Alois Hitler's Son Comes Home

For years Alois Hitler might have despaired of his son Adolf's future. . . . A failure as an art student, an itinerant house-painter, a mere corporal in the German army, then a political prisoner in Munich . . . But when Adolf Hitler came home the other day, it was as the undisputed master of his native Austria and he indulged in the sentimental gesture pictured above—a silent eight minutes spent before his parents' flower-strewn grave in Leonding while his conquering bombers roared overhead.

Missouri Males are Domestic Minded

Bumper Grain Crop Is Believed Assured by Moisture

Rains, which could not have been more timely for their influence on the young wheat crop if they had been especially ordered, totaled 1.8 inches here Saturday and Sunday, according to the gauge at the city hall.

Many farmers said that the moisture has insured a bumper crop provided no destructive influences occur, and growers were jubilant over the prospects.

San Angelo Man Is Found Shot to Death Here

Funeral services for E. W. Lambert, 58, San Angelo, who was found shot to death in his room at a local hotel late Sunday afternoon, will be held at Eastland Tuesday morning at 10 a. m.

A verdict of suicide was returned by Justice of the Peace Joe Wilson following an inquest Sunday night. The body was found by Jack Cobleigh, day clerk at the hotel, who investigated failure of Mr. Calvert to appear at any time during the day Sunday, and discovered him sitting in a chair between the bed and the dresser, his right arm resting on his chest and a 38 caliber pistol lying beside his right foot. There was a bullet wound at the base of the brain behind the right ear. The body was taken to the Green Funeral home.

Two envelopes, one addressed to his wife and another to a daughter, were found. The envelope addressed to Mrs. Calvert contained a letter with instructions for disposing of several obligations. The other envelope was empty.

Members of the family were reported to have said that Mr. Calvert had been in ill health and dependent over financial reverses.

Registered Thursday

Hotel officials and employees said at the inquest that the man had registered Thursday afternoon, leaving a notice to be called at 5:30 Friday morning. He seemed preoccupied and spoke in monosyllables, and the peculiarity of his attitude led them to watch him closely during Friday and Saturday, frequently calling at his room and changing gas connections when there was a smell of gas. He responded whenever called and Sunday morning when he did not appear they concluded that he was sleeping late. Presence of a light in his room however aroused suspicion and when Miss Mable Daniel manager of the hotel asked Mr. Cobleigh to call at the room and either receive a satisfactory response or force the door, Mr. Cobleigh found the door unlocked and discovered the body.

U. S. Cuts Its Silver Price Cent an Ounce

Reduction Follows Break in London Market Because of Fear of U. S. Refusal to Buy Mexican Metal

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The treasury reduced today from 45 to 44 cents per ounce its price on foreign-produced silver. The reduction followed a break of more than a cent in the London silver market today because of fears that the United States decision to discontinue its purchases of Mexican silver might presage abandonment of its stabilizing influence on world silver prices. Government officials did not explain the reduction.

CARDENAS SAYS U. S. CANCELS PURCHASES

MEXICO, D. F., March 28 (AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas Sunday announced the United States had canceled its purchases of Mexican silver, effective April 1, in a move interpreted here as reprisal for Mexico's expropriation of her foreign oil industry.

(In Washington a treasury spokesman disrupted Cardenas' statement, declaring the United States had reached no decision and that none would be made until April 1, after the government's commitment to buy Mexican silver during March has expired.)

Diplomatic sources said the effect of the asserted cancellation on Mexico's economy might be negligible for the time being, but was significant as indicative of a major shift of the policy of kindly tolerance extended Cardenas' three-year-old liberal regime by the United States government.

The fate of the Cardenas government was said to rest upon working out the difficult economic situation precipitated by the expropriation—a task made immeasurably harder, it was agreed, if United States support is withdrawn.

"We are prepared to prevent the effects of this decision from reacting injuriously upon our economy," Cardenas said.

"We desire that, once the nation learns of this fact, that it be judged with the necessary serenity and justice, since it is an act executed by the will of that (United States) government."

