and THE CITIZEN-FREE PRESS and CISCO CITIZEN

VOLUME VIII. Member of the Associated Press CISCO, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1937 (AP) Means Associated Press NUMBER 48

In an area of beautiful, benevolent climate, at ideal altitude, blessed with an abundance of the purest, soft lake water, possessing the best in recreational facilities, situated on the Bankhead, all weather transcontinental route, with two railroads and many highways, Cisco is the best place in Texas to live and to work.

The Cisco Daily Press is the only home-owned and operated newspaper in Cisco, the official paper of the city, with guaranteed circulation built on service to its community, and a program dedicated to the building of Cisco in material and in spirit so that all may prosper and be happy in the best little city in Texas.

JAP 'BIG PUSH' ON SHANGHAI BREAKS

Beauty Inspires Wildcats

What boy wouldn't play his heart out for the likes of her! Miss Dorothy Jean Gracey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gracey, is credited with being one of the reasons why the Rising Star high school eleven is making such a good record this year. She was elected Wildcat queen at the start of the season.

Loboes Primed for Game With Jackets

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The Cisco Lobo Midglets of grammar school will be a snappy outfit this season, judging from the uniforms which three Cisco business men purchased for them and which arrived yesterday afternoon. The donors are W. J. Leach, Charles J. Kleiner and Alex Spears. The suits are exceptionally good, much better, said Mr. Leach, than they thought they would get. Everything, with the single exception of shoes, is provided for 12 players. This includes helmet, sweat shirt, togs, and shoulder pads.

The equipment was to be turned over to Principal C. C. Duff and Coach V. A. Andrews today so that the team could use it in their game with the Moran Pups at Chesley field tomorrow afternoon.

Dressed in these smart new togs, each player uniformly clad, the Midglets should be an attraction in appearance as well as play. No more will they be a motley little crew, clad in such cast-offs of their big brothers as they might be able to rake together, or lacking even these, in overalls and other garments of everyday wear.

They are now an institution in this town right without any dependence upon the big boys.

Moreover, the protection which the new equipment affords is a commendable factor. Helmets, shoulder pads and togs are admirable equipped with protective devices.

The interest which these business men have thus taken in the Midglets is not only laudable from the standpoint of boy interest, but it is the sort of practical interest which will do much toward encouraging the development of good teams in the high

BLACK SILENT UPON KLAN AS RETURNS HOME

Any Statement, Says He, Can Be Accepted as Final

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 29 (AP)—Justice Hugo Black arrived here from Europe today, maintaining silence regarding charges that he once received Ku Klux Klan life membership.

He made clear that he was going to Washington immediately, presumably to take his place on the supreme court which meets Monday.

He said "When I have any statement you can accept it as definite and final. I will make it in a way that cannot be misquoted so the nation can hear it."

He told questioners that he "might" make a radio speech or a statement on the Klan charges.

Graves Replies to Holbrook Anti-Tax Arguments

AUSTIN, Sept. 29. (AP)—Rep. Harry Graves of Georgetown "read the record" on Senator Holbrook of Galveston today in reply to arguments against new taxes.

He charged inconsistency and said that Holbrook helped to prepare the eleemosynary appropriations bill and voted for education and departmental proposals in the last legislature.

"I wonder if the enormous natural resources interests in Senator Holbrook's district would be pleased with the death of bills proposing a fair tax on them?" he asked.

Rep. Clarence Farmer of Fort Worth urged the house to "middle line" policy of new taxes and economy. His tax suggestions were aimed principally at oil, pipelines and natural gas.

School Inaugurates Occupation Classes

Cisco high school, in connection with the state board for vocational education, will start a night class for auto mechanics tomorrow night at the high school.

Jack Elkins of Vaughn and Elkins will teach the class. This class which will run for approximately three months will take up carburetion. Any mechanic may enroll in this class. A small enrollment fee will be charged to help pay for the teaching and things that have to be bought.

This is the first in the series of classes which Cisco high school will offer. Other subjects which will be offered include a house class for maids and cooks, commercial class for book keepers and stenographers, and also a class dealing with social security records and reports.

Any one interested in signing up for any of these classes may find out more about them from Mr. R. N. Cluck, superintendent of the high school.

Bar Ass'n Would Block Court Change

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29. (AP)—The American Bar association committee today recommended that a seven-man commission be set up for a permanent blockade against any new attempt to "re-make" the supreme court.

The committee's recommendation was adopted without debate.

