DR Summons Cabinet on Sino-Jap Crisis

JAPS PREPARE STATEMENT IN ANSWER TO US

Nipponese Commander Says Every Effort Will Be Used

President Roosevelt, returning to the capital today, summoned his cabinet and diplomatic advisers to consider international efforts to end the Sino-Japanese war.

The Japanese foreign office announced that the government was preparing a formal statement on the criticism from the United States and the League of Nations for the violation of the nine-power treaty.

The Japanese commander at the Shanghai front, General Matsui, stated that the "army is now preparing to use every means to subdue its opponents."

Chinese considered this the equivalent, if not an actual diplomatic formal declaration of war. Japanese and Chinese artillery engaged in the severest night duel of the conflict.

Federal Grand Jurors Complete Work Thursday

ABILENE, Oct. 8. (Sp)—After adding four more indictments to their score, grand jurors for the fall term of federal district court were discharged Thursday afternoon by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

The new bills brought to 41 the total revealed by the United States attorneys since the jurors were impaneled Monday.

Names of defendants in Thursday's indictments were not made public pending one arrest and a check by the court clerk to determine which of the others are in custody or free under bond.

Eleven guilty pleas were made during the morning, but the court was recessed for the remainder of the afternoon following the juror's report.

Seven of the defendants were involved in a Big Spring case, in which Judge Davidson assessed fines totaling $2,500 and a suspended sentence for each of one year and a day in the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla. They were charged with making false entries in records required of wholesale liquor dealers and conspiring to make false entries.

Fines set for each were: T. J. Settles, $1,000; Jack Cunningham, $100; D. K. Howze, $500; J. T. Peyton, $200; Tom Rhoden, $500; Jack Lawder, $200; and Wilson Loper, only the year and a day sentence, which was probated three years for each.

Three years in Leavenworth prison, probated five years, was the sentence given Cecil Howard Reel, Stanford university graduate for violation of the National Motor Vehicle Theft act. He was arrested here and had served approximately 100 days in the Taylor county jail for stealing an automobile belonging to Clyde Farr on Eunice, N. M.

John W. Smith, alias J. W. Snow, of Big Spring, received a year and a day in Leavenworth prison as result of his indictment for impersonation of a federal officer.

The court also heard pleas of guilty from Sidney M. Liebart and Mrs. Altha Nickson, indicted on Dallas county charges of burglarizing two postoffices, robbing six relay mail stations and forging and cashing of a postal money order. Passing of sentences was deferred.

ACC PREXY TO SPEAK TODAY AT CEREMONY

Cong. Garrett Unable to Be Here for Dedication

An unexpected turn of events which made it doubtful that Cong. Clyde L. Garrett would be able to fill his engagement at the dedicatory program for the new football stadium at Chesley field this afternoon caused the committee in charge to secure President Don Morris of Abilene Christian college for the address.

Judge Garrett has been invited because he is not only an Eastland county man but the congressman from this district. The committee congratulated itself upon President Morris when Cong. Garrett was unable to come, however. The educator is a speaker of great ability, ideal for the character of the service which was to be held at the stadium this afternoon.

The program was to open promptly at 3 o'clock, with most of the places of business in Cisco closed for the ceremony.

Program arrangement called for two numbers by the Lobo band, standing in formation in the center of the gridiron. These were to be "America" and the Lobo "Victory Song," the crowd standing during the playing.

A stand for the speakers, whose voices were to be carried to all sections of the field by an amplifying system, was to be placed at the west end of the gridiron.

Supt. R. N. Cluck was to act as master of ceremonies. The Rev. M. H. Applewhite, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was to pronounce the invocation. He was to be followed by President O. J. Russell of the school board, B. A. Butler, editor of the Cisco Daily Press, and finally by President Morris for the principal address.

The whole program was to be limited to not more than 20 minutes, after which the initiatory game, a conference contest between the Cisco Loboes and the Big Spring Steers, was to begin.

Mrs. James Undergoes Serious Operation

Musician Runs A Nursery—Soothes Kids With Saxophone

By The AP Feature Service

FORT WAYNE, Ind.—When Thomas Gore, professional musician, found he couldn't keep the wolf away from the door with his saxophone and clarinet, he decided to start a nursery.

