MOVE TO EJECT STRIKERS ORGANIZED

Through the Editor's Spectacles By GEORGE

It must be indeed a disconcerting thing for a man whose ambition has been concerned with gaining the homage of the world through power and prestige to look upon an instance in which another, living his life humbly and quietly, was able to command the affection of his community to an ever greater extent.

There has been no more impressive demonstration of this than occurred during the funeral for Jerry Jordan a few days ago. Community esteem for Mr. Jordan was revealed in the number which attended the services at the First Methodist church, crowding the auditorium to the doors.

Sang Mr. Kipling: "The tumult and the shouting dies, "The captains and the king depart; "Still stands thine ancient sacrifice, "A humble and a contrite heart."

The character and the philosophy of a person are revealed in the things they like, the expressions to which they cling. Among the personal things that Mr. Jordan carried with him when he was stricken, they found the following bit of verse by Mary Dixon Thayer. It is entitled: "To My Little Boy":

"How often as I watch you at your play "I wish that through the years you might remain "A boy, as now upon a summer's day, "Changeless and glad and unaware of pain! "Your laughter falls with sadness in my heart— "It is so young, so sure, so unafraid— "You have not heard there is a time to part, "Nor that the road leads down into the shade. "Would I might keep from you what all must learn— "The doubt, the fever, battles lost and wild— "Would I might build a world that does not turn "To dust beneath the footsteps of a child! "Darling, that this can never be I know, "Yet it is out of earth that flowers grow."

OPERA CAMERA

Conductor's Wife Snaps It At Rehearsals

FRITZ REINER, who has been chosen to conduct German opera in London's Covent Garden during the coronation this spring, keeps a candid-camera record of rehearsals. These parts of record were made in America. When Reiner's hands are beating Wagnerian time, his wife times photographic shots for him with results like this.

LOTTE LEHMANN and LAURITZ MELCHOIR (in center) are "truly god-like" in Wagnerian performances but "very human" at rehearsals, Mrs. Reiner finds. She photographed them with Marcia Davenport (left), who was on hand to arrange a broadcast, as they examined Conductor Reiner's photographic light-meter.

KIRSTEN FLAGSTAD, while rehearsing "Tristan and Isolde" at San Francisco, poured a cup of coffee for Lauritz Melchior to atone for the bitter love portion he had just finished. Mrs. Reiner promptly put the scene on photographic paper.

Seek Laws to Curb "Cradle Marriages"

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 4. (AP)—Stanley Backus, 19, factory worker husband of 12-year-old Leona Elizabeth Backus, was charged with rape today while legislators discussed new laws to curb "cradle marriages."

Clinton Gunnells of Breckenridge was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Hoover Says "Night Hawk" Story Is Myth

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation, said today that Robert Kenyon, Willow Springs, Mo., youth held in Kansas City, was the only person involved in the kidnap-slashing of Doctor J. C. B. Davis. Kenyon said that a mysterious acquaintance known as the "Night Hawk" killed the Willow Springs physician and forced the youth to mail the ransom note. Hoover said the "Night Hawk" was purely mythical.

FLOOD DANGER REDUCED BUT TESTS COMING

100,000 Men Labor Night and Day to Build Levees

CAIRO, Illinois, Feb. 3 (AP)—Flood fighters held some claim to victory today but entrenched themselves for watch duty that may last two weeks.

The battle against the record flood ran favorably along the upper Mississippi but engineers said crests will hit hundreds of miles of untested levees before they reach the gulf.

Over 100,000 laborers are working day and night on embankments protecting farm lands from Cairo to New Orleans.

Five more bodies in a Saturday night barge accident were recovered from the southeastern Missouri spillway, bringing the toll to 20.

Fire at Cincinnati caused a quarter of a million dollars damage.

Cisco Boys Score Knockouts in Two Last Night Bouts

The second division of the big sports event last night in the high school gym proved to be more spectacular than the basketball game when two Cisco boys scored knockouts over their Mineral Wells opponents and the second of another had his fight stopped in the second round. The remainder of the fights were also filled with the action and fire typical of recent bouts here.

There were no decisions in the fights and it was left to the spectators to decide the winners for themselves.

As the largest crowd to witness an event in the gymnasium in several years looked on, Jo Dan Johnson, 112, landed a hard right smash to the jaw that sent his opponent, Walker, 110, Mineral Wells, to the floor, completely out. This happened in the second round of the third match after Walker had been socking Johnson with hard rights and lefts that were giving him a decided margin over the Cisco lad.

The second knockout was even quicker than the first. It came in the first round of the fourth fight when Walter Boyett, 140, subdued his opponent Griffin, 145, Mineral Wells, with a crushing right to the jaw that had the same effect as Johnson's lick.

Stayed the Limit The first fray, between W. W. Walls, 163 and Abarnath, 160, Mineral Wells, brought yelling and applause from the huge audience as the two leather-fingers swapped licks. Both stayed the limit and the edge seemed to be for the out-of-towner.

Robert Cone, continued to show his improved form to unleash a battering attack that so completely overwhelmed Lyons, 132, Mineral Wells, that the latter's second threw a towel into the ring, ending the match in the second round.

The last scheduled battle between the two boxing teams was, perhaps, the closest bout of the night. Charles McDonald, 120, and Cline, 120, Mineral Wells, matched punches almost lick for lick through their three-rounder and it was generally believed that, had there been a decision, it would have been a draw.

Sporting for the evening was concluded with two fights between small local boys. Their matches brought almost as much excitement as the preceding ones.

