BRUSHLANDS COMBED FOR WOMEN SLAYERS

EVIDENCES OF TORTURE SEEN ON TWO BODIES

Woman and Daughter Found In Sands Near Balmorhea

VANHORN, April 4 (AP)—Officers scoured west Texas brush country today in search of the killers who tortured a socially prominent California woman and her daughter, and then clubbed them to death and left their partially stripped bodies on the desert.

Dr. W. W. Waite, who performed the autopsies on the bodies of Mrs. Weston Frome, 46, and her 23-year-old daughter, Nancy, reported that each of the knuckles of the girl's right hand had been burned by a cigarette. Dr. Waite said that the marks upon her back seemed to indicate that someone had jumped up and down upon her. Dr. Waite said he did not believe that the older woman had been criminally attacked, but was withholding a decision on the daughter's case, pending further examination.

The searchers found the bodies yesterday, three days after their abandoned automobile was found near Balmorhea. The luggage was missing. Mrs. Weston Frome and her daughter were from Berkeley, en route to Parris Island, South Carolina, for a visit.

Mr. Frome flew to Texas to aid in the search for his wife and daughter.

The bodies were sent to El Paso this morning. Doctor Waite said that the woman had been beaten, horribly tortured, and shot. Meanwhile, one slender clue, a bit of hair found in the hand of the daughter, spurred the hunt for those suspected of robbing and slaying the women.

Fingers Dug Into Earth
J. H. Moore, Van Horn night watchman who was with the party at the scene, said it appeared Nancy had not been dead when she was laid on the ground. It appeared her fingers and toes had dug into the earth, he said.

Sgt. W. M. King of the state highway patrol reported to his office here the bodies were found about half a mile south of the highway six miles east of Van Horn.

He said robbery did not appear to be the motive, as some jewelry and $125 in cash still was on the bodies.

An inquest was to be held at the isolated spot and virtually all officers in the territory had gone to the scene.

Van Horn is about 60 miles west of Balmorhea, where the Fromes' abandoned car was found, and 128 miles east of El Paso.

Officers worked on this theory: the women stopped to repair a blowout. Someone helped them, then kidnaped them. The car was driven through brush country. The women possibly were robbed and slain, their bodies hidden, and the car driven back to the highway and deserted.

BAD GUESS
OAKLAND, Calif., April 4 (AP)—While a jury debated a $7,500 auto accident suit against Robert G. Meyer, counsel for opposing sides agreed on an out-of-court settlement for $1,600. The jury was discharged and the case closed. Then Meyer learned to his dismay that the jurors had reached an agreement in his favor.

Deputy Sheriff W. B. Cummings said he found that the spare tire of the car was flat—it had blown out—and the inner tube was missing.

Other Safety Patrol Groups

Here are shown the safety patrols of the grammar school, top, and the east ward, bottom, whose duties are to assist students of their respective schools in crossing traffic lanes safely. The ward patrol group was shown Sunday.

She's WTCC Convention Hostess

Miss Elizabeth Huff has been named "Miss Wichita Falls" at the West Texas chamber of commerce convention, in Wichita Falls, April 25, 26 and 27. A granddaughter of Judge R. E. Huff, pioneer Wichitan, and a city founder, Miss Huff will be the official hostess to other west Texas beauties when they vie for the convention crown. Miss Huff will be the "Oil Queen" for the convention parents, on Monday and Tuesday nights during the sessions, when the beauty nominees for queen will be presented. Representing the host city, however, she will not compete for the title as "Her Majesty, Miss West Texas."

WITTMER WELL GETS SHOW OF OIL AND GAS

Six or Seven Feet of Sand Drilled at 1,795 Feet

The Wittmer Oil and Gas Properties No. 1 Williams, two miles north of Putnam, drilling for Ellenberger production, yesterday encountered a good showing of oil and gas in a sand topped at 1,795 feet. The formation, an excellent sand, was found to be seven or eight feet in depth. The sand, believed to be the Cathay, had not been identified definitely.

