OLD WAVE DAMAGE LESS THAN WAS FEARED

“Personal Recriminations” Declares President

Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

Stanford, the philosophical Saturday morning philosopher, the freeze fruit and vegetable part of the game, he just have to grin and plant over what we had all nothing is as bad as we've had freeze-

Tattle suggested that the Nimrod perhaps had been paying their preacher. “We’ve preached regularly,” he said. “Now, it may be that he has his duty and I think I should go back home and look into the situation isn’t near as it first appeared. Some farmers were severely hit, but the agriculturalists of the county is not from fruits, nuts and vegetables. Many things, most of which, most of the damage of the cold wave, contributed to the support. The almost identical northern may be in the optimistic light of the value of the character of agricultural area. If one character fails we invariably have to fall back on. Wheat, not damaged, according to the growers, is a major crop and the crop that matures should bring a high price as the result of Old Man’s summary curtailment. Crops, corn, cotton, peanuts, and other resources will be affected, at least to any considerable extent.

er all, the situation is not discouraged over, particularly when one thinks of the people of those who live far from west and who experienced much worse damage. Probably our own sentiment was affected more by the easiness of the cold than by influence on the crops.

Interest Grows In Baptist Revival

Senior evangelist Judson Prince, of the First Baptist church announced Saturday: “Revival services continue at the First Baptist church this week and will close on Sunday, April 17. Although the weather has improved, the revival continues to grow in spirit and, considering the crowd, has been splendid. Three more additions for the week were had last evening. Monday night the sermon subject will be “The Signs of the Revival.” A large congregation at both morning and evening services was expected today. Also record attendance in Sunday school at 7:30. T. U. was expected. The public cordially invited to attend the services.”

Jaycees Will Elect Officers Monday Night

The regular meeting of the junior chamber of commerce will be held at the Laguna hotel Monday evening at 7:30. President James Harvey announced Saturday. Harvey urged a full attendance of members, particularly in view of the fact that election of officers will take place at this meeting.

QUESTION IS SOLELY ONE OF POLICY, SAYS

Defeat of Reorganization Measure Shock to Leadership

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that the house defeat of his government reorganization bill Friday night offered “no occasion for personal recrimination and there should be none.” In a note to Ren. Rayburn, the President added, “The question presented is solely one of policy.” Ignoring fervent pleas of party leaders not to proclaim to the nation a “lack of confidence” in the chief executive, 168 democrats rejected and joined republicans to bury the measure in a committee pigeonhole, 294 to 196. The death blow to the measure, which some foes asserted would make a dictator of the president, came as a surprise and a shock to democratic chieftains. Before the vote, Speaker Bankhead of Alabama told members of his party that rejection of the measure would be interpreted “in blazing headlines” as house “repudiation of the president of the United States.”

REBELLION THREAT

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The rejection of the government reorganization bill thrust forcibly upon the White House today the threat of party rebellion against “key” proposals of President Roosevelt in his second term. Observers drew the conclusion that the president’s insistence on “reform” legislation, as distinguished from recovery program, definitely was thwarted, at least until after another election.

ed 88 republicans, six progressives and two farmer-laborites to defeat the measure. Voting against shelving the bill were 191 democrats, three farmer-laborites and two progressives.

The rebuff to the president was comparable only to that of the senate’s rejection of his court reorganization bill last year.

On both issues, the administration made determined fights, only (CONTINUED ON PAGE EIGHT)

At the morning worship hour the pastor will use as his sermon subject, “Your Travelling Companion,” in a message based on the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem.

At the evening hour the choir will present special Easter music and the pastor will give a ten-minute story-sermon, directed especially to the interest of children, on the subject, “The Palm, the Prince of Trees.”

One of Cisco's Homes Beautiful

The charm achieved by proper balance and artistic selection and arrangement distinguishes the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Green at 1000 West Seventh street. The home, shown here as photographed by the Press cameraman, was built several years ago on designs prepared with the ideal of permanence as well as architectural excellence in mind, and so well was it constructed that every line of it today remains mechanically true. The excellent taste in the arrangement of decorative shrubbery and lawn features is shown in the picture.

Hendrickson will speak to the adult department; the young people’s department will hear Mrs. John Shertzer, and the Rev. Joe I. Patterson, pastor, will speak to the intermediate department at the beginning of the Sunday school period and to the juniors at the conclusion.

The Wesley Fellowship class will have a guest speaker to take the place of the pastor, who normally teaches this class.

SENATE KILLS PROCESS TAX

Refuses to Add It to Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The senate refused today to write processing taxes into the $5,000,000,000 revenue bill. Levies on cotton, corn, wheat, rice, and other commodities were asked by Senator Pope, Idaho, to raise $212,000,000 annually for additional farm benefits. A half billion dollars now is available under the farm program. Tom Connally, Texas, member of the finance committee, supported Pope’s plan.