The idea clicked. He and his wife now have a house full of children, some of them boarding permanently, others there only for the day. But Gore hasn't gotten away from music entirely. He plays for the kids and finds it keeps them quiet.

WOULD BE 2ND LARGEST CROP OF ALL TIME

Acreage Yield Estimate of 249.3 Lbs. Is New Record

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The federal crop reporting board boosted estimates of cotton acreage yield to an all-time record of 249.3 pounds in forecasting a United States' production of 17,563,000 bales based on the October first conditions.

This would be the second largest crop ever harvested, more than five million bales larger than last year and nearly three million bales above the five-year average. The largest crop was 17,978,000 bales in 1926.

The estimate is 1,500,000 bales over the previous estimate. Administration farm leaders said that the increase probably would bring increasing pressure for prompt federal action.

The Texas condition was estimated at 79 per cent normal with a production of 5,025,000 bales.

Waddell Test to Be Given Second Acid Treatment

ROTAN, Oct. 8.—Tide Water Associated No. 1 B. A. Waddell, half mile eastern extension to the Rotan field of Fisher county, will probably be given a second treatment with acid, it was indicated here following gauging which showed no increase over natural production.

The well, acidized with 3,000 gallons, flowed 541 barrels in 19 hours on its retest. Pay zone treated was from 3,492-94 feet. Previously it had flowed 732 barrels in 24 hours on natural production through two-inch tubing.

Location is in section 173-2-H & TC survey, about three-quarters mile east of the discovery well. Plugs will be drilled this weekend on the British American Oil Producing company No. 1 N. A. White, half mile southern outpost to field. Six-inch casing was set and cemented at 3,588 feet. Interest centers on the out-post as possible indicator of a north-south trend to the field. Location is in section 123.

N. H. Martin & Son and Consolidated No. 1 Florida, north out-post to the field, was drilling at 2,765 feet.

Southern Oil Corporation No. 1 Bacot (was Ramby) was drilling past 2,530 feet. It is west of field, north of the town, in section 170-2-H & TC.

Sunray No. 2 Robinson was drilling past 2,452 feet. Lewis Production No. 3 Morrow was drilling past 1,850 feet. Snowden & McSweeney No. 1 Howard was drilling past 2,000 feet.

Mmes. C. H. Fee and H. C. Henderson and Miss Betty Fee Spears spent Wednesday in Fort Worth.

Friends of Tax Bill Score Win

AUSTIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Friends of the ten-million dollar omnibus tax bill scored a preliminary victory in the house today, defeating a re-commitment motion almost two to one.

The heavy majority against returning the proposal to the committee was surprising in view of the fact that moves with the same objective failed yesterday only because a two-thirds vote were required at that time.

Sponsors hoped to send the proposal to the economy-talking senate early next week.

Another Captured, and Third Escapes

ANGLETON, Oct. 8. (AP)—One convict was killed, another captured, and a third escaped in a dash for liberty on the Ramsey prison farm yesterday, prison officials revealed today.

George Hernandez of El Paso was slain by Guard Tap Stafford when he and two others tried to escape from a corn gathering squad and run toward the woods.

Antonio Martinez of Houston, serving life for criminal assault, was caught before he reached the woods. Justo Cano, lifer sentenced from El Paso for assault with intent to murder, escaped.

Captain D. R. Vaughn, in charge of the farm, said that dogs and guards had surrounded Cano in the woods and expected his capture soon.

Accuses AFL of Giving "Run-Around"

Midgets Drub Eastland by 27 to 0 Thursday

The Midgets set a good example for the Loboes to follow yesterday when they took the Eastland grammar school boys for a sound drubbing, beating them by a 27-0 margin and outplaying them in every department. The Midgets used only one pass play. All their counters were made on straight line drives and tricky running plays. The Midgets' goal was not once threatened.

Outstanding stars of the Midgets were Captain Tomlinson, Alsop, Boyd, Lancaster, and Tipton. Enoch Brooks replaced Turner at left guard in the third quarter for the only substitution.

The Midgets last year were tied by the Eastland team, neither club making a score. This week's win keeps the record of the Midgets perfect for at least another week.

Lobo-Steer Game to Be Broadcast

The first home game of the Loboes, Cisco high school football team, was to be broadcast over radio this afternoon.

A leased wire was being run into the press box this morning by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company to carry an announcer's description of the contest to a station at Big Spring for broadcasting to interested fans in that area of the state.

