COMMITTEE RETURNS AND REPORTS FAVORABLE

CONTRACTS DRAWN AND SENT MR. RITTENHOUSE. EVERYTHING READY AND FARMERS ANXIOUS TO SIGN 12000 ACRE IRRIGATION PROPOSITION

At the largest and most enthusiastic mass-meeting yet assembled at the court house in Portales the past Saturday, the committee which had been sent to Garden City, Kansas, made their report. From every point of view the report was favorable to the closing of the proposition with The United States Sugar & Land Company. As may be known to most of our readers, Mr. Flue Anderson and Mr. C. M. Dobbs went as appointees of the citizens mass-meeting, while Messrs. Joe Howard and Dr. Lumpkins made the trip at their own expense, but with a view of getting for themselves first hand knowledge of the company we are dealing with as well as the particular kind of a plant and machinery which we are proposing to install. In addition to these four gentlemen whom all of our readers know and honor, we were fortunate enough to have with us a Reclamation Service agent in the person of a Mr. Fuller from Phoenix, Arizona who, as he clearly and quickly demonstrated was not only thoroughly acquainted with the Garden City plant of the U. S. Sugar & Land Company, but with all pumping propositions all over the United States. It is a coincidence that both this Government expert and these four citizens should have reported substantially the same things concerning our possibilities around Portales and the plant we are proposing to install and the men we are dealing with. For example, following Mr. Flue Anderson who was the first speaker, all reported substantially as follows: First, the men we are dealing with have proven themselves thoroughly trustworthy and entirely capable of fulfilling their contracts to the letter, as evidenced by the plant installed and in operation at Garden City, Kansas, as well as by the witness of all the main men and farmers connected with this plant. Second, the gas-producing engine which it is proposed to install here can and is being run at just half the expense necessary to run the ordinary steam engine and has the highest points of efficiency known to the world of machinery today.

Third, all these men—including the Government Agent, Mr. Fuller himself, testified that the plant of the United States Sugar & Land company at Garden City, gave much better satisfaction and was very much cheaper than the Government plant which is located but a few hundred yards away at the same city.

Fourth, Mr. Fuller especially insisted that, having visited and become thoroughly familiar with all the pumping propositions for irrigation, in all parts of the United States, the outlook, opportunity and possibilities of the Portales Inland Valley WAS THE BEST PROPOSITION OF THIS KIND WITHIN HIS KNOWLEDGE.

Fifth, all these men reported that irrigation by means of gasoline engines was everywhere discarded in the territory round about Garden City, Kansas, wherever it was possible to get water from the ditches of the power plant, in as much as both the cost, the time and the results were so much better.

Sixth, All reported also that land under the irrigating ditches in Kansas, no better than ours, if as good, was selling for from $60 to $125 an acre, and that most of this land was handled by renters who did not care to own the land, since they could realize far more in this way than to undertake dry-farming on land which was given them by the Government.

In addition to these things brought out by all these gentlemen, Mr. Fuller, the Government expert in pumping propositions, gave the following additional items:

First, the gas producer engine, such as is built by the Buckeye-Engine people, represents the highest efficiency yet attained in engine building; these engines doing the greatest amount of work for the least expense.

Second, it is very difficult to Clovis Has Troubles.

Last Saturday, the town of Clovis had another illustration of what the saloon means to a town. The class of people it adds to a town, the enmities it engenders, the arson and bloodshed it leads to, the cost of good name and treasure it entails and, last but not least, the brutalizing influences it brings to bear upon the minds and hearts of all the people, especially the young and unfortunate

According to the press dispatches in the Albuquerque Journal, it would seem that the trouble began with the burning of the Cashin store. We read: "At nine o'clock last night, the fire department was called to the Cashin, and extinguished a small blaze. At midnight the firemen were again called out to the same place and, after heroic work, succeeded in subduing a second fire. Still another alarm was sounded shortly after 2 o'clock. Positive that the blazes were the work of incendiaries, the fire chief and firemen made a thorough search of the store and premises, looking for clues which might lead to the detection of the guilty parties. A can of coal oil, the contents of which were flowing over the floor, was discovered while Childress was near by. It is said that it was about this time that Childress struck Skeldon with the pistol. Childress was arrested about 7:30 o'clock this morning, charged with assault with intent to kill and also with arson. Louis Lilly was also arrested at the same time. Childress was released on $3,500 bonds and Lilly on $1,500.

