BRITAIN MOURNS ONE KING, GREET'S NEW Plan House Drive for Quick Bonus Passage

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

K. N. Greer and the staff of the Palace Theater were puzzling this week over suitable names for their quintuplets. The theater cut brought the five youngsters all at one sitting the other day after a convenient closet had hastily been pressed into service as a maternity ward. The five black and white babies, close in the closet darkness, were revealed by the light of Hugh Nix' electric torch to be as active and healthy as a new family as any mother cat could wish for. Their parent viewed them with an unconcern which doubtless hid a pride, as much as to say: "Talk about your Dionnes! This is nothing with us cats!" An anthropological miracle at Callender, Ont., is a mere incident at the Palace Theater in Cisco, Texas.

Meanwhile, while the Palace cat licked her babies, "Kickapoo" Greer scratched his head. These nameless bits of felinity must be distinguished. "Marie," "Cecile" and the other names borne by Ontario's miracle of human multiplication, are ruled out. One may be a cat, but there's no honor in being a copy cat, and besides the names might not fit. No boy wants to wear dresses, no more than he wants to have a girl's name.

But to help "K.N." and his theater out, we'll start a contest with his money. For the most suitable name proposed for each of these babies, "K.N." will pay a half dollar. Just send him your suggestions and he will do the rest.

Our congratulations to Clyde Van Sickle for his selection as head coach of the Little Rock high school football teams. Clyde, working with limited material here, helped Coach Dexter Shelley build a team that did splendidly for its abilities, and in his coaching sessions he exhibited not only a thorough knowledge of the game but a rare ability to transmit his knowledge to the boys. That is, indeed, the true test of any coach, who is fundamentally a teacher and a leader. Given the material that other high schools in the district had, Shelley and Van Sickle would have turned out a football team second to none. As long as their starting lineup was on the field they were the equal of their opponents. But the lack of reserves was fatal, and no coach can make reserves. They must be furnished him. If Cisco wants to rank high again in the football world, we must build teams from the ground up.

At last we shall know what "boondoggling" means. A Chicago park district, according to an Associated Press dispatch, has illuminated our ignorance in a booklet which it has issued describing Betsy Ross as the first "boondoggler" because she made the first American flag out of waste material. Hardly a reassuring beginning for the American flag, but many good things have come from scorned sources. President Roosevelt defended the term "boondoggler," but he neglected to define it. The park district booklet says it is "the conversion of scrap material into something useful." Now we may know what the President was defending.

HOPE TO GET BILL TO FDR BY THURSDAY

Senate Enacts "Baby Bond" Measure by Big Majority

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21. (AP)—The democratic house leadership continued plans today to whisk the baby bond bonus bill to passage tomorrow, with the possibility the president would get the bill by Thursday.

The measure passed the senate yesterday by a vote of 74 to 16, easily enough to pass it over a veto.

The house has already approved a bill for immediate payment by an even larger majority, but without specifying the method of payment.

The senate "baby bond" bill, however, was certain to be substituted for the house approved measure.

A double defeat in the senate for payment of the world war adjusted service certificates in new currency was expected to influence house supporters of the inflationary Patman bill, vetoed last session, to refrain from pressing this issue.

Only nine democrats and seven republicans today voted against senate passage. Fifty-six democrats, 15 republicans, 2 farmer-laborites and the lone progressive, LaFollette, replied in the affirmative.

Provisions The approved measure would authorize appropriation of $2,237,000,000 and also make available $254,000,000 in the adjusted service certificate fund to defray the estimated ultimate cost of the bonus of $2,491,000,000.

Beginning June 15 next, the $50 bonds and as much cash as would be needed to take care of odd amounts, would be made available to around 3,500,000 bonus holders at local postoffices.

They could cash the bonds immediately or hold them as an investment. If held, they would pay 3 per cent simple annual interest for nine years. If redeemed the first year no interest would be paid.

Sponsors' Claims Sponsors of the bill claim the demands on the treasury the first year would not exceed $1-250,000,000 on the theory that thousands of veterans—500,000 of them have not borrowed on their certificates—would hold their "baby" bonds as a nest egg.

IMPEACMENT BOMB PROVES TO BE 'DUD'

Hoffman Cordially Greeted by New Jersey Solons

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21. (AP)—The impeachment bomb threatening Governor Hoffman for the Hauptmann reprieve today turned out to be a dud. The governor appeared before the joint session of the legislature last night and was cordially received when he read his special message on social security. The Hauptmann case was not mentioned and the solons gave no hint of criticism.