Provision was made in the large enclosed press box of the new field for accommodating such broadcasts.

Thanks are due to A. C. Green the Green's Funeral home for a loan of 30 chairs to accommodate newspapermen in the press box of the new stadium at Chesley field this afternoon. I thought these chairs it would have been necessary for the newspaper reporters to either stand, sit on the floor or squat what is known as infinity, latter being that portion of atmosphere between what the newspaperman customarily sits and the floor. The effort to achieve that unsupported posture, however, so violates the laws of gravity and so strains the physiological properties of a person's legs that it is mighty uncomfortable, and our gratitude is due to Mr. Green for his generous loan of the chairs.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I will hear what God the Lord will speak; for He will speak unto His people.—Ps. lxxxv. 8.

Dark though my path in life may prove, The smile of peace, the voice of love, If they my lamp and guide will be, Are all I need in following Thee.

The peace which the Savior gives His own, is peace of heart and mind amid daily duties. It is that "central peace" which may subsist in the heart of endless agitation.—Boyd.

Japanese Dilemma

THE thing which Japan has the most to fear in any war is developing in the turning of world sentiment against her aggressive warfare with China. It is economic stringency. The forthright pronouncement of the American government, branding the invasion of China a violation of the nine-power pact and outright aggression in violation of the principles of international equity, has given strong stimulus to the force of world opinion now turning against the Japanese.

UNDOUBTEDLY the Japanese did not expect either the resistance encountered in China or a long conflict. The ease with which she routed the medieval, badly organized and poorly equipped forces that barred her way to Manchuria made her overconfident. True her armies had a taste of the stiffness of the Chinese backbone when the Chinese are more adequately equipped when the 19th Route army made such a heroic stand at Shanghai in 1934. But the Japanese militarists did not realize that the organization and arming of Chinese soldiers had progressed to such a degree as their forces have now discovered.

It appears that the Japanese have got more than they have bargained for, but having once started they cannot now withdraw without tremendous loss in international prestige and confidence at home.

OTHER OPINIONS

No Pensions Inquiry

YOUNG Bryan Bradbury of Abilene is credited with blocking a movement in the house of representatives to name an investigating committee to examine policies of the old age assistance administration, with special attention to the methods used in reinvestigating applications for aid.

As was foreseen before the amendment was adopted, the old age assistance program has been a political football, kicking around the legislative halls at Austin ever since the subject was first introduced. A smelling committee, to search for something which might be converted into more political thunder for next year's campaign, would give no relief to the needy old people, and would have only the effect of harassing the administration which is attempting to carry out the provisions of the legislature's own laws.

It is not contended by anybody that the administration of the old age assistance law is perfect, but there is an abundance of evidence that both the letter and the spirit of the law are being observed by those in charge of the work. The whole procedure is a new experiment in Texas, and it is inevitable that corrections must be made in it from time to time.

"The old folks ought not to be dangled at the end of a political string," Mr. Bradbury told the house. The figure of speech certainly is not overdrawn.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The brilliant, biting style of examination of witnesses that made Hugo Black, the senator, famous and feared, probably will find little outlet in the supreme court.

Even before the Klan issue arose, veteran hands around the court predicted that the elder justices would make short work of any effort by the vigorous ex-senator to tangle attorneys in their own tales.

Black was relentless in examining recalcitrant witnesses before senate committees. Corporation executives who had survived hours of cross-examination in court with superb calm were reduced to wild-eyed bewilderment under the fire of Senator Black and his colleagues on the lobby investigating committee.

In court, witnesses are protected by their counsel and by certain rules of decorum. But in a senate committee all bars are down and the witness is at the mercy of senators who act as judge, prosecuting attorney and jury. They make their own rules of procedure as they go and show little mercy when in pursuit of evidence to support the legislation for which they are drumming.

His Style Cramped It was in that field, and in his earlier experience as police judge and prosecuting attorney, that Black learned the art that made him the most savage examiner since the late Senator Walsh of Montana, who conducted the Teapot Dome investigation.

Yet when the justice begins his work on the court, his field of examination will be hemmed in swer straight back at the justice who asked the question. Now Black comes to the court skilled as an examiner after facts. But even his best friends would not say he is so quick on the trigger in law as his veteran colleagues. And court observers suspect the elderly justice will be laying for him if he seems to get out of bounds.

