READ THIS FROM A ~ PROMINENT RAILROAD MAN

Mr. John W. Hager, Fuel Inspector of the N. C. & St. L. Ry., living at 3008 Carlide, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "During the fall of 1914 I had the grippe for six weeks and had three doctors. One bottle of Lung-Vita did me more good than all of the medicine they had given me. Last winter my little boy had the whooping cough and we thought he would never be well again. We tried everything we could think of, with no results, until we used Lung-Vita. After using this medicine he is well and hardy and has never been bothered any more. We would not be with-out it in our home." Use Lung-Vita for consumption, asthma, coughs, croup, colds, and whooping cough. What Is Coming?

Mr. R. G. Wells is more interested, ing. so he tells us in his latest book, "What Is Coming?" in the tomorrow than in the today. The past he regards simply as material for future guessing. Remembering his many successful forecasts of previous years, this latest volume, in which he deals with social conditions after the war, is possessed of great significance. How are people going to make up the waste of the world's resources, the killing of a large majority of the men in nearly every European country, universal loss and unhappiness? What, in short, is in store for the next generation?

Laps.

His prowess as a walker was the subject of Jenkins' boasting one day. "One holiday," he said, loudly, "I se lected a course measuring four miles over the country, and timed myself. The result was that in one hour I covered 12 miles in three laps."

He waited for the exclamations of amazement, which did not come. Instead, one of his listeners remarked in

"That's nothing special. I know a young lady who once did 60 miles all in one lap, and she would have returned in the same lap, only I got a cramp so badly in the legs!"

Every man who knows it all seldom gets a chance to tell it after he gets married.

Galician Town of Wieliczka is Built Over Most Wonderful Caverns in World.

Wieliczka, in Galicia, is an interesting town, not for what is in it, but for what is under it. The salt mines there are the greatest in the world, and the most wonderful. They form what amounts to an underground town, which might have suggested to Jules Verne his underground community in the Children of the Cavern. The Wieliczka salt mine is two and cne-half miles long from east to west and 1,050 yards wide from north to south. It has seven levels, the lowest being nearly a thousand feet deep, and is entered by eleven shafts. The different levels are connected by flights of steps hewn out of the rock salt. In the mine there are chapels, tramways, a railway and railway station, a ballroom (with a regular orchestra) and several other halls, all hewn out of the rock salt with elaborate architectural decoration. For a hundred years the mine has belonged to the Austrian government. It employed a thousand has become predatory in its habits and workpeople and turned out 60,000 tons of salt a year.

There are 65 miles of pony tramways and 22 miles of railway in the Wieliczka salt mines. The oldest "building" in the mine is the Chapel of St. Anthony, dating from 1691. It contains three altars, a pulpit and much statuary, all elaborately carved out of rock salt. But services are now held only in the more modern but equally elaborate Chapel of St. Cunigund, which is entered down 46 salt steps. The chapel is 50 yards long, 15 yards wide and 30 feet high, and is used regularly for worship. The ballroom is a huge place, where miners' festivals are often held. A miners' orchestra plays regularly in this hall not only for the dances, but for the entertainment of visitors, for the mine is one of the wonders of the world and is much visway. The mine has been worked for at least 800 years.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine -Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:

North Crandon, Wis. — "When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."-Mrs. MAYME ASBACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla. - "When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham" Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."-Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it." — Mrs. B. M. Osgoon, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

Railway Strike Imminent

The conference between the parties to the pending controversy over the eight hour basic day and the president ended on Monday without hope of agreement. The president went before congress on Monday afternoon asking for legislation to prevent strike calamity.

In the mean time the strike has been called for 7:00 a.m., Monday, September 4th, when all enginemen and trainmen have been ordered to walk out. the instructions the employees are enjoyned to keep off railroad property.

Mr. Ripy, under the same date, August 30th, issued notice to the public, through station agents, as follows: That the company will not be responsible for any delays to travelers after 7.00 a. m. September 4th; that freight received after that hour will be received subject to indefinite delay, shipping bills to be so endorsed; perishable property, live stock, explosives will not be accepted until further notice; that the company, as far as in its power, will provide transportation for the health and subsistence of the communities dependent upon it; to move at least one train a day each way for the transportation of passengers, mail, and express; to gradually expand these activities so far as is practical.

At the present writing it is not known to what extent the men on the Pecos Valley line will take part in the strike. It is a foregone conclusion, however, that a strike of this general character will be a hardship to the public as a whole.

