

County protests 385 condition

HAROLD BOB BENNETT (left) of Hart receives congratulations from co-worker Carl King of Dimmitt on being elected to the Democratic National Committee last weekend at the party's state convention in Houston. Bennett is believed to be the first Castro Countyman ever to serve on a political party's national policy-making committee.

Harold Bob Bennett named to Demo National Committee

Harold Bob Bennett of Hart was elected Saturday to serve on the Democratic National Committee. He was one of 10 Texas residents selected for the committee at the state Democratic convention in Houston, and he is the only farmer to be chosen.

"It is an honor to represent the Democrats of the state and I will work not only for the interests of agriculture, but the interests of the entire state," Bennett said.

He is the only agricultural spokesperson from Texas to be elected to the Democratic National Committee and he is one of two people elected from regions west of I-35 (the other is from Odessa). He was the only committeeman from Texas to come from a city with a population of less than 100,000. Bennett will attend the Democratic National Convention in New York July 12 through 17.

He was born and raised in Hart and graduated from Hart High School in 1970. He attended Texas Tech University. Bennett married Ruth Dyer and the couple has two daughters. Bennett farms, is a director of the Texas Corn Growers Association and is an executive assistant for the Texas Corn Producers Board.

Other local Democrats attending the state convention Saturday were County Chairperson Carole Dyer and delegates Pat Bagley, Lois Wales and Paul Garcia. Alternate delegates attending included Carl King and Bennett.

The Castro County Commissioners are sending a delegation to speak with the Texas Dept. of Highways concerning the condition of US 385 between Dimmitt and Hereford.

Pct. 3 Commissioner Jeff Robertson told the other commissioners at their Monday meeting that he had consulted a highway department representative, and was told that the current plan is for that stretch of road to receive seal-coating this summer and then possibly get a new layer of asphalt next year.

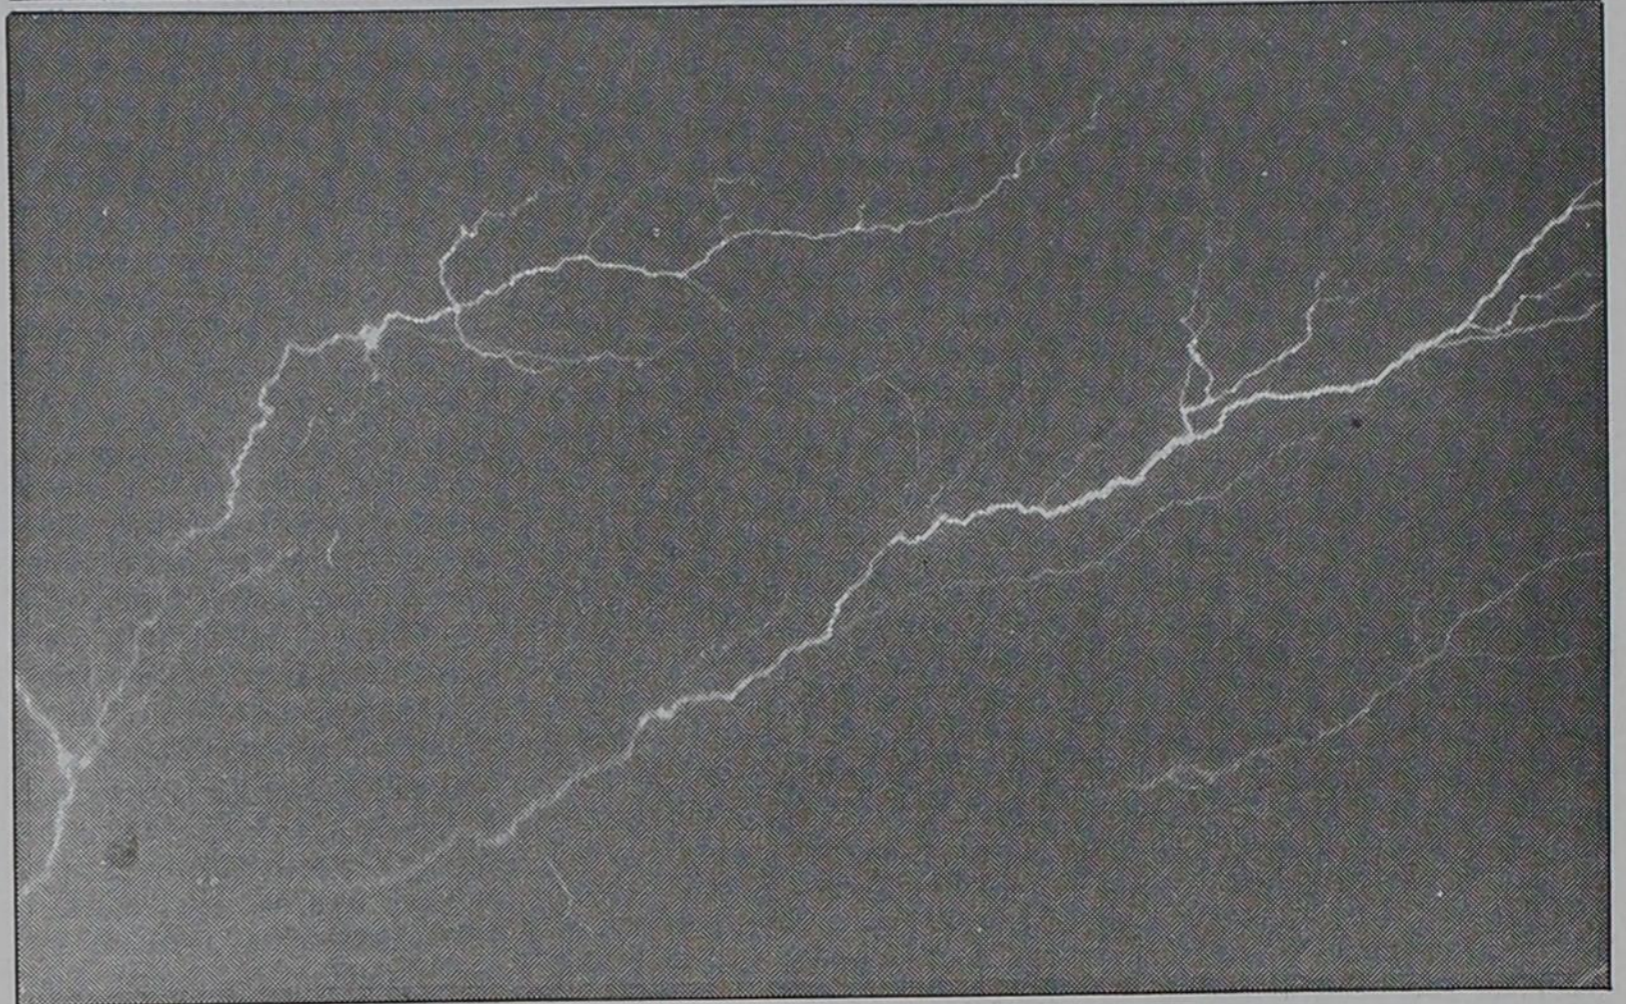

Robertson said he felt such treatment of the road would be inadequate for the traffic load it receives, and he said he felt the road would not be traversible after another winter of wear.

Robertson labeled the road a major economic link for this area and said he felt the commissioners should not accept the highway department plan without protest.

County Judge Polly Simpson suggested that a delegation visit the highway department district office in Lubbock, and then, if nothing is resolved, to go on to Austin.

Pct. 1 Commissioner Harold Smith said he would contact a Mr. Oliver, who is with the state highway department.

Robertson said to go ahead and contact Oliver if Smith thinks it will do any good.

Fire in the sky

Thunderstorms continued to flash and boom overhead almost every evening and night the past week as wheat farmers tried to start their harvest and cotton farmers gave up on their drowned-out plants. Here, lightning streaks across the sky over Hart Monday night. Although Hart was under a tornado watch several hours, the storm passed over without leaving any rain. Photo by Deana McLain

Hail pounds wheat southeast of Hart

Wheat harvest is just beginning, but for some farmers in the southeastern part of the county, it's starting a little too late.

They've already had a large portion of their crop "harvested" by hail.

A severe thunderstorm Monday night dropped pea-to golf ball-size hail as it passed over the southeastern edge of Castro County on its way to Swisher and Hale Counties, and one farmer in the area said he will only be able to salvage about one-quarter of his wheat crop.

"It (storm) got all of the cotton and about three-fourths of the wheat. The corn was damaged, but I think it'll pull out," said Jim Black of Hart. "We had a pretty good batch of hail out there, from what I've heard."

Black said two inches of rain fell during Monday night's storm.

But other areas of the county have missed the majority of the hail and rains have been light enough that farmers are able to get into the fields in the afternoon.

That means local elevators are staying busy.

"We're starting to receive a little wheat, but harvest is just beginning," said Bill Clark of Dimmitt Agri Industries. "As soon as it dries up, it should be in full swing."

Dimmitt Agri reported receiving its first load of wheat last Thursday afternoon, and since then loads have been trickling in. Clark said it's too early to tell

Garage sale is successful

The weather cooperated making Dimmitt's fifth annual City-wide Garage Sale "very successful" according to Delores Heller, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Bargain hunters who came from all over spent around $29,000 at the garage sale Saturday.

"We are very pleased with the number of out-of-town shoppers we had," Heller said. "One lady came from Kansas specifically for the garage sale."

The highest amount of sales reported at one location was $1,300 with the lowest being $80.

"I haven't talked to anyone who was disappointed with the sale," Heller said.

According to Heller, the crowds at the garage sale did not directly benefit retail merchants except for food establishments. However, she hopes that families that made money locally will shop Dimmitt first.

After garage sale figures are in the Chamber usually breaks even.

Tentative date for the 1993 City-wide Garage Sale is set for June 5.

Allsup's held up

A pair of short "Marlboro men" robbed Allsup's convenience store in Dimmitt at gunpoint at 3 a.m. Saturday, then escaped on foot.

They got away with an undetermined amount of cash and an estimated $36 worth of Marlboro cigarettes, store clerk Carlos Sifuentes, 18, told police.

Sifuentes reported that two Hispanic males entered the store shortly before 3 a.m., picked up a package of chewing gum, then approached the check-out counter.

When he put the key into the cash register, one of the men pulled a pistol and told him to stand back, Sifuentes reported, and the other man went behind the counter and ordered him to open the cash register.

After helping themselves to cash and cigarettes, the two ordered Sifuentes to walk outside with them, and they walked to the east end of the store, the clerk told police.

Sifuentes said the two robbers then fled on foot, running east.

After unsuccessfully trying to set off the store's burglar alarm and attempting to get help at the city fire station next door, Sifuentes called police.

He said the taller of the two robbers—the one who pulled the pistol—was approximately 5-8 tall, light complexioned and had a black mustache and goatee. He was wearing a black cap and a red bandana on his head, and blue sweatpants, the clerk said.

Sifuentes described the shorter man as approximately 5-6 tall and said he also was wearing a black cap and red bandana on his head, and a long-sleeve sweater.

He described the weapon as a small-caliber blue steel pistol.

Taryn Hays, 10, of Dimmitt had a big thrill last week down at Horseshoe Bay, near Lake LBJ.

