Encountering a good show of gas and oil in the top of the Marble Falls pay, the Lone Star Gas company's No. 1 McKee, just over the line in Stephens county, is preparing to cement pipe above the showing for drilling in.

ALMOST TWO INCHES FALLS HERE MONDAY

Other Towns Receive Hard Downpour As Crops Aided

One of the hardest rains of the year fell over this section of the state Monday afternoon. The rain was so hard in Cisco that 1.8 inches were recorded in the afternoon showers. Other points in this area reported heavy rains.

Rainfall was so heavy between Cisco and Moran cars and trucks were stalled along the road. It was so dark and the rain so dense cars that ventured out along the dangerous highway had to burn their lights in order that cars they met could see them.

Moran, Baird, Putnam, Eastland, Elong Star, May, Brownwood, Albany, Breckenridge, Dothan and all the small farming communities in this section reported heavy rains.

In many places water flooded ditches along the highways. At times it reached a higher level than the highways and flooded them. Water stood high in fields between Cisco and Moran.

Farmers reported here today that the rains were a life-saver to feed crops, mainly corn. Although some of the feed had already perished, most of it will be saved by the downpours. Maize, cotton and peanuts received a great deal of benefit, too, it was reported.

Showers Monday boosted Cisco's total for the year to over 16 inches, the City hall reported today. It was 14.3 inches until Monday's rain.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

In his day shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace so long as the moon endureth. —Ps. lxxix, 7.

Remember: The peace promised is that peace which suffers and is strong; trusts when it cannot see.

A peace which flows serene and deep, A river in the soul, Whose banks a living verdure keep, God's sunshine o'er the whole.

Live by the day; you will have daily trials and strength according.

A Foolish Stunt, But...

From a purely scientific standpoint the flight of Douglas P. Corrigan across the Atlantic ocean in a craft so delapidated that even a movie stunt pilot would have hesitated in taking it aloft, is the biggest piece of foolishness that has occurred in aviation history. Clearly enough Corrigan took a long chance for fame and won. If he had vanished into the Atlantic ocean he would have been a fool whose exploits would have got nothing more than an epidemic of head-shaking and more rigid restrictions against similar instances of venturesomeness. But by and large there is something magnificent in his daring. One cannot but admire the idiot. He contributed nothing to aviation. But he did remind in a startling fashion that the daring human spirit of adventure still exists and that deeds of derring-do still illuminate the precise and mechanical march of civilization to new achievements. It was a foolish stunt, but perhaps we need a few fools to relieve the monotony.

Man About Manhattan

ABOARD THE BOSTONIAN, July 19.—This is one of those pleasantly swift, air-conditioned specials that plies between Grand Central terminal in Manhattan and the city of Boston—hence its name.

But we are not going all the way to Boston this time. Unless the man who sold us our ticket is playing a dirty trick on us we will get off at Saybrook, Conn., and drive over to Old Lyme, which is only a couple of handsprings down a pretty road. And then we will become the house guest of Harrison and Frances Wood, friends of long standing, who are spending the summer there.

It is a curious ride for one unfamiliar with the New England countryside. After you pass Greenwich, which is said to be one of the wealthiest communities in the eastern section of the United States, you sling pretty consistently to the Connecticut shoreline and the whole way is a picturesque network of bays and coves which are dotted with yawls and sloops and smaller craft of every description.

There are lovely homes with green lawns running to the water's edge, and miles of stone fences built by hand with a patience that would have taxed Job himself. You see long nets drying on racks in the sun and people fishing in small boats or from shore for crabs, eels, and blues.

Pretty soon we are at Stamford, and then South Norwalk, and in a little while Bridgeport, and after that New Haven. And after awhile we come to Saybrook, seat of the ancient Pequot Indian wars. Yale university was founded there before they moved it to New Haven. The former Yale site now is occupied by a cemetery. Lady

Fenwick, first white woman ever to live in Connecticut, lived in Saybrook in a quaint white house with shutters. She died there too and her remains are buried just a few steps away from the waters of North Cove. Along North Cove is a group of beautiful homes, and one of them belongs to Dr. Hepburn, father of Katharine Hepburn, the actress. She is there now and it is said that Howard Hughes was a guest in Dr. Hepburn's home just before the war. (CONTINUED ON PAGE SIX)

OTHER OPINIONS

Labor Board Appointment

ELMER ANDREWS of New York may be just the man to administer the new wage and hour law. Since we have the law, we can only hope that it will be wisely administered.