"We have taken the necessary steps so that the funds derived from the exploitation of petroleum be used preferentially for the development and utilization of industry, and for the amortization of the debt contracted with the nationalization of petroleum."

"It is necessary to take into account also that the government of the United States has announced that the purchase of part of the (country's) silver production it has been making of Mexico will be canceled after the first day of April."

WAS LAST OF VERSAILLES PACT SIGNERS

Private Service to Be Held With Burial at Houston

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Colonel Edward House, 79, internationally known as a close advisor of President Wilson during the World War era, died today after a long illness. For many years House was active in the affairs of the democratic party. He climaxed this activity when he became the personal representative of President Wilson to European governments beginning in 1914.

Colonel House was the last survivor of the American signatories to the treaty of Versailles. He was born in Houston, and was the youngest of a family of seven. He attended school in New Haven, Conn., later went to Cornell university. In 1881 he married Miss Lucille Hunter of Austin. They had two daughters, Mrs. Rudolph Tucker of Boston, and Mrs. Gordon Auchincloss, of New York. All survive.

The funeral services will be private. The body will be sent to Houston for burial.

Insurgents Occupy Fraga in Advance

CATALONIA, Spain, March 28 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces today occupied Fraga, gateway to Catalonia, and advanced northeast along the highway toward Lerida and Barcelona.

Generalissimo Franco's Moroccan legions laid siege to Fraga, six miles from the border of Catalonia and less than 100 miles from Barcelona, and after crossing the Cinca River behind a terrific artillery bombardment.

Insurgent communiques said the advance was continuing at an accelerated pace along the entire Aragon front.

Clean-up forces captured 227 government soldiers at Candans, west of Fraga, "gateway to Catalonia."

Everywhere, the insurgents reported, government troops were "fleeing in disorder." Hundreds of warplanes participated in the assault along the 190-mile front, bombing and machine gunning government forces as they fell back.

Occupy Defense Center

Navarrese troops occupied Lascelas, about 15 miles west of Barastro, one of the government's principal defense centers fronting on the northern wing of the insurgent offensive.

At dawn Sunday, insurgent military dispatches said, more than 100 towns had been captured in the preceding 24 hours, along with thousands of prisoners and an "incalculable" quantity of war materials.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Pray now unto the Lord... God answereth him in the joy of his heart.—Jer. xxxvii. 3; Ecc. v. 20.

Who sees God near... Lo, the speech to speak, in living fear. So joyous is he, so astonished.

If every morning we opened our hearts to God, as we open our windows to the sun and air, God would fill it with that calm, sweet joy which elevates the soul...

A Wise Move?

THE right of the Mexican government to expropriate private property must be admitted provided the companies from whom these properties are seized are fairly compensated.

SO foreign capital is going to be quite chary of Mexican opportunities, and Mexico must be prepared to exploit and develop her industrial resources herself. The job is quite too much for private capital in that country and it will be necessary for the government to take over most of the responsibility for financing and operating the properties.

THE ultimate danger of the expropriation must be apparent to President Cardenas and he is certainly due credit for courage. A market must be found for the petroleum if the government's action is to be successful.

LOVE LAUGHS AT THE DOCTOR

by ELINORE COWAN STONE Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS: CONSTANCE MAIDWELL—heroine, the stand-in. DEREK MANTHON—an artist who loved money first. HILDEGARDE THORVALD—Derek painted her portrait. DR. ROGERS—the met his most difficult case.

Yesterday, as a stand-in for Constance Wynne, Constance spends her first day at the Thorvald ranch. Advised by the doctor not to take her riding too seriously, Constance is about to reply scathingly when he speaks again.

CHAPTER XVI YOU committed Miss Wynne to a rather large slice of humble pie, didn't you?" Dr. Rogers went on, his eyes coolly amused on hers.

His quizzical look faded, and he said with an abrupt resumption of brisk, professional concern, "You're terribly tired, aren't you? Now I think you'd better go to your room and let me arrange to have your dinner sent up.

Constance's lip curled in angry amusement. "Rest. When, somewhere in the house was Derek. And so much to be said between them.

He was going on, "I shouldn't be surprised—" but Constance interrupted with dangerous smoothness. "You are about to say that you wouldn't be surprised if I had another difficult day ahead of me?"