LINBERGH MEETS BALBO ROME, Feb. 4. (AP)—Colonel Charles Lindbergh met General Italo Balbo, famed trans-Atlantic flier, today on the American flier's 35th birthday. Lindbergh was on a flight believed to be to Egypt.

Cisco Minister Describes Flood

Elwin Skiles, Student at Louisville Baptist Seminary, Aided in Relief Until Moved Out to Make Room for Refugees

"Everybody in Louisville would have been glad to have had one of these old-fashioned west Texas sandstorms," declared Elwin Skiles, young Baptist minister son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Skiles who is on an unexpected vacation from the Southern Baptist Theological seminary in that city because of the floods. Mr. Skiles and more than 400 other young ministers evacuated the seminary a week or more ago to make room for flood refugees who were being sheltered there and for the flood relief headquarters established at the institution. During the early part of the flood and until they were moved out of the city because room for housing people was needed worse than workers, he and his fellow students joined in the rescue work, toiling night and day among citizens, rich and poor, suddenly leveled into a common cause of saving human lives.

Social Lines Erased Social lines were erased, said Skiles, who used his car to carry refugees to the boats which were ferrying them to places of safety after their homes were inundated. Wealthy men worked side by side with the poorest of the slums to remove all classes from the flooded districts as the rising waters trapped a community that had never before witnessed such a terrible phenomenon.

When Elwin left with other students Sunday a week ago the flood stood at 51 feet, the highest the Ohio river had ever been before. At that time the slum districts along the river front in the southern part of the city and the western end were under water which had not yet covered the main business district. Not at any stage as the flood rose higher and higher could the residents conceive of its ultimate extent, he said. That was the main reason for the fact that so many people were trapped in their homes and had to be taken away in boats. When it crept over the banks and spread into the low areas, the residents knew it would reach no higher. It never had. When it extended to the doorsteps, they were confident it would begin to subside. When it poured over the water plant and threatened the power plant, they piled sand bag barricades about the machinery and were certain it would go down. And when the level of the muddy water invaded the lower stories of the houses, the occupants moved upstairs, still bewildered but confident the crest had been reached, and were trapped.

Eerie Scenes Before the power was shut off by the waters, appeals went forth over radio for the citizens to conserve electricity. Street lights and signs were extinguished. The dark and flooded streets illuminated only by boat lanterns and lurid flares made an eerie night scene. There was practically no fresh water. Skiles and his fellow students scraped snow from the roofs to melt and wash their faces with.

High praise for the efficient manner in which Mayor Neville Miller organized the relief and Over $700 Given to Flood Relief By Cisco People More than $250 of Cisco contributions to the Red Cross flood relief fund were not included in the total amount announced yesterday for this city, Horace Condeley, disaster relief chairman for the Eastland county chapter, said today. This additional fund, which was being increased hourly, brought the total Cisco contribution to about $700, a figure of which places Cisco in the lead in the amount of money given by the citizens of the county.

Condeley appealed for continued gifts to the fund, declaring that the emergency was not over and the need of funds still great.

Over 300 at Work on Paving Highway 89

Action upon paving the Highway 89 "cut-off" on Highway No. One between Strawn Mountain and Weatherford is getting under way in dead earnest with 300 or more at work, W. J. Leach, Cisco business men, said today following a visit to Weatherford a few days ago.

The workmen, he said, are required to register their social security numbers at Weatherford and most have their cards with them, he said, and this requirement brought them into that city in numbers.

The contract was let to a Pharr, Texas, construction firm in five sections recently. A total time of 225 working days is allowed for completing topping of the 45-mile stretch.

Country Club Meet Saturday Postponed

The Cisco Country club meeting and smoker scheduled for Saturday, February 6, has been postponed until Wednesday, February 10 at 7:30 p. m. has been announced by Dr. Paul Woods.

AWAIT ACTION OF UNIONS TO CLEAR PLANTS

Murphy Resumes His Efforts to Arrange Truce Period

FLINT, Michigan, Feb. 3 (AP)—General Motors prepared today to set the machinery of the law in motion to eject strikers from the plants occupied in defiance of court injunction.

A corporation attorney said, however, that he believed the union "will ask the men to leave the plants peaceably" and announced that he would defer the writ requiring ejection pending such action.

Mobilization of "reserve police" was resumed but the police chief said it did not constitute a violation of the non-violence truce between city authorities and the United Automobile Workers.

At Detroit, Governor Murphy resumed his efforts to find a basis for settlement of the widespread strikes, calling corporation and strike representatives for a third conference which he termed was "at the wish of President Roosevelt." It was learned that Murphy is attempting to arrange a truce period.

"Harmony Girls" Entertain Cisco Rotary Members

Fourteen young voices, led by Miss Wilda Drago of Eastland, gave the Cisco Rotary club today one of the most entertaining programs in many months when Miss Drago presented the "Harmony Girls" of Eastland and Cisco in a series of choral numbers. F. D. Wright was program chairman for the day. The girls sang three numbers and responded to insistent demands for an encore with a fourth. They then joined with the club in singing two other numbers.

Business was brushed aside in order to save time for the presentation.

Girls who took part under Miss Drago's direction were Alma Williamson, Jenny Tolbert, Marie Plummer, Caroline Doss, Madge Hearn, Oliveville Killough (Pianist), Donicee Parker, Ida Lee Foster, Clara June Kimble and Louise Flack of Eastland, and June Morehart, Norma Ghormley and Mary Louise Poe of Cisco.

