New Road Law for the State

It appears, from a report in the Roswell News, that we are to have a new road law; that the county road board is to be done away with and a board of three substituted in its place. This arrangement might be all right as long as eastern New Mexico has the governor, but when this condition has passed and the chief executive shall be taken from the west side there will be a bit mighty little state road work done on the east side of the slope. The following is taken from the Roswell News:

"Dr. S. M. Johnson came in by auto from Santa Fe this afternoon, where he has been in attendance at the State Highways Association. He says that an agreement has been reached as to road legislation and that action may be expected at this session. The State Highway Commission is to be composed of three, no state official being eligible. These are to be appointed by the governor. These three employ an expert road engineer for the state, who is to be the active agent of the commission. Thus the movement started in Roswell to eliminate the governors has born fruit. The county road boards are to be discontinued and instead county road administration is to revert to the county commissioners, who are to employ a road superintendent, presumably an engineer to be recommended by the state engineer. The provisions of the federal road law are to be accepted and co-operative funds are to be raised by levy rather than by bond issue."

Mrs. M. F. Jabara returned Wednesday from Roswell where she had been in attendance on her husband at the St. Mary's hospital.

State Bank Examiner Here

Saturday of last week Mr. R. H. Carter, state bank examiner, was here investigating the condition of the Portales Bank and Trust company. Mr. Carter stated that this institution was in splendid condition and the only fault he found was that they were carrying too much reserve in the bank. He believes that money is better usefully employed than in lying in the vault, however, he said that if that was a fault, it was a mighty good one and proved more than anything else that Roosevelt county was prosperous and that her people had money that was not in use. He also said that the paper carried by this bank was in splendid shape, few or no past due notes being in evidence. The Portales Bank and Trust company must be among the top.

Ben Smith and Coe Howard have leased the Judge W. E. Lindsey office, near the News, and are having it refitted and fixed up for their occupancy. These gentlemen are not partners but will occupy the building together.

Coffey Has Sold Out

C. A. Coffey, of Elida, has sold his general merchandise store at that place to Messrs. Courtney & Herbert and this firm is busy invoicing this week. Mr. Coffey says that he expects to remain in the undertaking business and to make Elida his home. His reason for selling was that his wife's health was not such that he wished her to remain in the store and his business required him to be away so much that it was necessary for her to devote much of her time to the business.

New Hope News

During the last two months quite a few have gone west to prospect and locate in new homes under the late homestead act, and all seem to be mighty well pleased over the prospects. Most everybody who had a filing coming has used it now.

County Superintendent Sam J. Stinnett paid the school a very pleasant visit on Washington's birthday. The visit was very encouraging to both pupils and teacher, and all hope that his office duties will not be so stringent as to keep him from coming again.

Quite a few Texans have passed through here to stop with old friends and relatives while on their way to the west, and some have visited here from other states.

School is doing pretty well with an attendance of forty, but has suffered from lack of room, lack of time for individual aid, bad weather, and other causes. Last Friday a short program was rendered, and there were a number of visitors. These visits from the patrons ought to be more often.

With the recent good weather most of the farming is as far advanced as is possible at this time of the year, the land all being put up and a pretty good season in the ground.

Generally the stock are wintering pretty good notwithstanding the shortage of feed.

O. Taylor has sold his car to Paul Brown, of Portales, who took over the star route with it. Very probably the community will lose Mr. Taylor as one of its citizens.

This community does not seem to have been so hard hit by the much talked of hard times. Most everybody is selling a lot of cream and eggs, raising their own meat, and "living at home." In fact, some of the people have been selling feed at the prevailing prices.

Mitt Price has been very busy of late weighing up maize, and Jeff Keeter is reported to have hauled a lot of bound feed to Portales for a fancy price.

E. B. Neal returned the first of the week from the border and has accepted a position with the Portales garage.

Lum Ackers Badly Hurt

Columbus (Lum) Ackers, of Elida, was the victim of an automobile wreck last Tuesday in which he was dangerously injured. It appears that the front wheel of the car came off, upsetting the machine and dumping the occupants on the ground. Mr. Ackers was the only one that sustained any serious injuries. The wreck occurred near Pearson. Dr. J. S. Pearce was hurried to the scene of the accident and the injured man brought to Portales as quickly as possible. At last accounts he was doing as well as could be expected from the nature of the wounds.

Mrs. Sam J. Nixon and Mrs. G. W. Carr and nephew, Joe Moss, arrived from Fort Sumner for a few days visit with friends. Mrs. Nixon reports that they are doing nicely at their new home.

Now Carries a Trailer

Paul Jones, the Redland mail carrier, has added a trailer to his car for the purpose of carrying the mail sacks and parcels. This gives him the advantage of being able to carry a full car of passengers. The trailer was bought from Coe Howard, agent.

WILLIAMSON-OLDHAM CATTLE COMPANY CLOSE BIGGEST TRADE EVER MADE IN THE COUNTY

Sold Twelve Hundred and Fifty Head of Cattle for Eighty Thousand Dollars, or Sixty-Two Dollars and Fifty Cents a Head, to Slimmer & Thomas, of St. Paul, Minnesota

This was a Bunch of Calves Bought Last May from the Slaughter Ranch for Forty-Two Dollars and Fifty Cents a Round, Making a Gross Profit of Twenty Dollars a Head, Demonstrating that there is Yet Good Money in the Cow Business

The Williamsen-Oldham Cattle company this week closed the largest cattle deal that has ever been pulled off in Roosevelt county. They sold to Slimmer and Thomas, of St. Paul, Minnesota, twelve hundred and fifty head of cattle for the sum of eighty thousand dollars. These cattle were what are known as the Slaughter bunch, and were bought the first of last may for $42.50 per head. The price at which they were sold is $62.50 per head, a gross profit of $20.00 a round. This bunch of stuff was, of course, exceptionally good yet the price paid for them is, also, something considerably above the average. The small cow man who has been paying, what he considered, big prices for cattle, will now realize that he has bought well worth the money. This sale also demonstrates that there is yet big money to be made in the cow business.

