Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

Somehow, I hate to see that landmark go. True enough it is both a menace and an eye-sore. I wonder that more accidents have not occurred because of it than have. It is a relic of the antediluvian period, a monument to the horse and buggy days when ten miles an hour was regarded as a normal speed and a run-away horse was something to create community excitement.

The passages between the suspension beams in the center are so narrow that horse sense was required to negotiate them, a fact that reveals our confidence in horses. Today, roads are built for those who don't have horse sense, or horses to supply that sense, and it is a marvel that more of the automobile drivers who essayed the passage did not end up by trying to straddle the middle of the old bridge. Probably we can ascribe some credit to the cautiousness of the average driver by reason of the fact that most of them took the long way around rather than trust their safety to their judgment.

But there lingers about the old structure an atmosphere of the familiar. The rusty old wooden beams just seem to belong there. It is difficult to get away from the usual. What we become used to we cherish and defend. Very often it takes something like an earthquake to jar us out of the rut.

It took a long, long time for men to discover that beards are useless, except in a few instances. The male section of the population hung on to their long, walrus-like and unhealthy festoons of labial hair and chin feathers for generations after the uselessness and unsanitary

GRANDI PUTS ITALIAN PLAN TO COMMITTEE

Italy Would Agree to Remove "Certain Number" of Troops

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Count Bino Grandi, Italian delegate, told the non-intervention rule committee today that Italy "accepts the proposal for the partial withdrawal of a certain number of volunteers" from the Spanish civil war. The sub-committee adjourned until Tuesday after hearing statements by British, French, Italian and German members. Grandi specified that the withdrawal must be "in equal quantities from both sides." He also demands that belligerent rights be accorded insurgent Generalissimo Franco's regime.

U S ACCEPTS BID TO PEACE PARLEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—United States formally accepted Saturday an invitation to participate in the nine-power treaty conference over the Far Eastern crisis at Brussels on Oct. 30 and designated Norman H. Davis to head this government's delegation. Secretary Hull, in announcing the acceptance a few minutes after the Belgian ambassador had delivered the formal invitation, told his press conference the delegation probably will sail the middle of next week.

Other members of the American delegation were announced by Hull as follows:

Dr. Stanley Hornbeck, special political advisor to the secretary of state on Far Eastern affairs.

J. Pierrepont Moffet, chief of the state department's European division.

Robert T. Pell, an attache of the European division, and Charles E. Bohlen, also attached to the European division.

Hornbeck and Moffet will act as advisors to Davis in the conference proceedings. Pell will accompany the delegation as press officer and Bohlen will act as secretary.

"Peace-by-agreement" between China and Japan stood out as the primary objective of the United States at the conference.

This policy, outlined Friday by President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., will form the basis of instructions to the American delegation.

Loboes Suffer Fourth Loss to Angelo Bobcats

(By JAMES JOHNSON)
The Cisco Loboes suffered their fourth loss of the season at the hands of the powerful San Angelo Bobcats Friday night as they were swamped under a barrage of touchdowns by the much heavier San Angelo team. Despite the fight the home boys put up they could not stem the steady stream of Bobcat touchdowns. The Cisco boys were outweighed heavily and could not turn the almost impossible trick of beating as heavy and experienced aggression as the cats rolled out on the field against them. The Loboes did, however, succeed in holding the Bobcats to 45 points which was some better than other Oil Belt teams have been able to

WORK DUE TO BEGIN MONDAY ON OVERPASS

Old Wooden Bridge to Be Torn Out for New Structure

Actual construction work on the overpass project to carry Highway No. One over the Katy railroad on East Eighth street is due to begin Monday, the effective date of the work order issued the Jensen Construction company, contractors, by the Texas Highway commission.

With that beginning, the old wooden bridge, long a familiar sight, will be torn down and removed to make way for a magnificent four-lane structure of steel and concrete, said to be among the most beautiful in design to be erected in the state.

Almost coincident with the construction of the overpass, work of paving the east half of the relocated Highway No. One route over East Eighth street is due to get under way.

Both projects will involve expenditure of about $160,000 of which the major portion will be paid to laborers.

Six or seven months will be required for completion of the overpass.