> The white pine blister rust is caused by a fungus somewhat similar to the fungi which are responsible for wheat rust and cedar apple rust. This fungus attacks pines that bear their needles in bunches of five each, a classification which includes twelve native varieties and nine imported ones. In addition to these species, both wild and cultivated currants and gooseberries are not only susceptible to the disease but are essential to its spread. The complicated part which these plants play in the dissemination of the rust is explained in a new publication of the department, Farmers' Bulletin 742.

In this bulletin, too, the characteristic symptoms of the disease are described with Illustrations. The easiest for the ordinary tree owner to detect are the irregular swellings in the bark which may appear at any time from a few months to six years after infection. In the spring the fruiting bodies of the parasites thrust themselves from within through the swellen bark and form whitish blisters as large as (Prepared by the United States Depart- | gooseberries. An examination of such bushes in the vicinity of white pine is. therefore, essential in ascertaining the extent of the disease and the probability of further infection.

From June 1 till the time the leaves the mealy yellow masses which, hardly larger than a pinhead, may yet be so abundant as to cover a large part of the lower surface of the leaf. Later in the fall the lower surface of the leaf is also marked by short, hairy out-

It is known that the rust was brought into this country in nursery stock from Europe. Trees grown from such imported stock, therefore, are much more from seed in this country, for the rust is not transmitted in seed, but in nursery stock only. Owners of planted trees, therefore, are urged to investigate the history of their trees even when they show no evidence of infection. If it cannot be proved that the trees were grown from seed in this country, they should be watched closely and continually for dead tops and side branches. If there is any reason to suspect the existence of the rust, arrangements can be made with the department of agriculture at Washingon for an inspection by experts. This inspection is regarded as a most necessary measure for the protection not only of the owner of the individual stand in question but for the protection of every owner of white pine in the neighborhood. The destruction of incted stock is imperative if the spread of the disease is to be checked.

Another precaution urged in the buletin already mentioned is the requireent, in purchasing trees, of a guaranthat they have been raised under nditions which effectually have safeguarded them from danger.

The State Democratic Ticket

The Democrats of the state of New Mexico have met and have nominated a ticket. Not all the aspirants for public office were successful, yet those who failed of a nomination took their defeat philosophically and left the convention hall enthusiastic for the support of those who were more fortunate. Ezequiel C. De Baca, at present heutenant governor, was the almost unanimous choice of the convention for governor after it was learned that Governor McDonald would not, under any circumstances, per- For Commissioner Public Lands mit his name to go before the convention. Mr. De Baca is one of the foremost statesmen of the state, honest, loyal and firm in his convictions of what constitutes right, either politically or in private life. During the sessions of the infamous legislatures past he stood like a rock and interposed all the powers of the president of the senate between the unscrupulous two-thirds Republican majority and the many graft measures sought to be put across by it. He was the one friend Governor McDonald had at court during the recent attempted raids by the aforementioned two-thirds majority on the state treasury, and he stood valiantly by him on all occasions. Mr. De Baca will make a governor that every citizen of the state will have reason to be proud of.

Governor McDonald never more truly exemplified his greatness and his devotion to his party and to good government than when he agreed to step down from the highest position in the state to accept one of less importance, but, as he expressed it, "How could he refuse to stand by and support with all his personality a man who for the past five years had stood by him and given him all his strength of character at a time when it was sorely needed." Governor McDonald is a bigger man today than he was as simply governor of the state, bigger in his manhood and bigger in the hearts of the people.

A. A. Jones is a character of now national reputation and one who can neither be exalted by praise nor cast down by political enemies. His record as first assistant secretary of the interior has proved his worth as a statesman and his ability as an official. He was the close friend and confidant of President Woodrow Wilson during the time of his incumbency in office and that friendship has ripened into implicit trust and a complete understanding of the resourcefulness and wisdom of Mr. Jones. election to the United States senate will give the president one more staunch, loyal and well equipped friend in the senate in the stead of Mr. A. Candidate Hughes, "one hundred per cent candidate," s fast developing into a chronic fault finder. He is out of harmony with his party, out of harmony with the great masses of the people of the nation, and he will be out of politics after November 7th, next. His public speeches ave been a bore to his hearers and a keen disappointment o his friends. It would have been much nearer the facts and he declared himself one per cent candidate and niner-sine per cent pessimist. However, the agony will be over and he will be forgotten.

