Our business men are showing a commendable enterprise in putting out shade trees in front of their respective places of business. Nothing adds more to the attractiveness of a city than shade trees and since it has been demonstrated that they will grow here without irrigation, large numbers should be put out each year until all the streets of our little city are lined on either side with trees sufficient to afford shady walks and promenades.

A Story With a Moral.

Published by Request of B. B. Barr.

"On a trip north a few days ago," said editor of the Chronicle, in Aline, Woods county, "I met a boy who lived formerly in Stafford county, Kansas. He is a young man but I call him a boy as he was a boy when I first knew him. This Kansas boy lived in Oklahoma since the opening of the strip. He came here with four old horses, rope harness, partly, and aside from his team, there is, the four horses his worldly possessions probably would amount to $50.

"He made a run and asked a claim in Woods county. Hardship was before him, but he went at it with true Kansas grit. The first winter he was hard put, but jackrabbits were plentiful and he had a Zulu shotgun. The winds whistled about his dugout and the board door rocked and thumped on its leather hinges. His lullaby was a coyote's yell, but he had heard that in Kansas. He slept soundly and worked hard. In brief, he went through the same mill that every other settler in Oklahoma did who had no more capital than he, and he won out.

"One day he was offered $600 for his claim. He had never expected to be worth that much in his life. He did not take the $600 but held to his claim. A few years after he was offered $2,500 for it. He was about to take it when some question arose as to the disposal of some evergreens, or fencing. Whatever it was it prevented the sale and he found that his wealth had increased. A year ago he refused an offer of $9,000 for the farm.

This Kansas boy never tasted whiskey. Neither did he ever take a chew of tobacco or smoke a cigar. This may not seem a part of the story, but the keen mind will see the text of a sermon.

"A mile west of the Kansas boy was another young man who started on the same. He liked booze and used to gamble. He followed in the places where such habits naturally lead. He was a good farmer, and as such he farmed his land as a good farmer should and raised good crops. After his crops were harvested he would have a good time. He spent time and money about saloons and poolrooms. Gradually came financial embarrassment, and the result mortgage. Then he lost his farm under foreclosure. The farm was bought by the first Kansas boy. The other young man is now on a cheaper

Report of Grand Jury.

To the Honorable William H. Pope: April term of district court, Roosevelt county, New Mexico.

We, the grand jury have examined the county buildings. We find the court house in good condition except that the cement stone walls absorb moisture through the walls during heavy rains, and in some places the roof leaks slightly, wetting the ceiling overhead in the upper story.

We find the jail and outbuildings in good condition except that the cement stone walls of which the jail is constructed absorb moisture from rain, making the inside walls damp and unhealthy to those confined to the jail. We recommend such a coat of oil, varnish or water proof cement as will exclude all moisture. We find the cage in the jail so near the windows on the north and east as to make it possible for friends on the outside to furnish prisoners on the inside with arms or means of escape. We advise that extra heavy wire netting, fastened securely over the window outside, so far as practicable to prevent outside communication with, or aid to the prisoners.

We find the jail well kept and that the prisoners are kindly and humanly treated.

We have examined as far as our limited time would admit, the records of the county officers, and find that our limited time will not permit us to make that thorough and careful scrutiny which the importance of these matters demand.

We recommend that your Honor appoint a special committee to examine these matters fully and make a sworn statement to your Honor at such time as you deem proper.

We have performed our duty as best we could, and thank the Court, and the District Attorney, the sheriff and his deputies for their uniform courtesy, and ask to be discharged.

(Signed) C. L. CARTER, Foreman of the Grand Jury.

HENRY C. BEDINGER.

An Open Letter.

A Memorial to the United States Senate and House of Representatives:

Whereas, Hon John H. Stephens, of Texas, has introduced a bill in Congress to survey and mark the boundary lines between the Territories of New Mexico, Oklahoma and the state of Texas, which bill asks that the lines run by John H. Clark in 1859 and 60 for the 103rd meridian of longitude and for the parallels of 32 and 36: 30 degrees of north latitude be marked and established as the true boundaries, and also asks that Arthur Kelder's survey correcting said Clark's survey for the 100th meridian be marked and established as the true boundary.

Now, therefore, we, the people of New Mexico would submit the following statement of facts:

1st.—By the treaty of 1850 the United States purchased certain territory from the state of Texas, within certain stipulated boundaries, paying for said territory ten million dollars.

2d.—In June 1858 congress authorized a joint survey of the boundary lines to-wit: Beginning where the 100th meridian of longitude west of Greenwell cross Red River; north with said meridian to intersection, thence with parallel 36 deg 30'; thence west with said parallel to intersection with the 103rd meridian; thence south with said meridian to intersection with parallel 32 deg, thence west with parallel to Rio Grande river.

