FREIGHT CRASHES INTO EMBANKMENT

80 Golfers Are Ready to Start Tourney Today

Through the Editor's Spectacles By GEORGE

At one time in the city of Eastland alone there were 200 lawyers in active practice, and there were enough in other cities of the county to bring the number to a figure considerably above that total.

So they hitched up their pants and went elsewhere. From the reports that have trickled back now and then it is gathered that some of these emigres have made good in a big way while others still wear the dirty collars with which they left their former place of abode and activity.

By the time I came to the oil belt 12 years ago most of the 200 had left but there were still sufficient numbers of them to make things pretty lively hereabouts.

But today the constant defections from the ranks have left a bare handful of the once numerous company. The arrival of the enormous east Texas field drew scores to that quarter of the state, and the resurgence of activity in the west Texas area has lured away others of late.

We were counting over the list Friday. Of the 200 who once practised law in Eastland there are now a bare 15, and one of these has only recently gone here. It is rumored that two others of these will leave shortly. The figure does not include the lawyers in the court house, for these are not practising their profession at the time. Cisco now has only four, Ranger only three.

Weather

WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy Sunday. EAST TEXAS—Sunday, partly cloudy, probably showers. Rain for year, 34 inches.

Nick Nicholson Wins Medalist Honor In Qualifying Round

A field of 80 golfers in five flights squared off for the start of match play Sunday morning in the sixth annual invitation tournament of the Cisco Country club. Eighty-two players qualified, but two declined to enter the match play.

Bill McMahon, Longview, defending champion, faces Gid Faircloth of Ranger in the first match. Bill, by virtue of being the 1935 tournament champion, was seeded No. One player.

Heading the second half of the first flight is Nick Nicholson of Phil-Pe-Co club, whose 75 was easily good enough to take medalist honors Saturday. The faster grass greens caused players, uniformly used to sand, much more difficulty with the putter and scores were considerably higher than last year.

McMahon Wins Drive McMahon won the long driving contest with an aggregate of 706 yards in three drives of 230, 231 and 245. James Dixon was second with 654 aggregate.

British Society Woman Conquers North Atlantic

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. (AP)—Mrs. Beryl Markham, English society woman pilot, apparently had conquered the North Atlantic on a flight from England Saturday. Her monoplane flew over Cape Race, Newfoundland, Saturday morning, the Canadian Press said, 19 hours and 55 minutes after her takeoff.

Dr. James H. Kimball, government meteorologist, said, "Her performance is so remarkable that it is almost incredible."

Merrill and Richman Ready for Takeoff

LONDON, Sept. 5. (AP)—Dick Merrill and Harry Richman, American trans-Atlantic fliers, set Sunday dawn as the possible time to take off on their return trip to New York.

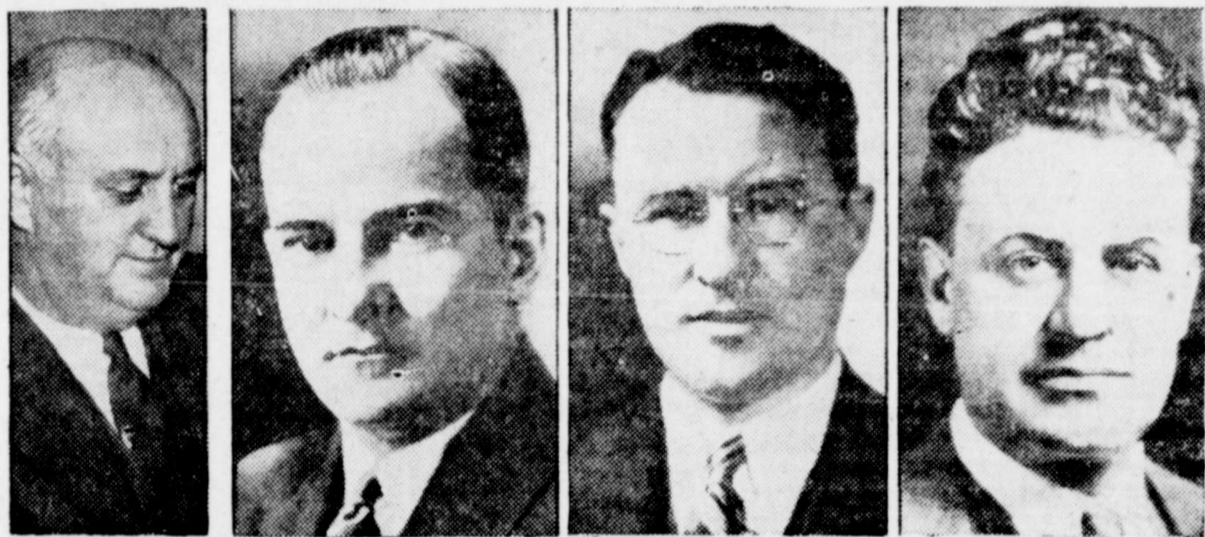

Seek to Halt Loans For Electric Plants

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—The Texas Utilities company and the Alabama Power company today appealed to the supreme court to prevent the government from making loans and grants to a number of cities for construction of municipal electric systems.

Suit Against TVA Is Given Dismissal

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 5. (AP)—The Tennessee Valley authority, legal division, was notified today that the suit brought against the TVA by 19 private power companies in the Birmingham federal court, had been dismissed the request of the companies' attorneys.

Race To Lead Legion; Cleveland Set For Convention

RAY MURPHY HARRY W. COLMERY DANIEL J. DOHERTY RAYMOND J. KELLY

FIVE SEEK TO HEAD LEGION

Candidates for Place Of Ray Murphy

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5. (AP)—Five men from as many different sections of the country have declared their candidacies for the post of national commander of the American Legion prepares to move on Cleveland for its 18th annual convention September 20-25.

In alphabetical order, the five who aspire to lead the Legion through what officers consider may be one of its most critical years, are: Harry W. Colmery, Topeka, Kan.; Daniel J. Doherty, Woburn, Mass.; Raymond J. Kelly, Detroit, Mich.; Quimby Melton, Griffin, Ga.; and John Lewis Smith, Washington, D. C.

Other candidates for the job now held by Ray Murphy may be put forward in state department conventions yet to be held or from the floor of the convention itself. All are former commanders of their state departments and all have held national office or national committee posts. They range in age from the 41 of Kelly and the 42 years of Doherty to the 59 of Smith, who also served in the Spanish-American war. All are lawyers except Melton, who is publisher of the Griffin, Ga., Daily News.

Old Program Left With the major objective of the Legion a past issue—the bonus having been paid this year—the task of the incoming national commander will be to guide the Legion along its avowed path of public service and hold the membership with a program which has no selfish goals.

This program of public service, given form by succeeding conventions.

"Eyeglass Swindler" Fights Extradition

NEW PORT, Ky., Sept. 5. (AP)—Eddie Conner, identified by postal inspectors as the leader of the gang which worked the "eyeglass swindle" in Texas, and Louisiana, sought his freedom on bond today, announced he would fight his extradition to Waco, Texas, where he is due to face a felony theft charge.

One Killed, 5 Are Hurt in Collision

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 5. (AP)—Frank Montgomery, 17, was killed and five others injured, three seriously, in a collision of two automobiles at a street intersection today.

