2,000 Chinese Killed, Injured in Bombing

DEATH RAINED ON CANTON BY JAP AVIATORS

Anxiety Is Felt for Safety of Five Americans

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23 (AP)—Two thousand Chinese, most of them refugees, were estimated killed or injured in the two-day Japanese aerial bombardment of Canton.

Thousands roamed the streets, bewildered and almost deranged with anguish and terror.

The Japanese said the third army shattered the Chinese defense line north of Paotingfu, and had driven the Chinese back within a mile of their strategic base eighty miles south of Peiping.

The Japanese also claimed that they destroyed 66 Chinese planes in raids on Nanking and Canton.

In Geneva it was understood that Great Britain was planning to invoke the Washington pact, guaranteeing China's territorial integrity, as a last resort to bring the Japanese to the international conference to stop war.

Lobos Improve in Hard Practice Grind This Week

The Lobos are still hard at it, and their work is beginning to show results as each practice session presents a smoother running and harder charging team.

"If we can teach the boys the fundamentals of the game, such as blocking and tackling and help them to get their plays in mind, we won't worry about the finer points of the game as that will come later," the coaches said after their first game.

Several of the first year lads, have shown great promise in the practice sessions and are sure to see plenty of service this season.

Little Coy Warren, diminutive back, has been showing some of the larger boys "how its done" and is expected to make a regular before the season is over.

Coy is growing fast and has several more years of football after this one.

Troy Stewart, whose first year merited him a letter, is again starring at center this year.

Peanut Growers to Meet on Saturday

Elmo V. Cook, county agent, announced today that a mass meeting of all interested peanut growers in Eastland county will be held in the 91st district court room, on Saturday, September 25th at 8 p. m.

The purpose of this meeting, he said, is for a discussion of the peanut market and what the Southwestern peanut growers are doing to improve the market.

W. B. Starr, president of the Southwestern Peanut Growers association will lead the discussion.

This meeting will further the steps already taken by peanut growers of this section to improve the industry for the betterment of all concerned.

The Southwestern Peanut Growers association, just recently formed, has already done a great work in the short time that it has been active by pushing plans for warehouses at convenient locations for the storage of crops raised by surrounding farmers, Cook said.

Mr. Cook urged that all interested in peanut growing attend this meeting, if at all possible.

PUBLIC STAKE IN INDUSTRY IS PRESENTED

Already Bearing Rate to Absorb Share of Increase, Said

Resolutions setting forth the case of the independent oil operator with reference to a proposed increase in the gross production tax and calling the public's attention to its industrial stake in the welfare of the industry are in process of preparation as the result of a meeting of the directors of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas association here last night.

The meeting, attended by 50 or 60 operators, most of them directors of the association, was held at the Cisco Country club at the call of J. C. Hunter of Abilene, president.

It had been postponed from previous setting out of respect to Charles J. Kleiner of Cisco, who lost his wife and son in an highway tragedy, and Mr. Kleiner expressed his appreciation of this gesture of respect in a few words of thanks.

F. D. Wright, Cisco attorney, welcomed the operators.

Two sessions were held. One a business session beginning at 5 o'clock and the second a barbecue dinner followed by a round table discussion.

Speakers Among the speakers were Geo. Gibbons, Dallas, executive vice-president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association; Luther Bellevue, regional supervisor for the Texas Railroad commission; Andrew Howsley, Albany attorney; John Kelley, special representative of the Mid-Continent in anti-trust work in this region.

"It is not our purpose," Judge Hunter told the operators at the afternoon session, "to argue whether or not the state of Texas needs $15,000,000 more in taxes. That is the business of others better informed on that question."

Believing that west Texans have an opportunity to "cash in" on a national contest, the West Texas Utilities company yesterday invited all Cisco citizens to participate in a $40,000 contest on the "electrical standard of living."

The company will cooperate with a national firm in distribution of two grand prizes and 10 prizes each worth $200 each week for 10 weeks. Mr. Russell, local manager, announced. Entry blanks may be secured at the local office, he said.

"All you have to do is write 100 words on why the electrical way of living appeals to you," he said. "Although similar to our recent contest for a new name for women, in which Neoelectress was chosen as a substitute for housewife, there is no connection."

"In this new contest, the grand prize will be a $12,000 all-electric home. Second prize is an $8,000 home. Winners of these two prizes will be chosen from winners of weekly prizes. The contest will last 10 weeks, beginning at once. Both men and women may enter, sending in entries each week."

Entries must be made on the official entry blank, he said, which gives all details and instructions. The entry blank may be obtained by request at the office here.

