SHOWDOWN WITH ITALY NOW IS SOUGHT

BRITAIN AND SPAIN PUSH SPAIN ISSUE

Russia Demands Abandonment of Non-Intervention

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Britain and France today sought a showdown with Italy on the Spanish question despite a soviet maneuver, apparently designed to force their hand and anger Rome. Diplomatic quarters reported that Russia demanded the abandonment of the Spanish non-intervention scheme in a note to the chairman of the non-intervention committee, thereby permitting the shipment of arms and volunteers to Spain. The Russian demand together with the prospect of an Italo-German military push to crush the Valencia government before winter and what was believed to be Italy's impending refusal to even talk formally about her intervention in Spain, created a tense situation.

Caudle Attends Community Meet

T. G. Caudle, agricultural teacher at the Cisco high school, attended the regular monthly meeting of the citizens of the Shady Grove community last night. Such meetings as these have been highly profitable to the people of this district, Mr. Caudle said. They are held for the purpose of discussing different phases of farmers' problems. The benefits of the recent fair held by this community were included in last night's discussion. The meeting began at 8 o'clock.

Symbol of Culture, Institution of Beauty

Symbol of culture and distinction is the second of "Cisco Beautiful" views published by the Cisco Daily Press. There is a warmth in its gray tones and a hospitality in the simple dignity of its architectural lines which invite the literary-minded to a good book and quiet repose. Within these walls are 8,000 volumes in a constantly growing collection. The Cisco Public Library is the contribution of the Twentieth Century club to Cisco. REACTIONS TO BLACK SPEECH ARE VARIOUS

Critics and Supporters Are Apparently Unchanged in Views

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—First reactions to his unprecedented radio address indicated that the most vigorous critics and supporters of Hugo L. Black's appointment to the supreme court had not changed their opinions appreciably after hearing his disavowal of his association with the Klan for more than a decade. It was not considered unlikely that President Roosevelt, if he speaks at all, might share the view expressed by Senator Borah of Idaho, who said: "Nothing is to be gained" by continuation of the Klan discussion, who added, "I hope the subject will be dropped."

Senator Connally of Texas, said: "It seems to me that the incident is closed." Senator Wheeler of Montana: "A fine explanation. I think he satisfied the people generally." Representative Snell of New York, House Minority Leader—"This is purely a democratic row." Senator Tydings of Maryland—"I voted against Black's confirmation."

TOURISTS IN ARIZ. ROBBED

Reminds of Incident Still Mystery

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 2 (AP)—A party of Illinois tourists were held up and robbed of jewels, clothing and cash by two highwaymen near Moriarty yesterday, word received by county peace officers here today said. The license plates were reported to have been transferred to the highwaymen's automobile which originally bore an Oklahoma license.

The incident recalled the case of four other Illinois tourists who disappeared in 1935 while touring an approximately the same region.

Cisco Fire Loss Steadily Drops

Cisco's fire losses for the first eight months of 1937 were almost $1,000 under the loss for the corresponding period of 1936, Fire Marshal O. Gustafson said Saturday in appealing to Cisco people to become even more fire prevention-conscious than they now are.

The loss for the period last year was low, representing a considerable reduction from the previous year and a great decline from the peak of fire losses suffered by Cisco several years previous.

The loss for the first eight months of this year was only $2,506, as compared with $3,399.56 for the same period of the preceding year.

"There has been a gradual reduction in our fire losses since 1932," Mr. Gustafson said. "In that year we were receiving a penalty of 15 per cent against our insurance key rate. We are now receiving a credit of 15 per cent, making a reduction of better than 30 per cent, a considerable saving to our citizens in the form of fire insurance."

"We hope with another reduction in fire losses this year and a continued good record to receive soon the maximum credit of 25 per cent. This can be done if everybody becomes more fire prevention conscious."

This week is National Fire Prevention week, Mr. Gustafson reminded, and during the period great emphasis will be placed on preventive measures and safety.

