In an area of healthful, benevolent climate, at ideal altitude, blessed with an abundance of the purest, soft lake water, possessing the best in recreational facilities, situated on the Bankhead, all weather transcontinental route, with two railroads and many highways, Cisco is the best place in Texas to live and to work.

The Cisco Daily Press is the only home-owned and operated newspaper in Cisco, the official paper of the city, with guaranteed circulation built on service to its community, and a program dedicated to the building of Cisco in material and in spirit so that all may prosper and be happy in the best little city in Texas.

Off to School

Above, Joe Slicker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Slicker, and Crandall Jones, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones, two prominent members of the 1937 Cisco high school graduating class who are continuing their schooling this fall. Joe, who tied for most valuable boy in Cisco high school this year, plans to leave within the next few days for Texas A. and M. and Crandall left last week for New Mexico School of Mines.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The pictures of the two Cisco boys appearing above this column were printed from cuts made in the engraving department of the Cisco Daily Press. The other picture appearing on the front page of this paper as well as those of Miss Betty Fee Spears on the society page and of the football practise scenes elsewhere, were also printed from Daily Press engraving department cuts. The plant in which these cuts were made was installed in the Daily Press shop only about two months ago. A great deal of study and work, involving no little disappointment and even exasperation, occurred over those two months before the operators could master the art. But we felt it was worth it, to give Cisco people a newspaper that is up-to-date, ready with service instead of promises and dedicated to the belief that a newspaper ought to be something more than a printed sheet gotten out with as little work and expense as possible.

We do not present these pictures as the best of the engraver's art. As a matter of fact an experienced engraver could find plenty of fault with them. But we do believe that they are excellent for the time and experience involved and we

Fire Prevention To Be Observed October 3 To 9

Fire Marshall Pleased With Cisco's Record So Far This Year; If Remainder of Year Is Good Another Fire Reduction Expected

In cooperation with Governor Allred's recent proclamation setting October 3 to 9 as state-wide fire prevention week, Mayor J. T. Berry Saturday issued a proclamation that Cisco will observe fire prevention that week.

Mayor Berry, in issuing the proclamation, urged all civic and commercial organizations, school officials, and all other Ciscoans to cooperate with himself and Fire Marshall O. Gustafson, Fire Chief J. J. Collins and city officials in an effort to control loss from fire.

He asked that every home, office and business house be inspected carefully and all fire hazards removed.

Fire Marshall Gustafson said Saturday that he was well pleased with Cisco's fire record this year so far.

"If the record for the remainder of the year is as good as it has been so far, I'm sure we will be given another five per cent reduction in our fire insurance rate, bringing Cisco's fire reduction total to 20 per cent."

"However, no one can tell what may happen during the rest of the year," Mr. Gustafson added. "We realize that it is up to the people of Cisco and we are urging them to be careful."

Peaceful District Meeting Held in Breck on Friday

The usually loud district executive committee meeting, held this year at Breckenridge was a very peaceful one, Cisco school officials who attended reported Saturday.

At meeting, held Friday afternoon at the Burch hotel, it was decided that all bands and pep squads must be in uniform and will be admitted free—the same rule that governed those two groups last year.

It was also decided that all newspapers, school board members and their families, school superintendents and assistant superintendents and their families and all high school principals and their families will be given season passes to all Oil Belt football contests.

The same rules regarding officials were adopted for the coming season. Eligibility blanks were exchanged.

ITALY INVITED INTO PATROL

Powers Seek to Stop Sub Attacks

GENEVA, Sept. 11 (AP)—The nine power Mediterranean "anti-piracy" conference today formally invited Italy to participate in the international patrol to drive submarine attackers from the Mediterranean.

Britain and France threatened to indirectly police the Italy share of the Mediterranean should Premier Mussolini refuse the assignment.

Conference circles said Soviet Foreign Commissioner Litvinoff was willing for Italian warships to participate but "under no circumstances" would agree to admission of Germany.

JAPS, CHINESE IN IMPORTANT FIGHT OF WAR

Nippons at Yang Hong Retire After Hand to Hand Battling

SHANGHAI, Sept. 11 (AP)—A smashing drive inland from the Yangtze river today locked Japanese and Chinese forces in one of the most important battles of the war. Japanese troops pushed Chinese troops back to Yang Hong, four miles inland from the Woosung forts.

Upon reaching the city the attackers were forced to retire after hand to hand fighting with knives, swords and bayonets that a Chinese spokesman termed was a major engagement.

At the end of 24 hours of fighting the Japanese claimed an advance of two miles. Japanese headquarters announced the fall of Machang, 30 miles south of Tientsin, after a heavy battle.

WAR CLOUDS HAVE PEOPLE JITTERY SAYS ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt said at a press conference today that the far eastern and Mediterranean questions had the people jittery in financial circles in every home in every democratic country throughout the world.

Replying to the question whether he favored the nationalization of American railroads, he said he wanted them kept in private ownership and favored nationalization of American railroads as a last resort.

He said he wouldn't decide on a western trip until after returning to Washington next week.

A meeting to be attended by sponsors of WPA projects of this county and surrounding counties, a result of a request by Congressman Clyde Garrett that such a meeting be held, will be at the Eastland county courthouse in Eastland tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, it has been announced.

Representatives of the regional WPA office will also be present.