Suicide Pact Given As Cause for Man's Death

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 5. (AP)—Dr. J. A. Daniels, 71, who was found dead with chloroform-soaked cotton over his face, and his wife, Catherine, 68, unconscious, with a stocking around her neck, today.

NO EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS

Spanish Reject Offer Of Diplomats

(By Associated Press) The Spanish government today rejected the foreign diplomats' proposal that the civil war belligerents exchange, rather than execute their hostages, to "humanize" the strife.

With government resistance blasted at Irun, the rebels trained their guns of Fort Guadalupe to clear the way for an attack on San Sebastian, Bilbao, and other cities. The rebels closed the Spanish side of the international bridge at Irun to prevent loyalists fleeing into France.

SAFETY OF U. S. INTERESTS GUARANTEED

MADRID, Sept. 5. (AP)—American interests need to have no fear about their investments in Spain, the new socialist minister of the treasury, Juan Negrin, asserted today. He said the government had taken over "every available factory" to speed up defenses against the rebels.

10 Labor Unions Leave Federation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—Williams Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared today 10 unions in the committee for industrial organization had "withdrawn" from the federation and had not been suspended. This statement conflicted with the general impression that the federation's executive council had suspended them. He declined to expand on the statement.

Hitch-Hiker Sought For Beach Slaying

LA JOLLA, Calif., Sept. 5. (AP)—Police in attempting to solve the beach murder Monday of Ruth Muir, native of San Antonio, Tex., today hunted a hitch-hiker. San Diego police reported that a "reputable citizen" asserted that a hitch-hiker told him that his partner "committed a murder at La Jolla and intends to kill all Catholics and Episcopalians."

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Price and son, Billie, of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. James Harbin of Waxahachie are visiting Mrs. W. R. Simmons and Mrs. G. B. Simmons.

REGISTRATION DATE TUESDAY

Grade Schools Enroll September 14

High school seniors will enroll Tuesday of this week at the high school building, it was announced Saturday by Principal O. L. Stamey. Juniors will enroll Wednesday, sophomores Thursday, and freshmen Friday.

Principal Stamey urged all pupils in the high school to observe these dates in order to facilitate the registration and eliminate unnecessary delay when the school term opens September 14.

Superintendent R. N. Cluck said that all pupils below the high school grades would register September 14. He instructed pupils new to the Cisco system to bring their report and book cards from the schools they last attended.

All grade school pupils will report to the school they attended last year for promotion and assignment to buildings, Cluck said.

Scouts to Leave For Centennial Tuesday

Boy scouts and their scoutmasters who are going to the centennial celebrations at Dallas and Ft. Worth to spend three days this week will gather at the First Methodist church at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning, Ernest Hittson announced Saturday. Besides Hittson the scouts will be accompanied by Ralph Barton and Livius Lankford. The group of 30 will spend the first two days at Dallas and the last at Fort Worth. The trip will be made in a school bus, expenses of which will be borne by the Lions and Rotary club members.

Landon Aims Labor's Right to Organize

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 5. (AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon said today in a labor day proclamation, "labor should be free to organize for fair consideration, forever free from governmental or any other coercion."

Gallagher Won't Curb Activities of Coughlin

DETROIT, Sept. 5. (AP)—Bishop Michael J. Gallagher, remarking that he is getting tired of the "witches' cauldron" stirred up by the reported rebukes of Father Charles E. Coughlin by the Vatican, declared today:

"I want to say that Father Coughlin's activities will not be curbed. Neither Coughlin nor his activities were mentioned in my interview with the holy father."

17 Cars Piled Into Wreckage West of Cisco

Breaking of Wheel on Eleventh Car Blamed For Derailment; No One Hurt as Train Crashes Back of Night Club Near City

Seventeen fruit and tank cars from an eastbound Texas and Pacific freight train yesterday were piled into a heap of splintered wood and twisted steel as they leaped from a trestle and crashed into the embankment of a deep cut three miles west of Cisco.

Late last night it was believed that, while the property damage amounted to approximately $100,000, no lives were lost and no one had been injured.

Two wrecking crews, hastily summoned, were attacking the wreckage, one from each end, and it was believed that it would be cleared away by dawn today.

Broken Wheel Blamed Breaking of a wheel on the eleventh car of the long freight was blamed by trainmen for the wreck.

When the wheel gave way the car leaped the track and crashed to the ground below, tearing away the air hose connection and setting the emergency brakes of each car. This caused the train, travelling at about 40 miles an hour, to buckle, telescoping some of the cars and piling them across the right of way and causing them to crash against the embankment a few feet from a night club operated by Hayden Cooper.

One tank car loaded with crude oil, ahead of the string that made up the rear of the train, was tossed across the track, its coupling perilously supporting one end of a refrigerator car that stood upright on the rails although it had lost its front trucks. Some oil was splashed from the tank upon the car that stopped in front of it but there was no spark from the crashing and crashing steel to ignite it. Far down the track, about even with the rear of the train, another tank car broke.

Wheel Breaks Less than 100 yards from the trestle as the long train of fruit and gasoline cars swept along at 40 miles an hour, one of the wheels on the eleventh car broke.

The heavy steel trucks left the rails. The momentum of the long string of cars behind shoved the derailed wheels along the track, ripping up the steel rails like tin. The car body was stripped from the trucks and tossed aside. The train line broken, the air brakes on every car set on "emergency." At that speed, with all wheels locked, something had to happen. The charging string buckled, and the center of the train went pounding and grinding into a horrible melee.

The trucks were driven in several directions. Where Charlene ordinarily would have stood were

Central School Transferred Here For Coming Year

Central school district Friday by order of County School Supt. C. S. Eldridge was transferred to the Cisco independent district for a period of one year. The order was issued because transfers of individual students from the district had left an insufficient number of pupils there to maintain a school, the county superintendent explained. The law requires in such cases that the county superintendent temporarily annex the depleted district to another which he considers best able to serve the interests of the students involved.

Most of the children who had been transferred out of the district had come to the Cisco schools, a fact which prompted the county superintendent to issue the formal order of transfer for the entire district.

Find Shot Used In Texas Revolution

HOUSTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—A stone and iron cannon ball weighing two and a half pounds and believed to have been fired during the San Jacinto campaign in the Texas revolution 100 years ago has been found.

J. M. Griffith, Houston postmaster, said the ball is the weight of those used in the famous Twin Sister cannon, which disappeared after the battle of San Jacinto. No trace was ever found of the gun, which was presented to the Texans by the city of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Jack Frost Takes Texarkana Bride

ABILENE, Sept. 4.—Widely-known families were united in the marriage Monday at Austin of Miss Mary Lou Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Dawson of Texarkana, and Jack Frost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus B. Frost of Eastland.

The wedding took place at the home of Mrs. G. R. Bennett, where Mrs. Frost had lived while a student for two years in the University of Texas. The Rev. Virgil T. Fisher, Austin Methodist pastor, read the service. Mr. Frost, who has been in school in the state university, was awarded that night both the bachelor of arts and law degrees from the school. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, while Mr. Frost holds membership in Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Parents of both the bride and bridegroom and other members of the Frost family were present for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost are on a honeymoon trip to points in the Davis mountains and New Mexico. They will visit the centennial exhibitions in Dallas and Ft. Worth and with the bride's parents at their Texarkana home, before returning to Eastland to live. Mr. Frost will be associated with his father in the practice of law.