Meanwhile the Lone Star Gas company was reported attempting to mud off heavy gas flow found in the Lake sand in its No. 2 Van Parmer, Ellenberger test, offsetting the Hickok Van Parmer No. 1 discovery eight miles northwest of Cisco. A Halliburton crew was on location. The gas was estimated at 5,000,000 feet.

Cisco Delegates to State Rally Chosen This Week

Several Cisco high school girls, to be selected this week, will attend the Future Homemakers of Texas rally which will be held in San Antonio on May 5, 6, and 7. The rally will be attended by some 1500 outstanding high school students and their teachers. Representatives from Hawaii and out of the state are expected to attend. The meeting is sponsored by the homemaking division of the state board for vocational education, under the direction of Miss Ruth Huey.

Exhibits of local chapter activities will be on display, and contests based on guidance received in homemaking classes are to be featured. The rally is held annually and began in 1919 as the "State Girls' Clothing Contest." This name was changed to "Homemaking Education Rally" in 1930 in order that all phases of high school homemaking courses might be included. The present name, F. H. T. rally was adopted last year with the organization of local chapters in high schools throughout the state. The functioning of local chapters permits more student participation.

Emphasis is placed on individual achievement and the development of the girls as well as on improved home and family living in all rally features. Contestants and chapter representatives are selected to represent schools on the basis of being well-rounded homemaking students and taking an active part in chapter affairs.

Truck Found 6,000 Pounds Overloaded

A beer truck, en route from El Paso to Fort Worth, was halted in Cisco yesterday, its driver charged with overloading and fined $10 and costs in Justice of the Peace Wilson's court. State highway patrolmen, who apprehended the truck, charged it carried 6,335 pounds excess load. The excess was unloaded here and the truck allowed to proceed after payment of fine.

NEWSPAPERMAN DIES

HOUSTON, April 4 (AP)—Steve Francis Kelton, 48, assistant business manager of the Houston Chronicle, died suddenly today.

Miss Jimmie Lou Goldman of Big Spring is the guest of Miss Zona Miller.

Nance Motor Co. Moves to New Location Today

Removal of the Nance Motor company, Ford dealers, from its old location on D avenue and Tenth street to the former Southwestern Motor company building directly across the alley and fronting on Ninth, is under way.

The Nance company has leased the eastern half of the Southwestern building, and service will begin tomorrow morning in the new location. S. H. Nance, president of the company said. Greasing service will be maintained at the company's service station across Tenth street from the old location and car washing will continue to be done at the washing rack in the old location for the present.

Norvell and Miller, which owns the Southwestern Motor building into which the Nance company is now moving, purchased that from which the Ford dealer agency is moving as the location for an enlarged retail grocery store.

W. R. Miller, manager of Norvell-Miller, said today that the structure will be completely remodeled and equipped for a cash and carry store of the modern type. He estimated that at least three weeks would be required for this work and that it was hoped to open the store in the new location about the first of May.

No decision has been made with respect to the use of the store's present location in the Southwestern Bell Telephone company's building on West Eighth street, Mr. Miller said.

PIG THIEF SHOT

MONMOUTH, Ill., April 4 (AP)—A golden eagle with a seven-foot wing spread was shot and killed by Arthur Frye near here after the bird had stolen several pigs weighing more than 25 pounds.

Japan hopes to obtain American and British capital to help her develop the newly conquered areas in China, Japanese economists and officials say.

Safety Patrols Are Operating Efficiently

The safety patrols of the Cisco grade schools are now operating efficiently and as planned. The patrols are composed of students selected from the three Cisco grade schools, and their purpose is to prevent casualties which would concern automobiles and pedestrian-students. Members of the patrols are placed on those intersections which carry the greatest traffic. Each member has been fully instructed in his duties, which concern only the automobiles only inasmuch as they are to protect the students from possible danger.

Each of the three Cisco grade schools, east ward, west ward, and grammar, have separate patrols. The patrols function before school, during the noon hour, and after school. To date there have been no casualties.

