Merchants Fast Motor Lines to Picnic at Lake

WILL BE HELD ON AUGUST 22, OVER 600 DUE

Dean, Local Agent, Confers With Officials on Plans

The annual picnic of the Merchants Fast Motor lines, drawing between 600 and 800 people, will be held at Lake Cisco on Sunday, August 22, it was announced Saturday by W. E. Dean, Cisco agent for the company and chairman of the picnic arrangements committee.

Dean went to Fort Worth Saturday to confer with company officials on plans for the outing, which will come to Lake Cisco this year for the first time.

The territory from which officials, employes and invited guests of the company will come is bounded by Dallas, Odessa, San Angelo, Lubbock, Brownwood and Coleman, Dean said. Two or three customers from each town served by the large motor freight system will be guests of the organization for the picnic.

Entertainment Plans for their entertainment include a barbecue, swimming, boating, fishing, golfing and a

Funeral For Mrs. W. M. Barnes Is Held Saturday

Using the last verses of the last chapter of Matthew as his text, emphasizing this part especially—"Lo, I am with you all the way," Rev. Joe I. Patterson delivered the funeral address at the services held at the First Baptist church Saturday for Mrs. W. M. Barnes, former Cisco woman killed instantly in the car accident that also took the lives of Mrs. Charles J. Kleiner and her 9-year-old son, Charles, Jr., Tuesday.

The Rev. Patterson spoke principally on the point that God is with one always, while one is on earth, even through death.

The special choir sang "Close to Thee," followed by prayer. A solo, "Indian Love Song," was next and the Rev. Patterson then delivered the sermon.

The services were closed by the singing of "What a Friend" by the choir.

Mrs. Charlotte Barnes was born September 4, 1887, and was married to W. M. Barnes in 1908. From this union two children were born, Mrs. Florine Anderson of 600 West 12th and N. P. "Pete" Barnes, popular Cisco boy who graduated in 1936 from Cisco high and who attended John Tarleton college last year.

Besides her husband and two children she is survived by her mother, Mrs. R. N. Rutledge of Brownwood, six sisters and three brothers. Brothers—Roy Rutledge, Cross Plains; Chester Rutledge of Konawa, Okla.; Houston Rutledge of Brownwood; sisters—Mrs. J. L. Ringo of Indian Creek; Mrs. J. W. Munselle of Bangs, Mrs. Fred Cummings of Coleman, Mrs. E. V. Hay of Ballinger, and Mrs. R. W. Powell of Abilene.

Mrs. Barnes was buried at Oakwood cemetery with Green Funeral home in charge.

Pallbearers were: T. C. Williams, J. W. Anderson, Leon Mayhew, Lee Anderson, Allen Burnam and C. C. Duff.

They Catch 'Em Big At Lake Cisco

Even the youngsters get big ones at Lake Cisco. Here are a couple of Cisco boys holding between them an eight-pound bass which they caught recently. The boys are, left, Billy Butts Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wright, and, right, John D. Ward, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ward.

One of 15 girls who survived preliminary auditions in which more than 400 girls from all over Texas took part, Margo Linder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis F. Linder of Cisco and a member of the Casa Manana revue of the Frontier Fiesta at Ft. Worth, Monday will be heard in final audition before Maestro Paul Whiteman when a girl vocalist for the Whiteman orchestra will be chosen. The audition will be broadcast over WBAP at 2:15 Monday afternoon.

To have been one of the 15 girls chosen out of 400 entrants in these auditions is of itself a considerable distinction and Cisco is proud of Marjo's success. I believe that a great many radios will be tuned in to 800 kilocycles Monday afternoon at 2:15 while the listeners applaud and wish the Cisco entrant in this final contest the best of luck and hope she will win there and that highest success may be hers.

Among interesting sights is that of a flock of guineas breakfasting in the early morning. The birds, streamlined and industrious, travel in close formation, advancing along the grass with quick, eager steps, insects hopping before them in numbers. Every bird is pecking at the grass and every peck means one less grasshopper or beetle. No commercial or chemical insecticide can quite equal the havoc that a flock of these speckled fowl can wreak among the insect population.

They are said to be very good meat for eating and particularly good in certain brands of mulligan stew, but it occurs to me that the farmer who is troubled with too many six-legged varmints might profitably invest in a flock of guineas to rid his fields of these pests for their protection value alone.