3d.—John H. Clark in 1859 and '60 surveyed 100th meridian and the parallels of 32 and 36-30 and also surveyed 24 miles on south end and 156 miles on north end of the 103rd meridian leaving 140 miles unsurveyed; see pages 14 to 21 Bulletin 194 by Marcus Baker which shows that Clark's work was done with poor facilities and under great difficulties as he was forced to abandon the work three several times for want of water, and finally quit without completing the same.

J. J. Majors survey in 1874 pages 25 27 of Bulletin; R. O. Chaney's survey 1881 pages 28 and 9; Levi S. Preston's survey in 1900 pages 36 to 40 show the gross error in Clark's line run for 103rd meridian, and Preston's notes show that the Texas surveyor and the Texas land office knew in 1882 of the gross error in the Clark line run for 103rd meridian.

5th.—Arthur B. Kidder's report shows that the Clark lines run for the parallels 32 and 36-30 are approximately correct and that the Clark line run for the 100th meridian is about three fourths of a mile too far to west, taking that much land from Texas, and that the line run for the 103rd meridian is more than two miles too far west at the north end and nearly four miles too far west at the south, taking from New Mexico more than a half a million acres of land.

6th.—Laws of 51st congress, 2d session, March 1891, in appropriation bill bottom of page 971 reads "and out of the sum herein appropriated for surveying the public lands the commissioner of the general land office, with the approval of the secretary of the interior, may assign a sum sufficient to complete the survey of the public land strip, otherwise known as No Man's Land, and the boundary line between said public land strip and Texas, and between Texas and New Mexico, established under act of June 5th, 1858 is hereby confirmed.

7th.—Laws of Texas legislature March 1891, pages 193 and 4 reads "Joint Resolution, S. J. R. 12, joint resolution confirming the location of the boundary lines established by the United States commissioner between No Man's Land and Texas and between Texas and New Mexico, under act of congress 1858, sec. 1st, whereas an act of congress approved June 1858 providing for commissioners to locate and mark the boundary lines between the territories of the United States and Texas.

And whereas in accordance with said act a survey was made of the boundary line between the public land strip otherwise known as "No Man's Land," and Texas, and between Texas and New Mexico, by John H. Clark, United States Commissioner, appointed under said act A. D. 1858.

And whereas it appears from said report of the said commissioner to the General Land Office at Washington, that said survey was carefully done, consuming over two years on the ground making the same.

And whereas said boundary as so located has been acquiesced in by the state of Texas and by the United States government by surveying up to it and selling the land so surveyed or parts thereof.

And whereas until recently no part of said boundary lines have ever been officially agreed upon or accepted by the general government or the state of Texas as contemplated by the act of congress authorizing the survey.

And whereas on the 4th day of March 1891, the congress of the United States confirmed the boundary lines as surveyed by the said commissioner John H. Clark between No Man's Land and Texas and between Texas and New Mexico, section 2.

And whereas the near approach of the close of the present session of the Legislature renders it unlikely that this resolution can be passed in the regular way, and the fact that there is much uncertainty as to the location of the said boundary lines creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity which requires that the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days, be suspended and the same is suspended and this resolution take effect from and after its passage and it is so enacted.

(Note.) The foregoing joint resolution originated in the senate and passed the same, vote not given and passed the House by a vote of 71 yeas and no nays.

(Note.) The foregoing joint resolution was presented to the Governor of Texas for his approval on the 25th day of March 1891 but was not signed nor sent back to the House in which it originated with his objections thereto within the time prescribed by the constitution and thereupon became a law without his signature.

This so-called confirmation by congress in March 1891, on which Mr. Stephens places so much stress was evidently smuggled into an appropriation bill unknown to congress generally and its vague terms is in striking contrast to the full and clear statement of the joint resolution of the Texas Legislature passed under the emergency clause a few days later. We forbear further comment. We do not believe that congress or the Texas people would knowingly be guilty of such unfair methods, but believe that this under-handed attempt at injustice was instigated by claimants of Texas lands near the 103 meridian.

New Mexico is virtually without representation in the national councils—only one delegate, no senator and no voice in electing the president.

For forty years she has asked and been denied admission as a state. To force this unjust settlement on her in her present defenseless condition is unworthy the great state of Texas and the glorious traditions of her past history. Give us a square deal and establish our boundary lines on the true lines as called for in the original treaty.

Another Turret Explosion.

Six Men Killed and One Dies Later From Unaccountable Powder Explosion.

Washington, April 14.—Two years later to a day than the disaster on the Missouri and, as every sailor immediately recalled, on a Friday and the 12th of the month, six men met death in the forward turret of the battleship Kearsarge by one of those accidents which acquire additional terror for sailors because of their obscure origin and almost impossibility of prevention.