TAKES NEW POST

Ollie Johnson has been given the job of plant superintendent of the Lone Star Gas plant at Pueblo, a small community just out of Cisco, it was announced today. Mr. Johnson is a resident of Cisco.

When Rising Star Held Its Annual Fair

It was not an easy matter to get a view of the free rodeo which the Rising Star chamber of commerce put on last week as an entertainment feature of its Free Fall Fair, as may be seen from the view at the lower left. Success of the rodeo was due to the efforts of the rodeo committee of which three members are shown above. Left is E. A. (Buss) Whitesides, veteran Sipe Springs rancher and among the very first settlers in that area. Right above is C. E. Williams, manager of Higginbotham Brothers store at Rising Star and horse enthusiast as well as a capable and enterprising civic leader. Lower left is Ira Swift, another of the most progressive agricultural centers in this section of the state.

OLNEY CHIEF FACES CHARGE

Slaying of Pioneer Rancher Occurs

OLNEY, Sept. 20. (AP)—A murder charge was filed today against Night Police Chief C. A. Talley in connection with the slaying of J. T. Richardson, pioneer rancher. Joe Pearce, cafe proprietor, wounded at the same time, was charged with assault with intent to murder.

Pearce and John Richardson, son of J. T., had an altercation last night after which Talley was called to the cafe.

Lions Have Largest Attendance of Year

The Lions met today at their regular noon luncheon at the Laguna hotel and reported the best attendance they have ever had. There were 33 present at the meeting.

Entertainment was furnished by a group brought from the Breckenridge by the president of the Breckenridge Lions club. The five young ladies who made up the program gave several musical numbers including piano and accordion solos. The young ladies participating in the program were Virginia Dye, Freda Carlyle, Betta Elliott, Berta Botkins,

Death Occurs Monday in Accident Near Victoria, Texas

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church this afternoon at 2 o'clock for Edward Mancill, 34, son of Mrs. J. W. Mancill, who was killed in an automobile accident near Victoria, Texas, Monday afternoon at 6:30.

The Rev. E. S. James, former pastor of the Cisco church and now of the First Baptist church of Vernon, preached the funeral sermon. A choir sang "The Old Rugged Cross," favorite hymn of Mr. Mancill, was sung in solo by Joe Carrothers.

Burial followed in Oakwood cemetery where Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

The church was thronged with friends of Mr. Mancill and the Mancill families, many coming from great distances to pay their last tribute to the young man, who was born in Cisco in 1903, the son of a man who, as banker and civic leader for many years was among the most esteemed of Cisco's citizens. The father, J. W. (Waddy) Mancill, died in 1926.

Active pallbearers for the service were:

Odwyn Cate, Rex Carrothers, Paul McCarty, Dick Giles, Gray Moon (of Victoria), Nick Miller and Dr. Paul Woods. All friends of the family were remembered as honorary pallbearers.

Immediate survivors include the mother, Mrs. J. W. Mancill; the wife, Mrs. Edward Mancill of Vic-

WILL MEASURE FOR UNIFORMS

Band Will Meet at 5 This Afternoon

Measurements for the issuance of uniforms will be taken at a meeting of band members at the high school at 5 o'clock this afternoon, at which time announcement of the names of the three drum majors and selection of the personnel of a marching band and the band which will accompany the Lobo football team to Stephenville will be announced, Bandmaster R. L. Maddox, said this morning.

Maddox said it was imperative that all members who intend to get uniforms be present at this time.

The names of the three drum majors, one of whom will be signal major and the remaining two twirlers, will be announced following a short drill.

The band has been holding marching drills every morning of the past week from 7:45 to 8:25.

The bandmaster also announced that there is room for a few more members in the beginners band which now has a membership of 40.

Mr. and Mrs. Roshell Daniel have returned from a visit in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer McDonald and Mrs. Walter Glenn spent this afternoon in Ranger.

SUICIDE SQUAD ATTEMPT UPON WARSHIP CUE

Chinese, Towing Mine, Blown to Bits in Premature Blast

SHANGHAI, Sept. 29 (AP)—Japan's "big push" against the Chinese defenders in Shanghai broke today as bitter fighting raged along the entire defense line.

The signal for the offensive was the daring of a Chinese suicide squad's unsuccessful attempt to blast the Japanese flagship Idzumo, anchored in the Whangpoo river.

Twenty Chinese, swimming, were towing a mine to the battleships protective nets. Just as the Japanese lookouts spotted the danger, the mine exploded blasting the human propellers to death.