JCC Melon Feast Monday Night at 7

The Cisco junior chamber of commerce is looking forward to a watermelon feast to be given at the Lions-Rotary park at Lake Cisco Monday evening. The slicing of the 35 cold melons to be secured for the event will begin sharply at 7 p. m., Edward "Red" Lee, president of the Jaycees, said Saturday.

This will not be a membership drive and there will be no meeting attached to it, the Jaycees head said. It is strictly informal and all Jaycees, former members, or members of the soft ball team, and their families are invited to the supper.

D. C. Harper will have the responsibility of securing a truck load of choice Eastland county melons and they will be iced and ready for eating when the time comes, Mr. Lee said.

The event, expected to be attended by at least 150, will be the first in a long while for the Jaycees.

John Dean Injured In Fall Friday

John Dean, brother of T. H. Dean, was confined to his bed today following an injury received Friday when he fell as a result of weakness brought on by a long illness.

The fall injured his hip and it had not been determined Saturday whether or not his hip was broken.

Mr. Dean has been a victim of high blood pressure since last April.

Carrier Girl

One of the most enthusiastic and capable members of the Cisco Daily Press carrier corps is a girl. She is Jeanette Burnam, 11, above who carries the Randolph Hill route, delivering the paper each afternoon, except Saturday, and Sunday morning on the bicycle which she received as a Christmas present. Jeanette stands the jibes of the boy carriers with scornful good nature, doing her work with an efficiency that forces them to considerable effort to maintain equal records with her. She says "It's lots of fun."

Princeton Professor Is Hit by Bomb, Dies Later

SANGHAI, Aug. 14 (AP)—At least three prominent Americans here, including Dr. Frank J. Rawlinson, one of the outstanding missionaries in China; H. S. Honisberg, wealthy automobile dealer, was killed, and two other Americans wounded today in Chinese-Japanese aerial warfare that hurled death into crowded parts of the international settlement.

Chinese bombing planes, supposedly aiming at Japanese concentrations, dumped missiles into crowded areas, killing hundreds. Dr. Robert Reischauer, identified by the United States consulate as professor of international relations at Princeton was hit by a bomb near the lobby of the Palace hotel on Nanking road where he died later.

Sixteen Chinese planes roared over the city striking at Japanese warships and troop concentrations but apparently gained greatest havoc upon foreign controlled sections of the city.

Rawlinson and Honisberg died at one of the busiest inter-sections of the city, where an estimated 300, mostly Chinese were killed.

American authorities expressed fears for the safety of an un-

Starr Writes Clyde Garrett On Peanut Topic

Following is a letter written by W. B. Starr, Cisco farmer who was elected president of the Southwestern Peanut Growers association formed at a meeting in Brownwood last week, to Congressman Clyde Garrett, Cisco, Tex., 8-15-1937.

Hon. Clyde L. Garrett, Member of Congress, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Garrett: I appreciated very much your favor of June 14th, written in answer to my previous letter, asking for your cooperation in making peanuts a basic commodity in the new farm bill pending in congress. Am sorry that congress saw fit to delay the passage of any farm bill until the next session of congress. I look within the next three months to see much lower prices on all farm commodities. Had it not been for the very bad crop conditions in Canada with somewhat similar conditions in much of Europe, wheat would have sold this year for between 70 and 80c per bu. I am advised that oats are now selling on the farms in eastern Iowa for 24c per bu. The peanut growers in the

$38 Prize Raised For Owner Of First Bale, Expect More

Former Cisco Pastor Visits Here Saturday

The Rev. U. S. Sherrill and family stopped off for a brief visit late Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Edwards, Mrs. Edwards is a sister-in-law of the Rev. Sherrill.

The Rev. Sherrill, formerly pastor of 12th Street Methodist church here, is now pastor of the First Methodist church of Knox City. The family had been called to Sabanno by the death of Mrs. Sherrill's brother there and they were returning home.

Foes Urged to Delay Action Against Black

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP)—Senators opposed to the confirmation of Senator Black of Alabama as supreme court justice, reported today receipt of many letters and telegrams urging a delay in the action on the nomination. Statements from members of the judiciary committee indicated that protests will have little effect. They showed a substantial majority of the committee were ready to approve the nomination.

Charges Unemployment Solution Not Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP)—Aubrey Williams, assistant works progress administrator, told the house labor subcommittee today that congress had over-emphasized consideration of the cost of unemployment relief instead of seeking a solution to the problem.

