

Ceremony Performed 50 Years Ago Is Reenacted by Nimrod Couple Sunday

A wedding scene that occurred fifty years ago was re-enacted Sunday, August 22, when Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Dow Stanaford celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding at their home in Nimrod.

It was in the town of Van Buren, Ark., August 21, 1887, that Lorenzo Dow Stanaford and Miss Rachael Eva Meadows took the vows that made them husband and wife. And now that fifty years have happily crowned their married state, it is evident that these vows meant more than a mere worded formality. Their long and happy life together, during which they have been blessed with a family of children whose lives have reflected parental devotion and training as a credit to noble parentage, proves this.

Saturday, August 21, was their jubilee anniversary, but that more of their children and friends could be present those having the celebration in hand decided that the event should be held Sunday. That the occasion attracted so many was a surprise to the honorees, as they anticipated celebrating their golden wedding anniversary with only their immediate family and children being present, but the children living in Eastland county concluded to have their friends and neighbors present, and quietly sent out invitations with the admonition that it should be a surprise to the couple. So well were the plans arranged that neither of the honorees was aware of the magnitude of the celebration until the guests began to arrive at the Stanaford home about 2:30 o'clock Sunday.

Ceremony Reenacted

When the children and guests had arrived the party assembled in the living room where the Rev. Mart Agnew officiated in a marriage ceremony, and again those vows to love, honor, obey, etc., were responded to in the affirmative, and the couple were again wed, which constituted a union that has been blissful as well as beautiful. Among the guests present there was one who had witnessed the original ceremony fifty years ago in the Arkansas town, the Rev. G. W. Parks of Roscoe, a double cousin of Mrs. Stanaford, who was originally chosen to perform the jubilee ceremony, but arrived too late.

As the guests arrived, each was requested to register in the "bride's book," and the large number who registered testified to the love and esteem in which this couple is held by their many friends and neighbors, for practically all of the residents of the Nimrod community were present, and filled the house to its capacity.

During the afternoon snap-shot photographs of the couple and their children present were taken.

Pioneer Residents

Mr. and Mrs. Stanaford are pioneer residents of the Nimrod community, being the last of 13 families who settled at Nimrod in 1889. Most of those colonists were originally natives of Kentucky, who like Mr. Stanaford stopped en route in Arkansas before reaching Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanaford were

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three or four years of life. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

All of their children were born in Nimrod except Walter, their eldest, who was born in Arkansas, and who fought in the World war overseas, where he lost his health and lived only about one year after the armistice was signed.

The honorees were the recipients of many gifts and choice flowers, tokens of friendship and love from those who came to felicitate the couple on this joyous occasion. Delicious refreshments of cake and punch were served to the guests throughout the afternoon, and everyone present seemed reluctant to depart from a scene of such happiness.

"The Bride's Book." Children

"The bride's book" revealed the following children present: Mrs. N. J. Dillard, Rising Star; Mrs. W. L. Simpson, Fort Worth; Mrs. H. H. Harrelson, and L. D. Stanaford, Jr., Nimrod.

Lack of Interest In Cisco May Lose W. P. A. Classes

In order for the WPA classes to continue in Cisco, it will be necessary for an increased interest to be manifested and a larger class enrollment to be maintained, Dr. Lee Clark, senior field supervisor, said today.

"In order that our city may keep the prestige it has gained as a leader in adult education, that our teachers may be employed and that our people may have the helpful instruction that our government has provided, it is a patriotic duty for our citizens to cooperate in popularizing this movement," Dr. Clark said today.

Classes in Cisco have been operating in English, mathematics, citizenship, typing, bookkeeping, sewing and clay modeling. Home planning classes are to be organized soon if the demand is justified. The purpose is to organize classes to meet the needs of the citizens and to make the courses as practical as possible. All classes teach citizenship, Dr. Clark said.

According to the supervisor, Cisco has been outstanding in the number of teachers employed, the variety of classes offered and the number of pupils enrolled, and now Cisco may lose this unless an increased interest is shown here.

In the recent organization a liberal assignment of teachers was made to Cisco.

W. P. A. districts in Texas have been reduced from 20 to 12 and larger districts necessitated division into areas for closer direction and supervision. The East-

Texas Leads States In Rail Mileage

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)—More railroad mileage is operated in Texas than in any other state, the Association of American Railroads reports. Illinois ranks second.