Tree Growing Association

To the Portales Valley News:

At the request of some of our people we would ask that all who are interested in growing wind-breaks to shelter our homes, live stock, orchards and gardens, to meet at the court house during district court to form a tree growing association. Would like to have every community in the county represented.

C. L. CARTER,
CHAS. SANDERS.

Monroe Honea has severed his connection with the Highway garage and has opened an automobile salesroom in the Howard block. He has the agency for the Buicks and Maxwells. Mr. Honea is an experienced salesman and should dispose of a considerable number of these excellent cars.

Mrs. Jeff Hightower and daughter, Miss Mattie Doss, of Taiban, were in the city Sunday visiting friends. Miss Mattie Doss is teaching in the Taiban schools and is making good.

James A. Hall has been appointed United States commissioner vice W. E. Lindsey, resigned. This is a position that has been held by Mr. Lindsey for the past fifteen years.

Miss Hazelwood Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Moore, was in the city Sunday from Taiban, at which place she has a position as teacher in the public schools.

E. B. Hawkins, the owner of the only bunch of registered Hereford cattle in Roosevelt county, was an Elida visitor on Monday of this week.

John W. Puckett, an old time resident of this neighborhood, was in town from Amarillo, Texas, Sunday.

A. A. Beeman, cashier of the First National bank of Elida was a business visitor in Portales Monday.

Price of a Tree.

The owner of an apartment house was ordered to pay $45 for a maple tree which he ordered cut down, not knowing that it was city property. Expert testimony determined the cost of replacing the tree.

When a tree is felled and cut up into logs its commercial value is easily calculated, but the worth of a standing tree—especially one within the city limits—is hardly to be determined, except for the very practical purpose of penalizing its destroyer.

The early settler, with the forest to contend with, proceeds to clear the land about his home, so that not a sapling survives. Towns in the midst of what, a generation ago, was Michigan's timber belt, are treeless, or practically so, and summer's sun and winter's wind find no obstruction to their violence. Yet in cities trees are appreciated.

It must be that our eyes were intended to receive more green than any other, since trees are turf are absolutely necessary to save any prospect from bleakness. Every tree in Detroit is precious, and it is reassuring to learn that one cannot be felled without due action from the authorities.—Detroit News.

Hunt for Missing Link?

Fran Leonora Selenka of Munich is one of the three foreign delegates to the recent convocation of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New York on her way to Orotava, Tenerife, one of the Canary Islands, where she has established a station for the study of the psychology of the ape.

Fran Selenka hopes by her work in Tenerife to establish some of the conclusions reached during an expedition to Trinidad, Java, in search of remains of the pithecanthropus, or ape man, popularly known as the "missing link."

Fran Selenka is bearing all the expenses of the new work in Tenerife as a memorial to her husband, the late Prof. Emil Selenka, who was a distinguished student of the structure of the higher apes. The studies of the apes at Tenerife will be carried on without the knowledge of the beasts themselves.

Pat's Wish.

When Patrick McGinnagan became a member of the police force a delegation of his friends burst in upon him while he was at dinner, and presented him with a handsome truncheon in honor of his popularity and their esteem.

Completely bewildered by this unexpected token, the new policeman, nevertheless, struggled to his feet and stammered his appreciation.

"Friends, ye have upset me wild yer kindness," he said, flourishing the truncheon. "Och! try an' do my duty wid this little shillabig, an' I hope an' trust that Irvy won here'll live 't' feel its indulgence."

Opinion By Attorney General

January 6, 1917.

Hon. L. C. Mersfelder,
Senator from Curry County,
Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 6th inst. making inquiry as to whether or not a herd law is in force in Curry county. In reply will say that Chapter 94 of the laws of the territorial legislature of 1909, provides for the establishment of a herd law in the counties of Quay and Roosevelt and a portion of the county of Guadalupe. At the time of the introduction of the bill Curry county had not been created. Later Curry county was created. By the provisions of chapter 138 of the said laws of 1909 the provisions of chapter 94 were extended to the county of Curry. In my opinion this legislation provided for the establishment of a herd law in these counties, and such law would remain in force until repealed.

The state legislature of the session of 1915 passed an act to codify the laws of the state of New Mexico. The codification adopted is now known as the code of 1915. The herd law referred to and passed in 1909 is not embraced in the code of 1915. The question then arises as to whether or not this herd law was repealed by reason of its omission from the code of 1915. The repealing clause of the code of 1915 provides as follows:

"All acts and parts of acts of a general and permanent nature not contained in this codification, are hereby repealed."

Had the herd law referred to been an act of general and permanent nature I am of the opinion that the same would have been repealed by reason of being omitted from the Code of 1915. Said herd law was not of a general nature, but was of the nature of special or local legislation and pertained only to the counties of Quay, Curry and Roosevelt and a part of the county of Guadalupe, and in my opinion was not repealed by the codification act, but has the same validity and force as it had before the passage of the codification act.

Yours very truly,

HARRY L. PATTON,
Attorney General.

