COLLAPSE OF NEUTRAL PACT THOUGHT NEAR

Soviet to Aid Madrid If Fascists Help Rebels in Spain

(By Associated Press) The ultimatum from Soviet Russia, threatening open support of the Madrid government unless fascist states help to neutrality in the Spanish war, caused grave concern in Europe today.

Fear that the international non-intervention agreement would collapse was seen in the Russian demand that Italy, Germany, and Portugal stop alleged backing of Spain's insurgents.

Demand Surrender

On the war front fascists tightened their lines around Madrid and demanded surrender of the capital under threat of destruction.

Moscow declined to expand the neutrality ultimatum, leading to the belief that the Soviet aid would be immediate for Madrid. Great Britain and France began efforts to patch up the neutrality wall.

FASCISM-COMMUNISM HATRED FLARES ANEW

(Associated Press Foreign Editor) Two dictators, Benito Mussolini of Italy and Josef Stalin of Soviet Russia, Wednesday stirred anew the world-wide conflict between fascism and communism.

Each acted to stiffen his party. Mussolini reached over into Austria, potential hot spot of Europe, to quicken the pulse of the counterpart of Italy's fascist lineup. Well informed persons in Rome said Il Duce demanded Austria put his friend, Prince Ernest von Starhemberg, at the head of a re-organized fascist party militia.

Soviet Purge

Stalin pursued the communist party "cleansing" to weed out opposition such as sent Zinovieff and 15 other supporters of Leon Trotsky before firing squads a month ago. His police arrested Karl Radek, once secretary of the communist international, and held him for trial along with 13 other "enemies," already jailed for alleged plotting or subversive activities.

The Soviet Union, at the same time, delivered a blunt ultimatum, aimed obviously at fascist powers, warning it "would free itself from any obligation" toward neutrality unless other nations halted military assistance to Spain's rebels.

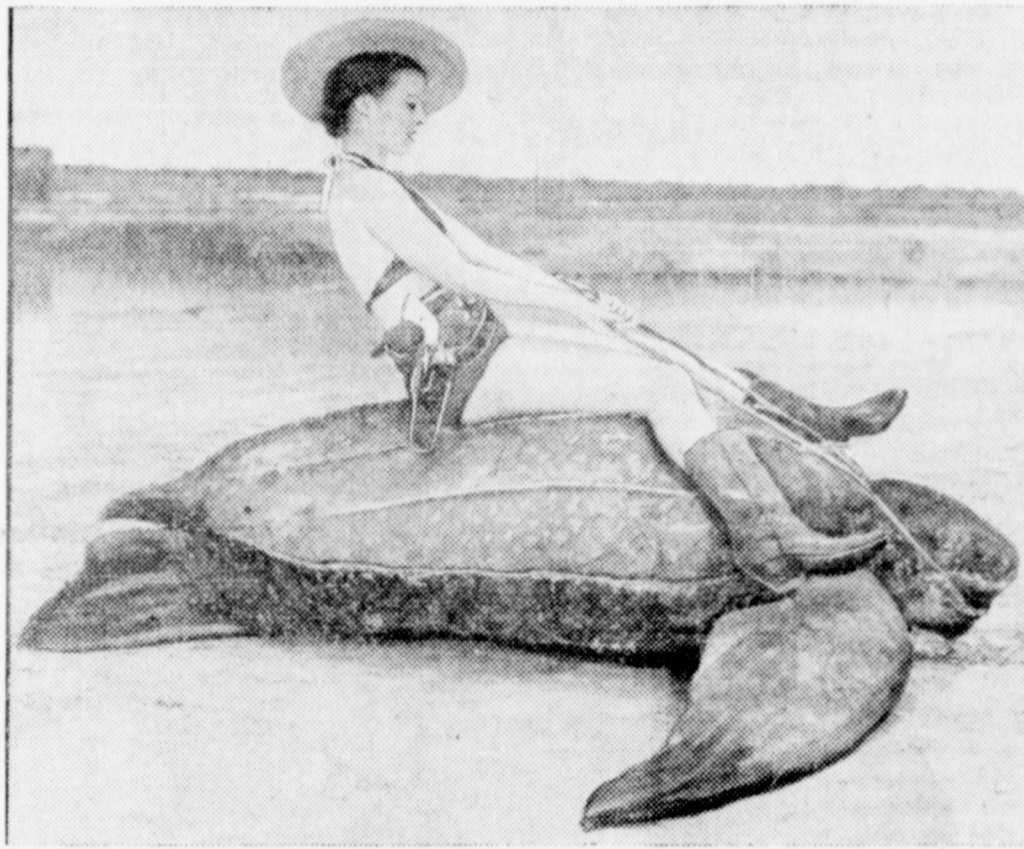

The ultimatum specifically named Portugal, Italy, and Germany.

HOUSE TURNS ATTENTION TO OMNIBUS BILL

Oil Tax Right-of-Way Effort Fails When New Plans Talked

AUSTIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Another move to give the proposed oil tax increase right of way in the house of representatives failed today when attention turned to consideration of the omnibus bill which would increase levies on natural resources, utilities, amusements, and a wide variety of things.

A number of levies have already been stricken from the measure, despite a warning that the bill, as drawn, will fall short of the revenues needed to support state pensions.

The legislature was pondering additional proposals, one providing for diversion of $3,000,000 from the general fund being introduced by Senator John Redditt of Lufkin.

Governor Allred has suggested transfer from the highway fund and issuance of interest-bearing warrants.

ALLRED RECOMMENDS WARRANTS FOR PENSIONS

AUSTIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Governor Allred recommended to the legislature Wednesday issuance of interest-bearing warrants on the old age assistance fund to meet pension payments during the present financial emergency.

He said that unless additional cash was made available immediately the fund would go on a partial deficit November 1 and on a complete deficit for succeeding months until additional cash was provided.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 8 (AP)—The widowed mother of 31-year-old Kurt Bjorkvall was overwhelmed with joy today when she was informed that her son had been saved from death in the sea off western Ireland after the plane in which he tried to fly non-stop from New York to Stockholm was forced down.

Maud Dickson, the 16-year-old girl to whom the flier said before he left New York he hoped to announce his engagement, likewise was joyful, although she expressed disappointment that he had failed to reach his goal. Both were waiting at the municipal airbase, where a gigantic reception had been planned for Sweden's "Lone Eagle," when the news that he was safe was given them by Minister of Communications Albert Forslund. Bjorkvall was rescued by the trawler Imbrin off the western-most point of Ireland.

Freshman Week At High School Set by Seniors

Week after next has been selected as the week for the annual high school freshman initiation week, presided over by the seniors.