Pioneer family of Eastland, the Frosts have been living in Abilene for a number of years, returning recently to Eastland.

Miss Waring Honors Sister at Bridge

Miss Laura Lu Waring complimented her sister, Mrs. Tom F. Reese, of Dallas, with three tables of bridge Thursday evening. ### This "Home With A Future" May Be Enlarged Readily

This good looking home at Lansdowne, Pa., has a future planned for it. The present plan is designed as an irreducible living minimum for two persons, but it is so arranged that future enlargements can be made without disturbing any part already built. In short, the house represents, as it is now, the complete first stage of the building program. With growth of family

Brighter Future For Labor Seen By Miss Perkins

By FRANCES PERKINS
Secretary Of Labor

The wage earners of the nation can observe the forty-ninth anniversary of Labor Day in the knowledge that employment, payrolls, working conditions and the status of those who work for a living with their hands has been improved in the last 12 months and that the sustained business recovery should bring them, as well as employers and investors, still further benefits.

Approximately 1,000,000 men and women have been added to the ranks of workers in private industry since a year ago and the amount of money in pay envelopes has been increased nearly $42,000,000 in weekly wages. Nearly 5,500,000 more men and women are engaged today in regular industrial employment than at the low point of the depression in March, 1933, and 3,463,000 others are working on useful emergency jobs provided by the government.

Building construction and the durable goods industries have registered healthy improvement in the last year. The value of permits for residential building shows a gain of 182 per cent with a 38 per cent rise for new non-residential buildings and an increase of more than 30 per cent for additions, alterations and repairs.

Durable Goods Industries Gain
Employment in the durable goods industries is 14.8 per cent higher now than it was a year ago and weekly payrolls have increased by 32.1 per cent. These industries, which are the first to suffer in a depression and the slowest to recover, give every indication of continuing to rise through the increased purchasing power of wage earners and farmers and the increased profits of industry and investors.

The civilian conservation camps and the national youth administration have done much in the past year to help young Americans through a depression which was not of their making and about which they could do nothing. More than half a million enrolled workers are in the camps today and an equal number of young people are working on projects of benefit to their communities as well as themselves or are being permitted to remain in school through the help of the national youth administration.

States Back Social Security
The nation's wage earners, staunch supporters of the social security program, did much by their interest and cooperation during the past year to bring about

ROCKY FORD, Colo., Sept. 4.—This town's No. 1 miracle for this year was contributed by Martha Joan Harrison, 3, who fell into an irrigation ditch, floated three miles downstream and still lives. The little girl was playing near the ditch, which was carrying five feet of water, when she fell in. She soon was missed and searching parties failed to find any trace of her.

Laying Leghorn Hen Changes to Rooster

OGDEN, Utah, Sept. 4. (AP)—The John Gerritsens had chicken stew for dinner today just because they didn't like certain goings-on in the barnyard.

The "piece de resistance" was a regularly-laying white leghorn hen—that is, it was a hen last year. But this summer the hen stopped laying, started to grow a large comb and wattles, and recently unmistakably became a rooster.

"A bad example for the other hens," murmured Foultryman Gerritsens as he bore the fowl to the chopping-block.

participation by the states in this great and humane program. All 48 states, the territories of Alaska and Hawaii and the District of Columbia are now cooperating with the social security board in one or more parts of its program which is in the interest of the American public at large.

The United States department of labor and its officials have been active in the past year in their efforts to "foster, promote and develop the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, to improve their working conditions and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment" as they are charged under the law setting up the department. They stand ready to be responsive to any calls which may be made for cooperation, assistance or information.

Pantaloons Are Being Featured In Party Gowns

PARIS, Sept. 5 (AP)—Glamorous evening clothes were launched for winter parties when Paris designers displayed their August-born collections here.

Gold spangled broadcloth, jet trimmed lace, chiffon patterned with gold kid, tulle accented with black felt, glistening paillettes, blacking stones, beads and bugles, lent their individual accents to high light the whole.

Mosaics of colored velvets were set in gold embroideries to make corselet belts. Feathers went into fans, headress and shoulder decoration. Rainbow colored scarfs floated from shoulders or fell in double or triple trains to the ground. As many flowers were used for these winter models as for the spring ones.

Skirts Reveal Trousers
The warm glint of metal ran through rich fabrics. Stiff moires, heavy ottomans, cloques, velvets, brocades, were tinsel shot or patterned. Glistening white and black satins, changeable failles and taffetas, clinging crepes, added their bit of glamor.

Trousers and petticoated models were seen. Ardans showed evening skirts slashed up around the hem, revealing chiffon petticoats or satin trousers underneath. Some evening dresses opened down the front in coat style over straight petticoats of self or contrasting material.

Two-piece evening frock sounded a new note. One had a slim black skirt and a belted white blouse entirely covered with bugle beads. Molyneux showed a black taffeta evening blouse with a peplum flared out widely over a black velvet skirt. His two-fabric frocks also struck a modern note. One had a velvet front and a lace back, another a broadcloth front with taffeta back.

Color Gives Accent
Color accented many a white or black evening model. Lelong's vaporous scarfs in several colors draped the shoulders the next. He underscored a white brocade dress with a yellow and green girdle repeating the note of yellow flowers and green leaves on the bodice.

Disks of black felt and oblongs of gold kid were used by Lanvin in novel appliques on sheer stuffs. She also used scarf-like draperies on skirts, letting them fall in long loops from the waist. Many of her evening dresses had long full sleeves, and lace dresses here and elsewhere were sometimes featured with long sleeves fitted close down to the wrist.

Schiaparelli created a sensation with a tailored evening suit of black broadcloth having a design in gold spangles all around the jacket. Embroidered Tunisian belts girdled many of her evening dresses. Knotted cord girths were also made important. Worth showed an amethyst velvet dress with a rhinestone studded belt of silver cord.

He is shown above operating the "throatspray" drinking device for William (Red) Conkright, the Sooners' senior center from Tulsa, Okla., as grid practice gets underway in the middle of the drought belt. Trainer Ted Owen borrowed from Iowa State college the idea of using the tank spray ordinarily employed in squirting a chemical compound on insect-infested trees and shrubbery.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

Opportunities come to states and nations, and are treated in about the same way as they are by individuals, with resistance, with indifference, or with welcome. The Jews were given every chance first to accept the logical outcome of their centuries of history, that is the launching of a new movement that took up all the good of the old and advanced it. For that is what Christianity became. But the Jewish nation was so jealous in guarding their old treasures that they missed the opportunity of adding the new.

People never like to see others take up the good things that they have unwittingly turned down. The announcement of Paul, "Lo! we turn to the Gentiles," was to clear the way for his work in the future, in order that all might understand just what he was doing. But also it must have been in the way of a challenge to his Jewish countrymen to repent of their hos-

Exhibitor Tells How He Selects Sorghums

J. W. McKinney of Shady Grove community, who has a reputation for winning at fairs with his grain sorghum exhibits, made the following explanation to Elmo V. Cook, county agricultural agent, of his methods of selecting and preparing heads:

"I go in the field with my knife and a light box and hunt for the low rich spots, where the cane makes the largest growth. I look for the heads that come up to the standard; usually I'll select about a hundred heads to get the ten that I intend to use.

"Then I go to the house and spread them out on a table in rows being careful that no head loses not even a single grain. I then go over them all and select the best head there is in the pile. Size and purity both considered I then get nine more heads just as much like the first one as possible.