Taryn is the daughter of Norman and Kim Hays, the granddaughter of Jack and Murma Miller, and the great-niece of Joe and Melba Brown of Tulsa. Keep that in mind while she tells it in her own words:

"My great aunt and uncle have a house between Lake LBJ and Horseshoe Bay, and I was with them and my grandma, and we were going out to look at the birds at the yacht club, and went out to eat.

"So we walk into the Boardwalk, and we sit down at this table.

"And we weren't really paying attention, and all of a sudden Joe, my great uncle, reached across the table and said, 'I don't want everyone to stare, but there behind me is Roger Staubach.'

"And so I got real nervous. I wanted to look at him because I never saw him before. And then I said, 'Well, can I have his autograph?' and my grandma said 'Okay,' and she went and got a guest sheet (check) from the restaurant and gave it to me, and Joe gave me a pen.

"And I said, 'Well, Joe, how do I

Kids don't forget to turn in your bookmarks before June 25. We will choose two winners, and the winning bookmarks will be printed. Bookmark contest forms are available at the library.

Last year, Daniel Proffitt and Amanda Contreras won the contest.

Don't forget the principal challenge for summer reading. Principals at Richardson Elementary, Hart Grade School and Nazareth Grade School have pledged to sit on their school roofs for two minutes for each student who participates in summer reading.

Summer reading will begin June 30 and end August 1. This year the theme is "Discover the New World of Reading."

Adults may be interested in the Republican Organization for Women of Castro County's Memory Book on display at the library.

Compiled last year as part of the Centennial, this handsome book includes the organization's membership, history, and activities. In many ways this book is a recent history of Castro County, complete with pictures.

David Sadler underwent open heart surgery at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo Wednesday morning. He also was scheduled to have gall bladder surgery, but doctors decided against that when they saw the back of his heart. He had five bypasses, but came through it well. He took his first walk and sat in a chair for awhile Thursday. He walked four times both Saturday and Sunday.

Gay Sadler stayed with him most of the time while Melody, Spencer and Karla, all of Hobbs, N.M., were there for the surgery and stayed until Thursday. Ezell and Verba Sadler, Larry and Sharon Sadler, Carrie Sadler, Ruth and Karl King of Hereford and other friends from Hobbs were there. Rev. John and Ginger Hazle and Teeny Bowden and Lee and Louise Bradley were there on Wednesday.

After seeing David Sadler on Friday, Ezell and Verba Sadler left to attend the funeral of Pete Grisham, husband of Margaret Grisham of Blackwell who is Ezell's and Embree Roy Sadler's cousin. Pete died of a heart attack Saturday morning. He had had open heart surgery several years ago.

The Grishams have visited in the community and attended church here several times, so several local residents knew him.

Embree Roy and family could not attend the funeral because Susan Harmon already had made plans to stay with them over the weekend.

Susan Harmon, Caleb and Hannah, all of Richardson, were visitors in the morning services.

.45 of an inch of rain was recorded Monday, .40 of an inch was received Tuesday, .50 of an inch was recorded last Thursday evening and .15 was recorded for Sunday morning.

Lonnie Bell had his farm sale last Thursday afternoon.

Joe Hoard's father died in Albany Thursday after a long illness. Joe, Virginia Hoard and Kathy attended the funeral services in Albany Saturday.

Bess Bills was taken to the doctor Friday so she could have some fluid drained off her knee. She was instructed to stay off of it.

Rev. John Ginger Hazle visited in Amarillo Friday at St. Anthony's Hospital with David and Gay Sadler.

Doug and Judy Loudder and Dara Kelley and daughter, Brandi, visited with David and Gay Sadler Sunday at St. Anthony's Hospital. The Loudders and Kelleys were on their way to Oklahoma to go through an allergy clinic on Monday.

Lee and Louise Bradley visited with David and Gay Sadler in the hospital on Sunday.

Teeny Bowden, Clara Vick, Madge Robb, Terry Todd, Lon Woodburn and George Bagwell attended the quarterly historical commission meeting last Thursday at Rhoads Memorial Library. If we can find enough interest among local high school students, we will hold a special meeting and will take them on a tour, showing them a few of our most outstanding accomplishments. If you are interested, call Terry Todd. If we get enough interest, we will set a day for the tour when the weather is favorable so we can have a picnic lunch.

The stress test David Sadler had Monday morning was a new radionuclide scanning of the heart, which usually reveals areas of the heart muscle which have a poor blood supply or have been damaged because of a heart attack.

On Friday, doctors removed all tubes and put David in a private room and started him walking. He has walked four times on Saturday and Sunday. He is in Room 271.

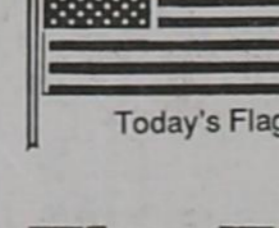

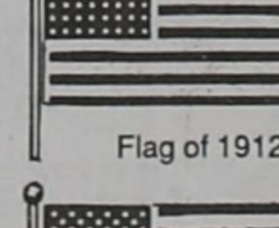

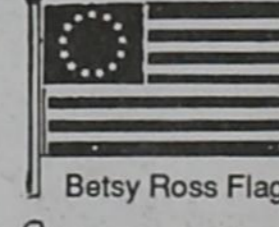

Mr. and Mrs. K.R. Norrell of Levelland returned home with James and Joan Norrell on Friday and stayed until Sunday. James and Joan attended Kathy Norrell's high school graduation exercises on Saturday in Levelland.

Lillian went to Stanton to be with her grandson, Deacon Carson, who had an emergency appendectomy this week.

'Old Glory'

Saturday is the day all of us are asked to fly our flags in honor of the American flag's birthday.

It was on June 14, 1777, that the Continental Congress, meeting in Philadelphia, adopted a resolution making the Stars and Stripes the official flag of the United States.

"Flag Day" was first observed in 1877 to celebrate Old Glory's 100th anniversary. Congress requested all public buildings to fly the flag on June 14 of that year.

Bernard J. Cigrand (1866-1932), a school teacher in Waubeka, Wis., made the establishment of a national Flag Day a lifetime mission. Only one state adopted a Flag Day celebration as an annual event during his lifetime. That was New York in 1897. However, Cigrand had planted the seed.

President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation on May 30, 1916, establishing Flag Day as an annual national celebration.

But Flag Day still was not officially recognized by law until 1949, when the 81st Congress passed the National Flag Day Bill. President Harry S. Truman signed it into law on Aug. 3 of that year.

Through all those years, "Old Glory" evolved into the flag we fly today, with 50 stars representing the individual states and 13 stripes symbolizing the original colonies.

As new states were admitted to the Union, the flag was redesigned with a new number and configuration of stars in the blue field. Our current flag is the 26th design in this long and proud evolution.

Our present 50-star flag was officially unfurled July 4, 1960, after the admission of Alaska and Hawaii to statehood.

When the Star-Spangled Banner was first unfurled at the head of the Continental Army, Gen. Washington described its symbolism this way:

"We take the stars from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty." Fly your flag proudly Saturday.

Double-ring ceremony unites Ryan and Waldo

Stephanie Ryan and Joey Waldo exchanged wedding vows in a formal double-ring ceremony on Saturday.

Cynthia Guthrie Ryan, associate minister of the First United Methodist Church in Graham, sister-in-law of the bride, officiated the service which was held in Dimmitt's First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ryan of Seminole, formerly of Dimmitt. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Waldo, Sr. of Wheeler.

The outside church railings were decorated with tulle and bridal bows. The doors of the church foyer held large white wreaths. The sanctuary featured brass candelabras, accented with ivy leaves and white bows and holding white tapers. The pews were marked with bows and mauve ribbons.

Guests were registered as they arrived at a table covered with a cloth crocheted by the bride's great-grandmother. Registering guests were Sue Rita Myatt of Dimmitt and Jo Beth Mays of Canyon, both friends of the couple.

Musical selections including "There is Love" and "He Has Chosen You for Me" were sung by Zelta Ellison of Lockney.

The processional and recessional were performed by Vicki Smithson, organist.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown was fashioned of white embroidered tulle over satin designed with a figurine bodice topped by a deep pointed yolk embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. The long sleeves, shirred to the wrists, ended in petal points. The floor-length bouffant skirt was draped into a bustle back.

She wore a satin hat accented with pearls which was highlighted with an attached silk illusion pouf and two tiers of tulle.

She carried a bouquet of fresh white roses, freesia and English ivy with pearl cascades laced with white ribbons.

For "something old" she wore the wedding dress which her mother wore in her wedding 32 years ago. For "something new" the bride wore her hat and veil. She borrowed a string of pearls from her mother and gold rings from her grandmothers for good luck. Her ensemble was complete with the traditional "blue" garter and a six pence from her great-great uncle, which she wore in her shoe.

Serving as maid of honor was Lisa Nelson of Abilene. Bridesmaids were Nancy Clay of Marshall and LeAndre Lynn of Amarillo.

Each attendant carried a spring bouquet accented with tiny ribbons which matched the dresses they wore. The dresses were fashioned of floral chintz featuring a ruffled off-the-shoulder bodice which flowed to a deep vee in the back. A large bow marked the waist and a vee at the hem of the straight skirt.

Best man was Justin Clemens of Corpus Christi. Groomsmen were David Johnson of Adrian and Mark Makeever of Nazareth. The groomsmen wore charcoal gray tuxedos accented with mauve bow ties and mauve cummerbunds.

The groom wore a charcoal gray tuxedo with a black vest and bow tie.

Guests were seated by Robin Ryan of Graham, Glen Waldo, Jr. of Nazareth, Boyd Waldo and Gary Waldo both of Lufkin. The mother of the bride was seated by Robin Ryan, brother of the bride. The mother of the groom was seated by the groom.

Friends of the couple seated "Within the Ribbon" included Bill and Martha Harmon; Jack and Charlene Howell; Gene and Mary Nell King; Stanley, Connie, Laura and Leslie Nelson; Gary, Marylin, Kerri and Kelee Clemens; Tom Cook; and Dean, Agatha, Leslie, Noel and Nick Johnson.

Candle lighters were Traci Adams of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, and John David King of Seminole, friend of the couple.

A reception honoring the couple followed in the church's fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with a battenburg lace cloth with a floor-length skirt. An antique silver candelabra surrounded by the bridal bouquet along with the bridesmaids' bouquets served as the setting for mirrored pictures of the bride and her mother in their bridal gowns.

The bride's cake was decorated with fresh daisies and tiny ribbon streamers. The top layer was set on a circle of doves that was also used in the bride's parents' wedding. Also served from the bride's table was a fruit punch and mints. Serving the bride's table were Annette Schmucker, Christi Clayton, Leah Boone, and Kathy Brown all of Lubbock.

The groom's table was decorated with a battenburg lace overlay. The table's centerpiece arrangement, made by Suzanne Farris, friend of the groom, included a floral arrangement with ornaments depicting the different sports which the groom coaches. The groom's layered chocolate cake was decorated with fresh daisies. Coffee and nuts were also served. Serving at the groom's table were Tanya Waldo and Dale Waldo both of Lufkin.

The couple will be home in Nazareth after a honeymoon trip to Jamaica.

Callaway and Zimmer exchange wedding vows

The First United Methodist Church in Canyon provided the setting Saturday for the wedding ceremony uniting Kimberly Callaway and Richard Wesley Zimmer.