Rules and regulations regarding the "fish" during the week have been made out by the senior class officers and each freshman failing to carry out the rules will be punished in a kangaroo court which will be held the Monday following freshman week.

The affair is all in fun and no hazing will be permitted.

During the week for the last three years each senior has been given one freshman pupil to serve him during the week, such as carrying his books between classes, but due to the increased number of fish this year, each senior may have two and some three if he wants them.

The freshman initiation week was originated by the seniors of '33. The present seniors were the first victims. The event has now become an annual affair.

The squad of 22 men will leave for Big Spring at 8:30 tomorrow morning. The Lobo band and pep squad will attend the game.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The composing room of the Cisco Daily Press has been placed under a handicap this week by the suddenly enforced absence of Davis Fields, who handles the make-up of the paper, and for that reason the editions have been a little late this week. Davis' aged father was stricken with an apoplectic attack at Eastland Monday afternoon and Davis went there at once to remain with him. It is mighty hard to find unemployed printers on sudden notice, a fact which ought to recommend the present democratic administration, but the Press shop has carried on in a splendid manner and today help arrived in the person of Lowell Burks, employe of Ruppert's bakery and a former Press employe.

The organization of an athletic association to promote better high school athletics and to encourage physical recreation activity among the business men got off to a good start at the chamber of commerce last night. The interest of the men who attended was clearly shown in their eagerness to go into the organization and each do his part toward making it a success. The support of the fans is vital to any successful program of athletics, and while school authorities and the coaches may become irked of the criticism that sometimes falls their way and the interference of community interest in the program, the fact remains that the support of the community as represented by the fans is essential. If the proper cooperative effort is attained everything is lovely. That is the purpose before the new organization and I hope it receives from the citizens the right character of response and continued cooperation.

Speaking of athletics, reminds of the splendid job the Humble Oil and Refining company is doing in broadcasting the principal games of the Southwest conference football season. The Humble started this program last year, I believe, and so popular and successful did it prove that an even more complete program is being undertaken this year. A comparatively small number of the folk who are interested in the games are able to see even a number of them during the season, and next best to being present in the stands to watch one of the thrilling gridiron battles is the privilege of hearing it broadcast by an expert over the radio.

There has been some argument against permitting the broadcasting of these games on the score that it detracts from attendance. I quite to differ with that view. Quite to the contrary, it encourages greater attendance. It does so because it spreads and intensifies interest in football among a great number of people who, without the stimulus of hearing the descriptions over their radios would develop little or no regard for the sport. There is hardly a one of these, shall I call them "converts" to the game, who has followed the record of a team over his radio who does not form a determination to see the team in action at least once during the season. So I say that radio broadcasts cultivate a greater interest in football and cause greater crowds to pack the stadiums for the sport.

The Foy, a Cisco landmark of the oil boom days, is a three-story wooden structure at 209 West Third street. It was built in the early days of the boom by W. L. Foy.

Mrs. A. M. Stokes, who had the building leased, has leased an apartment house in Eastland, it was learned.

Supreme Court Sessions Likely To Be Dramatic

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 — This year is not likely to see a more continuous dramatic affair than the fall and winter term of the supreme court.

The drama lies less in the decisions the court may make than in how many of its present members may be there when the time comes to make them.

Already six of the nine justices are eligible for retirement. A justice is eligible to retire when he has passed 70 and has completed 10 years on the federal bench.

Of the six four are described generally as "conservatives" because of their votes against New Deal legislation. Three members of the court are considered "liberal," and two have been sometimes on the conservative side, sometimes on the other.

The tabulation below indicates the tendency of their votes, and their ages. The (X) indicates those eligible to retire:

- "Conservative" Van Devanter (X), 77. McReynolds (X), 74. Sutherland (X), 74. Butler (X), 70. "Liberal" Brandeis (X), 79. Stone, 63. Cardozo, 66. Variable Hughes (X), 74. Roberts, 61.

Why Have They Stayed? Why have those eligible for retirement continued, although past 70, to labor arduously on the bench when they might enjoy their "rocking chair" years in leisure?

Ardent New Dealers in the past have insisted that more than one of those on the "conservative" side might have retired earlier had they not feared appointments which would swing the court in a direction they considered away from the constitution.

In other quarters these statements have been challenged as aspersions on the integrity of the court. The justices themselves, of course, have remained aloof.

Several measures the Roosevelt administration has looked upon as the beginning of permanent legislation, as distinguished from emergency, will come before the court this session.

These include the Wagner labor act, the holding company act, the securities and exchange act, the railway labor act, and possibly later on, the social security act.

Under the present schedule none of these is to be argued until after the November election. What change, if any, would a New Deal defeat make in the membership of the court?

"Fundamental Problem" That is only part of the drama, more lies in statistic through the years since the court was founded. President Roosevelt, for instance, is the only chief executive since the turn of the century who has not been called upon to appoint one or more members. In his four years Taft named six.

Moreover, in the past when several years went by without a vacancy, there were several in rapid succession. To many persons the social-economic learning of those who might be named to succeed any of these nine serious-minded men of law constitutes a fundamental problem.

Optimism Over Oil in Cisco Field Voiced by Bearman at Lion Meeting

Optimism of the oil man over the field around Cisco was voiced by J. A. Bearman, Cisco operator, at the Lions club meeting Wednesday when he spoke on oil production and pointed to a well south of the city which has been producing for some 15 years.

"The fact that that well, owned by Pete Hoffman, is still producing some 24 or 25 barrels of oil every other day under its own power seems to indicate that there is something good here," Bearman said.

He said that the queer actions of the well, which originally was good for about 50 barrels daily, apparently mean that there is a crevasse condition, with some obstruction that allows only a small amount of oil to flow into the sand from which the well as producing, while only enough gas energy to account for the steady flow collects in a 48-hour period.

Production Discussed Bearman discussed the method in general use for oil production, both as to drilling and as to pumping wells without sufficient gas to flow.

A committee composed of J. W. Copps, H. L. Dyer, Horace Condeley, and E. L. Smith was approved for working out a method of raising funds for the Lions club treasury. Election of E. L. Smith as tailwaiter was approved.

A Lion-Rotary banquet for the public school faculty was discussed and a tentative date set for October 15.

Corn Husks Thick, Bad Winter Coming

SALEM, Mo., Oct. 8 (AP)—Ozark old timers are holing up for a long, hard winter.

Hill residents say corn husks have been unusually thick and the fur of wild animals more luxuriant than usual. Weeds, too, have grown tall—indicating a high snow level.

Mountain folk say the weeds grow high so their seed will reach above the snow and provide food for the birds.

