. It follows:

EXTRACT FROM ESPIONAGE ACT
Anyone who will willfully by utterance, writing, printing publication, or language spoken, urge, incite, or advocate any curtailment of production in this country of any thing or things, product or products, necessary or essential to the prosecution of the war in which the United States may be engaged, with intent by such curtailment to cripple or hinder the United States in the production of the war shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than twenty years or both.

State Game Warden Theodore Roualt is an active candidate for state land commissioner on the Republican ticket. "Great oaks from little acorns grow," sometimes.

And now the Republicans are putting up a "holler" because a bunch of slackers were rounded up and forced to get in the game. They must be hard put to get something over which to squeal.

Who cares who rounded up that bunch of slackers, or whether those who rode herd on them had papers or not? They brought in the bunch, and corraled them, all right.

The state tax commission has reduced the taxable valuation of railroad lands in the state one million dollars. This means that the dry land "nesters" are to pay on a valuation of one million dollars more for the same amount and quality of land than do the railroads. Of this tax commission, rise and sing, "All hail to thee, our lord and king."

The Hindenberg line is fast developing into the American line, but the American line is changing so rapidly, advancing so swiftly, that the probabilities are they will soon be fighting over the Rhine (rind) and the Boche doesn't stop running, he may butt his brains out against the walls of Berlin.

There are some Republicans in congress who should be blabbed in the same manner in which our cow men blab their calves at weaning time. If their mouths were covered they would not attract much attention and the relief to the public would more than compensate for the prices of the blabs.

The New Mexico State Record states that the Democrats are seeking to make an issue of the war, apparently forgetting that Senator Albert Bacon Fall, Republican, was the first New Mexico politician that asked for a re-nomination on his war record, such as it was.

FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR
C. L. Tallmadge
 OF SOCORRO, N. M.

For Fifteen Years, Mr. Tallmadge has given his every effort to the internal development of New Mexico. We believe he can best continue this great work in the Senate of the United States. And we believe that President Wilson and the Nation need now the active aid of such men as C. L. Tallmadge.

THE DEMOCRATS OF SOCORRO COUNTY.

Endorsed in Mass Meeting and By Committee

"Resolved, by the Democratic Central Committee of the County of Socorro, that the Democrats, of this County and State generally, request of Hon. C. L. Tallmadge that he become a candidate for the nomination and subsequent election as United States Senator for the State of New Mexico, at the coming fall election.
 MELITON TORRES, Chairman."

This resolution was endorsed by a mass meeting of Socorro County citizens.

We believe:

That Mr. Tallmadge is the strongest candidate we can put before New Mexico's voters in the Fall election and we point out the great desirability of electing a Democrat.

That Mr. Tallmadge, if elected, will prove an able, whole-hearted supporter of our great President and of America's part in the war for world freedom.

That Mr. Tallmadge would prove in the United States Senate a powerful force in procuring for New Mexico the necessary federal aid for her great drainage and irrigation projects.

That Mr. Tallmadge would prove an effective advocate of changes in banking laws which New Mexico's Stock Raisers, Farmers and Bankers as well know are necessary for the proper development of our state and of the Great New West.

C. L. TALLMADGE AND WHAT HE HAS DONE FOR NEW MEXICO

Mr. Tallmadge is a Westerner by birth, by upbringing, in education and in heart. He was born 45 years ago in Nebraska and graduated with high honors from the University of Nebraska. He practiced law for a time, but gave up a good practice, leaving his wife and baby, to answer McKinley's call for volunteers in the war for free Cuba.

Upon his discharge he turned his attention to the needs and possibilities of the Southwest. Mr. Tallmadge is the pioneer of the great movement to the Southwest which has resulted in the recent rapid development of the country. He is himself heavily interested in New Mexico.

His neighbors are his friends. When Mr. Tallmadge took up the Bosque del Apache Grant, a score of families whose people for generations had occupied and cultivated portions of it were informed by him that he would not question their rights to the land. He sent his engineers to stake out the territory which each claimed, and gave to each settler a deed to his property.

MR. TALLMADGE'S PLATFORM OF PRINCIPLES

Honorable Meliton Torres, Chairman Democratic Central Committee, Socorro, New Mexico.

My dear Mr. Torres:

I have your communication of recent date enclosing the resolution passed by the Democratic and County Central Committee and approved by mass meeting of Socorro County Democrats. This resolution requests me to become a candidate for the nomination of the office of United States Senator before the Democratic State Corporation.

While I deeply appreciate the compliment which is expressive of the kindly thought of my neighbors and friends, I am moved more by the reference to the work which I have been able to accomplish in the past fifteen years in developing the agricultural resources of the state and the bringing within its boundaries many thousands of people who have become prominent citizens and are contributing to the upbuilding of the commonwealth in all lines of activity.

The first problem for every citizen is to decide "what can I best do to aid and end the war," which can only be accomplished by a complete victory over any enemy which is moved by greed for power and lust of passion to rule mankind and destroy all that is good and which, if it were to succeed, would bring slavery, poverty and misery to every home in our fair land.

Therefore, I must decide in considering your request whether

I can contribute more to the common cause by serving in such capacity. Without doubt, such office would put me in position to strengthen and uphold the regularly constituted authorities in their conduct of the war, and this will be demanded of anyone placed in this high office, and anything less will not be long tolerated by the citizens of New Mexico of its senator.