Mrs. F. J. Hardin left Thursday of this week for Curry, this state, for a six weeks visit with the families of A. L. Chesher and R. W. Eastland.

Woman's Club Meeting

The Woman's Club had a get together meeting on Washington's birthday at the home of Mrs. P. E. Jordan in honor of the ladies who have shortly to make their homes in other parts of the country. The honor guests were Mesdames Nixon, S. E. Ward, A. A. Rogers, Dwight Reynolds, Geo. Deen, Pew, Seay, Carr and Thompson.

The president, Mrs. Williamson, gave remarks of regret to all ladies leaving, and last toasted Mrs. Nixon, who has been a very efficient former president. All the honor guests, having held prominent offices while members of the club, were offered suitable individual toasts which were all very touching and brought sadness to the hearts and tears to the eyes of all present.

The afternoon was spent in playing games and all seemed happy though the club regrets very much to lose so many of its valuable workers.

Gone After Holsteins

Clyde F. Moon left Thursday for Madison, Wisconsin, to buy three cars of grade Holstein cows for the association that was formed in Portales about two weeks ago. In this bunch there will be three registered sires. Mr. Moon is limited as to price, on the grade cows of $135 each at the place of shipment, and to $150 at destination. On the bulls he is limited to $200. He is of the opinion that the association will wire him instructions to buy one car extra before his return, as there is a movement on foot to increase the number subscribed for. These cows are bought exclusively for dairy purposes and their owners are obligated not to sell them for any other use for a period of five years. Also they agree that they will breed them only to registered sires for a like period of time.

Burl Johnson, county assessor, was in Elida all of last week taking the rendition of taxes for the coming year.

Governor Signs De Baca County Bill

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 28.—The brief administration of Gov. E. C. de Baca, who died recently after holding office less than two months, will be commemorated in a new county named "de Baca." A bill creating such county was signed today by Gov. W. E. Lindsey. The county begins its legal existence ninety-three days after the expiration of the legislature's session. The governor is to appoint county officers.

The house today passed a bill appropriating $50,000 for the prosecution of the New Mexico-Texas boundary suit. O. A. Larrazola and W. R. Reber were named special counsel, with retainers of $7,500 each in connection with the litigation. A commission including the state auditor and two others to be appointed by the governor, will supervise the carrying on of the case, under the terms of the bill.

Sheriff Arch Gregg and Deputy Biggerstaff returned from a trip into Texas, Sunday. They missed by a small margin the party they were after.

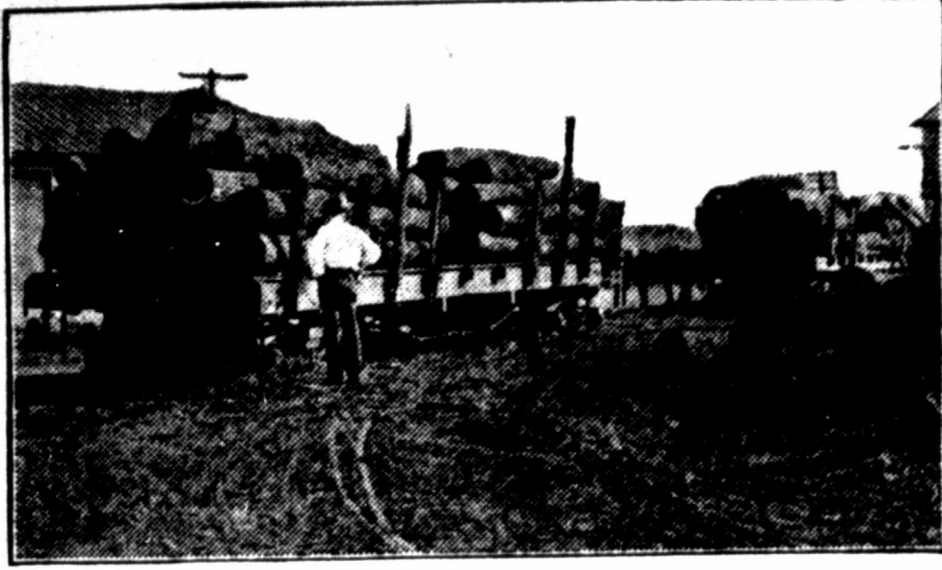

Plainview School Notes

Our fifth month of school ended February 23. Attendance has been good this month and the work of the pupils is still improving. The entire eighth grade class of nine is preparing to take the eighth grade examination in March. The teacher predicts that they are successful if they continue to work as they are doing now. Following are the names of pupils making an average of 90 this month: Margie Capps, Ellen Littlejohn, Opal Watkins, Lucile Lackey, May Edwards, Iona Edwards, Mary Henderson, Carl Nally, James Henderson—eighth grade; Leslie Littlejohn, Carl Nally, Jessie Nally—sixth grade; Harmon Watkins, Jewel Capps, Nellie Nally—fifth grade; Virgie Edwards, Tommie Littlejohn, Dolan Watkins—third grade.

The Roosevelt County Creamery shipped another car load of butter this week. When you come to think about it a car load of butter is some butter.

Ed Wall, county commissioner and member of the county road board, returned Monday morning from Santa Fe, where he had been in attendance at the meeting of the state highway commission. Mr. Wall says that much good was accomplished at this meeting.

POINTS IN SELLING WOODLOT PRODUCTS

BLACK WALNUT LOGS, CUT FROM WOODLOT.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The following suggestions taken from United States Department of Agriculture Farmers' Bulletin 715, Measuring and Marketing Woodlot Products, may be helpful to the farmer in securing a fair price for his trees.

