GIANTS TAKE WORLD SERIES OPENER 6-1

By GEORGE

For most people here a great deal of the interest in the World Series that began this afternoon was lost because both participating clubs are from New York. The great percentage of western folk pull for western clubs, and the presence of a western team in the series pumps their interest to the highest degree. No doubt the great majority of Cisco baseball fans are Cardinal fans. The reason is plain. "Cotton" Hippen, Cisco youth, is a member of the pitching staff of the Cards, having been called in from the Pacific Coast late in the summer to help "Dizzy" Dean and his mates in their effort to win the pennant and get into the series. The effort failed, but if the St. Louis club had gone into the series it would have been easy to guess what Cisco's reaction would have been. Next year, perhaps.

The Lobos play their first home game of the year at Chesley field Friday night. Regardless of the statistics of their game with Breckenridge last week, the Cisco team is not a poor one. I sincerely believe that before the season is over, the Lobos will surprise. Sweetwater doubtless has a strong club. The Ponies had to be strong to defeat Brownwood. But I don't think they are as strong as the Breckenridge outfit and I do not think that the game here Friday night is going to produce as large a score. The Breckenridge contest was a good game in spite of the score. Three touchdowns were rung up in the first period by the Bucks, but after that there wasn't any run-away.

I think that the district title this year lies between Breckenridge and Abilene, with the latter probably having the edge, and that judgment is shared by many of the leading prognosticators of the area. So, don't be down on the Lobos because they lost to one of the strongest teams in the district while in their greenest state, and go to the game Friday night to help these boys get a good psychological start on what many think is a new cycle of football prestige for Cisco.

Pleasure Jaunt of Six Is Halted Here by Officers

A pleasure jaunt to the centennial celebrations at Dallas and thence through South Texas in a car borrowed of one of the boys' mother was interrupted here last night when the four youths and two girls, wives of two of them, were taken into custody by Cisco police who said they found them endeavoring to secure gasoline from a parked automobile at the circus grounds in east Cisco.

The six said they were from Arizona and a telegram to Phoenix brought a request from the mother of one directing that the car be held here. The six were kept in custody for investigation. The youths gave their names as Doyl Mason, Jack Carlton, Herman Ross and B. Bonim.

TERREHAUTE, Ind., Sept. 30 (AP)—Earl Browder, communist presidential candidate, and two companions were arrested here today as they stepped off a train. They are being held on vagrancy charges pending investigation. James C. Yates, police chief, said that Browder was held to prevent him making a speech here tonight and that he would not allow anyone belonging to the communist party to make a speech there as long as he was chief.

GOVERNOR TO DISCUSS TAX

March on Baton Rouge Is Cancelled

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Several thousand "luxury" sales tax opponents canceled their "march" on Baton Rouge today to allow Governor Richard Leche to discuss the tax, which becomes effective tomorrow.

In a state-wide broadcast last night, George Puglia, leader of the state-wide attack, following a conference with the governor indicated he expected the governor to announce "certain concessions."

Funeral Rites Held For M. M. Aingell

The funeral of M. M. Aingell of Dallas was held at the First Christian church here this afternoon with the Masons in charge of arrangements. The Aingell family left Cisco about fifteen years ago moving to Dublin where for twenty-one years Mr. Aingell was connected with the Dublin Mill and Elevator company. He is survived by a wife, three daughters, Miss Bernice Aingell of Dallas, Mrs. King of Tyler and Mrs. Raymond Lafferty of Fort Worth and a son, Marshall Aingell of Dallas.

REBEL ARMY NOW 22 MILES FROM MADRID

Gov't Plans Counter Attack to Retake Toledo

(By Associated Press) Insurgent headquarters today reported their armies had reached Illecas, 22 miles from Madrid. The Spanish government denied the insurgent claims, but mobilized additional militiamen and planned a counter attack to repel the insurgent drive across central Spain, and to recapture Toledo. The government claimed the turn in the war tide was imminent, maintaining that the farther the insurgents stretched out their lines the weaker they became. Insurgent leaders declared that their armies were circling Madrid.

Halse Crashes In English Air Derby

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Sept. 30 (AP)—Captain S. S. Halse, leading the England-to-Johannesburg air derby, tonight was reported to have crashed outside of Salisbury, 670 miles from the goal. The report said he was taken to a hospital.

