SOVIET PLEDGES NOT TO START WAR

Snow, Sleet Whip Texas Panhandle

Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

Today's rain and northern winds are a dreary week-end outlook for a football schedule which was expected to provide one of the greatest thrills of the current season. While Frank goes down to Waco Saturday to watch his alma mater do battle with the Aggies in a crucial game of the season, the eyes of the Cisco fans will be turned toward the Cotton Bowl at Fort Worth where the Horned Frogs, led by the Farmer team all week, will entertain Major Ralph Sasse's Mississippi State team in an inter-sectional gridiron feature of the Texas centennial program. Still others will look toward Houston where the Rice Owls are awaiting the Texas Steers in a conflict which will serve to show whether or not the Steers, defeated by Baylor in an upset scoring spree last week, are better than their loss to the Bruins indicates.

Football in the southwest has come into its own. So much so, indeed, that this section has developed a distinctive type of game, entertaining to the nth degree, and the cause of a considerable controversy on one side of which the old, conservative school of the game as it is played in the east has taken a strong representative stand. I am confident, however, that the kind of game the people want to see will be the kind of game that eventually is played, and that the "tumble-dazzle" or open type, or a modification of it, will rule the sport. For as long as teams which break loose with razzle-dazzle spectacles can produce a sufficient defense against the old tug-of-war character of the game which presents little more exciting than a couple of cows mowing each other about a field, the razzle-dazzle type of game will be demanded. And I think southwest coaches are proving this can be done.

Death of Senator Couzens of Michigan yesterday is learned with regret. I have always respected Couzens as a real statesman, a man whose thought and attitude was not influenced by his great wealth, but by what he considered the common good. It is comparatively easy for a person of small means to have great ideas of the public service, because "the poor we have with us always" and the poor person may be regarded as promoting his self-interest in promoting the common good. But it is infinitely more difficult for a man of great wealth to maintain a pose of disinterestedness between questions which involve special privilege and those which are related to the good of the common people. Washington was a greater man in spite of his wealth; and every time you see a wealthy man who has touch and sympathy with the man in the street you may safely give him credit for being really big-bigger than his money. Senator Couzens, too my mind, was such a man.

Mrs. J. W. Thomas has returned from a visit in Dallas.

Navy Seeks Merchant Marine; Fighting Ships Nearing Peak

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Navy day will be celebrated on October 27, the anniversary of the birth of President Theodore Roosevelt, by the beginning of a new and vigorous drive to rebuild the navy's highly important auxiliary—the merchant marine.

The nation's sea-fighting force of 306 warships of 1,062,875 tons—while slightly less powerful than the British navy—exceeds the sea strength of the rest of the world. Naval authorities are now pleased with its size and efficiency and plan to increase it to treaty strength by 1942.

Navy officials admit, however, that the merchant marine has been lagging behind, and Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, has given whole-hearted endorsement to the navy league's determination in this year's celebration to emphasize the merchant marine's importance in sea power.

Nelson Macy, president of the league, declared that emphasis on the merchant marine, naval bases, and emergency production of munitions as vital elements in sea power was a national necessity.

Setting up of the new maritime commission is expected to provide the stimulus for the drive. The commission, already headed by a navy man, will have $187,000,000 in cash and notes to put new life into the merchant marine, and is counting heavily on the cooperation of private ship operators.

350 Ships Needed

A preliminary survey by shipping board officials disclosed that 350 new ships are needed to put the United States on even terms with the world's other great nations. Only 100,000 tons of merchant ships are now under construction.

The navy on this navy day will have 95 warships of 288,215 tons under construction—to add to its 306 vessels in service—and plans for the construction early next year of two battleships and the conversion of 44,000 tons more into destroyers and submarines.

MORE POWER ON THE WAY
One of Uncle Sam's newest destroyers, the "Lamson," was launched at Bath, Me., last June—another powerful link in the navy which, except for the slight margin Britain holds, is the strongest in the world.

Lion-Rotary-Teachers Dinner Draws Over 100

Humor and Good Fellowship Are Featured In Impromptu Talks at Banquet

The first Lions-Rotary-Teacher banquet ever held here last night drew an attendance of more than 100 to an informal, delightful evening on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel. The program, to which each of the three groups contributed, inspired, at its conclusion, such a spontaneity of good fellowship and humor that the group lingered beyond the period of impromptu talks and visiting.