(1) Find out from as many saw-mills and wood-using industries as possible what prices they offer for various wood products, in order that advantage may be taken of the best market. This applies to sales requiring shipment as well as to local sales.

Small Sawmill, Sawing Out Woodlot Products.

(2) Before selling, inquire from neighbors who have recently disposed of their timber and use their experience as a guide. Failure to do this has resulted in many instances in not getting the full value of the product.

(3) Thoroughly investigate all local timber requirements and prices, since in many cases local markets pay better prices than outside markets because of the saving of transportation charges.

(4) Advertise in the papers and otherwise secure competition among outside purchasers. The expense will be small and outside buyers will thus learn of chances to bid on timber in competition with local buyers.

(5) Secure bids whenever practicable both by the lump and by log-scale measure. A choice is thus offered and the more profitable form of bid can be accepted.

(6) Consider the responsibility of the prospective purchaser before making the sale, in order to avoid slow payment, costly collections, and losses.

(7) Prior to making sales, secure at least a fairly good estimate of the amount and value of the material for sale. Persons acquainted with the business of measuring or estimating timber can usually be found in every region where timber has been huddled in the past.

(8) Market the higher grades of timber instead of using them on the farm for purposes for which cheaper material will prove as serviceable. This should be done in many cases even if it makes necessary the purchasing and hauling of lower priced lumber to the farm. Markets which pay good prices usually buy on grade, and inspect closely.

(9) Remember that standing timber does not deteriorate rapidly nor do the uses of wood change greatly within a few years. The owner, therefore, is not forced to place his product on the market regardless of market conditions.

(10) Use a written timber-sale agreement in selling woodlot timber, particularly where the cutting is done by the purchaser.

FAIRM STOCK

FATTEN SWINE ON OLD CORN

Place Animals in Clean Pens and Allow Plenty of Room—Guard Against Hog Cholera.

With grade pigs, it takes from seven to eight bushels of corn, judiciously fed, to make 100 pounds of pork. Careless feeders do not get as good a result for the corn fed as this.

It will take much more corn to fatten a hog in cold, wet weather than it does in mild weather. Put the hogs up that are to be fattened in clean pens do not crowd, feed what corn they will eat up clean at each meal. Give plenty of pure water to drink. For best family pork and lard, old corn and water is all they should have; four weeks' feeding should put them in good order for butchering. Farmers having plenty of acorns in the wood lots, can fatten their hogs mostly on the fallen nuts; this was the regular custom years ago and is still followed in some sections. It is a good one all that it needs is a tight fence around the woods. Brood sows will winter better in the woods if given a log pen and a dry bed of leaves.

Eight-month-old shoats, weighing 160 to 180 pounds, make the best family pork, shoats fed on clover and grass pasture during the summer and given a bushel of old shelled corn make the best flavored meat. This class of pork commands the highest market price.

If hog cholera prevails in your neighborhood, allow no stranger to visit your pens. Stray dogs and buzzards are liable to spread the plague as they feed mostly on dead animals. Keep the feed troughs and pens clean and dry and allow no filth of any kind around the pens, as filth breeds disease.

MANURE IN THE BOX STALLS

More Bedding Is Required to Keep Animal Clean—Ideal Breeding Place for Flies.

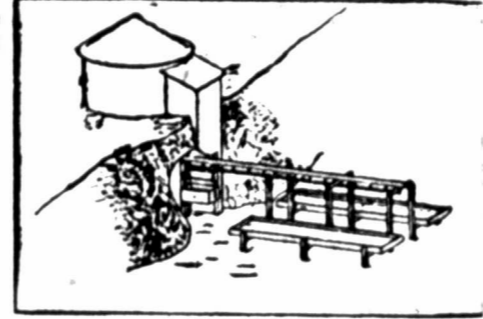

(By J. N. ALLEN.)
The production of manure in the box stall is probably the best of the old methods, since it requires the least expenditure of labor. However, more bedding is required to keep the animal clean and the accumulated manure furnishes an ideal breeding place for flies.
The manure so produced, if kept evenly distributed over the floor, will be thoroughly compacted and will sustain only a small loss of nitrogen so long as the animal remains upon it, but if the manure is allowed to remain in the stall after the animal is removed there will be considerable loss of nitrogen both as ammonia and as free nitrogen, due to the drying out and breaking up of the uric acid into ammonium carbonate, and to the action of the bacteria on the organic nitrogen compounds.

DEVICE FOR FEEDING SILAGE

Lots of Work Required in Caring for Cattle Unless Owner Has Good Head for Business.

Silage is the great feed-all of the successful American live-stock farm, says Farming Business. The feeding of it requires lots of work, unless the feeder has a head for business. Here is a device for feeding silage from a bank silo, which is in use on a Nebraska farm. It may also be used on above-ground silos, however. One man can handle 100 head of live stock easily with such an arrangement, the carrier track being extended out over as many feed boxes as necessary to handle the cattle or sheep to be fed. The boxes for feeding may be arranged in pairs, the posts that support the inner sides of the boxes extending into the air to support the track for the feed carrier at their upper ends.

WARM, DRY PLACE FOR HOGS

Animals Will Not Thrive and Give Satisfactory Returns if Allowed to Shiver in Cold Pen.

By all means give the pigs, whether they are intended for store hogs or pork hogs, a warm, dry place in which to sleep. No hog will thrive and make satisfactory returns when compelled to shiver on a hard bed in a cold pen, or to huddle up or lay against the side of the building where they are suffering from cold.