Officers Search For Fingerprints

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 30 (AP)—Officers searched for fingerprints today in their effort to fix the blame for the midnight wrecking of the southbound fast passenger train of the Louisiana & Arkansas Railroad company, which ran through an open switch and killed two trainmen eight miles east of Winnfield.

Aided by railroad special agents, state and local officers also adopted similar methods in their attempt to identify a group of men who seized flares from a truck and burned a 15 foot bridge on the railroad a mile north of La-Place four hours later.

Loboes Snap Thru Drills for Ponies

The Cisco Loboes, grinding for the invasion of the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday night and their first game of the season on home soil, put the Breckenridge defeat definitely in the background and went about their practise with as much spirit and drive as ever. Young, green and light, the team has learned a lot in its two games. Coach Shelley said this morning. He expected a much improved showing against the strong Ponies Friday.

Sweetwater has already dashed the title hopes of one strong district contender, defeating the favored Brownwood Lions last week. The Mustangs caught the Lions at a weak moment, when their morale was low from the sudden loss of two line stars via the ineligibility route, and administered an 8 to 0 plastering. The victory sent the Sweetwater fever to a high pitch and was said to have inspired a reported decision of Sweetwater fans to bring a contingent of rooters by special train to Cisco.

Meanwhile the Loboes, exhibiting stamina and serious training in the manner in which they withstood the battering of the powerful Buckaroo squad at Breckenridge last week in the absence of any serious injuries, were ready to go with the possible exception of Capt. Royce Rainbolt who is nursing a minor back injury. Unwilling to risk aggravation of that injury, Coaches Shelley and Cooper planned to hold him out of the game Friday.

Starters

The probable starting lineup for the Loboes will be Jones and Tipton at ends, Webster and Burkett at tackles, Ivie at center, Shirley and Yarbrough at guards, Slicker at quarter, L. M. Yarbrough at left half, Donohoe at right half and Steyer at full. This team will average less than 150 pounds as compared to between 155 and 160 for the Mustangs.

Meanwhile, seeking more experience for their seconds, Coaches Shelley and Cooper have matched a series of games with second teams of Breckenridge, Brownwood, San Angelo and the Class B team of Olden, the first of which will be played at Breckenridge at 3 Saturday afternoon.

TWO SIZZLING HOMERS KNOT COUNT IN 5TH

Yankees Yield Four Runs in Eighth Inning Fiasco

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Sept. 30.—The New York Giants won the first game of the 1936 World Series today on a rain drenched field, defeating the New York Yankees six to one.

Until the eighth inning, the game was anybody's. In that inning, with the Giants leading two to one, the Yankees went to pieces momentarily, yielding four runs, two of them chargeable to errors.

A remarkable feature of the game was the absence of errors. Until the eighth only one had been made on the wet field. It was charged against Giant Pitcher who over ran a bunted ball on the wet grass. Selkirk first broke the scoring ice when he drove a sizzling homer into the right field upper bleachers in the first of the third. Bartlett, Giant short stop, duplicated his feat in the second half of the inning, knocking the ball into the left upper bleachers to knot the score at one-all.

Hubbell pitched remarkable ball for the Giants, pulling out of two "holes" masterfully.

The lineups were:
Yankees—Crossetti, ss; Rolfe, 3b; Di Maggio, cf; Gehrig, 1b; Dickey, c; Powell, lf; Lazzeri, 2b; Selkirk, rf; Ruffing, p.

Giants—Moore, lf; Bartlett, ss; Terry, 1b; Ott, rf; Ripple, cf; Mancuso, c; Whitehead, 2b; Jackson, 3b; Hubbell, p.

Following is the play by innings account of the game:

First Inning
Yankees—Crossetti was out at first on a bounding ball to Jackson at third. Rolfe bounded out to Terry at first. Di Maggio was thrown out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Yankees—Gehrig bounded to Terry who threw to Hubbell for the put-out at first. Dickey bounded through the box, taken by Whitehead who threw him out at first. Powell singled to left center. Lazzeri struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Giants—Mancuso struck out. Whitehead bounded to Crossetti who threw him out to Gehrig at

LIKE THE TEXAS FARMER and the Texas rancher, the Humble Company has never been satisfied to stand still. Every day, Humble technicians are on the alert to find some way to better the Humble products you use. With far-reaching resources of crude stocks to draw on, with the most modern refinery equipment at their disposal, they are able to furnish you with motor fuels and motor oils which are practically perfect for today's automobiles.