Members of the patrols are: East Ward—Lloyd Dwayne Doyle, Billy Carroll Anderson, Billy Clayton Hardin, Nich Tennyson, Marsh Baxhus, Carol McCrary, Thomas Darwin Smith, James Callarman, Forest Lee Thompson, Truman Smith, Marcus Hart, Alvin Brashear, Fred Steffey, Gene Beck, Virgil Brown, Wendell Robinson, Wendell Robinson, Howard Bailey and Howard Hennington.

West Ward—Arnold Dolgenor, Edwin Donham, Andrew Farmer, Alfred Morrison, Harold Rupe, Kenneth Smartt, Ray McEachern, Hobart Dickenson, Norvell Gallagher, Elvie J. Reed, Billy Ray McDee, Joe Patterson, Darwin Kriessell, Howard Robbins Sherill Smith, Herschel Wooten, Arnold Wooten, Harry Alkire, Eugene Agnew, Reggy Moore, Bill Russell, Bill Barnhill, Billy Jim Jacob, Johnnie McNellie and Alvin Reed.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We will rejoice in thy salvation, and triumph in the house of the Lord.—Ps. xx. 5.

What can I do but trust Thee, Lord? That trust my heart will cheer. That Thou art God is my one joy. Whate'er Thy will may be, Thy glory will be magnified. In Thy best doom for me. —FABER.

God of joy and of grief, do with me as Thou wilt. Grief is good, and joy is good also. I take it from Thy hands and I give Thee the thanks for it.—Amiel's Journal.

A Practical Thing

DR. W. P. LEE, city health officer, has added his own appeal to that of state and local officials for a general public cooperation in community clean-up.

PREVENTION, says Dr. Lee, is better than cure. There is absolute necessity for removing trash, filth and other accumulations which violate orderliness if the source of health hazards is destroyed. Definite fire hazards also lurk in disorderly conditions.

This is a practical, commonsense move to clean-up and keep clean.

To Be Applauded

REGARDLESS of Mayor LaGuardia's personal evaluation of administration policies, there should be plenty of "amens" for his appeal yesterday that politically-minded people put aside politics for the next two years and work for the salvation of the country. But one cannot avoid the thought that it is significant that so staunch a supporter of new deal policies is moved to make such an appeal, admitting thereby a national emergency, and also that the appeal must have as ready response in action in one quarter as another.

PERHAPS, however, it is timed rather well. Developments in the house battle over reorganization bill indicate a softening of the hitherto adamant administration attitude toward desired legislation and the prospect that cooperation will be substituted for attempted coercion. This to a high degree is essential to any sound recovery, for it is apparent that something more than price levels, planned economy, etc., is necessary if the country pulls out of the doldrums of economic inactivity.

OTHER OPINIONS

"Real Recovery"

THE QUESTION REMAINS as to what course must be followed to promote "real recovery." And that brings up the question, "What is real recovery?" Well, let us say at once that in our opinion it is not necessarily the same thing as increasing the dollar value of our annual production of wealth to ninety or one hundred billion dollars a year. As we see it, we shall begin to make progress toward "real recovery" when we forget all about dollar values, price levels, wage levels, and the like, and start thinking chiefly of the production, the exchange, and the consumption of goods, regardless of such things. For that is what will constitute "real recovery" when we attain to it—the increase of the production, the exchange, and the consumption of goods. Dollar values, price levels, wage levels and the rest will be only incidental. And they will take care of themselves in the long run, once "real recovery" has gotten under way. But how is the process toward "real recovery" to be started? The first essential, as we see it, is to restore the conditions in which capital may be invested confidently with a reasonable assurance of security and of a return in keeping with the risk involved. The present situation is such that the restoration of those conditions calls for a reversal of the attitude toward capital which has been finding expression in government policies and legislative proposals during the past five years. The senate finance committee has made a start in this direction in its proposed revision of the present tax system, though it has received no encouragement in this effort from the administration. It will be interesting to watch how administration leaders act when the committee's bill is considered in the senate. Their behavior will be an index of how "profoundly" they are concerned about the present situation. Another indication of their sincerity will be whether they attempt to resurrect the moribund wages and hours bill. But with or without the administration's help, the conditions essential to free investment must be restored. That is the immediate need. Full and lasting recovery will not come, in our opinion, until the United States decides to adjust itself completely to its status as the leading creditor nation in the world and to cooperate to restore the production, exchange, and consumption of goods in all countries. To bring the American people to realize this is the big job ahead.—Texas Weekly.