The Japanese admitted no progress in the northwest sector. The Chinese declared that they repulsed the attackers with terrific slaughter.

Warplanes bombed Chapel. New aerial attacks on Canton killed forty.

A widespread movement was growing in Great Britain to boycott all Japanese goods as a sign of displeasure with the attacks on civilian areas.

P.T.A. to Present Mrs. Pettit in Review of Book

The West Ward P.T.A. is happy to announce that Mrs. Philip Pettit will review the book, "Chinese Lanterns, Junks and Jade," by Samuel Morrill, on Wednesday, Oct. 6, at 4 p. m., at the high school. Mrs. Pettit, whose reputation as a reviewer of distinction and a speaker of real charm insures her a rapt audience, has graciously offered to devote the entire proceeds of the occasion to the P.T.A. fund.

In order that no one interested need feel obliged to forego the pleasure of this review, the admission price has been kept very low. Tickets will be sold at the door only—adults, 15c; students, 10c. It is felt that students of high school and grammar school age will be as keenly interested in the subject matter as their elders, and for this reason the time and place have been arranged especially for their convenience.

The topic is a timely one, and refreshing in that it deals not with the sordid political situation with which we have become all too familiar, but with the cultural phases of Chinese life. For

Pipelines Can Pay Tax, Allred Declares

AUSTIN, Sept. 29. (AP)—Governor Allred said in an interview today that oil pipelines can pay for Texas' social security needs and not be hurt at all. "They could do it without impairing their earnings," he said.

More Than One Smoke Screen

IN one respect at least, Senator T. J. Holbrook is eminently correct in his statement to the Texas senate reporting the findings of the senate special investigating committee of which he is chairman.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

AUSTIN, Sept. 29.—An omnibus bill, carrying moderate increases in taxes on natural resources, with oil, sulphur and natural gas as the chief contributors, appeared to be the best bet to emerge from the taxation mudie as the 45th legislature began its special tax session this week.

There was no assurance that any new taxes would be voted, but the omnibus method, rather than single-shot tax legislation, apparently was the early choice of the majority of those members who feel that some new revenue is essential.

The strong senate bloc which denies the need of new funds at this time may be able to block all tax increases. But it will take a couple of weeks, at least, for the oratorical and political fireworks to be disposed of, and the house, where tax bills must originate, to pass some bills over to the senate, before a definite line on actual accomplishments of the legislature will be available.

Leaders Furnish Drama. Dramatizing the two schools of thought on the tax controversy of Gov. James V. Allred, fiery, dynamic and 100 per cent sold on the need of $15,000,000 new revenue, and the senate veteran Tom Holbrook, of Galveston, who is equally convinced that no new tax burden need be imposed on Texas citizens.

Holbrook, conservative, eloquent and studious, is an old-school statesman who believes the modern trend toward expansion of governmental activity and particularly the social security program are a menace to democratic institutions.

He has been consistent in his political beliefs, and has advocated them as strongly when he was in the hopeless minority as he does today, when he apparently comes much nearer to having a majority of opinion with him. Holbrook, serving his 17th year in the senate, has never given the slightest regard to the public popularity of any cause he advocates or opposes.

The people of his district apparently respect his habit of bluntly stating his convictions, regardless of their popularity, and they regularly send him back to represent them in the senate.

Diversion Unpopular. Rep. H. L. McKee of Port Arthur, got a quick and unfavorable reaction to his proposal to divert into the general fund $3,000,000 of gasoline tax money from the fund to retire county road bonds.

Highway enthusiasts registered such a storm of protest when Gov. Allred recommended a similar diversion from road funds last year that the legislature quickly dropped the proposal.

Even Gov. Allred pooh-poohed McKee's suggestion. A dozen influential house members, including Geo. Gavisson of Eastland and Joe Keith of Sherman, immediately registered opposition to McKee's suggestion.

New Laredo Bridge. Plans for a new free international bridge to replace the present toll-bridge at Laredo, on the Mexico City highway, were advanced at a conference here between Texas highway officials and a delegation of Mexican highway officials, headed by Undersecretary Herrera of public works.

Chairman R. L. Bobbitt of the highway commission, fully recovered from his recent auto accident injuries, gave a dinner for the visitors, at which speakers included Gov. Allred, Col. Ernest O. Thompson, judges of the high Texas courts and other state dignitaries.