The Atlantic fleet, the strongest fleet America has ever owned, has been for weeks engaged in drill in the Caribbean Sea, culminating in the quarterly target practice. This practice was just about concluding with most satisfactory results up to last Saturday and it was definitely expected at the department that all records would be broken in the matter of rapidity of fire and in efficiency of the gunners. But a cablegram came from Rear Admiral Evans telling of a dreadful accident on the Kearsarge. The news came from Calmanera, a little cable station at the mouth of Guantanamo Bay, indicating that the Kearsarge had arrived there. A slight telegraphic error, requiring the consumption of extra time to decipher the message, added to the anxiety of the case. When the message was finally reduced to form it read as follows:

"Calmanera, April 14, 1906.—Secretary of the Navy, Washington: On April 13, about 3:15 p. m., shortly after completion of target practice of Kearsarge forward turret, three sections of a 13-inch charge of powder were ignited. Charge of powder in other lift below and one section inside 13-inch remained intact. Cause not yet determined, nor accounted. Matter is being investigated. Lieut. Jos. W. Green gunnery, has been sent to the Maryland in a very critical state about 9 p. m. The since have died: Lieut. E. J. Egan, turret officer; Peter Norberg, gunner's mate; Theodore Nagley, seaman; Julian E. Koster, turret captain, first class; Ellis Hathey, seaman.

Washington, April 16.—The Navy yesterday received a telegram from Admiral Brownson, reporting that Lieut. Jos. W. Green, gunnery, who was injured in the explosion aboard the battleship Kearsarge in Cuban waters Friday is dead; that the condition of Wm. King, ordinary seaman, and Frederick T. Fisher, chief gunner's mate, is grave and that all others injured in that disaster are doing well. The death of Lieut. Green, which the dispatch says occurred Saturday, increases the death list from the disaster to seven persons in all, two of whom were commissioned officers.

Coolly Murdered His Wife.
Charleston, S. C.: Before a coroner's jury on Sullivan's Island, William Marcus coolly admitted the killing of his wife Saturday night. Mrs. Marcus was employed as housekeeper at the home of Col. Greenough, commander of Fort Moultrie, and her reputation was excellent. Marcus was seen with his wife going toward the front beach Saturday night. Later he told a negro that he had killed her.

Havana Shows Low Death Rate.
Washington: The death rate of Havana is only slightly greater than that of New York. In Havana it is 20.3 to every thousand, in New York a fraction less than 20. The fact, it will thus be seen, differs greatly from the popular notion. Another fact which dispels another delusion is that yellow fever is not the greatest enemy that Havana has, for the death rate from consumption is greater than from any other disease.

Fannin's New Cannery.
Bonham: The Bonham canning factory is now almost ready for business. A few days more of good work and the machinery and building will be ready for the crop of vegetables and fruits of 1906. The main building is two stories high and is 60x80 feet. The capacity of the factory is 7,000 to 10,000 cans per day, and there will be from 75 to 100 hands employed during each day of the running season.

Lufkin to Houston Survey.
Groveton: Surveying has been commenced for the purpose of laying out the line for the North and South Texas Railway Company. This company will be chartered in the near future and will run a line of standard gauge from Lufkin through Groveton to Houston. The enterprise is being financed by W. T. Joyce of Chicago, president of the Trinity County Lumber Company.

Cleburne: A large crowd gathered at the local park Thursday to witness the game between Cleburne and San Antonio. At 4:40 o'clock a small cyclone swooped down and wrecked the grandstand and hurt a number of people. Will Dalton had his shoulder mashed and collar bone broken and a long gash was cut in his head. A portion of the roof at the Santa Fe's roundhouse was blown off. A car was set in motion by the wind and, Car Restivo Jackson, who was under the car, was hurt inwardly.

EASTER IN NAPLES.

Sadness and Gloom Make the Ceremonies Mere Perfunctory.

Naples, April 16.—Archbishop Prisco of Naples celebrated an elaborate thanksgiving mass in the cathedral, while along the streets crowds prostrated themselves before sacred images.

The gravity of the situation has now shifted to Ottajano and San Guseppe, where the recovery of the dead from the debris goes on amid the misery of thousands of homeless refugees. A sensational development occurred during the work of salvage at Ottajano, when the searchers unearthed two aged women, still alive, but speechless, after six days' entombment. They were among the hundreds who were crushed beneath the falling walls during the rain of stones and ashes last Sunday and Monday. Hope had been abandoned of finding any of these persons alive. The women were protected by the rafters of the house which they were in and had managed to exist on a few morsels of food which they had in their pockets.

The somewhat threatening condition of Mount Vesuvius Saturday night having subsided with the ejection of enormous clouds of sand and ashes, the elements have begun to settle slowly again, enveloping the mountain in a thick haze and cutting off the view from Naples, only the outline of the base being visible.