SYNOPSIS: When flashy Preston Fanning abducts Janet from Baltimore on his yacht, she gets word to Neill, a young federal agent who loves her. Dashing to Absalom's Harbor, he boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her nearby in a disused liner. Back at the village, he sees queer little David Eyster who hated Fanning. Neill offers to help Mark Boninger, keen local investigator. They confer with Lawyer Kettering of Baltimore. Then Neill sneaks food and clothes to Janet.

The Packet of $5 Bills
"Have you had your supper?" Neill asked.
"No. I was waiting for you," Janet said.
"I'm not going to touch any of this food. Every crumb's for you."
"I'm not hungry now."
"Sit down and I'll feed you."
And feed her he did, mouthful by mouthful like a bird.
When she protested that she could swallow no more, Neill said she needed exercise. Taking the flashlight, they started for a prow around the ship. The silence of the long passages laid a kind of spell on them. Janet's hand stole inside Neill's and they spoke in whispers.

On B deck above, they passed through a series of immense public rooms—palm garden, lounge and smoking room—all lavishly gilded and decorated with paintings. The movable furniture had been taken away, but the carpets were still on the floors and the built-in settees around the wall. The flashlight, wherever it was turned, revealed circles of dusty magnificence. And so empty!
"Imagine this scene with the lights turned on, the orchestra playing and the passengers dancing," murmured Janet.
"Sure," said Neill, "and imagine it in a storm with the ship rolling like a barrel and the passengers seasick."
She laughed. It was good to him to hear her laugh.
The most attractive room was the restaurant up on the boat deck.

"This is where the champagne corps popped," said Neill.
They went down flight after flight of stairs to E deck, because Neill wanted another piece of rope and a bucket out of the galley. Back again in the royal suite, he showed her how to lower the bucket out of the window when she wanted water for washing.
Afterwards they sat pressed close together on the sofa, smoking comfortably while Neill gave her an account of the happenings of the day. He left out what he thought would distress her too much.
"Well, what are we going to do?" Janet asked.
"You had better stay here a couple of days longer if you can stick it out."
"The worst is over now. I can stand it."
"By then the first crazy excitement ought to have died down."
"And then what?"
And then what? he asked himself. However, he wasn't going to let her see that he was at a loss. "I'll arrange to have a car waiting for us across the river," he said confidently. "They are watching this side too close."

"How will you get a car?"
"I'll go up to town. I know a man who will help us."
Plenty of Money
As they talked things over, Neill was obliged to confess that his money was running short.
"Oh, there's plenty of money, luckily," said Janet.
Neill stared at her. "What?"
She got up and, crossing to the desk, pulled out a drawer. She brought him a packet of new $5 bills, fastened with a paper strap and a pin, and with the stamp of the bank on the strap. Neill could scarcely believe his eyes. It was the same packet that he had seen Fanning put in his wallet two nights before, and he would as lief have seen a venomous snake in Janet's hands. The sight of that money reminded Neill that Janet had not told a credible story of what had happened aboard the yacht, and because he loved her so much it hurt him as if his flesh had been torn.
"Where did you get that?" he demanded.
"I found it in the pocket of my wrap," she said, astonished at his tone.
"Who put it there?"
"I don't know."
"It's Fanning's money!"
"Well... I suppose it must be. But if it's a case of life and death with us..."
Anger swept through Neill like a gasoline fire. Snatching the money from her, he strode across the room and sent it flying through the outer window into the river. "I'd sooner starve than touch a dollar of it!"
Janet stared at him silently.
"You are lying to me!" he said.
"I reckon you have been lying from the beginning!"
She was no tame woman. She sprang up. "I'm not lying! And I'm not going to take that!"
"I don't care whether you smoked Fanning or not," he said. "I hope you did. It was coming to him. What makes me sore is that you don't trust me. After I have risked everything for you, you are still lying to me!"
"I'm not going to talk to you," she said, starting for the bedroom.
He seized her wrist. "Oh, yes, you are! We're going to have this out here and now!... I'm willing to believe that you shot him without knowing what you were doing, and that you can't remember anything about it now. That's natural. But you couldn't take his money and put it in your pocket without knowing what you were doing."
"I didn't take his money!"
"Listen! I broke in that door and found you two alone in the cabin. The key was still on the inside of the door, and the port-holes were closed and fastened on the inside. If you didn't take Fanning's money, who did?"
"Perhaps there was somebody else aboard the yacht. Somebody of whom we know nothing."
"Somebody else!" said Neill, staring. He dropped her wrist.
"Fanning had told me more than once that he had enemies. That night when we were having dinner on the yacht I thought I saw somebody skulking on the dock. Perhaps he slipped on board when nobody was looking and hid himself below. Perhaps he was hidden in my cabin."