SUDDENLY all the resentments and frustrations of the day flared up in a need to thrash about and hit out at some one.

"You don't miss a single detail, do you, Doctor? Life to you is an orderly pattern of nurses and obedient patients who trot off to bed when you send them, so that at dawn they may be up and doing—nice and adult, the way you like them."

"I was about to say," he said stiffly, "that I shouldn't be surprised if you wondered why Miss Thorvald hadn't shown up yet. I have an idea she's going to be annoyed with me tomorrow; but as a matter of fact, I have given orders that she must sleep as long as she can, because—"

"Don't tell me why. I know already," Constance cut in, her voice rising recklessly in a kind of triumphant chant. "Because she's likely to have a difficult day tomorrow."

She was rolling on now with the rising tide of hysteria, without a chance of stopping herself, even if she had cared to try.

"I suppose," she rushed on, "that every evening when you're through playing with your funny little test tubes, you say to the squirming things in them, 'Now just stop wriggling, my dears, and settle down for the night, because—'"

"Will you get into your room and keep quiet—with an apprehensive glance toward the door of the sick room, he advanced swiftly upon her—or am I going to have to carry you in and hold you down in a tub of warm water?"

"—because?" Constance brought out on a high, triumphant note before he smothered her hysterical mirth against the shoulder of his coat. "You may have a difficult day tomorrow."

He picked her up unceremoniously, carried her into her own room, and closed the door. For a few moments she laughed uncontrollably; then laughter gave way to tears.

WHEN it was over, she looked up with a defiant, shamefaced stare to find Mark Rogers standing over her, his eyebrows raised, his hands in his pockets, his lips pursed in a thoughtful whistle.

"Well," he said grimly, "you win. You're a better doctor than I am, Gunga Din. . . . You know what you needed, and you went and did it. . . . I wash my hands of you. Go to bed when you get damn good and ready."

Nevertheless, Constance's dinner was served in her room that night, and there she ate it.

She spent the evening hoping at every movement in the hall outside that it would be Derek coming to find her. It was very late, however, when a knock sounded at her door. When she opened the door, one of the Mexican servants stood outside with a note.

"The señor Manthon, the man said, had told him that la ama de la casa wished this letter given to the Señorita.

"But I don't understand," Constance said. "Who?"

"La señorita Thorvald, the señor told me. 'In English la ama de la casa is mistress of the house.'"

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The Reorganization Bill If the bill for the Reorganization of the Executive passes in its present form we shall have gone a long way toward establishing authoritarian government in the United States.

The events of the last fortnight, all over the world, have occupied the front page headlines. The reorganization from them has stupefied us all.

Needling $100 for work on their clubhouse now in stage of construction, girl and boy members of the Kokomo 4-H club plan presentation of a three-act comedy, "Everybody's Getting Married," in the school house of the community room.

Noted by Agent Barnhart in a state-wide farm record keeping contest sponsored by a farm machinery company. Last year Earnest Bob Dobbs of Colony was state winner. First prize is a $500 merchandise certificate.

Agent Barnhart expects to have organized soon a boys' 4-H club at Kokomo. Organization would mark the thirteenth club for the county.

That the whole structure of our administrative system needs overhauling and reforming is beside the point at this moment. What we really need, and need desperately, is an extension, not a diminishing, of Congressional control and the creation of a more efficient apparatus for that purpose.

This bill moves in exactly the opposite direction. It gives the President complete power over the bureaus, the agencies and the public corporations, which, with their immense funds and their immense powers, have the capacity to make or break the economic and social structure of the country, and over this bill the President will be subject to less supervision than is given to the head of any private corporation in the United States.

He will be given the power "to transfer, regroup, co-ordinate, consolidate, reorganize or abolish" all of the administrative agencies. This might conceivably be a desirable move for greater efficiency, provided that some check, somewhere, is exercised by the repre-

the incredible lack of subtlety of these naive Gringos. When Constance glanced down at the sealed envelope in her hand, she thought she understood. The envelope was one of the kind Derek habitually used—as the servant must have known—had used ever since she had known him.