Superintendent R. N. Cluck today said that 28 students are busy at work on a NYA project in the Cisco high school, earning a part of their way through the school.

Conviction of Huey Affirmed by Court

AUSTIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the conviction of Arthur Huey of Borger, county tax assessor and collector, on a charge of misapplication of funds.

Huey claimed he had been robbed of more than $8,000 while on his way to the county depository in 1935. The jury decided the robbery was prearranged in order that he might convert the funds to adjust a shortage in his accounts.

I Killed, II Hurt As Grid Squad Is Hit by Lightning

CANTON, Ohio, Oct. 8 (AP)—Lightning struck the Lehman high school football squad at practice late Tuesday afternoon, killing Don Correll and injuring 11 others, including Coach Jimmy Robinson and Assistant Coach Wilbur Billings.

The injured were rushed to Mercy hospital. All were released with the exception of Coach Robinson. Hospital attaches said he was in a serious condition, his lower limbs paralyzed.

Wallace Ferrell, witness, said the two teams were scrimmaging just before the fatal bolt struck.

"The varsity was in a huddle listening to instructions from Coach Robinson," he said. "There was a blinding flash of light and members of the team fell to the ground. Those who were able, put the injured in cars and took them to the hospital."

Other witnesses said three bolts struck almost at the same time.

Two of them hit chimneys of two nearby houses and the other struck in the midst of the team.

Correll was a junior and co-captain of the team. He played tackle and was 18 years of age. He and his teammates were practicing for the game with Dayton Stivers high school Friday afternoon.

Correll wore a metal nose guard, insulated with rubber, when the fatal bolt struck. His teammates said he was a trumpet player and wore the guard to protect his lips.

State Is Facing Emergency, Says Rep. Cecil Lotief

Texas is facing an emergency, Cecil A. Lotief, florist representative from this district, said in a letter to The Daily Press, in which he told of action to speed up revenue bills for old age pension funds, and how they had been delayed.

Following is the text of Lotief's letter: "We are well satisfied with our 50th anniversary Prince Domino Hereford auction sale," said Virginia Dibrell of the ranch tonight. The cows brought an average of $165 and the bulls an average of $199. Col. Earl Gartin acted as auctioneer and B. Anderson, Kansas City, of the American Hereford association, was clerk. More than 300 attended the noon luncheon, while an additional 300, including breeders and cattlemen from throughout Texas, also were present for the sale. A delegation came from Kansas City for the event.

Catalogues advertising the event went to 14 states, other than Texas. The Dibrell herd claims to be older than any other group, save one in Michigan. The ranch is located 10 miles northeast of Coleman on Highway 23. Cattle placed on sale Friday were descendants of the original herd purchased 50 years ago and placed on the Echo ranch. There were 16 cows with calves at foot, 11 bred cows, ten bred heifers, ten open heifers and five yearling bulls in the lot.

As I have stated time and time again, our system of government is 50 years behind, and as long as we have this system of government the common people will not receive any beneficial legislation.

The governor has recommended that the legislature pass a law authorizing the old age assistance commission to receive $3,000,000 from the state highway department to be used for immediate payment of the old people; but judging from the sentiment of the members of the house this will not be permitted. I for one intended to vote for it because I feel like the people of Texas gave the governor such an overwhelming majority in the present election that they believe in him and I want to cooperate with him in all things possible. We are facing an emergency, and our old people must be taken care of.

There are quite a few of these old people who have not received a cent up to this good hour, and I

Auction of Dibrell Cattle Held Friday

COLEMAN, Oct. 8. — Dibrell and Sons ranch of Echo sold 45 registered Hereford cows and five registered Hereford bulls from the oldest herd in Texas and the second oldest in the United States, at Auction Friday.

"We are well satisfied with our 50th anniversary Prince Domino Hereford auction sale," said Virginia Dibrell of the ranch tonight. The cows brought an average of $165 and the bulls an average of $199. Col. Earl Gartin acted as auctioneer and B. Anderson, Kansas City, of the American Hereford association, was clerk. More than 300 attended the noon luncheon, while an additional 300, including breeders and cattlemen from throughout Texas, also were present for the sale. P. L. Crossley Heads Legion at Eastland

EASTLAND, Oct. 8.—Officers of the Eastland American Legion post were chosen at the annual election Thursday night. P. L. Crossley, district clerk, was elected post commander to succeed George Utz.

Other officers: P. L. Harris, first vice commander; Jess Richardson, second vice commander; H. Pullman, third vice commander; Paul McFarland, adjutant; E. H. Jones, finance officer; Dr. J. H. Caton, chaplain; Don D. Parker, historian; L. C. Hall, service officer; H. M. Hart, child welfare chairman, and Ben Bassett, sergeant-at-arms.

They have also passed a resolution to investigate our universities because it has been alleged that communism, atheism and evolution are being taught in same. I voted against this resolution because I realized that this investigation would not be beneficial to anybody and would only spend the tax payer's money.

This is all I have to say to the people of my district at this time. I will inform you from time to time as to the progress of the legislature. If anyone in my district desires to become a notary public, write me and I will put your name on the list for appointment. Let me hear from you.

RFC Distributes Third of Million In This County

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8. — Disbursements by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Texas during the period February 2, 1932, to June 30, 1936, aggregated $96,262,772.98, it was announced today by H. P. Drought, State Director for the National Emergency Council for Texas. The figure did not include amounts that went to various government agencies, or relief grants to the State of Texas as authorized under the Federal Emergency Relief Act of 1933.

In Eastland county during this period, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation distributed $393,935.42, Drought said.

The principal purpose for which the money was distributed in Texas was as follows: loans to banks and trust companies, including receivers, liquidating agents and conservators, $25,993,602.58; subscriptions to preferred stock of banks and trust companies, $22,742,375; loans to building and loan associations, $1,612,733.96; and an additional amount of $18,747,090.23 to mortgage loan companies.

Fire Insurance Credit Forseen For Coming Year

Despite a fire loss that already is three times as great as that of last year, Fire Marshal O. Gustafson looked forward to a credit on the city's insurance key rate for the coming year as Fire Prevention Week opened here today.

This year's loss to date has been approximately $5,504,43, Gustafson said, as compared with last year's loss of $1,760.70.

The insurance rate is based on fire losses for three years. Cisco is now receiving a 10 per cent credit, he said, as compared with a 6 per cent credit last year and a 12 per cent penalty in 1934.

The greatest single fire loss in this year's total, Gustafson pointed out, was from the Texas Theatre fire in August. Damage to the equipment and fixtures was listed as $1,705.40, with the building damage estimated by the fire marshal at $400.

