New Land Ruling.
In all cases where homestead entries are made after November 1, 1907, commutation proofs must show actual and continuous bona fide residence for the full period of fourteen months. In all cases where the entries were made before November 1, 1907, the rule heretofore existing that six months constructive residence following the date of the entry will be considered as a part of the required fourteen months.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has also issued an order which requires the registers and receivers of all U. S. Land Offices to prepare all applications to make entries and filings on public lands when they are requested to do so by the applicants. This order will insure greater accuracy in papers of this kind, and be a saving to the applicants who have heretofore been required to have their applications prepared at their own expense.

The business men of Las Vegas are reporting the Wells-Fargo express company, this company being the only business concern in the city that refuses to accept clearing house certificates in lieu of money. Das Vegas merchants refuse to accept anything sent them by express, and ship out everything by freight.

Newspaper Man's Business.
It is the business of the newspaper man to boom the city for all it is worth month after month and then see $100 worth of printing go out of the city because 10 cents can be saved by so doing, says an exchange. It is the business of the newspaper man to give every local enterprise enthusiastic and frequent send off and then catch school because he

The fellow who is worrying over a predicted hard winter may be disappointed, says the Melrose Headlight. There are no indications yet that we will have other than the usual one; snow, then snow, again, with an ordinary snow now and then, cold, then colder, a little colder, moderate, a little more moderate, etc., until the birds begin to sing, is the kind of a winter we are probably going to have.

One of the nicest traits in man is the neighborly, social spirit. Too many nowadays are not inclined to allow his friend and his neighbor the right of opinion. Too many are hasty to condemn him if he fails to do things just as they would were they in his position. Too many are ready to condemn on the impulse of the moment without investigation. But human nature is queer and yet remains unsolved, while plant nature is thoroughly understood.

The name of Blankenship-Woodcock Mercantile Company was accidentally omitted last week in publishing the list of business men endorsing the local clearing house action.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hanna visited friends in Texico last week.

Keat Jones was in Texico last week on business.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. R. Blanch Reese.
Mrs. R. Blanch Reese, wife of George T. Reese, was born in Lafayette county, Mississippi, in 1877, died at Portales, New Mexico, Thursday, November 7, 1907, at 7:30 p. m., and was buried at the city cemetery Saturday, November 9 at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Reese was graduated from the Togo Poly, Mississippi, college at the age of 16; her parents shortly after her graduation moved to De Leon, Texas where she was married to George L. Reese April 26 1896. They came to Portales in July 1904 and Mr. Reese engaged in the practice of law.

Mrs. Reese has for the past ten years been a great sufferer and though very sick for the past two weeks her death came unexpected. In life Mrs. Reese was more than a wife and a mother and to her ability untiring zeal and almost infallible judgment, is due, largely to her success which has rewarded their efforts in building and maintaining the present lucrative legal practice. Her advice was always wise, honest and to the point, and her counsel was often of inestimable value in the solution of legal problems. She bore uncomplainingly, with the trials and vicissitudes of life and her whole heart and soul was completely bound up in her husband and children.

Mrs. Reese was possessed of many accomplishments, was kind, considerate and of a sunny disposition and enjoyed the friendship of a large circle of friends who, while sincerely sympathizing with the husband, father and children, feel, with the writer, the utter hopelessness of attempting consolation and hope for a loss that is absolute and irreparable, one which only time and the fatherly love for her children can soften and alleviate.

The funeral services were held at the city cemetery.

Ask for the Tickets

A number of the enterprising business men of New Mexico have interested themselves in giving away, absolutely free, a beautiful Diamond Ring, a Gold Watch and a Valuable Organ.

The organ is to be given to the organization receiving the greatest number of votes, and the diamond ring and the gold watch to the two individuals receiving the greatest number of votes—the one getting the greatest number get the ring and the one receiving the next highest the gold watch.

The plan is a novel one and at once commends itself to the public, there being no outlay on the part of any one other than the people who are doing this to stimulate cash trade, and at the same time bestow valuable gifts that will be a permanent advertisement to them.

A ten cent purchase entitles to one vote, 20 cents to two votes, 50 cents to five votes, $1 to 10 votes and so on. Tickets should be filled out in ink or indelible pencil and can only be had from the firms who have secured an interest in the contest, and on cash purchases. No charge whatever is made for tickets. You can vote for the organization and individual of your choice on such ticket. Each week the vote will be counted and the standing announced in the Roosevelt County Herald. A disinterested committee will be selected to count the votes.

Contest will close April 15th, 1908, at noon, at which time the organ will be awarded the organization having received the greatest number of votes, and the diamond ring and watch to the individuals having received the greatest number of votes.

The merchants interested in the affair agree, should a tie occur, to divide the amount of the prize equally among the tying contestants.

The following firms will sell you the tickets free of charge on line of goods indicated and take pleasure in explaining all about the contest:

Weak Kidneys

Causes more trouble than any other organ of the body. The function of the kidney is to separate poisonous salts and waste from the system of circulation, and to remove them and their attendant poisons from the body through the bladder. Therefore when the kidney becomes diseased and weak they are generally unable to perform their work properly, and poisons in the blood, indications of kidney and urinary disorders are the result. It is imperative that a prompt relief be obtained, which is impossible unless you remove the cause.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills promptly eliminate poisons from the system and at the same time make the kidney well and strong.

For Weak Kidneys, Backache, Irritation of the bladder and all urinary troubles, DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are unsurpassed.

AT THE MUSICALE

"A very dull week in society," said Miss Charlotte O'Mulligan, asking the reporter to be seated; "an unusually dull week."

"Wasn't there a musicale at the Scrapleighs the other afternoon?" asked the reporter, taking out his notebook.

"Just a small affair to which only a few choice people were asked. I am sorry it is out, for it embitters those who were not invited, and there were one or two left off the list who are almost as prominent socially as some of those who were there."

"Any unusual features?"

"No; just one of the same old stereotyped affairs, although, there was one slight incident which might have caused some comment among people not familiar with the customs, habits, actions, and, shall I say, mannerisms, of those who form the bone, sinew and fat of our social world, but you won't refer to it, will you?"

"Most assuredly not. What was it?"

"Honestly?"

No reporter who looks forward to one day becoming editor-in-chief ever speaks of a thing when he promises he won't," said the representative, blushing very prettily.

"It was only a trifle, anyway," continued Miss O'Mulligan. "Maj. Doodle had been serving at the punch bowl; and whenever he happened to fill a glass too full, which was done quite often, he slipped out enough punch to enable the glass to be passed without spilling. It was very polite on the major's part, and a most thoughtful thing to do, as it helped to keep the ladies' gloves dry, but you know what punch is when you haven't eaten anything for seven hours. And that reminds me, why is it so many of our best society people deliberately plan to pinch a meal at a musicale, a card party, an afternoon tea, etc.? Why, I have seen beautiful women at a reception crippled for life in the struggle to get a tomatoe sandwich away from some one else. I cannot account for it unless it is to save the price of a meal at home."

"That must be it," said the reporter, "but you were speaking of Maj. Doodle."

"Oh, yes, the major had been serving punch and in spite of his slipping had been behaving with marked circumspect until Miss Pimpel started to sing a ballad entitled 'I Want You.'"

"Was Miss Pimpel there?"

"Sure! She gets in everywhere since the Hebons took her up. Well, she was struggling with this ballad. You may have heard it; it runs something like this:—"

"I want you in the twilight
That comes at end of day.
I want you in the moonlight
When twilight fades away.
I want you to cheer me
Wherever I may go.
I want you always near me
Because I love you so-o-o-o.
I want you always near me
Because I love you so-o-o-o."

"Sweet," said the reporter, clapping his hands and breaking the point off his pencil.

"I think I hung onto that last 'so a little too long," said Miss O'Mulligan, carefully closing the piano to keep the keys from turning yellow. Then, picking up the thread of the conversation, she said: "Miss Pimpel had waded through about 17 verses of 'I Want You,' when the major, with his keen sense of humor, began to look about the dining-room for a lemon, but all the lemons that could be borrowed from the neighbors had been used in the punch, so he grabbed a grapefruit that had been put on the sideboard for effect, and, taking as careful aim as his condition would permit, he threw that grapefruit hard enough to carry it way over the second baseman's head, directly at Miss Pimpel. She must have anticipated something of the kind, for she ducked just in time, but Prof. Rustycanner, who was presiding at the piano, was not so fortunate."

