

HUNGARY PRESSES CLAIMS TO CZECH AREAS

Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

Declare as we please that the United States can maintain a strict neutrality in the event of a European war, but the experiences of the past few weeks belie the statement. The eminence of conflict in central Europe over the Czechoslovakian question had the people of America on edge. Business apparently stopped while the issue of peace or war was being decided. Everything was in a state of uncertainty, a state of evident and deep concern over the course that history was to take in that memorable crisis. Perhaps that expectation may be explained by the idea that business and people generally were waiting for the course of events to be determined in order that they might intelligently plot the future, but the fact that such a situation in Europe had such an effect on American economic conditions proves the close association of our domestic affairs with international affairs.

Now that the threat of war has been abated, temporarily at least, business in this country should resume its course more nearly normal, although normal is something hoped for and dreamed of but not accomplished for several long years.

And that is peculiar, too, in view of the many billions of dollars that have been poured into the relief coffers and filtered back through the national economic structure in an effort to restore purchasing power and prime the economic pump. Twenty billions of dollars of such expenditures in six years. That is an enormous sum and in normal times the release of such a volume of spending power would have boomed conditions to a point of prosperity far above anything we have ever seen.

But today, after six years, we are still in a slough, still trying desperately to get the old machine to going, production balanced with consumption and prosperity on the way back. I think that there is a lesson in this, a lesson that spells sincerity. It is quite evident that all this spending, is mere expedient, something done rather desperately and without the reality of demand and market behind it. Therefore it is futile for there is no sound and economic demand at this time for what is being produced in the way of great structures, and lavish WPA projects. There is only a sound and real demand for the relief of some millions of workers who are out of jobs and must be fed. And when this necessity, this demand—which does nothing so much as to publish the futility of the whole business—is met, there is no other incentive or reason for the sums released to be put to work. And that being the case, those who furnish the money or receive it in the end recognize, as shrewd business men and investors, the fact that it is a debt against the commonwealth and that the debt must be repaid.

And because the spending programs, the consumption and the production, are expedient and temporary, they do not set up any definite and enduring trends of public need which industry and business generally will be called upon to meet. So those who would spend and produce, are uncertain over what is going to take place, and withhold their efforts and their money to await a more certain indication of the route that American demand is going to take.

The utter truth is that the great relief programs we are undergoing are not sincere in the sense that they develop any economic realities, except those of need. Because they are temporary, what they reveal does not encourage industry or investment to take any great risks for the

City Bond Case Trial Is Set for October 20

Bondholders Seek to Impound All City Funds for Debt Service; Demand Reduction of City Costs and Apportionment of Funds

Trial of the case of the Security Benefit Ass'n versus the City of Cisco, suit on about $500,000 of Cisco refunding bonds in default, was set for October 20 in federal district court at Abilene yesterday. The case will come up before Judge Davidson on that date, although the press of a heavy docket may delay actual hearing some time later, it was said.

The suit is one of two. The plaintiffs are seeking to impound all funds of the city collected for debt service and to require an apportionment of these funds by court decree. They also seek to reduce the city's operating costs to $50,000 a year.

Recently the city commission took steps to reduce these expenses to $60,000 and responded to a proposition from the bondholder representatives, who offered one and a half per cent interest per annum on the bonds for a period of three years, with a counter proposition asking one per cent interest for five years. The bondholders want approximately $41,000 applied to debt service and purchase of city bonds at market quotations. The city commission has set aside $1.75 of the $2.50 tax rate for bond service. On 100 per cent collection this would afford $39,000 for the purpose.

Mrs. Laura Bell Succumbs After Brief Illness

After a brief illness Mrs. Laura Bell died Tuesday morning at her home in the Sabanno community, at the age of 81 years and nearly three months. She was born in east Texas August 11, 1857.

The body will be buried in the Sabanno cemetery, following funeral services at the Sabanno Baptist church, but the time of the funeral and burial were undetermined this morning. The body was being held awaiting the arrival of her sons, James and Charles Bell of Blythe, Calif., and Yuma, Arizona, and a daughter, Mrs. Minnie Payne, from Hamlin.

Besides the above she was the mother of Lee Bell, of Cisco; Berry D. Bell, of Cisco Route 4; Mrs. Pearl Peters, Mrs. Alice Sellers, John Bell, and Mrs. Victoria Allen, Sabanno; Mrs. Naomi Ingram, Buster Bell, of Nimrod. Other survivors are 42 grandchildren, and 18 great grandchildren. Mrs. Bell was one of the last two of the original settlers in this section of the state, the other surviving pioneer being Jesse Hart, one of the Hart brothers who were among the first to establish cattle ranches in west Texas. The old Hart ranch is now owned by Ed Hayden, himself an early settler. Mr. Hart is still alive at his home in Baird, though about a month ago he was a patient in a Baird hospital.

A native Texan, having been born in east Texas, Mrs. Bell has been a pioneer practically all of her life, as east Texas was a frontier when she was born. Having married early, she moved to west Texas then on the edge of civilization, when Indians and all manner of wild game roamed this section.