Officiating at the formal, double-ring nuptial service was the bride's uncle, Kinne Callaway.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bax Callaway of Childress. The groom is the son of Ron and Janice Ivy of Dimmitt and Rick Zimmer of Seattle, Wash.

Renna Beth Barnard of Canyon played selected wedding songs before the ceremony. Soloist Cyndi Norris of Amarillo sang In This Very Room. As the couple's mothers lighted the family candles, the Parents' Prayer was sung. Other music included the Wedding March, Only God Could Love You More and All of Me.

Candlelighters were Kassidy Callaway of Amarillo, cousin of the bride.

A white satin aisle runner was placed on the path to the altar. An arched candelabra accented with bright spring flowers decorated the sanctuary. On each side of the candelabra was a spiral and tree-branch candelabra, each accented by bright spring flowers. The parents' pew was marked with a cluster of spring flowers.

The bride wore a formal gown of white regal satin designed with a sweetheart neckline and French puffed sleeves. The bodice was encrusted with pearls and jewels. The full, flowing skirt of satin was enhanced with a draped peplum and the back of the gown plunged low and showed a runner of pearl buttons centered with a designer bow. The cathedral-length train was accented with European lace cutouts and was studded with pearls and jewels.

She wore a fingertip-length veil with an arched band which was decorated with sequined leaves and pearl clusters.

She carried a cascading bouquet of stephanotis, roses and lace ribbons.

For "something old," the bride carried a handkerchief that had been made into a baby's cap which was given to her at birth by Virginia Rossiter of Canyon. In her shoe she wore a lucky sixpence which had been given to her by Beverly Christiansen of Amarillo. For "something blue," she wore a blue garter, which was a gift from Jennifer, Julie, Jaime and Jody Lindley, all of Childress. She "borrowed" a single strand pearl necklace which her father had given to her mother when they were married; and a pair of pearl earrings she "borrowed" from her grandmother, Mary Troth.

Serving as maid of honor was Audrey Kajs of Crowell. Bridesmaids included Misty Price of Canyon; Trish Fitzgearld of Gruver, sister of the groom; and Kamdon Callaway of Amarillo, cousin of the bride.

The attendants wore two-piece dresses of deep purple shantung. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and low-cut back. Puffed sleeves and a tea-length straight skirt completed the design.

Each attendant carried a cascading nosegay of spring flowers.

Best man was Jerry McMillan of Dimmitt. Groomsmen included Kerry Noack of Canyon; Curt Fitzgearld of Gruver, brother-in-law of the groom; and Jonathan Ivy of Dimmitt, brother of the groom. They wore black tuxedos with black cummerbunds.

Flower girl was Lacy Fitzgearld of Gruver, niece of the groom.

Fitzgearld and the candlelighter, Kassidy Callaway, wore matching floral pattern dresses designed with a sweetheart neckline.

MRS. RICHARD WESLEY ZIMMER
... nee Kimberly Callaway

The flower girl carried a white lace basket filled with brightly colored flower petals.

Guests were seated by Wade Callaway, Ricky Byrd and Ricky Botello of Dumas.

Guests were registered by Charlotte Thomas of Dimmitt, sister of the groom.

Following the wedding, the couple were honored with a reception at the Country Home Bed and Breakfast in Canyon.

The bride's table was decorated with two silver candle holders and the bridesmaids' bouquets, which formed the centerpiece. The bride's white three-tiered cake was decorated with scallops of icing. Fresh spring flowers were placed between the tiers. The cake was topped with a Precious Moments figure of a bride and groom in a car. Also served from the bride's table was a white fruit punch.

The groom's chocolate cake was decorated with chocolate roses. Iced tea and mint also were served.

Serving at the bride's table were Jennifer and Julie Lindley of Childress. Presiding over the groom's table were Jamie and Jodie Lindley of Childress and Holly Bear of Abilene.

The couple enjoyed a seven-day Caribbean cruise, and will make their new home in Amarillo.

For her traveling attire, the bride wore a white city shorts outfit accented with gold buttons and gold studs on the jacket lapel. She wore gold accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Crowell High School and she attended West Texas State University where she earned a bachelor of science degree in elementary special education. While attending WTSU, she was a cheerleader and was a member of Chi Omega social sorority.

The groom graduated from Dimmitt High School and is a senior accounting major at WTSU. He is a member of Sigma Nu social fraternity. He is currently employed in the accounting department at Northwest Texas Hospital.

Corrections

In last week's issue of the News, a photo caption mentioned that Richard Young had served in Dimmitt for four years. However, he has been here for seven years.

In the May 7 issue of the News, Alice Young was incorrectly identified in a photo caption showing her best of division poster bed she showed at the State Industrial Arts Show in Waco.

The News regrets the errors.

Carpenter is top cowboy at Nazareth Country Rodeo

Jason Carpenter of Wilson was named "All-Around Cowboy" at the Nazareth Country Rodeo and Wild West Show over the weekend.

Carpenter finished in the money in two events and earned the most among cowboys entered in at least two events at the three-day rodeo.

He won the rookie saddle bronc riding competition and placed third in the open saddle bronc riding event.

He was awarded a set of spurs, hand made by Ted Stubblefield of Dimmitt.

The annual rodeo drew 275 contestants this year and $16,430 in prize money was awarded.

Organizer of the rodeo, Marvin Schulte, reported "big crowds" attended the Friday and Saturday night and Sunday matinee performances.

Although the skies threatened to dampen the rodeo, it went on uninterrupted.

"We got rained on, but not rained out," Schulte said. "It did rain, but it came late enough each day that it didn't stop the action."

A big crowd pleaser at this year's rodeo was Art Jackson's wagon, Schulte said. The solid oak wagon featured a six-horse hitch and it was paraded in front of the crowd.

The only down side to the rodeo was an injury to a bull rider on Saturday night.

According to Schulte, Kyle Bennett of Andrews was injured when a bull stepped on him in the bull riding competition. Schulte said Bennett was taken to Plains Memorial Hospital, then was later transferred to a Lubbock hospital. The extent of his injuries wasn't known.

Police Calls

Three tractor-trailer rigs were involved in a chain-reaction collision Tuesday morning at the Broadway-Bedford intersection.

Officers said a 1987 Mack truck driven by Jerry Wayne King, 31, of Quanah, and a 1988 International driven by Tommy McPherson, 51, of Hobbs, N.M., were stopped on North Broadway at the traffic light when a '78 Mack truck driven by Oscar Carmona Ramos, 47, of Wolfforth, struck King's truck from behind, causing that truck to rear-end McPherson's rig.

None of the drivers was injured. Ramos' truck received heavy damage to its front end, but damage was light to the other two.

Ramos was cited for failure to control speed.

A "fender bender" occurred in the 600 block of Northwest Fifth Saturday when a 1984 Ford pickup driven by Jose Luis Velo backed out of a driveway and struck a 1979 Chevrolet Chevette that was parked on the opposite side of the street.

The collision caused moderate damage to the car but no damage to the pickup.

The Chevette's owner, Rochelle Portwood, was cited for illegal parking, and Velo was cited for backing without safety.

Four assaults were reported during the week to city police.

Police broke up a fight among five females at the Azteca Complex last Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Lisa Gutierrez, 18, complained that a juvenile girl had started the fight by pushing her and hitting her in the face with her fist. Gutierrez's sister, Mary Lou Vicencio, 17, said she came to her sister's defense and also was punched and scratched. The mother of the two girls, Maria Vicencio, told officers that when she tried to break up the fight, Laura Arguijo, 18, pushed her to the ground.

All five involved were told to appear at the police station and give statements regarding the incident.

In another incident at the Azteca Complex, Raul Hernandez, 19, reported to police last Thursday night that Basilio Gil had attempted to cut him with a broken beer bottle. Investigation is continuing.

The state roadside park southeast of town was the scene of an alleged assault on a teenage girl late Friday night by another teenage girl and her father.

A 15-year-old complained to police that the father of a 17-year-old girl held her while the other girl hit her.

Police arrested a 29-year-old man at his home on Stinson Street Saturday at 12:32 a.m. on a charge of assault — family violence. Officers said that when they arrived at the scene, the man's wife was outside the home crying and the man was inside with a shotgun. Officers said the wife had a noticeable bruise and that the husband was intoxicated.

Cecil Crum, 68, reported to police Friday night that someone had entered his home on Northwest Fifth and had stolen his billfold containing credit cards, driver's license, pictures and cash, and also had taken a bottle of cologne. The thief left some of the billfold's contents on the kitchen table, Crum reported.

Town and Country convenience store reported two incidents of customers pumping gas at the self-service pumps and leaving without paying. The stolen gas was valued at $33.

Louis James Torres, 39, was arrested and jailed Friday afternoon on a warrant charging violation of probation.

Torres had been jailed last Wednesday on a felony DWI charge after three separate callers complained of a red pickup being driven recklessly in the area of West Etter Street. One caller said the pickup was "peeling out" and speeding, and another caller said the pickup had almost hit a child in the middle of the street.

Three criminal mischief incidents were reported during the week.

Beulah Chavers, 221 NW 11th St., reported to police Friday night that someone had cracked a window at her home while apparently trying to take the screen off.

Toni Falcon, 21, reported Sunday that someone had damaged a "For Sale" sign at the next-door home of the late Fred Waggoner.

Connie Castaneda, 16, 410 NE Fifth St., reported Sunday night that a juvenile boy had slashed two tires on her father's vehicle at the Azteca Complex. The tires were valued at $35.

City and state officers arrested and jailed three persons on DWI charges, two for public intoxication and one for disorderly conduct during the week.

DISD looking at stricter substance abuse policy

If a proposed school policy is put into effect, Dimmitt students caught with drugs or alcohol may find themselves all worn out.

The policy proposes to punish offenders by assigning 10 miles of supervised running or five hours of supervised school-community service.

After discussing the proposed substance abuse policy at their Monday night meeting, school board members voted to postpone action on the matter until after consulting the school district's attorney, Jimmy Ross.

The policy spelled out a violation as: being under the influence of alcohol or drugs, consumption of alcohol or drugs, or being in actual possession of alcohol or drugs.

Only solid evidence corroborated by an adult witness or other sources which establish incontrovertible evidence will be used to establish violations of this policy. A committee of teachers will determine if reported violations are accurate.

Violations during times away from school or school-sponsored activities also will be considered for punishment, including weekends or holidays.

On a first offense, the offender will be given a choice of running or work. The student will have two weeks to complete the work during times before or after regular school hours, and until the punishment is completed the student may not participate in any extracurricular, co-curricular or social activities.

A second violation within the same school year may result in suspension from all activities for the remainder of that school year. The following school year, the student would be considered on probation, and if another offense occurs, the student would be suspended from all activities again.

Students having only one violation during a school year will not be placed on probationary status the following year.

It is proposed for five teachers to serve on the substance abuse committee, along with the assistant principal at the high school. The committee will meet when a violation is reported. The purpose of the committee is to look at the evidence and decide if the student is in violation of the policy. Committee members also will be responsible for supervising the work or running performed by the offender.

If the policy is adopted, each student participating in extracurricular activities must turn in a signed copy of the policy before the student may participate.

Assistant High School Principal Lyman Schroeder told the board that he feels the policy could be an effective tool if parents and law enforcement will back the efforts of the schools. He said the policy was discussed after several people brought it to the school's attention that students had been charged with being under the influence, and then participated in a school activity a few days later.