"Did it get him?" broke in the reporter, seeing great possibilities in the situation.

"Did it get him?" smiled Miss O'Mulligan. "You'll tell."

"No I won't, really."

"Well, it struck him on the jaw."

"Break up the musicale!"

"Certainly not; only delayed matters for a moment, but when we were ready to go on we couldn't find Prof. Rustycanner for the longest time."

"Where was he?"

"Gone."

"I can't."

"He was under the piano eating the grapefruit."

"Well, well, he must have gone without his breakfast."

"He did."

"That's rich. I guess Prof. Rustycanner must have more real humor about him than Maj. Doodle."

"More real humor, I should say so. He has had the eczema for nearly two years."

"Gee!"—Hartford Times.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

How a Veteran Was Saved the Amputation of a Limb.

R. Frank Doremus, veteran of Roosevelt avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I had been showing symptoms of kidney trouble from the time I was mustered out of the army, but in all my life I never suffered as in 1907. Headaches, dizziness and sleeplessness, first, and then dropsy. I was weak and helpless, having run down from 180 to 125 pounds. I was having terrible pain in the kidneys, and the secretions passed almost involuntarily. My left leg swelled until it was 34 inches around, and the doctor tapped it night and morning until I could no longer stand it. I refused, and began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The swelling subsided gradually, the urine became natural, and all my pains and aches disappeared. I have been well now for nine years since using Doan's Kidney Pills."

SURELY HAD PRIZE FLY.

Money invested in Incubator Was Not All Lost.

Poultney Bigelow, the brilliant author and journalist, said the other day of the chicken farm that he is about to set up at Malden:

"I hope to succeed with this farm. I hope our experiences won't too closely resemble that of my old friend Horatio Rogers. Rash Rogers lived in the suburbs. On the suburban train one morning he said to me with a sour laugh:

"I've got something nobody else has got, Mr. Bigelow."

"Have you, Rash?" said I. "What is it?"

"Well," said Rogers, "I bought a $50 incubator last month, put $15 worth of eggs in it, and hatched out a blubottle fly."

"He frowned, then sighed."

"Yes," he said, "I've got the only $65 blubottle fly in the world."

Eczema Covered Whole Body for a Year—No Relief Until Cuticura Remedies Prove a Success.

"For a year I have had what they call eczema. I had an itching all over my body, and when I would retire for the night it would keep me awake half the night, and the more I would scratch, the more it would itch. I tried all kinds of remedies, but could get no relief."

"I used one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura, and two vials of Cuticura Resolvent Pills, which cost me a dollar and twenty-five cents in all, and am very glad I tried them, for I was completely cured. Walter W. Paglusch, 207 N. Robey St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 8 and 16, 1906."

Perfect Womanhood

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs.

Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blives," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as the great woman's remedy for woman's ills, made only of roots and herbs. It cures Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and all Organic Diseases, and is invaluable in the Change of Life. It dissolves and Expels Tumors at an early stage. Subdues Pains, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole female system. It is an excellent remedy for derangements of the Kidneys in either sex.

Creek Nation Wins Over Company
TULSA: A final decree has been signed in federal court by Judge Lawrence of the western district in the case against the Frisco Oil and Gas company of this city. The suit was brought by the Creek nation alleging fraudulent possession of a tract in this city valued at $75,000. Judgment was rendered by default in favor of the plaintiffs on September 13. This was the first case brought by the Creek nation since the appointment of Special Attorney Mott.

All Explained.

There is a little story going round the house of commons about a certain member who abstained from voting on the deceased wife's sister bill. Questioned by one of his friends as to the reason for his abstention, he replied: "Well, my dear fellow, it's just like this—my wife has a sister."—John Bull.

Insight Not Appreciated.

It's so strange that a man never appreciates the wonderful insight of a woman's mind when she refuses to believe that the street cars were blocked.

The Pain Plucker.

If a burn or a bruise afflicts you, rub it on, rub it on. Then before you scarcely know it all the trouble will be gone. For an aching joint or muscle do the same. It extracts all pains and poisons, plucks the stings and heals the lame. Hunt's Lightning Oil does it.

Marrying for Love.

Happy marriages are surely possible even in these unpoetic, hard-hearted times. They are, if the people will only follow the instinct of their better natures and marry for love—the reverent, impassioned love of the man for the maiden, the pure, unsophisticated affection of the maiden for the man—instead of bartering happiness for rank or money.—Thorne.

Drink More Water.

There are so many soothing and hygienic elements in water, just clear water, either hot or cold, that, generally speaking, the whole human race would be better for more varied, if not necessarily copious, use of it. Few persons drink enough water between meals.

This Fitty Describes That Portion of Texas Lying Between San Antonio and the Gulf.

You Can Buy a Truck and Fruit Farm of from 10 Acres to 640 Acres and Two Choice Town Lots for $210. Terms $10 a Month Without Interest. Read the Following:

Hutchinson, Kansas, March 11, 1907.
Dr. C. F. Simmons, San Antonio, Tex.
Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your favor of the 7th inst., and in answer will say that I visited the Dr. C. F. Simmons ranch in Atascosa County, Texas, on February 9th, 1907. I spent all day the 9th, and stayed all night at the Brown ranch, then rode all day the 10th over the ranch, making two full days of hard riding on horseback over this ranch.

I met Mr. Frank at Pleasanton. He has been foreman on this ranch for 18 years, and knows every foot of the land. I told him I wanted to see the poorest land on the ranch, and he directed me how to go, and after two days' hard riding I was fully satisfied with the proposition.

I saw three artesian wells, and was within three-quarters of a mile of the fourth one. I tasted the water at one of these wells and found it to be all right. It was very warm, as I understand all artesian water is when it first comes from the well. I am satisfied this well is furnishing enough water to irrigate 1,000 acres of land. It is in Headquarters ranch pasture.

I saw the soil to be from a heavy black to a dark red, and all the shades between black and red. In fact, the soil looked good to me, and I believe I know good land when I see it.

I have read carefully the printed folders and examined the little book, "New Home Sweet Home" with regard to the pictures printed in it, and will say they are all there just as natural as life.

While I did not get to see all over the ranch, I saw enough to satisfy me that it is all right. I saw the country from San Antonio via Corpus Christi to Brownsville, but like the Simmons ranch better than anything I saw in Texas.

I have invested in this Simmons proposition and am now making preparations to move there this fall, and I wish to say to my friends and all of their friends, take out at least one application. You can't go wrong. It is the garden spot of the United States.

Wishing you success, I remain,
Yours truly,
B. Q. MATHES.

CATARRH BLOOD AND SYSTEM DISORDERED

Catarrh is not merely an inflammation of the tissues of the head and throat, as the symptoms of ringing noises in the ears, mucous droppings back into the throat, continual hawking and spitting, etc., would seem to indicate; it is a blood disease in which the entire circulation and the greater part of the system are involved. Catarrh is due to the presence of an excess of uric acid in the blood. The Liver, Kidneys and Bowels frequently become torpid and dull in their action and instead of carrying off the refuse and waste of the body, leave it to sour and form uric acid in the system. This is taken up by the blood and through its circulation distributed to all parts of the system. These impurities in the blood irritate and inflame the different membranes and tissues of the body, and the contracting of a cold will start the secretions and other disgusting and disagreeable symptoms of Catarrh. As the blood goes to all parts of the body the catarrhal poison affects all parts of the system. The head has a tight, full feeling, nose continually stopped up, pains above the eyes, slight fever comes and goes, the stomach is upset and the entire system disordered and affected by this disease. It is a waste of time to try to cure Catarrh with sprays, washes, inhalations, etc. Such treatment does not reach the blood, and can, therefore, do nothing more than temporarily relieve the discomfort of the trouble. To cure Catarrh permanently the blood must be thoroughly purified and the system cleansed of all poisons, and at the same time strengthened and built up. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head, goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and makes a complete and lasting cure. S. S. S. removes every particle of the catarrhal poison from the blood, making this vital stream pure, fresh and healthy. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, the head is loosened and cleared, the hawking and spitting cease, restored. S. S. S. also tones up the stomach and digestion and acts as a fine tonic to the entire system. If you are suffering with Catarrh begin the use of S. S. S. and write us a statement of your case and our physicians will send you literature about Catarrh, and give you special medical advice without charge. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores.