See the battle of the Alamo, the capture of Santa Anna, the prisoners of the Mier Expedition drawing the black beans, the battle of Sabine Pass, Colonel Goodnight treating with Comanche Quannah Parker. Then see and listen to the story told by the rocks of Texas, and how Texas oil is drawn from many thousands of feet under the ground. On your way to and from Dallas—stop for service where you see the Humble sign.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony has come back from China to find his best friend, Billy Ross, a member of a gang of dope peddlers and kidnapers. Ross is very dangerously ill as the result of a smash; he confesses that Ambrose Lawson is the head of the gang. Terence knows Lawson's gang plans to kidnap Elsa Little, the movie star, and he has called at the Little house to see what he can pick up Lawson, whom none suspect, just has arrived at the Littles.

Chapter Four QUESTIONS BY LAWSON

It seemed that Little could not remember Mahony's name. A flash of mild amusement came into Mahony's eyes and vanished. But he did not remind Little of his name.

Lawson, it appeared, had a better memory.

"Yes, I've met Mahony with poor Ross," he said. "You had rather a lucky escape, I understand."

"Yes," agreed Mahony.

"What I can't understand is the extraordinary behavior of the people in the car behind you," went on Lawson. "They must have seen the crash. What a rotten thing to do, to go on without stopping."

His eyes, dark and intelligent, were watching Mahony's expression with some curiosity. What he was really wondering, as Mahony guessed, was whether Mahony was aware that the people in that car behind had caused the crash. With two engines racing all out, the crack of a pistol-shot might have passed unnoticed.

"Perhaps they were in a hurry," suggested Mahony.

"It was a dirty trick, anyway," Lawson said.

During this short exchange of conversation, though nothing had been obvious to any spectator, the two men had been quietly engaged in weighing one another up. Of the two, Lawson had the harder task, for he had not only to estimate the manner of man that Mahony was, but also to try to guess how much, if anything, he knew of the real causes of that motor crash.

"I'll ring for tea," said Elsa.

Conversation became general again; tea was brought in. Soon after tea Mahony thanked the Littles for their hospitality and left.

"A most extraordinary young man," observed Mr. Little in a tone of disparagement, when Mahony had gone. "He practically forced his way in here without any invitation, and stayed to tea. And asked the most impertinent questions."

"He came to see me," said Elsa. "I didn't think he was so bad; I rather liked him. I found him quite a pleasant change after all the regimental hearties and terribly pukka little sahibs who seem to come here so much."

Lawson laughed.

"And which am I—a regimental sahib or a terribly pukka little of Ross's, why haven't I met him before?"

"He's a journalist of sorts, I believe," answered Lawson. "He's been in China for the last four years as correspondent of an American newspaper."

"Oh! That's what he does, is it," commented Mr. Little.

"He struck me as being harmless enough," said Lawson.

That was the conclusion which he had actually come to. It struck him that it was unlikely that Mahony had learned anything from Ross, and that, even if he had, there was little he could do except to warn the Littles, and his warning would only provoke derision.

Mahony had no intention of warning the Littles of Elsa's danger. He could only too easily imagine the effect of telling Vincent Little that Lawson was planning to kidnap his niece.

The old man would gobble with indignation like a turkey. Elsa would laugh, and they would at once pass on information of the warning to Lawson, who would also laugh heartily, and postpone his attempt on Elsa till a more favorable occasion.

He had a simple dinner at his lodgings, and after dinner he changed into Billy's fancy dress. From a suitcase he took the Luger automatic pistol which he had been accustomed to carry in China, and carefully oiled and cleaned it. He drove away from his lodgings in his new car at a quarter past nine, and arrived at the Albert Hall just before half past.

Though the ball had not long started, the huge floor was already fairly crowded with dancers in fancy dress and masks. Harlequins, cardinals, knights, South Sea Islanders, Pompadours, mingled in a colorful (richly dressed, good-humored throng. More and more people were arriving every minute, and the bars were doing a roaring trade.