Later, it is said, Mr. Von Elm who is the proprietor of the White House saloon—think of that for the name of a saloon, will you!—got into an altercation with Childress about the burning of the store. Childress, it would appear, was very much stirred by the charge of arson which Von Elm had brought against him and, about six o'clock Saturday afternoon, got in his buggy and drove to the White House saloon with the full intention of killing Von Elm on sight. Some one had evidently warned Von Elm, so that when Childress drove up to the front of Von Elm's place, the latter was ready and waiting. We read:

"Both men fired three shots all of which took effect. Von Elm's knee and thigh were broken and his left hand shattered. Childress fared still worse, being shot through the right breast, the left side and hip, and dying one hour after the shooting occurred.

Von Elm, it is believed will recover. He had not been arrested up to a late hour tonight and it is doubtful whether he will be as witnesses claim that he shot in self-defense. Because of his murderous attack on Skeldon, the feeling here today against Childress was intense and threats of lynching were heard on all sides.

Childress was fifty years of age, had a wife and grown son, and also has a number of relatives living in Texas and Oklahoma. According to those who were well acquainted with Childress, he had six notches in his gun, having planted a half dozen men in his career. It is said that he was indicted for murder not more than a year ago at Dalhart, Texas, and the matter is still pending in the courts.

Does that sound like the happenings of the town of Clovis, or a town somewhere in hell? Does anyone believe that the institution which is responsible for such things as these can possibly help to build a town?

THE SALOONS PASSING.

We gather the following facts from the (Chicago) Standard's splendid summary of the progress of the anti-saloon campaign:

Some State-Wide States.

Alabama.
The prohibitory law passed by the legislature of 1907 went into effect in Alabama, January 1, 1909. Under the provisions of the local option law fifty counties had already abolished the saloon.

Arkansas.
Arkansas is almost dry, there being only 317 saloons left in the entire state. Of the seventy-nine counties, fifty-nine are completely dry. The figures on the no-license vote in the state during the last few years, indicate something of the rapid development of public sentiment. In 1894, the license majority in the state was error Cobb two years ago. North Carolina.

On May 26th, 1908, the people of North Carolina confirmed the law for state-wide prohibition passed by the legislature, by the splendid majority of over 44,000 votes. The law went into effect January 1, 1909. Up to that time, of the ninety-eight counties of the state, sixty-eight were under no-license.

Tennessee.

Little by little during recent years the saloon has been losing ground until when the late legislature convened there were but four counties in the state where saloons existed. The 1909 legislature sealed the doom of the liquor traffic in these remaining counties by passing, over the veto of the governor, a law prohibiting saloons.

North Dakota.

The prohibition constitutional amendment of North Dakota is in greater favor with the people than ever before in its history. It has been in force ever since the entrance of the state into the union, but never before have its provisions been so strictly enforced as during the past two years.

Oklahoma.

The prohibition law of Oklahoma continues to grow in favor and the results of the efforts upon the part of state officials to have the law strictly enforced have been very encouraging to the Anti-Saloon forces.

Decreased Production of Distilled Spirits.

The quantity of distilled spirits for 1907, according to the internal revenue report (168,573,913.2 gallons) produced from material other than fruit, and deposited in distillery warehouses during the fiscal year ended

For Better Schools

The thirty-eighth legislature assembly of New Mexico enacted probably what is two of the most stringent educational laws, that ever became a demand of any of the states.

