ELIGIBILITY FOR VOTING AGAIN MUDDLED

Ethiopian Attacks Meeting Serious Set-Backs

Through the Editor's Spectacles By GEORGE

Well, the Mustangs were beaten in the Rose Bowl but the Horned Frogs upheld the Southwest in fine style in the Sugar Bowl, so the results are 50-50 and that's fair enough.

The Mustangs did not live up to their reputation and were obviously "jittery" but they were meeting a determined band of Stanford players who twice before had lost Rose Bowl games to teams they were supposed to beat and who had been razed beyond measure on the coast.

Results of these intersectional contests and the great record that the Southwestern teams have made this year will do wonders with football in this section from now on.

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS NOT KNOWN

Ethiopia Calls "Odious Lie" Story of Be-heading Fliers.

(By Associated Press) The first major Ethiopian offensive on the northern front is encountering serious setbacks, authoritative sources disclosed today.

Announcements of victories in the Tembien and Scire areas were cheered at Addis Ababa, but the movements of Ras Kassa were undisclosed.

Ethiopia clarified the confusion regarding the Italian bombing of a Swedish Red Cross ambulance unit. It termed an "odious lie" Italy's charge that two fascist aviators had been decapitated.

Public resentment arose in Stockholm. Prince Carl called a meeting of the Swedish Red Cross, which reported it believes the attack was intended for the Red Cross.

spoken. The Union provost-marshal sent a squad to arrest the offender and presently, under guard, the old gentleman was brought before him. "Look here," said the Provost, "I'm getting tired of your behavior. Every few days I hear that you've been going about again spreading reports that our forces have been defeated and bragging about the courage of the other side. Now then, I've decided to reform you. Either you take the oath of allegiance to the Union right now or off you go to a military prison. Which shall it be?"

NEW FIGURE ENTERS LINDY KIDNAP CASE

Hauptmann Defense Mum on Details of New Angle.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 2 (AP)—Richard Bruno Hauptmann's lawyers injected an unidentified man into the Lindbergh case today, disclosing they were checking a story that the man and Isadore Fisch were associated in the kidnaping.

They declined to disclose the whereabouts, if known, of the man. Until a lead is fully developed, Attorney Frederick Pope indicated that details would not be made public.

He said the defense would not go "so far as to say" that pictures of the man and his name would be produced before the New Jersey court of pardons when Hauptmann's clemency plea is presented.

Indications were that it would be one of the first four days of next week.

96 Per Cent of Farm Families Reached by Extension Program

Of the more than 2,200 farm families in Eastland county, 96 per cent have been reached through some phase of extension work this year, either by the county home demonstration agent, by a special club demonstration or in general meetings, the report of Miss Ruth Ramey, county farm home demonstrator, for last year said.

There are 16 women's clubs and 6 girls clubs in the county with a total membership of 421. The report gives the following statistics on work done during the year: Fifty-seven and a half days were devoted to office work and 236 days to field work during the year. Field work was done either in regular meetings or in visits to club members.

Four hundred and twelve home visits were made to club members, reaching 302 different families. Approximately 1527 individuals called at the office for information and 905 telephone calls were made relative to extension work or information along the lines of the demonstrations carried in the county, bedroom improvement, wardrobe demonstration and yard improvement. Women are always interested in the food preservation and bulletins were given out with the information available at home at all times.

Forty-four adult training meetings were held with a total attendance of 578. 4 training meetings were held for 4-H club leaders with an attendance of 38. One hundred and sixty demonstration meetings were held with a total attendance of 12,208.

Wardrobe Demonstration—177 women spent $2,787 for clothing; 114 families spent $5,182.15 for clothing; 4,406 garments were made or renovated at a cost of $1,339.54 and valued at $5,080.10 making a net saving of $3,740.56. Eighty-six days were spent in the wardrobe work, a specialist assisting two days, reaching 31 of the 49 communities in the county. Fifty-seven foundation patterns were made. This is the individually fitted pattern. The club members used the foundation patterns when making the garments. Ninety-nine dresses were exhibited at the county wide dress contest held in Eastland in June. Sixty-seven 4-H club members enrolled in clothing and 36 completed the goals outlined for the year's work. The goals included 3 garments, and record on the clothing work. Bedroom Improvement—Mattress making was the major part of this program. Fourteen demonstrators made 50 pound cotton mattresses at a cost of less than three dollars. The mattresses are valued at $20 each. Each demonstrator will help other women in her community when they want to make mattresses. Sixty-three days were devoted to the bedroom demonstration work by the agent and one day given by the specialist, reaching 22 of the 49 communities.

EASTLAND BOX TO RECOGNIZE '34 POLL TAX

Possibility of Contest Is Seen in Uncertain Situation.

Holders of 1934 as well as new 1935 poll tax receipts will be admitted to vote in the West Cisco box Friday in the county-wide beer election. Fred Grist, judge of the voting box, announced this afternoon. "In view of conflicting rulings on the issue," said Grist, "I seem to have no alternative but to do so and let the courts decide the question, if a contest arises." He said he had conferred with County Judge Garrett who remarked "It's the devil if you do, and the devil if you don't." "So I guess we just as well meet the devil on one side as the other," Grist remarked.

A possible predicate for a contest by the losing side in tomorrow's county-wide beer election was being laid today following action of the Eastland precinct election judge, Ed T. Cox, in announcing that due to what he said was a conflict of statutory language, he would permit holders of last year's poll taxes paid in 1936 to vote at his box. Cox issued a lengthy statement, published below, to sustain his ruling.

Fred T. Grist, judge of the West Cisco voting box, was undecided at noon today whether or not he would follow suit. He received, with delivery of the ballot boxes, telegraphic instructions from the attorney general's office at Austin, stating that a 1935 poll tax, due on January 1, 1936, would be necessary for qualified voting. However, Cox's statement and the probability that judges of other boxes in the county would permit voting on both new and old poll taxes, caused him to consider doing likewise. J. E. Caffrey, judge of the East Cisco box was out of the city and could not be reached. Grist conferred with local attorneys and said he intended to call County Judge Clyde Garrett for an opinion upon the issue.