Further, my thought and work for the past few years has been to assist in working out a plan to reclaim the lands of the Rio Grande valley, which have been so bountifully favored by nature in giving all factors necessary to make this one of the most productive sections of the world and at the same time has been one of the most neglected.

This is probably one of the oldest farmed sections of the United States. The early pioneer Spanish-American settled and fully developed irrigation without governmental or financial aid. He laid out and constructed his irrigation ditches without level or transit, but with a degree of intelligence that has not been equal in similar undertakings in like circumstances. He improved and farmed the lands which, together with stock raising, enabled him to sustain himself and family and built up one of the most productive communities in the country.

The Rio Grande, being an international and interstate stream, is directly in the control of the federal government. This took the distribution of its water out of the hands of the water users and through inequitable and improper diversion and storage.

many thousands of acres of the richest land in the world have become worthless so far as crop yield is concerned. Aside from the personal loss to these people it has put New Mexico out of its rightful place as one of the great sugar, wheat and other cereal producing states and just at a time when the world's supply of sugar, flour and other food products necessary to sustain the lives of the millions of laborers engaged in war producing activities is so urgently required.

The time has arrived for us to overcome this deplorable condition if we are to do our part in the present emergency. Let us not lament over our present condition, but correct it. The first thing to do is to increase sugar by growing sugar beets; increase flour by planting and growing wheat; increase meat production by growing more cattle, sheep and hogs. To do this means drainage, and drainage means money.

The present crisis has proven that there is just one banker with sufficient resources to finance every enterprise necessary to win the war, and that is our Uncle Sam. His performance from the day war was declared has proven that he is willing to do so, and on a fair business basis. Let us organize our drainage districts and vote our bonds and ask the federal government to loan us the money necessary to do the construction, to aid us in getting the necessary machinery delivered quickly.

We have the labor to do the work and grow the crops. The war finance corporation was created by Congress with authority to loan three billion dollars to enterprises necessary to the prosee-duction of the war. Through this agency of the government or some other, New Mexico can get the funds necessary to contribute its share.

I have been told by a very high government official that five million acres of land with water available has not been farmed from the lack of funds. Millions additional pounds of meat products can be added if the stockman can secure the funds necessary for his business. His enterprise is certainly an essential one and should not be permitted to suffer for lack of funds. If our present banking laws are inadequate changes should be made so that longer time paper can be carried in order to aid the stockman and farmer.

The interest of every property holder, every business and professional man and every laborer is linked with this development. Let us concentrate our thought to the purpose of correcting a bad condition and not allow our minds to become water-logged. We will have to meet obstruction; red tape and bureaucracy is done away with in nearly every department of the government, and let this be done in the departments which have to do with the development of land and increased food production so that we can contribute our share in sustaining the men who have pledged their lives that our government may live.

If the Democrats think I can be more useful in working out these and other problems in the capacity mentioned, I am willing to serve.

Sincerely yours,
 C. L. TALLMADGE.

C. L. TALLMADGE

The time is short before the state convention, but reports to the Committee show that Mr. Tallmadge's strength is growing in every precinct. Let us show the voters of New Mexico that the Democrats can unite on a candidate whose worth is known to all and who is in accord with the nation's leaders in their policies and with the best thought for the progress of our state.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

It is a good thing to be rich, and a good thing to be strong, but it is a better thing to be beloved of many friends.—Euripides.

A SCORE OR MORE OF SANDWICH FILLINGS.

Sandwiches are just as popular with war breads as they were when wheat was plentiful.

A few crumbs of roquefort added to French dressing with a piece of lettuce or a sprig of water cress laid between buttered slices of bread is a delicious morsel.

Cottage cheese with chopped chives, or slices of rich New York cheese on buttered bread will make a hearty sandwich for the boy who goes fishing.

Minced hard cooked eggs and sardines (skin and bones removed), seasoned with lemon juice.

Chopped dates and nuts with a little cream cheese.

Equal parts of cold cooked ham and chicken, minced fine and seasoned with curry.

Chopped mutton (cold roast or boiled), seasoned with chopped capers and French dressing.

Chopped figs and peanuts with lemon juice; prunes and cottage or cream cheese.

Salmon, pickles and olives. Baked beans mashed and seasoned with onion and celery with a dash of lemon juice.

Minced hard cooked eggs, butter, mustard and a dash of salt and cayenne.

Thin slices of cucumber, covered with scraped onion, dipped in French dressing.

Sardines with olives and French dressing. Water cress dipped in French dressing.

Cooked liver chopped and seasoned with onion and celery.

Thin slices of banana sprinkled with nuts and dipped in French dressing.

Chicken chopped with a few almonds and bits of celery. Almonds (salted) chopped and mixed with maple sugar and cream.

Equal parts of minced ham, celery and mayonnaise dressing.

Chopped onions with French dressing—fine sandwiches for Sunday night lunch, after church.

When the wild plum blossoms in the lane
'Tis time for dulcet laughter and refrain,
Time for airy fairy dreamings while perched low
By the woodland fairy people as we go,
Time to loiter and make glad among the flowers—
Oh, it is a heartsome place, this world of ours.

DISHES DAINTY AND APPETIZING.

Hot fried sardines served on a bed of water cress make a nice way of serving these small tidbits.

Celery and nuts chopped fine and mixed with a little salad dressing make a good sandwich filling.

Chopped apples, a few nuts and a chopped green pepper make a most delicious salad combination; serve with mayonnaise.