The association computes that railroads paid $873,641 daily in 1936 to meet their taxes from federal, state and local governments.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon impulsively hires Ted Gaynor, a jobless puncher. He helps her fight Josh Hastings, a "friendly" neighbor who wants Kay and her ranch. Ted and Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molests Kay, shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings sneaks up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted is arrested and tried for murder, but Kay stops the trial by technical protest. Ted escapes and rescues Kay from Hastings' cellar lock-up. Then he goes to aid Marion who saved his life with her nursing. He finds her father dying at the edge of the forest fire he started.

Josh Hastings' wrists and ankles. Then he slung him over the saddle and, guiding his frightened horse, started to retrace his steps. In the far distance he could hear shouts, as the fire fighters rallied to this new area of danger. But after a moment's hesitation, Ted pushed on, with an anxious eye on his unconscious burden.

One thought was uppermost in Ted's mind: He must save Josh Hastings until he could repeat that confession before witnesses. His freedom and his whole future depended on it! If Josh Hastings died now, even though Ted might escape, his name would never be cleared. Suspicion would always cling to him and he would be handicapped by this cloud on his reputation, wherever he might go.

He must get back to Marion, with the news about her father, and between them they must revive Josh Hastings enough to force the confession from him that he had killed Scrap Johnson and framed Ted for the murder.

Riding when possible, and walking over the steep places where his mount could not carry double, Ted pushed ahead over the interminable backward trail to Marion's shack.

It had been hard enough going before. Now, as he left the illumination of the conflagration behind, Ted found it almost impossible to negotiate the return trip with the double handicap of his unconscious burden and the darkness, with no stars to guide him.

After pushing on blindly for what seemed an eternity, he decided finally that he would save time in the long run by waiting for the dawn. He called a halt and lifted off the bulky form of Josh Hastings. Laying him on the ground, he bent close to feel his prisoner's pulse and listen to his heart.

Reassured as to his condition, in spite of the coma into which he had sunk, Ted threw himself down beside him, and was soon lost in a sleep of utter exhaustion.

When he woke, he uttered an exclamation of amazement and dismay to find the sun so high. His exhausted frame, worn out by the strain of the last few nights, had played him false, and instead of the short nap he had expected to take, he must have been asleep for hours.

He glanced over at Josh Hastings and breathed a sigh of relief to find him about as he had been before, still breathing heavily, in the stupor in which his blow on the head had left him.

Ted rose to his feet, and went a short distance to a rocky projection to get his bearings. A long low whistle escaped him, as he gazed incredulously at the panorama stretched out before him.

Hastings Tries a Dicker
He glanced up at the sun, as though challenging its right to be where it was, then looked once more at the cloud of smoke that hung heavy over the ridges. But instead of being behind him, it was to the north and east, and the mountains Ted had expected to get his bearings by, had shifted to unfamiliar outlines.

Admitting finally the evidence of his own senses, Ted was forced to the conclusion that he had completely lost his way in the darkness the night before, and had gone off at a tangent to the southwest, instead of retracing his steps to the north, as he thought he had been doing.

Ted cursed his impetuous haste that had led him astray, as he hurried back to Josh Hastings. Before preparing for the long ride, he ate a bite of the lunch that Marion had insisted on tying to the crutch of his saddle.

Refreshed by the food and his long sleep, he hoisted Josh Hastings' unconscious body across his horse, and started back.

A fresh breeze had sprung up, and Ted glanced uneasily at the tree tops swaying above him to gauge its velocity. It was characteristic of the mountains to have a wind start up around noon, but this one seemed to be gathering alarming force. Once get a strong wind behind the fire, and there was no predicting the extent of the destruction that would most certainly ensue.

Ted resolutely pushed on, following the same method he had the night before, of sometimes riding, but more often walking. Only this time he was traveling in the right direction.

He hated to think of the added anxiety Marion would have over his delay, but there was no help for it. There was one good point, anyway. He was well out of the probable range of the fire fighters, and therefore stood a better chance to escape premature delivery into their hands.

Suddenly, as he walked up a steep incline beside his mount, Ted became aware of a groan and eyes staring at him. Glancing down, he saw that Josh Hastings had regained consciousness.

He made a tentative struggle to free himself, but Ted called a peremptory halt.

"The tables are turned, now," he explained curtly. "If you know what's good for you, you'll keep still!"

A look of hatred flashed in Josh Hastings' eyes before he closed them, and let his head flop back wearily.

"My head!" he groaned. "Water!"

Without a word, Ted took his canteen and put it to Josh Hastings' lips. He took greedy sips of the warmish liquid, then opened his eyes again.