The president's appointment of Mr. Andrews to head the new labor standards board was a surprise because the appointee was little known outside his own state, where he holds the office of state industrial commissioner. His name had appeared but seldom in speculation concerning the appointment which has gone on since congress passed the bill. Gov. Lehman appointed Mr. Andrews to the New York office after he had served as assistant commissioner when Mr. Roosevelt was governor.

Southerners might have spared themselves the disappointment they are reported to feel over the appointment of a man from the industrial east to administer the wage-hour law. The south's hope that a southerner would be named sprang from a desire for the establishment of wage differentials based upon the south's lower living costs.

The president's attitude on that point should have convinced southerners that this was a vain hope. His insistence upon passage of the bill was motivated largely by his desire to force southerners industrialists to raise wages. He has stated repeatedly that low wages in the south are a drag on national prosperity.

It may be taken for granted that Mr. Andrews will use his authority so far as possible to prevent the establishment of sectional differentials.—Galveston News.

A motorist looked down the other day to find an adder beside him. In less time than it takes to tell, the two had changed positions, and the man was beside himself.

WHAT IT MEANS---

The Wheat Crisis

By MORGAN M. BEATTY AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The year 1933 is all set to go down in history as the eighth year of the great American wheat crisis. It marks another year of America's reluctant retreat from the world wheat market—a retreat that began to take a definite trend in 1930.

All the big wheat-growing nations of the world are raising good wheat crops this year. It begins to look as if they will pour four billion bushels of the golden grain into the world's bread basket. Four billion bushels is 900,000,000 bushels too much wheat.

Unfortunately, America's 80,000,000 wheat acres will contribute more than their share to the glut of grain. They are going to yield a new record crop—close to one billion bushels.

Stem rust, the fungus growth that stunts little wheat grains, is doing its utmost to reduce the bumper American crop, but the rust got started late. The experts figure it can't take over 150,000,000 bushels. That would still leave a near-record crop.

They're Doing It Now Together with last year's surplus, the American public can cut up half the expected billion bushels.

What's to be done with the other half? Sell it to other nations? Fine chance! America's big competitors will have plenty of wheat, and will be struggling like mad to get it on the world market. Dump it on the world at cut-throat prices? The other fellow can dump wheat, too, and come out on top, because his money is not as good as ours.

The government is trying to arrange to peddle some of the American surplus in an orderly way to other governments at reduced prices. The taxpayers would take up the slack. The crop comes along before the New Deal has had a chance to show what its new formulas for the wheat farmer can or cannot do. Bumper crops are a handicap for crop control, crop insurance, the ever-normal granary, wheat quotas, and all that. Those schemes require payments to farmers to cut down their production and to bolster home prices. The more the acreage is cut and the lower the world wheat price, the more it costs the government (which is the taxpayer) or the farmer.

It Was Easy Once There are many reasons for the great American wheat crisis. But by and large, foreign competition for the world wheat market has been the No. 1 trouble maker. Between 1860 and 1930, American wheat growers had the inside wheat lands. They developed the lands with machinery. In 1898 they were supplying 51 per cent of the world's exported wheat.

Our growing population required more and more wheat to make bread for the homefolks. But even so, America still had one-fifth of the world's export wheat market in 1929.

But all along, Canada, Australia, Argentina, and Europe's Danubian basin were closing in. For instance, Canada contributed a mere 20,000,000 bushels to the world track on a downhill pull. They had the world's richest, easiest-to-cultivate, and most extensive knocked the American farmer out of the world market. True, he had a piece of good luck in 1937. A wheat shortage in other big exporting nations handed him 18 per cent of the world market, which meant the sale of around 90,000,000 bushels.

But 1938 is a different story. The American farmer planted 80,000,000 acres to wheat, close to a record. This time he guessed wrong. There is no wheat shortage abroad.

Moran Man Reports 2-Inch Rain Monday

Eugene Oyer, cotton and grain buyer of Moran, a visitor to Cisco this morning, stated that his section received a splendid rain Monday when the precipitation totaled two inches.

"Moran has established a record as a wheat market for this part of Texas," Mr. Oyer said while here. "We have shipped out over 70 car loads of wheat this season. The yield is about the average for this section, but the price is much lower than we anticipated, having dropped 4 cents per bushel in the last ten days.