Cox's statement said: "Cox Statement: 'As there seems to be some misunderstanding as to who will be permitted to vote in coming election (Jan. 3, 1936), wish to say that as presiding officer of election precinct No. 2, Eastland, Texas, all voters having poll tax receipt paid before Feb. 1, 1935, will be permitted to vote. Those holding poll tax receipts paid for the year ending Jan. 31, 1936, will also be permitted to vote. My reason for so doing is that the statute controlling this requirement are conflicting. Article No. 2955 says 'Provided that any voter who is subject to pay a poll tax under the laws of the State of Texas or ordinances of any city or town in this State, shall have paid said tax before offering to vote at any election in this State and holds a receipt showing that said poll tax was paid before the first day of February next preceding such election.' On the other hand Article 3004 says 'No citizen shall be permitted to vote unless he first presents to the judge of the election his poll tax receipt, or certificate of exemption, issued to him before the first day of February of the year in which he offers to vote.' 'The attorney general's office wired the auditor of Eastland county as follows: 'In order for a person to be entitled to vote at an election held during January, 1936, he must have paid his poll tax assessed for 1935.'

Clyde Karkalits Announces for Collector Office

Clyde S. Karkalits, chief deputy tax assessor and collector, has authorized the Cisco Daily Press to formally announce his candidacy for county assessor-collector, subject to the action of the voters in the 1936 democratic primary. Mr. Karkalits, a long time resident of Cisco, has served as chief deputy for five years and feels himself to be thoroughly experienced at duties that place a heavy responsibility upon the executive in the office he seeks. Especially since the combination of the offices of assessor and collector are these responsibilities heavy, requiring, he points out, the services of a person thoroughly accustomed to business affairs of the ability involved and experienced in dealing with the intricate nature of the duties the assessor-collector now assumes.

In his formal statement Mr. Karkalits says:

In coming to the citizens of Eastland county and asking for their support for election to the office of tax assessor-collector, I feel that you are entitled to and should know something about me and my qualifications for this very important office.

I was born on a farm near Gorman, Texas, in 1884. My father, with his family moved to Cisco in 1890, where I was reared and received my education (except the years 1894, 1895 and 1896, during which time we lived in Eastland.)

My father, Jules A. Karkalits, while in his "teens" came to Eastland with his mother and sister in 1874 as pioneers and "settled" on Nash's creek east of where Carbon now stands. My mother was also of a pioneer family. Her father, John Sidney Dunn, came with his family to this county in 1878.

My life is a matter of open history and is known to a large number of the older citizens of the county, but to those citizens who have come here in recent years will say that I gladly invite your close investigation of my character and my ability as a business man and an accountant. I am and have been a democrat all my life.

For the past five years I have been chief deputy in the tax assessor-collector's office. The first four years under T. L. Cooper and since January 1, 1935, (at which time the offices of assessor and collector were combined by law) I have been under Tom Haley, the present assessor-collector.

I invite your investigation of my record in performing my duties in the office. This information you can get from the county auditor's office, the commissioners' court, or the state comptroller's office at Austin, or from all of them if you so desire.

For some time I have had a strong ambition to become the executive in the tax assessor-collector's office, realizing at the same time the importance of the office and the heavy responsibilities connected with it, especially since the two offices have been combined.

If after inquiring into my character and investigating my ability and qualifications to conduct the affairs of the office in a credible and satisfactory manner, you feel that I am worthy of the promotion that I seek, I assure you that if elected I shall give my best efforts to serving you courteously and efficiently, and where possible and practical will make such improvements in methods of handling the business of the office as will tend to greater efficiency.

For financial reasons I am compelled to continue my present employment for a while, but I expect to make an active campaign as soon as possible, and it is my purpose to see every citizen of the county during the campaign.

If you elect me I will give you the best service in my power to render.

Sincerely,
CLYDE S. KARKALITS.

About 50,000 wanderers "rode the rods" through LaCrosse, Wis., during four months ending in November, it was estimated.

NEVER MIND THE LADY by David Garth

SYNOPSIS: Terry Willett met Allaire West in the tropics, and Allaire saved Terry's life by shooting a native. But there was a misunderstanding; when Terry looked Allaire up, in Washington, the meeting was not a success, and it was brief. Now George Fox, attache in the tropical city of the shooting, has returned to Washington on business, has tried to find Allaire, whom he loves, and has found instead a very tricky man named LaMarr at the West home. LaMarr demands a few words with Fox.

Chapter 24 BLACKMAIL

Fox regarded him keenly. LaMarr seemed very sure of himself. Knew all the tricks of manners, could dance divinely, and talk vividly of far countries and big game hunts at early dawn—that must have intrigued Nell West, but Allaire had never had and use for him. "Well, let's have it," he said. "What's on your mind, Mr. LaMarr?" The other waved a hand. "This is hardly the place—may I have the honor to call?" "What's the matter with right now?" LaMarr shrugged. "Nothing. But let us go where we won't be disturbed."

that night, Mr. Fox. Shot by a woman for whom the police were even then searching. He lingered at death's door for a few days and then died. The lady Mr. Fox, had committed—murder!

Some thing chased up and down George Fox's spine. This was a new one on him. He didn't know Hildez had died. He'd meant to follow the case, but he'd been so busy at the Embassy he hadn't had a chance. And, anyhow, getting Allaire off had been all that mattered. "Murder," repeated LaMarr, looking at him intently. "Is an ugly word, Mr. Fox. The story would have its elements of interest. Why then did this American society girl kill Luis Hilder, the shipping boss?"