Both students have been prominent in journalistic circles on the campus. Mrs. King is the reporter for the Art club, a member of the Press club, columnist for the War Whoop, and contributor to the Galleon, literary magazine. She writes poetry, and is also considered adept in art.

Mr. Powell is a member of the Language club, Press club, and a reporter for the War Whoop, weekly newspaper.

Senior activities began Friday March 25, when the traditional senior breakfast was held at the Wooten hotel. That day the seniors were honored by the juniors in a special chapel program.

One Was Plain Lead, the Other Steel-Jacketed

AUSTIN, April 9 (AP)—State police ballistics experts indicated unofficially today that the bullets taken from the heads of Mrs. W. G. Frome and daughter, Nancy, west Texas murder victims, were fired from the same gun. One bullet was the plain lead pellet type, and the other was steel jacketed. Technicians said that they may be .32 calibre, but findings are not yet conclusive.

Shackelford Shallow Areas Are Active

ALBANY, April 9 (Spec.)—Shackelford county’s shallow oil areas continued to be active the past week with completion of one of the best shallow wells yet found in the Spears pool, a half mile west of Albany, being Poly Oil Corp. No. 21, Florence & Delia Spears, in center north half of southwest quarter Section 1, Blind Asylum. This well is pumping 26 barrels daily on test, in Tannehill sand at 615 to 630 feet, and extending the producing area northeast. The same operator will drill its No. 13 on location 300 feet east.

LABOR BOARD SAYS REPUBLIC VIOLATED LAW

Company Ordered to Re-instate 5,000 Striking Employees

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The Labor Relations board decided Saturday that the Republic Steel corporation had violated the Wagner Labor Disputes act on eight counts before and during the bloody “little steel” strike last summer.

The board ordered the company to reinstate 5,000 strikers with pay starting from Friday. Break up its employe representation plans in its five Ohio plants. Reinstate with back pay 27 employes discharged before the strike.

Compensate employes of the Canton Tin Plate Mill and the Massillon Works for pay lost during a shutdown from May 4 to May 19, 1937.

The board said the company had violated the act by: Domination of the employe representation plans. Discharge of 27 employes for union activity.

Shutdown at Canton and Massillon. Spying on its workers and vilifying the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (CIO). “Inciting violence”.

Inciting violence during the strike by attempting to turn civil authorities and business interests against the union. Giving tear and sickness gas to the city of Massillon.

Hal Dyer Honored at Farewell Party Friday Evening

Bidding him farewell and good-speed, friends of Hal L. Dyer Friday night honored him at a dinner at the Laguna hotel as he prepared to leave Sunday for Seymour and his new post with the Community Natural Gas company.

Mr. Dyer, manager of the Cisco district of the company since purchase of the local plant by the Community eight years ago, has been promoted to a larger field, assuming charge Monday of the Seymour district, embracing eight cities served by the Community. Succeeding him in the Cisco management is Charles M. Neven, who came here from Waxahachie where he was assistant manager.

As a parting token of esteem the group Friday night presented Mr. Dyer with a pair of boots, which they declared would be appropriate footwear for the cattle country to which he goes. He was required to put them on and wear them during the remainder of the evening.

W. J. Leach, as toastmaster for the dinner, expressed the regret of the group in losing Mr. Dyer as a citizen and associate and their best wishes for his success in his new post.

Mrs. Dyer and their two children will remain in Cisco until the end of the school year, Mr. Dyer said. Present at the dinner were Dr. E. L. Graham, Mr. Leach, K. N. Greer, Nick Miller, Smitty Huestis, R. E. Grantham, A. G. Tuttle, Jack Anderson, Lee Smith, Horace Conley, C. J. Kleiner, Charik Sandler and W. C. McDaniel.

WHEAT CROPS ARE REPORTED LITTLE HURT

Fruit, Vegetables and Pecans Practically Wiped Out

Residents of the Cisco country Saturday began taking stock of the damage done by the worst spring norther in many years, considerably encouraged by indications that most of the grain crop had escaped the blighting influence of temperatures that ranged as low as 24 degrees during the two-day blizzard Thursday and Friday.

Jack Phippen reported no damage to his fields and said that little of the grain about his own farm seemed to have been killed. There might be isolated instances of total loss, he said, but these would be few.

Similarly Marshal Thomas, on whose land the Lone Star brought in its No. 1 Thomas Ellenberger producer eight miles northwest, reported that his wheat had escaped damage and that his neighbors’ crops seemed to have been spared.