Schroeder said, "That is a reflection on our school. Our competitors represent the whole school system."

Board member Cheryl Pybus expressed concern at having only five teachers on the committee. She said she felt it should have a broader base from throughout the school system.

Board member Rita McDaniel said she felt there were too many "loopholes."

"We should put the problem back in the hands where it should be. It's a legal problem, and we need to get the police force backing us," McDaniel said.

Supt. Bob Barrett said that if parents or students feel a ruling by the committee has been unfair, they still have the regular grievance channels through which they may appeal.

Alcohol, drug abuse programs are available

The Amarillo Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse is available for assistance in educational programs, counseling (individual and group), needs assessments, and school prevention programs.

The council is funded by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse.

DISD to pay migrants for exit exam study

It's true.

Dimmitt High School will be paying some students to attend school.

DISD Curriculum Director Gainell Minnick told the school board Monday night that the funds to pay students are provided through the federally-funded Chapter I Migrant program.

She explained that the money will be used strictly for migrant students who need remediation classes in order to pass the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills exit level exam, required for graduation.

Supt. Bob Barrett said that migrant students qualifying for the program are among those assessed as at the greatest risk of dropping out.

Minnick pointed out that migrant students in the area for the summer months are usually here for the purpose of employment. She said parents of such students are more likely to allow the students to participate in the remediation program if it does not affect their family's earnings.

Dimmitt High School Assistant Principal Lyman Schroeder said that seven students have signed up for the program so far.

Minnick said the remediation classes will take about four weeks with three hours of work per day in various subject areas.

In a report on DHS students who took the exit level exam in May, Minnick said that only one student classified as a senior dropped out of school because of failing the exit exam. Minnick told the board that every effort was made to encourage the student to remain in school, but she did not complete her coursework. If she had completed the work, she would have had several other chances to pass the exit exam, Minnick said.

Minnick said remediation classes and repeat exams are offered throughout the area during the summer, and the local district will help students with transportation to attend those.

Minnick also asked the board for approval of the district's application for Chapter I & II and Chapter I Migrant funds for the 1992-93 school year. She said the funding formulas allow Dimmitt to ask for $467,826 in Chapter I; $205,986 in Chapter I Migrant; and $12,517 in Chapter II.

The application was approved. Minnick mentioned that student incentive programs in other areas of the school curriculum may be increased next year, due to roll forward funds in Chapter II from this year. She said in certain areas of the budget, up to 15% of the funds may be held over for the next year if they are not needed for the current year. She noted, however, that in some areas all of the funds must be spent or be lost.

She pointed out that every effort is made to insure that the funds are spent wisely and for instructional purposes.

In other business, the board gave approval for 46 teachers to be placed on Level II of the Career Ladder, with a bonus of $1,600; and 22 to be placed at Level III with a $3,200 bonus.

The board has scheduled budget workshops for June 25 and June 29 at 6 p.m. both days at the administration board room.

Board members voted in favor of engaging Cornell and Company to perform the annual audit for the district.

After an executive session, the board voted in open session to accept the donation of a house from Clint McFarland. The house is located in the country east of Hart. It has been proposed to move the house to the school property at the ag farm, and possibly allow a district employee to live there to keep an eye on the farm to reduce the chance of vandalism.

The board also voted to hire two teachers, Denise Schulte Kirby as a resource teacher at Richardson Elementary, and Becky Ramos as a sixth grade math teacher.

Social Security in Castro County

By Terri Clements

When most people think about Social Security, they usually do not think about the benefits that the program pays to children. That's understandable. Because it is true that people are more likely to know retired individuals who receive Social Security payments than to know children who get Social Security.

However, our commissioner Gwendolyn King, has recently emphasized the fact that Social Security is also a children's program.

Here's why. Each month Social Security pays survivor benefits to approximately 1.8 million children of deceased workers, and dependent benefits to another 1 million children of retired and disabled workers.

I believe that survivor benefits are the least appreciated aspect of the Social Security program.

For all Americans born after World War II, survivor benefits are taken for granted. They are as much a fact of life as tomorrow's sunrise. But it is not always so.

Until this century, the death of a husband usually meant destitution for the widow or family. Life insurance policies were rare; the opportunity for women to work outside the home was small; and there was no program to provide income replacement for survivors.

Children were usually parceled out to relatives or orphanages; widows had to rely upon the charity of their own families to take them in.

The original Social Security Act, passed in 1935, did not make provisions for survivors. But in 1939 amendments to the act provided for monthly benefits for widowed mothers with eligible children.

The program has expanded since then, and today 98 out of every 100 children could receive survivor benefits if a working parent should die.

In fact, the value of this protection against income loss for a worker's family is probably greater than the value of his or her commercial life insurance.

If you would like an estimate of the Social Security survivor benefits that could be paid to your family, call or visit our office to ask for a Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement. It will show an estimate of survivor benefits that could be paid, as well as estimates of retirement and disability benefits and other important information. Our number is 293-9599.

CRP sign-up to begin Monday

Farmers who wish to place land in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) may sign up beginning Monday.

The 12th annual CRP sign-up will continue through Friday, June 26.

The program offers long-term rental payments and cost-share assistance to farmers who are willing to establish permanent vegetative cover on cropland that is highly erodible or contributing to a serious water quality problem. Under the program, more than 35 million acres have been enrolled.

Beginning with the 12th sign-up, owners and operators will be able to submit separate bids for each tract of land. This will provide an opportunity to formulate bids that are more reflective of the actual value of the offered acres.

A protective vegetative cover of grass or trees will not only reduce soil erosion, but also will improve water quality and enhance wildlife habitat. Water quality benefits also are attainable on land that is not highly erodible.

CRP land eligibility has been expanded to increase water quality benefits. Eligible land now includes areas with identified water quality impairment, designated priority areas and public wellhead areas identified by the Environmental Protection Agency. Public wellheads are sources of water for municipalities. Areas designated by states as sources of water quality problems also may be eligible for designation in CRP.

Annual rental payments for approved contracts will be made to eligible farm owners or operators who convert eligible land to permanent cover. These payments are limited to $50,000 per year. By law, an acceptable rental rate cannot exceed the prevailing local rental rate per acre of comparable land. New procedures will be used to make these determinations.

Eligible land for enrollment in CRP includes cropland that has been planted or considered planted to produce an agricultural commodity, including alfalfa or other multi-year grasses and legumes grown in rotation as determined by the secretary of agriculture in two of the five crop years 1986 through 1990 and is physically and legally capable of continued crop production.

Cropland having special, or contributing to significant environmental problems relating to water quality or soil erosion may be offered under practices requiring useful life easements. Practices include permanent wildlife habitat for no more than 10% of the total cropland acres of the farm, wildlife corridors that provide a travel lane between two or more existing wildlife areas, windbreaks, shelterbelts, living snow fences, sod waterways, contour grass strips and salinity reduction measures.

It is not possible to determine the bid amount which will guarantee acceptance of a particular bid into the CRP before sign-up. The competitive nature of the new bid selection process means that the likelihood of selection of a particular bid depends on the amount and characteristics of the land, costs of bids from all landowners, and the enrollment goal as established by the US Dept. of Agriculture.

A conservation plan must be developed and approved by the local conservation district for accepted acreage. The plan will specify the conservation measures and maintenance requirements to be carried out by the owner or operator during the terms of the contract.

Haying and grazing are not permitted during the contract period unless authorized by the secretary of agriculture due to a widespread natural disaster; however, haying and grazing may be authorized on practices requiring useful life easements after contract expiration if permitted in the conservation plan.

Owners are required to share payments with tenants and sharecroppers on a fair and equitable basis. Participants who violate any of the terms and conditions of the contract must refund payment earned plus interest, plus any liquidated damages, if applicable. All participants signing a CRP contract are jointly and severally responsible for complying with the terms and conditions of the contract.

Anyone who wishes to sign up acreage in the program or who needs more information on the program, should contact Scotty Abbott, executive director of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) office at 647-2153.

Reader says Wal-Mart does support community

Dear Editor:
I am writing this letter to the editor in response to your article regarding Wal-Mart. Specifically, I am responding to your comment: "Wal-Mart doesn't support the town; it doesn't give anything back. It offers bargains on brand-name goods, but otherwise it just takes."

I am the Children's Miracle Network Telethon coordinator which benefits the Children's Hospital at UMC. This is a national telethon, and Wal-Mart is a national corporate sponsor. Locally, Wal-Mart-Sam's Club contributed over $27,000 to the Children's Hospital at UMC. Since they became a sponsor, they have contributed over $100,000 to our hospital. This year, Wal-Mart on a national level contributed over $5 million.

All of the money that is contributed to the Children's Miracle

Network stays right here and purchases needed, life-saving medical equipment for use in the treatment of children. The moneys donated by Wal-Mart have touched the lives of over 5,000 children treated in Children's Hospital each year. And 50% of the children treated at Children's Hospital are from outside of Lubbock County.

Monday is deadline to report prevented plantings for cotton

Producers who did not get their cotton planted by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service's (ASCS) cut-off date on May 31 may file an application for prevented planting if the crop was not planted due to disaster conditions.

According to Scotty Abbott, ASCS county executive director, producers have until Monday to file an application for prevented planting on cotton and an acreage report for the acreage they were prevented from planting.

Producers have two options under prevented planting for cotton.

The first option allows planted and considered planted credit for those acres that the producer was unable to plant. The producer would receive failed acreage credit for the cotton and any crop planted behind the cotton would be considered ghost acres. Under this option, the crop would not be eligible for deficiency payments.

Under the second option, the application for prevented planting credit can be used to determine whether the 50% planting requirement for cotton under the 50/92 program can be waived. Under this option, if the sum of the approved prevented planted acreage and the planted acreage (if any) is equal to or greater than 50% of the maximum payment acreage, the producer has the option to convert to a 0/92 type Conservation Use for Payment (CU for Pay) process which guarantees the producer the minimum guaranteed deficiency payment for cotton on the eligible CU for Pay acreage, up to 92% of the maximum payment acreage.

Under the cotton waiver option, other crops may not be planted on the CU for pay acreages except for conserving use crops. These crops may not be hayed or grazed before Nov. 1.

"Just because a producer has not planted his cotton crop by May 31, that does not mean that he cannot plant his crop," Abbott said. "Producers may plant the cotton crop after May 31 if they feel there is a realistic possibility of an economically feasible harvest."

90th Division plans reunion

Did you serve with the 90th Infantry Division of the US Army in World War II?

The veterans of the 90th Infantry Group are planning a reunion on June 6, 1994 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the D-Day landings in Normandy, France.

A big event is planned for the reunion date in Normandy, including a special overseas tour. General chairman for the event is Maj. Bill Falvey, P.O. Box 280, Niles, Mich, 49120. He may be contacted for more information or to make reservations for the trip.

Also, any veterans of the group who wish to join the 90th Division Association may contact Falvey.

Units attached to the 90th also are invited, including the 712th Tank BN, the 537th Anti-Aircraft BN, the 81st Chemical BN, and the 607th and 773rd Tank Destroyer BNs, plus widows, family members, relatives and friends.

Falvey said over 45,000 veterans participated in battle with the 90th, and over the last 48 years many have lost touch.

The Division started out as the Texas - Oklahoma Division, and General George Patton was said to have nicknamed it the "Tough 'Ombre" Division, which is where the insignia incorporating a T and an O came from.

