BIG WATER SHOW AND CELEBRATION

August 18, 19, 20, the Date Set for the Big Celebration at Portales—The Ten Thousand Acre Pumping Irrigation Plant Now in Continual Operation.

At last the date has been arranged for the big celebration and water exhibit of the pumping plant of the Portales Irrigation Co., which has been under construction for the past six months. It will be held August 18, 19, and 20, which closing day is precisely one year from the time the contract was signed with the Western Construction Co., of Wichita, Kansas, for the installation of the plant. The first problem, after signing the contract one year ago, was the testing of the water supply. This was done at quite a cost of time and money, the test being made under the supervision of Mr. P. E. Fuller, of Phoenix, Ariz., also, the engineers of the Westinghouse Engine & Electrical Mfg. Co., and resulting in almost unheard of results,—one fourteen inch well, sunk 98 feet and pumped with crude apparatus delivering 1,400 gallons per minute on a twelve foot draw-down of water plane. Then came the subscription of the 10,000 acres of land required to secure the plant and the payment of the $3.50 an acre cash payment,—a task which was brought to a successful issue Feb. 14, 1910.

Construction work then began and was pushed on until the 19th, day of July when some 40 of the pumps were completed and turned over to the farmers who immediately turned on the life-giving waters over some six of the thousand acres included in the plant.

Meantime the construction work has gone forward and it is expected that the other parts of the plant will be completed and put into operation within 30 days.

It is now proposed to give a big celebration and water exhibit and make a splendid outing for those who want to see the largest electric pumping irrigation plant in this section of the southwest. Reduced rates have been secured on all lines from the east, north, and middle west in connection with the regular home-seekers rates, also special rates from all points in New Mexico and Texas.

WHAT THE IRRIGATION PLANT IS

The plant is an electric power plant situated in the town of Portales, from which by means of wires the power is carried out to the different tracks of land to be irrigated. On each farm, therefore, a huge pit, 6x10 feet is sunk to the first strata of water (usually about 18 feet) and from thence a 14 inch well is drilled to about 100 feet and equipped with perforated casing. In the bottom of these pits electric motors are installed on concrete foundations and directly connected to six inch centrifugal pumps. Some forty or more of these pumps are delivering from 1,200 to 1,500 gallons per minute.

SOME SPECIAL FEATURES OF THE SHOW

Among the special features of this celebration and irrigation exhibit, we mention the following:

Hearing the invited speakers who will make addresses at night during the celebration and who are as follows:—Gov. Mills, Chief Justice Wm. H. Pope, Hon. G. A. Richardson, Mr. F. G. Tracy, and

THE C. C. C. METHODS.

Pearson, N. M., Aug. 1, '10.

Editor Herald,

Portales, N. M.

Dear Sir:

Being chairman, I herein give you the manner in which the C. C. C. delegation carried on operations out here last Saturday at the precinct convention; how they proceeded to press their nefarious methods of misleading and strangling justice together with the most sacred rights of all true democracy.

First, they landed here Friday night about 11 o'clock with apparently a sufficient quantity of the worst brand of kill-me-quick whiskey that possibly could be secured. On their way here, they overtook four of our good citizens and at the gate of one of the four, they, the C. C. C. delegation, began their undermining method of electioneering by pulling out and offering to the four the "flery fluid" and requested them to vote for the C. C. C.

Some time before the convention was called to order, this C. C. C. delegation went to where one of our neighbor boys was plowing and induced him to drink of their nefarious stuff, and which, before the C. C. C.'s were out of sight, caused him to fall from his plow, and had he not been found by a neighbor, he would in all probability have suffered in the hot sun. This can be positively proven.

They then came to the convention and in a bold and brazen manner, got up and declared that Judge Compton had done more to suppress bootlegging in Portales than had any other man in the town. When Mr. Compton's morality was questioned, they made no denial, but undertook to shield or justify him by quoting the scripture—that incident where the Savior asked the woman where were her accusers. The writer is sorry to know that there is in Roosevelt county, much less in the great democratic party, men with wives and grown daughters who will fall so low in the scale of manhood as to defend and want to send to the Constitutional convention a man who has so flagrantly violated the most sacred home ties.