Other guests were Dr. Charles Estes of Eastland and Charles J. Kleiner of Cisco.

Orville Carpenter, Pension Director 'Invited' to Quit

AUSTIN, Feb. 4. (AP)—Representative Farmer of Fort Worth introduced a resolution today "inviting" Orville Carpenter, state old age pension director, to resign because of Carpenter's opinion that pensioners should be prohibited from voting.

He charged that the opinion expressed in the committee hearing was "an insult to the people of this state and undemocratic, uncharitable, and un-American." Carpenter's statement was in answer to a question of how legislators could expect reelection if they failed to liberalize pension qualifications.

The period for consideration of the resolution expired without action being taken and the representatives, by a large majority, refused to extend the period.

Psychologists say many young men and women take up professions unsuited to their abilities because they have not fully explored their aptitudes.

When we say Chesterfields are Milder and Better Tasting it means something...

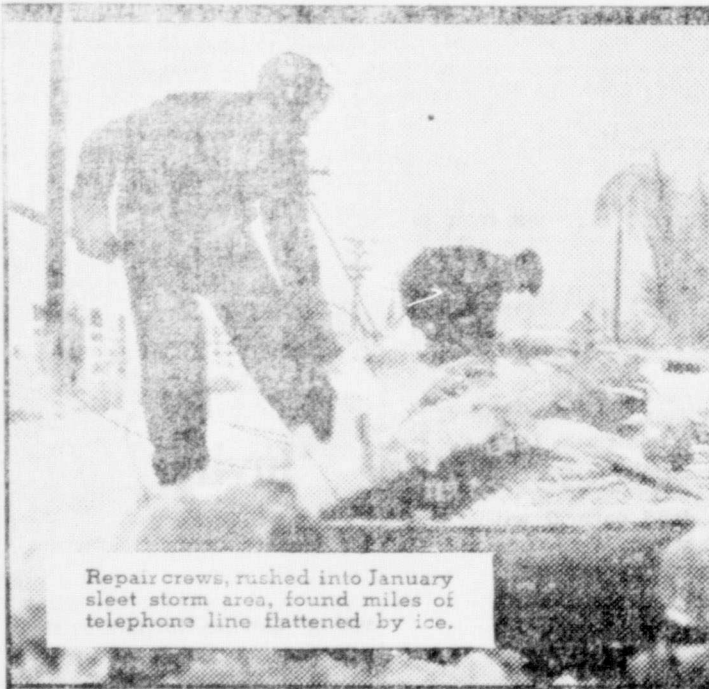

like fine wines

THOUSANDS of casks just like it improves fine wine. of mild, ripe tobacco are stored away in these modern Chesterfield warehouses, where for three long years they become milder and mellow. Ageing improves tobacco just like it improves fine wine. Nothing else can take the place of mild, ripe tobacco. Nothing can take the place of three years of ageing if you want to make a cigarette that is milder and better-tasting.

Mild, ripe home-grown and aromatic Turkish tobaccos ... aged three years ... make Chesterfield an outstanding cigarette ... milder and better-tasting.

Repair crews, rushed into January sleet storm area, found miles of telephone line flattened by ice.

This lineman is patching through an emergency telephone line to an isolated town.

TELEPHONE MEN STILL WORKING TO REPAIR ICE-WRECKED LINES

Telephone men, still at work repairing damage from the $1,500,000 sleet which swept from the Iowa border to the Gulf in January, can remember no worse ice storm.

Yet they found, as they set about replacing 20,000 poles and 18,000 miles of wire leveled by the blast, that this year's disaster actually did less damage than the smaller 1924 ice storm. The reasons:

First—Most telephone poles today are crooked yellow pine. They stand under ice that would snap poles used years ago.

Second—Constructed at heavy cost several years ago, an underground long distance cable through the heart of the storm belt "carried on." It formed a backbone of communication from which emergency lines could quickly be "patched through" to almost 100 isolated towns.

These things... improvements of the last 10 years... are a part of the Bell System's constant effort to make its lines proof against storm and disaster.

To those customers who were without service because of the storm, perhaps for several days, the company expresses its appreciation for their patience during a trying period.

American Scouts To Celebrate 27 Years Next Week

The Boy Scouts of America, more than a million strong, are celebrating Feb. 7 to 13, as their 27th anniversary, with unusual activity. In almost every community in the nation, troops and councils have recorded 1936 as the year of greatest gains in membership as well as advances in all programs of the movement.

The year 1937 is scheduled to be a momentous one in scouting. President Roosevelt, honorary president of the movement and himself an active leader, will address the scouts by radio from the White House on Monday, Feb. 8. Next June 30 to July 9, more than 25,000 scouts from "every nook and cranny, every section of the nation," to use President Roosevelt's own words, will gather at Washington, D. C., where they will live, work and play together in a great National Jamboree, camping on 350 acres loaned by congress.