Names and News. Charley Green, editorial executive of the Austin American-Statesman newspapers, authored the best wisecrack of the week when he remarked at a dinner where discussion of President Roosevelt's western tour was under way.

Green said: "Yes, it looks like everybody in the country has quit Franklin Roosevelt, except the people." John Wood, once secretary to Gov. Miriam Ferguson, and the last remaining Ferguson influence on the state highway commission, sought to do a little political fence-building this week, but it backfired.

Wood, who is "thinking about" running for railroad commissioner against Chairman C. V. Terrell, disclosed to the senate investigating committee that the highway commission had asked bids on an airplane, and inferred the plane was for Chairman R. L. Bobbitt's personal use, adding that he was going to vote against the purchase.

Later investigation developed the plane purchase was asked by the engineering department, for use in making aerial surveys of road locations, as half a dozen other state highway departments do.

Rep. A. G. Skaggs of Deport, can't keep out of trouble with the Austin traffic cops. His car was impounded for parking in front of a parking meter without depositing a nickel, and then the police discovered they had a total of six traffic tickets issued against Skaggs' car for illegal parking all over town.

State Auditor Tom King, who estimated the general fund would be nearly $25,000,000 in the "red" by the end of the current biennium, had a rather unhappy session with the state investigating committee when Senators Holbrook and Stone asked him to explain in detail some of his estimates of tax income.

They took particular exception to King's methods of computing probable income from oil and sulphur taxes, pointing out that proper regard apparently had not been given to expected increase in production of both commodities, based on current production figures.

Sen. Harold Beck, personable young son from Texarkana, becomes the senate's "odd man" with announcement of approaching marriage of Sen. Allen Shivers of Port Arthur. Beck remains the senate's only bachelor member.

O. B. Kurcher, engineer for the federal bureau of roads, declined an invitation to speak in Austin the other day, and when pressed for a reason said: "When I went to college there was one snap course which all the engineering students always took because nobody ever flunked it. It was public speaking. Nobody ever failed in it until I took it." Dallas got all of the plums when Gov. Allred promoted Associate Justice Joel Bond to be chief justice of the fifth court of civil appeals, named District Judge Towne Young to Bond's place, and W. L. Thornton, brother of the Dallas banker, to Young's district judgeship.

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Abducted from Baltimore on Prescott Fanning's yacht, Janet gets word to Neill, a young federal agent who loves her. He dashes to Absalom's Harbor, boards the yacht and finds it a locked cabin. Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her nearby in a disused liner, then joins Mark Boninger, keen local investigator, to keep tab on developments. Despite Janet's disavowal, Neill thinks she shot Fanning until he finds proof a man was hiding in a closet on the yacht. Then he suspects queer little Eyster, who hated Fanning. Also in the picture are Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer down to fish, and a huge tough who has been trailing Neill.

Chapter 25

Sly Little Eyster

When they went ashore, Neill, moving through the crowd, never ceased looking for a man six feet tall weighing considerably more than 200 pounds. He would be a roughly-dressed, unwashed fellow, and he had an impediment that caused him to breathe noisily. Once he heard him speak, Neill would know him.

The day's mail had just been distributed and everybody was immersed in the newspapers. The many columns on the "yacht murder" and the spread of photographs gave the villagers the pleasant feeling of having become famous overnight.

Boninger went back to his work in the office, and Neill entered the hotel. He took a look into his own room on the top floor and found, as he expected, that it had been entered in his absence. He had arranged the few articles he had bought for himself, so that he would know if they were moved. He had locked the door on leaving, but the lock was of the cheapest sort and he would not have been surprised to learn that the same key would open all the doors. It was no great matter, because there was nothing in the room that could betray him.

He knocked on the door of number 15 adjoining. No answer. The door was locked. He knocked again and a sleepy voice asked:

"Who is it?"

"Wheatley."

"Oh, you!" said the voice with a pleased note, and bare feet pattered to the door.

Eyster in his underclothes, gray-faced and wasted, looked like the caricature of a man. His hair was standing on end. Having admitted Neill, he hopped back into the bed and pulled the sheet over his legs. "Certainly was friendly of you to stop in," he said.

"Well, I owe you something," said Neill. He took a seat at the foot of the bed.

"That's a nasty bruise you got," remarked Eyster.

"Well, I feel thankful that I am here at all."

"That's right! That's right!" There was a pause. Each was waiting for the other to speak.

"Good Place to Sober Up"

Finally Neill said offhandedly:

"When did you get down to Absalom's?"