Destroyed by an Earthquake.

Tokio: Late reports from Formosa confirm the earlier rumors of the complete destruction of Kagi by the earthquake, where seven persons were killed and thirty-five injured. At Dai-gu, 400 buildings were destroyed and at Ajensui, 1,191 buildings collapsed and 749 were damaged and three persons killed and fifteen injured. Ad-vice says that this shock was more powerful than that of March 17, but as the people had been warned they escaped.

Paris Sobera Up.

Paris: Paris wears the appearance of the post's deserted village—not a saloon open in the business district, not a solied dove in the abandoned slums, not a sport about the hotels. The ballots of the people, with the aid of the court of civil appeals at Dallas and the United States circuit court in New Orleans, have driven the forty legal saloons to other locations.

Cry of "Fire" Brings Death.

Chicago: One woman and four children are dead and over a score of women and children injured, five of whom will probably die, as a result of the false cry of fire in the Luedmurky Lohemian church, 24th street and Albany avenue, shortly after 8 o'clock while Easter festivities were in progress.

On the Hustling in Iowa.

Des Moines: In an oratorical battle, which was never equalled in Iowa, and which at the close a disturbance and a riot threatened to break out among the 1,300 assembled people of Northwestern Iowa, Gov. A. B. Cummings and Geo. Perkins Saturday afternoon introduced for the first time in Iowa the Southern way of presenting political views by the joint debate.

Lyon Talks Some More.

Houston: In a recent statement, Col. Cecil A. Lyon, Republican, boss State Chairman and National Committee man, positively denied ever receiving a letter from President Roosevelt wherein he stated he would take no more hunting trips while president. Mr. Lyon says he did say to a San Antonio reporter it was not likely the president wanted to as he felt he could not spare the time.

Barney Oldfield broke his own record for three-quarter-mile tracks at San Antonio Sunday. He did the mile in 1:07 1/5. His best time previous to this for the same distance and under similar conditions was 1:11 1/5.

A County Fair Association has been organized at Austin and a large amount of the stock sold. It is proposed to hold an old-fashioned county fair next October and make it a success as such.

Arrangements have been made for a street fair and carnival to be held at Paris from the 21st to the 28th of May.

Dan O'Leary, the professional pedestrian, who is training for a long-distance walk between New York and Chicago, covered the distance between Fort Worth and Dallas and back again Sunday in 13 hours and 5 minutes, traveling on foot.

The International and Great Northern railway Company is replacing 11 56-pound steel rails between Marlin and Waco with 75-pound rails.

R. W. Mansell, yardmaster at Hugo, I. T., was run over by a train and killed some time Sunday morning in North Hugo. Foul play is suspected. The 3-year-old girl of E. R. Stone, near Winters, fell in a pot of boiling water and was fatally burned.

Hungarian Greak.

The plans of Hungary are well adapted for the raising of geese, and travelers in that country are often entertained by seeing, from passing trains, great flocks of geese feeding in the fields and watched by gooseherds. So many feathers are yielded by these geese that four "bed-feather markets" are held annually at Ruda Pesth, and at each market from 600,000 pounds to 700,000 pounds of bed feathers are placed on sale.

Makes People Color Blind.

Electricity is fatal to the discernment of certain colors. Yellow and pink, two totally different colors, look strangely alike by electric light. Heliotrope is also like pink and subtleties of shade are quite lost in it. No light shows up shades and colors like candles did when those commodities were made of wax. All the modern artificial illuminants mix up colors and shades inextricably and electric light worst of all.

Look to the Future Lumber Supply.

The rules and regulations adopted by a large lumber company in Louisiana promise to so cut its timber that it will never be exhausted, only the surplus timber being cut and steps being taken to plant all cleared areas in young trees, so that there will always be a supply for the mills, and it would be well if this policy were generally pursued as a measure of protection against inadequate supply in the future.

Problem Easily Worked.

A man has been riding the cowcatchers of Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska trains for many weeks, his explanation being that this is the only way he can ward off fits, to which he is subject. This works out all right. The cowcatcher is to ward off cows; cows are kine; kine is German for no; No. is the abbreviation for number, and if you get the right number you have a fit. Very simple.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

A Hideos Deformity.

The railway, whatever its virtues and uses, is a hideous deformity which scars the world with wounds in the world's fairest scenes and most majestic solitudes. Its noises, its stenches, its worse crowding of the sexes even in their sleep, the frightful accidents and deaths which it causes, the tortures it entails on the animal it carries, can scarcely be colored or exaggerated.—Motorist and Traveler.

Meningitis in Animals.