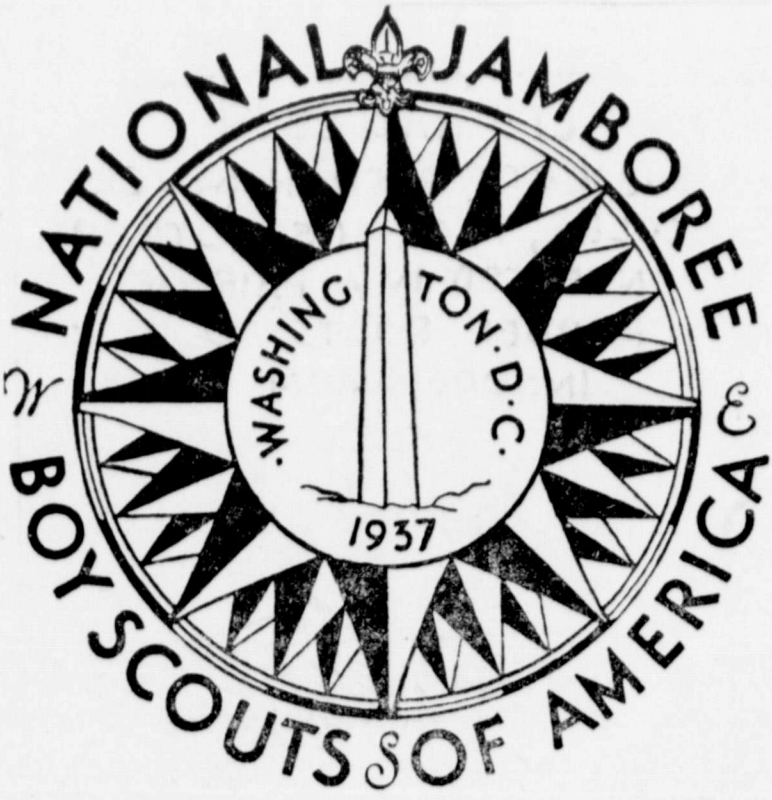

Following this comes the Fifth World Scout Jamboree at Vogelzang - Bloemendal, Holland, where more than 30,000 Boy Scouts will gather from all over the world in a great camp of world-wide friendships from July 29 to August 13. The world Jamboree officials have set aside for the United States reservations for 1,050 scouts and leaders.

A feature of the Boy Scout week celebration is the awarding of the President Walter W. Head Acorn Awards to Boy Scout troops, cub packs and Sea Scout ships who made it possible for boys to get into the game of scouting through new troops, packs and ships. These awards will be presented at courts of honor, merit badge shows, rallies, scout circuses and other jubilee events throughout the nation during the anniversary week.

Many long-established troops are arranging troop reunions, and "old-timers" hikes which will enable former scouts now grown to manhood, to relieve their early days in the organization. "Scout Sunday" will be observed in nearly all churches, of every faith, on Sunday, Feb. 7 with scout troops attending special services in uniform.

Police Chief C. R. Mensinger of Allentown, Pa., advocates a law "to arrest and fine reckless pedestrians."

Boy Scouts Adopt Jamboree Insignia

In connection with the 27th annual Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, Boy Scouts of America has released the design of the official insignia more than 25,000 boys will wear at the National Scout Jamboree at Washington, D. C., where they will camp together from June 30 to July 9. The compass is used in the design because the Scouts will come from "every nook and cranny" of the nation in response to President Roosevelt's invitation.

DOINGS AT A RALLY

The Gorman Troop attended the recent north section rally held in Cisco with 11 scouts under the leadership of new Scoutmaster Paul A. Jones. This troop traveled the longest distance to the rally, which was 30 miles.

A great deal of credit is due Troop No. 6 of Eastland for having won second place in the rally, while their scoutmaster, Bill Jessop, had an appointment at home with Old Man Flu. (We hope the Old Man has gone by now and that Bill is feeling O. K. again.)

We are introducing W. J. Starr, new scoutmaster of Troop No. 45, Eastland. S. E. Hittson, scoutmaster of Troop No. 101, and scouts of this troop are without a doubt crowing over winning the big rally.

Scoutmaster Jack Dwyer and his scouts of Troop No. 103 walked off with third place. (You should have heard their SINGING.)

Another new scoutmaster, Otis Hichecock, who has recently taken Troop No. 37, wants to know all of the other scoutmasters.

Everyone will be glad to learn that our good friend George Henshaw who attended the rally, is now back in Breckenridge and with Troop No. 20 again.

Scouts and scouters at the rally missed Scoutmasters Banes, Jessop, Bert Jones, Skipper Thorpe and Commissioner Russell B. Jones, who are nearly always in attendance.

District Commissioner Horace Condeley left the meeting stating that he would have to have his throat treated after having to supervise the various events. (Seems we were slightly noisy.)

Vice President E. P. Crawford made a welcome talk to all scouts and scouters.

Dick Lauderdale, finance chairman for Cisco district, is not only a good finance man but knows how to figure out how many scouts a pie will serve. He said by rights it figured one pie to a scout, but he made one serve four at the rally.

Scoutmaster McCracken was seen after the meeting peddling bananas. (We understand that he was successful.)

Rally Dates

The rally for the central section, which includes troops from Blanket, Bangs, Zephyr, Rising Star, Mullin and Brownwood will be held in Brownwood during Anniversary week. Exact date is February 11.

The east section rally date is to be February 10. Scouts in this section will come from the following towns: Stephenville, De Leon, Dublin, Comanche, Sipe Springs, and Gustine.

Scouts of San Saba, Richland Springs, Lampasas, Lometa, and Goldthwaite, all in the south section, will hold their rally Thursday, February 25.

National Jamboree

Dr. Jewell Daughety president of our council, leads the way by placing his registration as council representative and physician to the jamboree. Applications are now available and any scout who wishes to make application should get in touch with his scoutmaster or the scout office.

27th Birthday

Scouts all over the United States will celebrate the 27th birthday of scouting starting February 7 through February 13. Scouts and scouters should watch announcements in papers for the exact time of the national broadcast next Monday night, February 8th, which will be led by Chief Scout Executive James E. West and likely President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is honorary president of Boy Scouts of America.