Cheese and Tomatoes.—Cut round slices of bread, toast brown and on each round place a slice of tomato, sprinkle with a little minced onion and green pepper, a dash of cayenne and a thick layer of grated cheese. Put into the broiler and set under the gas flame until the cheese melts. Serve piping hot.

Peanut Butter With Rice.—Take two cupfuls of well cooked rice; while hot, stir in a cupful of peanut butter, a cupful of cracker crumbs, a half cupful of milk, two beaten eggs and salt and paprika to taste. Shape in a rounding loaf and place in a well buttered pan; bake a nice brown and serve hot with parsley.

Walnut Loaf.—Take a cupful of chopped walnut meats, four cupfuls of bread crumbs, one hard cooked egg chopped, one beaten egg, one chopped onion, salt and sage to taste with sufficient milk, stock or water to moisten. Bake until brown. Serve either hot or cold.

Cheese Fingers.—Beat the whites of two eggs until stiff, then fold in lightly a cupful of grated cheese. Season to taste with salt and cayenne, spread on long crackers and brown in the oven. Serve hot or cold with the salad course.

Baked Tomatoes With Peas.—Take small sized tomatoes; do not peel; remove some of the center and fill with seasoned peas. Put into a baking dish and bake while basting with butter and water or a rich soup stock. Keep covered the first part of the cooking.

Doan's Kidney Pills Effected Wonderful Recovery After Other Medicines Had Failed.

"I don't believe I would be alive to give this testimony if it weren't for Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Julia A. Thomas, 1125-A Missouri Ave., East St. Louis, Ill. "I was in a serious condition with kidney trouble; my feet and ankles were terribly swollen and the kidney secretions caused agony in passage. I had terrible rheumatic pains and often got so dizzy I dared not walk for fear of falling. I felt as if I would go frantic. I grew weak as a baby and often had to grasp something to keep from falling. My nerves were all unstrung and the least noise startled me. Nothing benefited me and I was discouraged. A neighbor happened to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and I began using them. The swellings and pains were soon eased up and it was but a short time before my kidneys were in good shape again. They have never bothered me since nor have I had any backache or other kidney trouble. I have gained 55 pounds since I was cured and can do all my own work without suffering."

UNITED STATES AND SCIENCE

Activities of Entire World Centered on This Country and Interest Expected to Continue.

"Very few people realize that the scientific activities of the world are centering in the United States, and that they will doubtless continue to do so if material means be given to keep up the work," said Father Charles B. Moulhier, regent of the Marquette university school of medicine, in a recent interview in the Marquette Tribune.

"South America, for instance, is now looking to us for scientific leadership. China and Japan are once more turning to us. Great attention is being paid to medicine in South America, Buenos Aires alone having a medical school with 5,000 students.

"The Wistar institute of anatomy, in Philadelphia, is one of the most decisive factors in turning the attention of the scientific world to the United States. This institute has an endowment which makes it possible to give large service to mankind. Just now it is printing copious translated extracts from the medical journals published and sending them to China and Japan. Duplicates of the journals are also sent to South America.

"A great deal of research work is being done by this school in the direction of 'discovering' dyes. Certain chemical dyes, formerly produced only by Gruebler of Germany, are required in technical work. Wistar is now producing dyes the equal of Gruebler's.

"It may be interesting to know that much of this research work has been done by a young Philadelphian who delved into chemistry for his own pleasure and experimented in his private laboratory. Wistar hearing of some remarkable discoveries made by him immediately called him to the institute, placing its facilities at his disposal for this important work.

What Exporters Should Know.

A needle factory had sent to Aleppo, Turkey, needles that were tied up with green twine. The Mohammedan merchant who had ordered them returned the package, for the reason that the use of the green, the color consecrated to the prophet, for such a purpose was a derision of religion. Another consignment of the same factory to China wrapped up in white paper was returned because the Chinese recipient would not accept goods packed in "paper of mourning." White is the mourning color of the Chinese.

"Conscription of Wealth."

It is the simple fact, so thinks the Monetary Times of Toronto, that the idea of conscription or confiscation of wealth must be abandoned upon this continent. "The great need of the western world, and all countries coming within the scope of western civilization, will be a fund of investment capital at the close of the war."

Couldn't Find Peter.

"Borrowing from Peter to pay Paul is bad business," said Mr. Dubwaite. "So it is," replied the impecunious citizen. "In my case I find it exceptionally bad business." "Why should it be worse for you than anybody else?" "I have the dickens of a time finding Paul."

Away With the Cats!

The damage to crops which is indirectly attributed to cats has recently brought the question of cat suppression into more than one state legislature. Cats eat birds that eat insects that destroy crops.

Tonight! Take Dodson's Liver Tone!

Better Than Calomel For Liver

Calomel sickens! If bilious, constipated and head-achy read my guarantee.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone. Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful tonight, and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning, I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not sallowate or make you sick. I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.—Adv.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

The wool from sheep more than pays their way, leaving the lambs for profit; besides they make good use of weeds and rough feed that would otherwise go to waste.

No one can feed pigs profitably at any age, at any time, that are affected with worms.

The weeds, grass, corn stover and other good feed wasted on many farms would support from 10 to 100 ewes, and produce both food and clothing.

Fresh meat will be high and scarce this year. Unless farmers raise calves, lambs and pigs for the market fresh meat may be prohibitory for the poor.