Previously while visiting at her home she told a Press representative of many of the happenings and incidents of her early life in Callahan and Eastland counties, of the hardships the people endured in establishing homes in the then wilderness, as well as some of the pleasures they enjoyed. She said she had seen many Indians soon after her coming, and knew one woman who had been scalped by the redskins, and who lived several years after this harrowing experience.

Thomas E. Dewey Says He'll Run

Anti-Fascist US Italian Charges Propaganda Here

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Girolamo Valent, chairman of the Italian anti-fascist committee, declared today that "the Italian consular officials and secret fascist agents were spreading fascist propaganda throughout the ranks of some 200 Italian-American organizations in the United States."

Valent told Dies' committee on un-American activities that threats and other devices were being used to bring pressure on the American-Italians to gain information about them and to make them conform to fascist ideas.

PARKS EXPAND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—There were 35,111 acres of land and water added to the nation's park holdings in 1937 at a cost of $1,337,354. Many of the areas were gifts.

BALDWIN OK'S MUNICH PACT OF SUCCESSOR

But House of Commons Bitterly Assails Chamberlain

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Earl Baldwin, Neville Chamberlain's predecessor as prime minister, today endorsed Chamberlain's Munich accord while angry opposition renewed its assault on the pact for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Baldwin declared, "When the prime minister decided to go to Berchtesgaden there was nothing else on earth he could have done, and I thank God that he was able to do it."

While Baldwin spoke to the house of lords on the labor opposition, the house of commons bitterly assailed Chamberlain for his four-power agreement.

NEW GERMAN AND FRENCH ERA FORESEEN

PARIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Premier Daladier told the chamber of deputies today that his meeting with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Munich last week marked the beginning of an era of friendly relations between France and Germany.

The premier, reading the ministerial declaration on the four-power agreement over Czechoslovakia, declared that France decided to send an ambassador to Rome to resume cordial relations with Italy.

France had not had an ambassador to Rome since 1936 due to their refusal to recognize the Italian conquest in Ethiopia.

Earlier, the cabinet unanimously approved Daladier's plan for a decree for the powers to "rebuild France's economy and finances."

V. F. W. to Move Into New Home at Next Meeting

The Veterans of Foreign Wars announced today that preparation was being made to put their new home in shape for their next regular meeting which is Wednesday, Oct. 5. Quarters have been secured in the Judia building and they will have access to the entire third floor which was formerly occupied by the Elks club.

The change in locations is due to the increased membership and the newly organized Ladies Auxiliary which will also have headquarters in the same building. Mrs. Karl White, president of the auxiliary, has not yet made an announcement of her plans except that the auxiliary will occupy two or more rooms, and the auxiliary meeting nights will be the same as that of the V. F. W. post.