WHEN THE GIRL TOLD

By ELLER VAN STONE.

The veranda conclave was in session, and the talk had turned on the question of whether or not a woman over is justified in declaring her love.

"She easily may be justified, I think," said stately Miss Dilly, fifty-five and handsome, with gray curls and rosy cheeks and lips that still smiled bewitchingly, "but she never is wise to do so. I know of a sad case of the kind.

"A girl loved a man, but was not sure—perhaps he was not sure—whether or not he loved her in return. They were splendid friends, and his tender, considerate manner might have meant almost anything. The girl loved him so well that the uncertainty was torture, only comforted by the knowledge that he had no other girl friend, let alone lover, to share the questionable devotion to her. This went on for some years.

"At last she fell ill. The doctor, in fact, told her that she had no chance of recovery. She was not altogether sorry, since the man never had spoken. By and by came the thought that now, with death so near, she could settle the problem. It would be no immodesty to speak of love now.

"So she sent for the man, who, seeing her so weak and helpless, forgot conventionality, remembered only tenderness and affection, and bent to kiss her. Then, poor thing, she was sure it had been love all along.

"She told him, all in a breath, all that she had thought, and suffered and knew, the while he chivalrously answered that he had loved her always—as he had, indeed, in a way. Yet she felt the truth—that he never had loved her. It was only friendship and liking. He was lying now to save her happiness and pride.

"She dismissed him at once, bravely keeping up the play of belief, his tale until the door had closed upon him. Then, bitterly self-contemptuous, despairing, she turned her face to the wall and tried to die."

"Well, I don't see that it mattered whether or not she told him," cried eager little Millie Simpkins, her eyes wet and shining. "Of course, it was too bad that he didn't really love her, but, after all, it would make no difference when she was dead."

Miss Dilly rose and laid her hand for a moment on the girl's head before replying. When at last she spoke again there was a new throb in her quiet tone. Perhaps she had spoken with a purpose, seeing that little Millie was allowing her regard for careless young Stone to become subject to talk among the veranda gossip.

"Ah, but you see," she said softly, "the doctor was mistaken after all, and things didn't turn out as he expected. You see, much as she longed to, the girl didn't die."—Chicago Tribune.

To Tell Pure Coffee.
Denmark is famous for its coffee, as every tourist to that fascinating country can bear witness. A Danish woman who lives in New York was speaking of coffee the other day, telling how to distinguish the various grades. She took up a cup of "café noir," and, tilting it gently, asked her vis-a-vis to examine the side of the cup closely. "It leaves a brown mark, doesn't it?" her companion remarked. "Yes, it does," the Dane replied, "and that's one good way of telling whether it is pure coffee or not. The real article always leaves this mark, even on the most delicate porcelain; your adulterated stuff doesn't. This is all right."

Being Rich and Doing Good.
Do you want a thousand a year, a two thousand a year or a ten thousand a year livelihood? And can you afford the one you want? It is a matter of taste; it is not in the least degree a question of duty, though commonly supposed so. But there is no authority for that view anywhere. It is nowhere in the Bible. It is true that we might do a vast amount of good if we were wealthy, but it is also highly improbable; not many do; and the art of growing rich is not only quite distinct from that of doing good, but the practice of the one does not at all train a man for practicing the other.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

The Loneliness of Greatness.
I sometimes think that great men suffer the greatest impoverishment in the realm of human kindness. In the first place, we are afraid of approaching them, lest our offers should seem presumptuous and impertinent. Or we think that such little ministrations as ours can never be needed, and the kindly service is withheld. Dr. Robertson Nicol has recently told us what delicate delight it gave to Ian MacIaren when anybody did him a kindness. An individual act of personal grace made his heart sing for many a day.—The Sunday Strand.

The Bitter Bit.
A certain well-known bank in Buenos Ayres has reason to be very grateful to a clerk in its employ. At two o'clock one day a well-dressed, prosperous-looking man came in, and presenting a letter of introduction, opened an account with $9,000. Just before the bank closed the same man rushed in again in a tremendous hurry. He had been called for to New York. He must catch a boat first thing in the morning, and must, therefore, draw out all his money. The clerk paid him—in his own notes, all of which were clever forgeries!

SAID TO BE SIMPLE

EASILY MIXED RECIPE FOR KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Tells Readers How to Prepare This Home-Made Mixture to Cure the Kidneys and Bladder and Rheumatism.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following:
Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered by an eminent authority, who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the affections may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

HIS MEMORY WAS GOOD.

Commodore Vanderbilt Had Not Forgotten Old Days.

The coming of age of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and the payment to her of some twelve millions of dollars inheritance has brought out a new crop of anecdotes about the Vanderbilt fortune. One of the latest illustrates the democratic spirit of the old commodore.

Sitting on the porch of a fashionable hotel at a fashionable resort on one occasion, it is related, the commodore saw a lady approaching with whom he was acquainted. His wife and daughter, who recognized her, could scarcely contain their anger when he arose and politely addressed her.

"Don't you know," said the daughter after she had gone, "that horrid woman used to sell poultry to us?"

"Yes," responded the old millionaire, "and I remember when your mother sold root beer and I peddled oysters in New Jersey."

ON A MACKEREL SCHOONER.

Daily Routine in the Life of the Gloucester Fishermen.

The routine life on a mackerel schooner is not strenuous. The crew consists of 14 men, a skipper and cook. Two men constitute a watch, one aloft as a lookout, the other at the wheel, so that each man has two hours on duty, and then 12 hours off, before his turn comes around again. During this period he may be called on to shorten sail, wash the deck or to perform other work. Half of the crew have their bunks forward with the cook, who is king of the forecastle, and the rest sleep aft with the captain. And we were assigned to a double bunk aft, where we were not troubled with galley smells, but had to be on our good behavior. All the rolls and reefs were forward. The crew ate in two shifts, the older men with the skipper.—Travel Magazine.

A Ventilation Test.

It is very hard to make an impression on those people who defend their possessions on all occasions. A lady was explaining to a visitor the many advantages of concrete hollow-block construction, of which the walls of her new home were built.

"The air spaces in the walls afford insulation against heat in summer and cold in winter," she explained. "Besides, such walls afford ventilation and insure a more healthful house."

The visitor reflected a moment, and replied:

"Our frame house must be quite as well built. Every night we lock the cat in the cellar, and have to let her out of the attic in the morning."—Youth's Companion.

TRANSFORMATIONS.

Curious Results When Coffee Drinking is Abandoned.

It is almost as hard for an old coffee toper to quit the use of coffee as it is for a whiskey or tobacco fiend to break off, except that the coffee user can quit coffee and take up Postum without any feeling of a loss of the morning beverage, for when Postum is well boiled and served with cream, it is really better in point of flavor than most of the coffee served nowadays, and to the taste of the connoisseur it is like the flavor of fine, mild Java.

A great transformation takes place in the body within ten days or two weeks after coffee is left off and Postum used, for the reason that the poison to the nerves—caffeine—has been discontinued, and in its place is taken a liquid food that contains the most powerful elements of nourishment.

It is easy to make this test and prove these statements by changing from coffee to Postum. Head "The Road to Wellville," in pgs. "There's a Reason."

As in the Olden Time.
A great sensation has been caused at Mantua, in Italy, by the discovery in real life of what reads like the lurid climax of a medieval melodrama. It appears that a young woman named Cornelia Orlandelli, 18 years old and of good family, has been immured in a lunatic asylum by her own family in order to keep her from corresponding with a young man of her own station in life.

For Inflammation

Ladies
who suffer from inflammation of the womanly organs, should be careful that they do not allow the inflammation to spread, or take fast hold, since serious disease might result, requiring, possibly, an operation.