Motion Granted to Advance Beer Election Suit

The court of civil appeals for the eleventh supreme judicial district announced Friday that the motion of W. S. Adamson et al, appellants in the appeal of the prohibition election case, in which G. Connally, et al, were the defendants, to advance the hearing of the appeal had been granted. This appeal was taken by the county commissioners and others against the judgment rendered in the 91st district court by Judge B. H. Atchison, of Breckenridge, presiding for Judge G. L. Davenport, who disqualified himself.

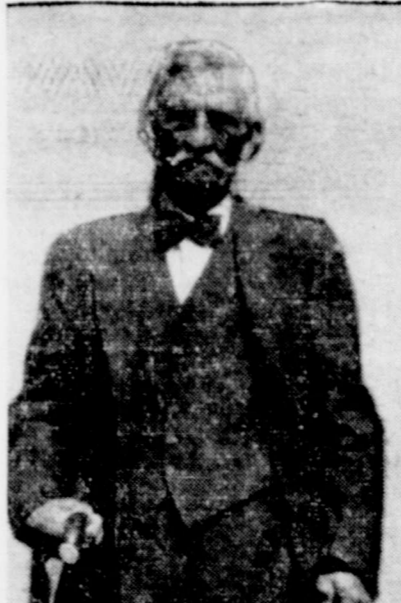

The trial court rendered a decree nullifying the election held to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors of all kinds in Eastland county. A majority of the votes cast in said election favored the prohibition of sale of all intoxicating liquors in the county, and from this decision the county officials and dry forces perfected an appeal, which is now pending, and which this action of the appeals court directly concerns. It is probable a decision will be handed down by the appellate justices this week, in accordance with the court's granting the motion to advance the case.

Many people were under the impression that the action of the appeals court in dismissing the appeal of J. J. Mickle, et al, vs. Clyde L. Garrett, county judge, et al, was a dismissal of the county-wide case tried before Judge Atchison, and in dismissing that case the court had acted upon the last election.

Cisco Scouts In Grid Battle Sat.

The football bug hit the scouts of the two Cisco troops this week as Troops 101 and 4 battled it out to a decision. The boys from 101 used sheer power to nose out their fighting opponents by one point. After a bitter battle the winners were able to convert two extra points after touchdown to one for the losers to make the final score 20-19. Both groups were ready for another scrap as soon as possible.

COAL GAS IS GIVEN BLAME FOR TRAGEDY

350 Other Miners in Shaft Not Affected by Blast

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 16 (AP)—A terrific explosion killed 33 hopelessly trapped men deep in Fulga coal mine near Birmingham early Saturday.

Rescue crews battled heroically through smoke and dangerous gases to bring out the blackened and mutilated bodies.

Only one elbow of the mine was affected, and the remaining 350 workers at Mulga shuddered as they contemplated how narrowly their lives had been spared. If the blast had occurred near the mine entrance all would have been trapped.

Mangled, burned and battered, the bodies were brought up from the depths on coal cars. Approximately 500 spectators, including distraught and weeping wives, children and parents, watched the grim proceedings in horror.

Coal Gas Blamed
The detonation was heard in sections of Birmingham, more than 12 miles from the scene. Fire Marshal Sam Williams blamed coal gas for the blast.

Forrest Kelley, a miner who knew the full import of the explosion, was first to reach his stricken fellow workers.

"Some of them must have been killed by 'black damp,'" he said. "They might have been saved if they had remained in a small pocket which was not demolished."

Others were covered by debris and identification was difficult. The grime-streaked rescue crews pulled their torn bodies from the wreckage of a working approximately four miles from the mine entrance.

One man, Ivan Fox, miraculously escaped the sudden death of the blast. He suffered major burns and was unable to tell of his experience.

The bodies were taken to undertaking establishments at Bessemer, 13 miles from here, where a list of the dead was being compiled.

R. M. Marshall, vice president of the Woodward Iron company, operators of the mine, said the victims were about equally divided between whites and negroes.

Former Eastland Youth Is Killed

Jesse Harrison about 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, was fatally injured in an accident on an oil well near Corpus Christi Friday. Services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at San Antonio. Mr. Harrison is a former employee of the Consolidated Gasoline company at Eastland.