Veterinary surgeons know, but the public does not, that some animals are as liable to meningitis as are human beings. Goats and horses are the principal sufferers in the dumb creation, and from them the infection may be transmitted to man. In horses, the disease is known as "hydrocephalus acutus." Of horses affected with the disease, 78 per cent die, and the remainder have a chronic tendency to relapse.—Veterinarian.

Rise Liars, And Salute Your Queen Ho All Ye Faithful Followers of Ananias GIVE EAR!

A Young Girl said to a Cooking School Teacher in New York: "If You make One Statement as False as That, All You have said about Foods is Absolutely Unreliable."

This burst of true American girl indignation was caused by the teacher saying that Grape-Nuts, the popular pre-digested food, was made of stale bread shipped in and sweetened. The teacher colored up and changed the subject. There is quite an assortment of traveling and stay-at-home members of the tribe of Ananias who tell their falsehoods for a variety of reasons. In the spring it is the custom on a cattle ranch to have a "round up," and brand the cattle, so we are going to have a "round up," and brand these cattle and place them in their proper pastures.

THIRD PASTURE.

Now we come to a frisky lot, the "Labor Union" editors. You know "Loco" is sometimes called by a steer and produces a derangement of the brain that makes the steer "batty" or crazy. Many of these editors are "Locoed" from hate of anyone who will not instantly obey the "demands" of a labor union, and it is the universal habit of such writers to go straight into a system of personal vilification, manufacturing any sort of falsehood through which to vent their spleen. We assert that the common citizen has a right to live and breathe air without asking permission of the labor trust and this has brought down on us the hate of these editors. When they go far enough with their libels, it is harsh for us to get judgment against them and have our lawyers watch for a chance to attack money due them from others? (For they are usually irresponsible.) Keep your eye out for the "Locoed" editor.

FIRST PASTURE.

Cooking school teachers—this includes "lecturers" who have applied to us for a weekly pay if they would say "something nice" about Grape-Nuts and Postum, and when we have declined to hire them to do this they get waspy and show their true colors. This also includes "demonstrators" and "lecturers" sent out by a certain Sanitarium to sell foods made there, and these people instructed by the small-be-whiskered doctor—the head of the institution—to tell these prevaricators (you can speak the stronger word if you like). This same little doctor conducts a small magazine in which there is a department of "answers to correspondents," many of the questions as well as the answers being written by the aforesaid doctor.

In this column some time ago appeared the statement: "No, we cannot recommend the use of Grape-Nuts for it is nothing but bread with glucose poured over it." Right then he showed his badge as a member of the tribe of Ananias. He may have been a member for some time before, and so he has caused these "lecturers" to descend into the ways of the tribe wherever they go. When the young lady in New York put the "iron on" to this "teacher" and branded her right we sent $10.00 to the girl for her pluck and bravery.

SECOND PASTURE.

Editors of "Trade" papers known as grocers' papers. Remember, we don't put the brand on all, by any means. Only those that require it. These members of the tribe have demanded that we carry advertising in their papers and when we do not consider it advisable they institute a campaign of vituperation and slander, printing from time to time manufactured slurs on Postum or Grape-Nuts. When they go far enough we set our legal force at work and hale them to the judge to answer. If the pace has been hot enough to throw some of these "cattle" over on their backs, feet tied and "bel-lowing," do you think we should be blamed? They gambol around with tails held high and jump stiff legged with a very "cooky" air while they have full range, but when the rope is thrown over them "it's different." Should we untie them because they bleat soft and low? Or should we put the iron on, so that people will know the brand? Let's keep them in this pasture, anyhow.

the milk to the bottom of the dish. Then this milk charged with Post Sugar is fed to the infants producing the most satisfactory results, for the baby has food that it can digest quickly and will go off to sleep well fed and contented. When baby gets two or three months old it is the custom of some mothers to allow the Grape-Nuts to soak in the milk a little longer and become mushy, whereupon a little of the food can be fed in addition to the milk containing the washed off sugar. It is by no means manufactured for a baby food, but these facts are stated as an illustration of a perfectly digestible food. It furnishes the energy and strength for the great athletes. It is in common use by physicians in their own families and among their patients, and can be seen on the table of every first-class college in the land.

We quote from the London Lancet analysis as follows: "The basis of nomenclature of this preparation is evidently an American pleasant, since 'Grape-Nuts' is derived solely from cereals. The preparatory process undoubtedly converts the food constituents into a much more digestible condition than in the raw cereal. This is evident from the remarkable solubility of the preparation, no less than one-half of it being soluble in cold water. The soluble part contains chiefly dextrin and no starch, but these facts are stated as an illustration of a perfectly digestible food. It furnishes the energy and strength for the great athletes. A PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

Many Women Suffer Daily Miseries and Don't Know the Reason. Women who are languid, suffer backache and dizzy spells, should read carefully the experience of Mrs. Laura Sullivan, Bluff and Third Sts., Marquette, Mich. "I had backache and bearing-down pain, and at times my limbs would swell to twice natural size. I could hardly get up or down stairs, and often could not get my shoes on. Beginning to use Doan's Kidney Pills I got relief before I had used half a box, but continued taking them until cured. The bloating subsided and I was well again."