Eyster saw through it, and grinned. "Noon on Tuesday."

"How did you come?"

"By taxicab."

"Taxicab! That must have set you back something."

"Twenty dollars. It was too much, but I was tight."

"Tight?"

"Fact is, I was tight off and on all the time I was in Baltimore," Eyster went on, grinning. "Didn't you notice it? Tuesday morning I hear a guy talking about Absalom's Point, what good air it was down here and good fishing and all, and I was just drunk enough to go out and hail a taxi and tell him Absalom's. Seemed like a good place to sober up, see?"

This was obviously an invention and Neill disregarded it. "How did you learn so quick that Fanning was here?" he asked.

Eyster looked innocent and sly. "I didn't know Fanning was here till I got here."

"Remarkable coincidence."

"Yeah," said Eyster, "just as remarkable as you coming on the bus that afternoon."

Neill laughed. "But you said you had made arrangements to follow Fanning."

"Oh, I was just talking big then."

Neill tried another line. "You seem to like me, Eyster."

"I do, I do," he said quickly and it seemed to be genuine. "You're a dandy fellow, Wheatley! Keen as a whip! I'd do anything for you."

"Why?" said Neill.

"Eyster turned sly again. 'I guess you know that,' he said. 'I swear I don't.'

"Don't you remember what I told you in the hotel?"

"You just said you were talking big."

"I mean before that. . . I told you what my purpose in life was. Well. . . you carried it out."

Neill stared at him, wondering if he had heard right.

Eyster's lips curled back. "I've only got one thing against you, Wheatley—you killed him too quick. He didn't even see it coming. If it was me, I would have strung him up by his thumbs and tortured him slow. You know, gone back to it again and again. God! wouldn't it have been sweet to see the look in his eyes when I come back to him!"

Neill asked himself if this was madness or part of a deep game that the little man was playing.

Eyster's face fell. "But what could a poor shrimp like me do? I was afraid of him. I was afraid even to let him see me. I had to have a big fellow like you to do the job for me; a strong fellow, and afraid of nothing. . . Let me feel your muscle, Wheatley."

"Ah! the hell with it!" growled Neill. He was thrown back into confusion again. The psychology of the sly, lying, tormented little man baffled him.

"Good Pickings Abroad"

"I wish I could do something to show my appreciation," Eyster went on. "I reckon you want money. Young fellows always want money. And mine's about gone. Not that it matters to me. But I haven't anything to give you."

"Don't want it," muttered Neill. "Did you pick up anything on the yacht?" he asked eagerly.

"Not a thing."

"There ought to have been good pickings aboard. Fanning pulled off some kind of a dirty deal in Baltimore, and naturally if he was making his getaway on the yacht, you'd think he'd carry the proceeds with him. Somebody else thought so, too."

Neill fixed him with his glance.

New Gusher at Rotan Rivals Ranger Boom

ROTAN, Sept. 29. — Looming even larger than gushers of the Ranger boom, the eighth producer for the new Rotan field of north-west Fisher county drilled itself in late yesterday afternoon flowing at the rate of more than 13,000 barrels per day.

The Montour Production company No. 1 Ernest Smith, on the south side of the new field, over-taken capacity of its separator when lower porosity of the basal Noodle Creek dolomitic pay zone was tapped at 3,558 1-2 feet. As cable tools were pulled from the hole at that depth, the well drilled itself further into lime zone and blew chunks of rock up the six-inch casing.

On actual gauge the last 20 minutes of flow before the well was shut in filled six feet of a 1,000-barrel tank—about 192 barrels. Based on that rate of flow, the well was thought good for 13,100 barrels per day. It was later shut in for connection with a 10,000-barrel tank since there is no pipe line connection to the field.

Operators first encountered saturated lime at 3,551 feet, and the well flowed 348 barrels during the first two hours into tankage. The flow was made as the well was being drilled into three feet of pay. It was estimated at 5,000 barrels daily until it struck the lower zone at 3,558 feet.

Separate Gauge Unnecessary

Luther Belew, district deputy supervisor of the railroad commission, said a separate potential gauge would not be necessary and that its potential would be established on the gauge as it drilled in.

Total production was 646 barrels in three hours. During the first two hours the flow was against a 40 pound back pressure on the separator.

In separating itself in, the well built up a 50 pound back pressure. This was cut to 72 pounds when it

"Do you know who that somebody was?" he asked.