Gustafson urged cooperation on the part of citizens in observing Fire Prevention Week and pointed out that much loss from fires can be avoided by preventing the fires themselves.

War Over Garden Has Court Climax

LONDON, Oct. 8. (AP)—A two-year "war" between neighbors over their gardens ended in court.

Mrs. Rosa Street was fined 1 lb. 11 shillings (about $7.75) for throwing salt water over her neighbor's clematis "with intention to destroy it."

She accused the owners of the plant, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King, of throwing water over her lilac trees.

"This sort of thing has been going on for two years," King told the court.

Judgment Given Isaacks in Suit On Back Salary

EASTLAND, Oct. 8.—Judgment of $503 was awarded E. Buford Isaacks in a suit for back salary from Randolph Junior college of Cisco in 88th district court Saturday afternoon.

Eugene Lankford of Cisco, attorney for the college, gave notice of appeal. Frank Judkins of Eastland was Isaacks attorney.

Interests and court costs were additional to the $503 judgment.

Beautifying Job Resumed Here By The Garden Club

The Cisco Garden club resumed its activity in behalf of the beautification of Cisco and environs with its first fall meeting at the club house Monday afternoon and the election of officers. Mrs. C. H. Fee, president since its organization, requested relief from the greater duties of the presidency, and accepted the vice presidency after Mrs. J. E. Spencer was chosen president. Other officers elected are Mrs. G. B. Kelly, secretary; Mrs. William Reagan, treasurer, and Mrs. P. P. Shepard, reporter.

The cooperation of every man and woman in Cisco in a program of beautification which continues to center upon the ideals of beautifying the school grounds and the highways into Cisco was requested by the club. The immediate highway project is the Lake road, plans in connection with Highway No. 1 being held in abeyance pending completion of construction on it. Activity in connection with improvement of the grounds of the public schools and Randolph college will be pushed.

SPEED MARK IN U. S. SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Despite the record-breaking Atlantic crossings of the Normandie and Queen Mary, naval records show the United States still holds the ocean speed mark. In 1928 the aircraft carrier Lexington, en route from Honolulu to San Francisco, made 768 miles in a single day for an average speed of 30.66 knots. The Queen Mary's best day was 766 miles, the Normandie's 754.

For her sake PLEASE DON'T GUESS ABOUT LIGHT

Reading music and reading books are very much alike in their demands upon the eyes. Those wrong notes, or improperly played passages, may be due to insufficient light, rather than to carelessness. Practice becomes easier when eyes don't have to peer and foreheads wrinkle. Good light at the piano is as important as good light for reading or study. Insufficient or wrongly placed light, or glaring light, breeds eyestrain. Good light makes all eye work easier and that makes study and practice more attractive, more effective.

HOW MUCH LIGHT DO YOU NEED TO PROTECT EYESIGHT?

Science has now determined how much light we need to see easily and comfortably...for reading books...for reading newspapers...for sewing...and for other eye tasks. It has also made a device, the Light Meter, which measures your lighting in a jiffy. You read the story of your lighting on the dial as you read the story of temperature on a thermometer. How does your home measure up? We will be glad to show you.

It costs nothing to check your lighting

And it may prevent serious eyestrain in children and others of your family. One of our representatives will gladly assist you—with the aid of the Light Meter and other special equipment that he will bring. There is no charge for this service.

See the new I. E. S. Better Light-Better Sight Lamps which give much more light at low cost. See them at our display room.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement...

Do more than pardon; give us joy. Sweet peace, and sober charity, And loving hearts without alloy, That only long to be like Thee—Faber.

Let us kindly accept from God even our own share, and treat it charitably, firmly, intelligently, and let us never be afraid of innocent joy.

Old-Age Pension Inequities

GOV. ALLRED has recommended to the Texas legislature the issuance of interest-bearing warrants against the old-age assistance fund in order to provide funds for carrying on payments over the emergency period until contemplated new measures produce the necessary revenues. The federal social security board has promised to match the amounts of such warrants provided the banks do not discount them.

THE increasing difficulties in connection with the old-age assistance administration in Texas and the growing number of those qualified to receive this assistance under the state laws indicates strongly that some extensive revision of the Texas program will ultimately be forced upon the legislature.

THE liberal property ownership and income provisions which make the great majority of the people of Texas over 65 eligible to pensions perform an injustice not only to the state as a whole in the matter of taxation but to the indigent aged the program was originally designed to assist.

It is suggested that historical features peculiar to the town or territory be depicted in a play or pageant, produced and sent to the exposition for the anniversary.

Founder of Lion Organization Due For Centennial

(Special to The Daily Press)
 DALLAS, Oct. 8.—The founder of Lionism, Melvin C. Jones, of Chicago, now secretary-general of the Lions International club, will speak to 4,000 Lions club members Oct. 10 at the Texas centennial exposition.

The day will be celebrated as Lions International Club Day, in honor of the first international board of directors meeting to be held in Dallas. Twenty years ago the first Lions club was founded in Dallas.

Forty-one international directors from Canada, Mexico and the United States will attend the board meeting Oct. 8 and 9, and will observe Lions Day Oct. 10 at the $25,000,000 world's fair. Members representing the 258 Texas Lions clubs and clubs in Oklahoma and Louisiana will hear addressed by their founder, and their international president, Edwin R. Kingsley, of Parkersburg, W. Va., when they speak at the exposition.

Governor James V. Allred, himself a Lions club member, and Mayor George Sergeant of Dallas will welcome the visiting club members to the Texas world's fair at 10 a. m. in the Hall of State auditorium. President Kingsley will make the response.

Italo-Americans To Visit Centennial

DALLAS, Oct. 8. (Spl).—More than 10,000 Italo-Americans are expected to attend the Texas centennial exposition Oct. 11 and 12.

"That is a conservative estimate," said C. S. Papa, publisher of La Tribuna Italiana here and chairman for the two Italian Days at the Texas world's fair. "Special trains are assured from Houston, Galveston, Port Arthur and Beaumont and Shreveport. It looks also as if we shall have specials from Waco, San Antonio, Victoria and other Southwestern points. There will be a delegation, too, from Chicago and from other Eastern and Middle Western cities."

Sunday, Oct. 11, also will be Catholic Day, and Monday, Oct. 12, will be Columbus Day. Fifteen bishops and archbishops have indicated they would attend a high military mass in the exposition's Amphitheatre on Sunday.

Chavez, Garcias Lead in Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 8. (AP)—The Joneses, Johnsons and Smiths, bulking large in the average American city directory, are well out of the running numerically in this city with its large Spanish-American population.