"What's the idea?" he demanded, glancing at his bound wrists. "Where are you taking me?"

"Where you can repeat what you told me back there, before a witness," Ted answered grimly. "It would be a hell of a lot easier to have left you to be cremated, as you planned to leave me. But you have some information that happens to be useful to me."

A shrewd look narrowed Josh Hastings' eyes.

"Suppose I give you a signed statement, will you let me go?"

"And have you deny it later? Not on your life," Ted gave a short laugh. "You've framed me once too often! I prefer a witness."

IN AND ABOUT MORAN

(By Bob Taylor)

Lawn Party
Nearly 100 members of the first Baptist church of Moran attended a lawn party on the church lawn Tuesday evening. Games were played, after which lunch and cake were served. The group expressed its appreciation to their pastor, the Rev. T. L.

Peculiar Cow
H. A. Freeman, prominent cattle buyer of Moran, recently picked a cow to the Fort Worth market. Imagine Freeman's embarrassment when the cow he had bought to sell on a good market, sold to none other than the famous Ringling Bros. circus.

Clearing up the mystery of why world famous circus bought a milk cow from a stock commission company, Freeman explained that the cow was equipped with one peg leg. Further questioning revealed that the cow had been born with only three and one-half legs, and had spent a normal life on the farm of T. Boyd, south of Moran, hobbling about on an improvised third leg.

Rains
Nature may obtain perfection in many aspects, but she certainly gummied up the works on the weather situation around Moran. Last fall she blessed us with weeks of soaking rains; she had in place looking like a Louisiana swamp. Consequently, in the early spring, farmers' grain was tall and green, and stockmen's pastures covered with lush grass and rank weeds. At this point, however, nature stepped out of the picture and left her tender vegetation to struggle along the best it could on moisture that had been in the ground all winter.

Needless to say, all such moisture was promptly exhausted, with the inevitable result. Cotton was stunted, pastures became brown and sere, and water holes dried up. The sun shone mercilessly for months on end without so much as a single cloud to soften its glare.

This desert-like condition continued until a few days ago, when again, Old Mother Nature turned the switch, and sent black clouds from all directions, some bearing rains, others only shutting off the heat of Old Sol, but all clouds and all the novelty. And even yet, every evening thunderheads loom up in wholly unaccustomed places, lightning plays thunder with Bob Burn's radio program, and former heat sufferers pull cover at night.

Going a step further in her ludicrous attempts at humor, nature has sent peculiar conditions with her delayed rains. Travelers tell stories of bone dry fields with branches and gulches filled to overflowing with muddy rain water, flowing from a sudden shower a short distance up the way. Farmers tell of fast trips to town, the rear wheels of their automobiles slipping and sliding in inches of mud, and their front wheels kicking up a cloud of dust, so sharply drawn are the lines of precipitation. Plowhands have knocked off work because their fields were too wet to plow, while across the road his neighbor plows in a fog of fine topsoil. Chickens drown in backyards, while flowers curl and die for want of water in the front. A resident of the west end of Moran one day thinks we had a fine general rain, his fellow, from the other side doesn't even know it showered.

Poets for ages have rhymed of the perfection of nature, she has worn this robe long enough, let it now be stripped from her and let her stand exposed at last, as a fictional public figure who is nothing but human.

Luncheon Club
Nearly forty were present at this Wednesday's meeting of the Moran Luncheon club in the basement of the First Methodist church here. The club was entertained by a varied program consisting of readings by Mrs. R. L. Cannon, Jr., dramatic instructor of the Moran schools, piano selections by Miss Wanda DePew, and two more of Miss enlightening speeches by C. F. Etheridge and Bob Taylor. Etheridge, superintendent of schools here, spoke of the subject of "What I would do if I were editor of the Moran News," and Taylor, a would-be columnist, elaborated on "What I would do if I were superintendent of the Moran schools."

Visitors were Newton McDonald, stationery salesman, of Anson, J. W. Foxworth, wholesale grocer, of Cisco, Jno. Holland, Shackelford county sheriff, and his brother Scott of Georgia, Adolphus Long and Roy Tuggle, erstwhile politicians, from Albany. The club discussed plans for a fall civic advancement program.