Garrett, acting on behalf of the Eastland county commissioners court, returned to Eastland Sunday and Monday wired State Administrator H. P. Garrett talked Thursday by telephone with Drought following the wire. Drought indicated that he will send his personal representatives Alton Bell and Major

ALL PUPILS REQUIRED TO BE PRESENT

Increased Attendance Expected in Cisco Schools This Year

Enrollment will begin in the Cisco public schools Monday morning at 9:30, Cisco School Superintendent R. N. Cluck announced Saturday.

All students will be required to bring their book cards and all new students must bring both their book and report cards, the school head reported.

"It is absolutely necessary that all students who expect to attend the Cisco schools this year be present at their school Monday morning to enroll, even if they have to drop out for the next few days," Mr. Cluck said.

New courses to be offered are a junior business training course to be offered in the eighth grade in place of ancient history and world history in the ninth grade instead of modern history.

Public School Music Public school music in high school will be given for the first time this year with orchestra instruction to be given with affiliated credits attached.

The Cisco school superintendent said that it was probable that public speaking will be offered in the sixth and seventh grades.

"I am expecting a big increase in enrollment this year and everything points to a big school year," Mr. Cluck said.

Eleven common school districts will send their students to Cisco schools this year.

Jim Eddleman, Former Ciscoan, Buried Saturday

Jim Eddleman was buried in Oakwood cemetery Saturday afternoon following services held at the First Methodist church with the Rev. Joe I. Patterson conducting.

Mr. Eddleman, pioneer ranchman and farmer of north of Cisco and former resident of Cisco, died Friday night in a Gorman hospital after an illness of two weeks.

The Rev. Cole Jackson of Moran assisted the Rev. Patterson in the funeral.

Mr. Eddleman was born in Summerville, Texas, on October 18, 1875, coming to Cisco in 1881. After dwelling here for a number of years he moved to Stephens county where he lived until his fatal illness. He was a prominent farmer and rancher of that county.

Pall bearers were Jonah Donovan, Bedford Mashburn, Harvey Woodriddle, Bob Mancill, Fred Grist and Burl Powell.

Jim Eddleman is survived by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Elmo Murch of Portales, N. M.; four sons, Warren, Cisco constable, and Guy, Kirby and Jack of Moran; two sisters, Mrs. Joe Wilson of Cisco and Mrs. Neal Turner of Fort Worth.

Mr. Eddleman, demonstrating his loyalty to Cisco during the boom days when buildings were so much in demand, builded the telephone building at E. avenue and W. 8th street, now occupied by Norvell & Miller which he later sold to the telephone company.

TO PREACH WEDNESDAY

The Rev. Ramsey Pollard, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church of Fort Worth, will preach Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church. The public is invited and all members are especially urged to attend.

the dark ships

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a young federal agent, quarrels with Janet, a comely Baltimore girl, because she won't break a date with Prescott Fanning. Neill suspects him of being a crook. To check up, he finds Fanning at his hotel bar and they get acquainted. Fanning dopes Neill's whiskey. Next day, Janet, Fanning and Prescott's yacht are gone. A mysterious phone call tells him Janet's in trouble at Absalom's Harbor. Neill rushes to the village and boards the yacht after dark. In a locked cabin he finds Fanning shot dead and Janet unharmed, but in a faint, a gun beside her. He rows her to the old liners taken from Germany.

Chapter 10 A Skiff Steals Up

Neill rowed softly on around the flotilla. The big ships lay side by side and staggered; that is to say, the first pointing downstream, the second upstream and so on. Each was double anchored at the bow, and further secured at the stern by steel cables running to groups of piles driven deep into the river bottom. There were no openings in the hulls, no protruberances to climb up by, no convenient ropes left dangling. The sheer bulk of the silent vessels was overpowering.

About 200 yards separated the inside vessel from the shore. This ship had a wooden stairway let down over her side with a platform at the bottom having several skiffs tied to it. Neill dared not use the stairway for if a watch was kept anywhere on board it would certainly be at the head of it. High above their heads there was a light showing in the captain's quarters on the bridge. All else was dark.

Neill rowed on until he had completed a full circuit of the ships. He saw that he could not climb aboard by the anchor chains. They disappeared into hawse-holes in the bows and from these holes there was no way of reaching the deck. His best bet appeared to be one of the steel cables on the third ship from the shore. This cable passed under the rail of the lower deck astern, an out-of-the-way part of the ship where no watchman was likely to be lurking.

"Will you stay in the skiff while I climb aboard?" he asked. "Can't I come with you?"

"You couldn't climb over this cable."

She drew a long breath to steady herself. "Very well, I will wait."

Neill tied the skiff to the bunch of piles and, divesting himself of jacket and boots, stood on the seat and sprang for the cable over his head, his legs kicking in the air. The way seemed endless and he slowed down more and more as his arms tired. It required a powerful effort of the will to cover the last few yards. Finally he was able to grasp the rail and drew himself up.

In Stocking Feet
He found himself on a little working deck aft, much cluttered with coiled hawsers and the steam steering gear of the vessel. In order to get forward he had to climb a ladder. This brought him to the upper promenade deck. It was an endless and ghostly promenade now, lined with dark windows that were like watching eyes. He tried every door that opened on deck, but all were locked. He crossed over to the outermost vessel.

Had anybody approached, there was no cover anywhere in the promenades, and he ascended by a deck ladder to the boat deck. Here, with the boats hanging from the davits, the ventilators and innumerable other objects, he had plenty of cover. In his stocking feet he went noiselessly from shadow to shadow.

This vessel was the largest of the four and from the boat deck he overlooked the other ships. He searched the decks for any glimmer of light that might reveal a watchman on his rounds. Nothing showed. The windows in the captain's quarters on the first ship were now as dark as the rest. The four great hulks lay under the stars like ships of the dead.