A look of fright came into Eyster's face and his eyes shifted away. "No," he said.

"You're not playing the part of a friend now," said Neill.

Eyster broke into a flood of denials and protestations and Neill saw that he could get nothing out of him by direct questioning. He made believe to fall for the suggestion of the loot.

"If I knew what Fanning had been doing in Baltimore, I might get a line on it."

"I can't help you there," said Eyster. "I couldn't follow his financial operations."

"But you can give me some clue, can't you? Think back."

was turned into tanks for the 192-barrel flow in 20 minutes.

H. Abrahamson, Abilene geologist who worked the structure for the discovery of the field, and Tom Largent of Merkel, sold the 80-acre tract on which the new well is located for $3,000 per acre last summer. The two retain an interest in the well also.

Montour Production company is a subsidiary of the Lewis Production company which owns the east offset to the new well. The Lewis No. 1 Morrow, which proved a quarter mile territory to the south of the pool opener, rated a daily potential of 6,600 barrels.

Location

The well is located 330 feet from the north and east lines of the west half of the southwest quarter of section 172-2-H&TC survey, about a quarter mile south of the Robinson discovery well.

The field was opened by Southern Oil Corporation No. 1 Robinson on May 15. Southern later sold 1,032 acres and the lone producer to Sunray Oil company for approximately $1,000,000.

Tubing was being pulled on the Tide Water No. 1 Waddell, eastern extension to the field, in preparation for cleaning out and treating with acid in an attempt to hike the initial production of 732 barrels daily established two weeks ago. It is in section 173-2-H&TC survey.

Western outpost to the field, the Southern Oil Corporation No. 1 Baco (formerly Ramby), in section 170-2-H&TC survey, was reported underreaming eight-inch casing to a depth of 2,350 feet.

N. H. Martin & Son and Consolidated No. 1 Florida, northern outpost to the field, was drilling past 2,510 feet.

Quarter mile north of the pool discovery well, the Snowden & McSweeney No. 1 Howard was drilling past 470 feet.

On a southern outpost, the British American Production company No. 1 White was drilling past 2,600 feet with rotary tools.

Magnolia No. 2 Ella Smith, inside test in the field, was drilling past 700 feet.

Lewis Production company No. 3 Preston Morrow, east offset to the owners' No. 2 Morrow in section 172-2-H&TC, had set surface casing at 136 feet and was waiting on cement.

English is estimated to be spoken by 274,995,000 persons.

Senate Committee--

will strengthen the comptroller's hands to effect the collection of these outstanding taxes.

"The committee must call attention to the dereliction of the governor in his failure to submit the budget in the manner required by law, in order that the legislature might have had an intelligent opportunity to study and survey it. The law specifically requires that the governor give personal attention to each item in the budget, and requires him to state his own conclusion and judgment as to the amount which should be appropriated for each item in the budget. In the absence of these suggestions, as required by law, the legislature necessarily had to grope in the dark, without chart or compass. Had the governor seen fit to make a careful study of the state's business, he could have found many of the abuses and extravagances discovered by this committee, and conveyed such information to the legislature, thus effecting economies at the regular session."

"Finally," said Senator Holbrook, "a flagrant and unconstitutional abuse has been indulged in by our legislatures of the past. It has been a custom to allocate receipts from occupation taxes to various departments of the state government in a manner prohibited by the plain language of the constitution. Obedience to the constitution requires a reallocation of these funds, and regardless of the consequences it should be done.

The committee, of which Senator Holbrook is chairman, has spent two months in a study of state departments, in an endeavor to discover abuses, if any, and find ways to correct them as well as to effect economies in the state government; and to avoid additionary taxes, as a solution for adjusting the various financial requirements of the state. The committee's report, which is a voluminous one, points to many ways whereby it claims the state's financial needs can be met without further assessments.

A case of burglary with a curious twist comes to light at the Cisco police station where report was received today of the arrest in Bobbitt, La., of a man in whose car was found two cases of milk admittedly taken from a place of business somewhere between Fort Worth and Sweetwater. Many instances are on record in which criminals have burglarized stores for whiskey, driven to it by a craving for drink. But rare, indeed, are instances in which a craving for milk induced a person to break into a place of business, take a quantity of the lactated food and haul it around for several days while it certainly must have become sour and become unfit for use.

Such a fondness for a perfectly good food admits the arrested person in this commendation on the sobriety, even if his obtaining it greatly any sober qualifications have.