NINETY-FIRST DISTRICT COURT

(George L. Davnport, presiding)

Acting on a theory that it was improbable any jury would return a verdict of guilty, Judge Davnport dismissed the state's case against Clyde Hepler of Houston, oil company engineer, who was charged with murder without malice in connection with an automobile accident between Cisco and Eastland November 30 last year which proved fatal to M. D. Cox of Odessa. Motion for dismissal in the case was made by Criminal District Attorney Earl Conner, Jr. Recently a jury trying the case was discharged when unable to agree.

Pete Theous, operator of the Little Queen cafe in Eastland, was refused a beer license at a hearing in the court of Judge Davnport. Guy Hale, Eastland representative of the Texas Liquor Control board, had lodged a complaint against issuance of the license to Theous, who had appealed from a similar ruling of County Judge W. S. Adamson.

April term of 91st district court opened this week on Monday. A commission composed of A. H. Henderson of Olden, J. D. Lauderdale of Cisco and Herbert Reed of Eastland, have previously selected petit jurors for the weeks beginning April 11, April 18, May 9 and May 16.

In the case of J. J. Connolly against Texas Coca-Cola Bottling company the court denied motion of plaintiff for a new trial. Appeal is to be taken, it was indicated.

Alton Loggins of Comanche county was given a life sentence by the court. Recently he was found guilty of the theft of a car owned by Dr. George Blackwell at Gorman; also it was found that he had been previously convicted in Stonewall and Comanche counties of similar charges. The

FARM AND HOME DEPARTMENT

(Elmo V. Cook, county agent; Hugh F. Barnhart, assistant; Miss Ruth Ramey, home agent; Miss Mable Caldwell, assistant)

Previously announced to be held at the city park in Eastland Saturday, April 16, the annual 4-H club rally for the county will be held at the high school gymnasium, officials announced.

Agent Barnhart announced that organization of a 4-H club at Longbranch is expected in the near future. At a meeting last week in the community 4-H work was discussed by Barnhart and County Supt. C. S. Eldridge with action by 35 boys deferred.

Girls' 4-H club program this week are being marked by review of accomplishments thus far this year and of slip and dress making in the clothing goals, Miss Caldwell stated today.

"Money in the Family" and "The Gracious Hostess and Guest" are program themes of home demonstration club meetings this week at Staff, Word, Flatwood and Reich, Agent Ramey announced.

F. E. Walker, sponsor of the Alameda boys' 4-H club, reported last week that L. C. Love, James Calvert, and Jack Walker, who exhibited stock at the recent Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, sold four animals for a total of $540.

DEPARTMENT OF COUNTY CLERK

(R. V. Galloway, Clerk)

An estate of $10,000 with claims of $1,000 was indicated in the application to probate the will of Briggs Owen, Eastland county livestock man who died March 16.

Estate of Mrs. C. D. Mayhew has been appraised by L. C. Moore, Alex Spears and Horace Condey of Cisco as showing property valued at $6,800. Judge W. S. Adamson of county court has approved the appraisal and inventory.

Obtaining marriage licenses last week were Granville Hext, Ruth Shafer, Brady; Manuel Silva, Otila Prez, Cisco; Robert Pounds, life sentence was given through the habitual criminal laws.

Cast of characters: CONSTANCE MAIDWELL—heroine; the stand-in; DEREK MANTHON—an artist who loved money first; HILDEGARDE THORVALD—Derek painted her portrait; DR. ROGERS—he met his most difficult case.

Yesterday, slowly Constance and Derek are breaking from each other. And then one day Hilda suggests that they go for a gallop together into the mountains.

CHAPTER XXI

In response to Hilda's suggestion Derek was on his feet at once with one of his most winsome smiles—the perfect guest, eager to oblige his hostess. But the glance he flashed at Constance was triumphant.