Two New WPA Projects Sought by County Court EASTLAND, Oct. 8. (Sp)—Commissioners' court, through County Engineer A. F. Taylor, is preparing to submit to the Works Progress administration two projects which, if approved, will result in expenditure of $63,000 and employment of 140 men for ten months.

Both projects are for grading, drainage and graveling of county roads.

One is for improvement of 9.3 miles of road from Cheaney past Grandview to the Gorman and Desdemona road intersection. Under plans of the engineer the project would total $40,000 and employ 140 men for six months.

A project for improvement of 8.2 miles of Hilburn road from Gray's gin to Pioneer has already been submitted but is being revised to meet new regulations of the WPA. The project would result in expenditure of $23,000 and employ 100 men for four months.

Submission of the projects to Area Engineer R. T. Dickinson is expected.

Touching on London Weather

By IRVIN S. COBB

JOKES aimed at the London climate always are in order among Americans; but Britishers are not quite averse either to poking fun at this institution of theirs.

Only the other day an old gentleman was about to climb into a taxi to escape a terrific snowstorm.

"Cabby," he says, "it's a miserably cold day, isn't it?" "Guv'ner," answers the frost-bitten taxi driver, "I pass you my word I've been out since early mornin' and I ain't seen a single butterfly."

By this I am reminded of a man, on a visit abroad, standing under a dripping portico of a London hotel to be out of a drizzle which he had continued without abatement for three days, and saying to the carriage starter: "Tell me, does it always rain here at this season of the year?"

"No sir," answered the functionary promptly. "Sometimes it rains." And then there's the one about the boy who was riding on the front seat of a Fleet Street bus. Although the month was July, rain had been coming down, practically without cessation for more than a week. An East Indian, garbed all in white passed, slopping along the sidewalk under an umbrella.

Utilization of Waste in Useful Garments Feature of Sewing Room

By R. W. H. KENNON

Wednesday was open-house day at the WPA sewing room, from 3 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and many Ciscoans availed themselves of the opportunity extended by the invitation of Mrs. Callie Ward to visit this project. All were amply rewarded, as the display that greeted them was worth the time and trouble of the visit.

The 20 sewing machines, with each operator, in working uniform, presented a spectacle to the visitor that indicated precision and regularity in the operation of the sewing room. This was the impression made on the visitors as they entered the room. Along the walls were displayed the products of the establishment, to facilitate their inspection by those visiting the place that they might see what is being accomplished by Mrs. Ward and her efficient assistant, Mrs. E. M. Oney, the latter being also time-keeper for the workers.

The products of the sewing room include all kinds of women's and children's garments, men's and boys shirts, underwear, overalls, quilts, some fancy articles and other useful things for the home. There were quite a number of dolls, also, for the children, but since the change in the administration the making of those toys for the needy children has been discontinued.

"It was our purpose to make enough dolls so that every needy little girl in the county could have one," Mrs. Ward explained, "and we regret this was not allowed under the present regulations."

Nothing Wasted All the products of the sewing room are produced at the minimum of expense, as every bit of material is converted into some useful article—there is no waste.

While the dolls and other apparently immaterial trinkets are produced, they represent no cost except time spent in their creation. The material is the scraps from the garments. In the operation of the sewing room the elimination—rather the utilization—of waste material is one of the economical features. Mrs. Ward pointed out a number of house shoes for women which were made from men's overalls and other heavy material, and they looked like nice, comfortable house shoes, and were not unattractive.

Another article shown, made from scraps, was a perfectly good house mop. Mrs. Oney explained that these mops were made from strip selvage of the cloth from which heavy garments were cut. These strings are attached to an old broom handle, so there is nothing wasted. Mrs. Oney said the women are taught to make these articles at home when they are short of money to buy them.

In other words they are taught to supply themselves with useful things that they are not able to buy in the stores.

Another little product that was unique as well as economical was buttons for the girls' and women's dresses. Scraps from the dress material are cut into strips, rolled into the size desired, with a colored strip if desired, all stitched together and used as a trim for the garment, making a very pretty trim.

So it is that economy features all production in the WPA sewing room, together with the imparting of information to the women operators, learning them how to do things, and to do it well. But the display of the finished products will have to be seen to be fully appreciated.