Why are good teams so high and scarce? There are at least two reasons for this: farmers have not been raising many mules and horses during recent years.

Art is Long.
"You have to start early to be a great pianist."
"I imagine so. It must take years to grow all that hair."—Judge.

An acre of good soybeans should maintain 20 hogs for a month.

Hogs increase fast under ordinary farm conditions. They are also very thrifty feeders, making more meat from a given quantity of feed than any other farm animals.

The marked success of the self-feeding system of hog raising is due largely to the fact that they may eat an abundance of those feeds which will nourish them to the best advantage.

While silage is succulent and palatable and has an effect similar to that of good grass, it should not be the only feed used.

Get those spring pigs to eating shorts, tankage, or slop of some kind before you wean them, and you will have no trouble.

There is no section of the country which can produce cattle more cheaply than the South, for the lands are still cheap, the grazing is good and the pasture season is long.

Letter from Carl Turner

The Journal is in receipt of a letter from Carl Turner, who went with the boys to work in the munitions factories at Nashville, Tennessee. Carl writes that the wages for common labor range from forty-one to fifty-one cents per hour; that meals cost thirty cents each and sleeping accommodations fifty cents per week. He says that the work is not hard; that there are about forty thousand people employed at the plant and like all big works men come and go. From the general gist of the letter it appears that the job is a good one, much better than can be had anywhere near home.

Jacksonville, Tennessee, Sept. 12, 1918.—Portales Journal; Well we are here and all at work, this was a great trip, we did not get much to eat on our trip. We were 23 hours on last part of runs with out a bite to eat. Our rail road fare was $51.50 or about that besides, the chuck. This is charged up to us and taken out of our pay check. We arrived here Monday about 1 p. m. ate supper evening before in Mexico Missouri. The hardest thing is getting lined up after you get here, you have to stand in line for every thing.

I was landed on a job as foreman of the Portales boys. My wages would have been 62 cents per hour, 10 hours with pay for eleven but, this did not suit us, so worked them in at different jobs from 41 cents to 51 cents per hour, eight hours work. Most of them are getting 51 cents. We can board for 30 cents a meal at a big mess hall, or there is plenty of short order halls. Most of us are in the same building. Our sleeping quarters, they charge us 50 cents per week for blanket, cot, pillow and room.

There is about 40,000 men at work here, they come in train loads and leave the same way. The men don't get what they are promised in many cases, but with that this is a good place to work, if work is what he wants. If he don't like to work stay at home and be a slacker or go to the front. We had to be vaccinated and passed on by a doctor as to health condition.

Victor Crowell is here and has moved into the same house to bunk with us. He is making six dollars and five cents per day, likes it fine; been here two months. There is people from every state here and some from out of states. There is 2000 cops here so they are on the lookout. I will write again later, have not been to Nashville yet. All the boys extend regards. Yours, CARL S. TURNER.

DEPEW GETS HIS FIRST EXPERIENCE IN THE FRONT LINE TRENCHES AT DIXMUDE.

Synopsis.—Albert N. Depew, author of the story, tells of his service in the United States navy, during which he attained the rank of chief petty officer, first-class gunner. The world war starts soon after he receives his honorable discharge from the navy, and he leaves for France with a determination to enlist. He joins the Foreign Legion and is assigned to the dreadnaught Cassard, where his marksmanship wins him high honors. Later he is transferred to the land forces and sent to the Flanders front.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

In the communication trench you have to keep your distance from the man ahead of you. This is done so that you will have plenty of room to fall down in, and because if a shell should find the trench, there would be fewer casualties in an open formation than in a closed. The German artillery is keen on communication trenches, and whenever they spot one they stay with it a long time. Most of them are camouflaged along the top and sides, so that enemy aviators cannot see anything but the earth or bushes, when they throw an eye down on our lines.

We took over our section of the front line trenches from a French line regiment that had been on the job for 24 days. That was the longest time I have heard of any troops remaining on the firing line.

Conditions at the front and ways of fighting are changing all the time, as each side invents new methods of butchering, so when I try to describe the Dixmude trenches, you must realize that it is probably just history by now. If they are still using trenches there they probably look entirely different.

But when I was at Dixmude they were something like this:

Behind the series of front-line trenches are the reserve trenches; in this case five to seven miles away, and still farther back are the billets. These may be houses or barns or ruined churches—any place that can possibly be used for quartering troops when off duty.

Troops were usually in the front-line trenches six to eight days, and fourteen to sixteen days in the reserve trenches. Then back to the billets for six or eight days.

We were not allowed to change our clothing in the front-line trenches—not even to remove socks, unless for inspection. Nor would they let you as much as unbutton your shirt, unless there was an inspection of identification disks. We wore a disk at the wrist and another around the neck. You know the gag about the disks, of course: If your arm is blown off they can tell who you are by the neck disk; if your head is blown off, they do not care who you are.

In the reserve trenches you can make yourself more comfortable, but you cannot go to such extreme lengths of luxury as changing your clothes entirely. That is for billets, where you spend most of your time bathing, changing clothes, sleeping and eating. Believe me, a billet is great stuff; it is like a sort of temporary heaven. Of course you know what the word "cooties" means. Let us hope you will never know what the cooties themselves mean. When you get in or near the trenches, you take a course in the natural history of bugs, lice, rats and every kind of pest that has ever been invented.

It is funny to see some of the newcomers when they first discover a cootie on them. Some of them cry. If they really knew what it was going to be like they would do worse than that, maybe.