"Other crops in the Moran area are looking fine. The rain Monday will prove beneficial to corn and feed especially, as well as pasture. The grass will be kept green, cattle are fat and the outlook is splendid."

Rain Help to Range

Virgil Heyser, local cattle man, whose ranch is north of Cisco, where he has a nice bunch of cattle, told the Daily Press today that the rain Monday was just what was needed. "While our range had not suffered, as we have been favored with enough showers to keep the grass green, the two-inch rainfall Monday has put a splendid season in the ground which insures plenty of grass for the remainder of the summer, as well as nice start for winter grass."

Louis Pasteur was very near-sighted.

In 1900, in 1936, she exported 12 times that much.

Tariff Walls Go Up

And as if to complicate an already cockeyed situation, Uncle Sam was constantly raising his tariff walls. Then a few years after the World War he stopped lending money to European nations. These things cut off from foreigners the supply of money they had been using to buy American wheat. Then other nations began raising their own tariff walls in the late 20's.

The drought years — 1933-37 — knocked the American farmer out of the world market. True, he had a piece of good luck in 1937. A wheat shortage in other big exporting nations handed him 18 per cent of the world market, which meant the sale of around 90,000,000 bushels.

But 1938 is a different story. The American farmer planted 80,000,000 acres to wheat, close to a record. This time he guessed wrong. There is no wheat shortage abroad.

Mickey's Escort Deprived of Sire

OMAHA, July 19 (AP)—Rooney, youthful secretary failed to make a hit with Commissioner Jepsen. The commissioner moved the siren attached to the car used to transport about the city. He said he had a flood of complaints that had sped past stop lights, screaming. "The police department is to entertain people," he said.

But young Dr. Benchley seemed to have retired with definite finality to distances of his own.

Why, Tran thought, but—she's really laughing—inside. He doesn't mind at all. Oh, I'll never be afraid of him again.
"Oh, Dr. Sargent," she choked out, "I—you—oh, I think you're simply swell!"

her stomach. And there was the historic day when—unable to find a seat in the operating amphitheater where Dr. Sargent was to do something very daring in the way of laparotomies—she climbed to a point of vantage in a tree that gave on one of the windows.

When she tried to thank him, he snapped with a brief return to the Bob Benchley Tran used to know, "Oh, Agility, if you would only stop being such a precious little idiot. If—"
Then he turned crimson, broke off abruptly, gathered up the stethoscope he had been using, and stalked out of the room.

United States Relief Difficulties Began When Nation Grew Up

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer
WASHINGTON, July 19. — If you and I had been reading between the lines of our history books back in the high-stepping days before 1929, we would have been scared stiff.

For we'd have known that one day within our lifetime one-fourth of the workers of the nation would be hunting jobs in vain.

We would have seen a map of the United States spotted with several areas marked "sub-standard resources; stranded populations."

On The Record

We might have predicted that our congress, our state legislatures and our city councils would be spending borrowed money at the rate of two billion dollars a year to care for jobless millions.

It might have done no good to recognize them, but nevertheless facts and figures showing us riding for a fall were in the history books then—if we had known how to interpret them. (Some people claim they warned us.) Also, they bobbed up the other day in a neat package, just as a senate committee began hunting clues to the mystery of unemployment and relief. Here they are:

- 1.—U. S. territorial expansion waxed and waned.
- 2.—The railroad industry grew like a sun-flower, then never grew another inch.
- 3.—A nation basically agricultural became a nation basically industrial.
- 4.—Automobile manufacturing appeared, raced into mass production, and tapered off to a steady grind.
- 5.—Borrowed money from Europe developed the nation, then disappeared, while we became creditor-bankers to Europe and the world.
- 6.—Immigration swelled until we had taken in 38,000,000 of Europe's poor in the 110 years before 1930. Then it dropped to a mere trickle.
- 7.—Population grew from 4,

000,000 in George Washington's day to 129,000,000 in 1937. Then the increases tapered off. We are adding only 9,000,000 between 1930 and 1940.

8.—City growth mushroomed, taking 1,400,000 a year from our farms in the busy twenties, then dropped off, until now the cities are taking on only 360,000 new residents a year.

New let statistician Thomas S. Holden explain all this to us, just as he did to the senators.

"Each of those eight expansion factors had a beginning, a growth to maturity, then a reduced acceleration. What we have witnessed in the past few years has been NO ordinary depression, but the coming of age of a great nation."