Constance said, her voice sweetly regretful, "It would be lovely to write for the next mail. Perhaps I shan't ride this morning, either." Derek's smile set into a mold not quite so winsome as at first; his face went red and then white. "Sorry," he said stiffly. "But there's some work in the studio I probably ought to attend to, anyhow."

Hildegarde Thorvald glanced from one to the other in a kind of amused exasperation, shrugged slightly, and said to the maid at her elbow, "You may tell Miguel to take the horses back. Rosita, I won't have him handed to me on a platter, Constance thought. How delighted he was to have it all made so easy for him! . . . That's the trouble with Derek: he's too willing to get things the easy way. . . . But I needn't have been so smug.

A few minutes later she was hidden in the library, indulging in a few remorseful tears when Mark Rogers came in.

"Well, is this the way you write letters?" he asked, lifting a quizzical eyebrow. Then at sight of her tempestuous face, he added with an unaccustomed gentleness, "Anything the matter?"

"It's my nose," Constance said between tears and a wicked impulse to startle him for once.

"Your—what?" . . . Definitely she had his attention now.

"My nose. Perhaps you haven't noticed, but I've just cut it off—to spite my face. And it's beginning to hurt."

"Humph!" he said musingly. He sat down on the edge of a table, his hands in his pockets, and looked at her with a curious brooding behind his steady brown gaze.

"It was necessary," Constance told him, "for my general well-being. Isn't there something in the Bible about plucking things out? . . . Doctor Rogers, how did you

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

Wednesday, March 30, we witnessed the conditions that breed a Kansas "cyclone," as they used to be called. Oklahoma, however, has come in for a share of the reputation. And it is evident that other states can have, and even originate, tornadoes of their own. That morning at daybreak a warm southwest wind was blowing with low clouds hurrying before it. It indicated a low barometer and a storm center somewhere near, that was shifting eastward, for the wind kept veering to the west. Not much after the forenoon the clouded area had gone east leaving us a stiff west breeze and a brown sky. Along the eastern horizon the vapor was rolling up into heads which showed that conditions had been reached which favored the formation of storm cloud. So many times I had known just such weather incidents followed by reports of tornadoes to the east and I remarked to the farmer at whose home I was taking dinner that day, "It looks to me like tornado weather." About the time we were discussing the weather the southeastern Kansas town of Columbus was in the throes of a twister. Our west wind blowing toward a light center and wind from other directions blowing toward the same center were producing the same effect that we might notice in a wash basin with a hole opened in the bottom. An imperceptible whirling motion becomes more and more noticeable until the last bit of water leaves rather violently. The center of a storm area such as was forming over the corners of three or four states was probably rotating but not noticeably except for shifting wind directions until at the very center it became violent as feel the first time you performed a major operation?" "Feel?" he repeated absently. "Oh—such as the devil. Lost my dinner, as a matter of fact."

He continued to watch her thoughtfully for a moment, his hands in his pockets, whistling gently to himself.

FINALLY he went on, "The trouble with operations is that so often people only imagine they're necessary. I had a patient once who was sure she had something growing inside of her. She insisted she'd had it for years. I was sure after I examined her that she didn't have any growth—or much of anything else wrong. Finally it leaked out that when she was a child, she'd swallowed a peach seed, and some fool had told her it would grow. She hadn't been conscious of recalling the incident for years; but somewhere in that mysterious region we call the subconscious, the idea of growth had persisted. As soon as she realized what was behind her symptoms, the pain stopped. . . . Pains," he finished, arching one eyebrow at her, "are tricky things. They even hang around sometimes long after the real trouble is healed. . . . You've got to have more than a pain before it's wise to operate."

"I wonder," Constance stood very still, remembering a great many aspects of her feeling toward Derek for the past weeks. . . . A few months ago, Derek had been to her a radiant young god who could do no wrong. Now—was there really nothing left but pain?

Mark Rogers got up from the table and stood, looking down at her for a moment gravely, as if he were going to say something more. Then he smiled a wry little smile, shook his head, and turned away.

Well, anyhow, she thought, that's the first time for weeks that he's really looked at me as if he saw me.