These and similar reports were highly encouraging to farmers and business men who had viewed the excellent prospects prior to the cold wave with expectations of a bumper crop.

From south of Cisco, however, came stories of a total loss of fruit, vegetable and pecan crops. Pecan trees in Cisco showed the killing effect of the low temperatures, as did fruit trees and gardens, and although the young fruit may have escaped complete destruction in some places, it was generally conceded there would be no crop of any consequence to be harvested this fall.

Farmers in the area took the setback philosophically for the greater part, however, and were planning replanting of those crops which may yet be made. Feed, corn and other staples were not believed materially damaged. (CONTINUED ON PAGE FIVE)

Daladier Promises Cabinet by Sunday

PARIS, April 9 (AP)—Eduard Daladier, chief of France’s defense forces since the first “people’s front” cabinet took office, June, 1936, promised his radical-socialist group in the chamber of deputies today, that he would have a strong government formed by Sunday.

Meanwhile, the strike situation remained unsolved. Nearly 60,000 strikers were tying up production in 34 factories, including those supplying French air forces with most of the airplane motors.

Cisco Students to Assist in Highway Study

According to J. E. Wright, district supervisor of the Highway Planning survey, which is a new branch of the highway department and is financed both by the state and federal government, is doing several different types of work. A detailed road map is being prepared of each county. Traffic counts have been made on all state highways and are now being made on county roads; traffic flow maps will be prepared from this information. The trucks which travel on state highways have been weighed in order to find out how great a strain they impose on the road surface. The average life and cost of each of the various types of road surfaces are being studied. Amounts of money spent by cities on streets, by counties on secondary roads, and by the state on highways are being analyzed. Special tabulations are being made of tax resources and public debt. The use of the different road systems is being studied. And special safety studies will be started soon.

Sightless Girl Is Honor Student at Hardin-Simmons

ABILENE, April 9 (Spe.) — An honor student and member of the 1938 graduating class at Hardin-Simmons university is Miss Agnes Bentley, sightless as a result of two girlhood accidents.

Miss Bentley, whose scholastic marks are almost straight "A," lost the sight of her right eye in an accident in infancy. She was ten years old when a second accident destroyed the sight of her left eye.

At Hardin-Simmons, she is majoring in English, with a double minor, in sociology and history. Her ambition is to be a proofreader for publications for the blind. A devoted friend and classmate, Miss Wilma Richardson, reads Miss Bentley's lessons to her, and takes notes from which to prepare her studies.

Distinctive scholarship and character won for Miss Bentley membership in the Julius Olsen chapter Alpha Chi, campus scholastic honorary society, in 1936.

"My favorite pastimes are skating and reading. Claudette Colbert is my favorite movie star. I am fond of fudge and malts, and like to bake cookies," she said of her hobbies.

Miss Bentley corresponds with former classmates, and friends, using either the Braille writing machine, or her typewriter, which she uses expertly. Many lessons she prepares on the typewriter, in addition to tests and quizzes taken orally.

Many of Miss Bentley's books are in record form, and each re-feet because of shortage of water. It is in section 40, block 2, ETRR survey, also in Eastland county.

County Quiet
Besides the activity near Rising Star and the remainder of the county, Eastland was quieter than it has been for months. Many deals, as always it appeared, were pending.

One of the few completions of the week was the Sul-Tex Oil company No. 1 Cox and McInnis, Oscar Dalton survey, block 22, two miles southwest of Owens, which was plugged at 2,180 feet, total depth. The well had been intended to capture the Ranger lime at 1,900 feet where a show of oil was encountered.

Near Desdemona, but in Comanche county, the Gallagher-Lawson et al No. 1 Mrs. Bobbie I. Terry, N. H. Kuykendall survey, was drilling ahead at 4,955 feet after a drill stem test showed five gallons of sulphur and salt water in the Ellenburger lime topped at 3,404 feet. A slight show of gas, held of no consequence by operators, was reported in the test.

I. C. Little and George Fagg No. 1 R. M. Rogers, section 28, block 5, T. & P. survey, two miles north of Caddo, Stephens county, was reported plugging back from total depth of 4,490 in lime at 4,360 feet where a gas show and very slight show of oil was encountered.

Also in Stephens county, Danziger Oil and Refining company

No. 1 Capeland, section 1, north of Caddo, northeast part of the county, ME&P survey, was fishing bailer at depth of 4,210 feet.

Another well in Stephens county, Lone Star No. 5 R. W. Brooks, section 54, block 7, S&P survey, was spudding in the southwest part of the county.