Pain is one of the first signs of inflammation, and when it remains constant, in the back, side, hips, head, or comes back every month, your trouble is nearly certain to be inflammation, and needs prompt treatment, with Wine of Cardui.

The great popular success of Cardui, during the past half century, tells volumes as to its merit for female complaints. Thousands of letters are received, telling of its curative powers. See the following, from Mrs. Mabel Hashenbarger, of Larkin, Kas.

"Before I took Cardui I suffered greatly with inflammation. It worked on me for some years, but hadn't bothered me much, till after my marriage, when it caused me two mishaps. After that, Cardui helped me so much and I am so thankful."

Sea Trout Fattened.
A sea trout was caught at Aberdeen recently, which swam 120 miles in 49 days, and doubled its weight on the way. It was marked and put into the Coquet in Northumberland, and when recaptured at Aberdeen, its length was not increased, its rapid gain in weight being due to corpulence.

Witty Jury Verdict.
There is a lot of humor, and, besides, a splendid moral for the young business man in a verdict recently rendered by a coroner's jury.

"We, the jury, find from the physician's statement that the deceased came to his death from heart failure, superinduced by business failure, which was caused by speculative failure, which was in turn the result of failure to look ahead."

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.00 & $3.50 SHOES BEST IN THE WORLD

SHOES FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, AT ALL PRICES.

$25,000 Reward To any one who can prove to W. L. Douglas that they have a pair of his shoes that are better than any other shoes made.

THE REASON W. L. Douglas shoes are worn by twice as many people in all walks of life than any other make, is because of their excellent style, easy-fitting, and superior wearing qualities. The selection of the leathers and other materials for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making is looked after by the most complete organization of superintendents, foremen and skilled shoemakers, who receive the highest wages paid in the shoe industry, and whose workmanship cannot be excelled.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape so better, wear longer and give greater value than any other make.

CAUTION! The genuine have W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom. Beware of cheap imitations. Ask your dealer for W. L. Douglas shoes. If he cannot supply you, send direct to factory. Shoes sent everywhere by mail, including free, W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

The old Federal and Confederate soldiers of Missouri have united and formed an organization named the "Veterans of the Civil War."

Morgan, Rockefeller, et al, will go to the bottom of the sea of finance just like the other dodged know-it-alls that rock the boat to frighten the rest of the crowd. And who cares?

There is something rotten in the railroad system of eastern New Mexico. Passengers wishing to take a train are compelled to go to the depot and wait for hours for their trains. The agent can never give you any definite information when your train will arrive. We do not wish to throw any discredit on our agent here for we believe he would give the correct information were it given to him. If the people up and down the road would take this matter in hand we believe that something could be done to relieve this nuisance.

The gamblers of Portales who stand behind the roulette wheel and take a man's money when he has his eyes wide open are not to be compared with the tricky Wall Street broker who sells stocks that have no value, and who will take a bet on the price of wheat and then go help make the price. The Wall Street gambler has more money, owns palatial residence, and rides around in an automobile,—that's the only reason he's respected more. But neither one can be blamed as the man who "bites,"—who puts up his money expecting to get rich without working.

This is a Funny World.
(By William Allen White.)
Seventeen years ago the Farmers Alliance was demanding that the government lend money to farmers on their grain, in government warehouses as security. And all the world laughed. Yesterday Secretary Cortelyou went to Wall Street with his little grip sack full of money to lend, and placed it in the hands of a number of bankers who had for security something somewhat more tangible than thin air, and a little more convertible into cash than blue sky. And all the world gives a sigh of relief.

Things keep moving. This is a world of progress. The full dress spit of today was on a sheep yesterday, and will be a rag carpet tomorrow. The wild and woolly of yesterday is the threadbare of tomorrow. So when you begin to laugh at the crazy idea of today, remember your child will be throwing it aside as an outworn and outgrown obsolete notion of the dear dead past. Keep an open mind and eat plenty of fruit and you will be happy. Don't close up your mind; always keep the door of your convictions on an easy hinge. Don't be a clam. This is a funny world, and the longer you live the funnier it gets.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Eighty percent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to overindulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help. It demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Pearce & Dobbs.

NEW MEXICO NEWS SUMMARY

Town of Solano Booming.

Solano, in the extreme northeastern corner of Mora county, is an enterprising and rapidly growing town. The townsite was opened April 1, 1907, by Messrs. Chenault, Wilber and Crutcher, of Tucuman, and since that time four general stores, two hotels, two lumber yards and a meat market have been opened and several residences have been built. A postoffice was established and put in operation, with G. H. Morris in charge. The town has been made the center of a new school district, with F. M. Hughes, G. H. Morris and Barcello Garcia as directors, and preparations are being made for a school bond issue of $1,200. Over 125 children of school age are located in the new district, requiring the services of two teachers at the start. Work will be commenced on the new school house at once and it is hoped to have it ready for occupancy November 1st. It will be built of stone.

A flourishing and enterprising Commercial club has been organized, with F. M. Hughes president, S. A. Edwards treasurer and Ira F. Brady secretary. Among other organizations are the Union Sunday School Association, to supply the religious needs of the community until a regular church and pastor can be secured, a tennis club, and a ball nine. Steps are on foot for branch lodges of the Masons, Odd Fellows and Woodmen. Trustworthy assurances have been given by capitalists for the erection of a wheat elevator as soon as enough wheat is raised to justify it.

Not only is the town growing rapidly, but the surrounding country as well is fast filling up. The first claim entered by the incoming homeseekers was that of Dr. Cates, in November, 1906; since then over 700 have been entered and homeseekers are coming at the rate of twenty-five a week. That these men mean business is shown by the fact that but one relinquishment has been sold and so far as known none are for sale now.

The following crops have been raised on ground broken last fall: Alfalfa, wheat, oats, corn, kafir corn, onion, milo maize, sorghum, millet, potatoes, squashes, pumpkins, melons, peas, beans, peaches and sweet potatoes, all without irrigation.

Solano possesses a great advantage over other towns on the Dawson line, in that it has a good supply of soft water. The Dawson branch has wells, tanks and pumping station here, with water sufficient to more than supply its trains. With the aid of the growth of the town, the El Paso & Southwestern railroad has decided to put in a station and have it appointed station agent. A movement is also on foot to start a weekly paper in the town.

Taken all in all, Solano is bound to be the center of a prosperous and contented farming region.

May Be Tried on Their Merits.

Albuquerque—Judge Ira A. Abbott, sitting as presiding judge of the Second Judicial District Court, announced that he has overruled the demurrers of the defendants in the cases of the United States of America vs. the American Lumber Company and Clark M. Carr, in which it was alleged that the United States had no right or title to the land, having transferred it to the territory, and as the territory was a sovereign body it could not be used except by authorization of Congress or in the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Abbott holds that the territory is merely a trustee for the lands and that the United States does not surrender the right to demand an accounting at any time and that the territory is not a sovereign body any more than a state which can be sued in the common courts. He also gives an exhaustive resume of the timber industry from pioneer days. The opinion covers eight typewritten pages.

The decision means that these cases will now go to trial on their merits.

Soda Fountain Explodes.

Attesta, N. M.—While D. R. Scott was pumping gas into a soda fountain tank at the Pecos Valley Drug Store, the tank exploded with tremendous force, damaging the building and seriously injuring Mr. Scott.

The tank opened on the side opposite Mr. Scott and to this fact alone he probably owes his existence today. The floor was blown down and a large hole made in the side of the building. Mr. Scott received a scalp wound and several cuts and bruises, that will keep him in lay off for several days.

Improvements at Rosedale Mine.

Rosedale, N. M.—Extensive improvements are being made here by the Rosedale Gold Mining Company with the object of increasing the output of its mine. A concentrator and other machinery have been purchased and it is expected the company will be able to handle one hundred tons of ore per day in the near future. The quartz yields from $15 to $200 per ton of free gold, and becomes richer with the precious metal as depth is attained. The lead is from three to eight feet wide and the main shaft is now 600 to 700 feet.

To Repair Irish Point.