"Hold up, LaMarr," Fox ordered peremptorily. "You don't know that she did—" "Ah," said LaMarr, "but who is to prove she didn't? Who is to prove facts wrong? You were there perhaps? Perhaps you will say that you shot him yourself with the true gallantry of the young man who shields his lady? Oh, the story opens tremendous possibilities. It must not get out. Oh, no, it must not."

"Who'd be interested in a story like that?" LaMarr shrugged. "I have reason to believe that in certain quarters it would be worth ten thousand dollars. Murder under strange circumstances is always intriguing. Is it not so?"

Why did he keep stressing that murder part of it? It was a dirty word. What a break! The trouble was, Fox thought grimly, that Allaire wouldn't deny anything she had done that night, but she'd be too proud to go into details.

And who was to prove she'd shot in self-defense, fill in the chinks between the facts? Where was Willett? Ducking bullets in Propionaire probably. What a surprise party this was. LaMarr's eyes had been fixed on him steadily. "Think you agree that it is best nothing be said," he remarked softly. "Is it not so, Mr. Fox?"

he stopped, smiling deprecatorily. "But I must not be indiscreet beyond the bounds of comprehension. Let us say no more about it." He waved a hand. "Mr. Fox, I find myself in a very embarrassing position, financially—" Fox drew a breath. Now it was coming. He'd spotted it long ago.

"certain investments have turned out badly." He shook his head sadly. "But you are not interested in that, of course?" "My sympathy," said Fox, watching him like a hawk. "Ah—your sympathy." LaMarr stared fixedly at the glowing tip of his cigarette. "Mr. Fox, I need thirty thousand dollars. I need it immediately. You—don't know who would arrange a loan for me perhaps?" "That's a lot of money."

Terry Willett takes an important step, tomorrow.

Keeping Out of War

SECY of State Hull's objection to an inelastic neutrality law which would force the administration to lay down blanket restrictions against trading in materials of war with belligerents is well taken. The purpose of such a law as Senator Nye proposes to introduce in the session of congress beginning Friday, a law that would take the place of the temporary measure enacted last summer, is to keep this country out of war by preventing the development of interests and relationships in trade that would perforce involve us as was the case in 1917.

American ships from transferring fuel or war supplies to ships standing at sea, etc.

SECY Hull points out with his usual quiet sagacity that there is another side of the question to be considered. He fears that unless a neutrality law is elastic enough to permit the administration to use its judgment in declaring embargoes and listing war materials, an indirect form of American trade through a "broker" nation will be set up, thus breaking down the foreign trade of the country.

REFUSAL of the United States to trade with belligerents will mean that these must go elsewhere for the goods sought. New trade connections and liaisons will be established thereby which may permanently affect American markets and thus in the end materially injure the business of this country. The business of keeping this country out of war is a great deal more serious than it seems.

The Fee System

THE fee system of compensating county and district officers in Texas today was all but a thing of the past in Texas. The law passed by the last legislature transferring the payment of these officers from a fee basis to a salary basis became effective on January 1. Payment of salaries fixed by the commissioners court is now mandatory in counties of over 20,000 population. Eastland county falls in the mandatory class as do the majority of the counties in the state.

THE fee system, in existence for a long while, has been the target for persistent attack by political reformers. Instituted in the early days as a means of placing the cost of maintaining certain offices upon those who required the services of those offices or who violated the laws, the system, in its heyday, was greatly abused. Justices of the peace in many instances collected incomes amounting to more than $20,000 annually while constables and similar officers shared proportionately in the lucrative business. Although fees will still be collected, the salaried public officer will not gain any money advantage by looking to the fee first and justice next. County attorneys, district attorneys, district clerks and other fee-compensated officials have been known to fatten their pockets with excessive and unnecessary charges. The process of cutting out payment by this system was gradual. It began by requiring officials to turn into the state and county treasuries sums collected above a maximum they were permitted to retain. It is not easy to uproot any system that has had such a traditional hold upon the public as the fee system, and the battle to be rid of it has been a hard-fought one. We can well feel that a significant victory has been won in removing Texas from the list of states whose processes of government, in this instance at least, are antiquated.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

When the midnight hour strikes, December 31 there is no sudden change from clear skies to clouds or from clouds to clearness; from fierce fighting to quiet on all fronts, or from quiet to raging battle; from depression to prosperity, or vice versa; from reigns of wickedness to righteousness nor from right to wrong. Neither have I noticed come to me personally any fortune or misfortune, any sudden state of sickness or of health, any overwhelming manifestation of either friendship or enmity on the part of my acquaintances, or any other distinct change in my circumstances. In other words what difference has been made in the passing of time or the course of events by the stroke of a pendulum or the marking of a certain figure on a dial? But we might also ask what difference is noticeable in the mark that indicates a foot of depth to the ocean or of height to a mountain; what difference can one detect when the mercury column passes a certain fine point on a thermometer; what difference when one crosses any line on the surface of the earth? And yet these fine points and measures, these degrees of difference are parts of a significant whole that sometimes means everything. The hour of midnight on December 31 is marking time, and time is leaving its changes on all finite things. Astronomically the date of the end of a year has no meaning at all, for it is not a turning point in the rotations and revolutions of the heavenly bodies. But it will do as an assumed point for measuring time.

When we consider the whole period that is thus marked off we can notice tremendous changes sometimes. A year often shows us history in the making. Many events of the year will become dates in the records of the past. Literary, scientific, political, international, religious, and other events of 1935 have already affected the world, and others that we do not know now may have had still more influence upon the trend of events. Hence after all even though an arbitrary division of time so far as the beginning and ending is concerned, a year is of tremendous importance in individual experience and in world history.

THE GAY THIRTIES

LIFE IN 1935

9. Year Sees Cut in Public Enemy List

By HERBERT YAHRAES (Associated Press Staff Writer) "G-men" and gunmen wiped out most of the old crop of public enemies during 1935.

United States is convened on January 3 of each year.