Then they start hunting all over each other, just like monkeys. They team up for this purpose, and many times it is in this way that a couple of men get to be trench partners and come to be pals for life—which may not be a long time at that.

In the front-line trenches it is more comfortable to fall asleep on the parapet fire-step than in the dugouts, because the cooties are thicker down below, and they simply will not give you a minute's rest. They certainly are active little pests. We used to make back scratchers out of certain weapons that had flexible handles, but never had time to use them when we needed them most.

We were given bottles of a liquid which smelled like lysol and were supposed to soak our clothes in it. It was thought that the cooties would object to the smell and quit work. Well, a cootie that could stand our clothes without the dope on them would not be bothered by a little thing like this stuff. Also, our clothes got so sour and horrible smelling that they hurt our noses worse than the cooties. They certainly were game little devils, and came right back at us.

So most of the polius threw the dope at Fritz and fought the cooties hand to hand.

There was plenty of food in the trenches most of the time, though once in a while, during a heavy bombardment, the fatigue—usually a corporal's guard—would get killed in the communication trenches and we would not have time to get out to the fatigue and rescue the grub they were bringing. Sometimes you could not find either the fatigue or the grub when you got to the point where they had been bit. But, as I say, we were well fed most of the time, and got second and third helpings until we had to open our belts. But as the Limeys say: "Gaw blimey, the chuck was rough." They served a thick soup of meat and vegetables in bowls the size of wash basins, black coffee with or without sugar—mostly without—and plenty of bread.

Also, we had preserves in tins, just like the Limeys. If you send any parcels over, do not put any apple and plum jam in them or the man who gets it will let Fritz shoot him. Ask any Limey soldier and he will tell you the same. I never thought there was so much jam in the world. No Man's Land looked like a city dump. Most of us took it, after a while, just to get the bread. Early in the war they used the tins to make bombs of, but that was before Mills came along with his hand grenade. Later on they flattened out the tins and lined the dugouts with them.

Each man carried an emergency ration in his bag. This consisted of bully beef, biscuits, etc. This ration was never used except in a real emergency, because no one could tell when it might mean the difference between life and death to him. When daylight catches a man in a shell hole or at a listening post out in No Man's Land he does not dare to crawl back to his trench before nightfall, and then is the time that his emergency ration comes in handy. Also, the stores failed to reach us sometimes, as I have said, and we had to use the emergency rations.

Sometimes we received raw meat and fried it in our dugouts. We built regular clay ovens in the dugouts, with iron tops for broiling. This, of course, was in the front-line trenches only.

We worked two hours on the fire-step and knocked off for four hours, in which time we cooked and ate and slept. This routine was kept up night and day, seven days a week. Sometimes the program was changed; for instance, when there was to be an attack or when Fritz tried to come over and visit, but otherwise nothing disturbed our routine unless it was a gas attack.

The ambition of most privates is to become a sniper, as the official sharpshooters are called. After a private has been in the trenches for six months or a year and has shown his marksmanship, he becomes the great man he has dreamed about. We had two snipers to each company and because they took more chances with their lives than the ordinary privates they were allowed more privileges. When it was at all possible our snipers were allowed dry quarters, the best of food, and they did not have to follow the usual routine, but came and went as they pleased.

Our snipers, as a rule, went over the parapet about dusk, just before Fritz got his star shells going. They would crawl out to shell craters or tree stumps or holes that they had spotted during the day—in other words, places where they could see the enemy parapets but could not be seen themselves. Once in position, they would make themselves comfortable, smear their tin hats with dirt, get a good rest for their rifles and snipe every German they saw. They were extra bandoleers of cartridges, since there was no telling how many rounds they might fire during the night. Sometimes they had direct and visible targets and other times they potted Huns by guesswork. Usually they crawled back just before daylight, but sometimes they were out 24 hours at a stretch. They took great pride in the number of Germans they knocked over, and if our men did not get eight or ten they thought they had not done a good night's work. Of course it was not wholesale killing, like machine gunning, but it was very useful, because our snipers were always laying for the German snipers, and when they got Sniper Fritz they saved just so many of our lives.

The Limeys have a great little expression that means a lot: "Carry on." They say it is a cockney expression. When a captain falls in action, his words are not a message to the girl he left behind him or any dope about his gray-haired mother, but "Carry on, Lieutenant Whosis." If the lieutenant gets hit it is "Carry on, Sergeant Jacks," and so on as far as it goes. So the words used to mean, "Take over the command and do the job right." But now they mean not only that but "Keep up your courage, and go to it." One man will say it to another sometimes when he thinks the first man is getting downhearted, but more often, if he is a Limey, he will start kidding him.

Our men, of course, did not say "Carry on," and in fact they did not have any expression in French that meant exactly the same thing. But they used to cheer each other along, all right, and they passed along the command when it was necessary, too. I wonder what expression the American troops will use. (You notice I do not call them Sammies.)

I took my turn at listening post with the rest of them, of course. A listening post is any good position out in No Man's Land, and is always held by two men. Their job is to keep a live ear on Fritz and in case they hear anything that sounds very much like an attack one man runs back to his lines and the other stays to hold back the Boches as long as he can. You can figure for yourself which is the most heartful job.