Trail Blazers Remember Those Who Have Died

Resolutions respecting the memory of members of the Old Trail Blazers association of Eastland county were passed at the annual convention of that association held Friday at Rising Star. Among those who died during the 12 months preceding that convention was G. W. Plummer who served as president of the organization for a number of years. Bill Dill of Cisco, one of the founders of the association, was chosen president in his stead. Others who died during the year were Uncle Bill King, Mrs. Fannie Whiteside, Uncle Tom of the wharf tender. No light showed in any window. The heavy scent of wild-grape flowers hung on the air. There was no wind and a silence brooded over the countryside that made the city driver murmur:

"Boy! It would scare you down here when you turn off the engine."

"It's a great country," said Neill. "If a man could only quiet down long enough to appreciate it!"

"Do I leave you now?" "Wait until I make sure that there's a boat."

Neill found a skiff tied to a line running out to a post, and pulled it in. There were no oars in her, but he was beginning to learn the customs of the country now. Searching inside the gate of the wharf-tender's yard, he found the oars in the grass, and silently brought them down.

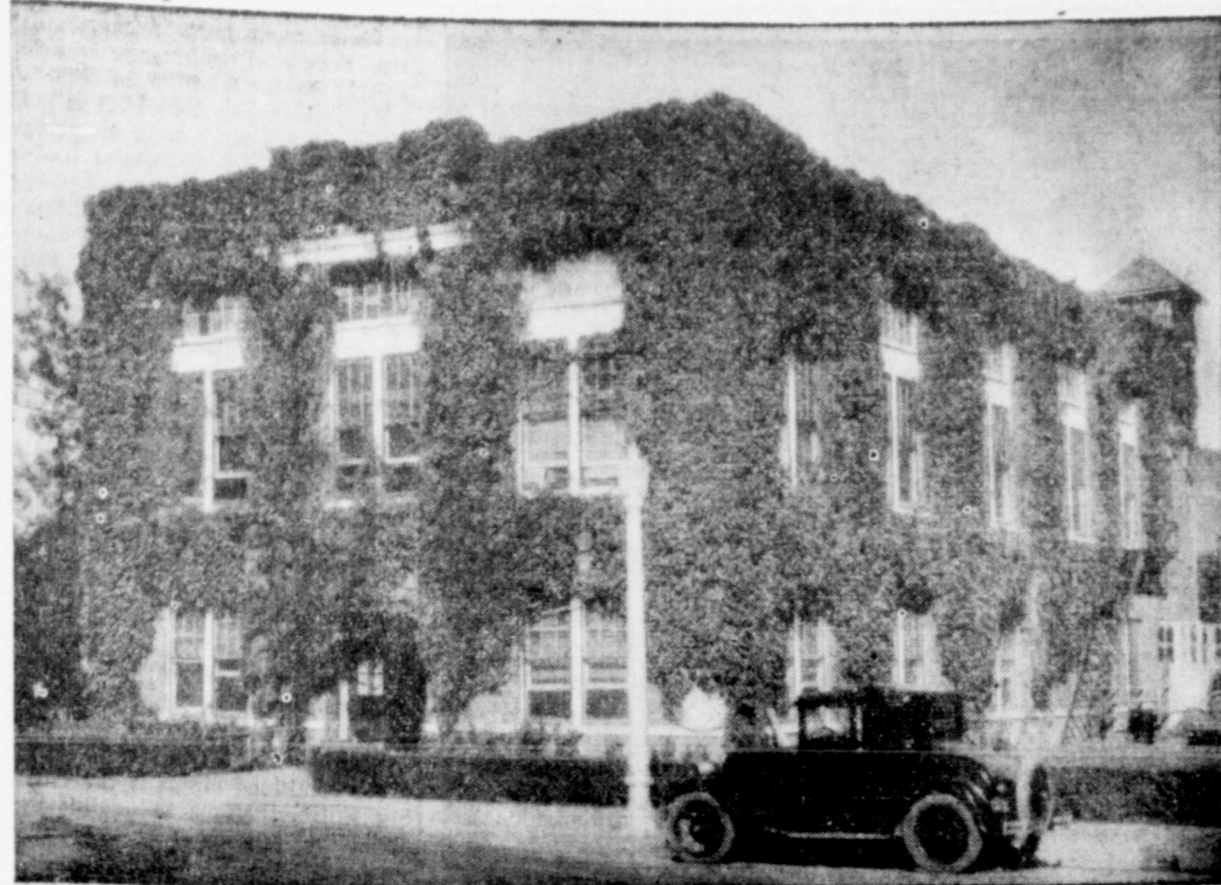

"It's a darn shame to lift the man's skiff," said Neill. "But I'll make it up to him."