One of these laws is to the effect that all children between the age of seven and fourteen years, who live in three miles of a school, must attend as long as the school is in session. If the parents of children will assist in enforcing this clause alone, the name "Illiteracy" will be stamped out in New Mexico. The substance of the other clause is: "Hereafter all districts shall have five months instead of three months school, and if there is not enough money with the district treasurer to hold same, application to the county superintendent who will make application to the territorial treasurer for the amount required which will be furnished from the public school funds."

The legislature voted $300,000 bonds for a public school fund to be used in the extension of district school terms.—Tucumcari Sun.

Savage Family Reunion

Third annual war Dance of the Savage Tribe. To be held at Big Chief Savage's tepee in August, beginning the fifth day thereof, at reservation in Roosevelt County, Territory of New Mexico, City of Elida.

All the warriors, chiefs, their squaws and papooses of above tribe, must be at the wigwam of the Big Chief Savage at above moon and Sun. The Peace Pipe will be smoked, and words of wisdom by the Medicine Man. The big feast will take place, also the watermelon feast. One day has been set aside for a journey to the village of Roswell, across the Rio Pecos, and another to the Eastern brakes of New Mexico, and the others will be intermingled with tales of the trail, hunt and a look into the depths of the hazy future. Each of the tribe bring their guns, kodaks and any other articles that will afford the redskins pleasure.

This perhaps may be the last pow-wow of a fading race, and for fear that some Brave will cross the Great Divide ere we again have the opportunity of meeting together, we urge that all be present. Go with the one thought of pleasure—banishing all thought of the offices and homes we are leaving, and try to show our love to the ones we owe it to. BIG CHIEF.

In response to the above call there is a big family reunion being held this week at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Savage. There are in attendance James J. Savage and family of Hollis, Oklahoma, William T. Savage, of Dallas, Texas, Carroll O. Savage of Brownwood, Texas, John Brownwood of Santa Anna, Texas, Mrs. Wm. H. Saunders and son, Murray, of Uvalde, Texas, besides Edgar Savage and family, Ernest Savage and family and Miss Mae Savage of this place.—Elida News.

Georgia.
State prohibition in Georgia seems to have come to stay. Public sentiment in the state has been and continues to be overwhelmingly in favor of the prohibition regime, and there seems to be no indication whatsoever of a backward step being taken by the people of that state.

Mississippi.
The state prohibition law passed by the legislature of 1908 went into effect on January 1, 1909. The going into operation of this law, however, did not greatly change the conditions throughout Mississippi, since of the seventy-six counties in the state sixty-nine were already dry under the county local option law, leaving only about 10 per cent of the entire area where saloons were allowed to exist. The governor of Mississippi is one of the strongest advocates of prohibition to be found in the state, which fact practically guarantees enforcement of the law throughout the length and breadth of the commonwealth without fear or favor.

Maine.
The late election in Maine again confirmed the confidence of the people in the prohibition law. Governor Fernald was elected upon a straight issue favoring the prohibition law, and its strict enforcement, and in spite of the fact that the man who ran against him for governor was one of the most popular men personally to be found in the state, the majority for Fernald's election was practically the same majority for the prohibition of

June 30, 1907, was greater than the quantity so produced and deposited (145,666,125.1 gallons) during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, by 22,907,788.1 gallons.

The quantity of distilled spirits for 1908, according to the internal revenue report (126,989,740.1 gallons) produced from materials other than fruit and deposited in distillery warehouses or removed to denaturing warehouses direct from cistern rooms of distilleries during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1908, is less than the quantity so produced (168,573,913.2 gallons) during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1907, by 41,584,173.1 gallons.

PLANT MORE TREES.

"Plant a tree" is the cry of a pamphlet prepared by Jacob H. Prost, city forester of Chicago, that will be ready for distribution next week. In this argument for this form of city decoration, he recites twelve reasons for the planting of trees by the city and by property owners individually. "Trees make a city more beautiful, healthier, and wealthier, and they are a source of civic pride" is the summary of these reasons, which will decorate the cover of the booklet.