Cisco Operator Urges Against Stifling Oil Industry

To the Taxpayers of Texas, Especially of this Community and in the West:

It is very important that a strong body of oil operators, land owners, and other business men have a committee from this community, west Texas, and central Texas, supported by all districts, in Austin next Tuesday afternoon, October 5, for a hearing before the committee on revenue and taxation of the house of representatives. You are all well aware of the fact that Texas is one of the greatest producers of petroleum in the Union, and you should inform yourselves, if you have not already done so, of the exorbitant taxes that are now being levied upon oil, and the continuous cry to add extra levies or higher assessments upon it. Oil has been one of the major factors in building our state for the past 20 years, and if not taxed to the extent of destruction, will continue to build it for the next 100 years.

Oil is directly responsible for the rent and taxes paid by the people of this state. I estimate it pays at least 50 per cent. It is directly responsible for innumerable thousands of the working people being able to obtain jobs and salaries that are being spent with the merchants all over the state. Each and every taxpayer, and each and every business, let it be hamburger stands, groceries, or dry goods, wholesale or retail, banking or insurance, is indirectly in the oil business in Texas.

To continue to exploit through the means of taxes this most wonderful God-given resource will bankrupt and destroy our greatest liquid asset.

I appeal to you as one who has made a deep study of the situation, one who pays thousands of dollars in taxes, is willing and glad to pay taxes, and believes that each and every person should pay taxes, but does not believe that his entire business should be consumed by such.

Please give this your earnest and sincere thought, and act by your presence at Austin, or at least by a letter to your representative, letting him know that he is your servant instead of your being a servant to him.

West Ward P.-T. A. Plans Biggest Halloween Event

The west ward P.T.A., planning its annual Halloween festival, has committees now at work to make this event the outstanding one of the year. An unusually large number of projects have been undertaken. The plan to finish beautifying the grounds, which were sodded during the summer, is a major item.

Sixty-nine children from the first three grades have signed up for the rhythm band and more instruments have to be purchased which is another project of the P.T.A. The directors, Misses Attie Stephens and Ola Howell, are training the band for its first public appearance at the festival. More books are needed in the library.

The establishment of a school supply fund is badly needed for underprivileged children. This fund is given over to the teachers and used when necessary. The fifth grade pupils are helping advertise the festival by making

Oil Operators Declare Increased Tax on Production Would Be Destructive

Independent oil operators of Cisco and the west central Texas area generally are making an effort to secure a large delegation of operators, business men, and land owners to go to Austin Tuesday when the house revenue and taxation committee will begin public hearings on a variety of bills proposing increased gross production taxes on oil. The present tax rate is 2 3/4 per cent, and bills are now before the legislature increasing this tax to as much as 25 cents a barrel.

At the meeting of the directors of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas association here a week or more ago, a committee was drafted to draft resolutions expressing the views of the organization on the tax issue was appointed, with Jake Sandifer, Jr., of Breckenridge as chairman.

The following resolutions were prepared by the committee:

Whereas, the oil and gas industry within the west central Texas district, comprising the counties of south Union, South Jack, Eastland, Shackelford, Taylor, Brown, Coleman, Jones, Callahan, Fisher, Haskell, Palo Pinto, Throckmorton, Comanche, Runnels, Erath and Stephens, constitutes a very important source of revenue for this area and any factor, such as an increase in the gross production tax on oil, which would disrupt and interfere with the continued operation of the wells in this district will immediately be reflected in serious injury and loss of business to the merchants and other citizens; and

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The picture of the Cisco Public Library appearing on the page of this paper as the first in a series of "Cisco Beautiful" illustrations, reflects beauty and dignity the Cisco people come true.

The value of the library to the community cannot be seen in the picture. It exists in the cultural movements which it makes possible for hundreds of people. Its literary resources might otherwise be severely limited, in the appreciation of the in good books, both modern and old, which it cultivates for the many who make use of its opportunities.