As many times as I went on listening-post duty I never did get to feeling homelike there exactly. You have to lie very still, of course, as Fritz is listening, too, and a move may mean a bullet in the ribs. So, lying on the ground with hardly a change of position, the whole lower part of my body would go to sleep before I had been at the post very long. I used to brag a lot about how fast I could run, so I had my turn as the runner, which suited me all right. But every time I got to a listening post and started to think about what I would do if Fritz should come over and wondered how good a runner he was, I took a long breath and said, "Feet, do your duty." And I was strong on duty.

After I had done my stunt in the front-line and reserve trenches I went back with my company to billets, but had only been there for a day or two before I was detached and detailed to the artillery position to the right of us, where both the British and French had mounted naval guns. There were guns of all calibers there, both naval and field pieces, and I got a good look at the famous "75's," which are the best guns in the world, in my estimation, and the one thing that saved Verdun.

The "75's" fired 30 shots a minute, where the best German guns could do was six. The American three-inch field piece lets go six times a minute, too. The French government owns the secret of the mechanism that made this rapid fire possible. When the first "75's" began to roar, the Germans knew the French had found a new weapon, so they were very anxious to get one of the guns and learn the secret.

Shortly afterward they captured eight guns by a mass attack in which, the allies claim, there were 4,000 German troops killed. The Boches studied the guns and tried to turn out pieces like them at the Krupp factory. But somehow they could not get it. Their imitation "75's" would only fire five shots very rapidly and then "cough"—puff, puff, puff, with nothing coming out. The destructive power of the "75's" is enormous. These guns have saved the lives of thousands of polius and Tommies and it is largely due to them that the French are now able to beat Fritz at his own game and give back shell for shell—and then some.

CHAPTER V.

With the "75's."

My pal Brown, of whom I spoke before, had been put in the infantry when he enlisted in the Legion, because he had served in the United States Infantry. He soon became a sergeant, which had been his rating in the American service. I never saw him in the trenches, because our outfits were nowhere near each other, but whenever we were in billets at the same time, we were together as much as possible.

Brown was a funny card and I never saw anyone else much like him. A big, tall, red-headed, dopey-looking fellow, never saying much and slow in everything he did or said—you would never think he amounted to much or was worth his salt. The boys used to call him "Ginger" Brown, both on account of his red hair and his slow movements. But he would pull a surprise on you every once in a while, like this one that he fooled me with.

One morning about dawn we started out for a walk through what used to be Dixmude—piles of stone and brick and mortar. There were no civvies to be seen; only mules and horses bringing up casks of water, bags of beans, chloride of lime, barbed wire, ammunition, etc. It was a good thing we were not superstitious. At that, the shadows along the walls made me feel shaky sometimes.

Finally Brown said: "Come on down; let's see the '75's.'" At this time I had not seen a "75," except on a train going to the front, so I took him up right away, but was surprised that he should know where they were.

After going half way around Dixmude Brown said, "Here we are," and started right into what was left of a big house. I kept wondering how he would know so much about it, but followed him. Inside the house was a passageway under the ruins. It was about seven feet wide and fifty feet long, I should judge.

At the other end was the great old "75," poking its nose out of a hole in the wall. The gun captain and the crew were sitting around waiting the word for action, and they seemed to know Brown well. I was surprised at that, but still more so when he told me I could examine the gun if I wanted to, just as if he owned it.

So I sat in the seat and trained the cross wires on an object, opened and closed the breech and examined the recoil.

Then Brown said: "Well, Chink, you'll see some real gunnery now," and they passed the word and took stations. My eyes bulged out when I saw Brown take his station with them!

"Silence!" is about the first command a gun crew gets when it is going into action, but I forgot all about it, and shouted out and asked Brown how he got to be a gunner. But he only grinned and looked dopey, as usual. Then I came to and expected to get a call down from the officer, but he only grinned and so did the crew. It seems they had it all framed to spring on me, and they expected I would be surprised.

So we put cotton in our ears and the captain called the observation tower a short distance away and they gave him the range. Then the captain "called 4128 meters" to Brown. They placed the nose of a shell in a fuse adjuster and turned the handle until it reached scale 4128. This set the fuse to explode at the range given. Then they slammed the shell into the breech, locked it shut and Brown sent his best to Fritz.

The barrel slipped back, threw out the shell case at our feet and returned over a cushion of grease. Then we received the results by telephone from the observation tower. After he had fired twelve shots the captain said to Brown, "You should never waste yourself in infantry, son." And old dopey Brown just stood there and grinned.

That was Brown every time. He knew about more things than you could think of. He had read about gunnery and fooled around at Dixmude until they let him play with the "75's," and finally here he was, giving his kindest to old Fritz with the rest of them.

Members of the Foreign Legion, all soldiers of fortune, swear vengeance when they see the Germans place Belgian women and children in front of them as shields against the enemy's fire. Gunner Depew tells about this in the next installment.

Patriotic Youngster.

An officer at the civic center in San Francisco saw a little girl loitering around one of the fountains, apparently reluctant to leave. He investigated and found that the girl had thrown several expensive dolls into the water. The officer rescued the "unconscious" victims, and found a German trade-mark on every one. Then he understood.

REACHED END OF PATIENCE

Rookie Felt He Hadn't Enlisted in Army to Be Made Permanent Bird-Tender.