At the forward end of the boat deck he descended two ladders to the main deck, and explored as well as he was able in the dark. There was no sound except the endless gentle lapping of the water against the steel hulls. From this deck there was a wooden gangway over to the next vessel.

Returning to the promenade deck, Neill was able to search along the port side with his flashlight since he was hidden here both from the other ships and the shore. On a ring-buoy hanging from the rail he read her name: Abraham Lincoln. He saw several odd-shaped bundles against the wall and found to his joy that they were Jacob's ladders. A way of getting Janet safe aboard.

But first he felt he must satisfy himself as to how much watching was done aboard these ships at night. He crept across the gangway to the next ship and explored the deck, watching and listening, taking advantage of every bit of cover; then to the next, and finally to the last, the one nearest shore. He knew this vessel was inhabited.

She was of an older type of construction and had two promenades, upper and lower. From the lower deck, the stairway led down to the small boats. Neill crouched at the corner and, peeping around, stretched his ears to listen.

He heard a gentle snoring. He crept forward, pressing his body against the wall, pausing between each step to listen. Dimly he made out the shape of a deck chair before him with a man's body in it, relaxed. The watchman.

Another Skiff

Noiselessly he backed away around the corner, and made haste to return across the four decks joined by gangplanks. He figured that he could have Janet aboard in a few minutes, and certainly he would get no better opportunity than now while the watchman was taking a nap.

He unrolled the Jacob's ladder and, lashing the end to the rail, lowered it overboard. Stripping to his underclothes, he stuffed shirt and breeches behind the other ladders, and went overboard. At the bottom of the ladder he let himself noiselessly into the water, and struck out towards the spot where he had left the skiff.

When the little boat loomed before him a sudden fear gripped him because he couldn't see Janet's figure outlined against the night sky. The skiff seemed empty. He caught hold of the gunwale and pulled himself up. "Janet!"

She answered him from the bottom of the skiff in a scarcely audible voice: "Neill! . . . Oh, Neill!"

He hastily climbed in. "What's the matter, Jan? . . . I can't touch you because I'm dripping wet. Did anything happen?"

"Somebody is watching us!" she whispered.

"How could that be out here in the dark? What makes you think so?"

"I saw him, Neill. . . . Another skiff stole up. It came so quietly I didn't hear anything. I turned my head and there it was."

Meyer Refuses to Be Discouraged Over Frog Squad

FORT WORTH, Sept. 11. (Sp.)—Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian is supposed to be scared. On every hand sport fans are pointing out to him that he has the toughest schedule T. C. U. ever undertook—and no Sam Baugh.

Dutch acknowledges the truth of both statements, and still refuses to be discouraged.

"We've got a good bunch of boys," he says. "They have the right spirit and there's plenty of ability on the squad to carry us along to a right successful season."

"But how will you replace Baugh?" the fans demand.

"We won't," is Meyer's frank reply. "Ball players like Sam come along just once in a lifetime. We'll build a more diversified offense, but at that we'll have some boys who are pretty fair country passers themselves. Little Davey O'Brien can toss the pigskin, and so can two or three others."

Then the fans point out—"But the Frogs are notoriously slow starters, and you've got to go up against Ohio State in your first September game!"

"Well, we're just going to start a little sooner this year," is Meyer's answer to this one. "We had a real spring workout, not just going through the motions. Most of the boys reported in top condition and we started off with progress farther advanced than usual."

Since T. C. U. class work does not begin until Monday, the Frogs are on a three-day schedule through this first week. Two-hour sessions are held on the practice field at 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. Immediately following lunch an hour or so is devoted to skull practice.

Meyer is placing special accent on the skull sessions. He has detailed charts of all the plays his charges will use and is insisting on every man being letter-perfect on assignments.

"Every man bring notebook and pencil," the coach ordered. "We might even have an examination or two."

Indications are that the Frogs' starting line-up will average a little better than 200 pounds in the line and something like 175 pounds in the backfield.

Plant Smaller Shrubs in Front Of Large Ones

This is the third in a series of articles appearing in the Cisco Daily Press and written by J. B. F. Wright.

By J. B. F. WRIGHT
In planting your trees and shrubs there are many ways to arrange your planting so that it will look good and be in line with good landscape ideas. One rule will always stand good: don't plant your smaller shrubs behind the tall ones and always plant the dwarfed ones out in front of the taller ones so they can all be seen and all can get the sunshine together. A variety is recommended and space them off if possible an even distance apart and don't crowd them. Just figure the same amount of room for them as they had before they were transplanted.

The landscaper's most common error is not giving them enough room to develop. Most people plant hedges, that have such a large root formation, too thick any way. Two or three feet apart is plenty close to plant hedges so that their tops will spread and develop as quickly and more perfectly than if crowded too much.

For hedges, dig a trench and set them in so that they will have a water basin because it is very necessary to have a trench to water your hedge. Always dig your holes for all other trees and shrubs large enough so you can spread out the roots so they can develop and don't just wad them up in a hole half large enough and expect them to adjust themselves. If this is done they will become what we call root bound and when the dry hot summer time comes they will likely die.

It is advisable to trim the roots if they are extra long so you can plant them as they should be. Spread the roots out so they will get a good start (this is very essential). Plant them 2 or 3 inches deeper than they show to have been planted in the nursery rows; fill the hole about three-fourths full of soil and then run water in the hole until the soil is well soaked. Finish filling in with soil, pulling it up around the tree in cave fashion. Leave a basin for watering around the tree. Another important thing to do is to cut back all exposed roots of the trees and shrubs; this insures the life of the plant and makes for a better top-growth.