Two Applications
One of two applications to drill filed in this part of west central Texas in the office of Deputy Railroad Commissioner I. J. Killough was by Hightower Oil and Refining corporation for its No. 2 I. C. Mullins, two miles west from Thrifty, 585 feet from the north line and 1,167 feet from the east line of the J. W. Allen survey, Brown county. The 1,500-foot intended extension is 27 feet north and 55 feet east of the No. 1 Mullins, completed two miles southeast of the Fry pool as dry in the Fry sand at total depth of 2,410 feet.

In Coleman county, seven miles northeast from Santa Anna, Simpson and White filed application to drill No. 1 Carrie Reeves, Holden Rhodes No. 631 survey, to depth of 2,500 feet. Location is 650 feet from the west line of the 206 2-3-acre lease, 800 feet from the south line and 1,930 feet from the east line.

Pluggings this week were—the deeper ones—Grassroots Oil company No. 1 Susan E. McDermott, section 183, block 183, A. Bates survey, total depth 600 feet, Coleman county. Grassroots Oil company No. 1 Mrs. Nannie Neeb, section 33, block 181, Comal county school land, total depth 383 feet, in Coleman county.

L. R. Pearson No. 1 J. H. Davis, Stephens county.
Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company No. U 4 W. M. Myers AC 2, F. & P. Ry. survey, three miles south of Ranger, total depth 3,311 feet, Eastland county.

Texas Benefits by Rail Expenditures

Texas benefited substantially from the expenditures of the railroads in 1937 for materials, supplies, fuel, new equipment and payrolls, it is revealed in a special study which has just been completed by the Bureau of Railway Economics of the Association of American Railroads.

Railway purchases in Texas last year totaled $23,074,728, the report shows. Of this sum, $23,070,759 was spent for materials, supplies and fuel, while $3,969 went for new equipment (not including that built in company shops.) These purchases were made in 603 towns and cities located in 190 of the 254 counties of the state.

Wages paid railway employees in Texas during 1937 amounted to $79,286,059.

The review discloses that, for the nation as a whole, the railroads last year paid $1,133,361,468 for the more than 70,000 different items which they use. Materials, supplies and fuel cost $966,383,000 and expenditures for all new equipment (except that constructed in railway shops) totaled $166,978,468. More than 12,000 towns and cities located in 2,638 of the 3,072 counties of the United States derived direct benefits from this large volume of railroad buying.

In 1937, the country's rail carriers also distributed $1,983,990,485 in wages to their employees, the report says.

Deaths from automobile accidents in 130 major cities of the United States during the first 10 weeks of this year showed a 21 per cent decrease compared with the corresponding period of 1937.

Panama City, founded in 1519, is the oldest permanent European settlement on the main land of the American continent.

Call Is Issued for Air Corps Candidates

FORT SAM HOUSTON, April 9.—The United States army air corps, seeking more and better candidates for the July training class at Randolph field, has issued a call for likely aspirants to take entrance examinations on April 12.

The call is for candidates who do not have the college credit requirements—two years' training in an accredited college or university—but who believe that they have the knowledge equivalent to the requirements. Heretofore the only such candidates considered for air corps training were appointed through the war department at Washington.

Maj. Charles A. Parsley, acting 8th corps area air officer, announced the change in policy—the shifting of the selection burden to corps area headquarters throughout the nation—and authorized five examining boards in the 8th corps area to examine applicants. Examining boards are located at the following places:

Randolph Field, San Antonio, Texas; Fort Sill, Okla.; Denver, Colo.; William Beaumont Hospital, El Paso, Texas; and Barksdale field, Shreveport, La.

It is estimated that half a million or more Chinese communists, bandits, and irregular troops harass Japanese lines of communications and supply in North China.

When you buy an "8" to save money IT'S NEWS!

The Standard Tudor

FOR YEARS, only the biggest, most costly cars had 8-cylinder engines. When the Ford V-8 engine was first introduced, people welcomed the finer performance that 8 cylinders provided, but kept their fingers crossed on economy. It somehow seemed as if 8 cylinders had to use more gasoline. But the news spread that Ford V-8 cars were giving just as good gas mileage as cars that did not offer 8-cylinder advantages. Good design, not number of cylinders, determined economy. By last year, four million people had stepped up to the 85-horsepower

V-8 class. Then the slightly smaller 60-horsepower Ford V-8 engine was introduced. Reports soon rolled in from owners averaging 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline. More than any Ford car had ever given! A new standard of economy—a low price—and the smoothness of 8 cylinders! That was NEWS! America bought 300,000 Ford V-8 "60s" the first year and is still buying. If you'd like to know why—if you'd like to save money all ways—see and drive the 1938 version of this thrifty, modern car.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Sorrowful yet always rejoicing, as poor yet making many rich, as having nothing and yet possessing all things.—2 Cor. vi. 1

Trial will and must befall, But, with humble faith to see Love inscribed upon them all— This is happiness to me.