JOB INSURING PLAN ADOPTED

Report Is Accepted By Texas Senators

AUSTIN, Oct. 23 (AP)—The senate today adopted a free conference report on a bill to provide for Texas participation in the benefits of the federal unemployment insurance program.
The vote was 23 to 6, sufficient to put the law into immediate effect if it receives a 100 in the house which postponed action until Monday.
The bill imposes nine-tenths of one per cent tax of the total payroll on employers of eight or more persons for the present year ending December 31, 1.8 per cent in 1937, 2.7 per cent in 1938, -39, -40, with future rates based on benefit experience.

GAME TONIGHT IS CANCELLED

Rain and Cold Reason, Says Shelley

The Cisco-Granbury game scheduled for tonight has been cancelled, Coach Dexter Shelley said this morning.

The Lobo coach made the announcement after conferring with Granbury officials. Inclement weather, which yesterday caused Cisco's grid workout to be confined to skull practice, was given as the reason for the cancellation.

Man Arrested In Weyerhaeuser Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, announced today the arrest of Edward Fliss, described as a former associate of William Dainard, alias William Mahan, serving a life term for the kidnaping of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser.
Hoover said Fliss was wanted for questioning in connection with the location of a part of the ransom money.
Edgar Muller has returned from Abilene.

Siceloff Speaks This Morning On Chapel Program

SUB-FREEZING WEATHER HITS NORTH TEXAS

Two-Inch Rain Falls Here; Mercury Dips In Rainy Norther

(By Associated Press)

The coldest weather of the year extended over Texas today with sub-freezing temperatures on the West Texas plains accompanied by snow and sleet. Rains fell over the other sections.

The mercury, sliding since early Wednesday morning, dropped under 30 degrees in the north part of the state and the Texas panhandle.

Heavy rains fell at Abilene, Wichita Falls, San Angelo, Dallas, Fort Worth, Corsicana, Texarkana, Paris, Sherman, and Vernon.

OVER TWO INCHES OF RAIN HERE

Jupiter Pluvius, that mythical deity of the skies whose prodigality at times exceeds his abstinence in others, blessed the Cisco country with with another two-inch fall of rain yesterday and today, sending Lake Cisco to a record high of 82 feet.

The gauge at the city hall shortly before noon registered 2.1 inches and the fall continued steadily over midday with prospect that the total precipitation would be well above that figure before night.

Lake Cisco's level, according to G. R. Kilpatrick, water superintendent, rose about six inches. During the previous rainy spell, the surface rose past the old high mark of slightly more than 79 feet, reaching a level of 82 feet. After the rain it settled back six inches, the water subsiding into the upper reaches of the reservoir after the momentum of the heavy flow from the water-shed had spent and the lake calmed. The fall of last night and today carried the level permanently to 82 feet, however.

Grand Jury Due To Probe Attack On Gorman Girl

(Special to The Daily Press)

EASTLAND, Oct. 23.—Judge B. W. Patterson stated today that he had called the 88th district court grand jury to reconvene Monday to investigate certain alleged violations of the criminal laws, and especially that of an alleged criminal assault by a Gorman youth on a young girl, whose father filed the complaint and gave her age as under 15 years.

The youth was arraigned in the peace justice court here Tuesday, where he waived an examining trial, and his bond was set at $2,500 to await the action of the grand jury.

The alleged assault is said to have been committed near Carbon Saturday night.

Walkout by Frazer Is Strict Pension Protest

AUSTIN, Oct. 23 (AP)—Fresh protests against deliberation of the old-age assistance law broke in the legislature today with Representative Hollis Frazer of Franklin walking out of the meeting of the free conference committee considering a compromise measure, and Representative Leonard Westfall of Aspermont charging that lobbyists of "great corporate interests" were behind the move to "force the house to swallow deliberation."

The committee resumed its evening session after a long meeting last night, working on the various sections of the omnibus tax bill to which the deliberation proposal is attached in the form of an amendment by the senate.