The News asks that any local veterans who were members of the 90th or who are planning to attend the reunion to please contact our office as well.

Siders says cotton is 'mortally damaged'

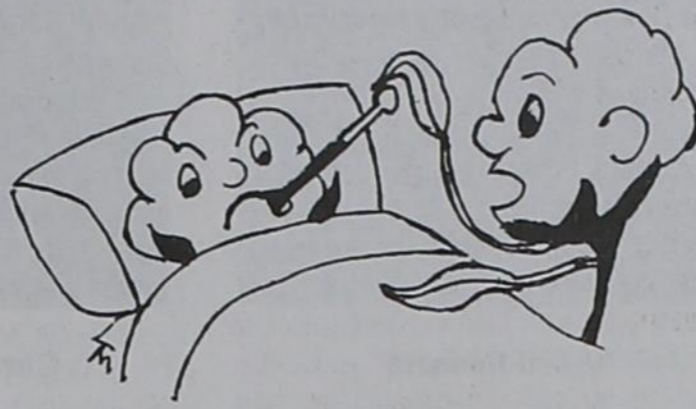

Approximately half of the cotton acreage in Castro and northern Lamb Counties has been "mortally damaged" by the recent wet, cool weather and the remaining acreage has suffered "severe leaf and root structure damage which may or may not be lethal," according to Kerry Siders, county Extension agent.

"Seedling diseases are taking a toll on the young cotton plants and the causes may be any number of fungi which make up the seedling disease complex," Siders said.

The major fungi affecting the crop at this time are Rhizoctonia, Pythium, Thelaviopsis and Fusarium, but other fungi also can be a part of this seedling disease complex, even some which are not considered strong pathogens. Once rotting starts, then secondary organisms can enter the picture, further complicating the matter, Siders said.

Verticillium is another important disease to beware of in the local area.

"It's (Verticillium) is prevalent in the soil and certain conditions tend to promote the occurrence of it. High rates of nitrogen fertilizer can cause this disease. Another cause is cool, wet soil," Siders said.

"Now, I told you not to get your feet wet!"

"Application of foliar fertilizer to cotton damaged by hail of foliar disease isn't recommended," Siders said. "The leaf area of the damaged plants is usually too limited for such fertilizers to be of much benefit."

There is no way to predict what type of weather conditions this crop will encounter later in the year; however, it is possible that warm, open weather will prevail into October and November. But long-term weather records indicate that fiber development generally is halted by cool night temperatures in mid-October.

Consequently, producers might be well advised to limit their inputs into a late-planted crop, Siders said.

Alternatives

Some growers already are looking for alternative crops to plant behind storm-damaged cotton.

Cotton producers who incorporate Treflan or Prowl herbicides have generally eliminated the possibility of growing sorghum on that land this year. Even if a producer used a pre-emergence herbicide, he or she would be running a risk to plant sorghum. The surface-applied chemicals are leached into the soil by rainfall, though the depth of penetration varies with the type of herbicide, texture of soil and amount of rain. To circumvent the problem on the heavier textured soils, a buster planter set to displace the top four to five inches of soil can establish a seed furrow in herbicide-free soil.

Hybrid selection also is an important consideration. Medium- to late-maturing hybrids can still be planted throughout the area. Producers are cautioned that late sorghum plantings will be susceptible to midge damage, so they should be prepared to check for damaging infestations and to apply insecticides if needed.

Sunflowers also constitutes a good alternative crop which is tolerant of the "yellow herbicide" and can be planted as late as 100 days prior to the first normal frost date and still mature a seed crop. June plantings have a yield potential of approximately 500 to 1,500 pounds per acre, depending on soil type, growing conditions, fertility and moisture availability.

Soybeans frequently are used as a replacement for hail-damaged cotton in irrigated areas. This crop also is tolerant to the preplant incorporated cotton herbicides and can be planted over a wide range of dates.

Soybeans are sensitive to day length and late plantings result in short stalk growth of all varieties and the combines tend to miss a good portion of the lowest seed pods. This problem can be partially avoided by using varieties that fall into the late maturity groups.

Selecting an alternate crop is always an unpleasant chore, said Siders. He adds that there are crops such as grain sorghum, sunflowers and soybeans which can be planted relatively late in the season and that these can partially compensate for the loss of the primary crop.

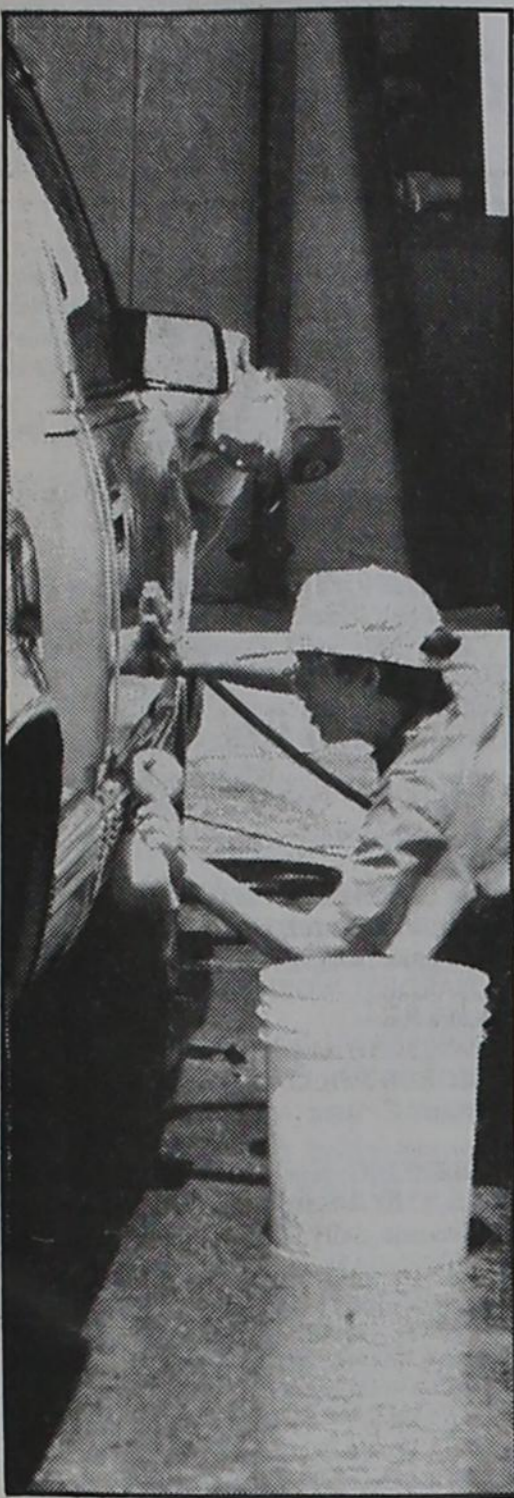

In the corn field

The corn crop is doing very well with the exception of some fields which suffered hail and high wind damage.

According to Siders, several thousand acres of corn still remain "without side-dressed fertilizer and furrow diking." He added that southwestern corn borers began emerging on May 25.

The beet crop

Although sugar beets are doing extremely well, the crop soon will be in need of "laid-by yellow herbicide" because of a "rapidly-emerging carpet of pigweed," Siders said.

Meeting to feature tips on controlling lakeweed in cotton

A multi-county program to highlight characteristics and control of lakeweed in cotton will be held at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Sudan Community Center.

The program will include information on post-directed herbicide control of weeds in cotton, and a tour of the lakeweed control test plots. It is being sponsored by the Bailey, Castro, Lamb and Parmer County offices of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The test plots are located on the L.E. Harper farm southeast of Sudan. In the plot, Banvel, Banvel and Roundup, MSMA and Cobra are being studied for possible control of lakeweed.

Dr. Paul Baumann, Extension weed specialist, will present a program on post-directed herbicide control of weeds in cotton. Dr. Baumann and Kerry Siders of Dimmitt, county Extension agent-pest management, will lead producers on the tour of the test plot.

Guy Bell will discuss the characteristics of lakeweeds and some control strategies.

Three continuing education units (CEUs) will be offered for private, commercial and non-commercial applicators.

Those attending will be treated to a fajita dinner.

For more information or to make reservations, contact the county Extension office at 647-4115.

Water management conference is set

A multi-county water management conference will be held Friday, June 26, at the Expo Building in Dimmitt.

The educational program has been planned to address one of the most critical areas of concern faced by today's agricultural industry—water management.

Guest speakers will be Wayne Wyatt of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, who will speak on furrow irrigation management strategies; Leon New, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station engineer specialist who will provide an update on new irrigation technology; and Dr. John Sweeten, an Extension program leader for ag engineering, who will be on hand to discuss the state-wide water quality situation.

Four local producers will share their adopted irrigation practices and experiences.

Exhibitors will be present and private applicators will have an opportunity to obtain two continuing education units (CEUs) by attending the workshop.

Lunch will be provided. For more information contact the Extension office at 647-4115.

Hail-damaged cotton

If a small amount of leaf tissue remains on hail-damaged cotton, recovery and bud life is more certain. The recovery rate is related to the amount of leaves or fragments of leaves which remain.

The terminal growing point is important in cases of heavy defoliation as fruiting will occur sooner (i.e. the resumption of fruiting is delayed if the terminal is lost or knocked out).

Steps which are cut low may look totally destroyed, but the potential yield in most cases will be higher than yields on replanted cotton at the end of the season.

Crops which survive early hail damage often produce more mature lint than will a replanted crop.

Higher nod cut off (loss of terminal) will stimulate side branches and this often causes late fruiting and excessive vegetative growth. A bushy plant reduces harvesting efficiency and could contribute to more barmy samples because of a higher stick content in the harvested crop.

Steps which are severely damaged cannot move food to the bud, which aids in recovery of the crop.

After hail damaged crops start regrowth, it is important to protect the young plants from aphids, thrips and fleahoppers. If insects are not controlled, the crop will be further delayed with the possibility of rank, vegetative growth.

Thick planting for hail loss is not realistic. In thick planting, more spindly plants are grown and fruiting is delayed in nodal position.

Cool, rainy weather following hail damage can delay recovery or prevent recovery of a cotton crop if organisms attack injured tissue.

You should cultivate the field as soon as possible to break up crust and improve aeration around the roots.

An average of two plants per foot with no long skips will still provide an adequate plant population.

Care for replanted cotton

Replanting a destroyed cotton crop is complicated by several factors, Siders said.

First is the cutoff date for replanting, which must be early enough for the crop to mature before harvest.

Then there is a limited supply of seeds for the more desirable varieties for late planting. Many producers will be forced to look to alternate crops such as grain sorghum, sunflowers, forages or soybeans (if sufficient water exists for this crop).

Before replanting with any alternate crop, a producer must have it certified by the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office.

Pre-emergence herbicide residue frequently creates a problem with replanting with an alternate crop.

On land treated with Caparol or Karmex, seedling injury can generally be avoided by "busting down" to about four inches or more below the surface.

Decisions concerning irrigation must be considered after late cotton is "up and growing." Because the yield potential for late-planted cotton is reduced, fields which have adequate moisture during replanting, shouldn't require additional summer irrigation. In fact, yields and quality of late planted cotton can be reduced by overwatering, according to Siders.