If thou art living a righteous and useful life, doing thy duty cheerfully where God has put thee, then thou in thy humble place art humbly copying the everlasting harmony and melody by which God made the world.—Anon.

Distrust of a Trend -- A Congressional Resurgence

PROponents of the government reorganization bill declared that the vote of the house returning that measure to committee and thereby actually killing the measure, declared that the house revolt against the administration'sponsored measure registered a lack of confidence in President Roosevelt. We do not think that this is a true evaluation of majority house sentiment. On the contrary it was a vote of distrust in the trend, especially with regard to the use which might be made in the future of those powers which congress was asked to surrender. No amount of executive assurance can guarantee against a trend, or against the misuse of authority surrendered by one branch of government to another in an intimate violation of the principle of divided responsibility which underlies our form of constitutional government.

Congress alone can maintain the insurance necessary to the preservation of democratic government under such conditions by refusing, even in the face of alluring promises of more efficient and more economical government, to abdicate the duties and responsibilities laid upon it.

It is extremely doubtful that the reorganization bill would result in any administrative economies. On the contrary it is likely it would result in even greater expenditures for the reason that it would create a new department. Moreover, the provision abolishing the office of the comptroller-general and the pre-audit of government expenditures and substituting therefor a post-auditing system directly under the control of the president does not make for economy by any means. The comptroller-general holds office for 15 years and is responsible to congress and his duties are to see that the money appropriated by congress is spent according to law. The New Deal came into sharp conflict with former Comptroller-General McCall whose criticism of many expenditures and refusal to permit numerous others resulted in savings which will be appreciated in years to come as tax-payers are called upon to pay off the huge debt created by the recovery spending program. It may be irksome to the executive and his assistants to endure a critical examination of their spending, but that certainly does not mean it would be good business to dispense with an office which insures that whatever money is spent is spent in accordance with the congressional authority for it.

THOSE democratic congressmen who voted their convictions on the reorganization bill instead of their party politics deserve the commendation even of those of their constituents who strongly favor the measure. They demonstrate that they, as representatives of the people, are aware of their own responsibilities as congressmen and that they will not be parties to a surrender or evasion of those responsibilities, and the decline of the congress itself as the governmental institution directly representative of the people and charged with the major burden of conducting this government according to its democratic traditions.

It is pleasing to note that our own congressman, Clyde Garrett, was not among the "yes men" of his body but that he voted his convictions on the bill. Senator Tom Connally, who voted against it in the senate, has increased materially in political stature in the eyes of his fellow Texans by his sound and courageous stands on many such issues. As long as such men arise in political leadership we have good reason to hope for the survival of our democratic forms.

A Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON, April 9—Rep. Hatton Sumners of Texas was photographed with his feet on the table—one of those informal poses—and almost the outstanding feature was a hole in the sole of his shoe. How did he get it? He walks.

Members must take their exercise in some manner and Sumners prefers his foot. He scouts the countryside thoroughly on pleasant weekends and knows the lay of most Civil War battlefields hereabouts.

But his everyday walking has something special about it. There was a time when he lived in a downtown hotel, ate his meals there and walked to the capitol, a mile or so away, for the exercise. More than one congressman has tired of downtown hotel life and so did Mr. Sumners. So he moved to a hotel on Capitol Hill.

That, however, eliminated the mile walk. He solved that. Now he walks from his rooms across the shady capitol plaza to the restaurant in the new supreme court building for breakfast, and back to the capitol, in all about a mile. He goes to the same restaurant for lunch. It doesn't serve dinner.

The Eggs are Right

He likes the restaurant. The help knows how he wants his toast fixed in the morning. They coddle his eggs right.

"You don't have to call on the League of Nations to explain to them each time," he says.

He has to watch his diet a bit. He doesn't always eat toast and eggs. Occasionally in winter he eats a dish we never heard of before. It is oat meal mush, covered with honey. Try it sometime. We haven't yet, but will be glad to get reports on it.

His job as chairman of the house rules committee brings him in close touch with federal judges. Complaints about judges—being biased, unfair to certain groups of lawyers, sluggish in their work or "tainted" in their conduct, find their way to the house judiciary committee. It is the first body to act on impeachments.

Complaints are pending before the committee most of the time. Few see the light of day. The committee investigates, occasionally summons the judge to Washington to explain, or has a member visit the judge's district. The constitution gives the committee no authority to discipline judges but when a judge finds the committee is inquiring into his affairs he usually mends his ways—if they need mending.