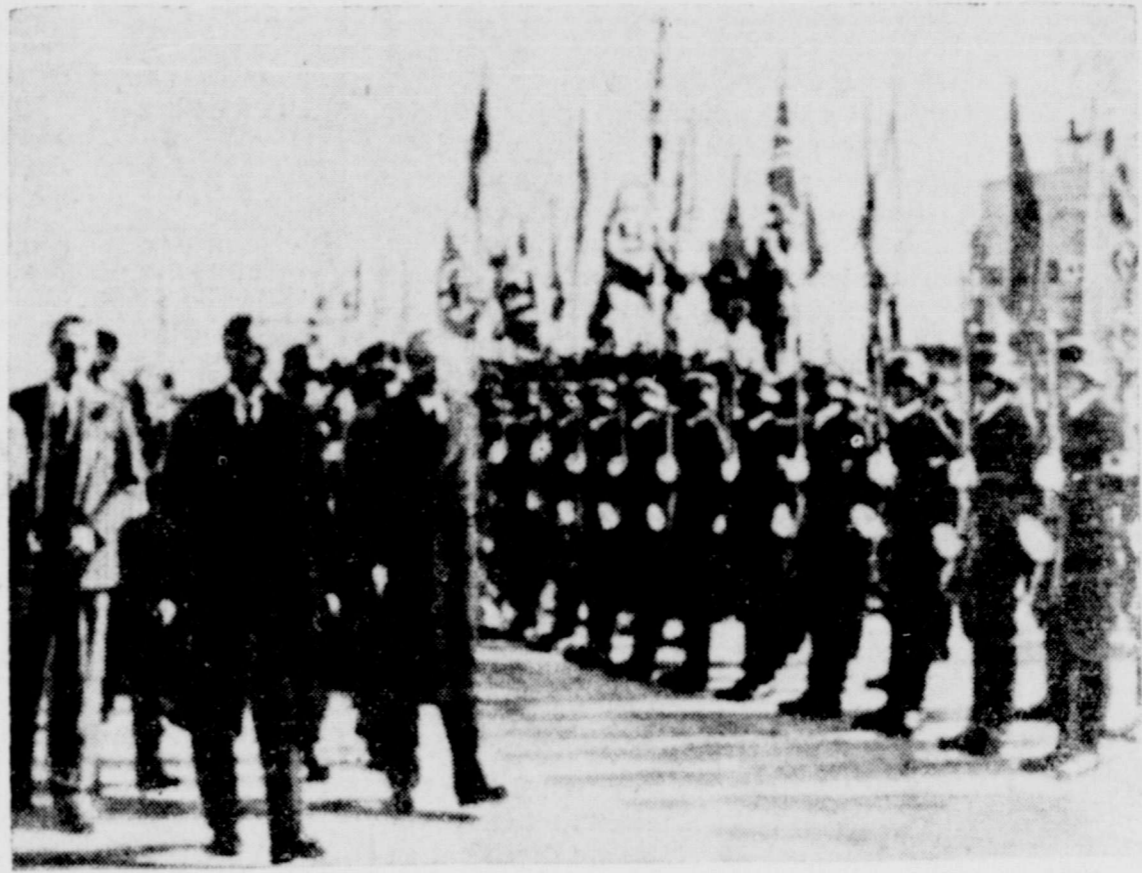

The chapter for the auxiliary will remain open until Nov. 5 and those who desire to have their names placed on the charter may still do so by sending in their application before Nov. 5. It is planned to hold open house in the near future and the public will be invited.

Agnew Associated With Ed Huestis

Ed Huestis announced that Mart Agnew has become a partner with him in the Ed Huestis Service Station at the corner of Main at Eighth, and will be actively associated with him in the business.

Mr. Agnew is well and favorably known in Cisco. He has recently been associated with the Continental Oil company with headquarters in Lubbock and Sweetwater. Mr. Agnew has moved his family here.

Chamberlain Views Crack Troops

Hitler's own crack regiment was ordered out, as seen above, to honor Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain during his visit to Munich, Germany, as a party to the unprecedented four-power conference which averted a war in Europe by granting Adolf Hitler's demands for Czechoslovakian territory. The radiophoto shows Chamberlain (center) reviewing the troops. At the

Injuries May Weaken Loboes For Mountaineer Tilt Friday

Hurts Are Scattered Through Starters; Scrimmages Banned

Because of numerous injuries sustained in the Stephenville game there will be no scrimmage for the Loboes this week, it was announced today by Coach Petty. Bailey is nursing a twisted ankle, Stewart is in bed with the flu, Preston is sick and also has a badly bruised hand, and both Warren and Corle have wrenched knees. To complete the inventory Petty says Donham is weak from his attack of flu—although it's a little hard to imagine Donham weak. At any rate these injuries, even though they aren't especially serious, will doubtless weaken the team.

In addition it was learned that the top-heavy Breckenridge victory over Mineral Wells which everyone seems to be complacently pointing to in team comparisons, was achieved when two of the Mountaineers' best men were still ineligible. This pair, a full-back and quarterback, are now eligible and proved their ability when they led Mineral Wells to a 21-6 victory over Weatherford. The most optimistic prognosticators are not confident enough to give the Loboes more than a two-touchdown edge in pre-game predictions. Chances are that it will be an even closer contest than that.

This afternoon's drill will be spent mainly on the passing attack, with the running game coming in for plenty of work, and brushing up the kicking game—the Loboes have punted only five times in three games—with an eye to strengthening this department. Some time will also be spent on eliminating the costly penalties.

Chesley field will be put to good use for the rest of this week since three games are scheduled successively for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, Wednesday at 3:00 the midgets will play Brownwood junior high; Thursday at 4:00 the "Lobo B" team will engage the "strong Graham B" eleven; and Friday, of course, the Loboes will battle the Mountaineers at 3:00 in their second conference game of the season.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—A set of false teeth—uppers—await their owner at the Sheffield police station. A policeman picked them up at Wrightwood and Lincoln avenues.

Roosevelt Asks Peace In AFL, CIO Relations

HOUSTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt made a frank appeal for peace between the American federation of labor and the committee of industrial organization today in a message to the convention of the American federation of labor.

"If the leaders of organized labor can make and keep peace between various opinions and factions within the labor group itself, it will vastly increase the prestige of labor with the country and prevent a reaction which otherwise is bound to injure the workers themselves," the president said.

YOUTH INJURED

BRENNHAM, Oct. 4 (AP)—Henry Lueck, Jr., 17, of Gal Hill, was in a critical condition in a hospital last night, his neck having been broken in an automobile accident yesterday. Five other boys riding in the same car suffered minor injuries.

Ft. Worth Business Men Cisco Guests

Led by Gaylord Stone, president of the Fort Worth chamber of commerce, 100 executives of Fort Worth were guests of Cisco business men at a noon luncheon on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel in the course of a goodwill tour of west Texas.

Travelling by special train the Fort Worth business men left Fort Worth this morning, paused in major cities along the Texas and Pacific route and at Cisco transferred to the MK&T railroad for the northward loop of a tour which will carry them to Stamford and Hamlin, thence south to San Angelo and eastward to Temple from which point they will return to Fort Worth Thursday evening.

Horace Conley was Cisco toastmaster for the luncheon. Mr. Stone presided for the Fort Worth group, introducing H. C. Burk, Jr., of the Continental National bank, who spoke, and Dave Tandy, chairman of the tour, who also made a brief talk.