The building is beautiful, as a photograph of Bill Morton, Mills-Morton studio, thus reduced in the engraving of the Cisco Daily Press, will testify. Of light-colored brick, whose soft tones in architectural composition are accentuated by neat, well-shrubby, the structure challenges the admiring eye at corner of Sixth street and avenue.

The building was erected in the Twentieth Century club, sponsors of the library, has sold its interest in the federal building lot to the present. The money from the sale was used to build the home, which is entirely paid in addition to the library's reading room, the dining contains club parlors, a men and other conveniences club meetings.

The Cisco public library began with a single volume of Hur in 1894. In 1900 the Twentieth Century club assumed it, and from that day this it has constantly grown, women putting time and energy into it and asking few questions, etc., which are available to the general public at a small rental charge.

Encourage further community interest in reading, the past year has secured periodical book reviews given by talented members. Mrs. C. R. West, retiring president of the club, and the library committee, Mrs. Rip Pettit, Mrs. Homer Slick and Mrs. G. B. Kelly, have been very effective in their promotion of library interest and improvement of the facilities afforded by the institution. Incoming president is Mrs. E. P. Crawford, Mrs. Geo. Lee and Mrs. J. B. Berry. Mrs. Roy Wilson is librarian, position she has filled capably for a number of years.

The library is a non-profit organization, and as a matter of fact it costs the club members a sum of money annually to maintain it. But as a project of great benefit to the community would be hard to beat, the women get real pleasure out of the service they are rendering through it.

Hedges Should Be Planted About November 15th

Planting time will soon be here so get ready by preparing your ground and beds. Get the soil dug up and thoroughly pulverized. If your soil is too poor have some hauled, like good leaf mold or good loam, something that will not bake and that has productive qualities and that will grow shrubs and plants. Several have already told me they were planning on planting hedges. Now is a good time to get ready for this work by digging a trench ditch, say about 18 inches deep and about 18 inches wide. If your soil is poor have some good soil hauled and pile it up near by so when you set your hedge about Nov. 15 you can fill in this ditch with the soil.

Now when you plant your hedge set the plants about two feet apart in this ditch and fill about three-fourths full of soil. Then give it a good soaking. When the water soaks up finish filling, leaving it lower than the sides so water will run down so you can water it as it takes a lot of water for a hedge.

I have different catalogues of shrubs and plants, etc., and will be glad to assist you in any way I can to get you our stocks. This is all free service as I get no commission from anyone. It's a pleasure to me to be able to advise and help my good people who have proved they have confidence in me and my ability to serve, so be free to call on me at 306 West 8th or phone 74.

Now as to the kind of hedge to plant. If you want to grow a tall hedge, I recommend the Amour privet, like that around the P. L. Hoffman home on 7th street. If you want a low hedge that will trim up beautifully the California privet is the most graceful as the hedge at the new telephone building. The Amour River privet is the more hardy and will not freeze nearly so easily as the California, though it is more susceptible to red spiders and other insects than the California. Each has its advantages over the other. There are several other shrubs that will make hedges, but the privets are the best specimens when planted in corners and wide spaces about the house. You can trim them any shape and they will look good, square or round or oval and the beauty of hedge is that you can change it anytime by trimming it anyway you want. Nothing add to the beauty of a house more than a well kept hedge. See the Hoffman and O'Brien homes on Seventh street for the two different styles.

To Plan Dedication Program on Monday

Plans for the dedication of the Lobo football stadium, which was recently built through the aid of federal funds at a cost of $15,000, will be made Monday, Superintendent of Schools R. N. Cluck, said yesterday.

The ceremonies will be short and will precede the scheduled football contest between the Cisco Lobos and the Big Spring Steers. This will be the first game played on the new stadium with the exception of a game played last Thursday between the grammar school Midgets and the Moran Pups.