Vice President Garner, the senate's presiding officer, at 12 o'clock noon raps sharply with a solid ivory gavel. The senate then is in session. At the same time, at the opposite end of the capitol, Speaker Byrns raps with a gavel to convene the house of representatives.

After preliminaries such as the swearing in of new members, appointment of committees to notify the president congress waits his recommendations for legislation, election of officers and employees by each house, the two houses adjourn.

Then follows a joint session in the chamber of the house of representatives to hear the President's message on the State of the Union.

The Constitution provides that the president "shall from time to time give to the congress information on the State of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient."

Usually the president sends a general message at the opening of a session, discussing general conditions and recommending legislation. Later he may send brief messages suggesting legislation on one particular topic.

These messages are referred to senate and house committees. (Tomorrow—How Laws Are 'Born')

John Smith read the crime headlines of the year with a growing feeling of security as peace officers "mopped up," leaving only three major criminals of the old order on the "wanted list."

Fred Barker, wanted for the Bremer kidnaping, was killed in a blaze of machine gun bullets from department of justice agents, in Florida. Trapped with him and killed during the six-hour battle was "Ma" Barker, no model for Mother's day.

Raymond Hamilton, ace bad man of the southwest, died in the electric chair in Texas.

Dutch Schultz Killed Walter Legenza and Robert Mais, murderers, escaped convicts, members of the tri-state gang, died in the electric chair, Virginia.

Dutch Schoultz (Arthur Flegenheimer), ex-New York beer baron and racketeer, died in a Newark hospital after a spatter of gunmen's bullets. Three of his henchmen also died in the brief gang battle.

John Paul Chase, buddy of the late "Baby Face" Nelson, got life for the killing of a "G-man," several members of the Barker-Karpis gang went to prison, various underworld small fry, stabbed, strangled or burned to death.

The year-end found Alvin Karpis, Public Enemy No. 1, virtually the only former big shot gangster still at large. He's wanted for the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, the murder of a Missouri sheriff, many robberies.

Also widely sought were Thomas Robinson, Jr., and William Mahan, implicated in kidnapings. Robinson who has eluded capture for more than a year, is wanted for the abduction of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll in Louisville.

Single Big Kidnaping

Mahan is charged with having engineered 1935's only major snatch. George Weyerhaeuser, 9, was abducted in Tacoma, Wash., late in May, released eight days later 25 miles from his home. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Waley soon were caught in Utah. Waley pleading guilty, was sentenced less than a month after the crime to 45 years. Mrs. Waley, not permitted to plead guilty, was tried, given 20 years.

While John Smith read about only one big new kidnaping, as compared with three in 1934 and almost a dozen in 1933, the shadow of the Lindbergh case again fell large across the year. Convicted in February, in the year's most spectacular trial, of the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was sentenced to die in March, appeal unsuccessfully to the New Jersey court of appeals and the United States supreme court.

Reminders Of Dillinger

In August the body of John Dillinger's lieutenant, John Hamilton, was found in a shallow grave near Oswego, Ill. Government agents theorized he had been fatally wounded when he and his chief shot it out with officers in Minnesota a year ago. A month later, the "woman in red," Mrs. Anna Sage, fought a deportation order by alleging she had been promised a stay in return for her betrayal of Dillinger.

The year saw the end of one "American tragedy" case, the beginning of another. Robert Edwards was electrocuted in May, in Pennsylvania, for the murder of Freda McKechnie. In July, Mrs. Newell P. Sherman was drowned in a Massachusetts lake. Her husband, convicted of murder, appealed.

Other Cases

Other cases that engaged John Smith's attention included the gruesome mutilation murder of Walter J. Bauer, kidnaped in Ann Arbor, Mich., shortly after his marriage; the killing of Mrs. John Crempa as a climax to the long discord between her family and the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, the arsenic poison death of Mrs. Everett C. Applegate, New York; the conviction of Edith Maxwell, Virginia hill girl, for slaying her father, Trig, with a shoe when he attempted to punish her.

Eligibility for Friday Voting Again Muddled

Through the Editor's Spectacles By GEORGE

Well, the Mustangs were beaten in the Rose Bowl but the Horned Frogs upheld the Southwest in fine style in the Sugar Bowl, so the results are 50-50 and that's fair enough.

The Mustangs did not live up to their reputation and were obviously "jittery" but they were meeting a determined band of Stanford players who twice before had lost Rose Bowl games to teams they were supposed to beat and who had been razed beyond measure on the coast.

Results of these intersectional contests and the great record that the Southwestern teams have made this year will do wonders with football in this section from now on.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 2 (AP)—Richard Bruno Hauptmann's lawyers injected an unidentified man into the Lindbergh case today, disclosing they were checking a story that the man and Isadore Fisch were associated in the kidnaping.

They declined to disclose the whereabouts, if known, of the man. Until a lead is fully developed, Attorney Frederick Pope indicated that details would not be made public.

RULING HOLDS '34 POLL TAX IS NECESSARY

Latest in the series of conflicting opinions covering poll tax eligibility for voting in Friday's countywide Beer election was a telegram to County Auditor Don Parker at Eastland from Earl Street, assistant attorney general, Thursday afternoon.

Street's opinion held that a poll tax paid in January, 1936, is not sufficient to entitle a person to vote in a January, 1936, election, but that a prospective voter must have a poll tax paid before January 31, 1935.

Street's telegram said: "In order to entitle a person to vote during January, 1936, he must have poll tax receipt paid prior to January 31, 1935, bearing date 1934. Poll tax paid now and bearing date 1935 not sufficient to entitle holder to vote unless he also holds receipt above mentioned."

Possible predicate for a contest was started when Ed T. Cox, judge of the Eastland voting box, announced Wednesday that due to conflicting rulings he would permit holders of 1934 poll taxes paid in 1935 to vote at his box as well as holders of 1935 poll taxes paid in 1936.

Fred T. Grist, West Cisco precinct judge announced Thursday that he would also permit holders of poll taxes paid for both years to vote. He said late Thursday he would disregard the opinion of the assistant attorney general so far as the West Cisco precinct is concerned.