Eastern cities, he says, are far in advance of Chicago in street tree planting, some of them spending from $10,000 to $40,000 a year for their forestry department. Denver last year planted 30,000 trees at the city's expense. The twelve reasons he puts forward for his cause follow: Trees are beautiful in form and color

Our little town is flourishing these days and will soon be entirely changed beyond recognition. Prospectors from various quarters of the United States are continually paying us visits and locating here.

Rev. J. R. Helm from Plainville, Kans. was with us four days last week and preached for us Sunday. Bro. Helm while here bought the J. C. Nelson and farm and donated $1200 cash to the college now being founded here. In addition to this, he bought twenty acres of land that is now being irrigated.

W. J. Willingham of Water Valley, Ky., paid us a short visit this week and bought a house and six lots. Mr. Willingham has also expressed a desire to secure seven lots adjoining those he has already bought.

J. W. Easley and brother from Eldorado, Okla., were here the first part of the week.

A. M. Baker of Runningwater, Texas, stopped with us a short while.

Mr. Spear, in company with his son and wife from Tulsa, Texas, came over through the country to visit us, and is still with us. He will invest several thousand dollars here and put two sons in college.

Rev. C. J. Menefee and Mr. Ford, with their families from Floydada, Texas, are camping with us for several days. They will probably locate with us.

M. L. Hines departed today for his home at Emory, Texas. He bought twelve lots near the college site.

Rev. H. L. Hubbard, traveling holiness evangelist from Pilot Point, Texas, is here and will remain in the college for at least one year.

Rev. J. M. Scott is here from Pearson, N. M., and will probably invest.

In Memory of Joyn Mays.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mays, last Saturday morning at one o'clock.

John Mays was a boy whom every body who knew him loved.

He was a good religious boy and when God called him to go, he said he didn't dread death, he only hated to leave his people here. While John Mays was only a boy of about 16 years in age, he was a man in many ways and his future life looked to be something great. We know that he would have been a great and good man in our community. But God knows best, and while it is our loss it is heavens gain, and father and mother, brother and sister, let's fix our aim on things greater than this world's goods, and some day when the dark cloud of death visits our home and God says good thy good and faithful servant your work has been completed, and then what a sweet pleasure we may have, and when John Mays and our many friends who has gone will greet us as we enter the pearly gates, and as it swings on its hinges of gold and we can walk on the streets of gold with the angels of heaven, what a grand time it will be.

There is an aim that never tires, When human strength gives away;

There is a love that never fails, The earthly loves decay.

Farewell, farewell to this old world of care and woe;

Like a dove on her snowy wings, to heaven I shall swiftly go;

'Tis sad to live and 'tis sad to die But 'tis so sad to us when we say good bye, A friend, ALEX HAMBY.

About Irrigation

use a three or four inch cylinder pump except you build a concrete reservoir; for the reason that the head of water is so small that you lose from 20 to 45 per cent of your water. It is better that farmers, desiring to irrigate but 40 acres or such matter either arrange with their neighbors and install 6 inch pump, each one using it certain hours in certain days; or else simply pay for larger pump and use it shorter time; for the reason that a 6 inch pump gives such a big head of water that a surface tank is unnecessary and you do not lose half your water in getting it to all your 40 acres, and it takes the farmer about one-fourth as long to do his irrigating.

Third, the topography of the country; also the fact that all the town windmills do not lower the water supply; also the test given by Mr. Humble's pump and well the past week—all these things indicate that we have a great underground river of water in the Inland Valley, that cannot be exhausted. In fact Mr. Fuller insisted that Mr. Humble's well delivered more water for the size of the pump than any he had seen tested.