-James Lane Allen. SUCCESSFUL CAKE MAKING.

How rarely one meets a perfect cake and yet cakes are usually the first accomplisament of the new cook. A girl loves to make a cake long before she appreciates the value of a well made loaf of bread. To be a good cake maker one must first be accurate, a good mixer. and a faithful watcher of the oven.

A perfect cake must have fine delicate and a faithful watcher of the oven. texture, very tender and free from any suggestion of sogginess, yet moist. It must be light as a feather, and of good flavor, good to look at and more delicious to the taste. With all these qualifications it is certainly an art to produce a perfect cake; it takes a deft hand with careful attention to detail. The fame of a good cook was not earned by making good cakes, for it is use a definite proportion of sugar only. a more desirable accomplishment to be able to broil a steak, properly cook an egg or prepare a piece of toast, or highest of all make a standard loaf of bread. Some of the main points to observe in making cake it will be profitable to dwell upon. Have all of the ingredients ready as well as the utensils before starting in, because at the critical appearance and taste ready for the moment something vital may be lacking which will spoil the result. Have the butter, if used, soft, not melted, but so soft that it quickly creams; add with water and use for jelly or a good the sugar gradually, mixing it well; have extra eggs so that if there should be a stale one you need not leave to get another. Break all eggs in a small dish one at a time so that no accident such as putting a bad egg into a dish with several good ones, occurs. Make sure that the oven is ready by the time the cake is ready for it. process. The success of a cake depends largely upon its baking. One may put care into the mixing and making of a cake and ruin it by careless attention to it when it is in the oven. Cakes that contain a large amount of eggs, especially whites stiffly beaten, should bake in a slow oven. Cakes that contain fruit and molasses should also bake in a slow oven. Cakes that require slow cooking are best baked in sheet iron or heavy tin as they are better protected from the direct heat.

Spice Cakes.—Beat an egg, add twothirds of a cupful of molasses, two thirds of a cupful of sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of soft butter, and two and one-half cupfuls of flour and a cupful of milk; two teaspoonfule of cupful of milk; two teaspoonfuls of lette Maywell state of affairs for those who are Harper's Barner.

With Electric Starter and Electric Lights

L IKE larger and higher priced cars this new Overland is the latest streamline design. In point of appearance alone it has value far surpassing any other low priced car. And its equipment includes everything that riding comfort and driving convenience demands. It has the reliable Autolite two-unit starting and lighting system. There is a speedometer in the cowl dash, and a full set of tools. Large tires—four inches all around—insure greater mileage and comfort than can be obtained from the smaller tires used on other cars of similar specifications, and the rear springs are the famous cantilever type. It is in every respect a thoroughly equipped light weight car.

Carnations and Old-Fashioned Pinks Are Fine for the Hardy Garden.

NOW

By E. VAN BENTHUYSEN.

A hardy garden is the garden for the busy woman. It will last for years and be a delight to her and to her neighbors with a very little care.

Take a careful survey of your resources and make a study of your own individual problem. "Book taught" gardeners may be all right up to a certain limit, but one season's experiment along your own lines will give you an insight into plant life that. sside from being a most fascinating study, will teach you more than years of reading.

Those who wish to plant roses and not bother with them more than to prune and fertilize annually and keep the ground mellow about the plants should plant hybrid perpetual roses. The hybrid perpetuals are the hardiest of roses and will stand more cold dinary garden soil luxuriantly, and weather than any other species.

The following are desirable specimens: Anne de Diesbach, bright carmine; Baroness Rothschild, an exquisite pink; La France, blooms all summer: Frau Karl Druschki, snow white, has splendid buds and immense flowers four to five inches across, and is delightfully fragrant; General Jacqueminot, a popular rose of brilliant red; Paul Neyron, lovely dark pink; Gruss an Teplitz, a strong, vigorous grower, of richest crimson; Killarney, both pink and white, are hardy, and Mrs. John Laing, a rose of delicious fragrance and of a rich satiny pink

This list could be extended indefinitely, but these are all tried and true varieties that will give you a world of bloom and be a picture worth looking the fall.

Iris (fleur-de-lis), the national flower of France, is another perfect ly hardy plant. They grow in any or bloom in June. The German iris should be planted largely where cut flowers are in demand, as it certainly is the best of its class.

Perhaps the most showy and gor geous of the iris family is the Japanese iris. The flowers are often ten inches in diameter and bloom in July. There are many beautiful colors among both iris. MANY USES FOR SOURED MILK

Beverage That Has Become Stale May Be Made Good in a Variety of Ways.