She thought, How childish of Derek—and how utterly like him. But what possible difference could it make if the whole house knew he had written her a note?

"Connie, dear," Derek wrote. "Back of the house is a grove of fruit trees. I will be there at eleven. The servants will have gone to bed by that time."

AND what, Constance wondered, had the bedtime of the Thorvald servants to do with her? Then she remembered the time Derek had stolen up to her apartment after midnight bringing the news of Ernest Thorvald's first visit to his studio—and some sandwiches and a bottle of Amontillado to celebrate the event—absurdly secret about it all, boyishly triumphant over having eluded the curiosity of the second-floor back.

Derek was incurably romantic. Constance laughed, threw an evening wrap over her entirely respectable lounging pajamas, and slipping silently through the sleeping house, hurried toward the grove.

The moon was high and unbelievably white, lighting the distant mountains with mystery and flooding the valley with magic—etching the vines about the house in dense black lacework against the creamy walls, while each pale flower stood out in startling relief.

As Constance sped along the fragrant hedge bordering the rear of the grounds, the sense of living in a dream that had been with her throughout the unpredictable happenings of the last twenty-four hours still held her.

It seemed the result of some strange miracle, after all these weeks of hoping and doubting and almost despairing, that within a few minutes she was to be with Derek again—without either of them having lifted a finger to bring it about. . . . Without Derek's having lifted a finger to bring it about, she remembered soberly.

Perhaps it was having to remember that which gave her this troubling sense of unreality, as if she had been handed a treacherous fairy gift, which might vanish at her first attempt to touch it.

Then she saw Derek waiting for her, and forgot everything else in the joy of his nearness.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE I have just had my sister. "What's that?" you may ask. Well, that's what it is; and I'm glad it is. I've got to where I can hardly do without it, but I can't if I have to. I can take it, or I can leave it alone. But why should anyone object, so long as I don't interfere with anybody else? I can see no harm in it; I think it's a good thing for any one. I can get it and run down, and there's no telling what might happen then. A fagged nerve has had many a battle, or put many a driver into the ditch, or cost many a worker his position. But let me take just one of my favorites, and I am all pepped up again; I'm like a new man! And what if there is a little harm in it; you can't get a man to abstain by try-

FARM AND HOME DEPARTMENT

Elmo V. Cook, county agent; Hugh F. Barnhart, assistant; Miss Ruth Ramey, home agent; Miss Mable Caldwell, assistant.

A report received by Agent Cook showed Eastland county cotton production in 1937 was 2,516 bales as compared to 1936's 2,845 bales.

On Tuesday of this week were scheduled meetings at Rising Star, German, Ranger, Eastland and Cisco for the explanation of the 1938 range program.

Albert Bennett, Joe Bob Brown, E. H. Peitit, the latter sponsor, of the Gorman 4-H clubs this week on Wednesday morning were to have appeared on a radio program over an Abilene station, telling "What Our 4-H Club Has Accomplished by Attending the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show."

Neil Eaves of Kokomo has been centered by Agent Barnhart in a state-wide farm record keeping contest sponsored by a farm machinery company. Last year Earnest Bob Dobbs of Colony was state winner. First prize is a $500 merchandise certificate.

Agent Barnhart expects to have organized soon a boys' 4-H club at Kokomo. Organization would mark the thirteenth club for the county.

Needling $100 for work on their clubhouse now in stage of construction, girl and boy members of the Kokomo 4-H club plan presentation of a three-act comedy, "Everybody's Getting Married," in the school house of the community room. Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Higginbotham of Kokomo—both are sponsors of clubs in the community—will direct. Ninety loads of rock have been dug and hauled to the clubhouse site with County Commissioner Newt Crasley furnishing a truck.

Ranger 4-H boys' club is having arranged a meeting site at the old post office building in Ranger.

Saturday, April 16, at the city park in Eastland was announced as the date for the annual 4-H club girls' and boys' rally to feature recreational activities. Each club is expected to contribute to the program. Extension experts have been invited.