Midgets Will Tackle Brownwood Wed.

The grammar school midgets will play Brownwood junior high school Wednesday afternoon, 3:30, at Chesley Field in what will be the first home game for the local eleven. The contest is expected to be a close one since Brownwood is known to have a strong aggregation and the midgets proved their scrappiness in the 7-7 tie they played Moran.

Since it is from these midget teams that future Lobo elevens must come, the support of Cisco citizens is greatly needed and townspersons are urged to attend.

In addition the grammar school pep squad has been organized will be on hand to lend all its usual enthusiasm to the event.

PREPARATIONS FOR POSSIBLE WAR REVEALED

Veterans Ordered to Report to Recruiting Stations

BUDAPEST, Oct. 4 (AP)—Numerous war veterans had orders to report to the nearest east army recruiting station today as the Hungarian government pressed its claims to Hungarian minority territories in Czechoslovakia.

Requisition of raw materials and orders prohibiting exports of metals, textiles, chemicals and leather indicated that Hungary is preparing for eventualities.

Meanwhile, the foreign office awaited Prague's answer to their note requiring negotiations looking toward the return of Hungarian territories.

TREMENDOUS OVATION FOR HITLER

KARLSBAD, Sudetenland, Oct. 4 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, making a triumphal tour of the Sudeten territory, told an audience today, "I didn't know how I would sometime get here, but I did know I would come."

Hitler was given a tremendous ovation when he arrived at this world-famous spa. He spoke only a short distance from where the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein, last April formulated his famous eight demands.

Lobo Band in Contest at Abilene Today

The Cisco Lobo band left at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Abilene where it will compete in the Class A division of the west Texas band contest sponsored by the West Texas Fair.

In announcing that the band had been granted permission to make the trip and enter the contest this afternoon, school officials pointed out that due to the fact that the pep squad, as yet without its uniforms, would not accompany the band, it would not be eligible under contest rules to receive awards.

"This is largely a matter of goodwill between communities," it was explained. "We are glad to send the Cisco band to cooperate with Abilene and to demonstrate a friendly inter-community spirit."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace.—Ps. xxxvii, 37.

Give us our daily bread
To cheer our fainting souls;
The feast of comfort, Lord,
And peace to make us whole
For we are sick of tears,
The useless tears we shed,
Now give us comfort, Lord,
To be our daily bread.
—ADELAIDE PROCTER.

of the youth of the state. The child finishing the high school course was considered well educated and equipped for life. College education was regarded as something of a luxury if not a preparation for the comparatively thinly populated professions, such as those of the doctor, the lawyer or the minister. But today the advancing, shall we call it, the cultural awareness of the people—rural as well as urban—make the availability of college education at small cost, a strong community asset. Towns and cities with college facilities are favored over those without them, despite the fact that the latter may possess decided advantages in other respects.

THERE are other factors which are essential to the success of the local community program, factors involving agricultural and merchandizing aggressiveness. The fact that the Cisco public schools are already serving 12 common school districts about Cisco is something to be considered with regard for the influence which this exerts on the Cisco trade territory. Incidentally it gives more importance to the need for a college here. But the two matters mentioned in particular are matters that should immediately concern every citizen who is interested in the development of this community and which should be disposed of satisfactorily at once of the value of the other resources and advantages Cisco possesses is realized.

OTHER OPINIONS

Why Has Relief Come to Stay?

SOON the New Deal will be six years old. After five and one-half years of striving to bring about the More Abundant Life in the United States, the New Deal is forced to recognize the fact that more than twenty million individual Americans are dependent on public aid from federal, state, and local sources. After five and one-half years of adherence to the philosophy of government-do-everything, 6,500,000 families—more than one-fifth of all the families in the United States—receive some public relief funds. And the number is increasing.

On September 3rd, the Works Progress Administration had 3,085,000 workers on its payrolls. This is the largest group at present receiving aid from public treasuries. Another large group is made up of needy old persons, needy blind, and dependent children. A third group, also large, is composed of families receiving direct relief. The National Youth Administration and the Civilian Conservation Corps add to the number of Americans who are being supported, to some extent, by tax money.

Naturally, all this costs a lot of money. In the single month of July, more than one-fourth of a billion dollars was paid out for public assistance. The total cost of this assistance for the first eight months of this year amounted to two billion dollars. That is the financial burden borne for the various forms of relief by federal, state, and local governmental units. Nor is it a temporary burden. Authorities agree that relief is here to stay; it has become a permanent problem.

These are the facts. No effort will be made here to determine whether or not such huge expenditures are justified. However, in connection with these facts, consideration will be given to a sentiment expressed last week by American delegates to the seventh International Management Congress in Washington. At this meeting, a group of industrial spokesmen urged immediate cessation of the warfare between private industry and the federal government and called for cooperative measures to end the current economic depression.

In view of past experience, it may be taken for granted that no particular attention will be paid to this plea. It is the custom in governmental circles nowadays to blame business and business men for all the real and imaginary evils besetting the country. The idea of creating prosperity through legislation, rather than through hard work and the productive investment of capital, holds sway among the new dealers. The "economic planners," apparently so called because they know little of economics and have no sound plan for restoring stable conditions, won't listen to the voice of business.