Range Life Story
Follows a true story of past range life in the Moran vicinity: An old cattleman, slightly hard of hearing who loved his stock with a mother's love, (he also had an eye to the monetary side of his animals) one morning wiped the molasses and egg from his hoary mustaches, and mounting a favorite pony, rode to his pastures to inspect his stock in trade. Much to his surprise and chagrin, he discovered that one of his best white face cows had during the night, slipped quietly on to the great beyond, leaving a wobbly legged calf to bellow students of outlying districts to Cisco for schooling.

In the fields of instruction and administration the schools experimented successfully with a new form of child rating card which will probably be introduced permanently throughout the system. One and one-half additional units of affiliation were awarded, one unit being in general mathematics for the eighth grade and one-half in home economic work.

The school was continued on the list of those accredited with his loneliness and hunger to the heavy morning air.

The old man, sorrow stricken, turned his pony's nose toward the house of his nearest friend and neighbor, to inform him of the loss. The aged stockman pulled up his mount at the rear entrance of his neighbor's ranch-house, and in answer to his "Hello," and inquiry as to his friend's whereabouts, was informed by the woman of the house that "Jim was down around the barn doctoring a milkpen calf." Whereupon, the old codger gently spurred his pony, and started sorrowfully in search of his friend.

The rancher's wife, with customary concern, called after him, "How's your family, Uncle Zeke?" The old man reigned his horse, turned slowly in his saddle, and dimly answered, "Lost the best 'un I had last night," and with no further words, turned in his saddle, and rode slowly off, leaving the woman in open-mouthed astonishment.

Curriculum Improvements

Curriculum Improvements projects have been carried on, particularly in the lower grades, with emphasis on projects for practical application of the instruction given.

An NYA program sponsored by the schools last year assisted about 30 boys and girls, each of whom received $6 per month during the term.

The schools continued to sponsor an adult education program conducted independently of the system, and a nursery school, as has been the case for several years. These adult and nursery schools have brought into Cisco approximately $30,000 of new money as well as have provided instruction for hundreds of adults and care for many small children. During the period they have employed at various times about 140 teachers.

All members of the school faculty were placed on a 12-month pay basis.

Many other accomplishments of a minor nature can be listed. The above list, however, demonstrates the constant efforts which are being put forth to better and expand the service not only to the immediate community, but to the people of the surrounding area to whom it is earnestly felt that Cisco owes a responsibility.

Information to Farmers Seeking W.P.A. Workers

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 26.—Farmers desirous of obtaining WPA workers to assist in seasonal crop-gathering have been invited by State Administrator H. P. Drought to direct their requests to county judges, county farm agents, or to the offices of the national re-employment service and Texas state employment service.

"These offices are familiar with our policy that Works Progress administration projects will be suspended if necessary to provide workers for private employers," Drought said. "They are anxious to cooperate with farmers who need labor and I am sure that they will convey any private employer's request promptly to the proper WPA office."

Policy of closing WPA projects temporarily when outside job opportunities are available for workmen is in line with the provisions of the 1937 appropriation act, Drought stated.

"The 1937 appropriation act provided that the Works Progress administration may employ no certified person who refuses a bona-fide offer of private employment under reasonable working conditions which pays as much as or more than he receives for WPA employment. It provides furthermore that any person leaving WPA rolls for private employment is entitled to immediate resumption of his previous employment status if he is still in need of relief and has lost the private employment through no fault of his own. Thus, any private employer is assured that no WPA worker will turn down a legitimate offer of work and WPA workers are assured that they will not lose employment status with this agency by accepting such work."

Few complaints that WPA employment is interfering with crop-gathering have reached the state WPA office from Texas farmers, Drought stated, but all such instances have received prompt investigation. "To date," he declared, "all those investigated have been proven groundless and based upon misinformation."

Much Needed Rain This Week Helps Crops, Pastures

Hopes for good cotton and other crops brightened for farmers of this section when one-half inch of rain fell Sunday in several downpours that came at intervals and subsequent showers.

The rains, slow and soaking are expected to be a boon to farmers of this territory in the dry spell that had worried them immensely during the past few weeks.

Pasture lands, feed, and other farm crops were expected to be greatly aided by the rains that fell, not only in Cisco, but in most of the surrounding territory.

gauge this was the first rain since Saturday, July 10, when there was 9 inches of precipitation, temporarily breaking a dry period that was then beginning to bring worry to farmers.

Although Sunday's rains were comparatively light they will bring at least a temporary break in the month and a half of dry period, it is expected.

With the rain Sunday the total for Cisco for the year to date, according to the city hall gauge is 10 and one-half inches.