Cisco Fire Department, Past and Present

A contrast of past and present Cisco fire departments is presented by the above pictures. The top picture, published once before in the Press, shows the department of 1891. The lower pictures show views of part of the present department's equipment in front of the fire house and 17 members of the department. In the group photo, are: Front row, left to right: J. J. Collins, chief; L. E. Robinson, Fred Grist, John Sledge, Clarence Tune, Spurgeon Parks, Doyle Gilmore, Fred Steffey, Carlton Holder, and N. C. Fowler, assistant chief; top row, left to right, R. L. Garrett, Joe Allison, Allen Farley, Will Sledge, James Huddleston, Barton Philpott and W. W. (Sheenie) Edleman. Not shown are John Smith, Howard Robinson and Leonard Eppler.

The individual pictures at right shows H. C. Henderson, commissioner of fire and police departments; J. J. Collins, chief, and O. Gustafson, city fire marshal.

Chief Collins has been a member of the department for 32 consecutive years, during which time he aggregated 15 years as chief. Assistant Chief Fowler has been a member for more than 20 years. The department maintains two full-time drivers in addition to the 26 volunteer members. Four hours of drill are carried out each month and annually the department sends two men to the A. and M. state firemen's training school. In equipment it is rated above departments of other cities of the size of Cisco in equipment and above the average in efficiency. Equipment consists of three motorized units with a pumping capacity of 2000 gallons per minute, a hose truck and a new car for the chief, purchased this year. Value of the equipment, including the fire station, purchased a few years ago is about $80,000.

This contrasts with the approximately $2,000 value of the two hand-drawn hose carts and one hand-drawn hook and ladder wagon of the 1891 department.

Efficiency of Cisco's fire department is reflected in the excellent credit which this city enjoys on its fire insurance key rate.

Quarterly Reports Due October 31

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director of the Unemployment compensation commission, said today that employers' quarterly reports of employees' wages for July, August and September would be due on October 31, regardless of the recent announcement by the bureau of internal revenue postponing the due date of the Federal Form SS-2a.

Quarterly reports are due on the 31st of the month following the end of the quarter and this date has not been extended by the commission. The announcement of the bureau of internal revenue that this quarter's forms will not be required by it, will have no bearing on those required by the commission, Carpenter said, and employers should submit them before the due date.

ETIQUETTE Calling Cards Invade Province of Note Paper

By JOAN DURHAM AP Feature Service Writer Calling cards, originally devised to be left as reminders after paying a formal call, now are used also for writing invitations, for notes sent with gifts and even for written orders.

Two types are in popular use; the formal, single card and a folded, informal one.

The formal one should be white or cream and have a kid or suede finish. Artificial parchment is out of favor because it has a poor printing surface. In its place stationers supply a stiff, thin paper. The informal card is generally larger and carries a flap for notes. The usual size of a man's card is 1 7/16 by 2 7/8 inches. The wife's card is larger; in this case about 2 1/16 by 2 7/8 inches. If they use a "Mr. and Mrs." card, it should be about 2 5/16 by 3 1/4 inches. Unmarried women use a card about the same size as that of a married woman.

As to prefixes. Men do not use "Mr." until they are the age of a college senior. Girls can start using "Miss" when they are 15 or 16.

Formal and informal cards may carry the address, in the lower right and corner. Telephone the dark ships

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a young federal agent, finds his beloved Janet locked in a cabin on Fremont fishing's yacht at Abasco's Harbor. With her are a gun and Fanning's freshly shot body. Neill hides her nearby in a disguised liner, then joins Mark Bonniger, keen local investigator, to keep tabs on developments. He thinks Janet shot the swindler until he learns a man was hiding on the yacht. Then he suspects queer little Eyster, who lured Fanning. Also in the picture are Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer down to fish, and Ir. Buckless, a tough who trails Neill. A fisherman finds $500 of Fanning's money that Neill threw away in anger.

Chapter 28 Searching the Ships

"Well," continued Bonniger, "upon the supposition that the packet was thrown or dropped in the river last night, I started figuring the time of the tide and the rate of flow. And my calculations suggest that it had made a trip down the river and was on the way back again. If I am right, the fugitives are still in the neighborhood and they dropped this packet in the river at a point some distance north of where it was found. Well, what's up there? Nothing but the abandoned ships. I'm getting ready to search them."