He means we needed millions of men to develop this nation into the greatest industrial producer on the face of the earth, but we don't need quite so many to keep the machinery going, now that it's here. That's the broad explanation of our estimated 12,000,000 jobless, and the reason why the problem is not necessarily a temporary one.

When Resources Fail

Brookings Institution, a research organization interested in cold facts has just completed a survey in which those thought-provoking observations pop out:

"Although as a nation the United States has been carried further than any other in the scale of productivity and income . . . it contains areas and communities which technological progress has almost passed by, and whose populations have been left stranded on much lower levels of economic activity than the rest of the nation . . ."

"Dr. Carter Goodrich (noted economist) indicates four major regions with what may be called stranded populations . . . the 'Southern Appalachian coal plateaus,' the 'old cotton belt,' the 'outlier regions of the great lakes states,' and 'the great plains'."

Cornhusking, New Style

Illuminating the same problem are the stories of witness after witness before the congressional committees this spring and summer. For instance, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said:

" . . . A survey indicates more than 2,300 mechanical corn pickers have been sold in Iowa during the last two years and that about 6,000 were used in the last harvest. . . . While the average price of hand husking is about $2 an acre in Iowa, these machines can do the job for $1.25 to $1.50. Since each picker replaces approximately three hand pickers, it is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 agricultural laborers have been thrown out of work this fall in Iowa alone."

Each such story reflects a facet of the relief problem. Each swells the proof that the depressions of 1929 and 1938 are merely symptoms of economic ailments. But it remained for these depressions to make the country relief conscious, and to make the destitute themselves relief conscious.

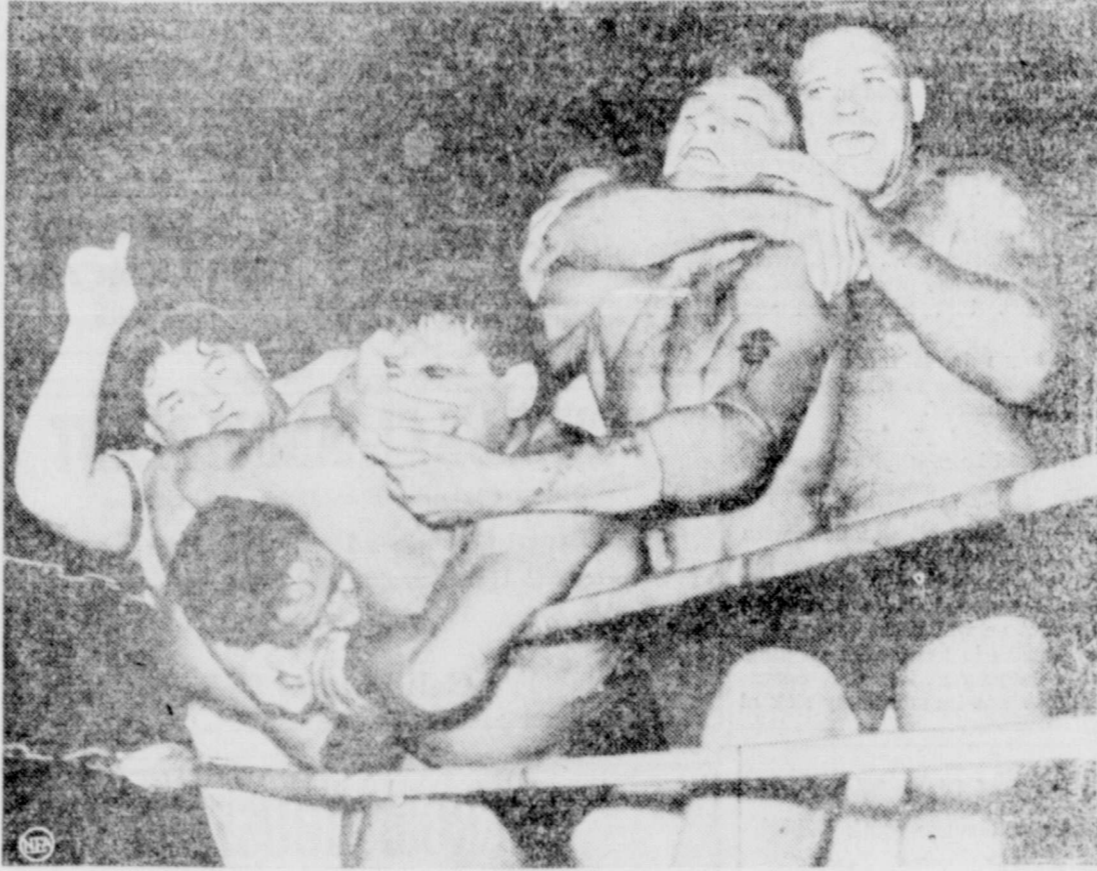

(Tomorrow: What relief costs and what the taxpayers get for their money).