Southern Beetle Infests Pine Forests

WILBURTON, Okla., Sept. 11. (AP)—A tiny beetle which feeds only on pine trees and thrives in drouth seasons is threatening destruction of 15,000 trees in the Robbers' Cave state park near here.

Officials of the National Park service said more than 1,000 trees—some of them over 50 years old—had been removed since the infestation began.

The voracious insect is the southern pine beetle, which is capable of killing pine trees of all ages and all species. It attacks the middle to upper portions of trees and destroys the soft inner bark through which the trees obtain nourishment.

The community programs will be free. Performers will be seen on a platform which will be placed at the position where home plate corresponds during the ball games. A concert by the Eastland high school band, led by its new director, J. H. Gain, will be a feature of the program.

Several communities in the county have already promised programs for the entertaining.

Another Friday night feature of the fair will be square dancing and old fiddlers' contest directed by Claud Maynard of Eastland. Friday afternoon a radio will be staged on North Seaman street, directed by Carl Johnson. Beginning at 1:30 the rodeo will conclude in time for persons to attend a football game between the Eastland and Brownwood high school teams.

Boxing contests are slated for Saturday, the night on which Ranger is to present a program. The Great Yellowstone Shows, a carnival, will be at Eastland all through the fair and the previous three days. Fair association is to receive a percentage of the gross intake.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.—Phil. iv. 7.

Remember:

No creature of God's too lowly
To murmur peace and praise:
So leave thy sick heart's fancies,
And lend thy voice
To the silver song of glory,
That bids the world rejoice.

Calling the Bluff

A great deal of the well-known bluster has fulminated from the strongholds of Europe's current crop of dictators, but it appears now that some of this bluster is being pretty effectively called, to speak colloquially. The "piracy" crisis, for instance, in which several of the democratic powers of Europe, led by Great Britain and France, have joined to protect their neutral shipping in the Mediterranean, has demonstrated that these powers recognize a limit on their endurance. Probably their concerted action to put to a stop to this bullying of commerce will inspire a considerable caution on the part of those who seek to cut off supplies from the Spanish loyalist government by preventing ships from reaching the loyalist ports, and thereby avert any serious incident arising over the sinking of a submarine caught in the act of "piracy." But it is just as certain that the guns of these indignant powers are unmasked for some drastic action. And it is high time.

Why the Opposition?

WE may be forgiven for dumbness, but it has never yet been made quite clear to us upon just what basis some few west Texas communities are opposing the Trinity canalization project. The underlying reason seems to be an impractical community jealousy. In other words, some leaders in the more ambitious centers off the route of the proposed canal fear that those on the route will receive a discriminatory advantage in transportation rates. From a practical standpoint this fear does not appear well-founded. Pardon our bluntness, but we do not believe that the Trinity river will ever be made into a major canal, or into any water route whose commerce will in any wise compare with the volume of commerce that moves into and out of the area affected. But we do believe that as a stimulus to trade and development in west Texas the proposed canalization project will be a factor of major consequence. And we do not believe that the discrimination feared will be any greater than at present exists by reason of certain natural advantages of location and resources. The influence of a water route into the very heart of Texas cannot be overestimated. Its effect upon the current transportation rate structure will be of as much benefit to one community, proportionately, as to another.

Shortsighted Trading

REPORTED discoveries of rich gold and quicksilver ore in the Chisos mountains of the Big Bend may change the complexion of the movement to deed an enormous tract of land to the federal government for the establishment of a park. The state school fund would receive half the minerals recovered. The question now is whether or not the state has lost title to the land by reason of the resolution which the legislature passed offering it to the federal government for inclusion in a Big Bend National park. However, it is not on record that the government has formally accepted the offer.

IT is certainly a dubious procedure in the state's interest to deed to the government such a great body of state-owned land, or land on which the state holds the mineral rights, in view of the fact that so much of mineral wealth has been discovered on Texas public lands which once were regarded as of little value. The income that has accrued to Texas from the exploitation of oil resources discovered on school land in west Texas has given the cause of public education in this state an endowment of magnificent proportions. This financial support could not have been obtained through the ordinary means of taxation alone available to many states. And the endowment is increasing. When Texas joined the union it was particularly careful to keep title to its public lands. To dispose of them now under such circumstances is to undo, piecemeal but effectively, the wise precautions of the fathers. It appears to us to be just as foolish a procedure as was that of Esau in selling to Isaac for a mess of pottage the birthright of his inheritance.

stitutional requirements, and is gradually working itself out.

General Fund Problem

That leaves the general fund as a source of worry for the legislature. One of the best fiscal experts in Texas, whose past record stands up remarkably in contrast to those of the political estimators who have an ax to grind, has compiled a careful study of the general fund situation, which this column believes to be reliable. At least, it is a dispassionate study of the actual figures, without any political purpose to serve. This authority estimates the general fund deficit, at the close of this biennium, after paying the $22,000,000 hike in appropriations which the regular session of the 45th legislature so generously dealt out, will be $14,000,000.

Two alternatives are suggested by this expert. He points out that the general fund is now paying out approximately $5,000,000 per biennium on the "bread bonds," issued for relief purposes during the depth of the depression, and that this entire $20,000,000 bond issue will be retired within five years after the end of the current biennium. If taxes are raised now, he points out, it is extremely unlikely that they will be lowered again when the general fund is relieved of the bond payment burden. Therefore, he suggests letting the deficit "ride" as a brake on future expenditures.