C. C. BOARD TO MEET TONIGHT

Italians Announce Ethiopian Defeat

Van Sickle, Cisco Coach, Chosen to Groom Little Rock Hi Teams

Clyde Van Sickle, assistant coach of the Cisco Lobos this year, has been officially notified of his selection as head coach of the Little Rock high school, Little Rock, Ark., third largest high school in the nation. Van Sickle's selection fills the third and most important high school coaching post in that city with a University of Arkansas man, to whom the selection was restricted.

Van Sickle, who received all America mention in 1929 and all-Southwestern honors in 1928 and 1929, played guard on the Arkansas team in 1927, 1928 and 1929 after four years at Morris, Okla., high school. He played professional football with the Frankfort Yellowjackets and the Green Bay Packers and was assistant coach at Okmulgee, Okla., high school where his team won 11 straight games and claimed the Arkansas high school championship. From DeQueen he came to Cisco at the request of Coach Dexter Shelley who played against him with the Texas university Longhorns and with him on the Packers.

Mr. Van Sickle succeeds Earl F. Quigley, who has coached Little Rock high football teams for 22 years and who becomes athletic director.

Little Rock papers made a big "play" of the selection of Van Sickle, giving columns of space to his record with the Arkansas university eleven and professional teams and his coaching success. The job, it is said, ranks second in Arkansas to that of the coach of the university. A recommendation from Coach Fred C. Thomsen of the university, who expressed belief that Van Sickle was one of the best coaching prospects ever to graduate from Arkansas, played an important part in the decision to employ the Cisco coach for the job.

Van Sickle will continue with his duties in the Cisco school, going to Little Rock for the spring training period.

He and Mrs. Van Sickle were married shortly after he came to Cisco to accept the position with the local high school.

Two-thirds of the total would go to finance the social security act until next June. The bill was $3,000,000 under the budget estimate.

Dillinger's Father May Visit Resort Whence Son Fleed

MOORESVILLE, Ind., Jan. 21. (AP)—The Little Bohemia lodge at Spider Lake, Wis., may once again "harbor" a Dillinger.

John W. Dillinger, Sr., a law-abiding citizen and father of the nation's late public enemy No. 1, is thinking of visiting the place his son and four henchmen and their women friends made famous.

Emil Wanatka, owner of the resort, visited the elder Dillinger at his home here the other day and urged him to make the trip.

He says there are seven or eight suitcases of belongings the young Dillinger left behind when he and his pals fled when federal agents arrived.

FUNERAL FOR GEORGE TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Prince of Wales Ascends Throne With Title Edward VIII

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—King George will be buried Tuesday, January 28, in St. George's chapel of Windsor castle. The body will lie in state in Westminster hall from Thursday until the date of the funeral.

When parliament met today to swear allegiance to the new king, the title of Edward VIII was used for the first time. King George's body was started from Sandringham on the slow journey which will permit thousands of his former subjects to view his face for the last time. It was taken to the parish church through sleet and rain.

SANDRINGHAM, England, Jan. 21. (AP)—Great Britain's royal family today mourned the death of King George at a private service in Sandringham's little church, while the new monarch, Edward VIII, flew—the first British monarch to use an airplane—to London for his succession ceremony, while the beloved sovereign died in peace at his quiet country estate just before midnight, with his family at his bedside.

With the vast empire and the whole world sharing their sorrow, the royal household went to church for holy communion service.

Draw Plans The former Prince of Wales and Duke of York, heir presumptive, worked with palace officials this morning drawing plans for the king's funeral and Edward's accession to the throne.

After reaching St. James palace, the new king went to Buckingham palace through the streets lined with thousands of British subjects, to visit his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, who is ill with a cold.

He then went to the York house, his official residence as the Prince of Wales, to attend a meeting of naval, military, police and royal household officials to discuss arrangements for the next few days. His proclamation as king will be given tomorrow. Formal coronation must wait the end of the year-of-mourning period.

TO LIE IN STATE

The body of King George will be placed Thursday on a gun carriage and taken to a special train for London where it will (CONTINUED ON PAGE 6)

Without Professional Assistance

By IRVIN S. COBB

A LADY who lives on a plantation in the southern part of Alabama went up to Birmingham on a visit. Upon her return an old negro man, living on an adjoining place, who occasionally did odd jobs for her, dropped by to welcome her home and to tell her the news of the neighborhood. "Whilst you was gone Aunt Mallie died," he said. Aunt Mallie was a poor old black woman who lived in a tumbledown cabin half a mile away on a back road. "Oh, that's too bad," said the white lady sympathetically. "How long was she sick?" "Jes' three or fo' days," he said. "What ailed her?" "They didn't nobody know. One mawnin' she up and fell sick and she kep' on gettin' wuss and wuss till de fo'th day come and den, all of a sudden, she hauled off an' died." "Who was the doctor?" inquired his patron. "Who was the doctor?" inquired his patron. "She didn't have no doctor—she died a natchel death!" (American News Features, Inc.)