"In your cabin?"
"There was a clothes closet in there. I tried the door when I first went in and it was locked. Perhaps he had locked himself in there?"
Neill laughed harshly. "For God's sake don't tell that story to anybody but me! That's exactly the kind of story that every hard-pressed defendant tells when he has no defense!"
Janet looked at him strangely, and went quickly into the bedroom. He let her go, and dropped on the sofa pressing his head between his hands. Anger sickened him so that he could not think.

Chase in the Dark
When she did not return, when he heard no sound from the next room, a sudden fear struck through him and he ran in to look for her. The room was empty, the door unbolted and standing open on the corridor. His anger vanished then. Snatching up the flashlight, he ran through the corridor softly calling her name.
"Jen!... Jen!... Wait!"
He assumed that there was only one way she knew: down to E deck across the dining saloon and the galley and into the engine room shaft. It was the way they had first come. Surely he could overtake her before she had gone far. She had to grope her way in the dark. He ran on, occasionally pausing to listen. He could hear nothing. He plunged down the two flights.

When he reached the galley, he realized that he must have passed her. She had hidden behind some corner to let him pass. He turned back. Suppose his anger had rendered her completely desperate? Suppose she returned to the suite and threw herself out of the window? He ran on, sick with fear.

However, there was no sound ahead of him. She had not come back to this part of the vessel. He ran into the suite and, without waiting to pull up the rope ladder, closed the window upon it, and also the other windows of the veranda. They were very stiff and he knew she could not open them.
He started down the stairs again. On D deck he heard some mouse-like sounds in one of the corridors and searched it cabin by cabin. She was not there. Of course while he was looking on one side, she could run through a cross passage and return on the other. It was like searching a rabbit warren.
He went down to E deck again. While he was in the galley he heard the clang of an iron door ahead of him and plunged in the direction of the sound. She had entered the engine room shaft. She was going on deck.
When he got into the shaft he heard her far above him racing up the iron stairs. "Jen! Jen!" he called. "Wait!" He leaped up the stairs, straining every nerve to overtake her before she could get out on deck. Before he reached the top she was through the door and running forward on the boat deck. He caught her by the forward ladder, and none too soon, because across the decks of the other ships he could see the watchman's lantern coming towards them.
She struggled desperately in his arms. "Let me go! Let me go!"
"Quiet, Jen, for God's sake!" he implored her. "The watchman is coming this way."
"All right, let him come! I want him to come! I'm going to give myself up!"
"No! No! Think what you're doing!"
"I will give myself up; I'm not going to let you risk yourself if you don't believe in me!"
"I do believe in you! I swear it!"
"It's too late to say that now!" (Copyright, 1937, by Hulbert Footner)

Small Increase In Number of New Companies

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (Sp)—There was a moderate increase in the number of new corporations in Texas which were issued charters by the secretary of state during August both over the preceding month and the corresponding month last year, according to the bureau of business research of the University of Texas.

"In contrast with the relatively small gain in the number of new corporations, the increase in capitalization was quite marked," the bureau's report said. "New corporations totaling 141 were chartered during August, an increase of 6.8 per cent over the like month last year. Capitalization of these companies totaled $4,030,000, an increase of 96.4 per cent over July and 74.4 per cent over August last year."

"Groups showing gains in the number of new charters over both comparable periods were banking-finance, manufacturing, merchandising, and real estate building. There were ten new corporations chartered with capitalization in July and more than double that in August last year."

Industrial Production Per Capita Wealth Below That of Agriculture

DALLAS, Sept. 23. (Sp)—Demonstrating the larger per capita wealth production of industry compared to agriculture, a report of the All-South Development council today revealed that, although more than half of all the employed persons in the 16 southern states are agricultural workers, the value of their farm products in 1936 was considerably less than half that of southern manufactures.

Quoting the Blue Book of Southern Progress, the report shows that in 1936 agricultural production of the south totaled $3,969,000,000 (40 per cent of the nation's total), while southern manufacturers had an aggregate value of $9,500,000,000. Besides, the output of southern mines, quarries and wells was in excess of $1,600,000,000.

The large proportion of total southern goods production which these figures show being contributed by industries is the more notable, the report says, when it is noted that "industry" employs only 21.1 per cent of the 8,708,488 employed persons in the south. Farming employs 4,383,660, or 50.4

per cent of the total, while the other 28.5 per cent are employed in trade and commerce. Despite the general impression that Texas is in the foreground of southern industrialization, figures on Texas currently show less proportionate industrial activity here than for the south as a whole, with 140,810, only 11.7 per cent, employed in industry as against the southern average of 21.1 per cent. Texas farms employ 632,609, or 53.1 per cent, and trade and commerce account for 417,519, or 35.2 per cent.