Application of nitrogen fertilizers to late-planted cotton tends to encourage vegetative growth and delay maturity.

Three are honored

Three sophomores from Dimmitt High School have been selected as one of the 200 participants in the residential 1992 Texas Governor's Honors Program, which will be held July 12-31 at Lamar University in Beaumont.

Chosen were Carlo Ontiveros, son of Mary Ontiveros; Angelica Garcia, daughter of Jesse and Elsa Garcia; and Mary Garcia, daughter of Jose A. and Maria E. Garcia.

Participants represent all Texas senatorial districts and were selected by a review committee from applications which reflected outstanding individual achievement, ability and creativity. The quality of applications were unusually high this year, according to a program spokesman.

This year's program, funded by the state and through private donations, is being directed by Dr. Dorothy Sisk, Conn Chair for Gifted Education.

The theme of the program is "Leadership," and students will be exploring the many facets of leadership; within a global society in all program subject areas. Teachers for the program will include Lamar faculty, distinguished professionals and alumnae, and outstanding secondary teachers.

It is not lack of love but lack of friendship that makes unhappy marriages.

CEA-Home Economics

The Extension Homemaker Council and Home Economics Committee are sponsoring a Pressure Canner Testing Workshop to be held from 9:30 until 12 noon on Saturday June 20 in the Assembly Room in the courthouse basement

Jack Harper, a professional canner tester from Lubbock, will be in charge of the canner testing workshop. A fee of $4 will be charged for each canner.

Canning supplies such as gauges and bands along with Kerr and Ball canning books will be sold. It was learned at the Food Preservation Workshop held in Lubbock recently that just testing a canner gauge is no longer safe. The whole canner needs to be checked out.

The most common spoilage problem is "under-processing" due to a faulty canner. But "over-processing" can destroy the quality of the product.

For more information call the Extension Office, 647-4115.

Country Caravan performance set

Country Caravan will make its way into Dimmitt on Saturday to give a live performance at 8:30 p.m. on the courthouse square.

The Dimmitt Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the family-style performance and admission is free.

Country Caravan is produced each summer by South Plains College in Levelland and travels to more than 40 cities in Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

This year's Caravan draws from the nostalgic tunes like Patsy Kline's Walkin' After Midnight, Jerry Lee Lewis' Crazy Arms, Louisiana Woman/Mississippi Man made famous by Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn, the Hank Williams/George Strait remake, Love-sick Blues, and Elvis Presley's medley, Love Me Tender, All Shook Up and Tutti Frutti.

But the show doesn't neglect the present either, with country music hits like Mary Chapin Carpenter's Down at the Twist and Shout, Clint Black's Killin' Time, Travis Tritt's Here's A Quarter and Garth Brooks' Two of a Kind.

The Caravan also brings home gospel greats such as The World Needs a Melody, which features a medley of southern gospel favorites, In the Sweet By and By, I'll Fly Away and Give Me That Old Time Religion.

A patriotic tribute, Lee Greenwood's God Bless the USA rounds out more than 30 songs and instrumental numbers packed into Country Caravan.

Now in its 16th season, Country Caravan showcases the talents of eight college students and a six-member band composed of faculty members in SPC's country and bluegrass music and traditional music programs.

This year's cast, selected by rigorous auditions, includes Nancy Cunningham, Sid Harper, Wendy Stephenson, Heidi Wood, Trent Willmon, Derek Spence, Charles Schovajsa and Dana Delgado.

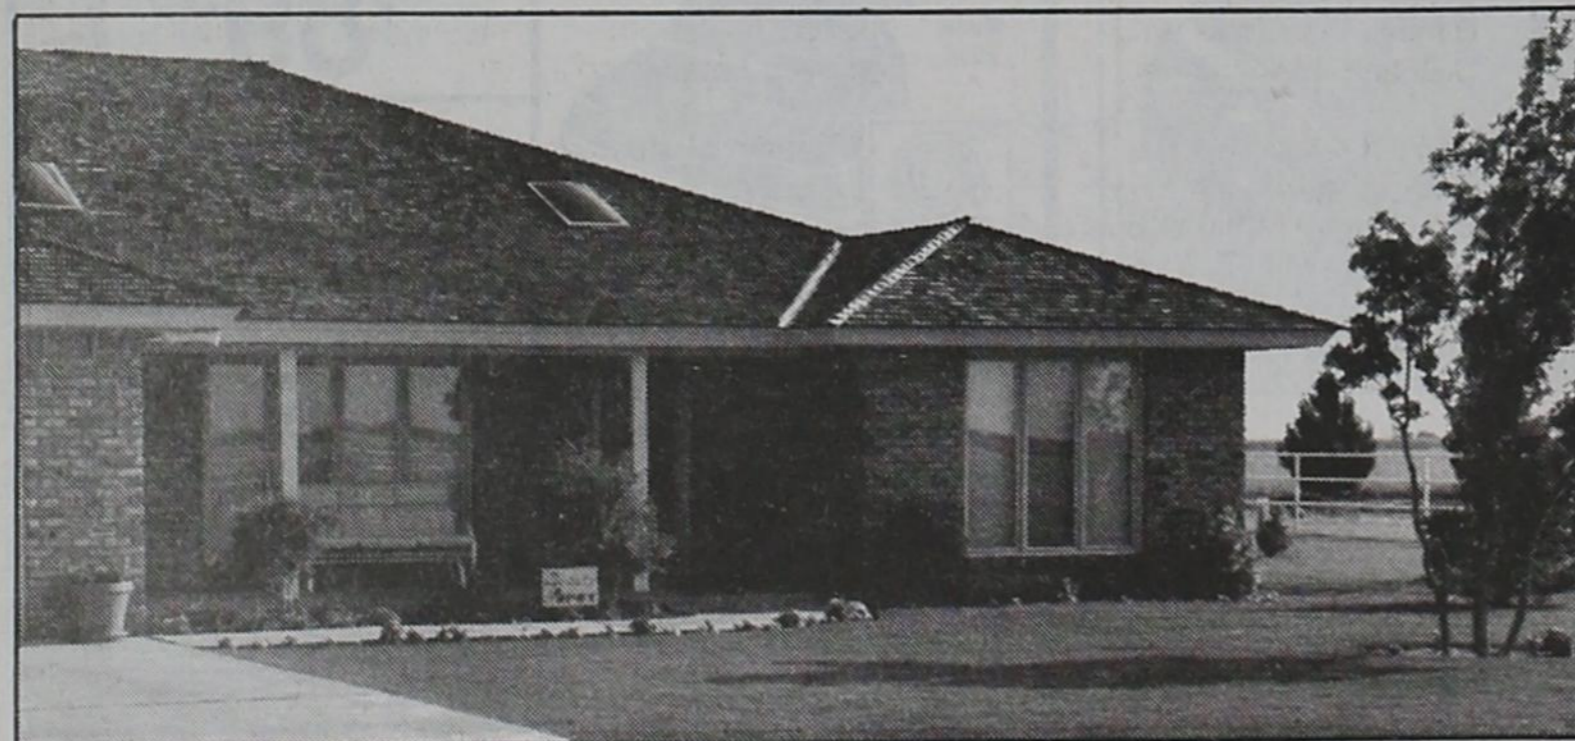

Faculty band members are Lynda and John Reid, Rusty and Schahara Hudelson, Joe Carr and John Hartin.

"Our goal," said Hartin, the show's general director, "is to usher the audience to the point where they are thoroughly enjoying the show and don't want it to stop. This is done with the development of truly great talent, a lot of energy and a sincere and genuine desire on the part of the performers to give the audience a rich, rewarding experience."

Nazareth

By Uirgle Gerber, 945-2669

Peggy Birkenfeld and children Jerad, Cassie and Skyler enjoyed a week of vacation with her parents, George and Rita Book, at Lake Buchanan. Also joining the family at the lake were Karen Loyd of Bay City, Kelly Book of Stephenville and cousins, Alan and Ryan Clement of Neosho, Mo. They all enjoyed fishing with George and swimming in the lake. They enjoyed bowling with Rita and they collected 20 different kinds of wildflowers which are in full bloom in the area. They reported that the Hill Country is beautiful from all the rains.

They also attended Josh Book's high school graduation from Burnet. He graduated magna cum laude and was ranked fifth in his class of 115 students.

On the way home they stopped in Midland to visit Gerald and Sheila Brockman and attended Connie Brockman's bridal shower. The entire trip was a lot of fun for the family.

Our sympathy to Rose Birkenfeld and her family in the death of her sister, Margaret Vita, 69, of Seymour. Funeral services were held May 30 in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Seymour. Her husband died in 1989.

Those attending from Nazareth were Rose, Leslie Birkenfeld, Allen and Stephanie Dobmeier, Carol and Leroy Birkenfeld, Julia and Leonard Birkenfeld, Paul Vehaus, Velma Warren, Thelma Wethington, Herman and Marilyn Birkenfeld, Julius and Kathy Birkenfeld, Gene and Alverna Schacher, Pet Birkenfeld and Bryan Birkenfeld of Oklahoma City.

LeRoy and Dorothy Pohlmeier recently attended a graduation ceremony for Christa Bogle, daughter of Lyn and Pam Bogle. She graduated from Farmers Sargent High School in Center, Colo.

The following week the Pohlmeiers attended graduation ceremonies for their grandson, Blake Conrad, son of Tom and Brenda Conrad, in Colorado Springs. Blake graduated from St. Mary's High School.

Carol Gary and sons, Sean, Scott and Josh of Lubbock spent Thursday night in Nazareth with Carol's mother, Lucille Drerup.

Lucille Drerup, Vincent Guggermos, Leonard and Rosemary Wilhelm of Nazareth and Ralph and Stella Shirley of Friona recently visited their sister, Rita Hoffman, and a daughter, Helen, in El Paso. They enjoyed touring El Paso and were amazed at the many beautiful pecan groves.

Paul Venhaus is home after spending several days in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview for tests and treatment.

Many relatives and friends attended the baby shower for Caleb Gerber, infant son of Stanley and Cindy Gerber. It was held Thursday evening in the home of Jill Ehly. A nice assortment of useful gifts was given to child and parents.

The shower ended abruptly when Jill's son, Tyler, broke his arm while playing with friends. Thanks to Patti Kern who quickly put an air splint on his arm before his parents took him to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. Doctors put a temporary cast on his arm and Tyler and Jill are both doing fine now.