If the edge and medallions of old Irish point curtains are in good condition, though the net is much broken, they can be transferred to new net without much trouble. Get enough bobbinette or Brussels net for the new curtains, cut the desired length, allowing for hems, and put into curtain stretchers. Baste the border of Irish point onto the net, then the medallions, and stitch on by the machine.

Big Game in Pecos Range.

There is good hunting on the Pecos National forest if the right kind of a hunter will go after it. Reliable reports state that mountain lions abound and that bears are plentiful. Since July 1st seven bears have been trapped and killed, two by Dr. Cochran of New Orleans, Louisiana; two by Roderick Stoyer of Albuquerque, and three by sheep herders.

Mountain lions are too fierce and cunning and have this year escaped the hunter's rifle. They, however, have done great damage. Carcasses of fine young colts which were killed recently by them, have been found. A herd of forty-one brood mares was rounded up a few days ago and but two mare colts were found with them, although it was expected that each of them would be accompanied by a colt.

Stephen Arnold, a ranchman who lives about ten miles northwest of the Valley ranch, has offered a reward of a three-year-old horse to the hunter who kills the first mountain lion there this season, and this will be supplemented by a reward of $25 which will be paid by Harry R. Sims, manager of the Valley Ranch Company.

Complaints are also made by ranchmen that two or three of the visitors on the ranches are killing game out of season and that several deer and a number of grouse have been shot recently. The pot hunters who are violating the game laws of the territory should be discovered, arrested and punished. It is said they are men who are from the states and are visitors on the national forest. They should be made to respect the law and should be taught lessons evidently badly needed. They ought to be thankful they are allowed to visit and enjoy the magnificent scenic attractions and the fine climate and obtain recreation and health. These privileges should not be repaid with ingratitude and violations of the game laws of the territory.

San Juan County Has Apples.

Sherman Wagoner, a prominent fruit grower of Flora Vista, New Mexico, who spent yesterday in Albuquerque, said that San Juan county would come to the front in the fruit raising business at the rate of twenty-five a week. That these men mean business is shown by the fact that but one relinquishment has been sold and so far as known none are for sale now.

The following crops have been raised on ground broken last fall: Alfalfa, wheat, oats, corn, kafir corn, onion, milo maize, sorghum, millet, potatoes, squashes, pumpkins, melons, peas, beans, peaches and sweet potatoes, all without irrigation.

Solano possesses a great advantage over other towns on the Dawson line, in that it has a good supply of soft water. The Dawson branch has wells, tanks and pumping station here, with water sufficient to more than supply its trains. With the aid of the growth of the town, the El Paso & Southwestern railroad has decided to put in a station and have it appointed station agent. A movement is also on foot to start a weekly paper in the town.

Taken all in all, Solano is bound to be the center of a prosperous and contented farming region.

Laugh Is On the Jokers.

Santa Fe—"Yum-yum," "Just Married," "This Is Our Wedding Trip," "Our Clothes Are All in One Trunk," "Back to the Forest Reserve and the Tall Timber," were a few of the inscriptions on a kaily bedecked trunk which was loaded into the baggage car of the outgoing Santa Fe train this morning. If any one doubted that the trunk belonged to a newly wedded couple this doubt was dispelled by a choice collection of old shoes which completed the decorative effect.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hayes, the latter having formerly been Miss Emille A. Walter, who were quietly married here last evening, were late in reaching the station, and did not have time to check their trunk prior to their departure. Accordingly it remained in the depot over night and when it was loaded onto the train this morning, it was forwarded to their first stopping place it was a sight.

E. P. Holcombe, a special agent of the General Land Office, was the innocent victim of practical jokers, who played nuptial pranks upon him. However, it was not intentional. His trunk was mistaken for that of the bride party, and—but that's another story.

Socorro County Ranchman Killed.

San Marcial, N. M.—Evelyn Auer, a ranchman on the Jornada, thirty-five miles east of San Marcial, was killed by lightning last Friday afternoon.

With about twenty others Fuller was engaged in the roundup of cattle to fill the order for 1,700 head, recently contracted by Everett Fuller, Charles Lewis, E. W. Brown, H. Newman, E. E. Thurgood, G. W. Anderson and others for delivery to an Amarillo shipper at Ancho on the Rock Island, October 1st. The cattle were drifting before the sleet and rain and Fuller was at the head, near the corner of the horse pasture, seeking to turn them, when the bolt struck him. Death was instantaneous to both rider and horse.

A Bride's Apron.

The most serviceable piece in one's trousseau this summer were the over-all aprons given the bride by her girl friends at a linen shower. They are of prettily colored linen embroidered in white, and made to cover the dress completely from neck to hem. They are semi-fitting princess affairs, with wide kimono elbow sleeves, and button in the back with one large button.

Earned $5,000 Telling Stories to a Sick Man—and Won the Nurse

Like the Heroine of Arabian Nights, Capt. Ijams Told Stories, with Entirely Unexpected Romantic Results

Bloomington, Ill.—Scheherazade has been outdone by Capt. Lewis E. Ijams, of Illinois. The Arabian Nights are in danger of being outclassed in history, henceforth, by the Bloomington Days. The respective ancient and modern instances of the two great story-tellers run parallel, to a certain extent; but the American army veteran's continuous performance was inspired seemingly by a more sordid motive than that of the bride of the sultan of India, and had a different, though perhaps equally happy ending.

Scheherazade told her royal spouse 1,011 stories in as many nights, in order to divert him from his disagreeable habit of putting to death each morning his new bride of the day before.

Ijams spun the same number of cheerful yarns to Abram Brokaw, a millionaire plowmaker 85 years old, presumably with the object of prolonging the latter's life. But when the aged man finally succumbed at the one hundred and first side-splitter, it transpired that he had been so well entertained that he had clean forgotten to mention the said Ijams in his will or to compensate him in any substantial way for the humorous treatment so untriflingly administered, then the captain felt right mad, and he up and used the estate for $10,000—that is to say, for 1,000 prime, hand-made jokes, at ten dollars per. The extra one hundred and one Joe Millerism was thrown in gratis for good measure.

He didn't get quite the ten thousand—but that's another story, which is worth telling in some detail, together with its romantic sequel, as told by Capt. Ijams, was a bride, through playing a losing game of strategy against Cupid.

How a Fortune Was Made.

Abram Brokaw had settled in Bloomington away back in the forties when the site of the present city was nothing but a blooming prairie, as according to a New York World correspondent. He bought up land for almost nothing and lent small sums of money on likely looking farms, then foreclosed the mortgages. He also manufactured and sold plows, which no farmer, rich or poor, could do without. These enterprises, combined by the time he was old enough to have no particular use for money, so he gradually became a miser.

Like some other millionaires of our time, old man Brokaw cultivated a sense of humor and loved the society of a cheerful liar—especially when, like salvation, it was free.

He found a congenial affinity, in the funny sense, in the person of his neighbor, Capt. Lewis E. Ijams, who had a civil war record, a small pension and a reputation as the local Mark Tapley. Lewis was possessed of a prodigious memory, a fertile imagination and a vast collection of anecdotes in the line of jocose anecdotes of the vintage of 1840 and backward. He could draw upon this inexhaustible store in lots to suit any listener and keep it up indefinitely. He never had to repeat himself—or, if he did, he never told the same story twice in the same way.

Abram Brokaw loved to have Capt. Ijams drop in with a budget of button-busters, and he was such a good listener that the captain never failed to spread himself. For hours at a time the octogenarian would sit spellbound drinking in tales of early life in Illinois; many of which were contemporaneous with his own boyhood days. The habit grew upon him, and after Mrs.

Brokaw's death Capt. Ijams was invited to put in all his time with the aged widower and take up story-telling as a steady job.

He Was Made Official "Story Teller."

So Capt. Ijams accepted the position of grand vizier and raconteur-in-chief to Haroun Brokaw. No salary was mentioned in connection with the office, but Ijams figured that so long as he could make the old gentleman laugh he would have little trouble to induce him to loosen up financially. Moreover, it was a safe gamble that his stock of stories would last longer than the venerable listener, and then the latter would more than square things in his will.