SEVENTH COURT OF CIVIL APPEALS
While the court of civil appeals the eleventh supreme district still in recess, and the justices vacationing, Justices Funderburk and Grissom have returned Eastland and are assembling business on hand for adjournment when the court reconvenes September 6 by arranging the docket for the coming session.

THE EIGHTY-EIGHTH STRICT COURT
(Judge Patterson, Presiding)
Cases Filed
Ex parte Willard Vance Romer, minor, adoption was the only new case filed in the 88th court during the past week.

Judgments and Orders
Judge Patterson handed down following orders in the 88th court:

State vs. Bill Daniels, habeas corpus. Judgment for defendant and order of release decreed. The defendant brought action for writ of habeas corpus which was granted and Sheriff Loss Woods was ordered to produce the defendant to court, who was held in jail a writ of capias profinum issued by the justice of the peace precinct 6, in connection with charge of disturbing the peace. His application for a writ of habeas corpus allegations were made that a fine was assessed against him while in the custody of officers and that he was denied right to make bond and the right of trial. After hearing the evidence the court discharged the defendant as he deemed the evidence was not sufficient to hold him in jail.

Ex Parte Willard Vance Romer, adoption. Petition of M. M. Bowman for letters of adoption is granted after the report of Annie Davis, appointed to investigate the worthiness of petitioner woman to have the custody of a minor. It was the order of court that M. M. Bowman be granted letters of adoption of said minor, and all relationship, rights and duties of his natural parents should cease, and that he be deemed for every purpose the child of the said Bowman.

Ex parte L. B. Wells, removal disabilities of non-age. It was the order of the court that the disabilities of minority be there removed, and the said L. B. Wells be deemed and held for all legal purposes to be of full age except the right of franchise to vote.

Marie Gustafson vs. E. O. Gustafson, divorce. Transferred to court's own motion to the court.

THE NINETY-FIRST STRICT COURT
With Judge Davenport still absent from his court, and Judge Peterson presiding in emergency, this court continued without orders the past week. There is a dearth of litigation at this time of year at all times, as few cases are ever tried in July and August, and this has been no exception.

However, two cases were docketed the past week for adjudication in the 91st court. These are Jennie Elizabeth Tolbert vs. R. Tolbert, trespass to try title damages. Ollie Dulia vs. W. Dulia, Jr., divorce and custody of minor child.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE COUNTY COURT
Renamed Depository
The Commercial State bank of Anger has been redesignated county depository for Eastland county. It was the order of the commissioners court that the bank enter into a new pledge contract for pledging securities to indemnify the county against any possible loss of the funds of the county. The contract will provide for ample security for all county, school and trust funds.

Friendship Votes Tax
After canvassing the returns of the election in school precinct No. 20 (Friendship) for the purpose of supplementing the school fund apportionment by raising the tax from 20 cents to 50 cents on $100 valuation of property, the commissioners court found that the majority of the votes cast August 14 favored the increased tax declared the results accordingly. It was ordered that a levy of 50 cents on the $100 valuation of property in school district No. 20 be levied for the year of 1937.

Licensed to Marry
The following couples were issued licenses to marry by the county clerk during the past week:

Johnnie Roberts, Olden and Miss L. G. Tucker, Eastland.
John H. Shrader and Miss Bobbie Allen, Cisco route 4.
William Beal Cheatham and Miss Inez McGlothlin, Eastland.
James M. Chambers and Miss Ona Mae Richey, May.
Abel Calvert Butts, Marshall and May Ella Collier, col., Cisco.

W. O. Weeks and Miss Fannie Pearl Griffith, Ranger.

$54,772 in Pensions
The list of pensioners in Eastland county, according to the old age pension list on file in the county clerk's office for July was 942, being just six less than those on the list in June, the highest number since the enactment of the old age assistance law. June was also the peak month in the amount of pension money distributed in Eastland county, $13,924, against $13,841 paid in July, showing July payments to be just $83 less than the amount distributed in June. The payments for Dec., 1936, and Jan., Feb. and March 1937, are difficult to obtain, as only the amount paid by the state is shown on the lists filed, that allotted by the federal government is not shown. The months of April, May, June and July shows there was paid to the aged needy of Eastland county the sum of $54,772. Number of pensioners in April were 889; amount $13,157. In May there were 944, increase over April, 55; amount paid in May $13,850; increase, $693. June pensioners, 948; increase over May 4; amount paid, $13,924; increase over May, $64. July pensioners, 942; decrease under June, 6; amount paid $13,841; decrease under June, $83. It will be seen that the increases and decreases have been insignificant, showing, so far as Eastland county is an example, that both the number of pensioners and the amounts distributed appear practically settled to a staple basis.