He and Johnny shook hands. "You'll be hearing from me," said Neill. "Don't start your engine until I get away from the shore. It might wake up somebody in the house."

"Good luck," said Johnny. Neill rowed out on the dark river. After a minute or two he heard Johnny start his engine. The lights were switched on, and the taxi turned around and disappeared over the hill. Then silence except for the creaking and the dip of his own oars.

When he got across the river he didn't know where he was. It was clear that if the spot was new to him it must be somewhere above the stretch that he had covered before, and he rowed down stream. Before he had gone far louder. Still no answer. He supposed that Janet had fallen asleep and he was divided between irritation and anxiety. How could she sleep when she knew he was coming? She had all day to sleep in. And what the devil was he to do if he couldn't waken her?

After whistling again once or twice, he rowed a little way out from the hull in order to look up at the windows. Even by starlight he could pick out the four windows of Janet's suite. They were larger than the windows on either side. Suddenly with a tightening of his breast he realized that all four windows were closed. There was no mistaking it; in each window the glass was faintly reflecting the star-shine. Naturally she couldn't hear his signal. Why on earth should she close the windows when she was expecting him?

Then he remembered that it was impossible for Janet to move the stiff windows. In the first moment the bottom seemed to drop out of everything. What had happened? Had she been taken away? How could he get aboard without the ladder?

He set his teeth, and got himself under control. He rowed around the ships to the little platform at the foot of the boarding-ladder, and tied his skiff alongside the others. He didn't know if the extra guards were aboard tonight and he didn't much care. If Janet was gone, nothing mattered. There were no lights showing in Captain Bickel's cabin. (Copyright, 1937, by Hulbert Footner)

Neill finds Janet being cross-examined by the police, tomorrow.

FRIGIDAIRE WITH THE METER-MISER will Safeguard the food you eat during

DANGEROUS DAYS AHEAD

Don't rely on makeshift refrigeration methods during Fall and Winter months

• These are dangerous days for food. For many people, believing that the "cool weather" of fall and winter protects food against spoilage, rely on makeshift refrigeration that does not provide protection. • The truth is that nature seldom maintains food-protecting temperatures, and those who rely on inadequate, unreliable refrigeration are actually risking their health and wasting their money. • It is false economy to be without the protection Frigidaire with the Meter-Miser provides. Spoiled food takes its toll in many ways. Don't take needless chances. • Even with a limited income, you can own and enjoy a Frigidaire. For Frigidaire with the Meter-Miser pays for itself out of the savings it makes, and pays a profit besides! • Come in and we will prove it to you. Ask about our pay-as-you-save purchase plan.

SPOILED FOOD WARNS TOO LATE!

Food may look good, smell good, and taste good and yet be unfit to eat! Food spoilage does not always warn of its presence. No one should take chances. For safety, keep food at temperatures between 32 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit, all the time. Frigidaire with the Meter-Miser provides constant safety-zone temperatures, and proves it with a Food-Safety Indicator on the outside of the cabinet door, always in plain sight.

DEAN DRUG COMPANY THE REXALL STORE

Warns Against So Called Specialists And Tree Peddlers

This is the ninth in a series of articles on the planting of trees and shrubs by J. B. Ely, Wright local tree and shrub man.

Planting time is almost here and now my dear people I want to repeat my timely warning, "don't buy this nursery stuff on these trucks and trailers. They haul it around from town to town till they sell out and some of it is weeks old and maybe months old before they sell it and it is dead when you plant it out and as I have said before, cedars will hold their green color for weeks. Maybe after you plant it and then they will gradually turn brown. You will wonder why, the answer is, "it was dead when you planted it."

We live too close to nurseries to allow these peddlers to humbug us in such a way. We can run over to Fort Worth or Dallas and get what we want and get back home and plant it out the same day by having our holes dug before we go after them. This is the best thing to do, then we can be sure they will live. Of course if one plants them outright and takes care of them.