Married Students Best, Says Teacher

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 4. (AP) —Brief engagements, a minimum of from 20 to 24 years as the propage to marry and weddings for students are some of the recommendations made by Frank Gamel, Milwaukee psychologist, who has been conducting "schools of marriage" at various local churches. Gamel says young women should be at least 20 years old and young men 23 or 24 before they marry because at those ages "they are old enough to know what it is all about."

"All studies seem to indicate that the work of students who marry while in school is improved rather than hindered by their maturing," he declared. "There is no good reason why parents who are able to support their children in school should not continue supporting them after marriage in order that studies may be completed."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Keep yourselves in the love of God. . . . He that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy.—Jude 21, 24.

Know, not for knowing's sake, But to become a star to man forever; Know, for the gain it gets, the praise it brings, The wonder it inspires, the love it breeds. Look one step onward, and secure that step. —ROBERT BROWNING.

Our great business undoubtedly is, not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand.—Carlyle.

"Jim" Looks At a $15,000 Coach

JAMES E. FERGUSON is writing a syndicated column for Texas newspapers. Jim thinks the boys at Texas University must be mighty hard to teach when it requires a $15,000-a-year coach to show them how to "knock the liver and the lights" out of each other.

ment of a $15,000 coach is the right thing to do. But if brains are to rule brawn, says Jim, it is hardly the right thing to do to pay a football coach nearly twice as much as the president of the university and considerably more than the governor of the state.

ON the other hand, defenders of the high salary and the long contract reported obtained by Dana X. Bible, point out that the "mortality rate" among coaches is so high that a big salary is necessary to equalize his earnings over good and bad times.

Prospective Candidate

ANOTHER prospective entrant in the governor's race is an independent and wealthy oil man of Dallas, Freeman W. Burford, who came to Texas seven or eight years ago and appears to have made a considerable success with his enterprises.

AS a candidate he would travel in some fast company. Ernest O. Thompson of the railroad commission is regarded as a certain candidate. Attorney General McCraw is another assured candidate.

WASHINGTON.—If there are any Filipinos in the audience let them come forward.

There may be $125 waiting for each of them—if they will go back to the islands, help President Quezon make the place safe from invasion and leave California with fewer Filipinos.

That, in the rough, is the outline of the plan to repatriate all Filipinos who wish to go back and become part of the republic.

There is a joker in it. Those who go back can't come to the United States again, except under immigration laws which admit only 50 a year.

Representative Welch of California was the author of the legislation and he was entirely open in his reason for wanting the islanders to go back to the islands. Already $62,000 has been spent to repatriate 533. There is no more money available so Welch asked $188,000 more in the first deficiency bill to speed the movement.

There are 45,000 Filipinos in the United States, Welch told the house appropriations committee, and most of them are in California.

Right in Tune

Californians have not been noted for their diplomacy in dealing with the Filipino and Japanese question, so Welch's blunt remarks to the committee were right in tune.

"They undermine labor wherever their services are obtained," he said, "because selfish employers of labor take advantage of the fact that the Filipino live cheaper than the Americans. They live in what is known as mass housing; they do their own work, their own washing and cooking, and in that way they can work for a much lower wage than Americans. Many of them are idle and are public charges."

Of course the Filipino doesn't simply get $125 and an order to go home. He files an application and his transportation is provided. That is where the $125 comes in—the average cost of transportation.

Welch said 608 more Filipinos had applied to go back and would have been taken back before except for the ship strike.

History Repeats

California has had a peculiar history, just one invasion after another; and the natives (each successive invasion becomes native) have evolved a deep dread of foreigners.

When the Spanish explorer, Cabrillo, sailed up the coast the native Indians didn't take to him. Father Junipero Serra led Spanish Franciscans into California in a more peaceful religious invasion. The Indians were pushed aside and the Spanish became the natives.

The Spanish fought like all get out against the mountain men who kept pushing in from the Rockies. Finally the Spanish, too, were pushed aside and the Yankees took over.

They have held on ever since, fighting first the Japanese, then the tin-can tourists and now the Filipinos.

I bought it, though, this very day; You can't buy friendship, firm and true, I bought sincerest friendship too; And truth and kindness I got, And happiness, Oh, such a lot! So many joyous hours to be Were sold with that commodity. I bought a life of simple faith, And love that will be mine till death, And two brown eyes that I could see Would not be long in knowing me. I bought protection, bought a guard Right now and ever afterward, Buy human friendship? maybe not? You see it was a dog I bought.

PIONEERS OF PERSONAL SERVICE

The human element is the most important element in any service. It is essential that the equipment and reserves of a gas company be ample and instantly dependable, but the relationship between the company and the consumer is more important.

The resources behind this company, great as they are, would be of little value to the community if they were developed under a "Public-Be-Damned" policy.

This company has pioneered the policy of personal service in the building of a gas utility business. The character of our service is marked by the desire of the individual employee to see that every problem is handled to the satisfaction of the consumer.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: Count Vronski who is trying to force Anne Phelps to marry him, is shot to death in her studio apartment shortly before a late party starts. Bigelow, the young American from Paris, finds Anne and Karsanokoff, the stunning dancer, staring at the corpse. They hide it in a cupboard and go on with the party. Later Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, remove the body to Vronski's apartment which they find ransacked. The next day Bigelow meets Anne at the Colony for lunch to report on his gruesome task.

Chapter 14 The News Breaks

Bigelow ordered two side-cars and some iced grapefruit and chicken a la king.