If the housewife will paste these recipes in her cookbook, it will not be a catastrophe when she finds the milk or cream has soured. She may even find that the family likes the new things better than what she had planned.

Cake.-Cream one cupful of sugar and one cupful of shortening together. Sift together one and one-half cupfuls of flour and a teaspoonful of soda, cloves, cinnamon, and nutmeg and add it to the sugar, alternately with a cupful of sour milk. Chop a couple of raisins, sprinkle them with half a cupful of flour and add to mixture. Frost with a soft chocolate icing.

Cherry Pudding.—Beat one egg with a third of a cupful of sugar. Add a cupful of sour milk in which a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved, and a teaspoonful of melted butter. Then add a cupful of stoned cherries. Bake in a hot oven and serve with vanilla sauce.

Sour Cream Pie.-Beat two eggs till light, then add a cupful of sugar, a cupful of thick sour cream, half a cupful of raisins and half a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg. Bake between two crusts.

Dressing for Cold Slaw.-Whip a cupful of sour cream till stiff, then add half a cupful of vinegar, slowly, half a cupful of sugar, and salt to Ginger Rolls.—Cream half a cupful of sugar with half a cupful of shortening. Add one egg, well beaten, a cupful of molasses and a cupful of sour milk in which a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Sift a half teaspoonful each of cloves, cinnamon, ginger, and nutmeg with a cupful of flour and add. Then add enough more flour to make a rather stiff batter. Bake in gem pans.

Hermits.—Beat one egg and add a half cupful of butter. Then add half a cupful of sour cream, a teaspoonful of soda, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, spice to taste, and half a cupful each of chopped walnuts and raisins. Mix soft and drop from a spoon. These will keep a long time.

Sour Cream Filling for Cakes .---Whip a half cupful of sour cream and add half a cupful of powdered sugar and half a cupful of blanched almonds, chopped fine. Flavor with vanilla,

Pancakes.—Dissolve half a teaspoonful of soda in two cupfuls of sour milk and add one and one-half cupfuls of bread crumbs, one tablespoonful of with a cupful of tea when a friend adaptable to most conditions, but in melted butter and two or three eggs. drops in. a soil deeply dug and well enriched Enough flour must be added to make

One cupful of boiled and blanched macaroni, three eggs, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of flour, one cupful of thin cream or rich milk, salt and pepper, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese.

Beat the eggs and stir the flour into them, then add the milk, salt and pepper; cut the macaroni into small pieces and stir into the eggs. Melt the butter in a baking dish and, when smoking hot, pour in the eggs and macaroni. Sprinkle the cheese over the top and bake until eggs are set. Serve immediately.

Mushrooms au Gratin.

For this appetizing dish select a dozen big mushrooms, trim and peel them and separate the tops and stalks. Chop the stalks fine, with two tablespoonfuls of parsley and two tablespoonfuls of fat bacon. Add salt and pepper to taste and two eggs, beaten well. Put the dozen tops of the mushrooms in a buttered baking dish and then add the chopped mixture. Sprinkle the top with fine bread crumbs and melted butter and bake until brown.

Practical Suggestion.

Immediately after using your eggbeater, wash it in cold water, which will easily dislodge the particles of egg, whereas hot water cooks them and fastens them obstinately to the beater.

Honey Pots. There have been many honey pots made of china to simulate hives, but the latest has a number of realistic china bees, with wings raised for Right, scattered over it.

Gerry ate ravenously and sipped the coffee, at first sparingly, then greedily. The old negress fluttered nervously about the stove, nursing its inadequate fire of charcoal. a sigh. The rusks had been delicious. Before the coffee the name of nectar dwindled to impotency. Its elixir rioted in his veins. At the sigh the girl had deftly rolled a cigarette in a bit of corn husk, scraped thin as paper. Now she slipped it into his fingers. The old negress picked up a live coal and, passing it from shaky hand to shaky hand, deposited it on his plate. Gerry lit the cigarette. With the first long contented whiff he smiled. The smile brought stinging recollection. With a frown he threw away the cigarette and rose from the table. "The brut, is fed and laughs," be said aloud and strode from the room. The gir! and the little wrinkled woman looked at each other in dismay. They seemed to sense the unintelligible words. The old darky crawled across the floor and possessed himself of the cigarette.