Mahony's luck was in. As the crowd was coming off the floor after a dance, the sound of a man's laugh attracted his attention. Mahony knew that laugh. He turned, and saw a tall, swaggering baccaneer leading a slim Queen of Hearts in the direction of a box. In spite of her mask, the Queen of Hearts was obviously Elsa Little.

For a couple of hours he loitered about, noting every man with whom Elsa danced. He also noted carefully every man who passed him dressed as an Arab sheik. Among all those people in fancy dress it was a fairly common costume, but he noticed two others which looked as if they had been made by the same hand as his.

Unmasking was to be at midnight, and all the film stars present were to appear one by one on a platform and be presented to the audience.

At about half past eleven, hanging about near the entrance to Lawson's box, Mahony saw Elsa come out to dance with the Charles the Second. A couple of seconds later the Arab sheik came out alone. Seeing Mahony standing near the box, he stopped and looked at him sharply.

"Better be getting along to entrance number three, hadn't you?" he said curtly. "There's only about five minutes to go."

Mahony felt a thrill of anticipation.

ple in the car behind you," went on Lawson. "They must have seen the crash. What a rotten thing to do, to go on without stopping."

His eyes, dark and intelligent, were watching Mahony's expression with some curiosity. What he was really wondering, as Mahony guessed, was whether Mahony was aware that the people in that car behind had caused the crash. With two engines racing all out, the crack of a pistol-shot might have passed unnoticed.

"Perhaps they were in a hurry," suggested Mahony.

"It was a dirty trick, anyway," Lawson said.

Largest Jersey Show Exhibited By 4-H Clubs

The largest 4-H Jersey show ever exhibited at an Eastland county fair, was exhibited last week, according to Hugh F. Barnhart, assistant county agent. Nine of the ten registered Jersey heifers recently purchased were on exhibit. John Underwood, veteran Jersey breeder of Denton county judged the show and made the following placings in the 4-H Jersey division:

- First, Jack Walker, Alameda boys' 4-H club.
- Second, James Dean, Alameda boys' 4-H club.
- Third, Buster Wheat, Morton Valley boys 4-H club.

C. P. Pierce, a Denton county Jersey breeder accompanied Mr. Underwood to Eastland to see the Jersey show and the four Jersey heifers which he sold to the Eastland county 4-H club boys in July. Mr. Pierce praised the 4-H club boys very highly for the condition and the manner in which they had fitted their calves for the show. Mr. Pierce was so well pleased with one of the heifers, which he sold to one of the boys in July, that he made the club boy an offer to buy the heifer back, paying him a nice profit on his sale, however, the offer was declined by the new owner.

The boys exhibiting at the show were: Glenn Justice, Flatwood; Cecil Caudle, Flatwood; Jack Walker, Alameda; James Dean, Alameda; Edward Gideon, Ranger; Joe Don Meroney, Ranger; Buster Wheat, Morton Valley; Elbert Bennett, Kokomo, and L. R. Higginbotham, Kokomo. Several of these heifers will be on exhibit at the Cisco Livestock Show, October 16th and 17th, and in November they will be taken to the Texas Centennial Show in Dallas to compete against the other 4-H club boys of the state.

A small number of 4-H club boys entered the 4-H club pig show at the Eastland County fair this year. However, those pigs exhibited were in excellent condition for the show. County Agents Knox Parr and Leon C. Ranson of Taylor county, who were the livestock judges of the show, made the following decisions:

- Pigs 175 pounds and under—First, James DuPuy, Kokomo Boys' 4-H club.
- Second, Marlin Sneed, Ranger Boys' 4-H club.
- Pigs 176 pounds and over—First, Neal Eaves, Kokomo Boys' 4-H club.
- Second, Billie Bohanan, Carbon Boys' 4-H club.

Billie Bohanan, member Carbon Boys' 4-H club, who exhibited his chickens at the Texas centennial recently has received a letter stating that he won 3rd and 4th place on his Brown Leghorn pullets.

ELLENBERG TEST IN ERATH ABANDONED

EASTLAND, Sept. 30.—Shut-down of an Ellenberger test four miles east of Dublin, watched with interest by the Central West Texas district, was reported to oilmen here Saturday.