Ijams started in systematically with his choice line of Chauncey M. Depew's favorites, then went on with his early Illinois legends and personal recollections of Abraham Lincoln, and finally brought up in the comparatively modern period of the civil war. By this time he would have Mr. Brokaw going so that he could read a chapter or two from the Bible, and the dear old man would chuckle delightfully over:

"Abraham begat Isaac, and Isaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat Judas and his brethren; and Judas begat Phares and Zera of Thamar; and Phares begat Esrom, and Esrom begat Aram, and Aram begat Aminadab; and so on.

The great stream of the antiques was this quotation from a Latin writer of the first century of the Christian era: "A man who fired a rock at a dog and hit his mother-in-law said, 'Not such a bad shot at that!'"

Here is a specimen from early Illinois:

"Jake Spawr was one of the three commissioners appointed to lay out the turnpike road between Chicago and Springfield. The act required that these commissioners should be sworn, but there was no official handy to perform this duty. So Jake, as a justice of the peace, administered the oath to the other two commissioners, and then raised up the lid of a shoe-box with a looking-glass inside it, and solemnly administered the oath to his reflection in the mirror, thus swearing himself in, so that he could legally help to construct the pike."

This Lincoln story was one that old man Brokaw pronounced "a bird."

"Lincoln and Douglas were traveling together by stage-coach from Lacon to Pontiac, when they got into a heated personal debate, and Lincoln more than hinted that there was a liar in their party of two, and that it wasn't himself. This meant fight. At the next stopping place the fiery Douglas pulled a pair of pistols out of his carpetbag and proposed to 'Abel' that they arbitrate their differences with cold lead. Lincoln drew himself up and said: 'I am about twice your height, and would be too easy a mark for you. To make things even, you'll have to stand further away from me than I do from you.' Douglas began to see the joke and replied: 'No, I'll tell you what we'll do. I'll mark out my size on your person, and every shot that hits outside the mark won't count.' Then they had a drink together and called the fight off."

Another warm baby was this wail from the battlefield:

"An Irish corporal was carrying a wounded comrade to the rear and did not notice when a cannon-ball whizzed by and took the poor fellow's head off. When Pat reached the ambulance with his burden the surgeon asked: 'What are you bringing in that headless corpse for?' The Irishman turned and looked at the remains and exclaimed disgustedly: 'Begob, he told me it was his leg!'"

And Ijams could at any moment throw the aged plowmaker into convulsions of laughter by repeating Josh Billings' recipe for making hock-ecake:

"Take a common or garden hoe, boil her down till she jells and then let her cake."

Day after day and week after week Capt. Ijams continued reeling off these stories, quips and cranks. The old millionaire grew feeble, but kept allive just to laugh. Since then Ijams has suspected that Mr. Brokaw was laughing at something else besides his jokes. But for two or three years everything went merrily as a marriage bell.

Speaking of marriage bells recalls the fact that old man Brokaw was decidedly of a re-marrying disposition, yet he wouldn't give in to it because he suspected that the many women who offered to be a nurse, a sister or any old companion to him were only after his money.

Had to Keep the Old Maids Away.

It was to keep these designing females at a safe distance that Miss Selma Lantz, spinster and house-keeper, was specially engaged. She got to be so busy shooting off old maids and grass widows, that Capt. Ijams had to help her. In addition to his humorous stunts, the captain for a long period acted as Miss Lantz's chief aid in protecting Abram Brokaw from the onslaught and blandishments of the female sex.

Finally, one day, as Ijams was telling Jokelet No. 1,001, about a man who slipped on a banana peel, poor Mr. Brokaw gave a loud chuckle and expired.

Capt. Ijams' grief was tempered by the thought that his long and faithful services were to be substantially rewarded.

Alas! When the last will and testament of Abram Brokaw came to probate, the name of Lewis E. Ijams was conspicuously missing from its list of legatees. That was funny, very funny! And for once the joke was on Ijams.

Miss Selma Lantz was remembered, all right, with a bequest of $1,000, over and above her wages as house-keeper.

Then the captain brought his famous suit against the Brokaw heirs. The court decided that he was entitled to some compensation, but that his claim of ten dollars per story was in excess of the regular wage-rates of the Jokesmiths' union; so he was awarded $5,050, which the Brokaw estate paid.

The captain, meanwhile, had executed a sentimental flank movement on Miss Lantz, for whose especial delectation he told his one hundred and second funny story, which was as follows:

"A girl who was besieged with admirers on shipboard, while crossing the Atlantic, asked the captain's advice. He said: 'Well, the weather is fine, and you know how to swim. Suppose you accidentally fall overboard, and then accept the young man who jumps after you.' So the girl tried it. Four of her beaux were on deck at the time, and three of them jumped, simultaneously. The fourth cautiously threw a life-preserver. When the young lady had been fished out, she sent for the captain, and said: 'What shall I do now? I can't marry the whole three.' 'Well,' responded the captain, 'I should advise you to take the dry one.'"

"Now, Selma," continued Ijams, "the moral of this story is, that lots of fellows will be jumping after you, but I'm the only dry one—dry humor, you know. You'd better take me. Will you?"

Selma saw the point, and whispered a coy "yes." They were married here and have settled down happily on their little jokefarm in McLean county.

BARGAIN SALES IN JAPAN.

Struggle to Reach Counter is Absent, But Not the Shoplifter.

Even in placid Japan they have bargain sales, but they conduct them on very different principles from the scrimmages we have over here.

An amusing American woman has embodied her experience of traveling alone in Japan in a most entertaining volume just published, whence may be gathered a description of a sale at the greatest trading house in Japan.

The goods are not hung about. They are shown to advantage in locked cases, and the heads of departments keep the keys. Remnants, however, are laid on mats, and though there is keen anxiety to secure bargains, perfect order and quiet prevail.

Babies toddle about quite comfortably; others sleep on their mother's backs.

However orderly and quiet though the Japanese bargain sale may be, it is not free from the shoplifter, and it is interesting to hear that the detective is as necessary in the Flowery Land as in England.

ONLY WOMAN RULER OF EUROPE

QUEEN WILHELMINA

PRINCE HENRY

Her Majesty Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands—tall, stately, fair-haired, eyes of blue, and clear complexion, with animated, kindly, yet resolute expression—is the only woman ruler of Europe. She is very much beloved by her subjects, and little heard of outside of her own kingdom.

Her majesty was at an early age called upon to reign over a hardy, independent and tumultuous people; but she who is a child of heroes, a descendant of William the Silent, the nation's idol, has proved herself fully equal to the task; for the queen and her subjects have the same patriotism, the same ideals and beliefs, and the same love of freedom.

It is now nine years since Queen Wilhelmina took the oath of inauguration—a ceremony equivalent to a coronation—and took the reins into her own hands, her mother having acted as queen-regent from the time of Wilhelmina's accession at ten years of age.

The palace of the Loo is a fine-looking and imposing building, standing back in a quadrangle, resplendent with gaily colored flower beds. In the rear are immense gardens, and the whole is situated in the midst of the most beautiful forest. No more charming and secluded spot for residence could be obtained, and it is no wonder that it is the favorite abode of her majesty and the Prince Consort. Here the royal couple lead a life of comparative retirement, following the respective tastes and hobbies to which they are partial. Both the exalted personages are of a particularly active disposition, and seldom indulge in idle moments.

Queen Wilhelmina gets up very early in the morning and dresses quickly; then descends to breakfast, during which she opens letters, a duty which she has not relegated to a secretary. With respect to her correspondence, Queen Wilhelmina is most conscientiously particular. She gives her earnest attention to minute details, insists on every letter being answered, and where possible grants petitions to even the poorest of her subjects. She decides quickly, and the people who are brought into personal contact with her majesty are soon rated according to their merits, for no one is a more shrewd judge of character than is the young sovereign of the Netherlands.

When her majesty was quite a young child, she was thoroughly instructed in cooking, exactly as is the usual good fashion amongst the Dutch aristocracy; so she perfectly understands what composes a good dinner, and scans the menu prepared by the chef, striking out or putting in dishes which she may or may not prefer. As she has already mentioned, her majesty's health has not been of late years exceptionally good, and the large amount of horse exercise in which she formerly delighted is now somewhat curtailed; but still, on most mornings the queen rides, accompanied by her husband or the master of the horse.