Here the Chavezes and Garcias predominate. The latest city directory, listing 23,402 names of an estimated total population of 46,804, shows approximately 400 Chavezes and nearly that many Garcias. The common English names are well behind.

Measurement Of Texas Farm Land Well Under Way

(Special to The Daily Press)
 COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 8.—Work on measuring compliance with agricultural conservation plans which entitled farmers to grants of money is about one-third completed, it is estimated.

This work began about the fourth week in Aug. and the measurements have been made by using the same ways employed in measuring compliance in previous programs, except that in 20 counties aerial maps are being used.

Officials are finding that the aerial map method is very satisfactory, being speedy, accurate, and practical.

Not every farmer has believed in this new-fangled method of measuring his land. But the results are justifying its use as illustrated by a story of a man who protested his payments being based on this method and—standing over the map—demanded to be shown how the thing worked and how many acres the instrument indicated that his farm contained. Being shown and told that his farm was 155 acres according to the calculations he said:

Knew of Error
 "I knew it was wrong; I knew it couldn't do it. My farm has 185 acres in it. I bought it from Mr. So-and-So 15 years ago and paid him for 185 acres and have been paying taxes on 185 acres ever since."

The agricultural conservation committee man with whom he was arguing thought enough of the man's word to take his chain and go out and measure the farm. The measurement turned out to be 155 acres. The farmer who had been paying taxes on 185 acres is now threatening to sue for the return of the purchase price of 30 acres of land which he did not get.

Baylor Bear Cubs To Play Lon Morris

WACO, Oct. 8. (Spl).—Hardened and bronzed as a result of three weeks of strenuous training, Coach Jim Crow's Baylor freshman football eleven opens its 1936 season against the Lon Morris Bearcats of Jacksonville tonight under the floodlights on the new municipal field in Waco.

Heavy intra-squad scrimmages and drills against the varsity have featured the practice session of the Cubs to date, and Coach Crow and his assistant, Wendell Simpson, report that their team will be ready for the invasion of the Lon Morris eleven.

Grading of Turkeys To Be Taught Nov. 4-5

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 8.—A turkey grading school will be held November 4 and 5 in Fort Worth sponsored by the Texas extension service, George P. McCarthy, assistant extension poultry husbandman, recently announced.

Thomas W. Heitz, senior market specialist of the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. department of agriculture, will be in charge of the practice classes in grading of live birds, killing, dressing and packing and will also give lectures.

The turkey grading school is one of a series being held in 12 turkey growing states. Other turkey grading schools will be held in the various sections of Texas throughout the year to familiarize the grower with the production of quality meat birds.

It is planned to be through the measurement in the state of Texas by October 20. One district has completed the work already.

Long distance rates reduced 7 TIMES in 10 years

LATEST REDUCTION Sept. 1, 1936:

Reduced rates on calls over 234 miles and reduced person-to-person overtime rates after 3 minutes of overtime.

In 1926, a person-to-person long distance telephone call between New York and San Francisco cost $20.60 at any hour.

Today—1936—the same call may be made for only $6.75 at night, or any time on Sunday.

This wide difference between the long distance rates of yesterday and today is the result of 7 voluntary rate reductions made in the past 10 years.

It illustrates a Bell System policy in action—the policy of voluntarily reducing rates when it can be done. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Ribbon Winner Tells About How He Raised Calf

EASTLAND, Oct. 8.—Jack Walker, member Alameda Boys' 4-H club, who took the blue ribbons in the 4-H Registered Jersey Heifer class, and the open class at the Eastland County Fair, writes the following story as to how he prepared his calf for the show.

"My heifer which I showed at the Eastland County Fair, which was held from September 16 to 19, was fed 12 pounds of feed per day for a period of sixty days, beginning July 14th and ending September 14th. During this feeding period I fed 20 lbs. ground oats, 1000 lbs. cottonseed meal, 150 lbs. wheat bran, 200 lbs. hominy meal, 15 lbs. bone meal, and 10 lbs. of salt, which made a total cost of $10.02. I fed 13 lbs. of hay daily at a cost of $1.80, making a total cost for feeding my heifer of $11.82.

"I did not keep the blanket on my heifer at night, but placed the blanket on her about seven o'clock in the morning, and removed it in the late afternoon. About one week before the show Hugh F. Barnhart, Ass't. county agent, helped me clip my heifer. We clipped her head, face, under her belly, and her tail. A few minutes before I went into the show ring to let the judge make his decision on the class of heifers, I brushed my heifer thoroughly, and then went over her with a rag

China Is Planning Public Pawnshops

NANKING, China, Oct. 8. (AP)—Pawnbrokers, who form a not inconsiderable and not unimportant part of Chinese society, fear the loss of businesses which have been handed down from father to son for centuries if the national government goes through with its public pawnshop program.

In a recent order to district and municipal administrations, the national authorities provided for the opening of loan bureaus which would advance cash at low rates of interest to the poor and needy. In case owners fail to redeem pledged property within the stipulated period, the public shops are to return to owners any surplus remaining after principal and nominal interest are deducted from the auctioned value.

Glasgow Playground For Europe Royalty

GLASGOW, Scot., Oct. 8. (AP)—Fast becoming a new playground of European royalty, Scotland has had another crowned guest in the person of Bulgaria's ruler and No. 1 railroad fan, King Boris.

While Britain's own King Edward VIII went on a holiday cruise in the Mediterranean, King Boris passed his "vacation" at the lovely home among the Perthshire heather of Sir Alexander Kay Muir, whose wife was formerly first secretary to the Bulgarian Legation in Washington, D. C.

Among other of royal blood who like Scottish holidays are Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and Princess Ena, who have been here twice.

Arrangements Made To Pay Teachers

EASTLAND, Oct. 8.—C. S. Eldridge, county superintendent of education, Saturday said he had completed arrangements with local bankers for money to pay all common school district teachers their first three months' pay in cash.

Eldridge has been working on the proposition for sometime and was very enthusiastic over having completed the cash deal.

Richard Haddon, Jr., four, was crushed to death at his San Pedro, Calif., home when caught in a clothes wringer.

with a small amount of oil, to give plenty of gloss to her hair. I polished her horns and hoofs with a small amount of oil. I washed the switch in her tail early in the morning, and by judging time it was dry, and ready to comb out. I bought a show halter to show my heifer with.

"I believe one of the secrets of my winning two blue ribbons at the county fair was because I had trained my heifer to lead, to stand and pose for the judge. My heifer will be shown at Cisco and Rising Star in behalf of my 4-H club work."