A western bishop, just back from France, where he spent some time at the front, tells the following anecdote as illustrative of the fighting spirit of the American soldier:

"Again and again, whenever his regiment had any orders for activity, it fell to the lot of one 'Yank' to take charge of a crate of carrier pigeons for one of the officers. Always the same private was selected for the monotonous, unexciting task. It became a standing joke in the regiment, and the pigeon tender became more and more disgruntled. At last, on the eve of a battle, he again received orders to take charge of the pigeons. He could contain himself no longer. With an air of absolute resolve he walked boldly to the tent of the commanding officer and very firmly placed the crate of pigeons at the door. On the crate was a note:

"Here! take your d— birds—I am going to fight!"

More Ferocious.

"By gad!" pridefully ejaculated a prominent resident of the Rumpus Ridge region of Arkansas. "The way them American soldiers fight the Germans is a sight on earth! They are regular ring-tailed catamounts in battle, and then some!" "Uh-huh!" returned Gap Johnson. "But you ort to see my fourteen children fight amongst themselves over a sack of mixed candy when I bring it home from town for 'em!"—Kansas City Star.

The Effect.

"That officer seems to be very up-pish."
"Yes; he has just gone into the aviation corps."

PIT SILO NOW A FEED CONSERVER

In Great Plains States Under-ground Type Is Quickly Constructed and Permanent.

SILAGE IS WELL PRESERVED

Receptacle Should Last Indefinitely—Little Material Not on Average Farm Is Required—Filling Not Expensive.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The pit silo, not a makeshift if properly built, has become a permanent feed conservator on farms of the Great Plains region. It is inexpensive and quickly constructed by unskilled labor during the lull in farm work just before fall harvesting. A farmer using his own labor, obtaining sand and gravel at a small cost, and employing a homemade hoisting apparatus for lifting the silage, can build a pit silo of 150 to 180 tons capacity at a cash outlay of about $75, cement being the chief item of expenditure. As a guide to those who wish to build such silos, a publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 825, "Pit Silos" gives the details of construction and drawings illustrating the process and methods of making hoists.

Many Benefits of Silo. Properly constructed pit silos, requiring little material not already on the average farm, should last indefinitely.

One of the Simplest Types of Home-made Hoists in Use—It Consists of a Swinging Crane, a Windlass, Pulleys and Rope, and a Box of Some Sort for the Silage—If Desired the Windlass May Be Replaced by a Pulley and a Horse or Team Used to Lift the Silage.

and the upkeep is small. The cost of a masonry silo is often prohibitive in the Great Plains region because the materials must be hauled from distant railroad points. Wooden silos often weaken rapidly under the climatic conditions peculiar to this region. Pit silos cannot be blown down; silage is preserved fully as well or better than in above-ground types; the silage is never frozen; filling is a much less expensive operation; and the labor of getting silage out of the pit, which comes during the period when farm work is at pressing, is reduced by home made windlasses or pulley lifts.

As it is impracticable and even dangerous to make a pit silo in certain types of soil, a farmer should know the character of his soil before attempting to build one, department specialists say.

BIG LOSS PREVENTABLE

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It would doubtless be safe to say that we are paying out annually as a price for what amounts to national negligence grain enough to fill an elevator of 90,000,000 bushels capacity. This vast and really inexcusable toll is exacted by preventable smuts. It is a waste of sufficient wheat to supply our allies with 4,000,000 barrels of flour, and oats enough to feed 1,100,000 horses for a year. The simple and inexpensive formaldehyde treatment of seed will save most of this loss.

Mulching. Artificial watering is sometimes impossible and where this condition exists it is advisable to mulch crops of heavy top growth like peas and cauliflower.

Locate the silo near the feed lot if possible. If feeding is to be done in a barn, 5 or 6 feet, at least, should be left between the edge of the pit and the barn. Farmers' Bulletin 481, "The Use of Concrete on the Farm," and 589, "Home-made Silos," give valuable information and detailed instructions concerning the mixing, handling and reinforcing of concrete, the construction of walls, and so on.

Simple Type of Hoist. The illustration shows one of the simple types of home-made hoists in use. This device consists of a swinging crane, a windlass, pulleys and rope, and a box of some sort for the silage. A strong 4 by 6-inch piece may be used for the upright or mast, 2 by 4 or 2 by 8-inch pieces for the arm, and a 4 by 4-inch piece for the boom. Only sound timbers should be used. The windlass and the plates of iron on which the crane turns can be purchased at small cost. The upright should be braced from the top with heavy guy wires securely anchored. If desired, the windlass may be replaced by a pulley, and a horse or a team used to lift the silage. This is the common practice where large numbers of cattle are fed. The silage box after being filled and hoisted can be swung over a wagon or attached to a trolley on an overhead track, or placed upon a truck. Such a hoisting device may be placed so that it can be used to empty two or even three silos. Whatever kind of carrier for the silage is built, or purchased, it should have a trip bottom, end, or side, so that it may be unloaded easily. Other forms of hoists and overhead tracks are described and illustrated in the publication mentioned, Farmers' Bulletin 825.

HAVE YOUR TOOL BOX HANDY

Costly Delays Saved in Making Minor Repairs on Farm Machines—Make-Up of Kit.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Lack of tools and minor repair parts which belong to the tool box is responsible for many exasperating delays where farm machinery is being used. To avoid such delays have a well-equipped tool box handy. It should contain wrenches, hammers, files, a vise, and whatever other tools are necessary for taking off and putting on minor parts of the machine and making minor repairs: It should always contain a sufficient supply of bolts, nuts, keys, and nails to make sure that no time will be lost while any of these things are hunted for elsewhere. Likewise in the tool box for the thrashing outfit there should always be on hand a supply of good belt lacing, the implements for trimming the belts, punches for making the lace holes and also a supply of extra links for all the chains on the separator. Some extra lagging for covered pulleys and rivets or nails for putting it on should also be included.