Meanwhile, more than twenty million persons in the United States receive aid from public funds. Many of these twenty million would welcome the chance to go to work at regular jobs. But the policies followed by the new dealers inevitably have the effect of reducing the available number of jobs in private industry. And the various types of relief rolls keep growing and the cost keeps mounting.—Texas Weekly.

The Literary Guidepost--

By JOHN SELBY

"The Door of Life," by Enid Bagnold; (Morrow; $2.50); "The Joyful Delaneys," by Hugh Walpole; (Doubleday, Doran; $2.50); "Rebecca," by Daphne du Maurier; (Doubleday, Doran; $2.50).

The bitter determination of the publishers to issue nothing at all through the summer, and to crowd all the good material they can find into the fall, has made it impossible for either the public or the reviewer to keep up with the stream of good novels. Three have slipped by, in a week.

Enid Bagnold's "The Door of Life" is by no means the book "National Velvet" was, but it deserves more careful reading than this department could give it.

Naturally, all this costs a lot of money. In the single month of July, more than one-fourth of a billion dollars was paid out for public assistance.

These are the facts. No effort will be made here to determine whether or not such huge expenditures are justified.

quite like these he has been doing all through the years. It's about a family who face, very, very gayly, the march of poverty. They laugh when normal people would weep, just because they are Delaneys. In fact, the novel is called "The Joyful Delaneys."

There are a lot of people in the book, and as usual Sir Hugh keeps them separate, makes them likable, works them out in the end plausibly. Actually the only difficulty this reader had was with the super-English joyfulness of those droll Delaneys.

Daphne du Maurier has dug deeper into humanity in "Rebecca" than in "Jamaica Inn." The new novel is mostly atmosphere, but atmosphere more expertly handled and more reasonable. It is about the influence of Rebecca, dead eight months when the story opens, upon her successor in the great house of Manderley—the influence of Rebecca, that is, and Rebecca's belongings, her people and the aura which she almost seems to have left behind.

Hugh Walpole has got himself a title and a comfortable fortune by writing his standard type of novel over and over. This time he does a romance of a sort, but it is not

About Our Friends By STEP A. LONG

With football spirit mounting after the showings of Warren, Harrison, Latch, Beames and other outstanding players on the Lobo team, it is of interest to glance back through the years and see what we were doing in other days of football. Turning back in the old files of December 5, 1926, we see these items on the front page.
"CISCO RECEIVES BIG ADVERTISEMENT AS RANGER WINS GAME"
"Cisco received considerable advertisement Saturday when the Ranger-Wichita Falls football game was being broadcast by radio station WBAP from Fort Worth in spite of the fact that the Cisco Lobos were out of the state race. A telegram sent the radio station by the Cisco chamber of commerce was read over the radio between halves.
"The telegram said: With the Big Dam Lobos temporarily in eclipse, Eastland county is still carrying on. The Ranger Bulldogs are covering themselves with glory at Wichita Falls. The Cisco grammar school wins the state championship of Texas over Temple this afternoon. Score: Cisco 17; Temple 6. Next Thursday Randolph college of Cisco plays a post-season game with Trinity University Tigers and on Christmas Day Randolph college plays Bellefonte academy of Bellefonte, Pa., in Cisco, for the junior college championship of the United States."
"Midnet Lobos Win State Title Of Ward Schools by Defeating Temple Eleven Here by 17 to 0"
"Following in the footsteps of their elder brothers, the Midnet Loboes of Cisco Grammar school Saturday afternoon won the grade school championship by defeating Temple Grammar school here 17 to 6. The Midnets put a great game against the Lobos, who, after beating all opponents in their home district, challenge any team in Texas for the championship. Never was the goal line in danger except in the last quarter when the Lobos, in addition of the Temple Wildcat, leashed a forward passing attack.
"The game was played before a crowd of several hundred fans, including in addition to numerous school children many of the players and a number of business men. A guarantee of $200 for expenses in bringing Temple gridders the 250 miles in 300 was made by Cisco business men but all but a few dollars of the amount was taken in through the sale of tickets.
"Stars for the Midnets are of course Hugh Nix, who made both legs down, one by a 15 yard pass through center after a long drive had been made, and the other by the last quarter after a forward pass. Van Horn kicked a field goal, not only making both points after touchdown, but kicking a field goal from the yard line as well. Galvin at tackle played a star game, while the best lineman on the field.
"Other Midnets did good work and clearly outclassed the Temple boys. The boys were brought to the park commission with request that it be used to fund for purchase of all-day-ers to be distributed to the concert audiences. That, he should keep them quiet.

You Can Sleep Well. If You Don't Find Some Work

By AURELIUS KINSEY
AP Feature Service Writer
CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Getting sleep is just a matter of letting the mind go. Once relaxed, the next step is Dreamland.

Dr. Edmund Jacobson says that coffee does not always cause insomnia; that smoking has practically nothing to do with it; that city folk often sleep as well as rural residents.