These C. C. C.'s also made the statement in the convention that the editor of the Herald "flew the coop" (ran away), that he had been seen taking the train shaking like an aspen leaf for fear they would catch him, and that he had been turned out of the church; all of which the writer has since learned is absolutely false.

Witnessing all of the typical western sports, including roping contests, racing, round-up scenes, broncho-busting, base ball, band music and other features of exciting interest.

Enjoying a big basket picnic dinner at Portales, Friday the 19th, when all the people of Portales Valley will come together, bringing well-filled baskets to enjoy a good day with the visitors.

An auction sale of one thousand and ten acres of irrigable land purchased in order to complete the ten thousand acres and which it is now proposed to sell to farmers at public auction.

In addition to the reduced railroad rates on all lines, there will be free automobile transportation to the irrigation plant and wells.

Every effort is being made for the convenience and comfort of the visitors and it is believed that the big water show at Portales will afford the best outing given this season in the southwest.

THE JOYCE-PRUIT CO. IN THEIR NEW HOME

Joyce-Pruit Company Are Now Established in Their New Quarters on the Southwest Corner of Square—General Store Now Open to the Entire Public.

On the 10th, day of March 1910, the Joyce-Pruit Co., with headquarters at Roswell and with large stores at Artesia, Carlsbad, Hope and other points down the Pecos Valley, bought the remnant of the Blankenship-Woodcock Mercantile Co., and formerly entered business at Portales. And while, the large and growing business that this firm gathered from the beginning was carried on in the old Blankenship-Woodcock stand, among the choicest location in town was bought by the Joyce-Pruit Co., who immediately began what has already come to be known as the Big Store of Portales. It is situated on the southwest corner of the square and occupies a space of 100 feet front by 115 feet back with a basement 50x115 feet under the grocery department. The lots cost near $7,500.00 additional. This big store, which in reality is three wholesale and retail stores in one, will carry a stock valued between $50,000 and $75,000. This firm has and will keep in its employ about a dozen persons of the best qualifications in their line. And we have no figures as to amount paid out for labor and construction work by this firm in the four months in which the building of the new quarters has been carried under the supervision of contractor, Mr. Fred Wagener. In addition to this outlay of cash investment, the Joyce-Pruit Co., has bought lots of C. W. Morris & Sons on the R. R. track where they will soon build a storage house; while Mr. Monroe personally bought various lots over town; built a splendid concrete residence and added his splendid family to the town of Portales. As a still further investment, growing out of the mercantile business launched in Portales, some members of the firm have bought about 1,700 acres of the shallow water land about Arch which they will reclaim by the installation of private pumping plants. So that, the entire investment of the Joyce-Pruit Co., in the Portales Valley has already reached up near $100,000. Surely, Portales has made no mistake in securing this largest mercantile firm in eastern New Mexico.

The new home of the Joyce-Pruit Co., is not only large and commodious, but one of the best equipped and most handsomely and adequately furnished business houses in New Mexico, or the southwest. New goods are coming in by the car load and by the end of the present week all matters of re-arrangement will be complete. The Herald congratulates the town and the surrounding country on the coming of this great mercantile company into the new and splendid quarters and wishes the firm the large measure of success they deserve.

The Joyce Pruit Co. has begun to receive their new fall stock of dry goods, having received 150 cases of the various fabrics this week.

The Latest Convention News.

Bulletin 13,113, which came to the Herald (over the grape vine) from the headquarters of the Compton-Cain Convention Combine Co., says that if nothing happens to prevent and all goes well, that Boss Compton will survive the awful shock which he received while acting in the capacity of an onlooker at the Portales Precinct Convention held last Saturday.

Who Will They Be?

One of the bitterest and dirtiest campaigns the democratic party has ever passed through is now nearing a close. Just what three men will be nominated, it is impossible to say. The convention combine candidates hit a hard row for stumps in some places last week, as for example, in Portales where Judge Compton was so sure of the delegates and where he and his gang were defeated almost to a man. In other places, by using plenty of booze and false reports about certain candidates withdrawing from the race a certain editor and preacher leaving the country and by springing false issues at the last moment, together with all the other "tricks of the trade," they were able to win a few votes from people who have not yet opened their eyes to the methods of the combine. But on the whole the combine is guessing and indeed it will surprise the Herald if any one of the combine, except the boss, has even a running chance of being nominated, and if there is no buying or trading the C. C. C. & Company will go down and out on Saturday, August 6, 1910. The boss has intimated that he may run it out with them at the polls. May be so, but the Herald is inclined to believe this intimation was born of rash feeling rather than a sober intention. At any rate whoever may be nominated, the people certainly have sufficient light on convention methods by this time so that hereafter we will dispense with the machine and "let the people rule!"