Cross-Country Matrimonial Tangle Ends After Double Honeymoon in Jail

A cross-country matrimonial tangle that included a double honeymoon in jail with a little brother and the Cisco police for chaperons ended Saturday night when six youngsters started home with their parents.

The six, including two couples of newlyweds, were arrested here for stealing gasoline for a car they had borrowed from one of the youth's mother without her consent when they left Arizona. All were under 21 years of age.

But Saturday night all was forgiven and the prodigals returned to their homes and perhaps a "good strapping."

Rev. N. T. Knight, Phoenix pastor and father of one of the boys, arrived here Saturday afternoon with Mrs. A. L. Mason, mother of the boy's bride, to claim their wandering offspring—and the four others.

The party, which had spent much of this week in the city jail, included Doyle Mason and his bride, the former Hattie Knight; Jack Carlton and his bride, the former Hazel Bonim; her brother, Burgess Bonim; and Herman Ross.

The youngsters told officers that the two couples were married in Arizona and that they all started to Dallas and the Texas centennial for a honeymoon. They said that they had $30 when they started but that it did not last long and they were trying to secure gasoline for Mrs. Mason's car, which they had taken, when arrested.

Saturday night the youngsters, still enjoying the situation, had planned to send Rev. Mr. Knight back to Arizona in his car, while they returned in the other. But he thought otherwise.

"Of course I'll give them a strapping when we get home," he said, grinning, "but they need some money to get there." He advanced the cash to the party in the other car and took his daughter and new son-in-law with him.

Highway Project Is 614 Per Cent Near Completion

The project of rerouting Highway One into Cisco this week was 614 per cent completed, it was announced by A. D. Schmid, highway engineer in charge of the project.

Schmid announced that the time consumed was 61 per cent of the amount allotted, which meant faster progress than had been expected. The number of man-hours consumed, however, was 63.7 per cent of the number allotted.

Concrete Finished

Schmid said that all concrete work had been completed.

The job is divided into three separate projects, the first from .9 miles west of the city to the city limits, the second from the city limits along eighth street to G avenue, and the third from there to F avenue.

Schmid reported that the dirt work on project one was 90 per cent completed and the caliche base 80 per cent completed.

Dirt work on project two is 85 per cent completed and the caliche base 50 per cent completed.

Dirt work on the third project was listed as completed and caliche base as 60 per cent completed.

The entire job calls for a total of 31,016 man-hours to be done before the completion of the work.

Costly Marriage Of Indian Heiress Ends

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8. (AP)—Marriage was an expensive business to Mrs. Helen Tall Chief Robertson, she testified Friday.

The Indian oil heiress was granted a divorce from Wesley Robertson, who she said was the son of a Cherokee Indian chief.

"He was always demanding money from me," she testified, "and every time I refused he would leave home for a while and then come back and make up. But the last time he said he wouldn't return to me unless I gave him $5,000."

Just Friendly Game --2 Filipinos Dead

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 8. (AP)—The Igorots of the Philippines play rough.

In fact they get so rough at times that their play takes a toll of life and many cracked skulls. Recently, two Bontoc tribes decided to adjourn to a dry river bed and indulge in a friendly game—the throwing of good sized rocks at each other. While the game was at its height members of both tribes became unruly. Before the constabulary men in the mountains got control of the situation two of the tribesmen were dead and a number injured.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony has had a busy night. Since nine o'clock he has rescued two girls from Ambrose Lawson's gang of kidnapers; Elsa Little, the cinema star, and Ruth Fraser, wealthy young sportswoman and aviatrix. Unfortunately, Terence managed to make himself a suspect in the murder of his uncle when he returned her to her home; just now he is asking Ruth about her experiences, especially as to whether she had been drugged by the gang.

Chapter 12
IT'S GOOD-BYE
"Yes," said Ruth. "I noticed that after meals I always felt terribly queer—all light-headed, as if I didn't care a hoot for anything—but when that feeling had worn off I felt depressed and awful."

"I stood it for about a day; then I got desperate. The day before yesterday, when the fat man brought me my supper, I hit him on the head as hard as I could with a chair. It knocked him unconscious."

"I went through his pockets and found a pistol and took it. Then I heard one of the others coming, so I shoved him outside the door, so I locked myself in. The other two men stormed and shouted a lot, but the window was too high for them to get in that way, and when they tried to break the door down I shot at them through it and nearly killed one of them, I believe. I wish I had killed him."

"After that they didn't try to break in any more. But every now and then they came and threatened me with the most horrible things if I wouldn't let them in, and promised me a marvellous time if I would. I think that what they really meant to do, when they found they couldn't get in, was to starve me out."

She paused.
"They'd have done it, too, if you hadn't turned up. I was getting to feel that I'd give anything for a chop, or even a plate of rice pudding. I'm terribly grateful to you, really."

The child certainly had some pluck, reflected Mahony. During his wanderings about the world he had known many women, but none who would have been capable of holding her own against a crowd of toughs as this girl had done.

"I wonder what happened to Billy Ross," she went on. "Did they get him too?"

"Yes," answered Mahony. "But not when they got you. Ross was smashed up in a motor accident yesterday. If he lives, which is very doubtful, he'll be a helpless cripple for the rest of his life."

He paused.
"You say you're grateful to me," he continued. "Then I can ask you a favor. You'll probably have to tell all that's happened to your parents and the police. You can't tell them my name, because you don't know it, but I'd be very grateful if you won't describe me too accurately to them. And I'd like you to leave out Ross's name altogether. He was partly responsible for the fact that you were kidnapped. But he can't be punished any more than he has been punished. If his name is dragged in the mud, his parents will be the only people to suffer. I want to prevent that. And that kidnapping gang won't get away with it. I'll deal with them all right."

"I bet you'll deal with them," she said. "I won't say anything about Billy Ross. If I tell my guardian that I got into a taxi, and a man jumped in with me and chloroformed me, that ought to do, oughtn't it? Any way, I don't suppose he'll want a lot of police fussing around. He hates a lot of fuss and scandal."

"That story ought to be all right," agreed Mahony. "But mind you stick to it."

"I'll stick to it," she promised. "But won't you tell me who you are?"

"No," answered Mahony.

By this time they were passing through Hampstead, and in a few minutes they drew up outside the house in Upper Brook street, Mayfair, where Mr. Lee-Ramsden, Ruth's guardian, lived. She got out of the car and stood for a moment at the edge of the pavement, looking rather wistfully at Mahony.

"Shan't we ever meet again?" she asked.

"Who am I that I should prophesy."

"Don't you want to see me again?" she persisted. "It's a bit impolite, you know, to rescue a girl from a lot of villains and then walk lightly out of her life just like that."