The test was the Seaboard Oil Corporation's No. 1 L. Garrett. It was abandoned at about 4,100 feet according to the reports. It marked the third well drilled recently by the corporation in Erath and Hamilton counties. The No. 1 Garrett was located 1,000 feet from the southwest line and 2,455 feet from the northwest line of the R. McKinney survey. It was reported production from the Ellenberg was expected at 3,981 feet. Sulphur water was encountered before operations ceased.

Eleven million, six hundred and ninety thousand cubic feet of gas was obtained in the first well drilled by Seaboard in that section in March. Located in Erath county, the well was on the T. K. Rea heirs land, 900 feet from the south and west lines of the D. Cook survey. The gas production was reached at 2,455 feet. The second well, No. 1 Dawson, was in Hamilton county. It was a failure after being drilled to 5,345 feet. It was completed in July.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches. If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you should quickly notice an improvement. Continue to apply Emerald Oil until the veins and bunches are reduced. Moore's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful penetrator and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed. It has brought much comfort to worried people all over the country. WELLS DRILLED AT EASTLAND AND RANGER

EASTLAND, Sept. 30.—Drilling of two wells as offsets to a producer near Eastland and deepening of another, thought partly resulting from showing of the Chastain producer near Ranger, were three of the bright features in Eastland county oil developments last week.

Meanwhile, wells watched with interest were being drilled in practically the four corners of the county.

Neil A. Moore and others of Eastland were reported to have spudded a well which is a south offset to a producer brought in three miles east of Eastland recently. The recent producer was the Corothy Oil Company No. 1 Holcomb Heirs, section 1, block 4, H. & T. C. survey. It was completed for 36 barrels of oil and 1,640,000 cubic feet of gas.

Moore and his associates' well is on the Holcomb land 1,130 feet from the south line and 1,238 feet from the east line of the west half of section 1, H&T C survey, block four. Moore's well, the No. 6 Holcomb Heirs, may be drilled to 1,500 feet. One hundred twenty acres have been leased by Moore and his associates.

States Oil Corporation stake the north offset to the Dorothy well 150 feet north and 330 feet west of the southeast corner of the northwest quarter, section 1, block 4, H&T C survey. It will be No. 1 Holcomb heirs.

Outcome of the Chastain No. 1 H. Brashear in the William Van Norman survey, 330 feet north and 700 feet west of the farm lines west of Ranger is believed responsible for deepening of a well by the Panhandle Refining company one and one-half miles northwest of Chastain's.

Panhandle's No. 1 E. G. Webb, section three, 110 feet from the north line and 300 feet west from the southeast quarter in the William Van Norman survey. The well is being deepened 125 feet from 3,320 feet, depth at which it is reported production of 100 barrels of oil and some gas was obtained at the original completion in January, 1920.

Reports from other wells in the county:

The county's Ordovician test, Atkins and Flowers No. 1 White, south of Carbon, was reported drilling ahead at 3,150 feet. The

Trench Silo To Be Opened Friday Near Rising Star

A 10-ton trench silo on the Cecil Shults farm, three miles north of Rising Star will be opened Friday, October 9, at 4:30 p. m. Everyone interested was invited to come and inspect the siloage and discuss this method of saving feed. County Agent Elmo Cook and Hugh Barnhart and Vocational Agriculture Teacher Curtis Wilson will be present to discuss all phases of trench silos and answer questions.

Agricultural leaders of the county have emphasized repeatedly that the trench silo is now recognized as the most practical and economical way to store feed on the farm. Feed stored in this way has twice the value of dry stacked feed as silage has the same feed value as the green feed had when first put into the silo while drying feed causes it to lose much of its value.

A trench silo is safe from damage by fire, insects, rats, flood, and theft. It will keep feed perfectly for years so that it is available when needed.

The county agents are urging every Eastland county farmer to build at least a small trench silo and store some of the feed for this winter that will otherwise go to waste. Milo and corn stalks do not make as high grade silage as the same feed with the heads or ears left on, but they would be worth many dollars to livestock this winter. Frost damaged feed can be safely used for silage if allowed to stand for four or five days after frost.

Particulars on trench silos can be obtained from the county agents or vocational agricultural teachers.