Don't Hurry Us Off!

Last week was a busy week with the great head of the convention combine. Something had to be done. His would be "scare" about the irrigation company at Portales, didn't go as he had expected it. He was afraid, too that some one, would call him on his generous offer to lend the farmers five or six thousand dollars, which, mind you, he had been just suffering to lend the farmers free of charge, only he didn't know until he began this race that any of them were, needy in the least. He had the nomination by ten votes alright, you understand, but then, — well he could use a few more votes, so he grew imaginative, and in his mind, he just saw Attorneys Reese and Mears withdraw from the race and quit, and after spreading abroad this report, especially where Reese and Mears were likely to carry the box, he had another vision. This time it was that preacher and his paper. He let his imagination soar aloft until he saw the Baptist Church at Portales rush with one accord to the support of the great head of the convention combine; call the guilty editor and pastor up and spank him for daring to speak out against the dear little innocent combine of which the best man in the town was the head; and then send him away to Arkansas. So strongly did he imagine this that he began publishing all abroad the glad tidings of good news that "that thar preacher was gone and his paper with him all fur opposin' Compton and the way he did" and that Reese and Mears were out of the race. My! but hasn't he a good imagination to conjure all that up when not a word of it was so? Now the editor is not gone yet and what is more he isn't going either. So, don't hurry us away, please. We had promised a month ago to attend the Lincoln Baptist Association which met at Alamogordo last Thursday, and we were forced to miss the fun here at Portales last Saturday, but our manager and partner was there and has told you in another column of this issue of the Herald how nicely a few of the kinks were ironed out of the convention combine's royal robes, last Saturday. Read it.

The Entering Wedge.

I love my home and its future, but oh you politics!—Judge Compton.

Such was the text of a speech in which Judge Compton sought to stay the first entering wedge into the Compton-Cain Convention-Combine Co., at the convention of the Portales precinct which was held at the court house last Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Judge Sam J. Nixon, committeeman for Portales precinct No. 1, called the meeting to order promptly at the appointed hour, and democrats from all the forks were on hand, with a liberal sprinkling of republicans and socialists and others of off-color politics who came to witness the battle of ballots.

After stating the object of the meeting and dispensing with other necessary preliminaries by Chairman Nixon, Judge G. L. Reese moved to perfect an organization for the meeting and placed in nomination Judge A. B. Seay for the chair. This was the first test of strength of the opposing elements and Judge Compton immediately rose to the floor and nominated R. M. Sanders, who declined to allow his name to go before the body! After some ineffectual parleying about the matter, and a short clinching speech from Judge H. F. Jones in which convention precedent in such matters was fully established, the vote was taken and Judge Seay was installed in the chair instantaneously. C. V. Harris was selected as secretary and the steam roller commenced to rotate and to look for victims.

The matter of the selection of six delegates to represent Portales precinct in the county convention next Saturday was the next order of business and the object of the meeting. The names of H. F. Jones, C. M. Dobbs, J. B. Priddy, Coe Howard, Jeff Hightower and Walter Brandon were then presented to the convention by Judge T. E. Mears, and Judge Compton placed in nomination Dr. J. S. Pearce, J. E. Morrison, W. W. McMinn, N. W. Clayton, J. L. Osborn and C. W. Morris. It was at this point that the steam roller's throttle was thrown wide open and after the count of the ballots, it was found that the fated wedge had entered the Compton-Cain Convention Combine Co. to the merry tune of 108 to 65 strokes. After seeing his nominations all emerge unscathed from the seething cauldron, Judge Reese then proceeded to ask the convention to instruct the delegates. Mr. Reese placed the matter before the convention in the form of a motion which was to "instruct the delegates to vote first, last and all the time against every candidate of the convention-combine affiliation," and it was at this number of the program that Judge Compton objected most, though the venerable judge himself had begun to see the great scrawling handwriting on the wall. But if there is a person in Roosevelt county who believes that the founder of this great Convention-Combine Company is without resources, he has just simply been burrowed too deep in his dug-out. The Judge determined to make one last desperate struggle to escape the impending fate. But alas! Though he arose to the full powers of tify his acts. Still maintaining his "cinching" methods, the Judge even at this late hour seemed to utterly ignore the fact that at least the theory of the game of politics is that a male person with sense enough to come in out of the rain will soberly reflect upon the matter of who shall lead the various sections of government, and then soberly, as befits a thoughtful man, cast his vote for the best of 'em, in his judgment. At last the sad reality of utter doom dawned upon the Judge and his forces; but not until the decree was passed with a whoop that the six delegates from Portales precinct be instructed to vote against every candidate who smelled like he had been riding in the Convention-Combine wagon.