Perfect Workmanship While I know very little about the seamstress art, yet I can appreciate good workmanship, neatness and thoroughness in sewing, especially when I look at those garments worn by men. Those displayed Wednesday had no rough or rugged seams. All were felled, and as smooth as first class tailoring. The men's shirts, overalls, underwear, etc., all presented completeness and perfection in their finish. A dress shirt of white material, compared favorably with the best garments shown from tailored shirt makers. All shirts were as good as one can buy in the average haberdashery. All vents are reinforced with gussets that prevent ripping during the life of the garment. If there is a rip it is not in vents.

Blanton-Garrett Case Goes to Jury Thursday

ABILENE, Oct. 8. (Sp.)—Jury for the plea of privilege hearing in Thomas L. Blanton's $100,000 libel suit against Congressman Clyde L. Garrett and his secretary, J. W. Cockrill, was recessed without reporting at 6 p. m. Thursday, an hour after beginning deliberations.

It will return at 9 o'clock this morning to study 14 special issues upon which the case was submitted by Judge Milburn S. Long of 42nd district court.

Testimony was completed at 10:45 o'clock Thursday, tenth day of the hearing. Charge was read to the jury at 1 o'clock, after which Blanton, appearing as his own counsel, and Carl Springer of Eastland and J. C. Shipman of Abilene, defense attorneys, gave arguments. John Turner of Eastland is also counsel for the defendants.

In his charge, the court defined, legally, the words "conspiracy" and "malice" and the phrase "to reside at a place."

First question asked the jury is whether the evidence shows that the plaintiff resided in Taylor county from July 16, 1936 through August 23, 1936. The next two questions ask if Defendants Garrett and Cockrill entered into a conspiracy to defame the plaintiff, and, if so, if the move was prompted by malice.

Special Issue No. 4 asked the jury if the evidence shows any material statement in any of a specified seven plaintiff's exhibits to be untrue. The exhibits were circulars and newspaper advertisements printed last summer in opposition to Blanton.

Question five, six and seven asked if the evidence showed any of the articles to have been published or caused to be published by Garrett and Cockrill, acting together or singly. Questions eight and nine asked if Garrett or Cockrill, respectively, were actuated by malice, if they published the articles.

Jury was asked in the next two questions whether Garrett or Cockrill, respectively, intended to charge in the article that Blanton had perpetrated a fraud upon his constituents. Question 12 and 13 asked if either of the defendants intended to show Blanton dishonest by the publication of the articles.

These 13 issues are to be answered "yes" or "no."

The final issue asks: "Do you find from a preponderance of the evidence that any one of the seven articles inquired about x x x was not a reasonable and fair comment or criticism of the official acts of public officials, or of matter of public concern published for general information? Answer, "It was not a fair comment or criticism."—or—"Each was a fair comment or criticism" as you find the facts to be."

The defendants are asking, in the plea of privilege, removal of the case to Eastland county. In order to defeat a plea for a change of venue in a libel suit, the plaintiff must show that he has been libeled, this to be determined by the jury in answering the questions.

New Outpost for Avoca Field Will Be Drilled

ABILENE, Oct. 8. (Sp.)—Pits are dug and operators are moving in materials for a new outpost to the Avoca field, a mile west, to be known as the Murray and Harrison et al No. 1 R. N. Rial.

The test was to be spudded either today or tomorrow on a Palo Pinto lime attempt. The owners recently abandoned an outpost on the east side of production after drilling past 3,500 feet. Location of the No. 1 Rial will be 330 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east line of the west half of the north half of the northwest quarter of section 198-BBB&C survey.

Materials were also being moved on location to the northeast for the Thomas D. Humphrey No. 1 A. H. Alston, 440 feet from the north and 1,320 feet from the east lines of the Alston 300-acre tract in section 16, block 3, H&TC survey.

Ungren & Frazier have spudded another test for the Oil States Exploration company of Abilene on a 2,800-acre block to the north of the deep production. It is the No. 1 F. E. Olson, 330 feet from the north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 183-BBB&C survey.

Ungren & Frazier and Jones & Stasney No. 1 Eckdahl, north outpost, had set eight-inch casing at 2,212 feet. It is in section 188-BBB&C survey.

West Henea and Ungren & Frazier No. 1 Dallas Southard, in section 202-BBB&C survey, was underreaming eight-inch to 2,290 to shut off a hole full of water encountered at 2,285 feet.