Neill felt as if all the ground had suddenly been cut from under his feet. He had to say something, and quickly. "That's a job!"

"You're right. That's what I have brought in the police for. I'm going to take half a dozen of the steadiest men in the village also. Kettering will be with us. And I'm counting on you, of course."

Neill could not refuse to go. He drew a long breath to steady his voice. "It will soon be dark. You should wait until morning."

"It's dark anyhow inside the ships. We can search them as well by night as by day."

Neill could say nothing more. Bonniger arranged to have his party of 16 men spaced up the road in three cars at intervals of five minutes in order not to attract too much attention in the village. Bonniger himself and Neill went in the first car. Neill, taken by surprise and having no time to plan anything, rode like a man who had received a blow on the head.

All my own fault, he thought. If I had not pitched that money overboard, Janet would still be safe.

The Skill Gone, Too

Captain Bickel, who had been notified by telephone of their coming, was waiting on the shore. He said: "I borrowed an additional skill from the farmer up the beach to save time."

This was another setback for Neill. If he was able to separate himself from the party, he counted on using that skill himself.

Bonniger and Neill were rowed to the Montpelier. Gradually the whole party assembled on the forward deck. Virgil, leathery faced and bright eyed, was there, chewing his cigar, also Kettering, going about and making up to everybody. It made Neill sore to see how all these men were enjoying the situation. As Virgil put it: "A man-hunt is the greatest sport of all boys."

Bonniger proceeded to post his men at salient points about the ships. A guard was stationed on the forward bridge of each vessel and another on the after bridge. From these positions they overlooked the lower decks. He also placed a man on each of the three gangways that connected the vessels. Everybody was provided with a powerful flashlight. Bickel and his three men brought the force up to 20.

While they waited for Bonniger to complete these arrangements, Kettering approached Neill. "Have any luck in town?"

"None whatever," said Neill. "Gosh! I certainly feel for you in this situation. Wheatley. The strain must be awful!"

This gave Neill a nasty start. So Kettering knew, too. How many spies were there around him?

Keeping his face, he said: "I don't get you, Mr. Kettering."

"Oh, you don't have to keep that up with me," said Kettering. "I'm on your side. If there's any trick we could pull off together, you have only to say the word."

Neill silently cursed. "I don't know what you are driving at."

"Well, I am sorry you won't trust me," said Kettering. "It would help you if I could."

The men being posted, the leaders of the party went into Captain Bickel's cabin to study the plans of the ships. Bonniger said: "We'll start searching on this ship."

"It is likely they would hide so close to me?" asked Bickel. "The ladder is on this ship," said Bonniger. "How else could they get aboard or leave?"

Neill breathed easier. This gave him a little time.

Much Too Good a Plan

Bonniger spread out the cabin plans of the Montpelier. In addition to her public rooms, she had a couple of hundred sleeping cabins strung along the five decks.

"We need 50 men to do this right," grumbled Wilson. "It's worse than mine galleries."

"We'll do with what we have," said Bonniger. "We'll start at the top and work down. Notice that there are five sets of stairways. A guard must be put on each so that while we are going down one stairway our couple can't be running up another. Wilson, Longcope, Wheatley and I will do the actual searching. On the lower decks we'll divide forces and one pair take the starboard cabins, the other port. As we finish each deck, I'll blow a whistle and everybody will move one flight down the stairways together. Thus if they are aboard this ship we are bound to trap them on the lowest deck."

Everybody approved this plan.

It was much too good a plan to suit Neill; it quadrupled his difficulties. However, his mind had begun to work again, and a scheme was beginning to take shape. Before they left, Bickel's cabin he took a look at the plan of the Abraham Lincoln. The little veranda of Janet's cabin, he saw, was under the twelfth window on the promenade deck, counting from the bow.