Fourth, a six inch pump will put six inches of water over five acres of land in a day in spite of losses and, as corn requires but 10 to 12 inches of water to insure full crop, one man could handle over 100 acres of corn in one month, so far as his time in irrigating is concerned, and have water and time for irrigating large crops of alfalfa or orchards.

After seeing the Portales Springs and all the country round about, Mr. Fuller said: "You people ought to realize that you have here at Portales one of the greatest and best pumping propositions anywhere; and I believe it is the best I have yet seen."

CONTRACT FINISHED.

Mr. Fuller was of the greatest service to the committee which met Saturday night and finished the final draft of the contract to be sent to Mr. Rittenhouse. The contract was delivered to Mr. Detweiler who is one of the interested parties and who was not only present and addressed the mass-meeting Saturday, but was present of real help to the committee on contract during their final work Saturday night. Mr. Detweiler will deliver the contract to Mr. Rittenhouse and with him go over that important document. If they can accept it—and there is every reason to believe that they can—both will return to Portales this week and give the farmers a chance to sign up for the required acreage.

IRRIGATION AROUND AZTEC

Professor Russell Writes About His New Home

Aztec, N. M., Aug. 11, '09.

Mr. C. M. DOBBS, Portales, N. M.

Dear friend:—Your letter concerning irrigation was read while I was very busy. I have investigated but very little; however, the effect of water from ditches is visible in every direction from my home.

An irrigation plant of 7,000 acres is here in operation. This was done by home people, all money returning immediately to the town. The Animas river furnishes ample water for this project and larger ones now in process of formation. These people are in favor of such work, for results are sure as demonstrated.

The Illinois ditch is being dug above here now. The water must travel miles before any land is available—cross arroyos, mesas—must travel through concrete, over trestles, costing about $30 per acre.

Jay Turley of this place is forcing a proposition to irrigate more than a million acres of land. He has already brought this proposition to a position where capital has become interested. It is a mistake to think that money will not be brought hunting bonds in this country. Bids are not much below par, either.

Another, in which the same engineer is working now being let; 700,000 acres will be available. Mr. Turley assured me that these two propositions are sure.

Now, if you wish information on certain lines of your subject, I will investigate and let you know if you will but let me know.

We have more apples, peaches, berries, cherries, grapes, apricots, and shade than the territory can use. The large transparent apple is now being marketed.

Sincerely,
W. G. RUSSELL.

Pumping Plant for Willard

Willard, N. M., Aug. 13.—That Willard presents all the suitable conditions for the installation of an 800-horsepower electrical transmission power pumping station to supply current to pump the underflow for the irrigation of this part of the Estancia valley is the verdict of C. H. Rittenhouse of the Western Construction company of Wichita, Kansas, after a careful inspection. He says the available water supply a short distance underground is practically inexhaustible and needs only to be lifted to the surface to make this section independent of rainfall in the most severe drought.

By the working of the scheme now under consideration, the cost to the farmers for this water right will be $35 per acre. The cost of the power on a six thousand acre plant will cost 22 cents per acre foot and on an eight thousand acre plant 18 cents per acre foot. The entire cost of the plant will be about $210,000.

Irrigation Good for Dry Farmer

Portales farmers have sent a committee to Garden City, Kansas, to inspect the irrigation project at that place and to talk the proposition over with the gentlemen who are proposing to put in the pumping plant at Portales. We hope that our sister town will not meet with any delay in this irrigation proposition, for it will mean something to this end of the county even though we do not have shallow water. We can raise such crops as will not pay on irrigated lands and they will be a market for us and we for them.—Elida News.

Exchange.

Wanted to exchange Amarillo property for property in Clovis, Portales or Lubbock, Texas.

Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, in block 46 and lots 1, 2, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, in block 47 Tartar addition to Amarillo, Texas. The above 14 lots are unincumbered and lie on North Pierce and Buchanan streets just nine blocks north of Ft Worth and Denver depot—three blocks north of new Baptist church and north ward school. Rev. Jenkins recently sold a lot in 48 at $500. I offer the 14 at $500 each.