At last it was seen by even Judge Compton himself that he could not hope to be honored by a people whom he had pictured in this campaign to the country districts as a people who were little better than thieves. Its banks, its great irrigation project and its other varied enterprises were all designed to rob the country people according to Judge Compton. It was this bold, bad set "might not get full and absolute power," in the matter of making nominations of delegates to the constitutional convention that Judge Compton, the only immaculate patriot(?) conceived the great convention idea, so why should Portales not be expected to receive its Defender (?) with open arms?

At last the venerable Judge was made to realize that his get-there-quick scheme, was, like other hurry-up schemes, impeded by many unexpected difficulties, and that in dealing in this matter with his home people he was face to face with an informed, intelligent citizenship, who were amply able to place the proper estimate upon his inflated ambition to represent the county in the capacity of making Jeffersonian documents.

But this was not the only wedge which was injected in the great Compton-Cain Convention-Combine Co. A part of the program of the combine has been to install the remnant of the executive committee which voted for this convention scheme as the power behind the throne for an indefinite length of time, or as some one jokingly put it, "until we have a primary," which, if the people submitted meekly to the program, meant that we might never rid ourselves of the present incumbents.

The voters of Portales precinct seemed to have a different idea about the matter, however, and Judge A. B. Seay was selected to represent the party in an executive way from these parts for the next two years, to fill the vacancy created by the expiration of the time for which Judge Sam J. Nixon was elected to serve.

MANY BEAUTIFUL GARDENS.

It has been said that half of the joy in being the owner of a garden is to have some one to admire it. If this were to be considered an asset to the truck farmer he would be more than amply repaid for his effort, especially if the exhibit was in a conspicuous section of town. There are many beautiful gardens in different parts of town and their beauty is not the only attractive feature about them—they are a source of revenue as well. To a newcomer the exhibit of all the products of the gardens is at once a convincing argument of the fertility of the soils in the Portales Valley and is a striking illustration of what intelligent toil and the combination of soil and water can accomplish. The Herald would undertake to name some of the many owners of small truck patches about the town were it not for the fear that we might possibly omit some of them inadvertently, and then of course the dickens would be to pay. However, there are many of them about the town and it is a source of real pleasure to look at them as well as to have the fruit of the plant and vine upon the table.

UNCLE WALT'S DENATURED POEM.

I blew into a clothing store, to buy a sock, and nothing more. There stood a dummy in the aisle; a wooden thing with grave smile, all dressed up in a suit of clothes, and glasses perched upon its nose. A clerk came up to wait on me; as fresh a youth as you might see. I said: "I want to buy a sock, if you have such a thing in stock." "We surely have," he said; "Is'pose you do not want a suit of clothes?" "I said a sock—no other junk." "I'd like to sell you yonder trunk; it's made of sin, with leather streaked—" "I want a sock!" I fairly shrieked; "dad bust it, sir, you let me be—I'll have that dummy wait on me! Though modeled on an awkward plan, I'll venture he's a gentleman. He will not try to sell a clock to one who's asking for a sock; he won't insult me to my nose by hinting that I'm needing clothes. He will not offer me a trunk, or any other dingdonged junk, when all I want beneath this roof is just a bolster for my hoof. The boss of these dodgast ed works should let the dummies act as clerks, and stand the clerks along the aisles, exhibiting the latest styles!"