Luncheon is partaken of at a quite early hour, and in the afternoon it is given to the queen and prince to drive out together, her majesty more often than not taking the reins.

Queen Wilhelmina is naturally of a most affectionate nature, and has the happy faculty of retaining her friends, never forgetting those of her childhood's days. As a matter of fact, her two former governesses are still honored with annual invitations to the court.

Although her majesty has Russian blood in her veins on her grandmother's side, and is autocratic in some directions, yet she is democratic in others, and has an utter abhorrence of undue ceremony and statecraft. She loves the patriarchal simplicity of the inhabitants of the old Dutch villages—the costumes of which she often wears—and is fond of paying visits to such, Scheveningen more especially being honored in this respect. This is an exceedingly quaint place, within three or four miles of The Hague.

The Hague is, of course, the political capital, and in the city is the winter palace, where the majority of the court ceremonies are held. Whatever be the occasion, the company always take up their position in the ballroom or other saloon before the queen appears.

At Amsterdam, however—which is the commercial capital, and rejoices in an eight-days' court every April—the queen does not take part in the balls. She merely sits on the dias at the end of the room and watches the others.

Whatever ceremony or function her majesty may be attending in any place, she is most punctual in her coming and going, and she brings this to bear upon all her state business. She insists upon everything being placed before her regularly and punctually to be dealt with at once. She signs nothing without thoroughly understanding it, and her firm will and decided judgment have more than once brought her into conflict with her ministers; but she generally has her way, and the people say the country does not suffer in consequence.

Everyone knows that Queen Wilhelmina is much beloved by her subjects, and it only needs the birth of a son and heir to the throne to complete the satisfaction of queen and subjects alike.

MARY SPENCER WARREN.
Wachter in Bohemia.

Not so very long ago Congressman Frank C. Wachter of Maryland was delivering a speech to a select assembly of Bohemians in Baltimore. He unburdened himself of all the political fire in his supply, and then sat down amid thundering applause. The applause continued. It was plainly "up to" Mr. Wachter to respond to the encore, but he wanted to do something special. He leaned over to William Weissager, a ward leader of that end of town, and whispered:

"This applause touches me, touches me deeply. Give me a line in Bohemia, that I may thank them in their own language."

Weissager promptly delivered the line, which Mr. Wachter as promptly rehearsed. Frank always was "quick study." At the proper moment he arose and spoke the line in a voice that could be heard a mile away.

Instantly there was a mad scramble and rush for the doors. In half a jiffy the hall was empty. Wachter turned in dismay to Weissager. "For heaven's sake!" he exclaimed, hoarsely, "what have I done? Where are they going?"

Weissager reached for his hat and replied: "They're all down stairs waiting for you. You have just asked the whole house to have a drink!"—N. Y. Sun.

The Killers.
It happened that once a man ran past Socrates armed with an ax. He was in pursuit of another who was running from him at full speed.

"Stop him! Stop him!" he cried. Plato's master did not move.

"What!" cried the man with the ax; "couldn't thou not have barred his way? He is an assassin!"

HUES IN HEADGEAR

Combinations That Look Pretty in Fall and Winter Hats.

Violet is often combined with white, with gray and with certain blues. One model in white felt had its wide drooping brim bound in violet velvet of a lovely soft shade and was trimmed in three huge knots or choux of violet in three shades of violet.

Such big velvet choux in contrasting colors or several shades of one color are a trimming much favored for wide brimmed hats of moderately high crown and otherwise without trimming. Well developed, the idea is very effective and the Parisian milliners attain striking and beautiful color schemes in this way.

Great velvet panales, morning giorles, etc., are used as flowers, as they have been upon the summer hats, and one finds the summer fad for dead white flowers and foliage inclosed in velvet flowers whose blossoms and foliage are white. Big roses are still in demand, but feathers of all imaginable—and unimaginable—kinds, wide, soft ribbons of faille, satin, etc., will probably be more generally used than flowers.

Wings come under the comprehensive head of feathers and are shown in forms and colorings even handsomer than those of the spring.

Household Hints.
Egg spoons that are stained should be rubbed with damp salt before polishing.

If a bedstead creaks at each movement of the sleeper, remove the slats and wrap the ends of each in old newspapers.

Have a small horseshoe magnet fastened to the end of a tape of ribbon of sufficient length so that it can be dropped to the floor to pick up scissors and needles.

Turn your coffee mill down very tightly. Fill the hopper with granulated sugar, grind it through once or twice, or even three times, and you have an excellent powdered sugar.

To clean a carpet without taking up take a cup half full of cornmeal mixed with salt and sweep well. When spots are left take oxgall or ammonia. Both are very good things to take the carpet as bright as a new one.

Iron rust on stoves which have not been in use this summer can easily be removed by going over the parts with coarse sandpaper, afterward covering the places with hot tallow or any warm grease. The next day wash with hot soapsuds in which there is a liberal supply of kerosene. Fenders, grates and stoves can be cleaned in this manner.

Variety Cake.
Half a cup of butter, one and one-half cups of sugar, five eggs, half a cup of milk, two cups of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, quarter of a teaspoonful of nutmeg, half a cup of chopped raisins, boiled icing. Cream the butter and sugar, put in the yolks of the eggs and beat well; beat in one cup of flour and the baking powder, sifted in. Reserve (two whites of the eggs for the boiled icing; whip the other three well and fold in the butter last, add the spices and raisins, well sifted; bake one layer of this fruit part and two layers of the plain part. Put boiled icing on all the layers, and put together, with the fruit layer in the middle.—Mrs. C. Vinton Henry.

Quick and Easy Laundry Work.
You can do a morning's work in one hour and a half by following these directions:

Put 8 cents worth of borax, 5 cents worth of salts tartar, 5 cents worth of powdered ammonia, and one package of potash into five quarts of boiling water. Turn one quart of water onto the potash first and let it stand until cool, then add the rest. Let the mixture stand 24 hours, and it is ready to use. This makes enough for 20 washes.

When ready to use, take one coffee-cupful of the "Quick and Easy," shave half a cake of soap, and add them to your boilerful of clothes. Boil half an hour. A good rinsing in your bluing water is all that is necessary, unless some collar or wristband is very much soiled.—Harper's Bazar.

Savory Omelet.
Cut tender corn from two or three small ears. Take the seeds from a green sweet pepper. Mince finely half a cup of boiled ham or the same of dried beef which previously has been fried to a crisp; add a pinch of mixed herbs; salt to taste, using not so much salt if ham or dried beef is used. Beat four eggs well and add a pint of sweet milk. Mix all together and fry in oil or butter or bake ten minutes in the oven. A tablespoon of cornstarch dissolved in milk gives body to it.

Needlework Note.
A clever woman has put her knowledge of basketry to good account in the fashioning of a whisk-broom holder. This consists of two disks of basket work similar to those used for the bottom of a fancy basket and caught together at the sides by large fluffy bows of three-inch satin ribbon, the color being a delicate pink in harmony with her room furnishings. A band of ribbons of narrow width, but matching in tone, is used to suspend the holder.

Tinware.
Fasten a piece of stiff brown paper across the hole, by means of a cold water paste. Pour hot water into the pan and allow to stand awhile. No amount of scraping will remove it. The pan can be washed in hot or cold water.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

Kindness is a valuable asset in the dairy business.

In shoeing young horses be careful not to use too heavy a shoe.

Poor time to feed or water the horse when overheated. Let her stand a little time.

A pound of grain fed to a good cow will return larger profit than if fed to a steer for beef.

Don't forget to make memoranda of all interesting points concerning the season's growth and harvest.

Good sense is contagious, even from man to beast. The man with good sense generally has little use for the whip in handling his team.

Did you ever stop to think that the balky and disagreeable horses are not to the manner born but are made so by mismanagement and ill usage.

Cultivate your sense of responsibility towards those whom you supply with milk. As you value your soul do not sell an unwholesome or adulterated article.