Cox's statement said: "As there seems to be some misunderstanding as to who will be permitted to vote in coming election (Jan. 3, 1936), wish to say that as presiding officer of election precinct No. 2, Eastland, Texas, all voters having poll tax receipt paid before Feb. 1, 1935, will be permitted to vote. Those holding poll tax receipts paid for the year ending Jan. 31, 1936, will also be permitted to vote.

"My reason for so doing is that the statute controlling this requirement are conflicting. "Article No. 2955 says 'Provided that any voter who is subject to pay a poll tax under the laws of the State of Texas or ordinances of any city or town in this State, shall have paid said tax before offering to vote at any election in this State and holds a receipt showing that said poll tax was paid before the first day of February next preceding such election.' On the other hand Article 3004 says 'No citizen shall be permitted to vote unless he first presents to the judge of the election his poll tax receipt, or certificate of exemption, issued to him before the first day of February of the year in which he offers to vote.'

"The attorney general's office wired the auditor of Eastland county as follows: 'In order for a person to be entitled to vote at an election held during January, 1936, he must have paid his poll tax assessed for 1935.'

"The attorney general's office then refers the auditor to Neil v. Pile 74 S. W. (2nd) 899. In the courts opinion the following was used. " * * * The election was held on Jan. 9, 1933 and only persons who held 1932 poll tax receipts were qualified to vote unless they were exempt from the payment of a poll tax under some provision of the law."

"It follows from the reading of the quoted portion of the Article 2955, and from the language of the court in the above case that if a person offers to vote during the month of January (Continued on Back Page)

Plan To Aid Crippled Children Nears Completion at Capital

By SIGRID ARNE
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Children's bureau officials are completing final plans for the annual disbursement of $2,850,000 aid to crippled children made possible through passage of the social security act.

Under the crippled children's section of the act, all states will be eligible for an initial $20,000 a year and will draw further funds commensurate with their needs. In each division the states will be asked to match federal funds.

Money for the work is not yet available. Appropriations for the security act were carried in the last minute deficiency bill which failed passage the last night of congress in the filibuster by the late Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana.

No Provisions in 11 States
 But a skeleton staff has gone to work at the children's bureau. They have faced the usual confusion contingent on creating a federal system, and their work so far has been largely definition of the limits under which the money will be used, and aid to the states revamping their laws to meet conditions of the federal law.

Up to the present 11 states have no provisions whatever for care of crippled children. In 33 states funds have been voted, but in many instances appropriations are so small that only a small per cent of cripples can be aided.

The better state laws include registration of all crippled children and a record of their treatment; provision of diagnostic clinics; approval of hospitals which can accept crippled children; and follow-up rehabilitation work to the end that the patient may grow into an independent and self-supporting adult.

$5,000,000 Insufficient
 Through state and private funds about $5,000,000 is spent annually in the nation for crippled children, but surveys show the sum insufficient, particularly in the rural areas. Much of the work has been done after crippling illnesses have progressed to an advanced stage, and little of it was devoted to preventive programs.

The exact number of crippled children in the country is not even known although it was estimated while the act was being written that there are between 300,000 and 500,000.

States which apply for the new federal funds for crippled children will be asked to meet the following conditions: match the federal funds; name a state agency responsible for their distribution and present a plan of work which must be approved by the children's bureau; provide for cooperation with state health, welfare and rehabilitation groups, and make periodic reports on use of the money to the secretary of labor.

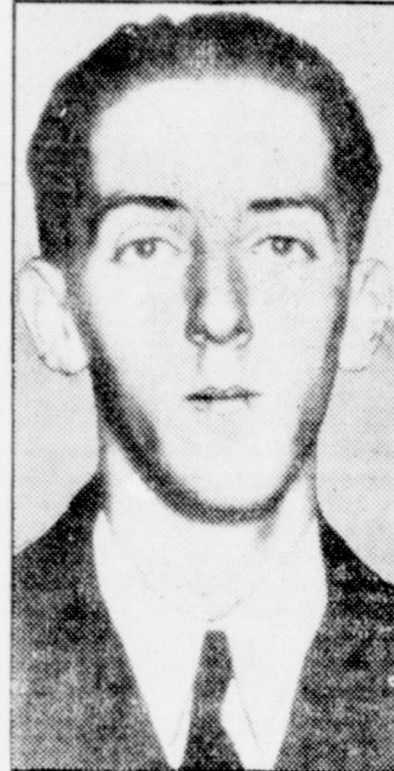

Can Ask Further Funds
 After the state has been awarded the initial $20,000 a year it can apply for further funds after an outline of its needs has been made. Needs, says the children's bureau, will mean not only economic needs, but also the extent to which conditions lead to crippling. For instance, an epidemic of infantile paralysis in a sparsely settled state might possibly prompt allocation of federal funds out of proportion to the population of the state.

Furthermore, says the bureau, the funds will not be considered as another pension system although there seems to be wide belief that such is the plan. Hundreds of letters are pouring in from parents asking for a pension for their crippled children.

The fund will be used for "medical, surgical and corrective services and for facilities for diagnosis, hospitalization and after care for children who are crippled or suffering from conditions which lead to crippling."

After the "eats" and fun, Mr. Wood addressed the group and acquainted them with the new plans which were formulated earlier in the week by the officials in Dallas. Salesmen present with their wives were J. T. Beaum, Cross Plains; G. T. Willett, Rising Star; G. E. Norris, Gorman; L. L. Whitfield, Ranger; K. D. Hancock, Eastland; Doye Campbell, Eastland; S. B. Sisk, Cisco and S. B. Parks, Cisco. There was one salesman, P. S. Lemley of Ranger, who was unable to come. All of the above salesmen are employed full time by Mr. Wood. In addition to the above there were several guests in attendance. Music throughout the evening was furnished by Misses Tylenne Phillips and Blanche Stevens.