Drouth Rail Rates For Eastland County

Drouth railroad freight rates have been approved for Eastland county by the railroad commission of Texas, according to a circular received from the commission Tuesday by County Judge Clyde Garrett. Just what the rates will be has not been learned as local freight agents in the County have not received definite instructions from authorities.

In a meeting Monday the County Drouth Committee composed of Dick Weekes, R. R. Bradshaw, and R. F. Cox designated dealers in 5 towns of the County to handle drouth shipments of feed into the county. Dealers designated were A. J. Ratliff, Ranger; Frank Castleberry, Eastland; J. W. Thornion, Cisco; D. C. Hazelwood, Rising Star; and I. C. Underwood, Gorman.

WINGBACKS

by TINY THORNHILL

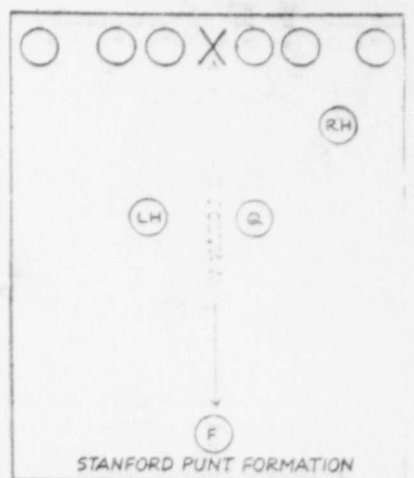

(Ninth in a series of 12 daily articles prepared by the coach of Stanford's Rose Bowl champions in collaboration with Russ Newland, Associated Press sports writer.)

Punt formations are pretty much the same wherever American football is played. If a team really has to kick, the idea is to get the ends down, provide good blocking and come up with a high, long punt.

Stanford teams use a backfield formation differing slightly from what is known as the standard formation. The Stanford punter stands about 11 yards back. Two backs a couple of yards ahead flank him. Another back flanks our right tackle.

In the so-called standard formation one back is spotted back of the line and on a line between the right guard and right tackle. The other two blockers flank the punter. The right side blockers are in a direct line.

While the standard formation offers opportunity to run off a line back, the formation employed by Stanford, in my opinion, is far more flexible. It not only affords better protection through the forward blocker flanking the tackle but holds out the possibilities of pulling off a reverse or fake reverse play.

(Tomorrow: Passes from Single Wingback formation.)

Roosevelt Opens Campaign At Syracuse, N. Y.

(By Associated Press)
SYRACUSE, Sept. 30. — President Roosevelt opened his campaign for another New Deal victory at the November election with a repudiation last night of communist support and an assault on present and past republican leaderships.

Voicing confidence in the result of the campaign, Mr. Roosevelt told delegates to the New York state democratic convention packed into every corner of the national guard armory that the republican leadership would "never comprehend the need for a program of social justice and of regard for the well being of the masses of our people."

A yelling, whistling throng greeted the president as he stepped onto the platform and chatted with Mrs. Roosevelt.

A great roar swept the auditorium as Governor Lehman mounted the rostrum and introduced the president as the man "who turned despair into hope and conquered and who restored prosperity to our country—a great American."

Communism the president described as a "false issue." He pointed to his record which he said showed a "clear and consistent adherence," not only to the letter but to the spirit of the American form of government.

'Eviders'
Referring to the republican command, he spoke of "these evaders" and said that "undercover" the leadership is the same as that of four years ago.

"The same lack of purpose of fulfillment lies behind the promises of today," he said.
"You cannot be an old guard republican in the east, and a New Deal republican in the west. You cannot promise to repeal taxes before one audience and promise to spend more of the taxpayers' money before another audience.
"You cannot promise tax relief for those who can afford to pay, and, at the same time promise more of the taxpayers' money for those who are in need. You simply cannot make good on both promises at the same time."

Confident
The initial sentence of his prepared speech brought applause from the crowd crammed into the farthest reaches of the chamber. He said: "Tonight you and I join forces for the 1936 campaign."

"Never was there greater need for fidelity to the underlying conception of Americanism than there is today. And once again it is given to our party to carry the message of that Americanism to the people."