Drive For Premium to Be Resumed by JCC On Monday

A committee working on the prizes given by Cisco merchants to the owner of the first bale of the 1937 cotton crop ginned here Thursday afternoon about 3:45 o'clock, reported Saturday night that $20 cash and $18 worth of merchandise had been given and that there was much territory to cover yet.

"We are going to get some more Monday," members of the committee said.

The Cisco junior chamber of commerce previously had decided to raise a prize for the owner of the first bale of cotton ginned here. The drive for the prize was started Friday, the day following the ginning of the first bale.

It was believed that the prize, both cash and merchandise, will be increased considerably before the JCC finishes raising it. Charles McFadden, farmer of near Dothan, had the honor of possessing the first bale to be ginned here this year. The bale, weighing about 425 pounds, was purchased by Norvell and Miller at 11 cents per pound, a premium of one cent per pound.

It was also believed this was the first bale ginned in Eastland county. If any others have been county. If any others had been not been reported at the Press office Saturday night.

7,944,803 Bales Used During 1936-37 Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP)—The census bureau today reported cotton consumed in the cotton year of 1936-37 ending July 31, totalled 7,944,803 bales, breaking all previous records.

200 New Skates For Lake Rink

To accommodate the good crowds that have continuously patronized the Lake Cisco skating rink, 100 new pairs of skates have been secured and will be placed into use Monday, Manager P. G. Berry said Saturday.

Mr. Berry also reported that a new auto-aic phonograph has been obtained and that it has plenty of new records.

Rev. Gus Ramage to Preach Here Today

Rev. Gus Ramage of Mesa, Ariz., will preach at both the morning and evening services at the First Christian church today. The church is without a regular pastor.

The congregation is urged to attend the services.

RULE INITIAL BALE

RULE, Aug. 14. (Sp)—The first bale of cotton of the 1937 season was brought to Rule Monday by Grower Cowan of Rochester. The bale was ginned by the Farmers Union Gin and weighed 456 pounds. The business men of the city presented the owner with a premium.

6 Fliers Believed Safe After Word From Ship

SEATTLE, Aug. 14. (AP)—Probability of Sigismund Levaneffsky and five Russian companions being safe somewhere between Alaska and North Pole was seen here today when the signal corps station at Anchorage reported intercepting first word from the plane in nearly 28 hours.

It reported a code message heard at 8:44 a. m., central standard time, only partly readable and translated with unreadable blanks said: "No bearings, having trouble with wave band." It is unknown whether the plane could send messages by radio while grounded.

Kleiner Rites at Baptist Church Today at Three

Funeral services for Mrs. Charles J. Kleiner, 26, and her son, Charles, Jr., killed in an automobile accident near Tucson, Ariz., last Tuesday afternoon, will be held from the First Baptist church at 3 this afternoon, with Don H. Morris, vice president of Abilene Christian college, officiating. The song service will be led by W. H. Free, president of the board of ACC, of which Mrs. Kleiner was an ex-student.

Pall bearers will be: R. L. Ponsler, Harry Reynolds, Harvey Lee Hays, Frank Borman, J. H. West, R. C. Turner, F. D. Wright, Ray Jacobs, W. J. Leach, Lee Heltzel, Doc Cabaness, Yancey McCrea, A. D. Anderson, S. H. Nance, L. A. Warren, J. A. Bearman.

Honorary pall bearers will be all friends and business associates of the family and Mr. Kleiner.

Members of the Cisco Lions club, of which Mr. Kleiner is a member, will serve as ushers for the services.

Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery, with Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Kleiner and Charles, Jr., and Mrs. W. M. Barnes, governess with the family, were fatally injured when the Kleiner sedan, nearing Tucson after a trip from Cisco, was apparently sideswiped by a truck, losing a tire and overturning when the bare rim of the wheel cut into the soft pavement as Mrs. Kleiner attempted to swing the car back on the road.

The family was maintaining a temporary home at Tucson for the

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thou shalt go to thy fathers in peace. Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord.—Gen. xv. 15; Rev. xiv. 13.

Happy are the faithful dead, Blessed who in Jesus die; They from all thy toils are freed, In God's keeping safely lie.

These the spirit hath declared, Blest, unutterably blest, Jesus is their great reward, Jesus is their endless rest.

Grant, O Lord, . . . that through the grave and gate of death we may pass to our joyful resurrection: for His merits, who died, and was buried, and rose again for us, Thy son, Jesus Christ, our Lord.

Company Picnics

DESIGNATION of Lake Cisco as the site for this year's annual picnic of the Merchants Fast Motor lines officials and employees is another recognition of the splendid facilities for amusement and recreation that exist here.