Courteous Dan Lamont.

The late Daniel Scott Lamont was notably discreet in all his utterances. He was essentially a political philosopher as well. Only once in twenty-five years did a newspaper man who enjoyed his engaging friendship and confidence hear him say an ungentle word of any man. It was when an alleged Democrat attempted to impugn Grover Cleveland's financial integrity in the matter of the bond sales during Cleveland's second term. Of this man Lamont said with a depth of feeling that brought a staid calm to his staid countenance: "He's the ablest and the meanest fellow I ever met."

Gaines on the Warpath.

Congressman John Wesley Gaines went on the warpath the other afternoon against the commercial agents sent abroad by the secretary of commerce to study and report on trade conditions, with a view to advancing American foreign trade. He declared that such legislation was paternalistic and designed to afford somebody a job. "Why study conditions in order to give somebody a job?" thundered Gaines. "Why, in my district, there are 200,000 people who need a job. No. 300,000," added Gaines, hastily, for an inaccuracy or error in figures is abhorrent in his precise mind.

Sketch of Thomas F. Ryan.

In a character sketch of Thomas F. Ryan, the insurance and railroad magnate, a magazine writer has this to say of his subject: "Big, grunt, square-jawed, grim, a toiler from youth, a maker of his own way, a fighter of his own battles, grizzled by years of fierce combat with the most merciless set of foes on earth, clear and cold-visaged, sardonic of speech, a compeller of men. His eyes, level and cold, and an almost phenomenal power of mental concentration upon the matter in hand, are all that could give ground for any notion of a hypnotic suggestion in the man. In manner he is smooth and dignified, in speech he is deliberate and straightforward, positive and, above all, economical."

WAR MADE CHANGE IN STYLE.

Japanese Women No Longer Elaborately Dress Hair. "Of all her earthly possessions a Japanese woman most values her hair," writes Mrs. Hugh Fraser. "It is her crown, her veil, the mark of her womanhood, that which tells her and others what she is. The country title for the house mistress is 'O Kani San,' 'she of the honorable hair,' and next to the binding of the obi, which is the mark of modesty, nothing is of such importance as the care of the hair, few sacrifices so great as the relinquishment of the proper dressing thereof."

As for dressing her hair herself, no Japanese woman can do that, and all, except the most miserably poor, have (15 cents) a month to the hairdresser to take care of it for them. Since the beginning of the Russian war this sum has been almost universally laid aside to hand over to the war fund, and, coming regularly from millions of women, has amounted to a very respectable whole.

The result has been a curious change in the appearance of these sturdy little patriots. When I was in Japan before I hardly ever saw a woman with her hair down; now there are hundreds in the streets, their silky locks being merely turned back from the forehead with a comb, and hanging down in a beautiful mantle far below their waists."

WHAT HE DID NOT UNDERSTAND

One Ballot for Whose Presence There Was No Accounting. A few years ago there lived in Thetford, Vermont, a man by the name of Solon R. Berry, who was deputy sheriff for many years. He concluded he would like to collect the taxes. Accordingly, he supplied himself with ballots, and, on arriving at the meeting, he selected a man, by the name of Porter to help him. Taking Porter one side, he disclosed his plan, and, after bracing Porter up two or three times from the hip pocket, he gave him the watch of ballots, with instructions to distribute them at the proper time.

At last the moderator called for a ballot for collector of taxes, and, when the votes had been counted, announced that Berry had only three votes. Of course "Sol," as he was called, was disappointed. Finding Porter alone in one corner of the hall, in quite a contented state of mind, he said: "This did not turn out as I expected."

"Neither did it as I expected," said Porter. "There is something about it I don't understand," said "Sol." "That is just the fix I am in," said Porter; "you voted for yourself, and I voted for you. That makes two votes. What I can't understand is where did that other vote come from."

Thief Who Robbed Himself. In Moscow the other day a civil servant was making his cautious way home when he was suddenly seized by an armed hooligan, who demanded his money. "I—I," stammered the hapless civil servant, "have only my watch, but it is good and of gold. Will that do?"

"I suppose it must," growled the hooligan, who took the watch and released the owner. Presently, however, he again overtook his prey to demand his coat. "But it's so cold," objected the civil servant.

"You can have mine instead," replied the hooligan. "It's threadbare, to be sure, but it may prevent you taking cold." The civil servant took off his comfortable fur coat to receive in exchange the robber's threadbare garment.