Michigan Senator Dies at Detroit

SEN. JAMES COUZENS

DEATH TAKES SEN. COMZENS

Public Funeral Rites To Be Monday

DETROIT, Oct. 23 (AP)—Public funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home in Bloomington Hills for Senator James Couzens, who died yesterday. He was 64. Death followed an operation.

Couzens, who had served in the senate since 1922, died at 4:30 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) without regaining consciousness from the operation in which surgeons removed an obstruction that had contributed to his condition.

His family was at the bedside when he died.

The independent republican senator, whose large personal fortune grew from his early association with Henry Ford in the automobile business, had suffered from a kidney disorder for several years.

Ill Over a Year

Since August, 1935, when his left kidney was removed at a Rochester, Minn., clinic, his life virtually had depended on functioning of the remaining organ. He entered a Detroit hospital a week ago.

Couzens' political career ended in the Michigan primary election in September when, after declaring his support of the democratic President Roosevelt, he was defeated for the republican renomination to the senate by former

FDR Rests; Landon Talks in Oklahoma

(By Associated Press)

President Roosevelt took a breathing spell from his campaign wars today while Governor Landon plunged into a drive for Oklahoma's 11 electoral votes.

Roosevelt, returning from New England, had no speeches to make until tonight. Winding up his tour at Stamford, Conn., he said he was "not the least bit afraid of the result" of the election.
At Oklahoma City Landon said that the New Deal had "deserted" the democratic party principles, violated its "oath to support and uphold the constitution, adding that the "real democrats will fight shoulder to shoulder with us in this battle to save the American form of government."

WILL OPPOSE NAZI, FASCIST REBELS' HELP

Diplomacy Instead Of Military Methods Plan for Russians

(By Associated Press)

Soviet spokesmen, entering the European neutrality debate at London, indicated today that Russia would take steps which might precipitate a European war.

They said that Russia would continue to make every diplomatic effort to thwart "Nazi and Fascist aid to Spanish insurgents."

Spain's opposing armies braced themselves on three fronts. Insurgent troops routed government defenders at Las Vayas del Marques, west of the strategic El Escorial.

In Madrid preparations were rushed to defend the capital against a fascist invasion in the face of a movement of heavy artillery within 20 miles of the city.

In Paris French officials hurried to complete preparations for evacuating refugees from the Spanish war zones.

REBELS DRIVE LOYAL TROOPS TO MADRID

(By Associated Press)

Hard driving fascists laid siege to Madrid last night and drove government troops back into the environs of the capital.

Retreating from one town after another before the advance of mechanized columns, the government defenders dug in at Mostoles, 10 miles from the heart of the capital, and in Torrejon de la Calzada, 13 miles from the city.

Mostoles is on a highway running southwest from Madrid to Navalcarnero, captured by the insurgents.

Torrejon is on a divergent highway out of Madrid between the capital city of Illescas, also held by the fascists.

Fascist bands patrolled the slice of countryside between the two units, thus driving an ever-narrowing base of a triangle closer to Madrid.

With Madrid besieged, the fascist high command was reported to have ordered its warships to sink Russian vessels believed transporting arms to the fascist enemies.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates.—Zech. viii, 16.

Remember: A trusting heart, a yearning eye, Can win their way above. If mountains can be moved by faith, Is there less power in love? —FABER.

Until we learn the only way to serve God is to serve our neighbor, we may have knocked at the wicket gate, but I doubt if we have got our feet across the threshold.—George Macdonald

Giving the Legislature Its Cue

GOV. ALLRED'S unexpected and somewhat dramatic message to the legislature on the question of "de-liberalizing" the payment of pensions represents a sound exercise of statesmanship that further secures confidence in his administration because it required courage. It does not take so much statistical acumen to discern the results that would accrue from the application of the terms of the present extremely liberal pension law in the payment of pensions. It does not require a peculiar foresight to determine that sooner or later—most likely sooner—the federal government will withdraw its assistance if the state persists in disturbing pensions with a liberality beyond that practised in any other commonwealth. And it does not demand more than ordinary business judgment to determine that the potential load of pension taxes under present law is far too great for the state to carry.