Illustrative of the wide disparity in individual goods productivity as between industry and agriculture, correlation of the south's wealth production figures with its employment figures shows an annual per capita production, by the industrial worker, of $5,159 worth of goods, contrasted with an annual per capita production, by the farm worker, of $905 worth.

The present ratio of total industrial to agricultural production—in dollars—contrasts sharply with the ratio obtaining 50 years ago, when southern farm products were valued at $750,000,000 and manufactures were less than $330,000,000.

That the ratio may be expected to continue a constantly accelerating trend toward larger industrial production and larger industrial employment is seen in current decentralization moves, the tendency in some sections to cease relying on cotton as a basic income source, and the vigorous efforts many southern states are making to attract industries to take advantage of their resources, growing markets, cheap fuel and lower living costs.

Oil Conserved By Thrifty Nazi Head

BERLIN, Sept. 23. (P)—Oil for devotional purposes must be used as sparingly as possible in Nazi Germany, Hanns Kerrl, federal minister for church affairs, has informed the clergy.

A considerable amount of rape-seed oil is being consumed in "eternal lamps" found in churches, says Kerrl. Some have installed burners to lower oil consumption, but the saving was put at 47 per cent.

The line, "Whoever loves God, loves his neighbor as himself," is quoted by Marlowe, is quoted in the paper in "As You Like It."

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month. Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward signs that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tune up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ords of life. 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Pictures Show Phillips Test Near Scranton

Taking immediate interest among deep oil explorative operations in this sector is the Phillips Petroleum company's ordvician test, now rigging up, on the B. P. Cozart farm about two miles northwest of Scranton in Callahan county. The Phillips is reported to have leased two large blocks of acreage in the area as the result of extensive coring activities begun two years ago. Gallagher and Lawson, Cisco firm, have the contract for drilling the well. The derrick erected by Phillips has excited almost as much interest among oil men as the test itself, embodying the most advanced details for safety and efficiency. The cellar is of concrete, circular, 20 feet deep and about 12 feet in width, with stairways leading from the slush pit side and from the tool rack side. These are primarily for safety of the crew in operating the well. It is understood that Phillips is using this feature in all company derricks. For further safety, in the event unexpected gas is struck, the forge is placed beyond the boiler, with a runway leading to it.

In drilling the well, Gallagher and Lawson plan to set 8-inch casing at 4,000 feet so that in the event no production is encountered in the Ellenberger, the hole can be carried through the Hickory.

The map to the left shows the location of the test in relation to Scranton and Eastland county. The heavy line through the center separates Callahan and Eastland counties. The Cozart well is in the heavy black circle. Up-

Tucker Would Expand State Hatchery Here

William Tucker, executive secretary of the Texas State Game, Fish and Oyster commission, here Sunday to inspect the improvements being made in the state fish hatchery, revealed that he is much interested in expanding the production of the hatchery to its fullest possibilities. Present capacity of the hatchery is about 500,000 fish annually, and Tucker, according to Supt. D. C. Harper, will undertake a study of the possibilities of expanding this to one million or more.

Accompanying Tucker was Fred Thompson, young newspaperman who has been employed by the commission as director of publicity. Thompson, with several years experience on Wichita Falls and Austin papers, went with the commission about six weeks ago.

Tucker expressed himself as well pleased with the condition of the local plant, where a $25,000 WPA project to curb the erosive effect of waters in Sandy creek below the Lake Cisco Amusement company's swimming pools, is now under way under the direction of W. F. Wilson, who was in charge of the project for the construction of the new football stadium.

From Cisco, Mr. Tucker and Mr. Thompson went to the Dundee hatchery for a similar inspection and from there they will go to Wichita Falls for a meeting of members of the wild life conservation society Tuesday night. Tucker will speak.

Location for Semi-Wildcat East of Guitar

Charles J. Kleiner of Cisco and Brown-Eagle Oil company of Abilene have announced a new semi-wildcat location in Jones county, east of the Guitar pool for their No. 2 Birt Fields.

The test will be about 800 feet east of the No. 1 Fields which had several good showings of oil a year ago in drilling to the Swastika lime.

S. B. Roberts company of Abilene will drill the test, to be 1-20 feet from the west and 220 feet from the north lines of the fields 563-acre tract in Samuel Andrews survey No. 191. Rig and materials are being moved on location.

On the south side of the Guitar pool, the Joe DeuPree No. 2 H. C. Jackson, in section 45-15-T&P, flowed 392 barrels on a 24-hour potential gauge from Cook lime, acidized from 1,993 to 2,002 feet.