State Debt Is Low

It has been frequently pointed out that Texas follows a policy of paying for all capital expenditures out of its general fund. This policy of financial permanent improvements from current revenues has resulted in a net per capita debt of the state government in Texas of $3.26 for general governmental purposes, and none for state highway purposes, whereas in Arkansas, the net state per capita debt is $82.36, while the per capita highway debt totals another $70.04. In Louisiana the per capita state debt is $51.40, and the highway debt $40.52 per capita. Over half the states in the union have a state per capita debt of $20 or more, while only 15 states have avoided highway debts.

The policy of paying cash for permanent improvements may be a very good one, but in Texas it has given politicians the excuse continuously to increase taxes. Thus, if the state decides to build a hospital, for instance, at a cost of $2,000,000, the legislature makes the appropriation from the general fund, which becomes overdrawn to that extent. Then the politicians raise a hue and cry to "wipe out the deficit" by upping taxes. When it is wiped out the next legislature, seeing that the state is on a cash basis once more, becomes liberal with appropriations, and another deficit ensues. Then the cry goes up for more taxes, and the vicious circle continues ad infinitum.

Must End Somewhere

During the three-year period beginning in 1936, Texas taxpayers will have assumed about $40,000,000 in additional state taxes. They must also pay out about $75,000,000 in new federal social security taxes during this period, making about $115,000,000 of new taxes for which they must foot the bill, not counting other increased federal and local levies. There is a limit to what the peo-

Three Paths To Empire In China

By The AP Feature Service

Vast and populous China has few really vital centers—places where an invading army might strike a death blow.

Yet there are three broad highways to the political and economic heart of Cathay. On two of them, Japan already has set foot. And now she seems to be heading for the third.

Observers see in these military thrusts Japan's desire to control the Far East's markets, with Japanese goods and Japanese-taxed foreign merchandise routed through the Island Empire instead of Chinese ports.

A glance at the map tells the story. 1—Peiping, once the stronghold of the Manchus, is dangerously close to the border of Manchoukuo, the puppet state created by Japan. And Peiping, with its traditions of power and its hold on converging railroads, is tremendously important in trade and politics.

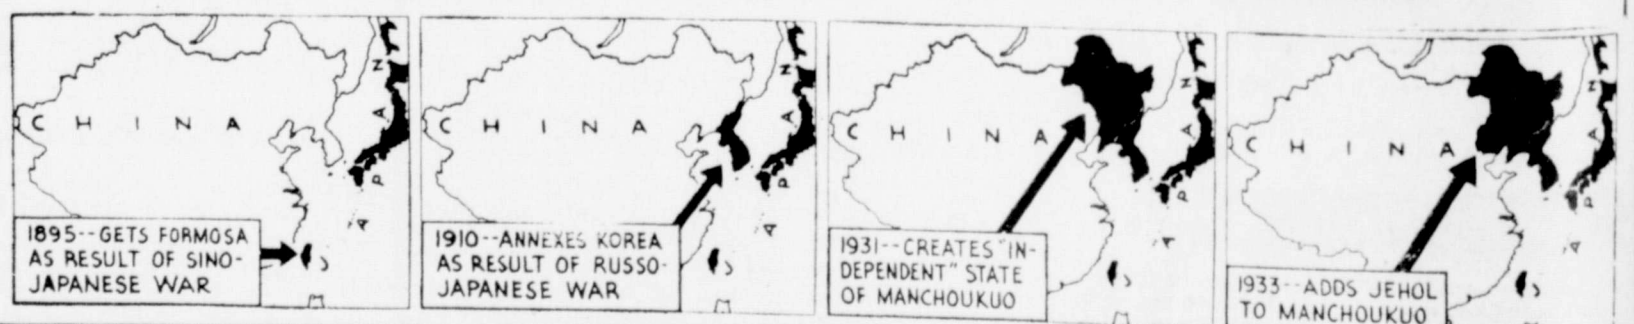

So Japan struck at Peiping, cutting its railroad lines, and occupying the city. Beyond Peiping lies rich Shansi province with its coal, iron, cotton and silk, which Japan needs. Its population numbers 12,000,000.

2—In the 16th century, the people of Hu-tsen, near where Shanghai now stands, were harassed by Japanese marauders. Again, in the 20th century, native villages of the Shanghai area are feeling the thrust of Japanese military might.

Shanghai, a city of 3,250,000 population, is the sixth largest in the world and the richest trade center of the Far East. Its commercial importance is indicated by the fact that American property there is valued at $100,000,000. The Yangtze river gives Shanghai a channel for transporting its flood of goods to the interior. In its port, fronting the ocean, dock cargo ships from all over the world.

3—Kwangtung—the "Broad East"—province is a great plumb, so far as Japanese desire to dominate the Asiatic mainland is concerned. Canton is the capital of this 100,000-square-mile territory and the area around it produces rice, silk, sugar, indigo, tobacco, tea, oil plants and fruit. After having evacuated her own nationals Japan has sent bombing planes over Canton, terrorizing the populace. And Canton is only 100 miles from British-dominated Hongkong.

How Japan Has Penetrated The Asiatic Mainland

ple can pay. Many believe that limit is rapidly being approached.