"One can always eat that without difficulty," he explained as the waiter left them. "And they'll have to fix it to order, so we'll have time to talk."

"Talk then, for God's sake!" cried Anne. "I've been waiting all night to find out what happened. I could hardly resist calling you up in the early hours of the morning. Talk about suspense!" She pressed out the end of her cigarette and lighted another.

"But I told you, everything occurred practically according to plan," said he.

"But what do you mean by 'practically according to plan'? What went wrong?"

"Nothing, really," he assured her, and told her in detail exactly what had occurred. She sat listening with her eyes fixed on his face.

"Awful!" she whispered "when the policeman passed. And that knock came on the door! I wonder you didn't both die of fright. I'm sure I should have! Poor Dr. Austrelitz! Did you realize he took this job on without asking a single awkward question or registering a word of complaint?"

"He's very clever. There was nothing he needed to ask," said Bigelow. "And he isn't the sort to complain when one asks him a favor."

"A favor—?" repeated Anne grimly. "Suppose the police trace him? Suppose that policeman noticed his license number or recognized him?"

"I don't think that's likely and neither does he," answered Bigelow.

"But suppose it happens! Unlikely things often do!"

"He'll say he knew Vronski—that Vronski was a patient. And that when he got home from the party last night, he found Vronski waiting for him at his place—very drunk. And he took him home."

Anne considered. "But that would have been about five o'clock. Haven't they ways of finding out from a medical examination that he died before that?"

"They can't tell exactly. They can only form an opinion. In any case, if they did suspect Austrelitz, they wouldn't be able to discover a motive."

"No, I suppose not. But he might get a good deal of undesirable publicity."

"He can look after himself. Don't worry about that," said Bigelow. The waiter approached with the cocktails and the grapefruit.

A Key Changes Hands

"Who is giving the dinner party tonight?" asked Bigelow, making conversation.

"Philip Whitelaw," answered Anne, playing up. "I don't think you know him. He's in Wall street. A typical business man. I mean a cross between a private and a Puritan. Fascinating combination. You never quite know where one is going to leave off and the other begin. His mental processes are entrancing when one can follow them." Her eyes rested distractedly on the waiter who was still fussing about.

"How old is he?" asked Bigelow.

"Thirty-six. And he's never been married. And he's most suitable in every way—I'm told. Quite nice looking, too, although he has to swim and play golf to keep his waistline in check."

Anne finished off her cocktail and lighted another cigarette.

"I think I can see him," nodded Bigelow.

"He's what mother calls safe. She's always hoped I'd marry him in the end. She's alarmed at the way the world is moving on and feels uneasy about the future. And say things do seem to be in a mess everywhere, don't they?"

The waiter—having supplied them with everything they could possibly want—departed at last. Anne breathed a sigh of relief.

"I forgot to tell you how sorry I am that I let go, last night," she said. "I usually have myself better in hand than that. And I think I can promise there'll be no further demonstrations of mid-Victorianism."

"I think I liked it," said Bigelow.

"Yes, I suppose men do! Some men! And I can't deny it was a relief to have you handy to lean on. But one must not encourage such feebleness of spirit in oneself. That's why I determined to lunch here under the eyes of the world—my world, I mean, of course. I'm trying to behave exactly as if nothing had happened."

"You're doing beautifully," said Bigelow, with a sly glance at her cigarette. It was her fifth or sixth, but the waiter had removed the ends of the others so there was no evidence of her nervousness.

"What did you do at the studio besides removing him?" she asked then. "I mean—there was a towel, wasn't there? . . . And the gun?"

"They are still locked in the cupboard and I have the key. If you'll give me the key to the front door as well, I'll drop in there after lunch and remove all traces. I suppose you have a license to possess a gun?"

"Yes, Philip got it for me. It was his idea that I keep a gun at the studio for protection. He hated my staying there so much alone. Funny, isn't it? If there had been no gun there, all this probably wouldn't have happened. So she's directly responsible."

She took the key from her bag and passed it under the table surreptitiously. Bigelow slipped it into his pocket.

"Thanks. And if anyone should inquire at any time, you had a gun but it was stolen some time ago—by some cleaner who came in—or a tradesman or delivery boy—or perhaps by a guest at a party. You noticed it to do anything about it as you had only kept it there to please Whitelaw and never really felt the need of it."

She nodded. "I see. The gun is going to disappear completely."

"And forever—I hope," said Bigelow. "By means of the science of ballistics, they can often tell, nowadays, whether a given bullet was fired from a given gun. But if the gun isn't available, of course the bullet alone tells them nothing."

"I see," said Anne. "Let's eat. Here comes Toppo."

The Baroness Watches Anne

Mrs. Kane drew near, waving for a waiter to bring a chair.

"Don't look now," she said, putting Bigelow back into his seat with one firm plump hand, "but if you want to see what I looked like when I first blew in from Kansas, just let your optics roam lightly over my sister-in-law. She's sitting on my right at my table. And you'll know what starts the cyclones."

Anne smiled. "Your sister-in-law? Is she really, Toppo?"

"Well, I hope you didn't think I chose her out of all the world to be my friend," murmured Toppo. "That's Kate Kane herself in person and no mistake about it. Of course, she's really Mrs. Irving Starke. Irving is a real go-getter and a Rotarian and he's here to attend an important convention, so Kate decided to come, too. You know what men are when they get to New York away from their wives! And Kate says that just because Sam and I couldn't get along together is no reason why she and I should forget the years and years and years we spent running in and out of each other's houses. I'm taking her through Rockefeller Center this afternoon. That's her idea of a treat. . . . I thought Lorna was luncheon with you today, Anne?" Mrs. Kane rose.