Operators were delayed by a fishing job past 1,525 feet yesterday on the R. B. Farris et al No. 1 Nowlin, a mile and a half south-east of Stamford.

Railroad commission potential gauge on the Iron Mountain and Humble No. 1 Jones & Stasney, shallow north outpost well to the pool, will be taken this week-end it was indicated. It had been treated with 2,000 gallons of acid at 1,580-87 feet to kick off for an estimated 1,000 barrels daily.

Fain-McGaha and Sinclair-Prarie No. 1 Olson, north of the pool, was drilling past 2,000 feet.

Felmont and Allen No. 1 Woodson, in section 200-BBB&C, was drilling past 1,250 feet.

A Few Kind Words for Jimmy

By IRVIN S. COBB

DURING a political campaign in New York a Tammany leader of the East Side, a self-made man and one not completed in some respects, addressed a mass meeting of Italian-born voters on behalf of the Democratic ticket.

"Gentlemen and fellow-citizens," he began, "I regard it as an honor to be permitted to address you upon the issues of the day. I have always had a deep admiration for yer native land. I venerate the memory of that great, that noble, that immortal Eytalian who was the original and first discoverer of this here land of ours.

"Why, gentlemen, at my dear old mother's knee I was taught to sing that inspirin' song, 'Columbus, the Jim of the Ocean!'"

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 8. (AP)—Cornell university nutritionists have converted cod liver oil into a substance resembling butter.

The new cod liver butter is one step in search for a form of the oil free from heart poison. In animal experiments the Cornell animal nutrition laboratory found that too much of the oil in feed permanently damages the heart. The danger was traced down to a small fraction of the oil.

The Cornell laboratory found that commercially the cod liver oil concentrates sold for animal

Plowboys Meet HSU Frosh in Game Saturday

STEPHENVILLE, Oct. 8. (Sp.)—In their first home game of the season, the John Tarleton Plowboys will meet Hardin-Simmons freshmen next Saturday night on Hays field.

The game will be the first for the boys from Abilene, the starter for what looks like a successful season for Coach Clark Jarnigan's yearlings. Jarnigan can pick from a squad of 34 huskies assembled from the coast of California to the swamps of Georgia. Just how much the Tarleton Plowboys respect them was indicated by Tarleton Athletic Director W. J. Wisdom this week. "These boys," said Wisdom, "will be the toughest we've come up against this season."

Among the backfield men Tarleton will have to stop are Ford of Wheeler, fullback and an excellent blocker; Armstrong from Amarillo; Millins from Henderson; Teague, halfback, and Russ, another fullback from San Angelo. Rodeo Parker, and end from Ozona, stands out with fair strength among the linemen.

To meet that delegation Tarleton will have a line-up from which two of the most dependable Plowboys may be missing. Stevens, fullback from Seymour, received

Viligantes Organize To Capture Ristlers

COLEMAN, Oct. 8. (Sp.)—With a spirit reminiscent of the days of the vigilantes on the trail of "rustlers," Coleman County Livestock association members yesterday were organizing again against thieves who are stealing cattle with the aid of fast and heavy trucks.

"This organization was perfected to prevent the thefts of livestock from the members of the association. Members may be called upon to assist in paying the $250 reward that is posted by the association. The reward will be paid to any person who is responsible for the arrest and conviction of any thief caught stealing livestock from any of the members."

A Growing Suspicion

By IRVIN S. COBB

FOR years Mrs. Grauman, wife of a wealthy retired shirt-waist manufacturer, had been ailing. Or anyhow, she thought she was ailing. She tried one specialist after another, patronized a succession of sanitariums, took the cure here, there and elsewhere. Yet nothing seemed to help her. She remained a chronic complainer.

The husband's patience sorely was tested. Also there was a constant drain upon his checkbook. Mr. Grauman didn't mind the latter so much. Always he had been a generous provider for his family. What secretly irked him was a conviction that the lady's trouble was more or less imaginary; an unspoken but none-the-less sincere belief that his money was being spent to gratify a neurotic's whim. Had Mr. Grauman known the words "malingering" and "hypochondriac" (these undoubtedly were the words he would have applied to his own private diagnosis of the case. Nevertheless, the invalid, after long months of treatment, succumbed to her mysterious malady. She became no more.