Do not allow too much air above the pigs. It is better to make a false covering over the nest to keep the cold air from coming down from above.

While we are anxious to exclude the cold air from the nest, there should always be an abundance of pure air for the animals to breathe, as it will enable them to do much better work in digesting the feed than if confined to a close pen where the air is impure.

CANADA THISTLE PEST

Prickly Plant Is Found in Almost Every Part of Country.

No Other Weed Has Ever Received So Much Unfavorable Attention.—Roots, Rather Than Tops, Must Be Destroyed.

In the states north of the Ohio river, probably no plant bears such a bad reputation as does the so-called Canada thistle. This marvelously prickly plant abounds in grain fields, pastures, and meadows throughout the central West, and is locally common in the northeastern states. It is found in parts of West Virginia, Kentucky, and Missouri, and of late years has been increasingly troublesome in the grain-growing sections of the Northwest. Canada thistle, or simply "thistle," has been condemned in the laws of 25 states, and at least one hundred local communities, no other three plants together having received so much unfavorable attention. Certainly no plant is more generally and heartily disliked, unless it be the sand bur of the southern coastal plain.

The cause of the remarkable vitality of Canada thistle and the point that distinguishes it from other prickly plants that are commonly mistaken for it is the long cordlike perennial root. This root penetrates the soil at a depth of eight to fifteen inches, or more, and gives rise at frequent intervals to leafy shoots. Thus it will often be found that an entire patch of thistles is attached to one root, and is in reality but one plant. The root

SUBSCRIPTION ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

Fifty Thousand Dollar Legislative Graft

On the last day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, the house of representatives of the state of New Mexico passed a measure which purported to be an appropriation for the prosecution of the New Mexico-Texas boundary suit. The bill provides that the sum of fifty thousand dollars be appropriated to defray the expense of the litigation, and that of this amount seven thousand five hundred dollars shall be paid to one, O. A. Larrazola, formerly Democratic nominee for delegate to congress, but latterly a Republican of the old guard persuasion. The attorney-general of the state, whose duty it is to look after all matters of law in which the state may be interested, receives an annual salary of four thousand dollars, and this amount is considered, by the law makers, as being a reasonable and adequate recompense for his services, and is such an amount as should be calculated to encourage able attorneys to seek that office. Under the provisions of this bill, the sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars is simply a retainer, and may be drawn by the beneficiary ten days after the adjournment of the legislature, and does not contemplate being the total fee in the case. Those who have had experience in litigation know that a retainer is but a small portion of the full fee and this amount may be less than a third or a fourth of the full fee before the case goes to a judgment. Mr. Larrazola is an attorney of ordinary ability, neither the best nor the worst in the state, but a retainer fee to him in the above amount could find no justification, even by the wildest stretch of the imagination. No individual or corporation, having a law suit on hand of sufficient importance to justify the employment of an attorney capable of commanding such a fee, would ever think of hunting up Mr. Larrazola and tendering him the case. Following is some of the comment on the bill before its passage by the house:

"This is a graft bill from start to finish," said Mr. York of Otero county, opposing committee substitute for house bill 264, providing for the prosecution of the boundary suit between New Mexico and Texas, at the morning session of the house. "There are big chunks of graft in this bill, and I'm opposed to," said Mr. Dills, of Chaves, in speaking on the same question.

Speaker Llewellyn surrendered the chair to Mr. Barnes during the discussion of the bill, and took the floor in advocacy of the bill, paying tribute to the legal ability, patriotism and all round merit of O. A. Larrazola. The bill was passed by a vote of 32 to 17, Messrs. Baca and Lucero, Democrats, voted in favor of it, and Mr. Winston, Republican, against it. Otherwise the division was along party lines.

There is no reason to doubt the passage of this bill in the senate, and many will wonder what action the governor will take in the matter. Will he lend his sanction to this graft or will he stand out against his own party and prove, by actions, the sincerity of his lofty statements? Will he give his executive approval to this measure that he must know is against the best interests of the state and in the interest of those named as beneficiaries, or will he make good on his oft expressed ideals of civic righteousness, and veto it? His action will be watched with interest by those who have read or heard the speech he delivered before a meeting of the Republican state central committee, and which was taken to be his public expression of what his conduct will be while governor of the state of New Mexico.

PROPER TRAINING FOR COLT

Accustom It to Eating Grain Before Taking From Mother—Should Be Halter Broken.

We never yet have weaned a colt but that it was used to eating grain before being taken from its mother, consequently there was practically no loss in flesh or growing, says a writer in an exchange.

We also have each colt halter broken by the time it is ready to be weaned.

This thing of letting colts run until two and three years old before putting a halter on them is not good business.

In Northern France.

It is strange and terrible to visit Paris, and no one can be happy, but to one who has loved France it is far worse to visit the lovely northern country. There is here a sense of emptiness, as if terror still hushed the normal cheerful noises of mankind. The people of these regions have lost everything; their houses are burned; their animals, even the rabbits, are gone; their farm implements are shapeless pieces of grotesquely melted patched shingles, and in the houses built by the Society of Friends, or mass themselves in some nearby village that escaped destruction at the hands of the crown prince's retreating army. After a time in this silent country one gets the sense that destruction is normal, and tears start to one's eyes at the sight of an undestroyed French village smiling in the sun. So changed are all values that I could feel nothing strange in the words of the woman who told me, "Fortunately, my husband is a bunch-buck,"—Mary Heaton Verse, in the Century.