"So did I," said Anne, "but we were both mistaken. She had her maid call me up this morning and put me off."

"Got a better offer," decided Toppo, nodding her head as she departed.

As Anne and Bigelow started out a few minutes later, they ran into the Baroness Dormstatt and Chet Harrison at the door. They were both very much excited.

"Have you heard? Isn't it ghastly?" cried Chet.

"What?" asked Anne, steeling herself for what she knew must be coming. She felt the baroness' sharp eyes fixed on her.

"The news about Vronski," said Chet. "We just read it in the papers. He's been killed!"

Anne's color receded and she repeated through dry lips, "Killed?"

It wasn't acting. Although she had been prepared for it, the situation was requiring all her courage. And she felt a sudden terror of the baroness who was eyeing her so mercilessly and saying nothing.

"Shot in his own apartment sometime last night," Shet rattled on. "His valet found him this morning."

Senator Needed Only One Hint From Jean

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. (AP) — Jean Harlow, screen actress, said Senator Robert H. Reynolds of North Carolina wasn't trying when press agents posed them Friday for a kissing scene.

The script called for the senator to greet Jean, upon her arrival to attend the president's birthday ball, with a kiss. They posed, the cameramen peered through finders, but Jean said:

"This gentleman doesn't seem to want to go through with it."

The picture indicated Reynolds needed no further hint.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Lewis Winstead, 33, who was married at 16, said she had no objections to the marriage. She declared:

"Eunice had claimed Charley as her fellow ever since we lived here. But we never thought they were serious and they were married before we knew it."

Louis Rhea, county clerk, said Saturday:

Cisco Must Fix Two Dates Upon 1937 Grid Card

Cisco, Abilene and Eastland today were seeking to compose a problem of football schedules for 1937 in order to complete the calendar which was worked out, with the exception of two games, at Abilene Saturday night. The contests between Cisco and Abilene and between Cisco and Eastland are yet to be slotted. Eastland and Cisco have open dates on Thanksgiving, but Eastland doesn't want to play Cisco then, and Abilene is open October 29, the date that Eastland wants to meet the Lobos.

Stephenville was admitted to the district, bringing the membership to ten, and Mineral Wells, applying for admission, was voted in and ten minutes later voted out. A move to split the district into two divisions, with a playoff at Thanksgiving was adopted and then voted out in favor of a round robin schedule as heretofore employed.

Committee May Set Dates
Abilene and Cisco and Cisco and Eastland were advised to come to an early agreement on dates for their action to set these dates.

Following is part of an account of the meeting as published in an Abilene newspaper.

"Stephenville was accepted as the tenth member of the circuit, but hardly with glad hands and open arms. In fact the body once voted to make out its autumn program excluding the Erath county club until a committee could be sent to Austin to argue against the admission of the new school. This action was rescinded, however.

"Passage and reconsideration of motions were typical procedures of the session. For hours, it appeared that the district would be split into two sections, with a Thanksgiving playoff between the winners. Breckenridge, Cisco, Ranger, Eastland, Brownwood, and Stephenville lined up like the Solid South in favor of the motion for two roll calls. The round robinists, however, refused to concede defeat, and finally carried their point.

"Supt. R. S. Covey of Sweetwater was a principal spokesman for the single race plan. Supt. R. N. Cluck of Cisco led the opposition, with able support from N. S. Holland, Breckenridge superintendent.

"With each team playing nine conference games, the Oil Belt race will take perhaps its earliest start in history when Brownwood goes to Eastland on September 17. Forty-five contests will count in the standings.

"Stephenville decided the site of most of its games by the toss of a coin, and got only Cisco, Sweetwater, and Big Spring at home. Big Spring will make the 235-mile trip to the Yellow Jackets' bid on October 29.

"New holiday alignments include Brownwood at Breckenridge, and Stephenville at Ranger on Thanksgiving day; and Sweetwater at Brownwood, and Stephenville at Eastland on November 11. The former arrangement breaks up a Turkey Day rivalry with whiskers between Breckenridge and Ranger.

"Abilene will have five of its nine games at home, but will finish on the road against three of its strongest rivals of the 1936 race, Breckenridge, Big Spring, and San Angelo."

New Schedule

The 1937 schedule, minus the Abilene-Cisco and Cisco-Eastland games, will be:

Sept. 17.—Brownwood at Eastland.

Sept. 24.—Eastland at Big Spring (night); Ranger at Breckenridge (night); Stephenville at San Angelo (night).

Oct. 1.—Ranger at Abilene; Breckenridge at Sweetwater (night); Brownwood at Big Spring (night); Eastland at San Angelo (night); Cisco vs. Stephenville (night).

Oct. 8.—Abilene at Eastland; Stephenville at Breckenridge (night); Big Spring at Cisco (night); Sweetwater at San Angelo (night); Ranger at Brownwood (night).

Oct. 15.—Brownwood at Abilene; Breckenridge at Big Spring (night); Cisco at San Angelo (night); Sweetwater at Stephenville (night); Eastland at Ranger (night).

Oct. 22.—Sweetwater at Abilene; Breckenridge at Eastland; Big Spring at Ranger (night); Cisco at Brownwood (night).

Oct. 29.—Breckenridge at San Angelo (night); Big Spring at Stephenville (night); Ranger at Sweetwater (night).