Operators have reentered the Martin & Hodges No. 1 Gilbreth, southern outpost to the Guitar pool, after circulation of acid fluid was obtained with treatment last week-end. It was plugged back from 2,276 feet to 2,060 feet, where the Cook had shown saturation.

Completion of the Sherwood B. Owens No. 2 Gilbreth, also on the south end of the field, was delayed by clogged tubing after the well had flowed about an hour. It will be given a retest later in the week.

The same difficulty also held up completion of the Ungren &

Frazier No. 1-H Dorsey, in the west extension area of the Hawley field, although the well flowed 30 minutes at the rate of 75 barrels hourly it stopped. It was acidized at 2,154-73 feet. A retest will also be taken on it.

Iekes Ban on Many Projects Okehed by FDR

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 23. (AP)—Announcing his approval of the final allocations under the 1937 public works extension act, President Roosevelt has endorsed as "sound public policy" Secretary Iekes' rejection of a large number of projects because it was found that applicants could not finance them without federal aid.

The president's statement said this stand was taken in view of the "need to curtail the federal budget, and improve the financial status" of many communities.

Projects approved were not detailed.

Randolph Will Suspend Operation for Current Year

Operation of Randolph junior college will be discontinued this year, pending arrangements of the Christian Restoration association to take over the institution next year, it was announced by Dr. J. T. McKissick, president, following a meeting of the faculty Tuesday morning.

"After consideration of the matter from every angle," said Dr. McKissick, "the faculty of Randolph junior college voted at their meeting Tuesday to suspend operation for the present year. It was a suggestion of the Christian Restoration association that this be done. It is the plan of this organization to enter the field soon and begin a campaign looking toward the opening of a school in the fall of 1938. The action of the faculty was taken with regret that a number of students have come who may not be able to enter school anywhere else. It is felt, however, that it is better to close now in order that such as can may make other arrangements."

tion than we. Our problem is to show to the legislators and to the people of this area what the oil industry means to it in sustaining their communities. We must educate the legislators by educating the people at home, and our friends and neighbors who depend directly or indirectly upon the industry for a livelihood.

"The oil industry already is bearing a tax sufficient to absorb its share of any additional funds, by reason of the 2.75 per cent elastic gross production tax, which is collected on the value of the oil sold.

Reasonable Forecast

"It is reasonable, based on statistics of oil consumption and the steady increase in production to anticipate an increase of 60,000-900 barrels in 1938, or 550,000,000 barrels as compared to 480,000,000 this year. On the basis of such an increase the state can expect to collect in gross production tax revenues $5,000,000 more in 1938 than in 1937. Projecting this reasonable anticipation of increase into 1939 to cover the period for which it is now proposed to raise $15,000,000 more annually in new taxes, we can expect an increase in total production to 600,000,000 barrels, raising the total gross production tax take of the state to $21,000,000, or $9,000,000 more than will be collected this year.

"It is reasonable to expect that the price of oil, now about $1.20 a barrel average, will be raised, conservatively estimating $1.30 a barrel, which would increase the state's gross production tax share to 3½ cents per barrel.

"On the basis of these reasonable forecasts it can be seen that the average increase in the tax to be borne by the operators over the next two years, without any increase in the rate, may be expected to be $6,500,000 or more per year, a figure more than large enough to absorb the industry's share of any new levies."

1,765 Wells Abandoned

Mr. Gibbons told the oil men that 1,765 pumping oil wells of Texas had to be abandoned last year because high taxes and rising operating costs made it impossible for operators to continue to produce them at a profit. He pointed out that increasing equipment and labor costs, averaging about 10 per cent each and taxes plus royalty payments, had produced a situation under which operators of marginal wells could not profitably recondition and re-equip their wells, forcing them to plug in many cases with resultant loss in resources and activity to the communities affected.

"In your own west central and north Texas oil producing area," said Mr. Gibbons, "where small pumping wells predominate, and where state and county taxes average 10 cents a barrel on your production, well abandonments constituted 70 per cent of the state total last year. In some high tax counties of this area, as many as eight producing wells were abandoned for every new oil well completed.

"When high taxes and rising costs force Texas oil operators to abandon producing properties, the state as well as you oil men cannot avoid the consequences brought about by the law of diminishing returns. When producing properties cease to be profitable, their abandonment violates the principles of conservation of natural resources, with resultant losses in revenue to the oil operators and the state."

Tax Revenues

Mr. Gibbons presented some interesting figures which showed that the total state tax revenue from Texas oil producers in the current fiscal year amount to $22,104,467, against $14,968,909 in 1936, an increase of $7,135,558. He stated that gross production taxes collected in the year ending August 31, 1937, aggregated $14,482,079, an increase in this one item alone of nearly six million dollars.