Local Business Man Honored by Maytag
 S. R. Wood has just returned from Dallas where he spent three days in a meeting as guest of the Maytag company. Mr. Wood, one of the largest dealers in the state, was selected to represent the dealers and sit in with the officials of the company in a series of meetings at the Baker hotel in which they formulated plans and policies for the coming year. A great spirit of optimism permeated the entire meeting and Mr. Wood stated he is expecting one of the greatest years of Maytag history in his territory comprising Eastland and Callahan counties. There is no doubt, according to Mr. Wood, but what the farmers of this territory, due to splendid peanut and other crops, are in the best financial condition they have enjoyed in many years and whenever the farmer is prosperous every one is prosperous.

Miss Vivian Kilpatrick and Loucille Bacon were visitors in Brownwood Tuesday evening.

 "The attorney general's office then refers the auditor to Neil v. Pile 74 S. W. (2nd) 899. In the courts opinion the following was used. * * * The election was held on Jan. 9, 1933 and only persons who held 1932 poll tax receipts were qualified to vote unless they were exempt from the payment of a poll tax under some provision of the law."
 "The attorney general's office then proceeds as follows:
 "It follows from the reading of the quoted portion of the Article 2955, and from the language of the court in the above case that if a person offers to vote during the month of January, 1936, he need not have paid the poll tax which is now due, but which he has until Feb. 1, 1936, to pay. In other words, if he paid his poll tax prior to Jan. 31, 1935, that is if he holds what is commonly known as a '1935' poll tax receipt, he is eligible to vote during the month of January, 1936. If he does not hold such a receipt, then he is not eligible to vote during the said month, even though he may have paid the poll tax which is now due and payable, that is what is commonly known as '1936' poll tax receipt."

"I might say that Mr. Grady Owen, district attorney of Eastland county, has expressed himself as concurring with my views on this question."
 (Signed) "ED T. COX."

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Hosts to Children and "Children-in-Law" Christmas Week

There was a pleasant family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Noble, prominent farmer couple living a few miles east of Cisco, during the past week when they were hosts to their children and "in-laws." They enjoyed the usual farm-home Christmas dinner, and other pleasant features when the married children return to the family roof-tree after a long absence.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Archie Majors, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ramsey, daughters, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Noble, son, of Big Springs; Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Ram-sower, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chambers, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Noble, of Eastland.

These young married folk were reared in the Cisco country where they married, and while here enjoyed the pleasure of visits to relatives other than Mr. and Mrs. Noble. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ramsey, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Noble spent part of the time with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ramsey of near here, who are parents of Carl Ramsey and Mrs. Noble, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Majors visited Mr. Majors' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Josh Majors, of near Romney.

Railroad Official Sees A 1936 Gain In Transportation

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (P)—L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central system, in a survey of 1935 declared his railroad was well prepared to meet the expected 1936 demand for transportation service as a result of extensive reconditioning in the past year.

"Cars of freight handled the first 11 months of 1935 were more than 5 per cent over the same period of 1934, more than 12 per cent over the same period of 1933 and nearly 11 per cent over the same period of 1932," he said. Passenger traffic, he stated, was about even with 1934 in the first 10 months of 1935 but nearly 35 percent higher than the 1933 period, the first Century of Progress exposition year. Also figured into 1934 travel were reduced fares and traffic resulting from the second exposition in Chicago.

"The number of new industries established on the Illinois Central system during 1935 seemed likely to reach 200, an increase of 27 per cent over 1934, of 79 per cent over 1933 and 179 per cent over 1932," he continued. "The new capital invested in these industries during 1935 was expected to reach $13,000,000."

British Anthem Revives Pugilist

a fighter was brought to his feet by patriotism.

Police Constable Hughes of London was the victim. His seconds were trying vainly to revive him.

Then the band struck up the British national anthem.

Hughes shook his head, raised himself, and brushed his attendants aside as he stood dutifully, if groggily, to attention.

Twelve Schools Get Transportation Aid

Twelve of the Eastland county public schools will participate in the $6,412 state aid for bus transportation for the schools mentioned below. The warrants for this state transportation aid has been received at the county superintendent's office, according to Supt. C. S. Eldridge. This fund is now being disbursed to the schools for which it was intended. The schools, and the amount to each, are as follows:

Colony, $630; Cross Roads, $189; Alameda, $414; Scranton, $679; Desdemona, $184.50; Pioneer $580.50; Gorman, $706.50; Cisco, $508; Carbon, $1,111; Rising Star, $1,044; Ranger, $45; Okra, $319.

Also the county superintendent announced that the last half of the 1934 payment of the state aid for private school transportation has reached his office in warrants and was being mailed out. This payment aggregates $216.

Supt. Eldridge also announced receipt of the fifth dollar payment of the school $17.50 per capita apportionment. This payment is based on the 8,562 scholastics of the county.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord and he shall lift you up. Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord.—James 4:10; Heb. 11:14.

Deep unto deep may call, but I,
With peaceful heart, will say,
Thy loving kindness hath a charge
No wave can take away;
And let the storm that speeds me home,
Deal with me as it may. —Waring.

Remember, peace is power. Every soul which in its famine cries to the eternal finds the eternal. —De Gasparin.

Keeping Out of War

SECY of State Hull's objection to an inelastic neutrality law which would force the administration to lay down blanket restrictions against trading in materials of war with belligerents is well taken. The purpose of such a law as Senator Nye proposes to introduce in the session of congress beginning Friday, a law that would take the place of the temporary measure enacted last summer, is to keep this country out of war by preventing the development of interests and relationships in trade that would perforce involve us as was the case in 1917. Senator Nye's bill would make permanent mandatory provisions regarding embargoes against arms and implements of war, set up embargoes against issuance of loans and credits beyond the normal, restrict purchases of American goods by belligerents to the average for five normal years and put these purchases on a cash and carry basis, allow Americans no claims for damages in infected territory if they remained therein beyond a 60-day period of notice to leave, prevent

American ships from transferring fuel or war supplies to ships standing at sea, etc.