SIMPLE WAY TO LIFT SHEEP

Method Outlined for Handling Animal Whenever Necessary to Carry From Field.

When it is necessary to lift or carry a sheep, the following method of handling is recommended. Stand almost to the rear, but slightly to the right of the sheep. Slip the right hand back of the right fore leg and grasp the brisket between the front legs. Lift the front of the animal slightly; then with the left hand take hold of the left hind leg just above the hock and raise the sheep against your breast.

Poultry Manure Valuable.

Poultry manure is more valuable than the manure of any other common farm animal. Its analysis shows, and is particularly well adapted to gardening. Poultry raisers should either use it on their own gardens or sell it, thus increasing the profits of their flocks.

SMUTS OF GRAIN PREVENTED

Those Most Readily Subject to Control Are Annually Destroying Wheat, Oats and Barley.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Notwithstanding the fact that many grain smuts are easily preventable, those most readily subject to control, according to reasonable conservative estimates, are annually destroying 20,000,000 bushels of wheat, upward of 50,000,000 bushels of oats and 6,000,000 bushels of barley. Prevent smut by treating seed with formaldehyde.

Take Care of Machines.

Put the machinery away in the dry when through with it. Be sure, too, that all its parts are intact. Next season will come and nothing is more annoying than to find some part of the machine missing.

Avoid Damp Grass.

Don't allow the hens to run the chicks through the damp grass on dewy mornings or rainy days.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

He who sedulously attends, pointedly asks, calmly speaks, coolly answers and ceases when he has no more to say, is in possession of some of the best requisites of man.—Lavater.

SUGARLESS SWEETS.

It is our patriotic duty to save sugar. In many of the dishes needing sweetening some other sweetener may just as well be used. Those who have never taken the trouble to care for a hive of bees are finding that one hive, if well cared for, will produce 60 or more pounds of honey, with plenty left for the bees to winter on. Honey takes the place of sugar fairly well, yet the liquid in the dish will need to be reduced one-quarter. Maple sirup is sweeter than sugar, so less is needed, while corn sirup is not as sweet and a larger amount will be necessary to properly sweeten.

Why Honey.—Boll together one cupful of whey and one-third of a cupful of honey until of the consistency of strained honey. This sirup will keep indefinitely and is fine for waffles or griddle cakes. Use a little thinner for pudding sauces.

Why Lemonade.—To a quart of whey add six tablespoonfuls of honey, the juice of two lemons and the grated rind or a sliced lemon added for extra flavor. Mix, chill and serve as a beverage. If wanted for punch add any reasonable fruit with fruit juices. Double the amount of honey and fruit juice is about the right proportion for punch.

Bar le Duo Currants.—Remove the seeds from the large cherry currants, using a darning needle. Take equal weights of currants and honey. Bring the honey to the boiling point, then add the currants and cook until the skins are tender, being careful not to destroy the shape by rapid boiling. If the fruit is so juicy that the sirup is thinned remove the currants and reduce the sirup by boiling until of the right consistency. Put into glasses and seal with paraffin.

Honey Charlotte Russe.—Chill one cupful of honey and stir it carefully into a quart of whipped cream. Line a dish with lady fingers and fill with the honey and cream. Set away to chill. Serve very cold.

Honey or maple sirup may be used in place of sugar for boiled frosting. Pour the boiling sirup over the beaten white of the egg and proceed as usual.

Fasten your soul so high, that constantly
The smile of your heroic cheer may float
Above the floods of earthly agonies.
—Mrs. Browning.

HIGHLY SEASONED DISHES.

Foods highly seasoned with condiments are called deviled food. Such dishes are popular for an appetizer, for late suppers, picnics and luncheons.

Deviled Chicken Legs.—Take the second joints and the legs of a roasting or a spring chicken, reserving the breast for salad. Divide the parts, remove the bones and tendons and flatten the pieces by striking them with a cleaver. Make incisions lengthwise in the pieces, and fill these with deviled paste, brush with melted fat and broil or fry in fat until cooked. Prepare the paste as follows: Put into a soup plate two tablespoonfuls of salad dressing, half a teaspoonful of mustard, a scant half teaspoonful of curry powder and a half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Mix and use as above. Steaks, chops or slices of cold roasts may be treated with this paste equally as well.

Deviled Ham.—Cut a moderately thick slice of cold boiled ham, make incisions on both sides of it, rub these with the deviled paste, then with butter, and broil long enough to heat through thoroughly. Serve on a hot platter with a teaspoonful of the paste spread over the ham just as it goes to the table.

Deviled Tripe.—Take well-cooked tripe that is cold, rub into it a liberal quantity of the deviled paste, brush it with sweet fat and broil to a delicate brown. When done serve with a little paste on each piece of tripe while hot.

Deviled Veal Chops.—Take thick chops and into the several gashes made with a sharp knife press as much of the paste as is needed to season each chop. Dredge with crumbs and broil as usual or fry in a little hot fat.

Deviled crabs, oysters or various fresh fish may be seasoned with the paste and cooked in hot fat, making most tasty dishes.

Neelie Maxwell