STEPS FOR CLIMBING FENCE

Convenient Method of Getting Over Barrier Provided by Stairs Built on Each Side.

Modern farm fencing is not well adapted for providing a foothold to climb over it, and the adaptation of an idea, not altogether new, shown in the sketch, might be used with profit in many places, writes J. H.

Climbing Over Fence.

Moore of Hamilton, Ont., in Popular Mechanics Magazine. When a convenient means of climbing over a fence is provided, damage to the fence by careless climbers is avoided. A stair built to extend on both sides of the fence is a simple and practical means of travel between adjoining grounds. It is a barrier to stock, and if well made it will prove serviceable and inexpensive.

Big Span Collapses; Many Lives Are Lost

(Daily Press Dispatch, Sept. 12, 1916)

Quebec—The second attempt to bridge the St. Lawrence river here resulted in another failure when the massive center span, weighing over 5,000 tons suddenly collapsed and fell into the river yesterday causing a loss of 27 lives. The span was being raised from pontoons and was about 15 feet above the water when, from some unknown cause, it collapsed and sank into the river, which is 200 feet deep at this place. About 90 men were caught on the span when it began to sway and all of them went down into the water with the structure. The bridge is the largest in the world, its contemplated length from shore to shore being 3,239 feet, with a distance of 1,800 feet between anchor buttresses. The central span is 640 feet long. The first collapse occurred Aug. 29, 1907 when 60 engineers and workmen perished in the disaster.

This paragraph might well have been written about the main incident in the new serial we have secured and the first installment of which will appear in an early issue of this paper. The story is

IF inexorable circumstances were suddenly to force you to face the alternative of faring forth into a night of bitter disgrace, carrying the odium of your father's shame, or of asserting your own innocence, thereby securing immunity from blame and censure, WHICH COURSE WOULD YOU FOLLOW? Read "Web of Steel" and learn what Bertram Meade did.

IF the man to whom you had given your heart and a promise of marriage were to be suddenly overtaken by an overwhelming disgrace, would your love prove strong enough to enable you to keep on believing in him, and working for the ultimate clearing of his name; or would you turn away when he offered to release you, concluding that your idol had feet of clay?—WHICH WOULD YOU DO? Read "Web of Steel" and learn what Helen Illingworth did.

IF an old servant is loyal to the memory of an indulgent master, who had aided him in a needed hour, does it justify his wilfully and obstinately withholding certain evidence which would clear an innocent man, in order to shield the reputation of his dead benefactor? Read "Web of Steel" and learn what old Shurtliffe did.

IF on what appeared to be conclusive testimony, you had utterly condemned a man and driven him from your presence, only subsequently to discover you had totally misjudged him, would you be big enough to eat humble pie and make every reparation in your power? Or would you wriggle out of a full atonement, justifying yourself as having acted in accord with the evidence and in perfectly good faith—EH? Read "Web of Steel," and learn what Colonel Illingworth did?

IF after climbing to the apex of one's profession, and coming to be regarded as the greatest living authority in his line, a man commit an error of judgement, which hurls him down from the pinnacle of achievement into the abyss of irretrievable ruin—WHAT WOULD BE HIS FEELINGS? Possibly you don't know. But read "Web of Steel," and learn how, in such a crisis, it fared with Meade, the great engineer.

IF cloudbursts and rising floods threatened almost certainly to sweep you and the work of your hands into sheer nothingness, would you seek a justifiable safety or would you dig in your toes and stick? HOW ABOUT IT? Read "Web of Steel," and learn what Roberts and Vandeventer did at the building of the great dam.

PRESERVATIVES ADD TO LIFE OF A SILO

WOOD PRESERVATION LABORATORY OF FOREST SERVICE.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Many farmers are coming to recognize that wooden silos, the most common type of preservers of succulent farm feeds, must themselves be preserved. Untreated wooden silos, even when built of such durable material as heart cypress or redwood, are subject to more or less rotting, especially near the foundation where moist conditions are favorable for the development of the fungus of decay.

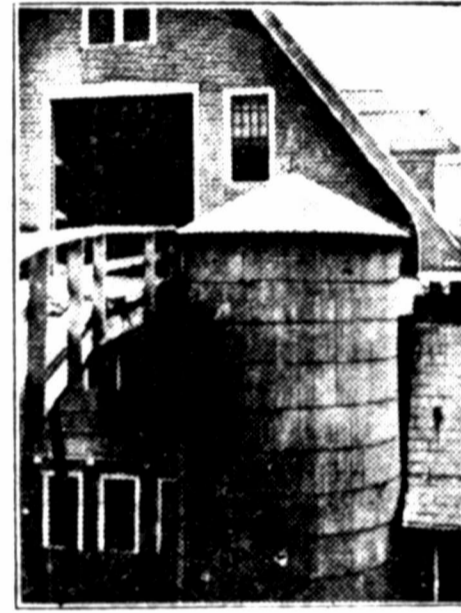

That the wooden silo is popular is shown by the fact that, in 1913 alone, about 100,000,000 board feet of high-grade lumber was used in silo construction, while later statistics indicate that the consumption of lumber for this purpose is steadily increasing. The importance of some kind of preservative treatment to prevent decay in wooden silos, therefore, has become generally recognized. Several manufacturers of wood-stave silos are now making use of preservatives so that it is possible to purchase the silo material already treated.

Of the various preservatives in general use, a good grade of coal-tar creosote is very satisfactory for preserving timber. Almost any thorough method of treatment with this preservative ought to add to the life of the silo. Superficial methods, however, such as applying with a brush, dipping in the preservative, or spraying are not sufficient. By far the best method is to have the staves treated with the preservative in closed retort under pressure, and when so treated they should last indefinitely and should be more satisfactory to the purchaser.