Nov. 5.—Stephenville at Abilene; Cisco at Sweetwater (night); San Angelo at Brownwood (night).

Nov. 11.—Sweetwater at Brownwood; San Angelo at Big Spring; Abilene at Breckenridge; Stephenville at Eastland; Cisco at Ranger.

Nov. 19.—Abilene at Big Spring; Eastland at Sweetwater; San Angelo at Ranger (night); Stephenville at Brownwood; Breckenridge at Cisco.

Nov. 25.—Big Spring at Sweetwater; Abilene at San Angelo; Brownwood at Breckenridge; Stephenville at Ranger.

Three non-conference games also were announced: Wink at Big Spring, and Breckenridge vs. Paschal (Fort Worth) on September 17; and Comanche at Brownwood on September 24.

JAPAN CRISIS IS ENDED BY NEW CABINET

TOKYO, Feb. 4 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito Tuesday ended Japan's constitutional crisis with acceptance of Gen. Hayashi's compromise cabinet, marking a truce between the military bureaucracy and parliamentary leaders and climaxing a fight by army extremists for a strong rightist regime.

Financial and industrial circles reacted favorably, expressing belief that the appointment of Toyotaro Yuki as finance minister dispelled fears of outright fascist control.

Success of Hayashi, a moderate, was considered to have resulted from public displeasure when army opposition blocked efforts of Gen. Ugaki, who resigned.

ELKINS, W. Va., Feb. 4 (AP)—For 50 years in the intervals when she is not otherwise engaged, Mrs. Alice Teter, 66, has been piecing quilt tops. She has completed 526 of the ornamental bed coverings. Her last quilt is composed of 48 squares, each square being embroidered with a bird, a flower and the name of a state.

Cavalrymen Mourn Passing of Horse

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 4 (AP)—Time is sounding taps to the horse cavalry, most glamorous of war's arms, but Colonel Tommy Tomkins, 73, hopes that the day will never come when all Uncle Sam's cavalry forces ride to combat on wheels.

Son of a son of a son of a soldier and veteran of every major

American conflict since the Civil war, "Colonel Tommy" is one of the staunchest living supporters of horse cavalry.

He believes mechanization is stripping the glory from a branch of the army that has played a decisive role in warfare since the reign of Alexander the Great.

"You can't have cavalry without horses," he says. "When you give a cavalryman a tank or automobile, he becomes nothing more than a mechanic."

Driver Brings Fire To Fire Department

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Feb. 4. (AP)—It was a wild ride over 20 miles of highway, but R. G. Woodward of Billings, Mont., brought his fire to the fire department.

Glancing from the window of his 25-ton truck, he saw a reflection of bright red on the snow. The heavily loaded truck and trailer was on fire. Fire extinguishers and snow he shoveled failed to control the flames.

So Woodward drove the truck 20 miles to Livingston, parking at a fire plug on the outskirts of the city. A call brought a fire cart in a hurry and the blaze was extinguished.

Woodward estimated damage to the truck at $2,000. His load of merchandise, consisting mostly of chocolates, was almost destroyed.

A CAPITALIST is one who accumulates beyond his consumption. It is said that a thrifty man will save 20 per cent of his earnings and that a tightwad will save 60 per cent.

In the pursuit of wealth men have endured hardships, exile, hunger and even death and very often, when it seems almost within their grasp, or even after it is accumulated, it takes wings and flies away. Money, which is by no means the greatest thing in the world, is the power which moves most men to their best endeavors. After it is accumulated, it should be carefully guarded and scientifically invested.

Lobo Cagers Beat Spa Boys 18-15 In Exciting Go

By CECIL EDWARDS

A game filled with poor offensive play, many fouls, countless wild shots at the basket, and a wild second quarter that saw the lead change three times ended with the Cisco Lobos victors over Mineral Wells by a score of 18 to 15 last night. This was the Ciscoans' second consecutive win over the Mountaineers.

In contrast to their last tilt with Cisco, the invaders were rough, and four of their players were forced to leave the contest on fouls. Not a single Lobo went out by this route.

Cisco's improved pass defense broke up the Mountaineers' plays and accounted for several of the Lobo goals. The winners' defensive play near the net gave the losers few crisp shots and nearly all the invaders' points were scored on long tosses or difficult side shots.

Bad shooting throughout the game by both teams was a factor that held the score down.

Cisco took the lead late in the first period when Marcell Harrison put a free toss through the hoop, but that slim margin was soon overcome when the Red and White sent three long shots through the goal to lead 6 to 1. The Lobos sunk two field goals before the quarter ended and count stood 6 to 5 as the second session opened.

Score Tied

Mineral Wells increased its lead to 7 to 5 early in the second frame. Cisco tied the score with a goal and a free shot gave the Cisco quint an 8 to 7 margin. The Spa City boys evened the count with a free toss and the Lobo five again went into the lead with another free point. A long field goal put the Mountaineers into the lead 10 to 9 and an instant later the locals again captured the lead with a crisp shot and before the half ended a free shot had increased Cisco's lead to 12 to 10.

The winners increased their lead to 16 to 12 in the third period and early in the fourth period they led 18 to 12. Mineral Wells managed to add three points to their total before the game ended.

The starting Lobo lineup:

Odell Harrison and Marcell Harrison, forwards; Joe Slicker and Gordon Sherman, guards; Bobby Bacon, center. Cisco made only substitution and that was late in the final session. Cisco played without Dan Yarbrough, co-captain who is out with a cold. He probably will not be able to take part in the county tournament to begin tomorrow in Ranger.