"I put the heads in the shade for about six days so that they will dry out, and then wrap each head separately and put away from mice and weevils."

News From County 4-H Clubs

FAVOR TRENCH SILO

The 4-H club boys of Eastland county have been fully convinced that feed when placed in a trench silo will not spoil or "rot," and that a trench silo is exactly what they need on their farm to feed their dairy calf and beef calf demonstrations this winter. Six 4-H club boys have constructed small trench silos to be used this winter to feed their livestock demonstrations from.

KOKOMO

L. R. Higginbotham, Kokomo boys' 4-H club sponsor, believes that if tumble weeds will keep in a trench silo in West Texas, that "Iron weeds" and cockle burs will keep in a trench silo in Eastland county. Just to prove what he believes Mr. Higginbotham is constructing on his farm in Kokomo community a small trench silo to be filled with "Iron weeds" and cockle burs. Mr. Higginbotham states, "I do not have any feed stuff to put in my silo, and I believe that even though I am going to fill my silo with weeds, that it will feel much better in my cows' stomachs this winter than the cold north wind."

Christian Science
"Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, September 6, including First church at Eastland.

The Golden Text is: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace" (Psalms 37:37).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "This I say therefore, . . . That yet put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Ephesians 4:17, 22-24).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-immolation, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a bald imposition, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — To date the campaign has failed to develop a new phrase-makers able to combine two or three or four words in an amalgamous epithet that stands out starkly between newspaper quotation marks.

Perhaps the democrats suffer less, for they have Secretary Ickes, among others, tried and proved as an expert among experts in molding syllabic bullets for use on the opposition.

Col Frank Knox, with a background of Spanish war soldier and a newspaper career, was touted by the republican high command as the man who would put words together in combinations to make democrats writhe uncomfortably in their Washington offices.

ministration in a manner pleasing to some republicans who applaud his downright manner. But to Washington ears attuned in recent years to "dead-cats" and "prophets of despair," the colonel's phrasing scarcely pass the middle register on the keyboard. He talks with a deadly seriousness. He takes the democrat strongholds with his most solid shot.

Those who remember the exchanges between General Hugh Johnson and numerous adversaries, including Father Coughlin and the late Huey Long, yearn for the rise of a republican speaker with a saw-edged tongue.

Father Coughlin, his praes perhaps no less sharp, has in the estimate of some taken himself off the big circuit by espousal of a third party candidate.

Third Party Ignored

Inquiry at such part of democratic headquarters as is left here, develops that there is a definite policy of ignoring as far as possible the whole of third party elements.

President Roosevelt may have set the standard by his "no comment" attitude on the "liar" speech by Father Coughlin.

Dead also is that excited talk of shutting out the Union party candidates in some states by setting up dummy union party organizations to preempt the name.

Evidently the idea has been dropped for two reasons. First, it smacked of fright, which is not considered good. Second, arguments are advanced that Father Coughlin and Mr. Lemke, union party candidate, may draw as many republican votes as democratic votes from the great pool of the electorate where all are fishing.

CHRYSLER—PLYMOUTH

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol Torrance has a job in Atlanta. She has a considerable employer by name Blake Thornton, and she has some amusing friends. She wanted just this, and she should be happy. The only trouble is that she cannot disregard the obvious fact that Blake and his wife are not happy. Irma Thornton spends her summers in the mountains, and her winters in Florida. Blake has spent the last week-end with Irma—and he certainly did not look too favorably on a man who expected to enjoy himself when he left.

Chapter 28

BOSS FOR DINNER

Blake dropped several sheets of paper on Carol's desk.

"The Acme Cleaners have just installed the Martex equipment, and they want a quarter-page ad about it. Here's the technical information; you'll know how much of a customer would be interested in it."

She nodded without speaking and began to study the information. The hands of her watch said half-past three; she would just about have time to finish this afternoon.

She took it to him at five o'clock, and waited while he read it. Probably, she thought without resentment, he wouldn't like it at all.

He read it through and chuckled. "You do take down your back hair with 'em, don't you?" He added carelessly:

"If you don't mind waiting ten minutes I'll drive you home."

She said frankly: "I'd wait an hour to avoid that street car."

"It must be awful. Tell the other girls I'll take them too; they're off my beat, but they probably feel the same way."

The four of them talked very little during the drive to West End. Within the office they were at ease, bound by a common interest. Outside its walls, and in Blake's presence, they were strangers to each other, and their talk was shouted across a gulf of different backgrounds. At their own doorways Freddie and Tura thanked him profusely, and were engulfed by their own homes.

When they were alone Carol said abruptly: "Blake, it's perfectly insane for you to work all summer. It's not even good business, because you're bound to pay for it sooner or later. Why on earth don't you go to Roekbrook for at least a week or ten days?"

He turned his head and smiled briefly at her. "Have you ever seen Roekbrook?"

"No, but I've seen several of its cousins. Even if it bores you, you ought to have several days of rest. Bored people usually get fat, don't they? Fat and bored; they go together like ham and eggs."

"May be. I'd rather be thin."

"Then go somewhere else."

"I can't afford to go anywhere, Carol."

"Rot. You can't afford not to go."

"Well, I'm not going to, so you might as well save your thoughtfulness for a worthier object. Not," he added softly, after several seconds, "that I'm not flattered as the devil to have it."

She sighed, and gave him up. For the rest of the way they sat wrapped in their own thoughts.

At the Sherwood she faced him impulsively, moved by the loneliness that lay so often behind his eyes. "Why don't you come in and have dinner with me?"

He shook his head. "Let you cook for me on a night like this? You're a peach to suggest it, but I wouldn't think of it." He added recklessly: "Suppose I come back sist anything but temptation. You brought it on yourself."

"I meant to. Park your car and come on."

"No; I'll go home and have a shower, and give you a chance to do likewise. I'll be back in thirty or forty minutes and set the table."

Suddenly he looked years younger, and for the first time she despised Irma Thornton. Heretofore Irma had been a shadowy subject for speculation, but a man who could be pleased with so little had obviously been given nothing. She nodded.

"That's better still. Come back whenever you're ready."

She bathed and put on a green and white voile dress that had been better days, and then went into the kitchen to take an inventory. There was a fat letter from Jill, but she wanted to read it unhurriedly, so she put it aside.

Sweetbreads, fortunately she had ordered enough for two days.

Romaine and endive for a salad. A fresh loaf of French bread. Potatoes to be boiled and then baked for a few minutes in the oven.

Sliced raw carrots that had lain all day in ice-water—the lucky devils! Nothing for dessert, but Camembert and hard crackers were better than dessert anyhow.

Blake came back, in a spotless linen suit. He looked around her apartment with quick approval.

"You've got the touch, haven't you? Now where's the silver and what-not?"

"In the kitchen cabinet." It would have been easier to do it herself, but apparently he enjoyed the illusion of usefulness. "But you can't work unless you take off that gorgeous coat. I won't stand for such desecration."

He grinned and obeyed. "Now that you've seen it, I don't care if I do." He pointed at the gate-legged table. "Do we eat on that?"

"No. I hate the things; there's never any place for your knees. Put up that card table—I swear it's dependable—and move it where we can get a breeze from the fan." She went back to the kitchen and left him to fend contentedly for himself.