Mahony grinned. He liked her. In ordinary circumstances he would have been glad to meet her again. But the circumstances were not ordinary. He did not want any friendship with a girl hindering his activities.

"Sorry," said Mahony. "I expect I would bore you stiff. So really it's probably all for the best that it's impossible for us to meet again."

A slight smile touched the corners of her lips.

"Oh, you think it's impossible, do you?" she said. "All right. Well, I won't keep you now. So long. And thanks for the ride."

With that she waved to him, and turned and mounted the front door-steps of her guardian's house. She rang the bell and turned and waved again. Mahony waved back. Then he drove away.

In answer to Ruth's ring the door was opened by an elderly butler clad in jajamas and a dressing-gown. At the sight of her his eyes opened wider; he seized the door with his right hand as if he needed support.

"Miss Ruth!" he exclaimed in a startled tone.

"That's who it is, Mullins," answered Ruth. "Very hungry and very sleepy. Be an angel and get me some hot soup or something. And tell me, has the household been terribly agitated by my absence?"

"Mr. Lee-Ramsden has naturally been very worried," stammered the butler. "I must wake him at once and tell him of your safe return." As Ruth advanced into the hall, there was a sound of movement at the top of the stairs, and a voice called out: "What is it, Mullins?"

The speaker began to descend the stairs into the lighted hall. He was a tall, well-made vigorous man, of between fifty-five and sixty, with the air about him of one accustomed to command.

His features were handsome and well formed; his white hair waved back from a broad, intellectual forehead; his eyes were blue and steady, with a hint of cynical humor in their cool glance; his nose was Roman, leading a touch of severity to his face; his mouth and chin were well shaped and determined.

One ugly feature he had which was not noticed by the casual observer—his hands. They were very broad in the palms, with short, ugly, dumpy fingers, varying little in length. A distinguished criminologist had once laughingly told Lee-Ramsden that he had the hands of a man conscienceless and implacable—the hands of a killer. Lee-Ramsden had merely laughed.

Half-way down the stairs, catching sight of Ruth in the hall, he stopped short with the air of a man who has received a sudden shock. In a moment he recovered himself and hurried on down the stairs.

"Ruth! My dear child! Where have you sprung from?" he exclaimed. "We thought you'd been kidnapped. Your aunt came round and made an awful fuss. Really we've been worried to death about you."

"I've been a bit worried about myself," answered Ruth. "But I'm not going to talk till I've had some food. I'm almost dying of starvation."

She also wanted to get quite clear in her mind the story which was going to tell. Hot soup was brought into the dining-room, and when she had drunk it, Ruth related the story she had arranged with Mahony. Her guardian listened attentively until she had finished. Then he shook his head slightly and smiled.

"It's a good story, my dear, an excellent story—in fact it's been one of my favorite stories ever since I first read it as a boy," he commented, "but it won't do. Won't you tell me where you've really been?"

"But I've told you," she protested. "I got into a taxi and a man got in with me and chloroformed me. Then I was taken to a house somewhere outside London; I don't know exactly where because it was dark and I didn't pay much attention on the way back."

"And a gallant stranger dashed single-handed into the house and rescued you from the sinister trio and brought you safely home," observed Lee-Ramsden. He shrugged his shoulders slightly.

"You don't know who kidnapped you. You don't know where you were taken. You don't know who your rescuer was," he continued in an ironic tone. "My dear, what a story to tell the police when they ask where you've been. I'm quite sure they won't believe you."

"But what else can I tell them?" asked Ruth.

Fowl Thieves Poetic And a Bit Sarcastic

EVERTON, Mo., Oct. 8. (AP)—Ozark chicken thieves have a touch of imagination—as well as gall.

A gang operating in this vicinity on several forays recently left a hen and rooster in each place raided and attached a note reading: "We steal from the rich, we steal from the poor. We leave this pair so you can raise some more."

Munro shook his head. "It's Webb's signature." He spoke feebly. All of his strength and initiative appeared to leave him. "You have no alternative," Montcalm said gently. "Your own general advises surrender."

Chapter IX THE MASSACRE

Aliee appealed in vain to Heyward and her father for mercy. They were adamant. The crime was mutiny, and mutiny must be punished by hanging. That was army regulations. The fact that Hawkeye had performed what he thought was his duty, that he had remained behind to face the consequences, these weighed nothing against the clear letter of the law.

Surrender of the Fort

Justice," Heyward said firmly. "Justice," Aliee said bitterly. "If that's your idea of justice, then the sooner French guns blow the British army out of America, the better it will be for the Colonies."

Heyward was horrified. "Aliee, you don't know what you're saying!" "Yes, I do," she answered. "For the first time in my life I'm speaking from my heart and not out of a book of Regulations. And if it's sedition, I'm proud of it."

From the distance came the roll of drums. Colonel Munro went to the window. In front of the earthworks stood a French officer, white flag in hand, seeking a parley.

The parley was arranged. From the French lines came Montcalm himself, attended by a group of officers, and stopped halfway to the Fort. A similar group, headed by Heyward and Munro, advanced from the Fort to meet them. From a distance the Hurons watched the proceedings sullenly.

"Colonel Munro," he said, "I have known you as a gallant antagonist. I am happy to make your acquaintance as a friend."

"I have long realized," Montcalm continued, "that even outnumbered as you are, it would merely be a waste of breath to invite you to surrender."

"You are correct in your assumption, sir," Colonel Munro answered grimly.

Montcalm smiled. "As a soldier, I know that an officer of your proven courage does not surrender until his cause is proved without a doubt hopeless."

Munro and Heyward exchanged puzzled glances. They were not to be kept long in suspense.

"Colonel," said Montcalm, "my scouts intercepted this dispatch intended for you. Read it."

Colonel Munro began to read, and was unable to finish. His voice broke. Silently he handed the message to Heyward.

"The dispatch read: *Colonel Munro—Fort William Henry. No reinforcements available—impossible to send provisions without escort—advise surrender of fort.' It was signed 'Webb.' "It's a trick," said Heyward tensely.

'Red Democracy'

Communism Is Still Final Goal For Nation, Soviet Says, Despite Reform

By JOHN LLOYD

Associated Press Foreign Staff

MOSCOW, Oct. 7 (AP)—The question most frequently asked in connection with the Soviet Union's turn to "democracy" under a new constitution is "where is Red Russia going?"

Is it becoming conservative? Or is it, through involved processes which may seem confusing, still plotting a steady course toward communism?

One hears from the Stalinists that holding true to the principles of Marx and Lenin. Confusion, they say, arises only from lack of knowledge of these principles.