"The average tax per barrel on Texas crude oil today is 8.6 cents."

UNSUNG HEROES

The engineers are the unsung heroes of the broadcasts of Southwest Conference football games sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining Company. They attend more football games in a season than most dyed-in-the-wool football fans, but they rarely see one. The dials of their amplifiers require concentrated attention properly to mix and blend the announcer's voice with cheers and band music so that listeners will get the whole glamorous spectacle of the game with an accurate play-by-play description of it. Equipment is the most up-to-date and complete offered by radio's latest advances. At left, Harvey Wheeler, chief engineer on football broadcasts for the TQN group of stations; at right, King H. Robinson, chief engineer for the group of stations associated with KTRH.

said Mr. Gibbons, "which is an increase over 1935 of one cent a barrel. In 23 Texas counties today, which includes some in your own producing district, the average tax on production amounts to 11.9 cents a barrel, compared with the state average of 8.6 cents. In addition to direct state taxes on oil production, Texas oil operators in some counties pay as much as nine cents a barrel in ad valorem taxes."

It was shown by Mr. Gibbons that in the face of constantly increasing taxes against Texas oil production, the industry has been experiencing an uninterrupted increase in operating and overhead costs. He cited the fact that principal items of equipment used in oil field operations have advanced 10 per cent over last year, while hourly wages have increased 11 per cent. "Thus," said Mr. Gibbons, "while oil prices have shown an increase over last year of 11 per cent, it is seen that the increase in material and labor costs has largely offset today's market improvement."

Eastland County Taxes

State and county taxes collected in Eastland county, statistics produced at the session showed, average 14.6 cents per barrel. In Brown county the average of 11.5 cents; Archer, 8.1 cents; Callahan, 6.9 cents; Coleman, 7.7; Taylor, 14.2; Stephens, 9.3; Jones, 6.1, etc. The industry, President Hunter said, represents 19 per cent of the state's wealth, but it pays 42 per cent of the state taxes. "When tax proponents argue that increased prices received for oil

Third Term Issue Debated In Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (AP)—Texas, which never has elected anyone to a third term as governor, may have two third-term candidates in the democratic primary next summer.

Gov. James V. Allred so far has declined to squelch talk that he perhaps will seek renomination. Former Governor James E. Ferguson says that his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, who was chief executive in 1925-26 and again in 1933-34, possibly could be persuaded to run again.

Texas chooses its governor every two years. Elisha M. Pease was in office three terms but received the third through appointment under martial law in reconstruction days.

Ferguson sought the democratic nomination in 1918 after being impeached early in his second term but was overwhelmingly defeated.

Rev. A. Wagner from Eden, Texas, formerly stationed at Albany, will be the speaker. Many friends from Albany will be expected. Rev. and Mrs. Wagner are well known in this community and many of their former friends will be on hand to greet them.

Many of the Lutheran community were seen at the fair at Eastland. Dan Wende, Carl Wende, Carl Weiser, Henry Stroebel, and Rev. Steyer and their families were among the visitors.

Jack Lauderdale Named President of Lobo Band

By J. C. PASCHALL, Band Rep.

The Cisco Lobo band met Monday evening at 7:30 for the usual band practice and to elect officers for the year. The officers were elected by secret ballot—only senior members voting.

The following were chosen:

Jack Lauderdale, president; vice president, Louise Lawson; secretary, Louise Poe; reporters, Glen Boyd and J. C. Paschall. Marion Jacobs, last year's sweetheart of the band, was reelected by unanimous vote.

The band this year is composed of 76 members of whom 26 are seniors. The other members are considered as freshmen and will remain so until the band banquet in November. There were 71 members present at last night's meeting.

J. T. Culp was reinstated in the band as bass drummer by a unanimous vote. The band club has a newly organized division called the "swing band" which is working on several special arrangements.

Plans Outlined For Conservation For Next Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Secretary Wallace, outlining broad provisions for next year's five hundred million dollar farm benefit program, described it today as an improvement over earlier plans. The new program, worked out under the soil conservation act, classes most of the major crops, such as corn, wheat, sorghum and other grains, and vegetables, as "soil building," and attempts to limit their acreage. It also encourages planting grass and clover and building "soil banks."

"Goals," or limits, established as a group, will then be applied among states, counties, and individual farms.

In order to receive the fit of payments, farmers must within their "soil depleting building goal."

Bids Called on East End of 8th Street Project

The east end of the Highway No. One relocation project over Eighth street in Cisco, a section extending from the eastern end of the overpass being built over the M. K. and T. tracks to a junction with the present highway about one-half mile east of the city limits, was among projects in eight counties which the state highway commission Tuesday ordered submitted to bids on October 8.