Swinging over then to the question of the future of the American form of government, he said: "To that record, my future and the future of my administration will conform. I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of communism or of any other alienism which would be fair means or foul change our American democracy."

Diverting later on to another issue that has been raised in the campaign—social legislation—Mr. Roosevelt said the republican leadership "is not against the way we have done the job. The republican leadership is against the job being done."

Then he questioned who in America would risk turning the government back to a leadership "which brought it to the brink of 1933."

Serious Threat
"The most serious threat to our institutions," he added, "comes from those who refuse to face the need for change. Liberalism becomes the protection for the far-sighted conservative."

"Never has a nation made greater strides in the safe guarding of democracy than we have made during the past three years. Wise and prudent men—intelligent conservatives—have long known that in a changing world worthy institutions can be conserved only by adjusting them to the changing time."

"In the words of the great essayist—the voice of the great events is proclaiming to us—reform if you would preserve."
"I am that kind of a conservative because I am that kind of a liberal."

Taking up state considerations midway in his address, Mr. Roosevelt mentioned Governor Lehman and said that "the overwhelming majority of our citizens, regardless of party, propose to return him and his administration to Albany for another two years."

An immediate survey of the present flood damage in the Colorado, Concho and Guadalupe river areas has been launched by the Texas planning board's flood control engineers.

Several Eastland County Terraces Serving Effectively After 21 Years

Several sets of terraces in Eastland county have been in existence 21 years and are still effectively controlling water and wind erosion it has been discovered, in a search for the oldest terraces in the county by the county agent, Elmo Cook.

Jim Horn of Union community, five miles east of Eastland, constructed five terraces on 10 acres of his poorest hill-side land in 1915 with a team, a home-made draw, and a turning plow. The terraces are more than 20 feet wide and 15 inches high. There are no washes in the field, no breaks in the terraces, and no ditches at the terrace outlets.

Mr. Horn says the terraces have increased his yield at least one-tenth. He has never had a crop failure on the terraced land but has in the flat below the terraces, where his strongest land is located.

The same year that Ed T. Cox, ex-county agent of Eastland county ran the terrace lines for Jim Horn, he ran lines on three farms in Pleasant Hill community six miles southeast of Cisco for B. F. Trotter, R. L. Poe, and W. J. Poe. The Trotter farm is now owned by R. C. Hagan, who was told last year by a peanut buyer that the nuts raised on the terraced land were the best ones that buyer found in 1935. Terraces on Hagan's farm are holding perfectly and kept in good repair.

Edgar Altom, who now owns the W. J. Poe farm stated that similar land in the community but not terraced was now practically worthless in many cases. He thinks his terraced land almost as good as when it was first put into cultivation.

Terraces on the third farm in Pleasant Hill community, the R. L. Poe farm have served a good purpose in spite of trouble from water running into the field from a pasture above.

tion of communism, the president exclaimed:

"Here and now, once and for all, let us bury that red herring, and destroy that false issue."

"You are familiar with my background, you know my heritage, and you are familiar, especially in the state of New York, with my public service extending back over a quarter of a century."

"In that record, both in this state and in the national capital, you will find a simple, clear and consistent adherence not only to the letter but to the spirit of the American form of government."

"To that record, my future and the future of my administration will conform. I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of communism or of any other alienism which would be fair means or foul change our American democracy."

Diverting later on to another issue that has been raised in the campaign—social legislation—Mr. Roosevelt said the republican leadership "is not against the way we have done the job. The republican leadership is against the job being done."

Then he questioned who in America would risk turning the government back to a leadership "which brought it to the brink of 1933."

Serious Threat
"The most serious threat to our institutions," he added, "comes from those who refuse to face the need for change. Liberalism becomes the protection for the far-sighted conservative."

"Never has a nation made greater strides in the safe guarding of democracy than we have made during the past three years. Wise and prudent men—intelligent conservatives—have long known that in a changing world worthy institutions can be conserved only by adjusting them to the changing time."

"In the words of the great essayist—the voice of the great events is proclaiming to us—reform if you would preserve."
"I am that kind of a conservative because I am that kind of a liberal."

Taking up state considerations midway in his address, Mr. Roosevelt mentioned Governor Lehman and said that "the overwhelming majority of our citizens, regardless of party, propose to return him and his administration to Albany for another two years."