It does take, however, some unusual amount of courage to put common sense into practice in setting oneself against the political currents that sometimes distinguish legislatures to the detriment of statesmanship. and Gov. Allred is to be commended for taking the stand that prudence and good judgment demands that he take in the interest of the welfare of the state and particularly of those who are entitled to the payment of old-age pensions as a matter of need. The leadership which the chief executive has provided in the premises is an opportunity for the legislature to do its duty.

OTHER OPINIONS

Free Campaign Postage

SENATOR AUGUSTINE LONERGAN (D) of Connecticut proposed the other day that the federal government pay stipulated campaign expenses for political candidates in order to obviate reliance on private sources. Only the next morning republican quarters charged too much campaign assistance already is being given by the government, at least to the New Deal, through use of the franking privilege in sending out post cards, circulars and pamphlets.

Quadrennially, if not biennially, this dispute over franking comes up, but the abuse continues and may even be growing. Both parties have long used freely the opportunity of sending out bales of "literature" with the printed signature of a member of the house or senate in place of a stamp. Only such matter as has appeared in the Congressional Record can be so sent, but this limitation is of little value, for almost anything can be inserted in the record.

It may even be a liability, for under the requirement a great deal of congressional time and printing is consumed with harangues delivered or "extended in the record" for no useful purpose so far as pending legislation is concerned, but only for effect on the hustings.

Of course, the handling of this stuff is not an overwhelming item in the post office's annual budget but it is nevertheless an item that ought to be charged to the political parties or candidates and that the post office as a business enterprise ought not to have to carry.—Christian Science Monitor.

Spectacle Baylor-A. & M. Game Colorful

The most colorful spectacle ever presented in South will be featured in the game between Baylor's home team and Texas A. & M. Saturday, according to announcement today from Everett M. McCracken, director of the Baylor Golden Wave band and who is supervising this gigantic performance. Five separate uniformed bands, totaling 532 musicians, will be massed on the gridiron of Waco's new municipal stadium to form more than thirty vari-colored letters, spelling out a welcome home to Baylor alumni.

The half-thousand musicians to participate in the maneuvers will include ninety musicians in the green and gold uniform of the Baylor Golden Wave band; 170 cadets in the A. & M. regalia of khaki, maroon, and white; 92 members in gold and white from Waco high school; 110 musicians in orange and black from Waco's west junior high school band; and 30 in the blue and white of south junior high school of Waco.

In addition to this program, the A. & M. band will put on a 7-minute marching drill. The other feature between halves of the homecoming game will be the presentation of the homecoming sweetheart and a musical salute to her. This sweetheart will be chosen by popular vote of the student body in chapel Friday, but the winning name will not be revealed until presentation ceremonies at the game.

The massed band maneuvers will provide a climax to Baylor's gala homecoming celebrations, Bandmasters cooperating with Prof. McCracken for the event are Richard J. Dunn of Texas A. & M. college, Lyle Skinner of Waco high school, William Krauledat of west junior high school, and Myron Guither of south junior high school. Formations and maneuvers for each unit have already been worked out and each band promises a creditable performance in the mass spectacle.

Streamlining Out of Style in Livestock

KANSAS CITY, October 23.—Steamlining has gone out of style in livestock.

Chunky, square beeves, almost round sheep and blocky hogs are the rule of the American Royal Livestock show.

Results of Tuesday's judging included: Cattle, Herefords—bull calves—C. M. Largent and Sons, Merkel, Tex., second.

Although there are 230 kinds of fishes in Texas waters, Texas has failed to appreciate the opportunities for a great fishing industry, according to data compiled by the Texas Planning Board which also shows that the Texas oyster catch declined from 114,729 barrels in 1910 to 48,704 barrels in 1930.

Two Conference Games Will Be On Air Saturday

Two Southwest Conference football battles will be featured in broadcasts sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining company on Saturday afternoon. Each game has an important bearing on the championship race; each brings together traditional foes in a colorful spectacle.