And another thing I wish to mention. We have some so-called specialists who come around to the homes and tell our ladies they are tree specialists and always find diseases in your shrubs and want to treat them. I don't want to brand all as frauds but so many are out just to make what they can. What I want to say is that we have a good honest vocational man here to whom we can go for advice concerning our tree and shrub trouble. If you need advice, call Mr. Caudie. I'm sure he will give you good honest advice, and I am sure too he knows more about trees and shrubs diseases and treatment than most of these so-called specialists. And our old friend J. B. Ely is well read up on this line and will likely tell you what to do and I might be able to help you. We are living here and feel interested in your problems and will give you conscientious honest advice and help you in any way we can.

I find that I make enough mistakes at the best but I am here to correct any and all mistakes if you will call my attention to them.

Now this is plain talk dear people but I believe I'm telling you the truth. I shall have something to say later on about the treatment of trees and shrubs spraying for insects etc. So hoping this warning will save you from being humbugged, I am yours for honest, sincere service. Two Great Pals

Circus To Move Into Cisco Mon. With Big Show

That exciting, thrilling hour, which has caused Johnny all week to keep his ears scrupulously scrubbed, is upon us. In fact with sunup tomorrow, it's here. The exact minute is when the great special two steel trains of the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus rumble to a stop in Cisco and begin unloading for the seasons first day of white-top amusement.

Circus Day! The holiday that makes all the city kin and which brings the rich and poor to sit side by side and "Ah" and "Oh" and marvel at the wonders and daring that neither age nor time can dim.

Circus Day! A phrase that brings a quickening of the blood stream; a sparkle to the eye and untold joy to thousands. And now its only twelve hours away.

Dawn tomorrow will bring to Cisco some 26 acres of ten necessary to house this colossal amusement enterprise formed by the uniting of these world famous names of the tented world.

Hundreds upon hundreds of the world's foremost arenic stars, and scores of European novelty acts are part of this year's colossal program. Features never before attempted are made possible because of the uniting of these two giants of the tented world. One of the many hundreds is the largest group of ferocious jungle beasts ever assembled. Despite the fact these unruly animals refuse to be tamed or trained they are made to perform.

This daring feat is accomplished by Bert Nelson, the greatest wild animal trainer in the world. Mr. Nelson, with only a chair and whip as his protection steps into the cages and forces the brutes to obey his command. No more stirring, or thrilling sight has ever been, or ever will, be witnessed.

While everything is new with the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus for the 1937 season, every department has been greatly increased in size. This year sixty master clowns cavort and make merry on the huge hippodrome track. Four hundred horses comprise the horse fair, while the menagerie consists of 800 furred and feathered creatures displayed in electric-lighted cages.

The greatest riding act ever brought to America, the famous Cristian troupe come to this super circus direct from European triumphs. Composed of four men and their two sisters, this sensational turn features Lucio, the only rider in the history of the world accomplishing twisting somersaults from horse to horse. In the European contingent is also daring, exotic Amerika, in breathtaking balancing feats high in the dome of the tent, on a swinging trapeze. Amerika, without holding to ropes or supports, tiptoes about on swinging and whirling bars, uttering the last gasp in daring. Hal Silvers, unrivaled and most versatile genius of the tight wire is also from Europe, as are the Fly Artonys and the two Karleys.

The colossal opening spectacle. Old Mexico uses hundreds of costumes and gowns richly inlaid with jewels. Hundreds of animals take part in this pageant of unbelievable loveliness.

Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. at the Air port, the doors opening an hour earlier.

Down town general admission and reserved seat tickets on sale circus day at Moore Drug Co.

The Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto combined circus is the only big railroad circus to exhibit in Cisco this season.

Homemakers Club Meets Thursday

Homemakers club met for regular meeting Thursday afternoon. Plans for the yearbook were discussed. Miss Gladys French appointed chairman of the committee. Miss Sue French, president, read the Homemakers' creed, written by Noel Crowell, poet of Texas. Miss Martha French, club sponsor, told interesting facts of the creed and of the writer.

I believe that the home is a woman's natural environment. In it there is much art in making a barren house into a comfortable home as there is in making a life of duty and beauty in service a career for women. Making offers greater opportunities for growth and spirit, for exercise of the body, than any other occupation. I believe that one who has the intelligence to keep her home in order is wise enough to be a force in any community. My desire to one of the greatest women of the world to live sweeter and better because I live and love to do my duty well."

