Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and suffered from nervous-ness, headaches, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound was good for me, and since tak-ing it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

As Dirty as Possible. rom Santa Fe-Louis McKinley and Wesley Hallo-

Hundreds of young women are being trained all over the country for charity workers. Philanthropy is now recog nized as a profession, for which one needs a special education as truly as for teaching. One of the first lessons a warm-hearted woman needs in dea. ing with poverty is to distinguish dirt from misery. To one accustomed to clean surroundings, the filth in which many poor people live seems intolerable. It would entail absolute wretchedness on the visitor. But, in point of fact, the families who live embedded in dirt usualiy do so because it does not offend them. The poor woman whose senses are tortured by bad odors and foul sights manages that her rooms shall be clean, no matter how bare they may be, or how empty her cupboard and coal-bin. The friendly visitor who thinks that tidiness is a sure sign of comfort and dirty disorder an equally sure sign of extreme want will make serious mistakes in her dispensing of gifts. Said a poor woman to a sympathetic and experienced visitor, "Thank you, miss, for praising my clean room and giving me the coal order in the same breath. You aren like most of the rich folks, who think if you're too dirty to touch with a tenfoot pole you must be poor, and there's no end to what they'll give you; but if you're clean and decentno matter what it costs you-you're lucky people, who want nothing from anybody." Intelligent philanthropy looks below the surface, says the Youth's Companion, and discovers that real suffering may have a clean face and real comfort a dirty one. The helpful friend is sympathetic without being sentimental, and knows how to seek out the pain which hides itself and how to ignore the plea of those who try to appear as dirty and misera-

The laws of some states require that savings banks shall advertise the names of depositors to whose accounts no additions have been made during a specified time usually 20 years Many of these dormant accounts are never claimed. Depositors forget, or die intestate, or simply drop out of sight. The same thing happens in other counthries. Thus in 1888-9 the Panama Canal company of France made an issue of bonds having a par value of 400 francs. Although they bear no interest, several hundred bonds are re-

Black River Water Rights.

MARKS THAT TELL THE VARIOUS Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sulnst. publishes the following special livan has just finished the most complete and extensive hydrographic survey ever made in New Mexico. When | measurements of the flow of the water was taken at regular intervals, together with maps showing every ditch and irrigated field in that stream system, as well as giving the number of acres irrigated, the kind of crops ing. The choosing of the marks of raised, the condition of the soil, the alignment of the ditches, and other data that might prove of value to the court

> This suit was brought about by parties who claimed to have right to the water in this stream system, but had been deprived of it by an injunction restraining them from the use of same Claim was made that certain parties were using water in excess of their needs and that certain portions of that water belonged to them. The survey shows the amount of water used by each individual while irrigating and also proves beyond a doubt that about fifty per cent. of the water used by these parties returned to the rivers below, and thereby is available for irrigating lands still further down the river

Under the new irrigation law when water rights are in litigation all par ties having any water rights to the stream system in dispute are made partles to the suit. This is done to avoid any injustice which might result in adjusting the rights of two or more without considering all of the rights that receive their supply of water from the same stream system. In order that the court may have suffcient da's to adjust all water rights equitably the law provides that the territorial engineer shall make a complete hydrographic survey of the stream system involved and the first survey of this character under the present statute is that of Black river which has just been completed by Mr.

originates in a kind and cheery heart. not that which is born of mere excitement or gratified vanity. According to the copyright law, as interpreted by the highest court of the land, a composer has a good cause against the man who prints his music on a sheet of paper and sells it for the latter's own benefit, but none against the man who, instead of printing the paper, sticks holes in it for the notes and then sells it for phonographic reproduction. The law says one sheet of a paper is a copy and the other is not, and the answer to this legal puzzle is: What is the composer going to do about it?

HOW TO KNOW PURE PAINT.

A Way in Which it May Be identified Before Using.

After a building has been painted long enough for a weather test, it is easy to tell if the paint used was made of pure White Lead or not. But such belated knowledge comes like locking the barn after the colt is stolen. What one wants is a test that will tell the quality of the paint before it and the labor of putting it on are paid for. Nature has provided a way in which A vessel was once driven upon the genuine White Lead may be positivecoast of England. could be seen clinging to the wreck. Pure White Lead is made from me-Presently a gentleman came up with tallic lead, and, under intense heat, such as is produced by a blow-pipe. pure White Lead will resolve itself back into metallic lead. If, however, it is not genuine White Lead, or if it contains the slightest trace of adulteration, the change will not take place. Therefore the "blow-pipe" test is an absolute and final one. The National Lead Company are urging everyone interested in painting to make this test of paint before using it, and they guarantee that the pure White Lead sold under their "Dutch Boy Painter" trade-mark will always prove absolutely pure under the "blow. pipe" or any other test. To make it easy for you to perform the experiment they will send you free upon request a blow-pipe and everything neeessary for you to make the test, together with a valuable booklet on paint. ## A Breeches Stratagem.

After the battle of Ramillies had been won by the great duke of Marlborough, Lord John Hay, who commanded a regiment of Scotch dragoons, when the regiment of foot, called the King's, consisting of 1,200 men, submitted to him and surrendered their arms and colors, ordered, to prevent their running away, and the necessity of setting a strong guard over them, that every man should cut a piece out of the waistband of his breeches, which obliged them to hold them up with one hand. and in that posture they marched with a guard of only 25 dragoons and a sergeant. Charles XII. did some thing like this by the Muscovites after the battle of Narva.

both went up to the hut, only to find confidence. it deserted. "Looks like some fisherman's hut, said Ned, after looking around it.

"Guess you are right there, boy, answered the constable. "But I think semblance to the Delphic tripod .-the cattle thief has been here and has probably gotten frightened and has left the premises. I was in hopes I could 'round' him up."

Ned, too, was disappointed in not having an exciting adventure, but he felt grateful for finding his cows safe and unharmed. He drove them out to the road and home, leaving the constable at the crossroads. When Ned arrived home he turned the cows over to one of the ranchmen while he went in and got his dinner. His father was so pleased at getting the cows back that he gave Ned a holiday the next day .-- Carl H. Schulte, in Detroit Free Press.

man? This question continually crops up and it is continually being answered both ways. Certainly a widower is married-he is not a bachelor. That is one answer. Certainly, on the other hand, no matter what the man once was, he is single now. That is the other answer. Thus in all match games of single against married men games of hockey, football, baseball, cricket-the poor widower is tossed from one side to the other like a shut