On South Polk and Taylor streets lots 16, 17, 18, also 7, 8, 9, 10, in block 11 Hand subdivision of Eakle addition.

I offer these at $750 each. They lie between 21st and 22nd streets.

FAST IRRIGATION PROJECT.

American and Mexican Capital Behind Scheme to Finance 2,000,000 Acres Project in the Lower Valley.

San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 3.—An irrigation project of gigantic proportions, calculated to water over nine million acres of the best land in the Rio Grande valley, will in the near future find realization. A number of large American and Mexican land owners are behind the undertaking and a large part of the money necessary will be furnished by the Pimental financial institutions. Jose Y. Limantour, minister of finance to Mexico, and his brother, Jukio Limantour, who owns a big body of land in the territory affected, will also aid in financing the enterprise, and so will the Terrazas syndicate in which Governor Enrique Creel of Chihuahua is largely interested. General Geronimo Trevino of Monterey, owner of about 2,000,000 acres of very fine land along the banks of the river, is also one of the promoters. The American interests are composed mostly of large colonization companies and a few large individual owners.

The dams, locks, canals and ditches needed will cost at least $22,000,000 and many months will be necessary for their construction. It is intended to dam the Rio Grande at four different points where the nature of its banks is especially favorable. The biggest dam will be located near Lajitas where the river runs in a canyon nearly a thousand feet deep. Adopting this method will mean that large quantities of water can be stored up at a minimum risk and expense and very little tillable land will be wasted in the storage of the water.

The effect this irrigation project will have on land values when it is completed will be tremendous. Similar lands below Zapata sold for from $2 to $3 an acre before they could be irrigated while today from $50 to $75 is asked and gladly paid. The present value of the land to be put under irrigation ranges from $2 to $4 on the Mexican side of the river and on the American side $5 to $8 per acre is paid.

The company formed to launch this great enterprise will have a capital stock of $50,000,000 and will be able to draw $48,000,000 gold from the Mexican treasury. A law passed several years ago provides for a subsidy of $6 per acre for any meritorious irrigation project.—Albuquerque Journal.

"PURE MARRIAGES, A GRANDER NATION."

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 11.—"Clean marriages are God-blessed marriages. Practically, Washington's 'clean marriage laws' applied generally would be the salvation of the nation. There is one thing sure, and that is that this new code will cut down business in the divorce courts and the police stations. Unhappy wedlock is nearly always the result of the marriage of those unfit. Clean wedlock means a pure citizenship, a better government, a grander nation, a mental and physical superiority that will attest our leadership among the great nations of the earth. That is what Mr. Edge's bill meant, and that is why we gave him all the support in our power."

That is the statement of an energetic young woman, beautiful, accomplished, a social leader, a girl but 23 years old, who labored tirelessly and effectively to help secure the support that put the now famous "clean marriage law" through the recent session of the legislature of the state of Washington.

She is Miss Emma Mabel Taylor of this city and she is but one of many of Seattle's women who, though having no vote, threw the tremendous power of their moral support behind Assemblyman Lester P. Edge in his fight for his clean marriage bill.

Edge won; and today only those physically and mentally and morally fit can be married in Washington.

Under the provisions of Edge's marriage law, both parties to a marriage contract must submit to an examination by a licensed physician and obtain a certificate of their physical fitness to wed, before they can secure a license.

The law goes further. It prohibits the marriage of any person, man or woman, who is a common drunkard, an habitual criminal, or weak in mind. Mental and moral fitness must be established by affidavits of responsible persons. False swearing to affidavits is made perjury and is punishable as such.

And the law goes still further. It declares that no girl under 18 years and no man under 21 years of age can marry. Even with her parents' consent no girl under 15 can wed.

The strong popular sentiment that forced the law through the legislature is still active, with the result that it is being rigidly enforced.—Albuquerque Citizen.