"Organizers" Are Busy

Just before a legislative session is open season for the boys who want to "organize" some group of citizens. Within recent weeks letters have been sent out to two groups, asking for subscriptions, and promising legislative results, and to put it mildly, extravagant. One such letter was sent to dealers in electric appliances, requesting that each rush $10 to a self-appointed president of the "Independent Appliance Dealers' Association" at Tyler. About all the organizer promises is "a flood of letters to members of the legislature" urging a law to prohibit utility companies from selling appliances. Such a bill was decisively killed by the present legislature at the last session, and there is no encouraging prospect that such a bill would pass, even if it should be submitted, which it probably won't.

Another organizer has sent letters to merchants and others operating trucks, seeking donations of $250 each to support a movement to raise the load limit on trucks. Similar legislation was also killed in the regular session, as it has been in numerous previous sessions.

Most of the effective lobbying in Austin is done by men whose services are sought out—and very little of it by the boys who send out circular letters for donations.

Bills of exchange and promissory notes in Great Britain and Ireland are payable on the preceding business day when the last day of grace falls on Christmas or Good Friday.

When Edgar Allan Poe reviewed books, he often included disparaging remarks about the authors' characters.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

Houses are still built with sitting rooms, of course. The facilities are still there. But, I'll declare, I don't know what's the use. Who sits there any more unless it is just to take his turn with the rest of the family, the rest usually being out on business, entertainment, or habit. Modern life is not favorable to home life. How is one going to adapt to present hustle the admonition of Moses concerning the words of their law, "talking of them when you sit in your house?"

And yet perhaps there is enough of the family circle idea left to save us. The effect of fireside is beyond estimate for social welfare and personal salvation. Up to a certain age children receive with confidence the words of their parents. Therefore, the eternal principles of right that are picked up while sitting in the house can hardly be entirely lost. There is time for question and answer, time and food for thought. God was thus using a common part of a primary institution, the home, to perpetuate His law and to construct society.

As to the force such teaching has on youth it is derived partly from the influence of memory. Not many normal individuals but are susceptible to the solemnizing effect of memories. Ties that bind to home folk are never quite broken; therefore they serve as continual anchors to youth. The admonition to talk of these things in the home was faithfully carried out in Israel. History may never reveal the full results.

Baylor U. Advance Ticket Sale Begins

WACO, Sept. 11.—Advance ticket sale for the Baylor university home football games began in the Publications building office of Calvin D. Newton, ticket manager, Monday.

Baylor plays four home games here this season—opening with Southwestern university, Georgetown, on Sept. 25; University of Arkansas, Oct. 9; Texas Christian on Oct. 30, and the University of Texas on Nov. 6. Bears play their first inter-sectional game since 1930 when they met Loyola of Los Angeles in Beaumont on Nov. 20. This game, handled by a young business man's league in that city, is attracting wide attention in that section of the state.

Rye Planted in '35 Sprouts This Year

VALENTINE, Neb. Sept. 11. (AP)—It may take time to raise a crop on the Pine Ridges reservation, but it can be done.

Henry Krauss planted some rye in 1935, but hail beat it to the ground before it got a good start. It was so dry in 1936 it failed to sprout.

This year it finally made the grade. Krauss reported a yield of about seven bushels per acre.

CORN CROP CUT WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Drouth conditions in the western corn belt slashed about 100,000,000 bushels from the anticipated 1937 corn crop in August, the agriculture department reported Friday.

When it is realized that no newspaper in all this section of the country, outside of Abilene, has an engraving department, it can be understood what advance on the part of the Cisco Daily Press this means.

We are of the opinion that newspapers, to keep step with progress, must print pictures, particularly local pictures. The large dailies of the state are featuring more and more the pictorial art. With their skilled workmen and highly efficient plants and with the money they can reasonably invest in picture services, they have the local newspaper at a great disadvantage when it comes to printing general art.

The engraving plant of the Cisco Press is one of the best of those built to serve the smaller newspaper, amply large to take care of the needs of a newspaper in a town many times the size of Cisco.

It is not the plant which is the most important thing, but the skill of the workmen, for photo-engraving is not a strictly mechanical process, although good equipment and good materials are absolutely essential to its success.

We have refrained from saying anything officially about this plant because we wanted first to be able to do good work consistently. We now feel that we have progressed to a point where we can promise this sort of service. Naturally, the quality of the engravings will vary. It is not possible to make a better cut than the picture from which it is made, so whenever a dim or indistinct cut appears in the Press you may know that the "copy" from which we worked was poor in detail or not well-suited to engraving purposes.

We should be glad for our readers and advertisers to call at the Daily Press office and inspect this equipment. Better, still, if they have pictures of local interest from which they should like to have cuts made, we should be glad to use them in the Press, returning the pictures when we have finished with them.

We earnestly hope that this new service will please you. It has been installed with the single thought in mind of making the Cisco Daily Press a daily newspaper that will render a greater service to Cisco both in stimulating community development from within and in advertising Cisco abroad.

Daily July Crude Production Is 3,571,600 Bbls.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The bureau of mines reported Friday the daily average production of crude oil in July was 3,571,600 barrels, an increase of 44,500 barrels above the June average but slightly below that of May.

Most major producing areas in Texas showed increases in July but the state's daily average of 1,415,700 barrels was 15,000 barrels below May's record average.

The East Texas field increased from 468,200 barrels daily in June to 473,700 barrels in July.

The bureau said individual fields which had established themselves as of major importance included Talco, Texas, and Lisbon, La.

Gasoline production continued to decline, the bureau reported, in favor of gas, oil and distillates.