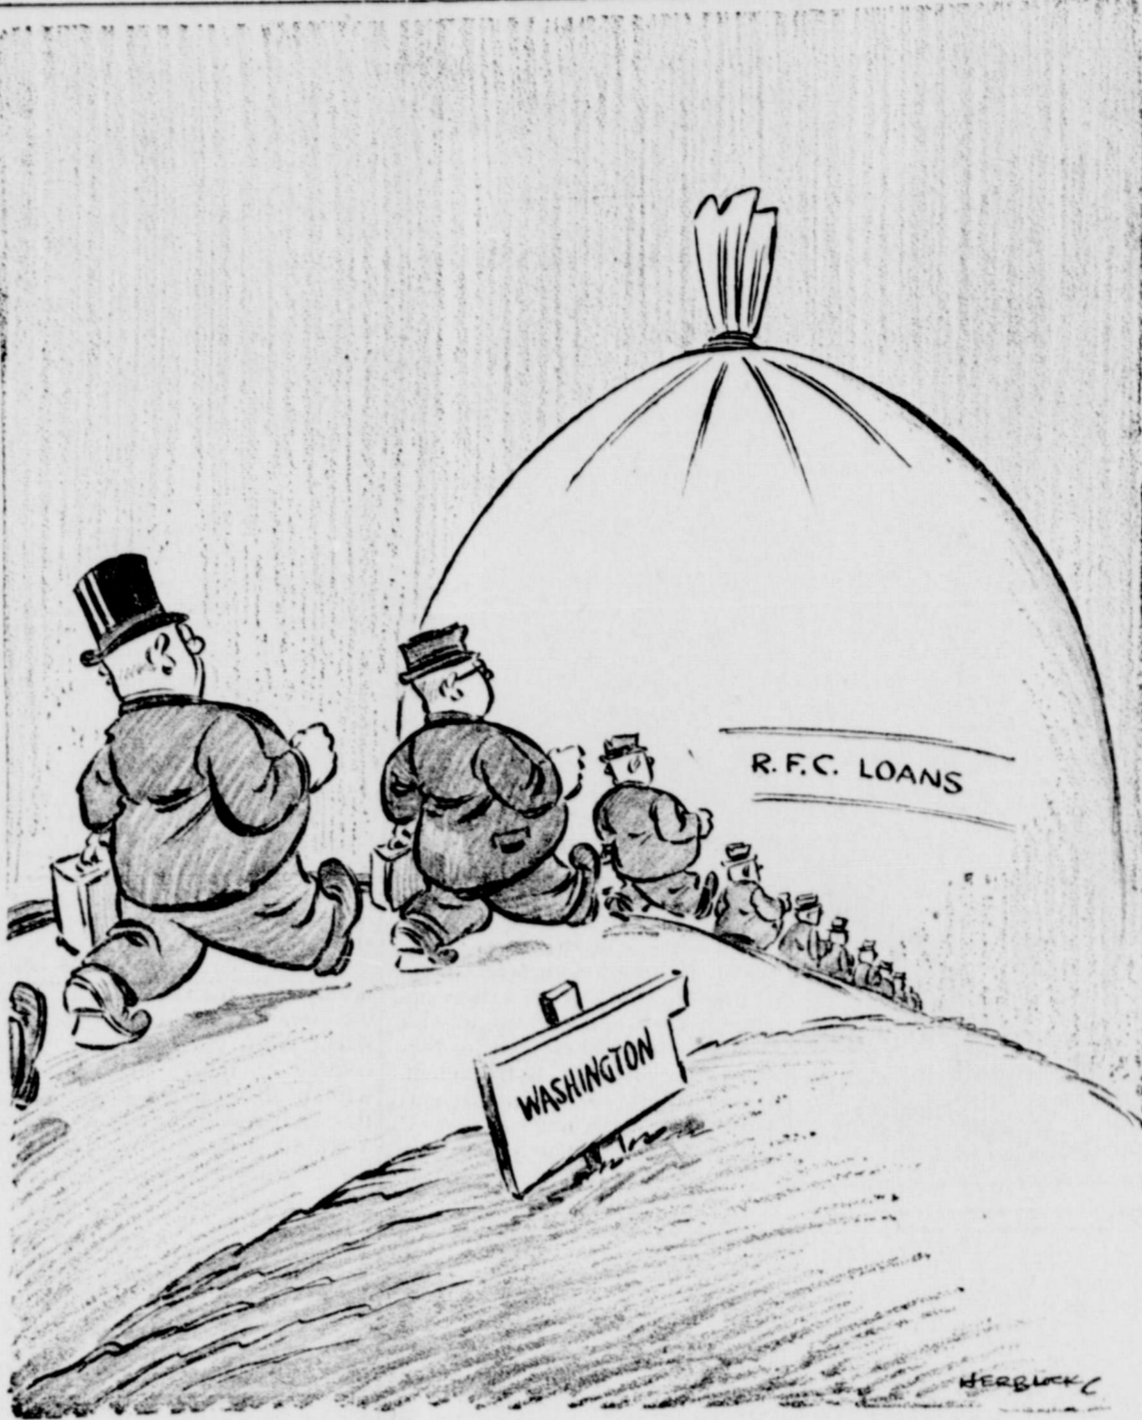

Home to Roost

Sumners has been in congress since 1913 and a glance at election statistics indicates that nothing is likely to interfere there immediately.