"Say," he demanded from the doorway, "why not move the fan in the kitchen while you're working?"

"Because there is a trick ventilator." She began on the cream sauce.

He leaned against the kitchen door. "What next?"

"Nothing. Sit in that chair by the fan and read the evening paper. It's on the table."

"Why can't I talk to you?"

"Because I've got a one-track mind. I'd put ice in the sweetbreads instead of the coffee."

He went back and opened the paper, but the headlines were meaningless. He was too lazily content to read of the heat wave and the European situation.

Blake and Carol have a disturbing dinner tomorrow.

Increased activity in the German chemical industry has greatly reduced the number of unemployed chemists in that country, according to a report from Frankfurt-on-Main.

"Now where's the silver and what-not?"

In an hour or so and get you to have dinner with me."

"No. I've done that twice already. I've got food in the refrigerator that has to be fixed, and it's no more trouble to fix it for me. Maybe eating too many restaurant meals is what's dragging you down." She had seen wistfulness flicker for an instant across his face, and she knew he wanted to come. And so she insisted. "Come on, please!"

He wavered. "Oh, hell. I can return you down."

Tips on CONTRACT

TIPS ON CONTRACT—Beating a Squeeze If the squeeze play is in the repertoire of a player, he is well equipped, for often a certain opening will prevent the play operating, but the killing opening may be impossible to deduce and can only be guessed. Take this hand:

Hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards. North: A32, J53, 10, 7, 6, 2. South: 9, A, Q, 7, 4, K, A, Q, 9, 7, 6, 2. West: K10865, 754, K943. East: QJ74, K1096, 1083, 105.

ed the squeeze, since a necessary entry to the hand opposite the squeezing suit would have been taken out immediately. South would have lot two hearts. But there was nothing to guide West to lead away at the first trick from the spade king. Such a lead would seem to have possibilities of leading into an ace-queen.

The bidding was: SOUTH WEST NORTH EAST 2D P 3C P 3D P 3NT P 4H P 4NT P 6D P P P To West a trump lead seemed safe, since South had shown by strong bidding possession of most of the diamonds, and a diamond lead might cut communication between North and South a bit.

The declarer could count one spade trick, two hearts, seven diamonds and one club, a total of eleven, one short of the number necessary. The twelfth was obtained in spades by forcing discards after losing a trick and setting up the king of clubs West.

All the diamonds were played out. With one diamond left South there were three cards in each hand. That last diamond compelled West to unguard the spade king or to dish the king of clubs, making North's queen a winner. It forced East to discard the heart ten, making South's seven a winner or to throw a spade. And so a double squeeze. This was the end situation:

Hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards. North: S-A 3, C-Q. South: S-9, H-7, D-Q. West: S-K 10, C-K. East: S-Q J, H-10.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation.

The king of love my shepherd is, Whose goodness faitheth never, Where streams of living water flow My ransomed soul he leadeth, And where the verdant pastures grow With food celestial feedeth.

"Lifting your eyes to your leader for heart-cheer, his face will be your light, his loving kindness your never failing joy."

Discharging Its Duty

THE transfer of scores or more pupils to the Cisco public schools from the territory round about this community is a step toward the development of one of a far-reaching and efficient public school organization that will afford maximum educational benefits to the greatest number of students at the most economical cost.

who are therein denied the essentials of an education that will equip them for a life of competition with their more fortunate brothers and sisters in the larger centers. The answer to the problem of modern educational methods in rural areas is consolidation, by which is meant the grouping of pupils and means over a wide territory into a single strong, well-equipped institution.

THE Cisco school system is expanding its service in an admirable and justifiable way far beyond the borders of its own district. Having the means at its disposal we can say that the system owes this enlargement of its field of service as a duty to the communities affected. It is recognizing and discharging that duty.

A Pertinent Topic

THE trench silo has been a topic of considerable agricultural interest of late. There was never a more opportune time in this section to discuss this simple and effective method of preserving feed for livestock. The current drouth has so reduced the yield of crops in this section that the question of conserving the yields of bumper crop years—as was last season—to tide farmers and stockmen over the lean periods is especially pertinent.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

A Breath From Happy Hollywood

By IRVIN S. COBB

THIS collection already has been enriched by the truthful account of the distinguished New York theatrical magnate who told a well-known playwright that he didn't dare to consider putting on the latter's newest piece called "The Dauphin" because he was sure the American people would never care for a play about a fish.

Then of course there is the tale told of that other and equally prominent manager who, on hearing a synopsis of a dramatization of "David Copperfield," said he liked the story and asked who the original author of the story might have been; and then, when the adaptor told him this honor had belonged to Charles Dickens said promptly: "Well, you better get in touch with him and we'll fix up a contract and go ahead with the production."

A few days later he personally was supervising the taking of certain scenes of a comedy. In the script prepared from the author's scenario by the continuity writer he came upon a line to the effect that the leading woman should be pictured as seated alone in a deep reverie.

"Come with me, you," he said, indicating the assistant director, the leading lady and the camera-man. "I know just the place for taking this here piece of business."

He loaded the three of them into an automobile, got in himself and bade the driver take them along a certain road winding into the foothills above Los Angeles. After an hour or so of steady travel they came to where a narrow but precipitous canyon cut into the contours of the landscape. Here the leader of the expedition gave orders to halt.

"There you are," he stated, with a wave of his arm. "you could look for a week and nowhere you wouldn't find no deeper reverie for her to be setting in than what this one is."

Mary Lou Howell, murder, indicted April 6, 1934.

Elmer Van Cleve, murder, indicted Sept. 6, 1934.

E. L. Huntington, felony theft, indicted Nov. 1, 1935.

The cases against Mary Lou Howell and Elmer Van Cleve were in connection with the robbery and murder of L. F. Threet, and in accordance with the mandate of the court of criminal appeals, which tribunal found that the charges against Van Cleve, who had previously been convicted on his plea of guilty in Callahan county and given a two-years sentence on a charge of conspiracy to rob, and the Howell woman was tried in the Callahan county court on a robbery with fire arms. This case was reversed by the criminal appeals court of her 20 year sentence.

Also the court held that the death sentence against Clifford Doggett was so intimately connected with his conviction in a former trial at Baird in which he was given a life sentence, that the two constituted one and the same offense, and therefore placed him in former jeopardy. The death case was reversed and dismissed.

The murder case against Van Cleve was a companion case, which has just been dismissed by the court.

By BYRON PRICE

Although experts may disagree as to the long-term economic effects of the drouth, its immediate political consequences are plain. It has altered materially the basic strategy of the presidential campaign.

After the national conventions the republicans were talking in terms of a safely republican west, and were looking forward to a battle centering chiefly in the east. The democrats didn't exactly concede anything, but the idea on which they went to work was this: Get enough electoral votes in the east so that it won't matter what happens in the west.

That situation has changed, and one proof of the change comes from no less a republican authority than National Chairman Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton continues to predict that Landon and Knox will carry the west, but he indicates that it will not be done without a fight. He took note in one of his recent speeches that the democrats now are claiming that, on account of the drouth, the west is "in the bag" for Roosevelt and Garner.

Ordinarily claims of this kind, on either side, are scarcely news, but this particular one is interesting.

Strategy All Changed

It is a well-established law of politics that there are definite limitations to the political pulling power of such things as benefit checks and relief allotments.