He found that religion helps relaxation by quieting fears; that derate exercise, fatigue, fresh air, a comfortable mattress and a darkened room help induce slumber.

But, he says, reading in bed is bad business.

Here are the steps of a set of exercises Dr. Jacobson defines as the best method for relaxing progressively:

1. Lie on the back with eyes closed and legs uncrossed for 30 minutes if restless and 50 minutes lying without discomfort.

2. Raise the right arm, clench and uncurl fingers and let the arm drop—limp—and do not give. Do the same with left arm.

3. Stretch legs, bend down feet and let toes and let go limp, suddenly. Repeat twice.

4. Breathe a little more deeply than usual two or three times.

5. Relax the chest muscles as you exhale without forcing.

6. Relax the eyes; open them, look to the right, then to the left, up and down, holding each position 30 seconds.

7. Lie in your favorite position on back, side or stomach, keeping eyes closed. Count aloud to ten, noting action of tongue, lips, jaws and that. Quit counting and relax these parts for three or four minutes, then count again, not so loud; repeat a third time under the breath. Relax the entire body. 60,000 Filipino Bachelors Have No Marital Hopes

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Sixty thousand bachelors, who have no hope of marrying or rearing families, are proving a problem to social agencies and themselves.

They are Filipinos—the latest addition to America's melting pot and the one that appears least likely to melt.

In the wave of immigration that preceded the Philippine independence act, the new arrivals were virtually all men. Now that the bars have been clamped down there is no way for them to obtain brides from among their own people. Few American girls have married them, nor is there much mingling with Mexicans, Chinese or other racial groups. The men simply remain single.

The U. S. Immigration service estimates that 97 per cent of the Filipinos now in the country are males, averaging 30 years of age. To permit them to go back to a normal life among their own people, congress voted free transportation to the islands but so far only 1,900 have taken advantage of it. The offer expires next December 31.

"We think our people should go home, but the movement will require time and careful arrangements," says Dr. Hilario C. Morcude, president of the Filipino Federation of America. "Filipinos are a proud people. The boys do not want to go back without money or without assurance they will earn a living."

Edward W. Cahill, district immigration commissioner, who has made a close study of the Filipino problem, finds that 65 per cent engage in farm labor, while those in cities work as houseboys, elevator operators, janitors, etc. Their earnings are small but few go on relief. They are Malay in race, Christian in religion.

Even their own leaders concede that Filipinos spend their money largely on "clothes, gambling and women." Their natty attire is proportioned to the market until Oct. 10.

Starr said the Texas-Oklahoma peanut crop last year, about average, was 55,000 tons, and that the forecast for this year's crop is 80,000 tons.

The association, Starr explained, uses RFC funds and operates through the community credit division of the AAA. There are no crop reduction restrictions, but association members are charged a fee of 7 1/2 cents per acre.

Warehouses will be located at Tolar, Comanche, May, Rising Star, Ranger, Gorman, Abilene and Fort Worth.

Peanut Growers Ass'n Will Have Nine Warehouses

EASTLAND, Oct. 4—The Southwestern Peanut Growers Association expects to open storage warehouses at nine Texas points by Oct. 10, according to W. B. Starr, Dan Horn, association manager.

Starr will retire soon as manager, and Dick Weakes, Alameda, will succeed him. Headquarters of the association, which covers the Texas-Oklahoma territory, is at Eastland.

Starr explained that the association is a co-operative, working as a division of the AAA, buying and storing the surplus peanut crop to stabilize the market.

Whereas the present market price is 83 cents a bushel for No. 1 peanuts and 80 cents for No. 2 grade, the association, as soon as it obtains warehouse facilities, will pay 94.5 cents for No. 1 grade and 88.5 cents for No. 2, Starr said.

"The crop already is about 50 per cent harvested," Starr said. "I'd advise those farmers who have already threshed to hold

Important Position Captured By Japs

SHANGHAI, Oct. 4 (AP)—After bloody fighting on the Fushui River, the Japanese claimed today they had captured strategic positions.

They reported the retreating Chinese left 3,200 dead and large supplies of munitions and equipment.

The invaders said their forces now were crossing the river preparatory to an attack on Hangsin, 75 miles southeast of Hankow—Chinese military capital and main objective of the Japanese Yangtze River drive.

With Our WILD LIFE What Our Wildlife Resources Mean to Texas

Did you ever consider just what value our wildlife resources mean to Texas? Of course there are several ways in which our wildlife resources aid us.

States is for sporting activities. They found that five million automobiles were annually used for sporting activities; that these cars traveled seven hundred miles each on the average; that the total mileage traveled by these cars was three billion five hundred millions of miles each year.

They found that tire bills exceeded six millions each year, 35 million dollars, was spent for gasoline, three million dollars was spent for oil. The total cost of transportation, paid out each year, by hunters, fishermen and lovers of nature in general through the use of the automobile alone exceeded one hundred twelve million seven hundred thousand dollars.

Texas sportsmen each year spend twenty-five million dollars for guns, ammunition, fishing equipment, clothing, automobiles, gasoline, food, hotel accommodations, and other goods and articles necessary to hunting and fishing trips.