On the night before the funeral the mourning widower sat alone by the bier. For long hours he communed with himself. Finally he reached forth a caressing hand and softly patted the casket. "Well," he said, "maybe Mommer was sick!"

Took His Own Case to Court

EASTLAND, Oct. 8. (Sp)—Walking into 88th district court Wednesday afternoon resulted in the confinement of a drunk man in county jail.

Apparently unnoticed, he walked past the division separating the spectators from the "working" part of the court.

Unsteadily, he approached a room at the rear of the court in which were jurors in a case. Deputy Sheriff A. D. Carroll, attending court with Sheriff Loss Woods, astounded, escorted him from the court to the jail.

The sheriff's department said the same person faces a driving intoxicated charge.

The products of the sewing room, at stated intervals, are sent to the commodity rooms at Eastland, from which they are distributed to the relief clients by the case workers.

Crowley Tells His Side in Controversy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP)—Karl Crowley, solicitor for the postoffice department, Thursday said he did "not know to what extent I have been quoted by Senator Holbrook in connection with the controversy in Austin" over balancing the state budget.

The Galveston state senator had said Crowley telephoned him to say he and "Farley are tired of Allred's using our bandwagon." Governor Allred suggested "you query Crowley about that."

Crowley, mentioned as a possible gubernatorial candidate in the next Texas election, said: "It is obvious that the controversy between the senator and Governor Allred has developed into a personal one where outside issues are dragged in."

"This session of the legislature was called to consider the question of new taxes. Almost from the beginning the Roosevelt administration was dragged into the controversy. As a staunch defender of the president, I felt this was unfair and telephoned Senator Holbrook at the capitol in Austin Tuesday night."

"My entire statement to Senator Holbrook was to the effect I did not think it fair that President Roosevelt be dragged into the controversy as to whether economies in state government should be effected before action on the Governor's recommendation for increased taxes."

"I told Senator Holbrook that the president had enough people attacking him without his being made the butt of this purely local controversy."

"I did not quote Postmaster General Farley or any other person in connection with the National administration. I feel that dragging our great president into this controversy is unfair and unjust on the part of either side. There is too much of this business of dragging the president into local controversies all over the country, and apparently, Texas is no exception."

Auxiliary of Presbytery in Meeting Here

A meeting of the District One conference group of the Fort Worth Presbytery was held here at the Presbyterian church Thursday, Oct. 7. The meeting included members from Fort Worth, Abilene, Roscoe, Sweetwater and Cisco.

Mrs. W. W. Wallace, district chairman, called the meeting to order at 10 a. m. with Mrs. C. H. Fee extending a welcome to the visitors and Mrs. Pratt from Abilene giving the response. Mrs. Abbie Daniels conducted the worship service with every member taking part. Following the worship program the various officers over the Presbytery were introduced.

During the morning session, Mrs. Ralls, presbyterian historian, from Fort Worth, gave an interesting talk on "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," going back to the very beginning of women's work in the Presbyterian church which dates back to 1640.

Mrs. Gray, the president of the organization, gave the challenge to the higher officers in the organization, bringing into her talk, the high points of the conferences at Kerrville and Montreat the past summer.

Mrs. Montgomery of Abilene, led the discussion, "Establishing the Minister's Annuity Fund," using a question and answer method.

The meeting was adjourned until 1:30 p. m. during which time a lovely luncheon was served in the basement of the church.

The afternoon session included a very interesting talk by Mrs. Ralph Barton, on "Teaching Bible in Our Public Schools."

Mrs. Gray conducted a discussion on "Looking Ahead With Our Presbyterial Officers and Cause Secretaries." Mrs. Gray used a question box in connection with this discussion, giving every auxiliary an opportunity to have a part in this type of discussion. This was followed by a quartette composed of four Cisco women, Mrs. W. W. Wallace, Mrs. A. E. Jamison, Mrs. Walters and Mrs. F. J. Borman.

Mr. Gray closed the meeting with an inspirational address, using as a basis for his talk, Mark 16:9.

Homemakers Club Meets Thursday

The Future Homemakers club met Thursday morning in the home economics room of the high school. Miss Martha Graves sponsor spoke to the group on the year book and the emblem. Each member will be given a yearbook and emblem. An initiation service will be held for new members Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Anna Joe Tableman, and Gladys French were appointed as a social committee and Katherine Boatman, Joyce Johnston and Venita Phippen were appointed as the invitation committee.