This is the last section of the relocation project remaining to be constructed. The overpass, on which actual construction is due to begin within a few days by Jensen Construction company of Austin, was submitted to bids on August 27, the Austin firm making the lowest bid of slightly less than $110,000. An engineering crew of the state highway department has been here about two weeks making the necessary surveys.

Western Half Finished

The western half of the route, extending from a junction with the old highway west of Cisco to F avenue, was completed in the spring. The work was done by the Womack-Henning Construction company of Abilene.

Action of the highway department probably will mean that the overpass project and the paving of the east section will be carried on jointly.

Bids were asked on grading and drainage structures, flexible base course and double asphalt surfacing.

Preference to labor registered with the National Reemployment service will be given on this job. Those seeking work will be required to register with the office of the NRS at Eastland.

Humble Publishing Football News Again

In connection with the radio broadcasts of Southwest conference football games which the Humble Oil & Refining company is sponsoring this year for the third consecutive season, Humble is publishing the Humble Football News, the first issue of which is in the hands of Humble service stations and Humble dealers for free distribution to football fans this week.

The sprightly, authoritative football newsweekly enters its third year of publication with this first issue. Its guiding genius is Kern Tips, one time sports writer and sports editor, now ace Southwest football announcer. Tips has secured leading sports writers throughout the state as contributors for the Humble publication.

The first issue features comments by all Southwest conference coaches on the season coming up. Next week, leading sports writers will analyze individual conference team's championship prospects. Contributors to this symposium will include George W. White of the Dallas News, Jinx Tucker of the Waco Times Herald and News Tribune, Flem Hall of the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, Weldon Hart of the Austin American-Statesman, Andy Anderson of the Houston Press, Dick Freeman of the Houston Chronicle.

The Humble Football News is distributed free every Thursday by Humble service stations and Humble dealers.

Registrations of New Autos Lower

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (Spc)—New automobile registrations in Texas during August were slightly below those of the preceding month but moderately above those of August last year, according to the bureau of business research of the University of Texas.

"Reports from 15 representative Texas counties show total sales of 6,087 cars during August, a decline of 3.4 per cent from July, but an increase of 7.1 per cent over August last year," it was stated.

"Aggregate sales for the year-to-date in these 15 counties were 50,233 cars, a decrease of 2.6 per cent from the corresponding period last year.

"It appears significant that while sales in the lowest and highest price groups decreased moderately from August last year, sales in the two immediate price groups increased sharply."

Bob Calvert to Run for Attorney General

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—Bob Calvert of Hillsboro, speaker of the house of representatives, today said definitely that he will announce for the office of attorney general of the state of Texas.

"I regard the office of attorney general as the key position of the state government," Calvert said. "It should be filled by a man, free from entangling alliances, who can serve the interests of the great majority of the people of Texas faithfully and conscientiously."

The man who occupies the office, Calvert said, should not be "a stooge for the major oil companies" or other special interests, dominated by his connections or retainers.

Such a man, Calvert asserted, would be unable to represent the people of the state of Texas honestly when called upon to bring suits against his former clients.

"My experience in a country law office of attorney general," Calvert declared. "I know that I can fill the office capably and fairly."

The young speaker graduated from high school at the state orphan's home at Corsicana, then worked his way through the University of Texas law school.

He is serving his third term in the legislature from the 60th district, Hill and Navarro counties.

Calvert said his formal announcement for the office of attorney general will be made at a later date.

Credit Stockmen With Program Success

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. (AP)—The director of grazing said Tuesday "the stockmen themselves, the real brains of the range, deserve credit for the success of a range conservation program that soon will be 100 per cent effective."

F. R. Carpenter, who runs his own western Colorado purebred cattle ranch on a system of profit-sharing with his cowboys, declared the program projected under the Taylor grazing act "is far ahead of anything I expected when we started in 1934."

Carpenter said Secretary Ickes laid the groundwork for success of the undertaking "by insisting

Lumber Statistics Are Unfavorable

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (Spc)—Lumber statistics for August were somewhat unfavorable, according to the bureau of business research of the University of Texas, which pointed out that reports from the Southern Pine association show average weekly production per unit during August was 310,073 board feet, a decline of nearly 2 per cent from the preceding month and 3 per cent from August last year. Average weekly shipments per unit showed declines of 1 per cent and 4 per cent respectively from the preceding month and the like month last year.

"Average unfilled orders per unit, August 31, totaled 667,653 board feet, a decline of 8 per cent from the preceding month and 14.1 per cent from the corresponding month last year," the bureau's report said.