Gerry went to seat himself on the steps of the veranda. Before him stretched the fallow valley, beyond it gleamed the black line of the rushing river. To the right were the ruins of a sugar mill and stables. To the left the debris that once had been slaves' quarters. The fields still bore the hummocks, in rough alignment, that told the story of past years fruitful in cane. All was waste, all was ruin.

The girl slipped to a seat beside him. She rolled a fresh cigarette and then feel it. Nance was there with the shyly laid a small brown hand on his arm. Gerry looked at her. Her blg brown eyes were sorrowful and pleading. She held out the cigarette with a little shrug that deprecated the small ness of the offering.

Gerry felt a twinge of remorse. He patted the hand that lay on his arm, smiled, and took the cigarette. The girl's face lit up. She called and again the negress brought fire. This time Gerry smoked gravely. The girl sat on beside him. Her hand lay in his. So they sat until the sun passed the

In the cool of the evening he looked about him. The tiny world into which he had fallen was penurious but selftable and placed before him crisp contained. Such fabrics as there were, rusks of manioc flour and steaming were homespun from the bolls of a scraggy patch of cotton bushes. A little oil in a clay dish with a twisted scene and through the nostrils reached wick of cotton giving forth more smoke than light seemed to fix him in his setting of prehistoric man. The rice, gathered from an enduring bottom, formed with manioc, the backbone of the household's sustenance. From the outcrops of the abandoned cane fields, with the assistance of an antediluvian hand-mill and an equally antiquated fron pot, they made the black sirup that served for sugar. Salt, slightly alkaline, was plentiful. A few cows and their progeny lived in the open and lived well, for, even untilled, the lands of the valley were rich. An occasional member of the herd was carried off to market by the old darky. The proceeds bought the very few contributions of civilization necessary to the upkeep of the lenten life.

Gerry decided. He looked at the girl and she ran to him. He put his arms around her and gazed with a sort of numbed emotion into her great dark eyes. Those eyes were wells of simplicity, love, fidelity, but below all that there were depths unmeasured and unmeasuring that gave all and de-

In the mind of the husband who believed himself deserted and betrayed there no longer existed any barrier between him and this woman who had come so strangely into his life. Marriage with her was no wrong to Alix. The last scruples of civilization and of law fell from him like a garment thrown aside and he became the husband of the girl who had so innocently king up a river gorge to a crossing. After lunch and the long rest we still had ten miles to go to cross and it didn't help things to know that once over we had to come straight back on the other side. During the first bour's march in the afternoon we heard the strangest sound that ever those wilds gave forth. It was like hammering on steel but we refused to believe our ears until a sudden curve brought us bang up against the Indisputable fact of a girder-bridge in the throes of construction. Before the thought of the sacrilege to the game country-before we could see in this noisy monstrosity the root of our recent bad luck—came the glad thought that we didn't have to do ten miles up that gorge and ten back. We would have whooped except that men don't whoop in Africa-it scares the game.

"I said the bridge was in the throes of construction. It was just that. Its two long girders, reaching from brink hanging underneath, fairly swarmed were black. It was that that brought us to a full stop and just when our eyes were fixed with the intensity of discovery, one of the workers looked grunt which stands in Landin for 'Just look at that!' in English.

"The babbling and hammering around him ceased, but while he still stared at us, we saw a veritable apparition. A white man, hung between heaven and the depths of the gorge, was racing along the top of the slippery girder. His belmet blew off, bung poised, and then plunged in long tacking sweeps. The black with the blood trickling off his back rested long enough to get his breath and then climbed back to his place on the girder. He was grinning. Don't ask me to explain it. Men have died trying to explain Africa.

"The white man had stopped and dling, on the girder, and switched the sjambok to and fro. His eyes were blazing. From his lips dropped a patter of all the vile words in Landin, Swahili and a half a dozen other dialects—the words that a white man learns first if he listens to natives. The jargon seemed to incite the blacks. about meeting Alan in Africa," said They worked as clumsily as ever but harder. They started to sing, as the special burst of speed. Then the white man walked off the girder on our side, out of the way. 'Now's our time.' I was already under way. I walked up to the white man and asked him if he could let us across. He glanced around as if he hadn't seen our outfit till that moment and then he looked me square

"And right there I saw the light. To us two the mystery of Ten Percent Wayne was revealed. He could drive men. He could make bricks without straw. While work was on, nothing else mattered. Right and wrong were measured by the needs of that bridge and death was too good for the shirker. And with the light I forgot the brute in the man tearing along the dizzy height of the girder to lash a loafer and only remembered that he had risked his life to avenge just one moment stolen from the day's work."