More than once in the past the recipient of bounties from the government has got around eventually to a state of mind where he wonders where it all will end, and whether he is not being put, unnecessarily, into an inferior class of pensioners.

Around convention time many republicans thought they saw evidences that a large section of the farming community was tiring of the Roosevelt farm politics. Agriculture, in the main, was getting on its feet again. It was listening to republican charges that the democratic farm program was all wrong, economically.

But under the blow administered by the drouth, the situation in many places reverted to one of dire necessity again. To many farmers, questions about economics and the distant future paled

Drunken Drivers In Nebraska Get Bread and Water

SCHUYLER, Neb. (AP)—Drunken drivers have to spend at least one day on bread and water when they fall into Justice of the Peace Frank M. Cuba's court here. Moreover, they have to copy that portion of the gruesome "And Sudden Death" describing accidents from drunken driving.

"I have observed," says Cuba, "that light and suspended sentences do not seem to deter a certain class of drivers from taking another chance." So he has imposed the stiffest sentences the law allows since appointed to his post last January.

"I believe that seeing car traffic through a barred window will leave a better impression than all the lectures that can be given," he declares.

Mr. Hamilton contends that Washington's response to the call for help was only a matter of course—that the administration only did its plain duty, and that its action entitles it to no unusual political credit. Be that as it may, the practical effect is what counts.

And the practical effect is that the democrats now are going out in a big way to try to capture a large part of the west.

Issue Hinges On Drouth

In another sense, also, the drouth had had its influence on campaign strategy. It has shifted the emphasis of the republican attack.

At the Cleveland convention, the chief complaint against the Roosevelt farm policies was that they "regimented" the farmer, and made a serf of him. The charge that the program was based on a desire for "scarcity" also was mentioned, but in a minor key. Now the "scarcity" charge dominates the republican chorus.

Instead of defending the administration for having taken the farmer so firmly in hand, the democratic orators now are answering questions about the little pigs which were slaughtered, and the corn and wheat which wasn't produced. The drouth has multiplied these questions.

Who will benefit in the end must await events—the reaction to Mr. Roosevelt's program of drouth relief and to his own personal appearance in the drouth area, and the fuller development of Mr. Landon's farm views in general.

But it is too much to say that, at this stage, the drouth has become the hinge on which the farm issue—possibly the campaign itself—will turn. Once more the weather man has taken charge of farm politics.

Rising Star one and Gorman two. So there are today only 22 lawyers active in the county. I recognize, however, in spite of the startling contrast, that there are several who will avow this number is too large.

The 13 active lawyers we named in Eastland are: Earl Conner, Sr., Cyrus Forest and his son, Jack, who recently married and moved to Eastland to be associated with his father, Allen D. Dabney, Milburn McCarty, John Turner, Virgil Seabery, Carl Springer, Frank Judkins, Frank Sparks, Perry Sayles, Grady Owen, Turner Collier, W. D. R. Owen and Mrs. C. C. Robey.

I have included in the list the names of two present county officials who will retire at the end of the year to enter private practice—Collie and Grady Owen—and omitted the name of Earl Conner, Jr., who will enter public office at the same time. It is reported that Grady Owen and Perry Sayles will go to Austin with William (Bill) McDonald, new state land commissioner who has already moved his home to that city. Sen. Wilbourn Collier is also moving to Austin and Milton Lawrence has moved to Monahans to practise after helping his brother-in-law, Clyde Garrett, win election to congress. Hamilton E. McRae has moved to Midland to practise.

Lawyers in the courthouse, or due to enter public life there on the first of the year are: Chief Justice W. P. Leslie and Justices O. C. Funderburk and Clyde Grissom of the eleventh court of civil appeals; District Judges George L. Davenport and B. W. Patterson, Herbert Reed who is court reporter for the 88th district, District Clerk P. L. Crossley who was admitted to the bar during his first term, W. S. Adamson, county judge-elect, and Earl Conner, Jr., district attorney-elect.

The four Cisco lawyers are F. D. Wright, D. K. Scott, Eugene Lankford and R. E. Grantham. Victor B. Gilbert, former partner of Judge Scott's, is now with the ICC, located here temporarily. L. R. Pearson, Beverly S. Dudley and L. H. Flewellan are left at Ranger. Jake Alford, veteran Rising Star attorney, is the only lawyers there. He ranks with Judge Scott at Cisco and Earl Conner, Sr., Eastland, as the oldest practitioner in the county. Matthew J. Smith, who is one-armed, and Joe Parker are the lawyers at Gorman.

Stella Alexander vs. William Alexander, injunction.

Notes

Judge Davenport, as presiding judge of the ninth judicial district, has assigned himself to preside over the Tarrant county district court during the trial of O. D. Stevens, recently returned from Alcatraz prison to face charges of murder in the Handley triple murders, in which Judge William M. McGregor, whose bench he will occupy, has been disqualified by reason of having participated in the prosecution of associated hearings. Judge Davenport will leave for Fort Worth Sunday, Sept. 13.

THE EIGHTY-EIGHTH DISTRICT COURT

(Judge Patterson, Presiding)

New Cases Pending

The district clerk has docketed the following new causes of action for litigation in the 88th district court:

Claude L. Murray vs. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., action to collect insurance policy. Mrs. Brice Elizabeth Walker vs. H. D. Walker, divorce. Bell Smith vs. Roy L. Smith, divorce. Eastland Investment Co. vs. S. B. Norton, foreclosure of lien. Pauline Bailey vs. Melvin Bailey, to set aside and annual marriage contract. D. K. Williams vs. C. Rosenfield, note. Mrs. Beulah Boyd et al. vs. The Fidelity Casualty company of New York, suit on policy. Sarah Pratt vs. Martin Pratt, divorce. Katie Louise Johnston vs. J. F. Johnston, divorce.

Judgments and Orders

Ex parte Howard E. and Bessie Deis, application for adoption of Belinda Burnam, minor. The court finding that applicants are in all matters proper persons to become the adoptive parents of said minor, their petitions were approved, and it is therefore adjudged and decreed that the petitioners herein are authorized to adopt said minor as their own child, and it is further decreed that the name of said minor shall hereafter be Ann Deis.

Ex parte M. A. Clait, application for letters of adoption of Glenn Green, minor, son of Mrs. M. A. Clait by a former marriage, and it appearing to the court that the said minor is more than 14 years of age and agrees to said adoption, the application of the said M. A. Clait is approved, and it is decreed that letters of adoption be issued, and it is further decreed by the court that the name of said minor be changed to Glenn Clait.

Grand Jury Convenes

Judge Patterson will convene the grand jury drawn for the September term Monday, which will be empaneled and at once begin a probe of the infractions of the criminal laws of the state. The full personnel is as follows:

Henry Case Pending

The cases of Della Henry, murder, in connection with the death of H. L. McBee, the Rising Star skeleton murder, and the case of Fate Campbell, murder, in connection with the death of Burford Tarver, are the outstanding criminal cases pending in the 88th court. However, Judge Patterson said none of the criminal cases will be assigned until the grand jury renders its first report. The September term of the court will convene Monday. Juries have been drawn for the second, third and fourth week of the court, but these will not be released until it was determined for what week they will be summoned for service.