Those who are considering the purchase of treated silos should investigate carefully the methods used, and if greatest permanence is desired should choose only material that has received a thorough-pressure treatment. Silos built of such material have the additional advantage of reduction in the swelling and shrinking of the staves, and, hence, they can be kept tight more easily. Another advantage of silos built of well-treated wood is that they need not be painted.

Effect of Preservative Treatment.
To determine the effect of a preservative treatment upon the durability of wood used in silos, and to obtain information as to the effect of the treated wood upon the surrounding silage, the federal forest products laboratory began experiments in 1910 in co-operation with the University of Wisconsin. About five years after the experiments were begun the treated wood had not commenced to decay. Information in regard to the effect of treated wood upon the surrounding silage was obtained by an independent test after the first season, wood treated with creosote having been buried in the silage during the process of filling. This contaminated the silage sufficiently to give a strong odor, but the quantity of creosote in the feed could not be determined by analysis. This silage when fed to cows was not relished and two of the animals were affected slightly by it. This was a very severe test, however, for the wood was given a heavier treatment than is now considered necessary. Moreover, had the contaminated portion been thoroughly mixed with the rest of the silage it is considered doubtful whether the effect would have been noticeable. This conclusion is borne out by the results obtained in practice. During the several years in which it has been the practice to treat wood for silos, the dairy division has not heard of a single case in which the health of the animals has been impaired by feeding such silage.

MADE INDIANS MAD

SAVAGES' STRONG OBJECTION TO BEING PHOTOGRAPHED.

Woman Tells of Trip to Ancient City of Taos Which Seems to Have Been Highly Exciting—Saw Feast and Dance.

During a journey through the practically unknown Southwest somebody suggested that I go to the ancient city of Taos for the feast of San Geronimo. Mrs. C. R. Miller writes in Leslie's, "You won't find photographing these Indians an easy job, but if you succeed you will get something interesting." Taos is the ancient pueblo about eighty miles from Santa Fe, and reached by a highway which is only a trail over a stony mesa.

Somebody called out that the dance was at the south pueblo and there was a rush across the logs which served as bridges over the little stream which runs through the reservation. There we found perhaps a hundred Indians wrapped in white muslin robes and carrying branches of trees in their hands. They were making a weird noise and limping up and down as they marched around the pueblo. It was a strange scene. The movement of their bodies was slight, but the expression on their faces and the low guttural utterances showed suppressed emotion, and suddenly directly in front of where I was standing one of the older warriors fell to the ground in an epileptic fit. He was at once carried into the pueblo and the medicine man summoned. The dancers, however, were not disturbed and the uncanny performance went on for 15 minutes longer.

This was merely the prologue to the feast of the morrow. The foot races were hotly contested by the young braves of the two pueblos. The participants were naked except for a kilt about the loins and were decorated with feathers in their hair, on their arms and their ankles. The race is run in a peculiar fashion. When the judges give the word two men start from the course nearest the pueblo and run swiftly to the other end. The instant the leader reaches a certain stone at the end of the course another man of his clan takes up the race and rushes past him on the home stretch. This is kept up until all the contestants have had trial—the final victory being a victory for the clan and not for the individual runner. The pueblo winning the race is entitled to keep the statue of St. Geronimo for the following year.

Early in the afternoon the Indian clowns, known as the delight makers, rush suddenly from the pueblos. Their faces and naked bodies are smeared with paint and their hair entwined with corn husks. Nothing is sacred to their touch and they will steal fruit from a vendor's wagon and perhaps after taking a mouthful spit it at some visitor. They object to being photographed, and when one saw me in the act of taking his picture he came at me with a rush, yelling in a savage fashion. I was sitting on a log, and he sat down beside me so close that I narrowly escaped falling off. He yelled and gesticulated, but I sat perfectly still and pretended not to see him. The man who had sold me my permit came up behind and said something. Finally he left, but all during the afternoon whenever I attempted to take a picture dirt was thrown at me and all the curses known to their savage traditions were wished on me. The delight makers beat tin pans at horses and caused several runaways, and frightened children almost into spasms.

An Imaginary Cabby.

A penitent-looking man was on trial for vagrancy and disturbance of the peace. The judge seemed inclined to be lenient.

"What was the prisoner doing when you arrested him?" he said to the policeman.

"He was having a very heated argument with a cab driver, your honor."

"But that doesn't prove that he was the worse for liquor," the judge said. "Many sober people have argument with cab drivers."

"So they do, your honor," said the policeman, "but in this case there was no cab driver."

Dr. Swearingin's Dates

Dr. Swearingin, the specialist from Roswell, New Mexico, will be in Portales, at Neer's drug store, on the 20th day of each month, to treat diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and to fit glasses.

TREATMENT FOR SORE NECKS

Tannic Acid Is Recommended as One of the Best Remedies for Collar Galls—Keep Collar Clean.

Tannic acid is one of the very best remedies for collar galls. It can be secured from any drug store and is easily applied by rubbing lightly over the collar every morning and evening if the horse is working.

Collar galls usually appear either at the top of the neck or at the point of the shoulder where an improperly fitted collar rubs. It is important that the collar be kept clean at all times in order that it may be kept from cutting into the neck, but special care in keeping it clean is necessary after these galls start. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

BETTER PRICES FOR PRODUCE

Bringing About Improved Methods and Closer Attention to Scientific Growing of Crops.