Certainly if every industry that benefits directly or indirectly from the money spent on fishing and hunting trips would pool their money and efforts toward an extensive wildlife conservation program aid do all in their power to build up our wildlife resources in Texas as well as in other states, the nation would see an upward trend in business. If hunting and fishing facilities are increased more people would indulge in the greatest of all sports, whereby more money would be spent on such trips and the whole country would benefit.

Eastland County Young People's Banquet at Ranger

EASTLAND, Oct. 4.—The Eastland County Young People's union will hold its annual banquet at the First Methodist church in Ranger at 7:45 Tuesday evening, with groups coming from Putnam, Cisco, Eastland, Olden, Carbon and perhaps other places, in addition to the Ranger group.

The evening's program will center around the theme of "Pioneering." Bob Leslie of Cisco, who is president of the union, will act as chairman, with Hugh Smith of Putnam as toastmaster.

The musical numbers will include a Ranger girls' quartet and a marimba by Miss Elsie Ellen Hummel, accompanied by Miss Doris May.

The principal address, on the theme of "Modern Pioneers," will be brought by Rev. Stanley Williams of Carbon.

The banquet plates will be 35 cents, with all young people particularly invited, and a welcome

Do you realize she's liable to be in a tough spot?

The girl stiffened. "You're not saying that she—"

"I'm not saying anything," Tait said quietly. "How long have you known her?"

"We've roomed together for five years. They don't come better than Myrna."

"This romance with Dombey. Wasn't it sort of sudden?"

Anne flushed. "I'm afraid this is none of your business. I understand you were a newspaper photographer, not a detective. I'm going to see Myrna."

"Sorry..." Tait grinned sheepishly and let her by.

The kid was right, he thought. What he should do was turn the bag and the gun over to the police and let them fight it out.

Yet, if he did that, the girl in there would find herself instantly embroiled in a sticky mess. She was hit hard enough as it was.

He was startled by Anne Lester's voice at his shoulder. "Myrna's not in there?"

"Are you sure?"

Anne nodded. "There's a fire escape to the alley. She must have gone down that."

Tait hesitated a moment. Then he demanded, "Haven't they got things in hand in there yet?"

"I haven't been in the Bowl for the past five minutes," Anne said desperately. "I've been searching all over the lobby and balcony for Myrna. Where is she? I saw her go out with you just after—just after it happened."

Tait jerked a thumb over his shoulder. "She's in there." Anne started for the foyer, but young Tait restrained her. "Just a minute. I'd like to help her if I can."

The family later moved to a farm home on Battle Creek, near the Heysler ranch, then to the Bell horse ranch, now owned by Judge D. K. Scott, east of Sabanno, then to the home in the Sabanno community where she resided until her death today.

HUNGARY PRESSES CLAIMS TO CZECH AREAS

Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

Declare as we please that the United States can maintain a strict neutrality in the event of European war, but the experiences of the past few weeks force the statement. The eminence of conflict in central Europe over the Czechoslovakian question had the people of America on edge. Business apparently stopped while the issue of peace or war was being decided. Everything was in a state of uncertainty, a late of evident and deep concern over the course that history was to take in that memorable crisis. Perhaps that experience may be explained by the idea that business and people generally were waiting for the course of events to be determined in order that they might intelligently plot the future, but the fact that such a situation in Europe had such an effect on American economic conditions proves the close association of our domestic affairs with international affairs.

Now that the threat of war has been abated, temporarily at least, business in this country should resume its course more normally, although normal is something hoped for and dreamed of but not accomplished for several long years.

And that is peculiar, too, in view of the many billions of dollars that have been poured into the relief coffers and filtered back through the national economic structure in an effort to restore purchasing power and prime the economic pump. Twenty billions of dollars of such expenditures in six years. That is an enormous sum and in normal times the release of such a volume of spending power would have boomed conditions to a point of prosperity far above anything we have ever seen.

But today, after six years, we are still in a slough, still trying desperately to get the old machine to going, production balanced with consumption and prosperity on the way back. I think that there is a lesson in futility and extravagance there. A lesson that spells sincerity. It is quite evident that all this spending, is mere expedient, something done rather desperately and without the reality of demand and market behind it. Therefore it is futile for there is no sound and economic demand at this time for what is being produced in the way of great structures, and lavish WPA projects. There is only a sound and real demand for the relief of some millions of workers who are out of jobs and must be fed. And when this necessity, this demand—which does nothing so much as to publish the futility of the whole business—is met, there is no other incentive or reason for the sums released to be put to work. And that being the case, those who furnish the money or receive it in the end recognize, as shrewd business men and investors, the fact that it is a debt against the commonwealth and that the debt must be repaid.

And because the spending programs, the consumption and the production, are expedient and temporary, they do not set up any definite and enduring trends of public need which industry and business generally will be called upon to meet. So those who would spend and produce, and even those who would buy, are uncertain over what is going to take place, and withhold their efforts and their money to await a more certain indication of the route that American demand is going to take.