THE EIGHTY-EIGHTH DISTRICT COURT

(Judge Patterson, presiding)
Cases Filed
The following cases are pending in the district clerk's office for adjudication in the 88th court:

State vs. Tom A. Minton and wife, injunction. This action is a companion case of the state vs. Claude Maples et al, in which the state was seeking a writ of injunction against Minton and wife restraining them from dispensing intoxicating liquors in precinct 7. Commercial State bank of Ranger vs. Mrs. Norma F. Conway, administratrix, an action for debt and foreclosure.

Judgments and Orders
Mrs. Cora Faircloth vs. Raymond Faircloth, divorce. Judgment for plaintiff against defendant for divorce and for $50 attorney fees.

The injunction case of the state of Texas vs. Claude Maples et al, in which the state secured a temporary injunction against the defendants Claude Maples, Fred Zellars and Tom A. Minton and Mrs. Minton, and which injunction was heard on its merits in the 88th court Sept. 11, the state seeking a revocation of the license issued to defendants by asking that the injunction be perpetuated. On motion of the state the court dismissed the action against defendants Minton and wife, but this respite was only temporary, for the court had hardly issued the decree before Minton and wife became the defendants in a separate injunction proceedings, in which is now pending.

The court then proceeded to hear the temporary injunction on its merits, whereupon the court found that the defendants Claude Maples and Fred Zellars guilty of selling intoxicants in violation of law. It was therefore the order of the court that the temporary injunction be made permanent, and the defendants be perpetually restrained from selling intoxicants in Rising Star or precinct 7, and decreed that the state should be granted its writ of injunction as prayed for. To this action of the court the defendants, in open court, excepted and gave notice of appeal to the eleventh court of civil appeals. The court placed their supercedas bond at $2,000.

Trayce Hudlow vs. Paul Hudlow, divorce. Judgment for plaintiff for divorce and custody of minor child. It was further ordered by the court that defendant pay $50 attorney fees to plaintiff, and the further sum of $25 per month for the maintenance of the said minor child, until further orders of the court.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE COUNTY COURT

The regular session of the county court, September term, began Monday, Sept. 13. Judge Adamson has ordered the week of Sept. 27 be designated jury week, and ordered a jury summoned for week of Monday, Sept. 27, when jury cases pending in the county court will be called for trial.

ter, Olden; J. D. Pittman, Rt. 4, Cisco.

The week of Oct. 18 has also been designated as jury week and the case of W. C. Kimbrough vs. Loss Weeds, sheriff, has been assigned for trial during that week. This action grew out of a raid by the sheriff during which whiskey was seized, alleged to be the property of Kimbrough. At the same transaction Kimbrough's automobile was held. By posting a replevy bond of $1,000 Kimbrough gained possession of his car. At the trial of the case the court will hear evidence bearing on all phases of it.

tax rate of $1.50, the same as provided in the budget.

Matters in Probate

W. B. Seaborn, guardian of the estate of Thelma, Silas and Elzie Clay, minors, annual report, filed and approved. It was the order of the court that the application of the guardian for a reduction of his bond from $9,000 to $3,000 should be approved, as the court ascertained that the personal property of the said wards is less than $1,500, the application was approved and the bond reduced to $3,000. It was the order of the court that the new bond, when filed and approved, be exchanged for the old bond, thus being less expensive to the estate.

Mrs. Floy Morrison, who had been previously appointed temporary guardian of the estate of Patricia Ann and Norma Lois Morrison, minors, was made permanent guardian. It was further ordered by the court that G. T.

Slone, W. C. Bedford and T. H. Key shall appraise the property of said estate, which was filed and approved. Petition of the said guardian for authority to pay certain claims against the estate, was approved and the guardian authorized to make such payments.

Hawaiian Girls Express Emotions With Their Dance

Love sick youths in Hawaii don't have to say a word when they propose to their sweethearts.

The girls all express their emotions with a sway of the hips, or knee wiggle, or movements of the hands. So says pretty Princess Luana, famed Honolulu Hula dancer and movie star, who comes to Lake Cisco Tuesday, October 5 with Jackie Coogan's Orchestra and the "Hollywood Hit Parade" revue.

"A circular movement of the hips," the dancer explained, "means 'going around the island.' A knee movement indicates that 'a storm is brewing,' and the hands floating gracefully in the air means, 'the birds are singing in the trees.' At the end of the dance, as done in Honolulu every spring, the Hawaiian maiden accepts the man who will be her betrothed."

Princess Luana, who recently was featured with Bing Crosby in "Waikiki Wedding" and did a Hula number in the new screen success, "The Hit Parade," is one of several movieland stars who are featured in the revue. Another notable star is Lila Lee, captivating young picture personality who has been seen in many notable screen successes including "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford," "Country Gentlemen" and "Two Wise Maids."