J. Y. swung around and threw open the door. He sprang forward and caught Clem in the act of flight. He brought her back into the room and sat down, holding her upright beside him. J. Y. was proud and for a moment Collingeford's presence galled him. "What were you doing, Clem?"

Clematis was in that degree of embarrassment and disarray which makes lovely youth a shade more lovely. Her brown hair was tumbled about her face and down her back. Her cheeks were flushed and her thin

"Why, Clem!" said J. Y. gravely. Clem looked around on the four men. She did not seem afraid. Unconsciously they waited for her to go on, and she did. "Mr. Collingeford was telling gress of 1915 which shows a great inabout Alan. I heard Charley say he drop when anyone tells about Alan."

For a second her auditors were stunned by the audacity. Collingea bang. "Bully for you, young 'un!" he cried and his clear laugh could be heard on the lawn. Before it was patted Clem's shoulder and smiled.

Clem was of the salt of the earth among womankind-the kind that waits to weep till the battle is over and then becomes a thousand times more dear in her weakness. Her big eyes had been welling with tears and now they jumped the barrier just as Nance rushed in and cried, "What are you all laughing at?" Then she caught sight of Clem. From her she looked around on the men. "You four big hulking brutes," she said. "Come to me, Clem, you darling. What have they been doing to you? There, there, don't cry. Men are silly things. What if they did laugh at you?"

Clem was sobbing on Nance's shoulder. "It isn't that," she gasped. "I don't-mind-that! But Mr. Collingeford ca-called me a 'young one.' "

The three gray-heads kept their faces with difficulty. Collingeford leaped to his feet "My dear young ady-Miss Clematis-" he stammered, 'my word, now! I didn't mean it. Swear I didn't. I'll do anything if you'll only stop crying. Do stop and listen to me. I'll grovel."

There was an increase of over 1,000,000 lbs. of creamery butter produced, as against the frevious year, about 260,000 lbs. increase in dairy butter and over 25,000 lbs. increase in the cheese output. The increase of the total value of milk and milk products was over $427,000. The production of dairy butter for Manitoba during the year was 4,150,444 lbs. and it brought an average price of 23c per lb.; of creamery butter 5,839,667 ibs, were produced which commanded 29c per lb. on the average; cheese production was 726,725 lbs, which sold at an average price of 15c-the total value of these three products is given as $2,760.698, in addition to which the milk produced is valued at $925,659 and the cream at $158,827, the average price of the milk being reckoned at 2.1c per lb. and of sweet cream at 32c per lb. butter-fat. In connection with the dairy industry it is interesting to note that almost the most important fodder crop now is corn, of which the 1915 production amounted to 190,132 tons. The biggest cultivated fodder crop is timothy which for last season produced $93,357 tons and the next most popular crop was brome grass with 45,815 tons; of alfalfa and clover there were produced some 38,000 tons. The number of cattle in the province is given as 631,005, which is an increase of 130,000 over the previous

> The fact that the Red Deer, Alberta, cheese factory is handling four times as much milk this season as last winter shows the growing improvement in the dairy industry. On Feb. 14, it was announced the factory had just shipped two tons of cheese for Calgary

Cardston, Alberta, creamery in 1915 paid its patrons a rate of 27%c per lb. for butter fat and had a profit remaining over all expenses of $5,584. The creamery during season distributed among farmers $61,117 and manufactured 256,000 lbs. butter and 13,000 lbs. cheese. Average price realized for butter was 281/4 cents.

The development of the dairy industry of Northern Alberta is well indicated by the growth of a prominent dairy business here, which in 1915 produced 2,525,000 lbs. butter, an increase of 400,000 lbs. over the previous year. This product has found a market in all parts of Canada and this year will enter the export trade. Advertisement.

OUR FALL DRY GOODS

Our new goods for fall and winter are coming in by every train from the east. While many lines of goods have advanced in price, yet we are showing many lines of staple merchandise at old prices. All kinds of merchandise are advancing all the time; raw cotton is expected to go to twenty cents per pound; raw wool is now thirty cents per pound; the highest prices for these commodities since the civil war. This is double what cotton and wool were worth four years ago, so we can expect higher prices for all merchandise. We buy for cash, we sell for cash. Quick sales and small profits.