Matters in Probate
The following probate matters have been disposed of in the probate court:

Ethel Lucile Pegues, guardian of Philip Thomas Pegues, minor, petition for a designated amount for educating and support of her ward. In this petition the guardian sets out that her ward is the beneficiary of the United States veterans' bureau of an allowance of $36 per month from October 12, 1936, to August 21, 1939, and an allowance of $12 per month from August 1939 to August 1931, and there has accumulated in the hands of this guardian, for the benefit of her ward, the sum of $346.89. The petitioner states that the interest on this amount, if invested, would be insufficient for the support and education of her ward, and in attending school the distance is too great for him to walk, therefore it is necessary for him to have a bicycle for his transportation to school. She shows in her petition that it will require at least $50 to purchase the bicycle and clothing to prepare her ward to enter school, and the further sum of $25 per month for his support and education. She requests the court to set a time for a hearing on this petition. At the same time a waiver of service of citation was filed by Eric Eads, attorney for the veterans' administration, agreeing to the hearing at the pleasure and convenience of the court.

Application of Zora Clark, daughter, to probate will of Mrs. Josie Atterberry, deceased, and that letters testamentary be issued to the applicant as administratrix of the estate for the purpose of settlement and distribution of the bequests of the testator.

S. E. Hittson, guardian of Jessie Lee Hittson, annual report.

In the matter of the estate of Mrs. Addie Stone, deceased. Agreement to take depositions without filling notice of intention to apply for commission, etc.

In the matter of the estate of J. R. Wood, deceased. Petition of Mrs. Rose Wood, surviving widow, to designate homestead. It appeared to the court that a permanent administrator was necessary to administer the estate, the temporary administration, heretofore naming Mrs. Minnie Hess administratrix was made permanent. Inventory of the estate as filed by J. W. Barnes, J. M. Searcy and A. G. Pool, showing value and kind of property of the estate and claims, including that of Mrs. Rose Wood for medical service for $78, paid for out of her separate property, were approved.

Leslie Threet, guardian of Mrs. Annie Threet, incompetent, bond to sell real estate of his ward filed and approved with John D. Isenhower and T. A. Graves, sureties, and sale of land confirmed.

T. E. Knight, guardian of Everett E. Harper, N. C. M., report of loan of funds of his ward, approved.

Mary Jackson, independent executrix, to probate will of J. S. Jackson, deceased, approved and will ordered probated and letters testamentary ordered issued. E. H. Hall, E. H. Boyett and F. J. Stubblefield named as appraisers, whose report was filed and approved.

In the matter of the estate of

Do you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination; backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?
Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

Two Crossings Over Katy Tracks Paved

Ernest L. Laird, section foreman for the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, has completed paving the two crossings of Highway 23 over the Katy tracks just north of Cisco.

Mr. Laird placed four section crews on these two jobs, rushing them to completion and presenting now a perfectly smooth, asphalt paved crossing for which heavy traffic over the route is grateful.

STAY IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD

BUT

STEP UP TO THE V-8 CLASS

WHEN you are asked to pay "Just a Few Dollars More" than Ford prices, go slow. Be sure you're actually getting more car and bigger value—and not just a bigger bill. It may be easy to spend more money, but it's not easy to get more car at anywhere near the same prices.

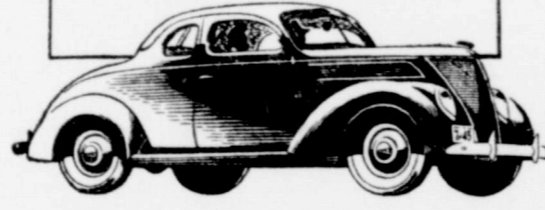

When you pay more, you should get performance at least as flashing as Ford performance. You should get at least an 8-cylinder engine. You should get positive brakes that will stop the car at least as quickly and smoothly as Ford brakes do. Will you get all these?

Will you get at least as much room? Most cars that boast a little longer wheelbase, waste space under the hood with a much longer engine. The Ford V-8 gives you room in the body where you can use it.

Check claims. Get facts. Make sure that any extra amount you plan to pay brings you corresponding extra value above the price of the Ford.

Finally, remember that the real reason why more than a million 1937 Ford V-8s have already been built is that America recognizes it as an outstanding car and the outstanding value for 1937.