oratory in one impassioned appeal to the audience not to heed the calumnies which had been hurled at him as the head of the great Convention-Combine Co. by his enemies, yet this heartless convention was without compassion, and though we searched the sea of faces for the briny crocodile tears, we found them not. As the Judge directed some pointed shafts at "that preacher and his paper," our memory recalled a story which we read in our youth entitled "The Last Stand of the American Buffalo." Out in the great American flatness the last remnant of the great humped herd—a huge grizzled bull—had penetrated a rugged mountain fastness and found refuge in a small enclosure which nature had hewn out in the impregnable granite rock. But what at first seemed this beast's security proved his doom. There was no outlet from this nature-made fortress to the outside fields of grass and water. Soon the meagre store of grass was consumed within the limited confine and the last great relict of the greatest American game was found perishing from famine in his last retreat. As this story flitted through our memory in dramatic panoramic colors and the Judge kept pumping for crocodile tears, we almost repented—but why so? While the flood gates of our guileless hearts were near bursting open, yet we could not but remember that the Judge was receiving his political exile by his own pet scheme, and was there not asking forgiveness for the methods which he had employed to grasp the nomination, but rather was still trying to jus-

EDITOR VISITS ALAMOGORDO.

On Thursday of last week the editor made a hurried trip over the Belen cut-off to Vaughn and thence over the El Paso & Southwestern R. R. to the little city of Alamogordo which, as most of our readers know, is situated in a rich valley among the Sacramento Mountains, one hundred miles north of El Paso and two hundred fifty miles south of Albuquerque.

PREVAILING DROUGHT.

The people in Roosevelt county believe themselves in a poor plight from the long drouth; and, in fact, at least half the county will not make a one-fourth crop and the other half will make less than half a crop on the average. As bad as this is, however, Roosevelt county is in the best condition of any county traversed between Portales and Alamogordo unless it be Curry. For apart from the irrigation project at Fort Sumner, we saw no green spot of earth after a half-dozen miles out from Clovis. The rest of the journey presented one aspect to the traveler—that of prevailing drouth and excessive heat. Not only are the farmers suffering, but the cattle and sheep men whose herds and flocks we observed by the wayside are starving and famishing. It is therefore a testing, a trying time. Some people will be forced to go away temporarily; others will be able to find work close in to their families and their homesteads; while others can no doubt arrange in some way to hold on until better times come around.

DEVELOPMENT WILL COME.

But the development of the broad acres of this unsurpassed soil situated in the most healthful climate on earth, with its abundant sunshine and its heroic people—is bound to come, sooner or later. No power on earth can prevent this people from ultimately conquering the difficulties and building here one of the grandest empires on the face of the earth.

HASTENING THE WORK.

But there are several ways in which this work can be greatly hastened. In the first place, every available inch of New Mexico soil which can be put under any kind of a system of irrigation should be reclaimed in this way as speedily as possible. Moreover, it is now as clear as day that one can hardly pay too much for water over his land provided the payments come so that he can meet them at all.

The productivity of every part of New Mexico is absolutely astonishing when water is put on it. In the Pecos Valley, in the Mimbres Valley, around Fort Sumner, in the Rio Grande Valley, in the Sacramento Valley and, indeed, in all places in New Mexico wherever water has been put upon the soil, it is impossible to adequately measure its productive possibility.

We saw a gentleman from Indiana who visited Fort Sumner week before last and bought 40 acres in alfalfa paying $148.00 per acre for it, and he informed me that it was paying the very best dividends on that price. We found lands about Alamogordo where water could be secured, when put in alfalfa bringing from $200 to $300 per acre, and when it was grown in a bearing orchard, bringing from $400 to $750 an acre. Without the water—and there is a large part of the Sacramento Valley about Alamogordo which has as yet no water on it—the land is dead, barren, fruitless and practically worthless, selling for $2.50 to $12.50 an acre where there is no water available.

TOWN OF ALAMOGORDO.

Getting off the train at Alamogordo one is struck—as at Roswell—with the beauty and charm of the oasis which it forms in the heart of the almost desert waste of the Sacramento Valley. But it has a charm and grandeur of scenic beauty and wonder not possessed by Roswell and rarely if ever surpassed in New Mexico. For in addition to endless avenues of shade trees which line the streets and beautiful parks and the young but luxuriant and well laden orchards, one looks out eastward only to be held in awe and wonder by the towering and the almost forbidding grandeur of the Sacramento mountains, seemingly at the end of the street but in fact three miles distant.