Miss Caldwell reported that Mary Louise Bond of Colony, Berda Mae Eaves of Kokomo and Hazel Day of Okra, have completed their goals as clothing demonstrators, having made closets, kept inventories of clothing and assembled sewing boxes. Also, said Miss Caldwell, each has planted 200 feet of vegetables for each member of their families.

Finds Historic Emblem Near Home

AUSTIN, March 28 (Spe)—William H. McDonald, state land commissioner, this week found a historic emblem for which he had been searching for years—and discovered a bit to his chagrin, that it was within 10 miles of his home town of Eastland, Texas.

The famous flag, made by women volunteer workers of the old Houston Bayou region, had passed from one member of the Parsons' brigade to another until Capt. Robert Willis Bonner, blind veteran of Weatherford, gained control of it. He kept it for several years, but later turned it over to General Marshbanks of Waxahachie, the commander. When Gen. Marshbanks died—the last surviving member of the famous Texas fighters—he had made a provision in his will that the flag should be perpetuated, and willed it to Mrs. A. B. Conway of Ranger, 10 miles from McDonald's home town, the daughter of the blind Capt. Bonner. She now lives at Mineral Wells.

Mrs. Conway, a leader in Texas D. A. R. circles, placed the flag in a miniature museum of G. A. Holland at Weatherford for years, and later gave it to her son, Bobby Campbell. At present it is in safekeeping at the home of Mrs. Irving Pierce, 5726 Tremont street, Dallas, a sister of Campbell.

It is the hope of McDonald, who probably has spent more time than any state official is reviving the romanticism of Texas history, that the famous flag can be obtained for the state capitol. Being, as he is, a remote relative of the famous Ranger Captain "Bill McDonald," the land commissioner has spent many of his days of office delving into Texas history extending from the days before the Alamo through the Civil War.

Texas Commercial Failures Decline

AUSTIN, March 28 (Spe)—There was a decline in the number of commercial failures during February in comparison both with the preceding month and the corresponding month last year, the University of Texas bureau of business research has announced. Total liabilities of the bankrupt firms was slightly above those of January but below those of February last year.

"According to reports from Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., there were 12 failures in February, 20 the month before, and 14 in February," the bureau said. "Liabilities totaled $148,000, an increase of 4.3 per cent over January but a decline of 8.2 per cent from February a year ago."

that he was appealing from the ruling to the 91st district court. The case marks the first in Eastland county under the amended liquor laws.

Representing Eastland county last week at the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association meeting at Brownwood were Judge Adamson, commissioners A. N. Searly and Henry Davesport of Ranger, Auditor Don Parker and Engineer A. F. Taylor. Mrs. Adamson and Miss Marguerite Adamson, wife and daughter of Judge Adamson, accompanied him to the session.

A setting of civil cases April 11 has been made by Judge Adamson. A jury will be summoned. L. H. Fiewellen, trustee, won a $379.15 judgment in county court from Sig Faircloth. Added to the amount was court costs and interest on the sum.

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK

amounting to $12,411. Last month there were 829 checks which totaled $12,283.

Marriage licenses were issued W. J. Britain, Miss Irene Kelley, Cisco, and Rex Bailey and Miss Leota Moore, Desdemona.

OFFICE OF THE ASSESSOR-COLLECTOR

(C. H. O'Brien, assessor-collector) Only 2,000 automobiles had been registered the first of the week as O'Brien's office became more crowded since April 1 is the final date for using 1937 plates. Also licenses were issued at Cisco, Ranger, Gorman and Rising Star in addition to the assessor-collector office at Eastland.

New cars registered: 1938 Chevrolet coupe, H. C. Henderson, Cisco.

Texas Industries Active As Their Number Rises

AUSTIN, Texas, March 28 (Sp)—The building of additional oil refineries and the location in the state of concerns established to serve the oil industry account for the principal manufacturing activities in Texas during the month of February, Clara H. Lewis, editorial assistant in the University of Texas bureau of business research, pointed out in her latest monthly survey of Texas manufacturing developments. The Humble Oil and Refining company has completed its new refinery at Bloomington, and the Amoco Refining corporation has built an electrically operated plant at Corpus Christi.