SECY Hull points out with his usual quiet sagacity that there is another side of the question to be considered. He fears that unless a neutrality law is elastic enough to permit the administration to use its judgment in declaring embargoes and listing war materials, an indirect form of American trade through a "broker" nation will be set up, thus breaking down the foreign trade of the country.

REFUSAL of the United States to trade with belligerents will mean that these must go elsewhere for the goods sought. New trade connections and liaisons will be established thereby which may permanently affect American markets and thus in the end materially injure the business of this country. The business of keeping this country out of war is a great deal more serious than it seems.

The Fee System

THE fee system of compensating county and district officers in Texas today was all but a thing of the past in Texas. The law passed by the last legislature transferring the payment of these officers from a fee basis to a salary basis became effective on January 1. Payment of salaries fixed by the commissioners court is now mandatory in counties of over 20,000 population. Eastland county falls in the mandatory class as do the majority of the counties in the state.

THE fee system, in existence for a long while, has been the target for persistent attack by political reformers. Instituted in the early days as a means of placing the cost of maintaining certain offices upon those who required the services of those offices or who violated the laws, the system, in its heyday, was greatly abused. Justices of the peace in many instances collected incomes amounting to more than $20,000 annually while constables and similar officers shared proportionately in the lucrative business. Although fees will still be collected, the salaried public officer will not gain any money advantage by looking to the fee first and justice next. County attorneys, district attorneys, district clerks and other fee-compensated officials have been known to fatten their pockets with excessive and unnecessary charges. The process of cutting out payment by this system was gradual. It began by requiring officials to turn into the state and county treasuries sums collected above a maximum they were permitted to retain. It is not easy to uproot any system that has had such a traditional hold upon the public as the fee system, and the battle to be rid of it has been a hard-fought one. We can well feel that a significant victory has been won in removing Texas from the list of states whose processes of government, in this instance at least, are antiquated.

9. Year Sees Cut in Public Enemy List

By HERBERT YAHRAES (Associated Press Staff Writer) "G-men" and gunmen wiped out most of the old crop of public enemies during 1935.

United States is convened on January 3 of each year.

Vice President Garner, the senate's presiding officer, at 12 o'clock noon raps sharply with a solid ivory gavel. The senate then is in session. At the same time, at the opposite end of the capitol, Speaker Byrns raps with a gavel to convene the house of representatives.

After preliminaries such as the swearing in of new members, appointment of committees to notify the president congress waits his recommendations for legislation, election of officers and employees by each house, the two houses adjourn.

Then follows a joint session in the chamber of the house of representatives to hear the President's message on the State of the Union.

The Constitution provides that the president "shall from time to time give to the congress information on the State of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient."

Usually the president sends a general message at the opening of a session, discussing general conditions and recommending legislation. Later he may send brief messages suggesting legislation on one particular topic. These messages are referred to senate and house committees. (Tomorrow—How Laws Are "Born")

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

When the midnight hour strikes, December 31 there is no sudden change from clear skies to clouds or from cloud to clearness; from fierce fighting to quiet on all fronts, or from quiet to raging battle; from depression to prosperity, or vice versa; from reigns of wickedness to righteousness nor from right to wrong. Neither have I noticed come to me personally any fortune or misfortune, any sudden state of sickness or of health, any overwhelming manifestation of either friendship or enmity on the part of my acquaintances, or any other distinct change in my circumstances. In other words what difference has been made in the passing of time or the course of events by

LESSONS IN LAWMAKING

F. Congress Convened Under the 20th, or so-called "lame duck," amendment to the constitution, the congress of the nesota a year ago. A month later, the "woman in red," Mrs. Anna Sage, fought a deportation order by alleging she had been promised a stay in return for her betrayal of Dillinger.

The year saw the end of one "American tragedy" case, the beginning of another. Robert Edwards was electrocuted in May, in Pennsylvania, for the murder of Freda McKechnie. In July, Mrs. Newell P. Sherman was drowned in a Massachusetts lake. Her husband, convicted of murder, appealed.

Other Cases
Other cases that engaged John Smith's attention included the gruesome mutilation murder of Walter J. Bauer, kidnaped in Ann Arbor, Mich., shortly after his marriage; the killing of Mrs. John Crempa as a climax to the long discord between her family and the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey; the arsenic poison death of Mrs. Everett C. Applegate, New York; the conviction of Edith Maxwell, Virginia hill girl, for slaying her father, Trigg, with a shoe when he attempted to punish her.

Eyes of Texas Upon You' Coaches Tell Breckenridge Bucks

TEAM GRINDS FOR OKLAHOMA GRID CHAMPS

Journalism Department of Breckenridge high school.) BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., Jan. 1. "The Eyes of Texas are Upon You," Breckenridge coaches were telling the Buckaroos this week as they prepared for the inter-state title with Paul's Valley, Okla., Fort Worth Saturday.

Faced with the responsibility of holding the prestige of Texas high school football, the Buckaroos are training hard for the tilt at C. U. stadium. All proceeds, less actual expenses, will go to the Will Rogers Memorial fund.

The Buckaroos, champions of the Oil Belt, are now completely recovered from injuries which have beset them since their third game of the season. Coaches Curtis and Morris are expected to be able to place the strongest aggregation on the field Saturday that has represented Breckenridge since the co-championship days of 1929.

In Pauls Valley, state champions Oklahoma, the Buckaroos will be meeting one of the strongest teams to represent that state in any years, according to word reaching here from the Sooner state.

Since neither team has scouted the other this season, no new plays will be necessary, and the Buckies are expected to reopen the bag of tricks that served them well in early season games.

The Bucks will go into the game with a record of eight games won, two losses and one tie. Crippled by injuries, the Breckenridge team dropped a non-conference game to Wichita Falls 13 to 12, their only other loss was to the state champion Amarillo Sandies by a score of 13 to 0.