Annual "get-together" outings of the personnel of widespread commercial organizations have a helpful influence upon company morale.

THE advertising value of such picnics to Cisco is considerable. People attend from widely scattered and often distant points. The impressions and information they take back with them serve to spread knowledge and interest in the attractions at Lake Cisco and to cultivate increasing patronage.

THE cost of such wells is an item to be absorbed only by the larger resources of the big companies, a fact which is responsible for the infrequency of tests being sunk to these levels.

SINKING of good earth into a canyon in Idaho, threatening to turn a river into another lost stream, is ominous. Topographical disturbances of this character indicate that the interior of old Mother Earth is still in a state of flux and that elsewhere ponderous internal pains may disrupt the surface with great loss and perhaps calamity.

TAKE LEASE IN JONES COUNTY

ALBANY, Aug. 14.—A. V. Jones and H. R. Stasney, two young geologists who came to Albany in the early part of the year 1931 and fought the oil game through some long and dim months when few operators and companies were actively interested in the areas in Shackelford and Jones county, have taken leases on a block of about 1,000 acres in northeast Jones, two miles north of the Iron Mountain Oil Co. No. 1, Carl Olander that has attracted widespread attention to the Palo Pinto Lime, and will drill a 3400 foot test in southeast corner of north-west quarter section 188, BBB&C RR Co. on the Carl Ekdahl farm, about a half mile west of a 2519 foot dry hole drilled by Marland Oil Co. 10 years ago.

Offsets to the Olander well being drilled by Groover & Rose, local contractors, are Iron Mountain Oil Co., Humble No. 1, Jones & Stasney Fee drilling at 750 feet in southeast corner of north-west quarter section, 196, BBB&C RR and Iron Mountain-Humble No. 1, Harterius Fee drilling at 1350 feet in the same section.

Another Albany contractor, J. O. Fox, Jr., is drilling at 700 feet on the only outside test for Owen M. Murray act on the Mannie Lee Fee a half mile east of discovery.

Thus far the geological, leasing and contracting activities in the new oil area, only two and one half miles west of the Jones-Shackelford line, have been carried out of Albany.

The Albany News congratulates Messrs. Jones & Stasney, Messrs. Groover & Rose and all their employees and others who have shared in bringing in this outstanding discovery, which is of even greater benefit to farmers and ranchmen than any one discovery in the past 10 years.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon decides to rebuild her burned ranch house and barn, though Neighbor Josh Hastings, whom she hates, wants to buy her ranch and marry her. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. They shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings sneaks up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a cabin where a girl (Marion) nurses him. A week later the sheriff arrests him on a tip unconsciously given by Kay. Ted's trial for murder at Clear Water Basin is going against him without a witness in his behalf.

Chapter 39 Ted's Defense

There remained for today only Ted's story to be told, and then the verdict. Ted had elected to conduct his own defense, in the certainty that his straightforward story would make more impression than anyone else's presentation of the facts.

But now as he thought over yesterday's proceedings, with the cards stacked against him this way, he wasn't so sure. He pulled out the heartbroken little note from his mother and sister that the sheriff had allowed him to receive, and read it for the hundredth time. Their touching confidence in his innocence was comforting, and, at least for the time being, they were being cared for by some neighbors.

Pushing away the thought of what would happen to them if he was convicted, Ted wondered what had become of Marion. He had been uneasy about her, because he had a hunch that there was something tragic about her father that she hadn't told him. And when they had announced in court yesterday that she couldn't come to testify because of the illness of her father, he had felt a presentiment that something was very wrong.

As Ted pondered bitterly on his inability to help anyone, the deputy sheriff arrived with his breakfast. He brought it in, announcing with a grin that a lady was outside and wanted to see him.

"A lady?" Ted looked up eagerly. Perhaps Marion had come after all!

"Yeah, Sam Cutter said she could see you for five minutes. He always is partial to red heads."

"Red heads!" Ted echoed, his heart beating suffocatingly against his ribs. "You mean—"

"Kay Crandon's her name, and she's coming back in half an hour," he answered.

Blood surged into Ted's face, and he gripped the iron cot until his knuckles showed white in his deeply tanned hands.

"Tell her I'm not seeing anyone, Joe," he said gruffly after a long pause.

Joe gazed at him in open-mouthed stupefaction. "Hell's bells!" Why not? She's some looker, and she sure seems anxious about you. You'd better see what she has to say."