Miss Jane Gilman Complimented on 13th Birthday

Miss Jane Gilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Gilman, was complimented by her mother with a supper and theatre party Saturday in celebration of her 13th birthday. A Halloween theme was featured throughout the party. Festoons of pumpkins, black cats and skeletons decorated the doorways and windows. A witch perched on the shade of a floor lamp and a long black skeleton hanging on the door gave a spooky atmosphere to the rooms.

The Halloween theme was further emphasized in the dining room where the table was covered with orange and black and edged with a chocolate cake centered with 13 candles. At both ends of table were horns of plenty filled with golden cosmos and a huge pumpkin face was suspended from the chandelier above. The fruit salad in clever arrangement featured a perfect face wearing a high top hat and the sandwiches were made to resemble faces. Lillian Spears and Wilborn Ghormley won prizes in the scrambled word contest. Other games furnished entertainment during the afternoon. Following supper the guests attended the picture show. Those present were Jane Gilman, Lillian Spears, Marilyn Shertzer, Brenda Louise Warwick, Margaret Ann McDonald, Ruby Kent, Byrna Goldberg and Billie Wright, Norman Ball, Wilburn Ghormley, James Flournoy, Billie Sherman, Paul and Silas Ely. Favors of little hats

Deens, Uncle Eph Goss and Mrs. I. W. Jones.

The association numbered at the time of the convention Friday 48 active members. This list was increased by the addition of several new members. The initiation fee was maintained at $1 with annual dues of $1. The age limit for admission has been lowered to 40 years.

Among the "old-timers" who were present for the convention Friday were John Nobles, Will Anderson, Jim Clark, John Cooper, Pink Bearden, Cap Poe, Bob Townsend, Joel Reed, Mose Roach, D. M. Jacobs, Bob Harper, Gus Horton, Clay Cade, Joe Busby, Joe Hearn, Terrell Brooks, Sid Brooks, Joe Noncaster, George Harden, Pearce Burns, Walter Burns, Merett Rea, Ed Bucy, Frank Dunn, Bob Edwards, Jim Newton, Pete Roach, Charlie Smith, Dr. Buford, Bill Tyler, Bill Dill, Bill Shults, Ed Curry, Reed Patterson, Dr. Bill and Jake Lamb.

The resolutions prepared by a committee consisting of C. B. (Cap) Poe, J. W. Clark and J. L. Noble, were:

In memory of the deceased members of the Old Trail Blazers association whose passing has occurred since our last annual meeting.

Whereas, it has pleased All Mighty God to remove from the walks of men the following named members of the Old Trail Blazers association:

G. W. Plummer, who served as president of the association for several years.

Uncle Bill King. Mrs. Fannie Whiteside. Uncle Tom Deens. Uncle Eph Goss. Mrs. I. W. Jones; and

Whereas, all earthly scenes of our departed friends have gone forever; yet memory will not permit the knowledge of our pleasant association together to fade from our minds and hearts; and Whereas, there is a supernatural or other influence which comes to each of us and gives notice that the time has almost come when we, too, shall lay down life's burdens, when all ties that bind us will be severed; and

Whereas, the Old Trail Blazers association and its members this day assembled possess a radiant hope of a blessed immortality and we assemble here feeling secure in the knowledge that our demunion. The public is cordially invited.—E. H. Riese, pastor.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 17.

The golden text is: "God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord" (I Corinthians 1:9).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Corinthians 5:18).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit,—the law of divine Love."

Webster defines "loans" as follows: "Anything furnished for temporary use.

When we pay what we borrow we make progress . . . we build up . . . we acquire.

When we merely pay interest on what we borrow we mark time. We all have a certain unsound feeling about a loan that runs on and on—never getting any smaller.

Obviously a loan is something that should be repaid . . . otherwise its usefulness has been destroyed.

Young Men's Club Organized Friday

The B. S. C., a recently organized boys club, met Friday night at 8 o'clock at the home of one of the members, Bill Hays. The first part of the meeting was devoted to various games and a general good time. The latter part of the meeting was given over to a discussion of business and completion of organizing, started the last meeting. Melvin was elected as president of the club and Tom Stamey as president.

Members of this club from about 18 to 22 years of age. This club was organized to establish a closer social relationship between the young men of town over high school age. Club meets every Friday.