FIRE TRUCKS CRASH

DENVER, July 19 (AP)—A fire engine crashed into a 14-ton fire ladder truck speeding to an amusement park fire Monday night, killing two firemen, and brought a quick inquiry today by city authorities.

Talk About Double Headers!

Promoters in the southwest have introduced a new wrinkle to the mat game, and the not-so-ardent scene above shows the innovation being unfolded before Houston fans. The wrestlers are sent into the ring in teams, which makes the referee's job the toughest of the evening. Sol Slegie, the referee in this case, is trying to untangle, from bottom to top, Steve Malakoff, Lou Plummer, Pete Malakoff and Wee Willie Davis.

Love Made Her Over-Anxious

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—The limit, even for love, was reached by Kathleen Mary House of Welsley Road, Crouch End, who was fined for exceeding the speed limit in her car. Miss House wrote to the court:

"I admit I was in a hurry, but I was trying to reach my fiance before he returned to work. My enthusiasm to meet him, due to my having become engaged only a day or so before, over-rode for a moment my consideration for the 30-mile limit."

Despite her plea she was fined $5.

Survey Shows Elks Die From Starving

MISSOULA, Mont., July 19 (AP) Starvation is the principal cause of deaths among elk of the upper Gallatin river country in the winter time, a survey by the forest service disclosed. Of 85 deaths, rangers decided 65 were directly due to food shortage on the winter range.

Feminine Mayor 'Get By With Lot That a Man Can't'

ELLSWORTH, Kan., July 19 (AP)—The best spareribs and sauerkraut cook in Ellsworth county rapidly is gaining a wide reputation as Ellsworth's mayor simply "because a woman can get by with a lot of things a man can't."

"A woman can ask a man for just about anything she wants and a man will do his best to provide it rather than disappoint her," says Mrs. Clara Williford, 51-year-old restaurant owner.

Mrs. Williford was elected in 1933 and has been re-elected twice since without opposition.

In five years—take a deep breath—she had:

- Built a new $60,000 city hall.
- Reduced the tax levy from 19.7 to only 9.7 mills.
- Paid off $116,000 in bonded indebtedness.
- Reduced sewer rentals 40 per cent.
- Improved the streets and—
- But that gives you an idea.

When Mrs. Williford first was elected Ellsworth faced a serious water shortage every summer.

"When we needed water worst and everything was burnin' up the city always announced no one could water their lawns and I'm tellin' you it got so bad sometimes a person was almost ashamed to take a bath.

"Well, I decided to do something," she said today.

Mrs. Williford called in engineers, discovered a new well "got so much water we don't pipe big enough to take all water into Ellsworth," a town of 2,000 population.

The largest pyramid contains 300,000 blocks of limestone weighing one and a half tons.

Second Leg of Colorado River Gage Finished

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., July 18.—The Nevills boat expedition of Bright Angel creek on the second leg of a dangerous journey down the swirling Colorado river.

The silver-colored boats bearing four men and two women, left Ferry, Ariz., last Wednesday on the second lap of the itinerary from Green River, Utah, to Lake Mead, where they will be met by a sandbar at 6:15 p. m.

Man D. Nevills, veteran Mexican, Utah, riverman and expedition leader, said the journey from Lee's Ferry to "exciting" but there had been no spills in shooting the treacherous rapids.

Grapevine rapids, last of dangerous rapids on the journey here, caused the sole difficulty.

Can't Play Game If There's No Beards

PARIS, July 19 (AP)—French cafe proprietors who encourage any gambling game that has to do with buying drinks for the winners are seriously disturbed over the fact that the bottom has dropped out of the French beard market.

Many a Frenchman used to play "tennis barbe" on the terraces of cafes in Paris. They sat on the terraces and watched for men with beards. The first man to reach a ten score won. White beards counted one, black beards two and red beards three.

The game has few followers now, for beards are not as fashionable as they used to be.