Cases Dismissed

On motion of Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen the following criminal cases have been dismissed on account of insufficient evidence:

Matters in Probate

H. S. Childress executor under the will of Mrs. Mattie E. Venable, deceased, application to probate will, approved, and M. D. Gibson, F. V. Tunnell and M. G. Joyce named appraisers, and will ordered probated.

In re guardianship of Thornton Cooper, resignation of Frances H. Cooper, approved after filing her final report showing full and proper account of all property coming into her hands. It was the decree of the court that her resignation be accepted and the guardian and bondsmen be relieved of all liability. At the same time it appearing to the court that a necessity existed for a guardian, and Hall Walker was appointed to succeed Frances H. Cooper, resigned. His bond was placed at $1,000, which he filed with E. H. Mills and W. F. Creager as sureties. The court allowed from the estate of the said Thornton Cooper $15 per month for the care and maintenance of his minor child and Frances H. Cooper.

The court approved the report of Mrs. Alice Odom, guardian of the estate of Russell Owen, N. C. M., in which it was recited that the loan of $8,000 of the funds of said ward, authorized to be loaned on real estate in Abilene and Ranger, to Hal Walker, had been reduced to $5,200, and upon the showing of said guardian that the Abilene property had increased in value, and that it was now sufficient to secure the remainder of said loan, the guardian was authorized to release the Ranger property as the owner had an opportunity to sell the property at this time.

Electricity Is Playing Larger Part on Trains

(Special to The Daily Press)
 WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Installation of improved lighting facilities, air conditioning, and many other improvements, practically all of which are designed to add comfort to the traveling public, has resulted in a greater demand for electricity on trains today than ever before. How to increase the amount of electric power available for such purposes and adequately meet a demand that is constantly growing is a problem that is being seriously studied by the railroads of this country.

Due to the fact the general public is becoming more and more accustomed to a higher intensity of illumination in their homes and places of business, the railroads are being called upon to provide illumination of comparable intensity in passenger cars. The trend to artistic effects in illumination also requires an increased amount of power.

Some idea as to the amount of electrical power required for a passenger car is indicated by the fact that a standard Pullman car moving in a train generates for its own use enough electrical power to light approximately four ordinary homes. These cars have from 80 to more than 100 electric lights. In addition, there are electric fans and other electrical appliances. Facilities are even provided so that a female passenger can make use of an electric curling iron. In the club cars, toasters, coffee kettles, drink mixers and various other appliances are operated by electricity. A few railroads also use electricity for cooking.

Generating Plants
 Present-day passenger trains constitute mobile generating plants. Each Pullman or other passenger car must produce its own electricity. This is done by means of belts that connect generators with the axles of the car wheels. As electric power can

LITTLE GIRL GIVES "BIG HAND" TO AIR-CONDITIONED TRAINS

Heat No Threat on Western Train

Chicago—A 6-month-old baby's eye view of a cross country trip on an air-conditioned western train! Recently a young mother, having returned with her baby from the west coast to her home in a large midwestern city, was delightfully impressed with the comfort which her tiny offspring enjoyed on the train while traveling through country that fairly blistered with heat. She wrote to Chairman Harry G. Taylor of the Western Association of Railway Executives suggesting that someone write the impressions of a baby traveling on a modern train.

A railroad man of modest writing pretensions has attempted this far-flung piece of imagination. Here's an excerpt from this unique diary: "End of second day: Mother says it's wonderful. Not a yell out of Toodles—that's me—since the trip began. I slept last night like a top. The man in the berth across the aisle is a crusty bachelor. I could only be produced by this means when the train is in motion, storage batteries under each car are available for emergency purposes or to keep the lights bright when the car is standing still. These storage batteries are capable of supplying electricity for from six to eight hours on the average car. To meet the increasing demands for electricity, the output of axle generators on passenger cars has in recent years been greatly increased. In some cases the output has been doubled while in other cases it is three and four times greater than a few years ago. At the same time, the capacities of the storage batteries have see when he looked at me at first that he expected I would cry most of the night. But I disappointed him. The air in the car was so cool and fresh, and the riding was so smooth in spite of the great speed, that I guess I just dropped off to sleep without knowing it and didn't wake up until morning. Mother, too, looks fresh as a daisy."

The introduction of air-conditioned equipment throughout the Western Railroads has had a decided influence on the travel habits of parents of young children. Many who, heretofore, have had to forego long vacation jaunts because Junior could not stand the hardships encountered by a train trip have found that youngsters thrive in the perfectly conditioned and cleansed atmosphere of today's trains.

HAWLEY WILDCAT WATCHED CLOSELY

ABILENE, Sept. 5.—The most closely watched wildcat test in Jones county today is the Thomas D. Humphrey No. 1 W. F. Rushing, a mile north of the town of Hawley and five miles east of the Hawley field.

The test, late yesterday, was drilling past 2103 feet after passing three slight sand horizons from which there was no oil, water or gas showing. The last sand, the Cook, was drilled at 2026 to 2027 feet, and was dry.

The Humphrey well was the first of three wildcat tests to start in the Hawley area to try for production showing in the Hawley field. It is located 200 feet west of the Wichita Valley railroad, in section 11, Gabriel Martinez survey No. 194.

Alliance Oil company No. 1 Guitart trust estate, east of Hawley, was drilling past 715 feet in lime, in section 44, block 15, T&P survey.

Campbell & Reeves No. 1 S. A. Kelley, northeast of Hawley, was drilling past 450 feet. It is section 9, G. Martinez survey.

Sandy Ridge
 In the Sandy Ridge area of eastern Jones county, the Sandy Ridge No. 6 Percy Jones, on the west side of the field, was placed on proration gauge yesterday after flowing on first heads at 49 barrels in 10 hours. The test was shot with 40 quarts at 1936-52 feet. It is in section 6, block 15, T&P survey.

Knight & Ewing No. 3 J. D. Farrow, a west offset to the Sandy Ridge well, was expected to drill into the Bluff Creek sand sometime today. Location is in section 5, same survey.

Archer Drilling company No. 1 W. E. Berryhill, in section 7, Louis Moore survey No. 1, had set six-inch casing and was drilling ahead past 1673 feet.

NEW POOL ON NAIL RANCH

ALBANY, Sept. 5.—Jones & Stasney-Groover & Rose No. 1, J. H. Nail, opened a new Bluff Creek sand pool in northwestern Shackelford with a well that tested 36 barrels production in 12 hours from sand topped at 1551 feet, with 24 feet of good sand drilled, a show of water below was plugged off and the well is complete as a nice producer in center southeast of northwest quarter section 153, ETRY.

Fain-McGaha Oil Corp. No. 1, G. R. Davis, is drilling at 200 feet in northeast 80 acres of T&NO survey 3, the south offset to Roberts-Hodges No. 1 Davis, discovery well in new pool for western Shackelford completed a week ago.

Petroleum Producers Co. No. 1, G. R. Davis, is drilling at 100 feet on east offset to the discovery well.

Reliance Oil Royalty Corp.-Jones & Stasney No. 4, J. P. Morris, is drilling at 350 feet and same operators No. 5 is drilling at 300 feet on the south extension area for Bluff Creek in southwest quarter section 190, ETRY.

Engren & Frazier No. 1, Henry Lieb in southeast corner T. Toby survey 19, is reported below 1600 feet, passing a showing of oil in the Bluff Creek sand, drilled about two miles east of Lueders.