"Good night and God bless you!" cried the mocking hooligan as he disappeared in the darkness. And the civil servant went home accordingly. At the turn of the next street he got a cab which took him home with all speed, to find that the hooligan had left in the threadbare coat not only the stolen watch but 100 rubles in gold!—Chicago Tribune.

Unanimous Consent.

Congressman Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, Speaker's Cannon's mouthpiece on the committee on rules, was defending the Cannon staidhold policy in the house. "The only way," said he, "that under our rules we could consider a motion to concur in the senate amendments to the bill would be by unanimous consent." "Will the gentleman yield for a question?" asked Adam Beld, of Minnesota, insurgent, and a house wit. "Does the gentleman concur in Pennsylvania not think if the speaker would consent?" "Yes," confessed Dalzell.

A WOMAN DOCTOR

Was Quick to See that Coffee Poison Was Doing the Mischief. A lady tells of a bad case of coffee poisoning and tells it in a way so simple and straightforward that literary skill could not improve it. "I had neuralgic headaches for 12 years," she says, "and have suffered untold agony. When I first began to have them I weighed 140 pounds, but they brought me down to 110. I went to many doctors and they gave me only temporary relief. So I suffered on, till one day in 1904, a woman doctor told me to drink Postum Food Coffee. She said I looked like I was coffee poisoned."

"So I began to drink Postum and I gained 15 pounds in the first few weeks and I am still gaining, but not so fast as at first. My headaches began to leave me after I had used Postum about two weeks—long enough I expect to get the coffee poison out of my system." "Now that a few months have passed since I began to use Postum Food Coffee, I can gladly say that I never know what a neuralgic headache is like any more, and it was nothing but Postum that cured me. Before I used Postum I never went out alone; I would get bewildered and would not know which way to turn. Now I go alone and my head is as clear as a bell. My brain and nerves are strong, or than they have been for years." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

No Sense of Humor. An old Georgia dandy owned a small and ancient mule, but which, at a casual question as to the price at which it was held, became suddenly endowed with all the virtues of the best blood of Kentucky. "But he is at least 20 years old, uncle," the would-be purchaser protested. "Dat mule?" Uncle Mose said indignantly. "No, sah! Ef dat mule's mo' nix six years ole, Ah hopes he dies fo' maw'nin'!"

Upon visiting his stable the next day, Uncle Mose was struck with consternation to find his animal stretched lifeless on the ground. "Look at dat, now!" he exclaimed, with intense disgust. "What you think o' dat? Never did see sich er fool mule—couldn't eben take er lil' joke lack dat!"—Harper's Weekly.

STOP, WOMAN!

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years underdirection, and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but no natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation. Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has drawn from it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

They Stand Alone.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone, and as a conspicuous example of open frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, are Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, over-worked, debilitated, nervous, run-down, pale, thin, and emaciated persons. Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery, the famous remedy for weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, all cases of nervous prostration, all cases of stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, nasal passages, throat, bronchitis, or other mucous passages, also as an effective remedy for all diseases arising from thin, watery or impure blood, as scrofulous and skin affections. Each bottle of the above medicines bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it—printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves, and is the best guaranty of their merit. They cannot be classed as patent or secret medicines for they are neither.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are so arranged that they can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. Therefore, the afflicted do not have to rely alone upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation as to the curative value of his medicines for certain easily recognized diseases.

A glance at our printed formula on each bottle will show that no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines, they being wholly compounded of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American forest plants. These are best and safest for the most delicate and sensitive constitutions. Dr. R. V. Pierce can be consulted free, by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y., and all communications are regarded as strictly confidential.

Shakespeare "Dramatized." An Eastern publishing firm recently put out a new edition of Shakespeare's works, to be sold through subscription. A few days since they were started to receive the following letter from a New York business man: "Dear Sirs—Last week I ordered a set of Shakespeare in eight volumes. Upon receipt of same I find that the works are dramatized. What I want is Shakespeare in prose. This is undoubtedly an error of your shipping clerk. Kindly make the exchange at your earliest convenience."

Traveling Man in Congress.

George R. Patterson, the Pennsylvania representative who died a few weeks ago, was the only "traveling man" in congress. Mr. Patterson was proud of the fact that he was a flour salesman and he put it in his official biography. Hew as a big, robust man with a deep base voice and was popular with everybody. He was a witty story teller and a good singer, and was always called out at dinners. His colleagues were very fond of him and everybody was sad at the news of his death.

More Than a Teetotaler. The capitol guide was telling two New England school teachers in the senate gallery interesting things about the senators below. "There are several of them," he said, "that have eaten too many society dinners and drank too much firewater." "Oh, how dreadful in our public men!" said one of the teachers. "But there is Senator Lodge. He doesn't drink does he?" "Oh, no," replied the guide. "He is a teetotaler. He even thins his water."