The Buckaroos started the season strong, winning their first two games by large scores, and local fans were convinced that Breckenridge had another championship aggregation.

When, in the third game of the season, the Bucks met a powerful obcat eleven in San Angelo, which had also won its opening games by large scores. The Buckaroos roundly outplayed the obcats but received injuries to their two star backs near the middle of the game which prevented them from scoring and the game ended in a scoreless draw. Injuries sustained by Clark and Taylor in that game hampered the Buckaroos for the remainder of the season and many local fans believe it cost Breckenridge a state championship. They are completely recovered now, however, and are expected to be at their best against Paul's Valley Saturday. The game starts at 2 p. m.

In regard to the coming battle, superintendent N. S. Holland of the Breckenridge schools made the following statement this week: "This is the third invitation the Buckaroos have received to represent Texas in interstate football games. After the scoreless duel with Port Arthur in the snow at Waco in 1929 for the state championship, the Buckaroos received two pressing challenges from championship teams in Oklahoma and Arkansas. Neither challenge could be accepted because it was thought for several weeks that the tie game with Port Arthur would be played over.

History repeats; we again possess a great team worthy to represent this state in football. When we respond to the starting whistle Saturday we shall feel that the eyes of Texas are upon us, and our lads will do their utmost to win for the Lone Star State."

Farmers To Get $969,384.60

Of this Cisco provided 269 members who paid in $360.70. Eastland exceeded Cisco in total money raised but fell behind in memberships. There are 215 persons joined, contributing $384.46.

The house was decorated to carry out a Christmas theme with mounds of holly and red candles. A large Christmas tree lighted with a variety of colored globes stood in one corner of the living room. The dining table was centered by a reflector in the center of which was a crystal tree flanked by red candles in silver holders. Places were laid for Misses Helen Crawford, Betty Fee Spears, Mary Elizabeth Cliett, Lillian Shertzer, Helen McKissick, Pauline McClinton and Messrs. C. H. O'Brien Is Collector Candidate

The Daily Press directs the attention to its readers to the name of C. H. O'Brien, which appears in its announcement column, for the office of county assessor and collector. Mr. O'Brien was the first candidate to authorize his announcement.

If chosen as the county's assessor and collector he will take into office eight or nine years experience in the detail work of this department, as well as considerable experience gained while with a firm of valuation engineers, and additional experience gained in compiling tax rolls of oil counties in Texas. Therefore he has a splendid knowledge of property values.

He is a young married man, 32 years of age, and a native of Eastland county, having been born near Gorman, and at one time lived in Cisco.

He is a member of one of the pioneer families of the county.

Until a few months ago he was associated with Tom Haley in the administration of the office of tax assessor-collector.

Eldridge to Speak to Superintendents

C. S. Eldridge, Eastland county superintendent of education, is on the program for an address at the second annual conference of the county superintendents of Texas, which will be held at Austin January 6 and 7. Eldridge's subject will be "A West Texas System."

Besides the superintendents, department of education officials and federal educators will be in attendance at the conference.

Aged Farmer of Wayland Found Dead Saturday

EASTLAND, Jan. 3.—V. B. Hodges, 72, pioneer of Stephens county, was found dead at his home four miles south of Wayland Saturday morning. Mr. Hodges, who lived alone on his farm, had not been seen by neighbors since Christmas day. The coroner said at the inquest Saturday that he probably died from acute indigestion, or apoplexy, and had been dead for more than 24 hours at the time he was found.

He had lived on the farm where he died for the past fifty years. His wife died several years ago.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10:30 a. m. at the Methodist church in Wayland, with Rev. Greenbaugh officiating. Interment was in Wayland.

Pallbearers were his five sons-in-law. Edgar Brown, Charles Murphree, W. Y. Sikes, Houston Petty, Buster Hatchett, and a grandson, V. B. Turner.

Honorary pallbearers were Jim Thompson, Floyd Ledbetter, Cal Ledbetter, Monte Carey, Ed Sikes, Allen Thompson, Harve Thompson, Bill Brown, Ben Grant, Bud Deason, J. W. Castleman, E. N. Howell.

He is survived by six sons, D. R. Breckenridge; Melvin, Abilene; H. V., Abilene; Leon, Dallas; Chester, Abilene; C. E., St. Louis, Mo.; five daughters, Mrs. Edgar Brown, Breckenridge; Mrs. Boyd Sikes, Parks; Mrs. E. H. Petty, Parks; Mrs. C. P. Murphree, Parks and Mrs. B. Hatchett, Abilene; one brother, C. W. Hodges, Ranger; two sisters, Mrs. L. M. Stevenson, Breckenridge; Mrs. H. E. Scott, Fort Worth; 21 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

A. J. Muller to Be Buried at Former Louisiana Home

The body of A. J. Muller who died at his home, 904 H avenue, Monday night at 9:30 o'clock was sent to his old home in Washington, La., via the Texas & Pacific Tuesday morning, where funeral rites were held in the Immaculate Conception church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, with interment in that city.

Mr. Muller was born in New Orleans May 11, 1861, but lived for many years in the town of Washington where he was in the cotton business and served as mayor for 22 years. He was prominent in Louisiana politics.

Since coming to Cisco about eight years ago, he had not been identified with either business or politics, but lived a rather retired life. He was probably better known among the younger folk of Cisco as the father of Mrs. Arthur Cunningham and Edgar and Sidney Muller.

Besides his widow he is survived by the following children:

Claud C. Muller, Port Arthur; Eugene V. Muller, Baytown, Tex.; Ira Muller, Gladewater; A. J. Muller, Longview; Walter Muller, Gonzales, La.; Mrs. Grant Nicholson, Lawrence Muller, Washington, La.; Mrs. Arthur Cunningham, Edgar Muller and Sidney Muller, Cisco.