Indicted domestic demand for motor fuel in July was set at 50,929,000 barrels, 9 per cent more than a year ago.

Motor fuel exports exceeded estimates but declined to 2,962,000 barrels in July from approximately 3,000,000 barrels in June.

Finished and unfinished gasoline stocks on July 31 were 70,120,000 barrels, an increase over the 62,440,000 barrels of a year ago.

Both light and heavy fuel oil stocks increased about 3,000,000 barrels.

Bureau of labor statistics showed the price index for petroleum products in July was 61.3 compared with 61.5 in June and 59.1 in July a year ago.

A new record was established in July for crude oil runs to stills.

Daily average runs to stills for July totalled 3,380,000 barrels, an increase of 69,000 barrels above the June average and 422,000 barrels of 14 per cent above the July, 1936 average.

Stocks of crude at refineries which had shown an increase in June declined from 56,666,000 barrels on July 1 to 56,040,000 on July 31.

Radio Program Is Popular in Barnyard

PORTLAND, Ind., Sept. 11. (AP)—Farmer Joe Bryan twirls a radio dial and gets more milk.

Cisco Loboes in Action

In the lower left Vernon Steyer, letterman halfback and one of Cisco's best prospects this year, is starting around left end after faking the ball to one of his teammates. Robert Cone is coming to make the tackle. Coach J. T. Petty in the righthand corner of the picture, is looking on intently.

In the lower right shot Curtis Yancey is shown giving one of the boys his stiff arm after taking the ball from Steyer and plowing through a nice hole in the line. Yancey is also expected to be one of the mainstays in the Lobo backfield after he becomes eligible in October.

A Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Probably one of the things President Roosevelt didn't think about when he appointed Hugo Black to the supreme court was that Tom Heflin would try to succeed Black in the senate.

The people outside Alabama who don't know former Senator Heflin could be counted in millions. But in his home state Heflin's pecan-shaped figure, reddish hair and smooth-fitting, buff-colored shoes are recognized at every cross-roads.

Likely he has told a rip-roaring story at each crossing, accompanied by a booming laugh that rattled the audience off the fence rails. A man who spent 16 years in the house and 10 in the senate should be able to think of something funny at almost any moment.

Heflin, the Pope-Baiter

Heflin was elected to the senate and soon thereafter won himself a kettleful of fame by attacking the Pope as a menace to peace in America. The Pope, said Heflin, was trying to get the United States to punish Mexico for roughing up the catholic clergy down there.

He rode this hobby-horse in and out of the senate. Although few besides Heflin ever took it very seriously, he carried it so far as to bolt the Al Smith ticket in 1928.

In 1930 a Bankhead father-son cycle was completed after a 10 year interruption by Heflin. The great foe of the Pope had been elected to the senate in 1920 to succeed John H. Bankhead, father of the present congressional Bankheads, the speaker of the house and the senator. Speaker William Bankhead had been in congress several years before his elder brother polished off Heflin in the 1930 primary and so put another John H. Bankhead in the senate.

His New Deal Job

Hard times then came upon Heflin. Few politicians, especially the senatorial kind, amass real fortunes from politics; and Heflin was not one of those. He was in and out of Washington much of the time, and by 1935 had forgotten his anti-Papal fervor and was glad of a few months work under the new deal. He became speaker extraordinary and ballyhooer plenipotentiary for the Atlanta district of the federal housing administration—at less than half his senatorial salary.

From time to time he breezed out on the senate floor in his fawn-colored suit, looking like a wood-cut from a Civil war issue of Leslie's Weekly. During one of Huey Long's rampages in the sen-

Birds Blamed For Wrong Numbers

ELGIN, Ill., Sept. 11. (AP)—The telephone girls have a new alibi for giving wrong numbers—it's the birds.

They said blackbirds and sparrows set up such a din in a tree outside the exchange that they (the girls, of course) could not hear the numbers correctly.

Ordinary shoeing methods failed, so city firemen installed an auto horn in the tree and sounded it at intervals day and night until the birds got tired of it and moved away.

Moving Targets Easier to Hit

CASPER, Wyo., Sept. 11. (AP)—A target on the run, such as a coyote loping across the prairie, is the best kind of a mark for hunters of the United States biological survey.

That fact was discovered when the hunters met in convention and held a rifle match. Ninety per cent of them could hit a moving target more frequently than a stationary object.

ate, Heflin confided to news men that he would give his sartorially splendid left foot for an opportunity to go to bat in debate against the "Kingfish."

Heflin now says he will stump Alabama from end to end for the senate on a phrase he invented two years ago when Roosevelt appointed him Atlanta speaker for the housing administration: "Roosevelt has destroyed the power to create a panic."

As Heflin explained it to us, it sounded just a little vague. But he was never one to be bothered by details. After all, the slogan is one for Alabama to digest.

122 Texas School Structures Built By WPA Workers

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 11.—One hundred and twenty-two school structures, accommodating 30,000 students, have been constructed by WPA workers in Texas, it has been reported by E. A. Baugh, state director of operations for the federal agency.

Operated at a federal cost of $973,227, to which local governmental agencies have added $664,710, the WPA school building program includes 99 buildings ready for occupancy and 23 which are nearing completion.

Among the newly-constructed buildings are 47 class room structures, 21 additions to existing buildings, 49 gymnasiums and auditoriums, five home economics buildings, five stadiums and athletic plants and six miscellaneous buildings.