They Should. My honest conviction, based upon my own experience and that of my friend, is that "Hunt's Cure" will cure a larger per cent of skin troubles, especially of an itching variety, than any other remedy. Certainly those afflicted with any form of it should try it. J. O. Monroe, Atchison, Kas.

FOR NERVOUS

A Michigan Attorney Firm. Pink Pills. When the blood is impure and the nerves starve and neurological symptoms more serious swiftly follow. Nervous people are generally pale people, by supplying through the blood those vital elements that the nerves need, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have performed those remarkable cures that make it impossible for any one to prefer to neglect them.

A recent case is that of Mrs. Peter Morrisette, of No. 315 Eleventh street, Alpena, Mich., who writes as follows: "My trouble started with childhood. After one of my children was born I had a kind of paralysis. I was very weak and my mouth was a little crooked. I was always tired and was so nervous that I could not bear to hear a dog bark or a bell ring—even the little bird in its cage would annoy me. My heart fluttered a great deal and I had dizzy spells. I was not able to be left alone."

"My doctor gave me different kinds of medicine, changing it several times. When it was evident that he could not help me he said he did not understand my case. This was three years ago and I was very much discouraged, when my brother, who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, recommended them to me. I tried them and noticed a change for the better when I was taking the second box. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me and I have been well ever since. I now do all my own housework, sewing and washing for seven of us."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have also cured diseases caused by impure or impoverished blood such as rheumatism, anemia and after-effects of the grip. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or the remedy will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

the time for 1936 have been paid in advance and would have to be returned.

The attention of Prof. Hiram Hadly, superintendent of public instruction, was called to the item and he addressed the following very terse and plain communication to the editor, which speaks for itself and which is worthy of careful consideration:

"Journal of Education, 29 A Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

"In your Journal of March 29th under head of 'Incredible,' I see a note that 'The Territorial Board of Education of New Mexico has petitioned Delegate Andrews to do all in his power to defeat the Littlefield bill preventing gambling in the Territory.' As regards the truth of that statement, I testify that the matter of the Littlefield bill was never before the territorial board of Education in any form whatever, neither have I heard any member of that board express any opinion upon it. So far as I know, every member of that board was strongly in favor of its passage.

"I am also informed by the secretary of the Santa Fe Board of Education that the subject was never before that board. I am informed that a petition, originating probably with the gamblers, was circulated asking that the going into effect of the Littlefield bill might be postponed until the time that the present licenses should expire. I never saw this petition and all I know about it is simply from hearsay.

"I cannot but regret that so much of the Eastern press seems delighted to find some negative against New Mexico.

The New Mexican agrees with Professor Hadly in the letter above published. It may be a fact that a few petitions signed by citizens, not many in number, were sent to the congress of the United States, praying for delay in the passage of the bill suppressing public gambling in the territories of the United States, but only this, nothing more. No official body, territorial, county or municipal has taken official recognition or has ever signed such a petition. A few citizens, who did so, did this because they honestly believed that delay would be beneficial. They may be mistaken in their opinions and may have been wrong in their action, but that is no reason why the people of New Mexico as a whole or that the school officials of the Territory should be blamed or held to account for such action. This is a free country and, if a man honestly believes that the good outweighs the harm done by allowing public gambling, why not say so? He has certainly as good a right to do so, at least in this country, as the editor of the Boston educational journal or any other man to defend the passage of the bill for the suppression of public gambling. The trouble with a good many of these educational journals is that they are too hide-bound and too narrow and see nothing good in what they do not approve. There is certainly no cause in this case for abuse and slander of the people of this Territory. The action or sentiment of a few citizens does not make the action or sentiment of the people as a whole or of the school authorities. Like some new Mexico yellow newspapers, some of the educational papers of this country are in too big a hurry to judge and condemn without due or proper information and without fair and careful investigation.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

More Truth than Poetry.

Put the hammer in the locker.

Any one can be a knocker.
Any one can criticize.
Cultivate a manner winning.
Though it hurts your face to smile
And seem awkward in beginning.
Be a booster for a while.
Let the blacksmith do the pounding.
That's the way he draws his pay.
You don't get a cent for bounding
Said and sung night and day.
Just for lack of satisfaction
And for want of the steel.
And if you warrant you'll get action
On your effort on the spot.

Kindness every time beats kicking.
Mirth is better than a frown.
Do not waste your time in picking
Flaws from brothers who are down.
And if you're addressing
If you give a little boost
To the man the lates are praising
When the chimes come home to roost.

Yes, the old world would be brighter.
If you'd kindle friendship's flame
And - oh - make the troubles lighter
Send your grudge on a vacation
Give your grumbling tones the shake.
And if you're addressing