One of the best stories about him dates back to a time when he was district attorney. Chicken-stealing was becoming serious. One day a farmer was arrested with a wagon load of chickens but conviction promised to be no cinch.

Sumners took the wagon load of chickens back to a community which had suffered a loss the night before. Shortly before sundown he

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

A confession may sometimes be an admission, or concession, wrung by a situation from a reluctant heart. But a good confession is not only an admission of one's conviction of truth or duty, but an urgent desire to express it and to follow up the action that it demands. A good confession is a sort of committal of the confessor to the full support of his confession. Peter made the good confession at Caesarea Philippi. His reply to the question of the Master was not a haphazard guess on the spur of the moment that he hoped the law of averages might prove to be correct. What Jesus said about his being revealed to him implies that he had really caught a glimpse of a great truth. But he had not seen its full significance, evidently. A little later Jesus entered into further stages of His mission that promised persecution and even death. Then Peter went back on his confession, for a while.

The unthoughtful opposition of Peter to these extremely sacrificial steps of his Master brought the great lesson that He gave to the multitude and to the world. In an oft-quoted paradox He gave the law of life that finds illustration in many of our experiences: Who

Texas Prison System Goes on the Air

HUNTSVILLE, April 9—The Texas prison system has gone on the air—not so much to popularize itself as to acquaint the public with rehabilitation activities behind the walls.

Radio Station WBAP of Fort Worth has begun a series of 30-minute broadcasts weekly, originating in the state penitentiary here. The series received the approval of Gov. James V. Allred, who appeared as "guest speaker" at the opening broadcast.

Inmates of the prison are responsible for staging, announcing and preparing the programs. An orchestra directed by Jack Purvis of El Paso, who is serving a 25-year sentence for robbery, provided the music for the initial broadcast. The announcer was L. C. Keel of Ardmore, Okla., sentenced to 30 years for robbery.

Easter Cruise

CAST OF CHARACTERS: JOYCE MILNER, heroine; she took an Easter Cruise. DICK HAMILTON, hero; he bumped into the heroine. ISOBEL PORTER, traveler; she sought a mate.

Yesterday, The quiet rivalry between Joyce and Isobel begins. That night Joyce is ill in her cabin, too miserable to care what happens.

CHAPTER IV: NEXT morning the sun rose on a tranquil sea of lapis-lazuli blue. Joyce stared out of her port, scarcely believing that the angry seas could settle down so peacefully overnight. Far off on the horizon, she could see a narrow, dark shore line, marking the division between green-blue sky and deep-blue sea. That was Bermuda in the distance, and in another few hours she would be walking in the shadow of its royal palms. That is, provided she decided to leave the ship. . . . She recalled she had no shore tickets.

She could not know that directly above her the decision was being made.

"I'll arrange everything with Miss Milner," Mrs. Porter was explaining to Isobel. "You shall spend the day with Richard, and be careful, Isobel. Be very careful. Don't speak about Miss Milner at all; don't disparage her in any way. The young man has a protective feeling toward her, naturally. He feels responsible . . . not that I believe she had any hundred dollars in her bag."

A moment later she knocked on the door of C-214. Joyce opened it expectantly.

"Oh, good morning, Mrs. Porter."

"Good morning, my dear. Are you feeling better?"

"I'm so well that I believe it was all imagination."

"Not at all. Your first trip, you know, I suppose were hardened to such weather—oh, it does bother Isobel, terribly, but she managed to get to dinner. . . . But now, my dear, I've been worrying about you. You didn't, I hope, lose your shore excursion tickets. Or hadn't you bought them?"