Fain-McGaha Oil Corp. No. 1, W. Y. and Merrick Davis, is a new wildcat location for western Shackelford in northwest corner southwest quarter section 30, block 13, T&P, a mile and half southwest of the Davis pool where there has been production for 5 or 6 years.

LEE BUYS OIL PROPERTY

ALBANY, Sept. 5.—T. W. Lee, Gladewater oil man, East Texas landowner and one of the largest landowners in Shackelford county, purchased one-half interest in the Fry sand pool on Reynolds Cattle Co., shipping pasture from A. M. Howsley of Albany this week, for a consideration of $7,500 in cash.

A. M. Howsley, attorney and oil man, former member of Texas legislature, drilled one well on the southeast quarter of southeast quarter section 55, ETRY, 40 acres, four miles north of Albany, two years ago, with initial production of 25 barrels daily from Fry sand at 932 feet, and a completion two weeks ago on the same tract made 40 barrels initial from the 932 foot Fry sand.

The lease in the sale had two producing wells capable of 50 barrels daily production and several undrilled locations.

This new light meter measures light as accurately as a thermometer measures temperature. Let it guard your family against eyestrain.

It might be the same man reading the same paper, in the same chair... yet he reads comfortably because adequate light protects his eyes against eyestrain.

The only difference is the LIGHTING

Why is one of these men squinting over his paper, while the other man is reading in perfect comfort?

Both probably have normal eyesight... The seeing task is the same in each case. The difference is in the amount of light falling on the paper! The man on the left is straining his eyes under less than five footcandles of light... while the man on the right enjoys comfortable reading with better than 30 footcandles.

Now, thanks to the world's largest research laboratories, the lighting in your home can be measured just as accurately as a thermometer measures temperature! Held under your reading lamp, the scientific new Light Meter tells instantly how much light you are getting, how much your eyes need for easy seeing without eyestrain. Just phone, and we will make this free Light Meter check-up in your home. This Measured Lighting service is free to all our customers.

Cisco Masons At Annual Fish Fry At Caddo Friday

Headed by L. D. Wilson, secretary of the Cisco Masonic lodges, about 14 Cisco Masons motored to Caddo Friday night in response to the invitation of the members of the Masonic lodge of that place to be their guests at a fish fry, which is an annual event with Caddo Masons.

Those other than Secretary Wilson in the party were Frank Yarger, L. E. Vaughn, Fred Steffy, J. M. Witten, H. L. Dyer, A. J. Moon, Sam King, Billy Bacon, Bill Harder, Dudley Lee, A. V. Clark, and R. W. H. Kennon. Another member of the party was Richard Bacon, of New Orleans, a former Cisco man and cousin of the Cisco Bacons, with whom he is visiting.

Honor guests at the fish fry this year was Hon. Jewel P. Lightfoot, past-grand master of Texas Masons, and former attorney-general of Texas.

Representatives from many of the lodges of this Masonic district were in attendance, including those from Breckenridge, Eliasville, Ranger, Eastland, Gorman, Fort Worth, Straw, Thurber, Sweetwater and lodges in Oklahoma. About 130 were present.

Past-Grand Master Lightfoot was introduced in a strong address by J. W. Cockrill, of Gorman, who spoke on American and Texas institutions. Mr. Cockrill was introduced by the worshipful master of the host lodge.

Mr. Lightfoot spoke on Masonry, and a masterful, as well as a highly instructive talk was heard by the audience, who gave him the closest attention throughout his more than one hour address.

At the conclusion of the Lightfoot address, the local and visiting Masons were invited to the banquet hall where a meal of fried fish, barbecue, bread, coffee, pickles, etc., was spread for the hungry throng.

Automobile fatalities in Florida this first seven months of 1936 totaled 343, a 10 per cent increase over the same period last year. Safety Director Asher Frank reports.

the train, a grass fire smoldered. A city fire department truck was dispatched to put out the blaze, which did not endanger the wreck. The train, number 54, was a fruit special that meets a Southern Pacific California fruit special regularly at El Paso. In the wreckage last night were scattered crates of grapes and boxes of oranges that spilled from the cars as they burst with the impact of the crash.

Miraculous Escape

Trainmen pointed last night to what appeared to be almost a miraculous averting of human catastrophe. About 70 hoboes at Baird had boarded the freight ahead of the one that crashed, while railroad officials prevented others from riding the ill-fated fruit special. A brakeman was riding the train just ahead of the car where the wreck began but was able to move forward and suffered no injury.

The locomotive and the ten cars which escaped derailment proceeded to Cisco, where railroad officials immediately ordered wrecking crews sent out to the derailment. Here in charge of the work last night was A. E. Pistole, division superintendent, and C. Percy, trainmaster. The conductor in charge of the wrecked train was Hugh Journey.

The highway near the wreck last night was lined with cars as Ciscoans and others crowded in to see the wreck and watch the wrecking crews at work clearing away the debris. Highway patrolmen were busy maintaining order and keeping the traffic moving. The Sunshine Special was sidetracked here last night to await opening of the line. The bottled freight proceeded to Ft. Worth.

Girl Sees Wreck---

plied car after car—splinters now of wood and steel, with boxes of oranges and grapes spilling from them over the right of way.

Saved by Embankment

It all happened while the girl stood staring at the sudden catastrophe. But for the fact that a rip-rapped wall of the ditch behind the Cooper roadside home kept the hurtling train within the bounds of right-of-way, the house might have been swept away instead of having the wreckage of freight cars and telegraph lines strewn at the doorway.

The other members of the family were inside the house, which serves as both a cafe and a home, when the wreck occurred, but sought safety at the first noise of the wreck.

tions since the first caucus in Paris in 1919, embraces adequate aid for disabled veterans, aid for widows and orphans of those killed in service or who died later from the effects of the wounds, community service, child welfare, and Americanization which includes the junior baseball program, Boy Scout aid and promotion, and adult education.

Fatiguing Job

The national commandership is physically arduous and generally an expensive assignment. Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., national commander in 1935, in reporting to the St. Louis convention, said he had traveled over 90,000 miles that year on Legion business and had made 300 addresses, not including 65 radio talks. The salary is something under $10,000.

At its second convention in Cleveland in 1920 the Legion enunciated a policy of political non-partisanship and no past national commander except Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana has gone from the commandership to prominent political office, a record in which the Legion professes pride.

Rapid Growth

The Cleveland convention, in contrast to the previous convention there 16 years ago which attracted only an estimated 20,000 persons, is expected this year to bring upward of 200,000 Legionnaires to the Lake city. A pageant employing a cast of 10,000 persons will open the convention Sunday night, September 20, and sessions will continue through Friday, September 25, when the national commander for 1936-1937 will be elected.

It is a far cry from the small group which gathered in the Cirque de Paris on a chilly day in March, 1919, to the $15,000,000 public auditorium in Cleveland, where the main sessions of the convention will be held this year.

Turtle Withdraws, Gets It in the Neck

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (AP)—Myrtle's reprieve having expired, Gustav Beran is serving 20 gallons of turtle soup.

Beran, tavern owner, planned Myrtle's execution for July 24 so he could make soup. When Myrtle pulled in her neck the bullet, intended for her, lodged in Beran's foot. He went to the hospital, Myrtle to solitary confinement.

When Beran came home in a wheel chair, he had Myrtle staked in his yard, took careful aim with the rifle away from his feet, and let fly.

The execution was perfect.