Looking southward, one can see the stately and commodious buildings of the territorial institute for the blind—the avenue to which is a mile long and is one unbroken park. Going south-east, one comes up next the mountains where he discovers the New Mexico Baptist College where a $25,000 plant has been erected and where after various vicissitudes, there seems now ready to be built a splendid Christian institution for secondary education. The teachers, the curriculum, the climate, the moral atmosphere and the solid financial basis recently attained by the trustees of this institution—all these things make it practically certain that this institution will henceforth do a high grade of real college work and be a power for good all over our territory.

Going still further to the south-east, four miles distant from town, one finds the Fraternal City Sanitarium, one of the most perfect institutions for the treatment of tuberculosis in the world. The plant has accommodations for 150 patients and is under the direction of Dr. E. T. Saltzgeber. As the climate about Alamogordo is well nigh ideal for the cure of the white plague, it is not surprising to learn that hundreds of these heroic sufferers are enabled to fight and win the battle of health and life by reason of treatment at this sanitarium.

Besides these institutions, Alamogordo has a $40,000 courthouse and jail besides the federal court building, a public library, two public school buildings, six churches—not counting the feeble Mexican organizations—and its full quart of splendid brick business blocks.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

WHAT A HEAP OF HAPPINESS IT WOULD BRING TO PORTALES HOMES
Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

"I would save much needless woe."

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys,

Many residents of this vicinity endorse them.

Mrs. G. Lensch, 110 E. Lead Ave., Albuquerque, N. M., says:

"For over a year I was subject to pains in my left side, just below my kidneys. There were swellings in that part of my body and I could not make a move without suffering. The least twist or turn caused sharp twinges and when I took cold, it always settled in my kidneys, making me feel worse than ever. In the morning on arising, my back was very painful. Finally, I was led to try Doan's Kidney Pills, after hearing that a number of my friends had taken them with success. The contents of one box completely relieved me of the pain and distress and I have had no recurrence of the trouble. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

ANTI-FLY CAMPAIGN PLANNED BY AMERICAN CIVIC ASSOCIATION.

The fly fighting committee of the American Civic Association gives these directions for an anti-fly crusade:

- Don't allow flies in your house.
- Don't permit them near your food, especially milk.
- Don't buy food stuff where flies are tolerated.
- Don't have feeding places where flies can load themselves with ejections from typhoid or dysenteric patients.
- Don't allow your fruits and confections to be exposed to the swarms of flies.
- Don't let flies crawl over the baby's mouth and swarm upon the nipple of its nursing bottle.
- Clean up your premises inside and out and then, as much as you can, see that others do the same.
- Strike at the root of the evil. The house fly breeds in horse manure, kitchen offal and the like. Dispose of these materials in such a way that the house fly cannot propagate. Screen all windows and doors and insist that your grocer, butcher, baker and every one from whom you buy food stuffs does the same.
- There is more health in a well screened house than in many a doctor's visit.

HOW TO KILL FLIES.
To clear rooms of flies, carbolic acid may be used as follows: Heat a shovel or any similar article and drop thereon twenty drops of carbolic acid. The vapor kills the flies.

A cheap and perfectly reliable fly poison, one which is not dangerous to human life, is bichromate of potassium in solution. Dissolve one dram, which can be bought at any drug store, in two ounces of water, and add a little sugar. Put some of this solution in shallow dishes, and distribute them about the house.

Sticky fly paper, traps and liquid poisons are among the things to use in killing flies, but the latest, cheapest and best is a solution of formalin or formaldehyde in water. A spoonful of this liquid, put in a quarter of a pint of water and exposed in the room, will be enough to kill all the flies.

If there are flies in the dining room, the premises are not clean. LOOK OUT; LOOK BEYOND; LOOK TO WIN SUCCESS.

You are feeling discouraged today. Nothing seems worth while.