"I'm not going to see her, do you hear me?" Ted turned so fiercely on him that Joe jumped.

"All right, all right," he soothed. "Have it your own way."

He went out and locked the door, leaving Ted to the tumultuous thoughts and emotions that coursed through him.

Kay's unexpected appearance on the scene proved how little he had succeeded in putting her out of his mind, in spite of his determination to do so. He longed with all his being to see her, but the galling thought that she was the one who was responsible for his being there at all, steeled him against her. Nothing she could say could atone for that damaging fact, and it would be folly to let himself be stirred up at this time by seeing her again.

If ever he needed all his self-control and wits, he needed them now, when he was fighting for his life. There was no place for Kay Crandon in the picture today!

He forced his mind away from Kay, and concentrated on his story, going over it from every angle to be sure it was straight and unshakable.

But His Eyes Seek Kay
Lost in deep thought, he failed to hear Joe's footsteps again in the corridor, and only looked up at the sound of his name, to see Joe sticking a folded piece of paper through the door.

"She said to give you that," he said. "Seems kind of upset at not seeing you. Hadn't you better change your mind?"

"No!" Ted thundered, looking up at him without moving. "And I don't want any notes, either. Take it back to her."

"Say, I kind of hate to do that. She'll feel bad!" Joe looked doubtfully at the letter in his hand. "What's got into you to be so ornery?"

"Clear out!" Ted snapped. "And don't come back until it's time for me to go to the trial!"

With a perplexed shake of the head, Joe complied without further comment, and Ted was left again to the solitude he demanded. It was an hour later before Joe reappeared, and this time Ted accompanied him to the big room in front that was dignified by the name of court room.

The sheriff and one of his deputies were seated at one end of the long wooden table that stood on a raised platform at the back of it. Joe motioned Ted to his place at the other end, and then joined Sam Cutter. At another table, alongside, sat the 12 men who were to decide Ted's fate.

There was a small space left before the rows of seats began. Ted could see at a glance that the room was even more crowded than it had been on the day before. Every seat was taken, and standing room was filled to capacity.

In the sea of faces before him, Ted's glance caught Josh Hastings and Tom Runyon, but he passed them by without change of expression, his eyes seeking Kay in spite of his resolution to ignore her completely.

There were comparatively few women in the room and he singled her out almost immediately. His heart gave a great throb as he caught her eye.

She was looking at him with parted lips, her head held proudly, but a hurt and bewildered expression in her eyes. She gave a hesitating half smile, but Ted allowed his eyes to drift past her without a flicker of recognition.

Out of the corner of his eye he was conscious of the sudden rush of crimson that dyed her cheeks, then his attention was summarily drawn to Sam Cutter, who pounded on the table, calling loudly for order. The buzz of talk subsided, and in an important voice he outlined the events of the preceding day.

Ted listened attentively, even Kay forgotten, as the vital moment approached when he must make his plea.

The sheriff finished at last, and turned to him.

"We'll hear the prisoner's story now," he announced in a pompous manner.

Kay Calls a Halt!
Ted stood up, and in a firm voice recited his story, which he had rehearsed so many times to himself. He found his eyes unconsciously straying to Kay's face.

And when he came to tell how Scrap Johnson had stolen up on him as he had been taking a drink, and shot him down by the water's edge, he saw her blanch, and, with her hand at her throat, as though suddenly short of breath, glance over at Josh Hastings.

Going on with his narrative, Ted told how he had dragged himself along the stream's bank until he had come to the clearing, and Marion had taken him in, and saved his life.

There was a dead silence as he stopped. Then, Sam Cutter cleared his throat, and rose to his feet.

"How about that fight you had with Scrap Johnson at Kelly's? Do you admit you threatened to kill him that time?"

Ted hesitated a moment. He saw clearly enough the trap that the sheriff was trying to lead him into, but he decided to stick to the absolute truth.

"I believe I did," he answered. "But that doesn't prove I did it."

"Who was the girl you were fighting about?"

A dull red crept up behind Ted's ears, as the sheriff brought out this unexpected question.

"I refuse to answer," Ted returned. Sam Cutter's look with settled defiance. "That has no bearing on the case."

"I'm the judge of that!" Sam Cutter snapped angrily. "One of the witnesses yesterday said Scrap Johnson had referred to her as 'a red headed filly.' Is that so?"

"I refuse to answer," Ted reiterated stubbornly.