Not enough use for a manure spreader to warrant the purchasing of one? Why not join with some of your neighbors in purchasing such a machine, and share in its use?

Scales on the farm are not as scarce as they used to be. The farmer is coming more and more to appreciate the value of weighing everything that comes on the farm as well as everything which is sold off the farm. Guessing is a losing game for the farmer.

Is the charge that farming is not a healthful occupation for women true? We are confident it is not except where the women are overworked. Every labor saving device for lessening the work of the women should be secured. Lighten her burdens as much as possible.

A New York state man claims to have discovered that grasshoppers have a value to farmers as an exterminator of bugs and pests harmful to crops. He has just made a choice assortment of these insects and proposes to cross-breed so as to finally produce a variety which will be wholly given to the high calling of a bug and pest exterminator. What do you think of that?

The pure food laws are being enforced, at least in Indiana. Out of 66 arrests for violations 55 convictions were secured and 11 cases were dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence. Violators of these laws are becoming alarmed at the firmness and persistence shown by Dr. H. E. Barnard, chief food inspector, in his efforts to enforce the protective statutes, so that offenders are growing fewer in numbers.

The balky horse is generally caused by the balky man, and the pull-back horse by a fool-man around the horse's head. A horseman suggests the following method of treatment in handling a pull-back horse: Pass the end of the tie-rope or halter over manger and tie to one fore foot so that the pull is equal on head and foot. This will prove a temporary remedy, but the only real cure is kind treatment which will win the confidence and respect of the animals. Some men are tending horses who are not fit to drive pigs.

Prof. F. B. Mumford, of Missouri experiment station, shows that tests have proved that sheep produce more meat from a pound of grain than any other farm animal. It was shown that a pound of mutton can be produced from about half as much grain as a pound of beef. Even the mortgage-lifting hog requires more grain to produce a pound of human food than the sheep. With the combination of corn and clover hay for food, and dry shed for shelter, sheep will always give good account of themselves and respond readily to the care given them.

My, how we have enjoyed our garden this year. Even four-year-old Gertrude is an ardent advocate of this household adjunct. Among the new things we tried this year was some kohlrabi, a turnip-shaped vegetable of fine flavor and which is prepared for the table much after the manner of cauliflower. We all wanted a taste even to little Gertrude when the first mess was brought on the table, and she could scarcely wait until her mother had served her. "Why," said she, as the steam from the warm vegetable rose in her face, "this isn't kohlrabi (cold) but, this is warm rabi!" And it has been warm rabi ever since in our household.

Dogs or sheep—which shall it be?

No feed so good for the horses as goods oats and bran.

Get the manure on the land before you do your fall plowing.

Take the cornstalks to market in the shape of milk and meat.

It is not what we intend to do but what we actually do which counts.

The best of the hay should have been put into the barn for the horse.

It takes manhood to run a farm, as well as brains and money, but it pays.

Cleanliness is next to Godliness and is profitable in all things, especially in dairying.

The strong demand for horses continues. Better breed a few. They will prove profitable.

The legs of the horse are sensitive and the curry comb is apt to do damage. Remove the dirt with rag or soft brush.

To be a good breeder one must be a good feeder. Good flesh and blood cannot be produced out of poor food and neglect.

Farmers should "raise cane" if its the kind they grow in the field and not the variety which is grown on the trip to the city.

Lime gives good results on land which is to be put into beets, carrots, parsnips, peas and beans, even if other fertilizers are applied.

Prof. Duggar, of Alabama, says that crimson clover will make a fair growth on soil considerably poorer than that which will grow red clover.

To be a good driving horse there must be the staying qualities which will keep her going at a reasonably fast gait for a reasonably long distance.

Cheerfulness is a good tonic, even on the farm. It is also contagious, and the cattle and the horses catch the spirit and feeling of the cheery caretaker.

There cannot be too much light and fresh air in the cow stable. There should be at least six square feet of window space for each cow. Figure out how many windows you should have in your barn.

It is poor economy to try to get along with a horse or two, less than you really need. Remember it is easy to break down a good horse and render him worthless.

Those who have predicted the passing of the horse have some time to wait yet. In every large city in the United States there are more horses in use to-day than there were ever before.

And now alfalfa comes in for trouble. It is said that bacterial blight has made its appearance in some sections. The experiment stations are making a study of the disease.

All dairy utensils should be washed daily in hot water and soda, and then scalded in clear water and drained. Boll strainer cloths. After cleaning keep utensils inverted in pure air and sun, if possible, until wanted for use.

A burlap bag ripped up one side and slipped over the rump of a cow will put her tail out of business while you are milking her and will at the same time protect her from the fly tormentors. Make one of this and try it next season.

Burn the cobs in the hog lot and keep the place clean. This method along with a good disinfectant for their quarters, will rid the feed lot of disease germs and provide charcoal for the hogs. Charcoal is much relished by the hogs and is most helpful in keeping them in a good healthy and thriving condition.

The story is told by an inspector of milk in one of the large cities of the country that he condemned a lot of cream, to which the shipper replied: "I am very much surprised that my cream was bad because it was only ten days old and had been kept in the cellar all the time and I have washed my separator once a week."

Don't be in a hurry to sell off the old horses thinking that the young ones are ready to step in and take the brunt of the work. Many farmers make the mistake of selling off early in the fall the older horses which are right off the binder and mower, and in consequence are thin in flesh, with hair bleached. But no man can get full value for his horses in such condition. They should be given a chance to recuperate. It is true that grain is high just now and that it costs money to put flesh on a horse, but the difference in price is not all contained directly in the increase of weight. Given a chance to rest up a bit, a hard-worked horse will regain his color and his spirit and his full measure of hoof, as well as meat. These are all worth money to the buyer. Some one is going to put the horse in proper condition for sale. Farmers can do this cheaper than feeders who have expensive plants to keep up and must buy all their use.

WILL TRY FOR FREE HOMES

ANADARKO: A general meeting of the homesteaders of Caddo county will be held here October 5, at which an organization will be formed for the purpose of securing free homes to the settlers of the Kiowa-Comanche reservation now embraced in the counties of Caddo, Comanche and Kiowa. An effort will be made to get a bill of this kind through congress and Scott Ferris, congressman-elect, has promised his aid.

COINED A BIG WORD.

Little One Wanted to Pick the "Underchildreable" Flowers.

When the first little granddaughter was big enough to want to pick the garden flowers, the grandparents tried every guileful means to save their pet podes from devastation. A truce was reached when it was agreed that Harriet should let the garden plants alone and pick only "children's flowers," a descriptive name bestowed at once alike on dandelions, buttercups, daisies and clovers. After this there was peace in the family. One day Katherine, the newest granddaughter, was contentedly pulling grasses while grandmother snipped off blossoms from the forget-me-nots. Katherine remembered that fresh flowers had not been gathered for the dinner table. She ran over to grandmother and promptly coined one of the longest words a four-year-old ever used. "Grandmother," she begged, "can't I pick the underchildreable flowers for dinner?"

Knew What She Wanted.

"A foreign looking woman, rather well dressed, came in the other day," said the librarian at one of the East side branches, "and asked for 'Cottage Cheese.' I supposed, of course, that some one had directed her to a dairy or perhaps a grocery, and that she had got into the wrong place. But she insisted that she was in the right place and that it was 'Cottage Cheese' that she wanted. 'It's the name of a book,' she said. 'That gave me the tip that she simply had a title mixed up, and, sure enough, it was 'Scottish Chiefs.'—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Do You Itch?

If so, you know the sensation is not an agreeable one, and hard to cure unless the proper remedy is used.

Hunt's Cure is the King of all Itch Remedies. It cures promptly any itching trouble known. No matter the name or place. One application relieves—one box is absolutely guaranteed to cure.

First Thibet Newspaper.

A report received at Peking from Chang Yingtang, the Chinese resident at Lhasa, tells of the establishment of a native newspaper, the first one ever printed in the Thibetan language.

Whether you be men or women, you will never do anything in the world without courage. It is the greatest quality of the mind, next to honor.—James Allen.

Honest labor, on any matter, deserving of toil, is certain to produce good fruit.—Caryle.