The Montpelier was searched from bridge to keel in the manner laid out by Bonniger. On the lower decks, Wilson and Neill were told off together. Wilson was a good police officer, not brainy but conscientious. No cupboard, no corner, no recess escaped his attention. He flashed his light under every bunk. Neill was bored and jumpy because the search dragged so. He thought: This cop would get a jolt if he knew the man he was looking for was helping him look!

When they finished with the Montpelier and passed over to the Montmorencie it was about nine o'clock and as dark as it would get. Neill kept looking at his watch in such a manner that Bonniger's attention was attracted.

"What are you worrying about the time for?" he asked.

Neill drew him aside from the others. "I'll have to leave you for awhile," he said. "I'm sorry. I saw my chief in Washington this afternoon. Some departmental business has come up, and he said he might have to call me at 9:30."

"Sorry to lose you," said Bonniger, "but it can't be helped. I'll take the man off the second gangway to put in your place."

Neill rejoins Janet, tomorrow, hoping to dodge the searchers.

G. A. White Takes Over 'Chief' Station

Autoists, local and transient alike, will greet this item of news with interest as it is probably the most outstanding item that comes in the week's activities along auto row in Cisco, especially that branch embracing service or gas filling stations.

The "Chief" super-service station at F Ave. and 8th St. has "come into its own" in a real way. There are new faces and busy hands to greet customers. A complete new service is offered by people who "know what its all about the 'Chief' is a Texaco products station—one hundred percent—and is one of the largest, most modern, and conveniently situated gas filling stations in Eastland county.

G. A. White, who comes to Cisco from east Texas with his family, has taken over management of the "Chief." He is wide awake, aggressive, and his long successful experience is background for his statement: "I am going to give my customers a complete modern super-service—second to none in West Texas—and a service of instant attention and complete satisfaction."

In connection with full lines of Texaco products, Mr. White will handle a general line of Firestone tires, lubricating, washing, greasing, repairing, etc. Also a signal caller, played his usual fine game. Preston, a converted end, played an unusually nice game at his halfback position, fighting the whole sixty minutes of play. The Jackets found it tough going to gain an inch through the center of the Cisco line and it was few times that the Loboes' ends were skirted. Cisco's midget tackles more than held their own against their big opponents and especially did they show their stuff on the offense, opening big holes for the backs. This is especially worthy of mention since the Stephenville team used an eight man line, against whom anyone would find a tough assignment.

The Lobo coaches after the game were more enthusiastic over the prospects of their team than ever and resolved to devote most of the entire practice sessions of next week to passing and pass defense. The game Friday night showed the result of the past two weeks grind on fundamentals and a well rounded team should be the result of a week or more of training, the coaches said.

The Loboes begin training for their game with Big Spring Monday. The game will be played Friday afternoon of next week and will follow dedication ceremonies of their new stadium.

Baylor Bears Begin Strenuous Practice Week

WACO, Oct. 2.—Baylor Bears begin a strenuous week of practice Monday afternoon when Coach Morley Jennings calls his squad together.

He will put finishing touches on offensive play and attempt to develop a pass defense that will stop the "passingest" team in the nation, the Arkansas Razorbacks, when they meet next Saturday afternoon in the Waco Municipal stadium.

The Razorbacks, defending champions of Southwest conference, will take the field heavy favorites. If they repeat as champions, it will be the first time in conference history for a team to accomplish this task.

Strong-hearts of Baylor will be out there fighting. The Bears can not so easily forget the crushing defeat handed them last year by the Razorbacks when a fourth quarter rally sent them back home on the small end of a 14-10 score.

Captain Carl Brazell and his Bears are planning on making it a different story this year. They will have the advantage of a home gridiron and a "do-or-die" spirit. In Bullet Bill Patterson, Baylor has a pig-skin tosser that Bear fans think can match ability with Arkansas' great Jack Robbins. Besides being one of the outstanding passers in the conference, Patterson is also a fast-stepping ball carrier and an excellent punter, better in punting than his favored predecessor, Lloyd Russell.