So far as the conference race is concerned, the game between Baylor and Texas A. & M. holds the spotlight. The Aggies are undefeated so far this year, are leaders in the league, and are favored by many football authorities to capture the championship. Baylor had met with indifferent success until last Saturday, when the Bears suddenly found themselves in the last quarter of their game with the University of Texas, and came from behind to win it, 21 to 18. The game, moreover, is the home-coming game for Baylor alumni, and colorful between-halves spectacle, in which over 500 bandmen will take part, has been provided for spectators and radio listeners. The game will be broadcast under the Humble company's sponsorship over station WACO, Waco; KRLD, Dallas, KTRH, Houston; and KTAS, San Antonio. Bill Ware will handle play-by-play, Gene Wyatt the colorful atmosphere of the game. The broadcast begins at 2:20 p. m.

The other game to be broadcast Saturday lacks nothing in interest to thousands of Texans. It is Rice against the University of Texas, and despite the fact that each team has met with a conference defeat, tradition headlines the meeting of these old rivals. When the Owls and Steers clash, hide and feathers fly all over the lot. The game is certain to be packed with thrills. It will be broadcast at 2:20 p. m. over stations KPRC, Houston; WFAA-WBAP, Dallas-Ft. Worth; WOAI, San Antonio; and KRGV, Weslaco. Korn Tips will handle the play-by-play, Cy Leland the color.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Through an amazing set of circumstances, Terence Mahony finds himself in command of crooks, fighting Lawson himself. Lawson is outwardly a clever and respectable gentleman, and although Terence knows of at least three major crimes he has committed, there is no proof that will stand in court. Worse, the police are searching for Terence and most of his newly acquired gang.

Chapter 25 BIG BOOK

"That's all right with me," said Bassett, "and I'll answer for my mates. But wot d'yer want us to do? Wot are your plans? It ain't going to be no sort of garden party, fighting against the Big Boss."

"It won't be as bad as all that," answered Mahony. "For one thing, provided you can keep our friend Lake hidden away safely, Lawson isn't going to know you're up against him just yet. You'd better see to Lake right away, before I say any more. Catch hold of him, Barney."

Barney shot out a huge hand, grabbed Lake by the shoulder, jerked him to him, and held him firmly. Lake opened his mouth to yell, but Barney's left hand came firmly down on his face, effectively shutting out any sound.

"Will I give him a crack on the head, just to make sure he'll keep quiet?" asked Barney.

"Not for a moment," answered Mahony. "Turn out his pockets to begin with. Then I want to ask him a question. If he won't answer you can hit him as hard as you like."

Lake's pockets were turned out and the contents emptied on the table. When that had been done, Mahony stood in front of Lake looking him squarely in the eyes.

"What's in that big book that Barney was told to steal from Lawson's house?" he demanded.

Lake's knees were trembling; his teeth were chattering with fright. He knew that if he divulged that information, and Lawson found out, his life was not worth a moment's purchase. On the other hand, if he did not divulge the information . . .

"If he doesn't answer, just push his face in, Barney," said Mahony. Lake was almost weeping. He was in a state of mind in which a man will fall on his knees and beg abjectly for mercy.

"It—it contains documents," whimpered Lake. "Papers about people he—he has dealings with and—members of his own gang."

"People he has dealings with—you mean people he's blackmailing and selling drugs to," said Mahony. "I understand that. But what are the documents about, members of his own gang?"

"He's got written evidence of some criminal act against everybody who works for him—that is, everybody who works for him knowing who he is," went on Lake. "He keeps it all pasted in a book."

"In other words, he likes to be in a position to squeal whenever he feels inclined," remarked Mahony.

But now he knew exactly why Ross had been so anxious to get hold of that book. If he wanted to break away from Lawson, it was absolutely essential that he should get possession of the evidence which Lawson held against him.

"Tie him up and take him away," he ordered.

Lake was tied up and gagged and removed from the room. While this was being done, Mahony went through the contents of his pockets. They consisted of a bunch of keys, a cigar-case, a note-case, and various odds and ends.

In the note-case was about twenty pounds in money, an address book, a few visiting cards, a membership card for "The Golden Centipede Dance Club," and a piece of blue paper on which were typed in red characters the words: "The Golden Centipede—Tuesday, and then a number of names: S. Foster, B. Cartwright, L. Grayson. There was also a sentence:

"M. Barfield to be informed that no further goods will be supplied unless cash owing is received by Monday night."