Sponsors in the Dallas WPA district with 23 buildings which cost $304,615 lead other sections of the state in this type of construction. Other WPA districts include: Marshall, 17 buildings, $147,327; Houston, 8 buildings, $125,726; Fort Worth, 17 buildings, $276,726; Waco, 12 buildings, $79,394; Austin, 6 buildings, $220,846; San Antonio, 14 buildings, $206,661; Laredo, 3 buildings, $84,267; Amarillo, 5 buildings, $15,253; Lubbock, 4 buildings, $15,761; San Angelo, 7 buildings, $81,230; El Paso, 6 buildings, $70,105.

These figures involve only new construction and do not include the hundreds of school repair and landscaping projects undertaken by the WPA in Texas, Baugh said.

BETTER COTTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—Government cotton experts reported today that 65 per cent of the cotton classed this week was white, middling and better in grade and 94 per cent was longer than seven-eighths staple.

The English residents of Delhi, India, were massacred en masse in 1857.

Deer Causes Pa In Resort Town

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP)—Citizens of this town scurried for cover when a large eight-point buck fled, leaving a trail of blood behind.

The deer hurdled a table in the business district, rowly missed a plate down in a store and dashed the front door of a restaurant, smashing the glass.

The French monarchs gave way to the first public in 1791.

AN ENGLISHMAN of a noble family, who lately had come into an inheritance, was telling a friend in his club what he expected to do with the legacy.

"I shall go to Australia," he stated. "Wonderful country to grow up in and all that sort of thing. I've arranged to buy 10,000 acres of grazing land out there and 5,000 head of sheep. Jolly—eh, what?—to sit and watch all those ba-bas trotting about the place and to think of what joy I shall have out of them as the years roll on." "My word, yes," agreed his chum. "Think of all the wool you'll get!" "Bother the bally wool," said the legatee. "I'm thinking of the lamb chops!" (American News Features, Inc.)

One of Those Household Words

By IRVIN S. COBB

AFTER Julia Ward Howe died, a memorial service was held for her in a city on the Pacific Coast. The members of the local literary group attended in a body to pay a tribute to America's most brilliant poetess. The committee in charge of the affair asked a municipal official to preside. Now, the person chosen for this honor was a highly successful politician and he knew about book-makers but not much about books. At the proper hour, he advanced to the front of the platform to inaugurate the exercises and introduce the chosen eulogist. Before the audience, which was large, he bowed low and spoke as follows: "Your bein' here today, ladies and gents, in such large numbers shows the appreciation our great city has for good readin'. This gathering is a magnificent testimonial to the memory of a person whose familiar name is a household word in every home. I refer to the immortal author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin"—the late Julius Ward Howard."

In some sections crops counted on to feed Japan's soldiers in China was swept away. Near Nikko, southwest of Tokio, a landslide buried 15 men. At least a score more were known killed in other sections.

Two schools collapsed at Kochi on Shikoku island, killing three boys and injuring three. Railroads and bridges were washed out as the tidal wave rose to 25 feet in some sections. Six hundred houses were inundated at Osaka and 500 at Kobe. The catastrophe struck at shipping in the inland and at sea.

Advices Resecuring Constitution Moorings

DALLAS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Representative Hatton Summers today advised Americans to "step out of the parade of hero worshippers and resecure their moorings to the constitution."

He told the Dallas bar association that the American public today "was the most unfit generation of history to face and solve the problems confronting it."

He said "there has been no moral government since the president took office. Congress practically abdicated its powers to follow his leader."

GARWOOD, Sept. 11 (AP)—Two unmasked gunmen locked Mrs. Edith Hopkins, cashier, and two customers in the back room of the Gorwood state bank today and escaped with $915.

The cashier told Colorado county officers that the men overlooked an undetermined amount of cash in the vault. Mrs. Hopkins said the men were between 35 and 40. One wore dark glasses and the other a patch on his nose.

The mayor and fire marshal said a city is judged largely by its general appearance of cleanliness, and beauty and that fire to a very large degree can be prevented by the proper application of education in fire prevention and protection.

A Proclamation

KNOW ALL MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN BY THESE PRESENTS:

That, Whereas the health, happiness, life and safety and general welfare of each citizen are dependent upon existing living conditions, and

Whereas, the lives and property of our people are endangered by fire caused by rubbish accumulations in homes, offices, stores, factories, alleys and streets, and

Whereas, a city is judged largely by its general appearance of cleanliness, freshness and beauty, and

Whereas, fire to a very large degree is preventable by the proper application of education in fire prevention and fire protection;

Now, Therefore, I, J. T. Berry, mayor of the city of Cisco, do hereby proclaim the week of October 3 to 9 as Fire Prevention Week, during which week I most respectfully urge our civic and commercial organizations, our school officials and teachers, and our citizenship as a whole, to cooperate and work with the fire chief, fire marshal and city officials in an effort to control this useless loss of life and property by fire. Every home, office and place of business should be inspected carefully and all fire hazards removed.

In Testimony Whereof, I hereunto sign my name and affix my seal of office on this eleventh day of September, A. D. 1937.

Karl E. Wallace of the Fort Office of the WPA.

The chief obstacle with which the Eastland commissioners court has to contend in financing its share of WPA projects is the reduction in truck hire allowances. This, it was said, makes it practically impossible for the county in its present financial straits, to prosecute the work projects it is sponsoring, particularly the construction of lateral roads. The court is asking that the regulations applying on January 1, under which $5 per man per month was allowed for truck hire, be reestablished.

Sponsors of projects in Eastland county and surrounding counties are now being notified by the Eastland court to send representatives to the meeting Monday.