The Baylor-Arkansas fray is going to be very interesting from another viewpoint. Arkansas claims to have the finest ends in the conference in Benton and Hamilton, while Baylor is singing the praises of Sam Boyd, Frank Heussner, and James (Cotton) Kimbriel.

Close followers of the rough and tumble game in the Southwest give the defending champions the odds to win because they have greater reserve strength. Lack in that department probably cost the Bruins the victory last year. Coach Morley Jennings is not going to let anything like that slip up on him this year if he can help it. He is attempting to put his squad in the best possible physical condition for their first conference game. They will be able to stand 60 minutes of hard football when they take the field Saturday afternoon.

Dignity First, Says Justices

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2. (AP)—Indiana's supreme court justices, after wearing business suits on the bench half a century, have put on black robes again for dignity's sake.

They quit wearing robes because they became too hot in an office building where they held court during building of the present statehouse.

They donner them again in September for the ceremony admitting more than 100 new law-yeers to the bar.

87 SPEED RECORDS BROKEN TO MAKE TIRES SAFER FOR YOU

Never Before Have Tires Been Put to Such Gruelling Torture

Ab Jenkins, World's Safest Driver, Establishes 87 New Records for Safety, Speed, Mileage and Endurance... He Drove 3,774 Miles in 24 Hours on the Sharp Granite-like Surface of the Bonneville Salt Beds at Average Speed of 157.27 Miles an Hour

AT SPEEDS as high as 180 miles an hour — with the hot, coarse, abrasive salt grinding, tearing, scorching his tires — Ab Jenkins' special car, weighing nearly three tons, pounded over the Bonneville Salt Beds last week at such terrific speed that it caused the surface to break up. Before the end of the run the track was so pitted and rough that it was almost impossible to hold the car on its course. Yet Jenkins set 87 new World, International and American speed records on Firestone Tires.

Building tires capable of establishing such records is made possible only because of patented Firestone manufacturing processes. These exclusive features enable Firestone to provide car owners with tires that are extra safe.

For the greatest protection of yourself and your family equip your car with Firestone TRIPLE-SAFE Tires. By TRIPLE-SAFE we mean —

- 1 PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING — The scientific tread design gives longer non-skid mileage and stops your car up to 25% quicker.
- 2 PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS — Firestone Tires run up to 28 degrees cooler because every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. This counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.
- 3 PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES — Two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread add strength to the tire and give extra protection against punctures.

Now is the time to make your car tire-safe for fall and winter driving. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new FIRESTONE TRIPLE-SAFE Tires—the safest tires that money can buy!

Streets to Be Closed to Protect Children

Through the courtesy of the city police department the west ward school has been granted the privilege of temporarily closing the following streets, so as to allow the children to cross these streets and go to the adjoining vacant lots to play while the grass on the school grounds is given a chance to root, it was announced by Principal A. C. Bradley.

E, F and 11th streets will be temporarily closed during school hours. That part of these streets joining the west ward school grounds will be roped off from 8:20 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. to all vehicles.

"We know that this will cause some inconveniences," said Mr. Bradley, "but we ask your kind cooperation in helping to protect the children during the next month or two while they are crossing these streets. To those who find it necessary to enter these streets to reach their garages with cars, we will be glad to arrange an entrance for those purposes necessary if you will talk to the principal of west ward school. Any other inconveniences will gladly be worked out with you if you will let us know."

An Unsettling Grief

By IRVIN S. COBB

IF YOU are a Gentile you may lay this story on the Jewish race. If you are Jewish you may, with equal right, say the principal character in it was a temperamental Christian. In the version I heard the hero of the tale was of the Jewish race and answered to the name of Louis.

Louis lost, by a sudden illness, his wife. The funeral was to take place before sundown of the date following the death. On the morning of this day a cousin of the deceased, arriving home after a journey learned of the loss. At once he hurried to the house of mourning to comfort the bereft husband.