She watched him go down the corridor with a sense of loneliness she was at a loss to account for. But somehow the brief talk had rested and steadied her, as she had sometimes been steadied by a walk in a bracing wind.

He is something like a fresh wind, she thought. He ruffles you up a bit sometimes; but when he gets behind and pushes, he certainly helps.

EIGHT weeks had passed, and still George Thorvald continued to ask for Constance; and his father and sister appeared to

WHAT IT MEANS---

The Future for Spain if Franco Wins

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

AF Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 4—Heads of governments all over the world are anxiously watching General Francisco Franco's march to the sea and asking their experts—confidentially—to guess the train of events in the wake of a final nationalist victory in Spain.

The guesses are confidential because no government is willing publicly to count other people's chickens before they're hatched.

Naturally, the guessers don't agree on details, but enough of their opinions have leaked out in democratic capitals to make a composite of the scene after Franco wins—if he does.

Possible Developments

Here are four big developments the guessers expect in the wake of insurgent success:

- 1. Methodical, red-sashed General Franco would scrap the seven-year old republic that succeeded the Bourbon monarchy in 1931, and himself assume absolute control of "New Spain." Franco has indicated he's not set on any one form of government, so long as he holds the reins. Most interpreters think, however, he probably favors restoration of a Bourbon king as a veneer for his own dictatorship.
- 2. Firm suppression of republican remnants.

Since the world-fung Spanish empire crumbled 200-odd years ago, Spain's history has been one page after another of intrigue and revolt. Her several classes range from out-and-out royalists to anarchists who want as little government as possible, and that in the hands of labor. In between are the militant Catholic party, the Masonic groups, socialists, communists, and others, none of which has much in common with the rest.

Successful rulers of modern Spain have been men who ruled with an iron hand, like Dictator Primo de Rivera who modernized the country, in the prosperous nineteen-twenties. If Franco would rule, he must suppress the so-called "red" opposition, some of which is composed of moderates, much like members of the democratic and republican parties in this country. He also must watch for revolt within his own ranks. It is axiomatic in Spanish politics that a military dictator is in serious danger from some lieutenant or other who thinks he can run the country better than his chief.

3. Franco would "pay back" Mussolini and Hitler for the many thousands of volunteers and the millions of dollars worth of equipment they have sent him. The insurgent leader's first step in foreign policy might be to proclaim the independence of Spain and emphasize her friendship for Germany and Italy.

This presumably would bolster the prestige of European dictatorships by increasing their number.

but, for popular Spanish comprehension, deny that Franco had traded Spain's independence for Italian and German assistance in his war against the republic.

Next Franco presumably would make economic concessions to the dictator nations, probably allowing them to exploit some of Spain's natural resources, and throwing their way as much trade as a war-draiven nation could give the "have-not" nations.

Such concessions would menace France in two ways. Troop passage would force her to patrol

Shoes of Giant Are Loads of Trouble

ALTON, Ill., April 4 (AP)—Putting shoes on Robert Wadlow, the 20-year-old Alton giant, is no ordinary matter.

This lad, who stands eight feet, 8 1/2 inches tall and weighs 460 pounds, needs two pairs a year as a cost of more than $100 a pair.

Each of Robert's shoes is 18 1/2 inches long and nine inches high and weighs three and one-half pounds as compared with one and one-third pounds weight of the normal man's shoe.

It takes Missouri shoemakers four times longer to finish a pair of the Wadlow shoes and they use four times more material than is required for normal shoes.

Robert's shoes have seven eyelets and five hooks for the laces, which are 96 inches long. A normal length lacing is 36 inches long.

Robert usually needs two pairs of shoes a year. A die for the rubber heel of his most recent pair cost $65.

Advertising is not an expense—it's the life blood of any business.

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 4 (AP)—Here is how C. B. Higgins is saving three acres of his farm from washing away:

First, he dug a 700-foot ditch to divert water that had been running in from a nearby road and washing the land into gullies. Then, he planted 2,500 two-year-old kudzu crowns and gave the plants a liberal treatment of fertilizer.

Now the kudzu vines, which make good stock feed, are 30 to 35 feet long and there is no more washing on the land.