Observers Divided

Opinion among foreign observers is divided. Some accept the Stalinist explanation. Others believe Stalin has become convinced that socialism or socialistic democracy is the most to be expected from the Russian revolution.

The observers are diplomats, newspapermen and other foreigners who by virtue of long residence and close study of developments in the Soviet Union are qualified to speak.

Those who believe Russia is swinging away from communism point in support of their belief to various recent reforms which have reestablished or strengthened old customs and institutions.

Reforms Go Deep

The reforms have affected the very roots of the social structure. The family, for instance, has come back fully into its own as a recognized basic unit of society. Parents are held increasingly responsible for maintenance and education of their children and "fire-side influence" is stressed as one of the most important factors in bringing up the new Bolsheviks.

Free and easy divorce is gone. Divorces are now taxed and both parties must appear before the de-considered essential to the good bolshevik. Silks for the women, white collars and ties for the men have long since won public favor.

Titles have been restored in the army, the office of housewife is held in high esteem and there are dozens of other developments tending to make life in the Soviet Union similar to that in "bourgeois" countries.

Now comes the new constitution to introduce direct, secret voting, abolish old class discriminations, set up parliamentary-like chambers and even guarantee protection for a certain amount of private property, including homes.

Aim Still Communism

And so rises the question—is the all-powerful Politbureau (directing board of the communist party) building democracy or a combination of socialism and democracy as the final form of government?

The official answer, as stated above, is negative. Communism, spokesmen say, can be reached only by successive stages of development. These will take the country through state socialism and a soviet kind of democracy. The final aim remains the same—communism.

Two established conditions are held necessary for its advent. There must no longer be a division of the people into classes. Production and distribution must be so organized as to give each citizen the necessities of life on the basis of his need.

Class Held Settled

So thoroughly has it disposed of the class problem, the government says, little more than a single class remains—the workers' class. The government can therefore afford to end discriminations against the remnants of other classes, although it cannot yet drop the big

Big Attendance Due At Democrat Session

A large attendance at the county democratic meeting in Eastland this afternoon was expected by Oscar Lyster, of Flatwood, county democratic chairman. The purpose of the meeting was to lay plans for raising the county's quota of $1,442 for the national campaign fund.

stick in dealing with plotters.

These admittedly still exist, even though in small and scattered numbers. There are to be rounded up and severely punished as has been done in the past.

As regards production and distribution, much hope is placed in the outcome of the Stakhanoff movement. This has already boosted production on a large scale and speeded transportation, but there is still much of the road to be traveled.

CARLSBAD, N. M. (AP)—From the heights of a famous volcano to the depths of Carlsbad's caves came Col. Thomas Boles, superintendent of Carlsbad caverns national park. Before he took charge of the beautiful water-carved limestone vaults, ten years ago, Col. Boles lived on Kilauea volcano, where he was superintendent of the Hawaii national park.

Like the proud cities of Texas, and the busy towns... Humble products are continuously improved

In 1836, Texas villages were scattered, homes were crude, population was scarce—in all not much to build on... These days, Texans are proud of their towns and cities. In neither will you find a placid contentment with things-as-they-are! New resources are being developed, new people are coming to town. The rat-tat-tat of a rivet gun signals new structures; the whine of a carpenter's saw indicates new homes a-building; industrial areas echo the clang and clamor of construction. Improvement is in the air!

HUMBLE KEEPS STEP with the continuous improvement of the towns and cities of Texas. It is a fundamental Humble policy to find new products for new needs, to conduct a never ceasing search for ways and means of giving the Texas motorist a better motor fuel, a more dependable motor oil. Humble technicians are ever alert to give you everything the automotive engineer asks of the petroleum industry. Continuous improvement is their slogan — and continuous improvement keeps Humble ahead.

When you drive through the proud cities of Texas and the busy towns, look for the Humble sign. Fill your tank with a Humble motor fuel, drain and refill with a Humble motor oil. Test both of them thoroughly, in your car... You'll come back for more.

1836 TEXAS 1936

At the Centennial Exposition, Dallas—Humble's Hall of Texas History

You are cordially invited to visit the Humble Exhibit at the Central Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Striking dioramas recreate dramatic moments and vivid episodes from Texas History. See the battle of the Alamo, the capture of Santa Anna, the prisoners of the Mier Expedition drawing the black beans, the battle of Sabine Pass, Colonel Goodnight treating with Comanche Quanah Parker. Then see and listen to the story told by the rocks of Texas, and how Texas oil is drawn from many thousands of feet under the ground. On your way to and from Dallas—stop for service where you see the Humble sign.

A TEXAS INSTITUTION MANNED BY TEXANS

Here's the motor fuel that delivers all the performance automotive engineers have built into that car of yours. Try it. Stop today at a Humble Service Station or at a Humble dealer's, tell the man at the pump to fill it up with Esso and—watch the difference. Test it in traffic and on the road; compare it with gasolines you've used. When you've tested a tankful, you'll be so pleased—you'll come back for more!

Esso is a premium motor fuel*, but if you're an average motorist, it will cost you only 5c a day more to get the benefit of Esso's superlatively fine performance. It's more powerful than any gasoline, accelerates faster, starts easier, has a higher anti-knock rating. Like all Humble products, it's continuously improved.

* In computing gasoline prices, don't forget that what you pay includes a State tax of 4c per gallon and a Federal tax of 1c per gallon. Gasoline is cheap, only the tax is high.

Two Candidates Act the Same For News Cameramen

BY PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Regardless of how far apart their politics and background may be, Governor Landon and President Roosevelt are found by photographers to be very much alike in their conduct before the camera.

Photographers who have flashed pictures of the two candidates during the past three months say they both dislike being photographed while eating and ban "surprise" pictures such as are taken by the candid camera.

When on the platform preparing to speak, both will pose in 7:45 p. m.

Deliberate Poses

Landon evidently did not react to the pictures of him snowballing with daughter, Peggy Anne, in Park. Since then, photographers have found him balking at separate poses.

Likewise, President Roosevelt after completing the recent stone-laying at Syracuse, Y., declined to return to the for a re-posing when photographers discovered, too late from a new angle the letter the stone would show up at the whole story of the event.

In spite of the "cautious" quest not to photograph the long range lens at Campobello snapped Mr. Roosevelt biting grily into a hotdog. That "dent-bites-dog" picture is bring any protests. He's "friends" with the photo man.

So is Landon. On a recent campaign trip he got caught change and borrowed a half from a photographer. The such a trifle soon would be gotten by the candidate, the tographer was surprised a of days later when Landon to him: "Hi, Jack, here's that cents."