He entered by the crepe-hung front door. There was no one at the front of the house. The sympathetic relative passed on through. The dining-room was empty; the pantry likewise. But in the kitchen the caller found the head of the house. The appearance of the newcomer was in the nature of an interruption and a surprise as well. For, at the moment, the widower was engaged in hugging the hired girl.

"Louis!" exclaimed the shocked interloper. "For you I am ashamed. Here your poor wife, my cousin, she ain't buried yet and already you are acting like this!"

"Go away, Ike!" cried the widower wildly, "how do I know what I am doing in my grief?"

Chinese Customs Are Interestingly Told

The book "Chinese Lanterns, Junks and Jade," by Samuel Norvill, is an authentic description by the author of years spent in China. The subject matter deals with legends, customs, superstitions, handed down from one generation to another; a word picture of marriages, funerals and transportation; and the use of lanterns in a very sacred ceremony going back to political and old marriage customs.

The history of the great wall is also told at length.

This is a view that will appeal to the high school student. Prices will be 10 cents for children and 15 cents for adults. Tickets will be purchased at the door. Mrs. P. Pettit is the very interesting reviewer.

The Derricks---

Palo Pinto series two tests in western Shackelford have drilled through the horizon, Roeser & Pendleton, Inc. No. 38, Dawson & Conway in center south half section 202, E. T. R. R. in south end of Bluff Creek pool caught water in the Palo Pinto and in the Strawn, but was not located on a pronounced structure, and the other test by Healey Drilling Co. No. 3, Lewis J. Ackers in northwest quarter section 15, block 13, T&P failed to find production in the Palo Pinto series, but is now drilling at 3324 feet in the Strawn series, having topped the Strawn at 3241 feet, with estimate by Mr. John H. Healey, president of the Healey companies, that possible production in the Strawn series will be encountered about 200 feet in.

The other deeper formations test for Shackelford is Roeser & Pendleton, Inc., Continental Oil Co. A-28, Cook estate in section 85, ETRR, 6 miles northwest of Albany, drilling at 1500 feet on test slated to go through the Strawn series at 3350 feet. In northwest Shackelford the Owens-Snebold Oil Corp. No. 1, Hugo D. Haterius is drilling at 1290 feet in the northeast corner of section 163, BBB&C RR. on its projected 3600 feet test, on northeast trend from the Avoca pool, with another deep test slated by Forest Development Corp. on the T. G. Hendrick ranch in section 1, A. B. & M. lands, near Shackelford-Haskell county line on the old structure worked by Roy A. Reynolds and H. H. Adams, where no test on the structure was drilled below 2,000 feet.

Hickok & Reynolds No. 23, J. A. Matthews in center of the east half of section 31, ETRY, came in as a nice producer, making 25 barrels in 15 hours from Fry sand 730 to 738 feet, and opening a new sand area for the Fry.

B. C. Manton et al No. 1, W. P. Newell in northwest corner of the southwest 1-3 of section 114, E.

T. Ry Groover & Fose, drilling contractors, was drilled to a total depth of 1492 feet being dry.

A new shallow pool for northern Shackelford is opened this week with Grady Bailey No. 1, A. Andrews in northeast of section 14, ETRY, completed for a 7-10 barrel pumper, 525 to 535 in the Fry sand and is moving east offset for his No. 1, B. H. & J. B. Diller.

E. M. Curry No. 1, R. J. Moberley in northwest 120 acres of section 831, T. E. L. Co. lands, was drilled to a total depth of 690 feet where a water sand was encountered. It is now being plugged.

Hickok & Reynolds, Jones & Stasney No. 7, J. H. Nail drilled Bluff Creek sand in southwest corner section 124, ETRY and flowed 200 barrels daily, making an eighth mile southwest extension for the Nail ranch pool and the best well thus far for the area. The same operators No. 8, will be started this week 660 feet from south and 220 feet from east line section 133, ETRY.

Wm. Pardue No. 1, W. Y. & Merrick Davis is a new wildcard for western Shackelford in the southeast corner section 20, block 13, T&P lands.

U and V were formerly unical and capital forms of the same letter.