'Chinese Lanterns' Charms Audience at Book Review

Nations may come and nations may go, dynasties may rise and fall, but China, the ancient, the inscrutable, remains changeless through the centuries. This is the impression gained by the author, Samuel Morrill, during his years of living in and trying to catch the spirit of the Orient, and it is the impression vividly conveyed to her audience by Mrs. P. Pettit when she reviewed "Chinese Lanterns, Junks and Jade" yesterday at the high school.

Mrs. Pettit told of Peking (or Peiping), old before the days of the Babylonian empire, when the now sandy plains were luxuriantly wooded and brilliant with birds of marvelous plumage described in the tales of Marco Polo; Peking, with its 30 miles of venerable walls and watch-towers and gates, whose colors change with the changing light of day and lend an atmosphere of brooding mystery and enchantment. From the old Tartar Wall, which stands as an emblem of ancient China and which originally accommodated 4 chariots abreast, a pedestrian may appreciate the strange way in which the city is laid out—walls within walls, with the Purple Forbidden City, containing the palaces of the emperor and open only to members of the imperial family, nestled in the innermost enclosure.

There, long ago, the wise Dowager Empress of China diverted a fund of $51,000,000 collected for a Chinese navy to rebuild the summer palace out of purest marble. It still stands, with its flaming yellow and blue and vermilion tiles, its matchless carvings, and its famous red-lacquered throne, an emblem of the lost soul of China. Writers on the current political situation strive to find in China's resistance to the latest Japanese invasion a new trend in the Chinese characters, an awakening of western influences, but Samuel Morrill feels that the only plane upon which East and West can meet is that of appreciation of the beautiful. The priceless porcelain and paintings of the summer palace and the picture gallery at the gate to the Forbidden City, the brilliant tiles stamped with the royal 5-talon dragon and carried to Peking by camel caravan centuries ago, the gate of birds, where birds of all descriptions are sold for pets (for the Chinese take their birds out for the daily walk and serve their puppies as soup!), the famous Jade Canal and the street of jade where the world's most precious collections are found, the glamorous Street of Lanterns, the china shops, the wealth of amber, which the Chinese say is the soul of a tiger, and which they always make up in strings of 108 oblong beads, on account of a religious symbolism—these are only a few of the wonders of China which occidentals may admire and try to grasp but never successfully imitate, and the discussion of them held Mrs. Pettit's audience enthralled even on a very warm afternoon.

Besides her description of different Chinese arts, she told of many intriguing customs and superstitions of the people—the gauging of the wealth and importance of a deceased person by the hour and elaborateness of his funeral (the highest muck-a-mucks begin the procession about 3:00 a. m., the different vehicles of transportation, ranging from carts with wheels spiked all around to keep pedestrians at a respectful distance to Model T's with their horns popped wide open to impress the less modern, the infinite variety of junks or river boats which have accumulated in lieu of the navy which the Dowager Empress nipped in the bud, the belief in ghosts and dragons and ancestor-worship and the superiority of the male over the female, the complex system of character writing, and many other fascinating subjects. She described more briefly the life and notable facts about other Chinese cities—Shanghai, Canton and Hong Kong in particular. And interspersed through her talk were several beautiful legends, some of which have been perpetuated in opera, designs for chinaware (the well-known Blue Willow-ware) and through other mediums.

The entire proceeds of the book review were donated by Mrs. Pettit to the West Ward P.-T. A. fund, and the officers and members of the P.-T. A. join in grateful acknowledgement of their indebtedness to her, both for her generous contribution and for a most interesting and delightful glimpse of the beautiful side of China—MARY E. CROFTS.

With the streamer line of page one, "New Prison Paper Makes Its Bow To The Inmates," the editor sizes up his policy as follows:

"In the exercise of sound editorial policy we shall print the news of reader interest, no propaganda, but facts and avoid the contagion of falsity...."

Aid to Newcomers
News item No. 1 announced the prison population as 632, eight females and 624 males.

Another item points out, apparently for benefit of newcomers, that the "vital period" of an inmate's life is the "first introduction to the routine of a penal institution.... that the impressions created by the beginning of a man's term may have a great influence on his future conduct."

The first edition announced a short story contest for prisoners, in line with the warden's policy of encouraging creative writing.