Running Water Soil and Water Conservation District

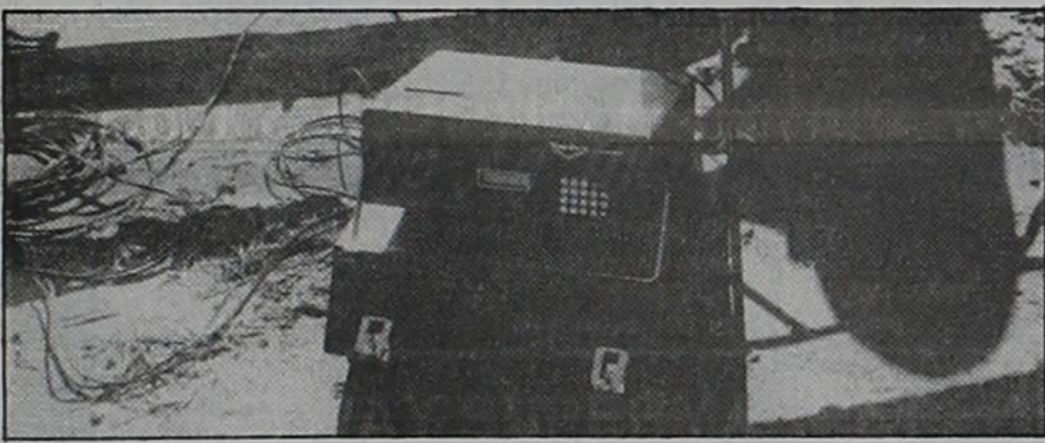

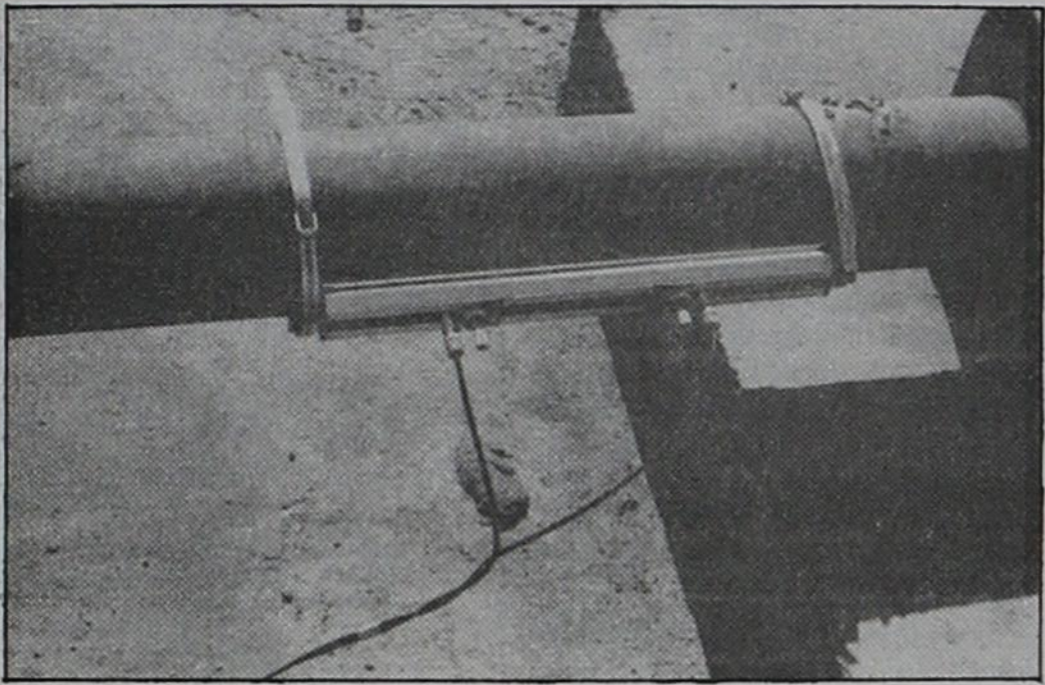

QUARTERLY REPORT—JUNE 1992

Cost share assistance under the ACP program is still available to producers for such practices as irrigation pipeline, waterways, diversions and parallel terraces.

The local SCS office would like to encourage any producer interested in having wells or sprinklers checked to contact them. They are presently using their polysonic flowmeter to check these wells.

Due to the present moisture conditions most producers are not thinking about irrigation, but the district would like to encourage all producers to conserve their irrigation water by using such practices as surge irrigation, using in line flow meter to keep track of your GPM's being pumped, and the use of moisture blocks and meters to keep track of the moisture in your soil profile. The blocks and meters are presently being sold by the district at the cost of $42.50/ten blocks and the meter for $225.

Programs and services of the Soil Conservation Service are offered on a nondiscriminatory basis without regards for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status or handicap.

With the December 31, 1994 deadline getting closer, the Running Water SWCD would like to remind all producers that farm land must have all practices such as grassed waterways, crop residue management and diversion terraces installed by the 1994 deadline to stay eligible for the government programs. If anyone has any questions about their FSA plan, they are urged to contact their local SCS office.

Breast cancer screening clinic to be held

A breast cancer screening clinic will be offered at Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt Monday, July 6, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Exams will be performed by appointment only, and anyone who wishes to set up an appointment or who needs more information should contact the Harrington Cancer Center at 1-800-377-4673.

Funding for the community outreach clinic is made available through the Texas Dept. of Health for screening mammography for Texas residents qualifying for financial assistance.

The program is sponsored by the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital.

Early detection of breast cancer is the major goal of cancer control for each woman seen at the clinic.

Low-cost screening, including a breast exam by a registered nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self examination and a mammogram are provided at the clinic.

Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection, which is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer.

The ACS guidelines are to learn and perform breast self examinations every month, have a physical examination every year and have a mammogram according to the recommendations by age as follows: Ages 35 to 40, one baseline mammogram; ages 40 to 50, a mammogram every one to two years; and over 50 years old, yearly mammograms.

A year ago, many of us were knee-deep in Centennial activities — shooting pictures for the Photography Project, whipping up an appetite for the Bethel Chicken Fry, holding Centennial Singers rehearsals, getting ready to lay tile at the plaza, having the history book printed, putting together final plans for the July 4 Picnic and the German Folk Festival. And here at the paper, we were already straining on the Centennial Edition.

Now it's a year after, and my usual "slack season" is, indeed, slack.

Saturday I went fishing for the first time in two years, and found out that it's like riding a bicycle—I can avoid fish just as well now as I ever could.

about the quality of the crop and the moisture content has varied.