"The new industries include: Baking, Inc., Houston, manufacturing piston rings; C. F. Ryan Tool company, Houston, reconditioning oil field tools; and the Ralph Pierce Sheet Metal company, Dallas," Mrs. Lewis said.

"Broadcast Recordings, Inc.,

Dallas, which began operation in February is the only concern in the state producing electrical transmissions for radio broadcasting, according to our present information.

"Among other industries beginning operation during the past month are: Gilbert E. Olson company, Houston, air conditioning equipment; Clyde E. Ponder, Dallas, commercial uniforms; Service Operating company, Dallas, bakery; Morgan Brothers Planting Mill, Dallas, and the new plant of the Gulf Portland Cement company at Houston.

Canning Plants
"A total of twenty canning plants in the lower Rio Grande valley reported the sum of $172,000 spent for citrus fruit to be used in canning during February. An additional $14,000 was spent for vegetables by this group of canneries, most of which was paid to producers of spinach.

"Besides the list of twelve new industries which began operation during February, others, including a new canning plant at Jacksonville and a packing house at Lufkin are reported under construction.

"Some of the following list of concerns to which charters were granted since February 1 are already in operation:

"Silverton Clay Products corporation, Fort Worth, mining; Barber Asphalt corporation, Dallas, home office New York, asphalt; Permian Clay company, Pecos, mining and manufacturing; Atlantic Lumber company, Houston, Shilstone Testing Laboratory, Inc., Houston, No-Spring Shade company, Dallas, shades; Texas Nu-Wall and Manufacturing company, Dallas; Air Associates, Inc., Dallas, home office Garden City, N. Y., air conditioning; U. C. Murrell, Inc., Houston, home office in California, steel and iron; Kenneth Fraunheim, Houston, steel and iron; Barnett Printing and Stationery company, Houston, printing and publishing; The Texas Times-News, Tuleo; Wilkinson Gin company, Robinsonville; Smith and Griffith Gin company, Crosbyton; Magnolia Masonry Manufacturing Company, Inc., Houston; Pepsi-Cola Bottling company, Wichita Falls; Beeker Cheese company, Inc., Houston; Liquor Sunshine company, Houston, beverages; E. Democratic government is on the defensive in every country in the world. It has been overthrown in state after state. And in not one single instance has it been overthrown by violent revolution. The revolutions which have already taken place have all been accomplished by breaking down the democratic checks, and thus concentrating the power in the hands of a few men.

over the people's representatives, and, eventually, over the people's lives. This has been the history of every anti-democratic revolution, from Mussolini's coup d'etat in 1922, to the final collapse of every pretense of freedom, in Austria a few days ago.

In my next column I will discuss more in detail the various features of the reorganization bill proposed, as we all must, that there is a genuine need for a reform of the executive branch of the government, and that even the present bill has its points. But as it stands it is simply terrible. If Congress doesn't stop it, the people must stop it, as they stopped the bill for the reorganization of the Supreme Court. By personal expression in telegrams to their representatives. Today. Now.

Streams Exhausted, Caviar on Decrease

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28 (AP)—There's a shortage of sturgeon in the world and hence the caviar, which is the roe of that fish, says Ferdinand Hansen. Head of a caviar house founded 100 years ago, Hansen says American streams are exhausted and gournets now depend on the Caspian sea for their delicacy.

Insurgents Occupy--

long front Franco's red and gold banners had been carried into Castellon province and assault troops were drawn up for an attack of Zorita, 35 miles from the Mediterranean.

The insurgents fought toward Zorita Saturday and into Castellon, one of the three provinces of the ancient kingdom of Valencia, despite a bitter, last ditch struggle by outnumbered government forces.

Insurgent strategy seemed to call for a march to the sea through Castellon, while terrific pressure was applied to the Catalonian defenses to the north.

The next major objective of the southern columns was Morella, a few miles south and east of Zorita and but 30 miles from the coast, midway between Barcelona and Valencia, present and former provincial government capitals.

A slicing movement to the sea would sever the Catala from the body of government army amounting to one third of Spain.

Panama City, founded is the oldest permanent settlement on the main the American continent.