Rudyard Kipling, 70, England's great virile bard and storyteller of India, died in a London hospital after an emergency operation.

Other deaths last week: Samuel L. Rothafel (Roxy), fathering genius of the motion

400 Per Cent Hike In Maytag Sales

Indicative of improving economic conditions in this section, with particular significance as concerns the rural sections, is the fact that S. R. Wood, Maytag dealer for Eastland county, reported for the first 20 days of January a 400 per cent increase in the sale of Maytag washing machines over the whole of January 1935.

He is unloading today the second carload of Maytags destined for Eastland county in 22 days.

32 Teams in Rising Star Cage Tourney

RISING STAR, Jan. 20.—Coach Johnny Gregg announced Saturday that the entry list for the annual invitation basketball tournament sponsored by the local high school and to be held on Jan. 23-24 and 25, had been closed with 32 teams entered, 16 girls teams and the same number of boys teams. Two of the latest to register were the girls and boys teams from Tuscola and Ovalo. Both are strong this year. Indications point to the most successful tournament ever held here and probably the largest in this section this season.

Trophies are expected to arrive early in the week and will be the most imposing ever given here. Trophies will be given to champion teams, both boys and girls and also the runner-up. Gold basketballs will be given each member of the all-tournament teams, both boys and girls. The trophies will be engraved with name of winning team, place and date.

Play is to start on Thursday night and will continue through Friday morning, afternoon and night, and the same schedule Saturday, with the finals being played Saturday night, and will close with the awarding of trophies and prizes. The meet is to be held in the big new high school gym, which will be well heated should the weather be cold.

TO HAVE OPERATION

Here's one cigarette that writes its own advertising.

It's like this—
You see I'm reading a Chesterfield advertisement and I'm smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and all of you are smoking Chesterfields.

Now listen—Chesterfields are mild (not strong, not harsh). That's true isn't it?
Then you read "and yet they satisfy, please your taste, give you what you want in a cigarette." That says it, doesn't it?

Wait a minute—
It says now that Chesterfields have plenty of aroma and flavor. One of you go out of the room and come back. That will tell you how pleasing the aroma is.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations. Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.

Welcome each rebuff That turns earth's smoothness rough; Each sting that bids nor sit, nor stand, nor go!

—ROBERT BROWNING.

"The joys of the spiritual life in this world are the finest and most exultant experiences. But the surprises of eternity will be the new capacities and the new revelations."

No Soft Job

DEATH of King George the Fifth and ascension of Edward, Prince of Wales, to the throne marks a new period in British history that promises no distinct change from the characteristics of the reign of the late father of the new King Edward VIII.

BUT if the king is not burdened with ruling he is burdened with reigning. In him is the legal symbol of empire solidarity. He is not a figurehead, but he is a figure above all the ebb and flow of politics in whom all factions can repose allegiance. The throne is the central structure to which are forged the bands of empire. It does not make laws; but it makes the laws possible.

OTHER OPINIONS

Hospitals "Hold the Bag"

ONE of the things that give hospital superintendents gray hairs is, as you might expect, the automobile traffic accident.

THE hospital can't help itself. The traffic victim is an emergency case; treatment can't be refused while his financial standing is examined.

THIS means an added burden for the hospitals. If we don't insist on financial responsibility on the part of motorists, we must at least contribute more generously to hospital funds.

FALSE TRAILS CAUSES THE QUARRY'S ESCAPE

Through internal dissensions of the senate munitions investigating committee, that started out to strafe the house of Morgan, that body has practically forgotten the objective for which it was created.

CUTS SENTENCE NINETY DAYS

Two recent cases of executive clemency by Governor Allred have been announced. One of these named a former Eastland county man as the beneficiary.

Morgan Forgotten

In the meantime the house of Morgan has been forgotten, and the Hon. J. Pierpont sits back complacently enjoying the wrangle among the members of the committee.

But it was ever thus. Not only in congressional probes but on public measures that come before the people to decide. It is no unusual occurrence when there are some truly meritorious issues before the people to have injected into the campaign some policy of no material merit, and certainly secondary to the issues before the people, which detract them from the matters of moment that should require their serious consideration.