Looking back, along the road by which you came, you see so many desert spots and so few green fields of your own sowing. You remember all you expected to do, and be and have; and you think, with bitterness, of how few of those early dreams have come true. You realize it is your fault; and perhaps you think it is the fault of others, or of fate, or circumstance.

But whatever the cause, you say it is too late to remedy the matter. And just there is where you are making one of the worst mistakes of your whole life. It is never too late.

Did you ever play a game of tennis and find yourself, while serving the ball, obliged to call out "Love Forty"?

That meant you had not made one point yet, and your opponent lacked only one to win the game. Then have you gone on, and won the game?

That happens often in the game of tennis. It happens often in the game of life, if those who are playing use the same spirited interest and are just as much as earnest as the tennis players.

Any moment your luck may change. A great opportunity may be right at your elbow now; and if you are looking down into the grave of old failures you will let it pass. Look up; look out; look beyond; look on. Men have stood further down the road of life than you stand today, surrounded by ruin of health, hope and fortune; and they have risen above it all and made success for themselves.

What others have done you can do! You have never even sounded the surface waters of your own powers. You have only skimmed along over the deeps, and your little barque was not fashioned for deep ocean exploring.

Build yourself a new strong thought ship and sail out. Build it wide, and make it secure against wind and tide. Build it of divine timber and spiritual metal.

Man it with a splendid crew named Hope, Courage, Patience, Faith, Industry and Perseverance. Put Will at the pilot wheel and sail out, sail out!

The older you are, the better; you have experience to aid you in knowing what not to do, where not to go. You have let go of so many follies and weaknesses; and there are so many temptations which assail youth that will not affect you.

If you think the time short for you to achieve more than a beginning, to go more than beyond the harbor limits, never mind; set sail. Every effort you make now, every least success you have, means a better start in the next incarnation, even if it advances you little here.

It is worth while to try. It is not worth while to give up. Turn your thoughts away from the past; look forward and set sail. New worlds of discovery and achievement await you!—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in New York Evening Journal.

RECLAIMING ABRAHAM'S COUNTRY.

The possible realization of the project for reopening the old empire of Nebuchadnezzar to civilization, a project which only recently was a dream fore-shadowed by the efforts of the Turkish government to reclaim 12,500,000 acres of waste land in northern Mesopotamia through irrigation. Given the success of the experiment, the ancient realm of Assyrian and Babylonian monarchs may be refertilized and repopulated with an industrious race and the world's old granary restored after centuries of desolation. Mesopotamia's early greatness was due to a system of irrigation canals in connection with the Tigris and Euphrates. It was by their neglect that it declined and was transformed into a sandy plain the haunt of nomad races. Within recent times the engineer and the archeologist have invaded it, the former plotting the route of the Bagdad railway which is to unite it with the western world and the latter delving in the dust-heaps which have disclosed in turn the site of Nebuchadnezzar's palace, the hall in which Belshazzar gave his feast and the very site of Babel. To reclaim it to cultivation will cost $200,000,000, and incidental to the scheme is the plan of colonizing the persecuted Russian Jews in the redeemed territory. Certainly to recreate the empire, to plant there a frugal people and to make it again a vast granary would be a notable triumph of peace.—Ex-

A RARE PHENOMENON.

F. Wellhousen, manager of Bolard farm near town, was last week exhibiting a rare curiosity which he picked up on the some time ago. A chunk of a like matter weighing 3 or 4 pounds was the object, which had fallen while hot as near the substance for feet around was singed. The specimen apparently had traces of silver and its formation along with minerals which had the appearance of copperas. Up to date we have heard of no one who could account for its presence in this vicinity or tell exactly of its composition, but after looking it we are convinced that it is a new addition to the earth's crust of matter and evidently dropped from above—or better for that matter—by Old Man or some other old guy who has been pulling off astronomical amounts of late. Next!

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by Pearce & Patterson Pharmacy.

Remember this is our Final Wind-Up Sale on all Spring and Summer Goods and all that we don't sell in this sale we will carry over until next Spring. Don't miss this great opportunity to buy your Dry Goods at less than Manufacturers Price. Just come in we will convince you that we are selling you Dry Goods at less than Wholesale Prices. The reason is this—that we bought heavy for Spring and Summer, and on the account of the continued dry weather, we find at the First of August that we have too much Spring Goods and we had rather have the money.