Feminists Are Too Aggressive, Says

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—The first woman to become a member of the General Bar Council lit into the members of her sex. The woman, Hannah Cross, says her fellow feminists are not popular because they are too aggressive.

"This aggressiveness," she declares, "is shown by the feminist who finds slights where none are intended, by the over-manly woman, and by those who depend purely on sex appeal."

"Women's talons have to learn delicacy of touch."

Urge Your Favorable Consideration of His Candidacy For the LEGISLATURE From 106th DISTRICT.

A GOOD RULE TO FOLLOW

In public as well as private business

When a man asks you for a job, demand to know his qualifications. The choosing of a

REPRESENTATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE

Is a BUSINESS MATTER because the election of any person is an investment of the public funds.

If the choice is bad, the people lose in DOLLARS AND CENTS AS WELL AS SERVICES

An individual in need of professional services, such as that of a doctor or lawyer, naturally wants one capable of delivering efficient service. This means emphatically that he must have years of training and experience in his line.

If he is not careless about the public money and wishes to use some of the economic caution he applies to his private business, the voter will do well to consider the point set out before, especially with reference to the candidate long experienced, well grounded and efficient in the performance of the duties of the office he seeks, and whose record is unimpeachable as against charges of any consequence.

- 1.---Lotief voted for the chain store tax and as a member of the Revenue and Taxation Committee of the House made the motion to pass the same with a favorable recommendation.
- 2.---Lotief is for the Fair Trade Act in order to help small business men exist and compete with foreign corporations.
- 3.---Lotief is tried and proven to be honest, capable and experienced and well qualified for the job he now seeks.
- 4.---Lotief never will place any extra tax burden on Eastland county industry and real estate.
- 5.---Lotief proved to be loyal to the people. He was the only representative we ever had to keep us informed through the papers and otherwise about what was going on at Austin.
- 6.---Lotief is the best friend of the aged and blind people and dependent children. He stands ready to help get an honorable pension for all who can qualify under the constitution as voted by the people and to see that all are treated on an equal basis. He will support legislation to match the funds paid by teachers into the Teachers Retirement Fund as voted by the people.

Regardless of who is elected from the 107th district a representative of experience is needed to work with him and Mr. Lotief is the logical candidate from the 106th district to do so and cooperate with him. He has lived in Texas 34 years, and has been a loyal and good citizen and public servant.

As McCraw Campaign Returns to Fort Worth

When William McCraw returned to the county of his birth and the home town of three other candidates for governor, the largest crowd of the year turned out to hear him. The large picture shows part of the crowd of 10,000 to 12,000 which jammed picturesque Marine park to hear McCraw outline his program and to laugh with him at Webster Lee, O'Daniel of Fort Worth, another candidate, as McCraw picked flaws in the floor candidate's platform. Why Don't They Do This in Texas

HOLLYWOOD, July 19 (AP)—Politics is improving.

We are inviting all the motion picture people we know to have a highball and a sandwich while they wait to be registered."

Man About--

We left Grand Central at 11 a. m., EST, which is breakfast time if you aren't an early breakfaster. And breakfast on this trip serves a double purpose—it keeps you from rotting the rather awful (to look upon) excavations underway around 125th street stations, and permits you to ride into the New England gateway on the vast satisfaction of a full stomach. A well-fed man is usually a happy one, and that is the frame of mind one should be in when you visit this country. For years now I've been listening to New Englanders boast and brag of their manner of living, their stately elms, their weather and fishing.

And I'm going to see for myself. Miss Hall, the stewardess, tells me we are only a couple of miles out of Saybrook, and so in a few minutes I'll be in the car and for Old Lyme, with its red streets and old, old, old inviting gardens, and pine trees.

RE-ELECT C. V. TERRELL RAILROAD COMMISSIONER ABLE HONEST EXPERIENCED C. V. Terrell's 14 years on the railroad commission have brought a new importance to that office. Writer of the first proration law, Terrell's conservation policies on oil have saved the state schools millions of dollars, have ended wild "boom" days and brought instead beneficial, settled prosperity. Judge Terrell as chairman runs the railroad commission as the late great Gov. Jim Hogg wanted it run when he fought for its creation --- he runs it for all Texans, not any special group or clique. He regulates oil, gas utilities, railroads, pipe lines, motor transportation agencies as much for the general public and the workmen whose labor make those industries possible as for the men who control the companies.