Mahony glanced at this strange document with great interest. Back to his mind came the words he had heard in the crooks' car on the night when he had rescued Elsa Little. "He probably received his instructions typed in red on a piece of blue paper," one of the crooks had said. Mahony smiled slightly. He had made up his mind that he was going to be at the Golden Centipede on Tuesday evening.

Mahony turned to the fat man. "What's your name?" he asked.

"They call me Fatty Bassett," replied the fat man.

"Right," said Mahony. "Here are your instructions for the time being. I want Lawson watched very carefully for the next couple of days. Every time he goes out I want him followed, and I want to know where he goes, how long he stays there, and, if possible, whom he meets. Can you manage that?"

"That'll be easy," answered Bassett. "I'm a bit of a boss meself in me own way; I can generally get a few blokes to work for me if I wants 'em. Is that all you want me to do?"

"I want you to look after Barney for the time being, and see that the cops don't get him," went on Mahony. "I shall also want you to be ready to supply me with two or three good tough men in a hurry any time I want them. How can I get in touch with you quickly?"

"Ring Limehouse o-three-two-five; it's a little pawnshop, but a message sent there will reach me in about five minutes," answered the fat man. "And don't you worry about Barney; I'll look after 'im alright. Wot about you gunner? Wot are you goin' to do?"

"I'm going now," said Mahony. "I don't think the cops had much chance to recognize me on that roof; I'll take a chance on it, anyway. I'll give you a ring tomorrow."

With that he left the house and emerged into the dark street. He reached the Commercial Road unmolested and from there he took a taxi to his lodgings.

In the taxi he was very thoughtful. The evening's work had not been unprofitable. Now he had a rough crowd of supporters at his back, and he also had information which might prove distinctly useful.

Mahony knew that shady night clubs are frequently used for the distribution of dope to dope addicts; the Golden Centipede might prove a fruitful source of further information regarding the details of Lawson's organization.

FINDS FROG FOSSIL

LAWRENCE, Kans. (AP)—The fossil skeleton of a frog, virtually complete, has been added to the paleontological museum at the University of Kansas. Dr. H. H. Lane, curator, said the finding of frog and other amphibian fossils was not unusual, but the discovery of a complete skeleton was rare. It was in a formation indicating an age of approximately five million years, Dr. Lane said. The find was made in Wallace county, Kas.

College Teaching Sense of Humor

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 23. (AP)—The University of Florida now has a course designed to develop one's sense of humor.

The school's catalogue lists the course as "Types of Humorous Literature," with appropriate credits, but W. E. Moore, instructor, said the study has the following aim:

"To develop the student's ability to view life from the standpoint of the spectator at a comedy, to perceive the comic elements in situations and in people without being upset by them, and above all, to recognize the comic elements in himself."

CHICKEN IS HEARTLESS

Mrs. Watkins said: "The only thing that even resembled a heart was a three-cornered organ which looked like a liver."

Shakes Hands With 70,000 After Vote

HOUSTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Albert Thomas didn't quit campaigning when the voters of the eighth Texas district gave him the democratic nomination for congress. He went to work and covered his district—thanking his supporters.

For five weeks he covered Harris county shaking hands with every person he could meet. At the close of his original campaign he estimated he had met 70,000 persons in the county. At the close of his hand-shaking fiesta he estimated he had met all those persons again.

Equipment Need To Bring Upturn, View of Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A sharp upswing in heavy industry and a consequent increase in employment throughout the country will result in the near future from the current extreme percentage of obsolescence in manufacturing, railroad, utility and general plant equipment, according to national survey just completed for Collier's by John T. Flynn, author and economist.

"The most important thing in this country today," he concludes from his investigation, "is that we need so many things and need them badly."

Among the many fields covered in Mr. Flynn's survey was the building industry, where he found a high degree of obsolescence.

"I found that there are between ten and eleven thousand condemned school buildings," he reported, "still housing during school hours at least a million children. So at least 10,000 school buildings are needed to replace these villainous old fire and deathtraps in which a million little lives are being menaced every day. There are more than 20,000 school buildings which were built before 1870.