Joyce smiled ruefully. "Yes, I bought them—"

"And they were in your bag, too? How unfortunate! How very distressing!" She shook her head sympathetically. "However, I believe I can manage a way for you—as my assistant. Usually I have an extra ticket, for an assistant. . . . I heard that story before," she said dubiously. "Mrs. Porter suggested it—"

"So that's it?" He was plainly surprised. "Funny she didn't get the extra ticket from me. . . . Well,

Easter Cruise (Continued). "Dick, but please excuse me. I'd much rather have it this way." He shrugged. "Well, then that's all there is to it, I suppose." Drawing alongside the wharf, Mrs. Porter gave last minute instructions. Joyce took her stand eagerly, but soon she was beset with difficulties which Mrs. Porter had not explained. Some passengers wanted to change their plans at this last minute. Forty minutes later, Joyce saw her last carriage safely installed in then, when she was standing alone at the carriage stand, did she realize that the Porters, and the last carriage, had gone off without her! "Morning, Miss Milner." One of the ship's officers, a young man from the purser's office, stood beside her, and she realized that the second tender was docking. "Did you miss your party?" he asked. "So it seems—"

Wheat Crops--

Wheat crops have not been planted. Neither have peanuts. The major part of the agricultural economy of the section, therefore, will not be affected by the unseasonable norther. The cold wave struck late Wednesday and for two days a freezing wind of gale-like proportions swept from the northwest, under heavily clouded skies, bringing with it snow and sleet to blanket the country.

By Saturday morning the wind had died to a mere breeze and temperatures rose slowly. Continued increase in warmth was promised for Sunday.

PANHANDLE THAWS OUT

(By Associated Press) Sunshine thawed the panhandle and the south plains today, but livestock, crop, and property damage from the two days' siege of snow and sleet, sub-freezing temperature, dust, and tornado winds will be unknown for days. Throughout the battered section, the sun melted the snow, 20 feet high in spots, and generally fair and warmer weather was forecast. Wind that reached 77 miles per hour, dropped to four today. Early vegetables, fruit, sheared sheep, and spring lambs were the major casualties. The cattle loss was undetermined. The wheat belt is known to have suffered heavily. Lubbock, with 23 degrees, was the coldest spot of the night.

'Sheeny' Eddleman Is Candidate for Constable

W. W. (Sheeny) Eddleman Saturday authorized the Cisco Daily Press to announce that he will be a candidate for constable of Justice Precinct No. 6, a post which he now holds by virtue of his appointment by the commissioners court.

Mr. Eddleman, who is married and the father of two children, is asking election for the first time. Born near Cisco, he has lived practically all his life in and around this community and is well known to the public. As star full-back on three Lobo football teams during his high school days, "Sheeny" gained a wide reputation as a hard-fighting, fair-playing athlete. Noted Crime Investigator WTCC Speaker

WICHITA FALLS, April 9 (Sp.)—A nationally noted federal crime investigator and an executive figure in the petroleum industry are newest additions to the array of notable speakers to be heard at the twentieth annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce, here in Wichita Falls, April 24 to 27, Wilburn Page, convention manager, announced today.

R. T. Harbo, administrative assistant to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, will speak at a joint newspaper and officials luncheon on Tuesday, April 26.

Harold B. Fell, Ardmore, Okla., executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum association of America, will be heard at the oil industry conference on Monday, April 25.

Harbo, personal representative of J. Edgar Hoover, has worked on many of the major crime cases solved by the FBI in its effective enforcement history. His specialty is statistical matters, and uniform crime reporting. Harbo visits local enforcement agencies all over the country, reorganizing records and improving police organization and administration.

Fell, a 1911 civil engineering graduate of Princeton university, and a former state commander of the Oklahoma American Legion, has been engaged in the oil and gas industry in Oklahoma for 16 years. He has been active in the IPA since its organization, and has served as active executive vice president since 1933. He is president of the Simpson-Fell company, of Ardmore.

"The trusty system is almost indispensable in the prison setup," Mrs. C. A. Teagle of Houston, a member of the prison board, pointed out.

"If the system were eliminated it would be necessary to hire many more guards. And that would mean a greatly increased cost to the state."

While officials have learned that the evils uncovered at Darrington are common throughout the system, they exonerated guards and other employees completely.

"We found the irregularity was strictly among the inmates, and there was no evidence connecting any state employes with it," Dr. Sidney M. Lister, chairman of the board, said.

to suffer defeat. Whereas its attitude was "no compromise" in the court struggle, this time it made concessions. The motion to recommend was offered by a republican, Representative Taber of New York.

Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas and Speaker Bankhead appeared to democrats on a party basis to accept the bill.

"Lack of Confidence" in the president. They told the legislators, just before the roll was called, that recommendal would be a "lethal blow" to the bill and a clear display of lack of confidence in the president.

This in substance of telegrams and letters from constituents asking defeat of the bill influenced the votes of many democrats who opposed the bill was conceded on all sides.

The bill would have empowered the president to reshuffle or abolish government agencies and bureaus.

In addition, it would have substituted a single civil service administrator for the present three-man commission, would have made the comptroller general removable at the will of the president, and would have established a department of welfare and a new office of auditor general. The latter officer would have made a post-audit of government spending for congress.