Better prices for farm products are being brought about by better methods and closer attention to the scientific growing and handling of crops and soils, according to A. N. Brown, editor of Fruit Belt, who declares that the first and fundamental step is to know soils and to know what elements of fertility should be supplied to aid growing crops. If care be not taken to keep the soil supplied by the addition of manures and fertilizers, the yields become smaller each year, but when the soils are managed properly the fertility is maintained and productivity is increased.

BREEDING FOWLS ARE CHEAP

Possible to Purchase Birds Now for Half What They Will Cost Next Fall or Winter.

Many breeders are giving special value on their breeding birds at this time of year and if you are in need of a good cock bird, a hen or two or a pen for breeding next year or for exhibition this fall or winter you are overlooking a good bet if you do not buy now. The same quality along in December will cost you double.

SYSTEM OF FEEDING CALVES

Animals Should Not Be Fed Together Any More Than Bunch of Pigs—Fix Individual Stalls.

Skim milk calves ought not to be fed together, any more than a bunch of hogish pigs, for some of the calves soon learn to gulp down their share of the feed, then crowd others away from theirs. Individual stalls or booths form the only correct system of feeding the skim milk calves, so that each one will be assured of its portion.

Mother Was Safe.

The minister had to leave home on a long preaching tour. Just before leaving he called his family around him to say good-by. When he came to Bobby, he said:

"Old man, I want you to be a good boy and take care of your mother."
Bobby promised. All day long he looked preternaturally grave under the heavy responsibility thus suddenly assumed. When night came and he was called to his prayers, the young guard (an said):

"O Lord, bless father, and Brother Tom, and Sister Alice, and Aunt May, and the little Jones boys, and me, but you needn't trouble about mother, for I am going to look after her."

CONTROL OF CABBAGE WORMS

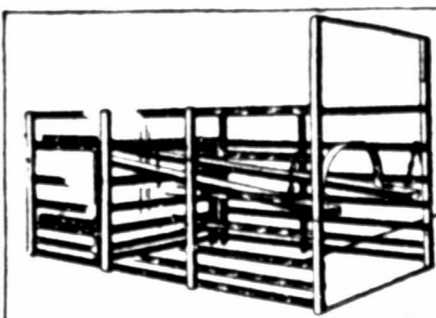

Mixture of Air-Slaked Lime or Wood Ashes and Powdered Arsenate of Lead is Favored.

Dust a mixture of one or two parts of air-slaked lime or sifted wood ashes and one part dry powdered arsenate of lead through a cheesecloth bag or apply with a blower. Apply while plants are wet with the dew, after each hard rain or once every week or ten days during the season of attack. Paris green can be used with 15 times its bulk of lime or ashes. A week or two before using the cabbage quit applying the poison, as a precaution against getting any appreciable amount of the poison in the portion of the cabbage eaten as human food. Practically all of the poison is removed in stripping the outer leaves. No one need be afraid to use this treatment.

with hammer and saw. The crate should be well made of strong material, however, as it is necessary to restrain the sow, hold her in an accessible position, and take away all danger of injury to the boar through slipping.—Farming Business.

Freedom's True Friend.

The true friend of freedom does not wish to be insulted by the supposition that he believes each human individual an erring man, and that nevertheless the united clamor of erring men has a character of divinity about it; nor does he desire to be told that the voice of the people, though legitimately and institutionally proclaimed and justly commanding respect and obedience, is divine on that account. He knows that the majority may err, and that he has the right and often the duty to use his whole energy to convince them of their error, and lawfully to bring about a different set of laws. The true and staunch Republican wants liberty, but no dedication either of himself or others.—Emerson.

Errors are Ancient History

Error-proof bookkeeping is just as necessary for the protection of your money on deposit with us as is a modern burglar-proof safe.

The Burroughs Bookkeeping Machine which we have recently installed, handles our figure work with absolute accuracy. Its calculations are done by parts of hardened steel—it can't make a mistake.

The operator feeds the figures into the machine, which makes all additions and subtractions automatically. A completely posted ledger sheet or depositor's statement, with every item printed in the proper column, comes out.

An absolute and automatic proof of every entry is given by the machine method. There is no danger of a mistake being made in your account, or in the account of any other of our depositors.

Besides affording this accuracy insurance to you and to us, the Burroughs handles our figure work in about half the time formerly needed. This gives us time to do other things—to improve our service to customers in every department of the bank.

Come in, any time, and see the Bookkeeping Machine at work.

Church was held here on last Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Kyle preached two good sermons. There was dinner on the ground and everyone in the crowd enjoyed the sermons and dinner. There was singing in the afternoon and Mr. Pepper, who recently came here from Oklahoma, led a number of songs. He sings excellently and is an unusually good leader. There will be another singing here next Sunday afternoon. We want everyone to come and try his hand at singing, because the singing convention will be here in two weeks. It will be a great help in the convention if we get practice now.

Jim Marrs was thrown from his horse and received a severe skinning.

Miss Vera Walker, who has been going to the Portales school, come home last week to stay.

We are glad to state that Mrs. Fraze is much improved.

A ball game will be played next Friday between the Longs and Inez boys. The game will be played on the former's grounds.

The very interesting box supper at Causey was attended by several of the Longs people. They all reported an excellent time and gave an interesting account of the entertainment. The highest box, belonging to Miss Ada Thomas, brought $3.00.

Mrs. Clouser, of Longs, has been having great success with her incubator this winter. She hatched 106 chickens out of 110 eggs. She is to be congratulated on her remarkable success.