Clark Blames Bryan

To make matters worse, Senator Clark of Missouri, son of the immortal Champ, defended the committee's investigation into the Wilson administration--the man who had wrested the democratic nomination from his father--and said he was not actuated by any animus toward former President Wilson because of the defeat of Champ Clark at the Baltimore convention.

"If there was any animosity," he declared, "it was toward another man, William Jennings Bryan, who betrayed my father at the Baltimore convention."

Another case of attacking the dead, Wilson is dead, Bryan is dead. Were they alive they would need no Carter Glass or Tom Connally to defend them, for in life they were always able to make their own defense.

But the main point is that while our representatives quarrel in interest of the people suffer in defending the war president against Nye's charge of falsifying Senator Glass said:

"If it were permissible in the senate to say that any man who would asperse the integrity and veracity of Woodrow Wilson is a coward... that I would be glad to say here and elsewhere to any man whether he be a United States Senator or not."

At least the governor might have lopped off one year of their sentence, if the "faithful service" was meritorious.

Big heart, that governor has.

Politics At Random

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Democratic hesitation about the "constitutional" issue clearly has become the focal point of current politics.

The "question on every tongue" is whether Mr. Roosevelt will concede that this "new deal" has come squarely against constitutional barriers, and will ask that they be removed by constitutional amendment.

Absence of any open discussion of the subject at the Jackson Day dinner turned that gathering of democrats into something resembling the mythical performance of "Hamlet" with Hamlet left out.

In the two and three-way conversations around the tables there was abundant talk about the constitution. In the lobbies of congress, no other subject is mentioned so often. Nothing which has happened to the Roosevelt administration--not even the death of NRA--has stirred inner "new deal" circles like the supreme court's sweeping invalidation of AAA.

There is a very good reason why more of this talk does not come into the open. This is a campaign year, and the political ramifications of the "constitutional" issue are many and devious.

Political Dangers

From the standpoint of practical politics the rub about advocating an amendment does not lie in the stipulation that three-quarters of the states are required to ratify a constitutional change.

The immediate objective of the democrats is to win the election. For that purpose, only a simple majority of the electoral college is needed. In other words, if the party advocates an amendment and such advocacy is approved by enough states to make up a mere electoral majority, then the party can win.

Should it win in that manner and on that issue, it could turn afterward to the question of completing redemption of its campaign pledge. This may sound strange, but it is the way party politics works.

There is another rub, however, which would be real and immediate if the party declared for an amendment. Before any amendment can be substituted to the states, it must be approved by a two-thirds majority in both senate and house.

In view of the overwhelming democratic control in congress, a test hardly could be escaped there in advance of the campaign, and certainly there is room to doubt whether the necessary two-thirds majorities would be forthcoming. There lies the real trouble.

Only Hints from F. D. R.

It is entirely conceivable that this is not fully realized by some who are asking that the administration commit itself immediately to a constitutional amendment.

That Mr. Roosevelt himself realizes it is indicated by the caution with which he is approaching the subject. Many hints of a predisposition to constitutional change can be read into his utterances, but there has been nothing resembling a direct declaration.

The question of congressional approval is sufficiently large to merit caution and careful thought. What about a popular majority thereafter, in the campaign, if the congressional hurdle can be overcome?

The question of congressional approval is sufficiently large to merit caution and careful thought. What about a popular majority thereafter, in the campaign, if the congressional hurdle can be overcome?

That may depend on developments yet to come. Invalidation of NRA started certain groups, including notably organized labor, preparing for an amendment. Certain other groups seem to be preparing to fall in line since AAA was invalidated. If still more "new deal" policies fall similarly, there are those who believe the combined strength of the dissenters might be hard to defeat at the polls.

All of these considerations help to explain why Mr. Roosevelt hesitates. Whatever his private sentiment--and no one has undertaken to say authoritatively thus far that he really favors an amendment--he obviously does not intend to put himself into an impossible situation, politically, at the very outset of the campaign.

Prehistoric Bones Found in Cliff

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (AP)--J. D. Figgins, former director of the Colorado Museum of Natural History, announces the discovery of the skull and part of the skeleton of what he believes to be one of the most ancient examples of human life unearthed in the United States.

The skull and bones, a right femur and a right fibula, were found in the crevice of a limestone cliff.

Dr. Figgins said he believed them identical in character to bones of the "New World Man" discovered in New Mexico last year and estimated to have inhabited this continent from 20,000 to 50,000 years ago.