"The jury'll do well to make a note of that," the sheriff sneered. "Only I reckon they won't need it. All they've got to do is take the facts into account. They've got the gun, and the bullet that came from it. They've got the prisoner's admission that he threatened to kill the murdered man. It ain't even worth my while to cross-examine his cock-and-bull story," he ended scornfully.

Turning impressively to the jury, he began, "I charge you to—"

"Wait a minute!"

A ripple of excitement ran over the room, as every eye turned to Kay. Her cheeks crimson, but her head held proudly high, Kay stood facing Sam Cutter, her yellow brown eyes black with the intensity of her emotion.

"I object to this trial going any further! It's illegal!"

Sam Cutter banged on the table to stop the buzz of comment that greeted this surprising interruption.

"I don't understand you, Miss Crandon," he said severely. "You'll either have to keep still or get out."

"But I protest this trial!" Kay's voice grew steeper as she went on. "Ted Gaynor cannot be tried in Idaho. Scrap Johnson was murdered in the state of Montana!"

Many Texans Inaccurately Listed in SS

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—Figures made public today by Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission, showed six thousand Texas employees inaccurately listed or not listed at all with the commission.

These employees, representing ten per cent of the covered workers in the state, will receive no credit on the records of the commission, for work performed in the last three months, or for any work until they have a correctly set-up account.

Chairman Carpenter pointed out that the social security account number is the basis of the record of an employee and thus the basis of his claim for benefits during periods of unemployment. If this number is not submitted or is given inaccurately, it is impossible for the employee to receive proper credit for each quarter's work. At the least, this will result in delayed payments; at the most, none or reduced payments.

Carpenter further stated that the fund for benefit payments was rapidly increasing. Contributions received in the week ending August 7 brought the total fund to $13,110,182.56, indicating that the commission's estimate of a $20,000,000 fund by 1938 would be reached.

Inaccurately reported social security account numbers can be definitely determined since the number is so arranged that the first three numerals symbolize area, the second two, sub-area, and the remaining four, the sequence number of the worker. Only certain numbers are used for area and sub-area, and some are not assigned, so if an error occurs, personnel of the Unemployment commission soon discover it.

Employees without numbers are urged to obtain them at once from the district Social Security headquarters which are located in Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, El Paso and Beaumont. Numbers are also available at all post-offices except the main postoffices in the above-mentioned cities.

The word electricity is derived from electron, the Greek word for amber.

To supplement sets now installed of China the ministry has ordered the additional 5,000 sets.

MOST RELIABLE OF "ALL THREE"

It's the car that STANDS UP BEST

Thousands of Plymouth owners are still driving the first model Plymouths ever built. For with those first models, Plymouth introduced a new idea—that cars in the lowest price field should be just as dependable and long-lived as any cars at any price.

Yet amazingly long life and reliability are only part of the better value built into the 1937 Plymouth. It's the biggest of All Three. Only Plymouth gives you the hushed ride... controlled hydraulic braking... Floating Power engine mountings.

And Plymouth is on record as America's most economical full-powered car.

Drive the car that stands up best. We will be glad to arrange a Plymouth demonstration.

Petticoat Parade Disliked by Nurses

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 14. (AP)—Nightly "petticoat parades" have brought objections from Sydney nurses.

Although not part of their uniform, 50 nurses at the Nightingale home must "show petticoats" to a senior staff member each night before going on duty. They were described as "cumbersome, Grundy things" by one nurse, who added:

"I wonder if Florence Nightingale wore one."

KANSAS EXTENSION

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 14. (AP)—The Sperling pool of Harvey county was extended a quarter of a mile north today when Derby Oil company's No. 1 Lehmann filled 2,800 feet with oil 30 minutes after the plug was drilled out. Production is from the Huntington lime at 3,312 feet.

North Pole Bad For Phone Line

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14. (AP)—Shanghai and San Francisco can telephone to each other, but for only about one hour in the 24.

The difficulty is that the radio-telephone circuit to Shanghai takes the shortest distance from San Francisco, almost crossing the North Pole. Atmospheric disturbances are so common in the polar regions that satisfactory reception is possible for only about an hour.

"Report Me and My Cause Aright"

. . . so spoke the dying Hamlet to Laertes.

These words sum up the ardent desire of every man to be fully and accurately represented before his fellow men.

To report every cause aright is the task of The Associated Press. Its trained staff of 80,000 patrols the corridors of the world to get the news—to get it accurately and report it impartially, with all possible speed. It performs this task daily with marked success through the cooperation of its 1360 member newspapers.