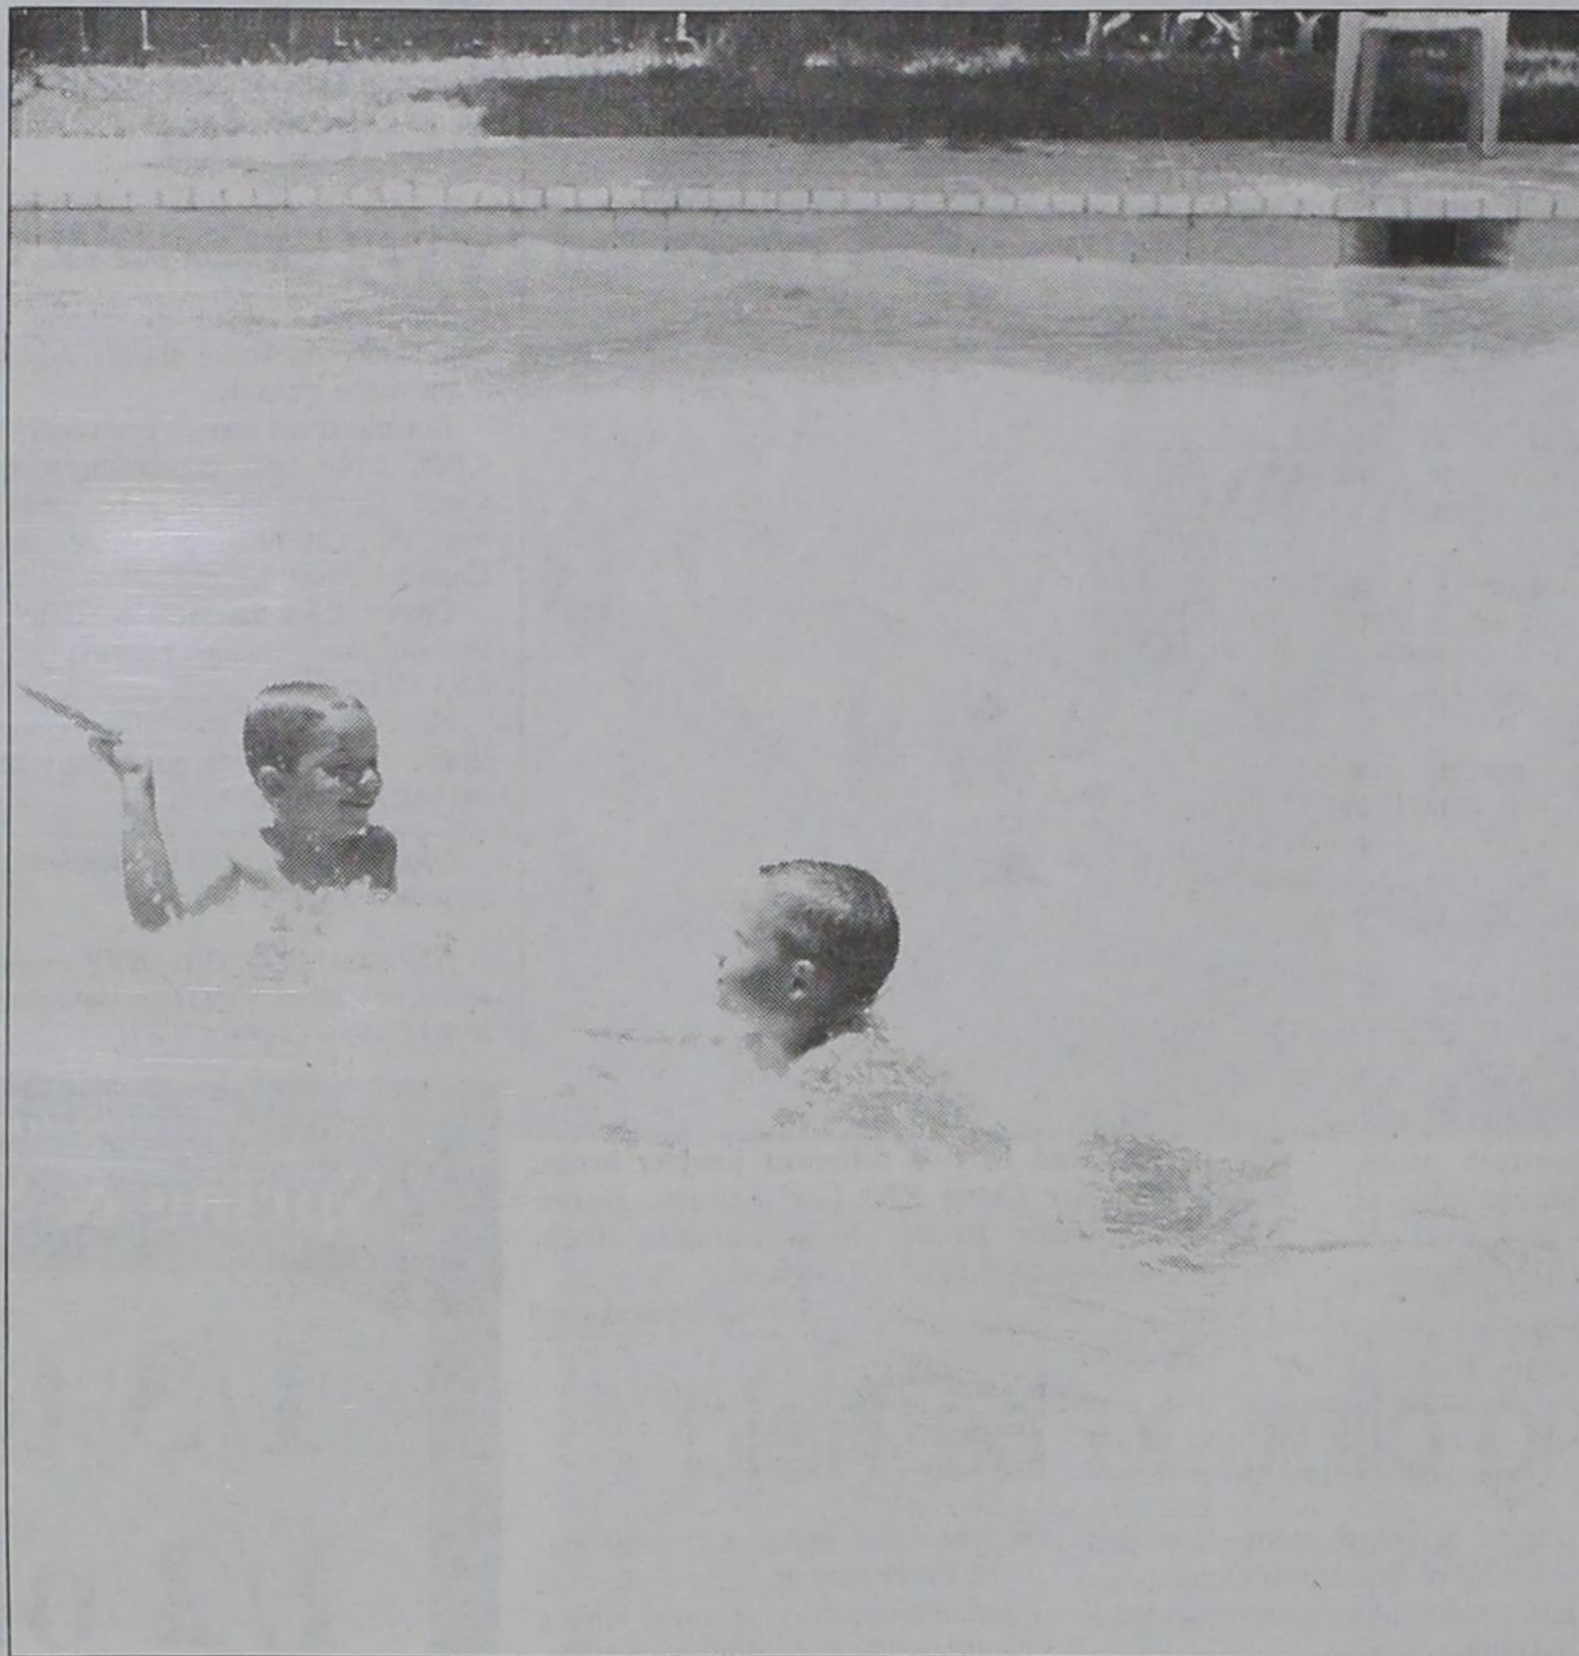

Eddie Matthews at Easter Grain said the first load hasn't been brought to his facility yet, and he doesn't expect to see it until next week. The majority of the wheat crop around Easter is irrigated, Matthews said.

Jarrel Sewell at Farmers Grain in Hart, reported his elevator received its first load of wheat last Friday. It was brought in by the Jimmy and Mark Cluck Farm, (located west of Hart) and it tested approximately 16.5 on moisture and weighed 58 pounds per bushel. Sewell said the quality looked good.

"We're just getting started here. Friday we had some of the dryland crop and circle comers coming in. In another week or so, the irrigated crop should be ready for harvest," Sewell said.

Loads brought to Farmers Grain have averaged between 13 and 19 on moisture content, and Sewell said the higher recordings are probably due to the "high humidity and wet ground" from the recent heavy rains in the area.

"We just need some good sunshine," Sewell said.

Smith opposes transfers

Pct. 1 Commissioner Harold Smith left the meeting in frustration twice, ten items he had requested for the agenda were not placed on it, and his budget was amended against his wishes.

According to County Auditor Maretta Smithson, Smith was more than $13,000 over his budget on vehicle and equipment maintenance and repairs, and wanted the deficient funds to be transferred from gross pay.

He told the other commissioners that he has had only three full-time employees all year long, whereas he had been budgeted for four.

County Treasurer Oleta Raper also told the other commissioners that Smith had said he is terminating the three full-time employees he does have.

County Judge Polly Simpson said that all of the money cannot be transferred out of gross pay, because enough must be left to pay the employees.

The commissioners suggested transferring the amount allowed for the fourth employee, and taking the rest from capital outlay, which was budgeted $15,000.

Smithson said she had originally thought $15,000 would be enough to add into vehicle repairs and maintenance, but she expressed concern that more repair bills may be coming up, so she wanted to allow $20,000.

In the approved budget for this fiscal year, Smith had been allowed $30,000 for vehicle and equipment maintenance and repairs, while last year he had spent around $55,000.

Two of the repair bills for Precinct 1 were in amounts over $6,000. Smith told the other commissioners he did not know what one of the bills was for.

DHS sends five to state

Five Dimmitt High School students recently participated in the State Solo and Ensemble Contest.

Vocal performers who qualified for the state contest were Mary Ann Triana, who earned a III (good) with her presentation of Come, Thou Dear Redeemer; and Nikki Kenley who sang Pieta Signore garnered a I (superior)

Band members who participated in the contest were Scott Atchley who received a II (excellent) for his trombone solo; and Tara Keller who earned a III for her trombone solo. Amanda Odem, flute soloist, also qualified for the state contest.

To reach the state level of competition, students must earn a I at district competition.

"Congratulations to all these kids because it is an honor for them to be able to participate at the state level," Michael Johnson, DHS band director said.

"Ben (Montiel) took it (a road grader)," Smith reported.

One of the large bills went to Yellowhouse Machinery for repairs to a motor grader, while the other was to West Texas Equipment for repairs to a loader and a grader.

Another bill for $1,461.15 came from West Texas Equipment, and another $886.59 went to Tole Auto Parts for vehicle maintenance.

Smith said he has more money left in his budget than any of the other commissioners, but Simpson countered that he had had more money to start with, too. Smith said he has over 50% of his budgeted funds left for the remaining four months of the fiscal year. The other commissioners said that he wouldn't have if "we hadn't been strict with you."

In the vote on the line item transfers to amend Smith's budget, Smith voted against, while the other three commissioners were in favor of taking some from capital outlay and some from gross pay.

In the same vote, the commissioners also approved several other line item transfers to amend the budgets of other departments.

Two transfers were not approved. A transfer in the County Extension Agents' office was held until Simpson will have a chance to speak with CEA Carolyn Osborn's supervisor concerning travel expenses Osborn has turned in, which total more than her travel budget.

The commissioners commented that they had mentioned to Osborn in the past the need to turn in expenses as they occur, rather than waiting to turn in several months' worth at a time.

Another transfer that was denied was in the county/district attorney's office for comp time payments. Simpson said the only comp time that would be due in that office would be for the secretary, who is paid by the state.

In other business, the commissioners discussed putting the probationers' computer training equipment in a room in the former jail area on the third floor of the courthouse, which is reached by the front stairs. The room they would use has a lock, and could be re-wired at an estimated cost of $300.

Pct. 4 Commissioner Vincent Guggemos said he would get some of his employees to work on patching the walls and painting the room.

The county employees are preparing to start on the budget for 1992-93. Smithson told the commissioners that a preliminary report from the County Tax Appraisal Office shows a decline in the tax base. Last year's budget was set on appraisal values of $349,390,800, while in the coming fiscal year that will go down to $347,400,000.

Seth Halbert of the Central Plains Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center in Plainview gave the center's annual report to the commissioners. He said the center requests $5,850 from Castro County for the coming fiscal year.

He reported that 100 clients from Castro County were served during the past year and 2,843 individual counseling sessions were made through the local outreach office. He said some of those sessions were made with clients from outside of Castro County.

Halbert reported on the use of clients from the center in litter-control projects along local roadways. He said the project operates through contracts with local governmental entities, and provides funds for the center.

Smith inquired whether the project could be extended to county roads, but Halbert said the workers are spread about as far as they can go for now, due to lack of supervisory help.

In another matter, the commissioners discussed comp time provisions and policies governing the county road employees and their work hours.

Simpson told the other commissioners that she had been advised by County/District Attorney Jimmy Davis to hold Smith's proposed agenda items, and ask the other commissioners whether they wanted to discuss them before placing them on the agenda.

Smith's proposed agenda included:

1. Harold Hyman and others—redistricting to satisfy the US Justice Dept. and other entities.
2. Jack Dyer—allow full-time workers to work 40 hours a week.
3. Doug Higgins — not to discriminate against Pct. 1.
4. Ray Joe Riley — accept donation for part-time labor for Pct. 1.
5. Improve roads the most economical way in Pct. 1.
6. Bruce Bridges and Paul Armstrong—allow Pct. 1 to improve the roads.
7. Accept donations of rock fly ash from Depauw Construction.
8. If the commissioners continue to use Bob Bass, to require him to bill the county on the sixth and 21st of each month.
9. Put fly ash in a driveway for an experiment.
10. Get legislation to allow us an alternate for Workers' Compensation.

Smith told the commissioners that he has knowledge of a suit that may be filed against the county on the redistricting plan.

Feedlots can help protect groundwater

Feedlot operators and crop producers are teaming up to solve some problems before they become serious. And in the process, they're helping protect the water supplies for urban and rural residents alike.

Information from a research project conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Cattle Feeders Association and Texas Agricultural Extension Service is helping farmers and cattle feeders put nutrients in feedlot manure back into cropland in ways that don't endanger water supplies.

The manure from cattle in feedlots contains many nutrients cropland can use. But the questions researchers are trying to answer concern how much manure can be used, and how to apply it to avoid problems such as rainfall runoff contaminating water supplies.

The Extension Service and Texas Cattle Feeders Association will hold meetings with growers and feedlot operators to explain the economics and management of manure as a fertilizer.

The researchers at Etter, north of Amarillo, are investigating the impact of applying more than 20 tons of feedlot waste per acre every three years, compared to equally high rates of inorganic nitrogen and phosphorous fertilizers. The initial application of manure was made in late November 1990.

"In the past, we've primarily looked at manure from a fertilization standpoint," said Thomas Marek, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Amarillo.

"Good management is the key," Marek said. "It would appear that 20 tons an acre every three years is an acceptable level of manure application in an irrigated crop, if proper management practices are followed."

"The manure must be applied according to a nutrient management plan," he stressed. "An even distribution of the manure is critical."

Preliminary results indicate, among other findings, that the low-nitrate nitrogen concentrations in the manure run off from furrow irrigations meet the drinking water standards of the Environmental Protection Agency.

The study appears to show favorable promise of adequate nutrient use by the crop and to be environmentally safe, protecting area water resources while using surplus feedlot organic waste, the researchers said.

The study points out ways farmers and ranchers can benefit while protecting the environment, said Dr. John Sweeten, agricultural engineer and waste management specialist with the Extension Service. Feedyards are a major market for feed grain producers. Cropland can use feedlot manure for fertilizer to replenish and often improve the soil, while meeting environmental safeguards, according to Sweeten.

"It takes about 4,500 acres of dryland or 2,250 acres of irrigated cropland for the manure from every 10,000 head of cattle," Sweeten said.

Texas feedyards annually feed some five million head of cattle. Feedyards in Swisher County and four adjoining counties including Castro feed about 1.3 million head a year, said Tom McDonald of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

Since the 1950s, cattle feeding has been a major agricultural industry on the High Plains. In the Texas Panhandle, growers produce grain on four million irrigated acres.