Condemned Buildings
"There are two million kids getting only part-time schooling in portable, inadequate or condemned buildings. Then too there are about 2,000,000 more children of school age than there were in 1923, but there are about 12,000 fewer school buildings."

These 12,000 school buildings, Mr. Flynn explains, have succumbed to the "bugs of obsolescence" which have also been eating away like termites in all sorts of other fields.

"Time and tide, change, taste, fashion, technology," he writes, "these are the bugs which eat away at our school buildings, our machines and the plants in which they are housed, at our homes, our hotels, our theatres, at our cities, at everything we possess. Men may have been out of work during the last five years, but the little bugs of obsolescence have been working three shifts a day."

"And the result is that forms and methods, processes, machines, roads, buildings, vast properties which were in the mode five years ago, are too crumbly, or too quaint or too costly to tolerate much longer. The exact extent of this no man knows, but one of these fine days it will dawn on us, and woe to the gentleman who has not kept his eyes and ears open."

Railroad Industry
Mr. Flynn cites the condition in the railroad industry. In the five years preceding 1929, he says, the roads spent 800 million dollars a year on capital equipment, while in the past five years they spent only 200 million a year. Thus in the last five years the roads spent three billion dollars less than in the preceding five years, and as a result they need cars and engines and stations and roadways all the more now.

In 1929, he says, the roads installed 730 new locomotives. In 1933, only one single locomotive was bought. Last year there were only thirty-four sales. As a result, railroad equipment, he states, is run down, and must be replaced.

Citing another instance, Mr. Flynn says that if American factories started replacing their obsolescent and obsolete machines, the machine-tool industry alone would have to put 50,000 men to work. Over 336,000 major machine installations will be necessary during the next three years, he says, just to keep industry on its present level.

Citing similar cases in the textile, power and other industries, Mr. Flynn concludes that "if government and business are eager for a real upturn by stimulating men to set about providing the nation with these immense needs, the important thing is to introduce an element of certainty about the future into the picture and to do whatever is necessary about making long-term credit available."

Senator Couzens---

Governor Wilber M. Brucker. The senator left his hospital bed to dine and make two platform appearances with Roosevelt when the president visited Detroit on a campaign tour recently.

Supports Roosevelt
In announcing he believed the election of the president to be "the most important matter confronting the nation," Couzens had added, "The outcome of my own candidacy for the senate is neither important to the nation nor to me."

Couzens' charitable benefactions, estimated to total more than $20,000,000, were devoted principally to aiding unfortunate children. He established in 1929 a $10,000,000 trust fund and stipulated that the money, with an additional estimated $7,500,000 income, must be spent within 25 years to promote health and happiness of the children of Michigan and elsewhere. In 1935 he added $2,156,675 in securities to the fund.

Nance Company Begins Sale On Used Car Stock

The Nance Motor company is offering this week its stock of used cars at drastic reductions to make room for the new 1937 Ford V-8 models expected to be announced early next month.

The offerings are in line with a general Ford used car clearance campaign, the purpose of which is to reduce used car stocks in anticipation of numerous new trade-ins on the new cars.

The campaign provides opportunities for securing good, guaranteed used cars at the lowest prices in many months.

During the period that followed Toastmaster Conley gave recognition to J. A. Bearman, general banquet chairman, and to others of the committees who assisted in the preparations most of whom spoke briefly. These included H. L. Dyer, chairman of ticket sales; Mrs. R. E. Grantham, Miss Martha Graves, Mrs. Lucile Gragg, Miss Marion Chambliss, E. P. Crawford, T. C. Williams, R. N. Cluck. Mrs. Alfred Irby, high school librarian and one of the most loved members of the City faculty, was introduced.

The banquet took the places of the regular weekly luncheons of the Lions and Rotary club.

Henry Ford, which started in 1903, ended after a disagreement over policies in 1915. Later Couzens sold his interest in the motor car company to Henry and Edsel Ford for nearly $30,000,000.

The independent and outspoken opinions of Couzens alienated many leaders of the republican party. He frequently disregarded partisan lines and supported many Roosevelt New Deal measures.

They find its source in the lower part of the stomach, called the pylorus, and in the failure of that part of the stomach to manufacture a secretion which stimulates the manufacture of red blood cells.