City Bond Case Trial Is Set for October 20

Bondholders Seek to Impound All City Funds for Debt Service; Demand Reduction of City Costs and Apportionment of Funds

Trial of the case of the Security Benefit Ass'n versus the City of Cisco, suit on about $500,000 of Cisco refunding bonds in default, was set for October 20 in federal district court at Abilene yesterday. The case will come up before Judge Davidson on that date, although the press of a heavy docket may delay actual hearing some time later, it was said.

The suit is one of two. The plaintiffs are seeking to impound all funds of the city collected for debt service and to require an apportionment of these funds by court decree. They also seek to reduce the city's operating costs to $50,000 a year.

Recently the city commission took steps to reduce these expenses to $60,000 and responded to a proposition from the bondholder representatives, who offered one and a half per cent interest per annum on the bonds for a period of three years, with a counter proposition asking one per cent interest for five years. The bondholders want approximately $41,000 applied to debt service and purchase of city bonds at market quotations. The city commission has set aside $1.75 of the $2.50 tax rate for bond service. On 100 per cent collection this would afford $39,000 for the purpose.

Mrs. Laura Bell Succumbs After Brief Illness

After a brief illness Mrs. Laura Jane Bell died Tuesday morning at her home in the Sabanno community, at the age of 81 years and nearly three months. She was born in east Texas August 11, 1857.

The body will be buried in the Sabanno cemetery, following funeral services at the Sabanno Baptist church, but the time of the funeral and burial were undetermined this morning. The body was being held awaiting the arrival of her sons, James and Charles Bell of Blythe, Calif., and Yuma, Arizona, and a daughter, Mrs. Minnie Payne, from Hamlin.

Besides the above she was the mother of Lee Bell, of Cisco; Berry D. Bell, of Cisco Route 4; Mrs. Pearl Peters, Mrs. Alice Sellers, John Bell, and Mrs. Victoria Allen, Sabanno; Mrs. Naomi Ingram, Buster Bell, of Nimrod. Other survivors are 42 grandchildren, and 18 great grandchildren. Mrs. Bell was one of the last two original settlers in this section of the state, the other surviving pioneer being Jesse Hart, one of the Hart brothers who were among the first to establish cattle ranches in west Texas. The old Hart ranch is now owned by Ed Hayden, himself an early settler. Mr. Hart is still alive at his home in Baird, though about a month ago he was a patient in a Baird hospital.

A native Texan, having been born in east Texas, Mrs. Bell has been a pioneer practically all of her life, as east Texas was a frontier when she was born. Having married early, she moved to west Texas then on the edge of civilization, when Indians and all manner of wild game roamed this section.

Previously while visiting at her home she told a Press representative of many of the happenings and incidents of her early life in Callahan and Eastland counties, of the hardships the people endured in establishing homes in the then wilderness, as well as some of the pleasures they enjoyed. She said she had seen many Indians soon after her coming, and knew one woman who had been scalped by the redskins, and who lived several years after this harrowing experience.

Anti-Fascist US Italian Charges Propaganda Here

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Girolamo Valenti, chairman of the Italian anti-fascists committee, declared today that "the Italian consular officials and secret fascist agents were spreading fascist propaganda throughout the ranks of some 200 Italian-American organizations in the United States."

Valenti told Dies' committee on un-American activities that threats and other devices were being used to bring pressure on the American-Italians to gain information about them and to make them conform to fascist ideas.

BALDWIN OK'S MUNICH PACT OF SUCCESSOR

But House of Commons Bitterly Assails Chamberlain

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Earl Baldwin, Neville Chamberlain's predecessor as prime minister, today endorsed Chamberlain's Munich accord while angry opposition renewed its assault on the pact for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Baldwin declared, "When the prime minister decided to go to Berchtesgaden there was nothing else on earth he could have done, and I thank God that he was able to do it."

While Baldwin spoke to the house of lords on the labor opposition, the house of commons bitterly assailed Chamberlain for his four-power agreement.

NEW GERMAN AND FRENCH ERA FORESEEN

PARIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Premier Daladier told the chamber of deputies today that his meeting with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Munich last week marked the beginning of an era of friendly relations between France and Germany.

The premier, reading the ministerial declaration on the four-power agreement over Czechoslovakia, declared that France decided to send an ambassador to Rome to resume cordial relations with Italy.

France had not had an ambassador to Rome since 1936 due to their refusal to recognize the Italian conquest in Ethiopia.

Earlier, the cabinet unanimously approved Daladier's plan for a decree for the powers to "rebuild France's economy and finances."

V. F. W. to Move Into New Home at Next Meeting

The Veterans of Foreign Wars announced today that preparation was being made to put their new home in shape for their next regular meeting which is Wednesday, Oct. 5. Quarters have been secured in the Judia building and they will have access to the entire third floor which was formerly occupied by the Elks club.

The change in locations is due to the increased membership and the newly organized Ladies Auxiliary which will also have headquarters in the same building. Mrs. Karl White, president of the auxiliary, has not yet made an announcement of her plans except that the auxiliary will occupy two or more rooms, and the auxiliary meeting nights will be the same as that of the V. F. W. post.

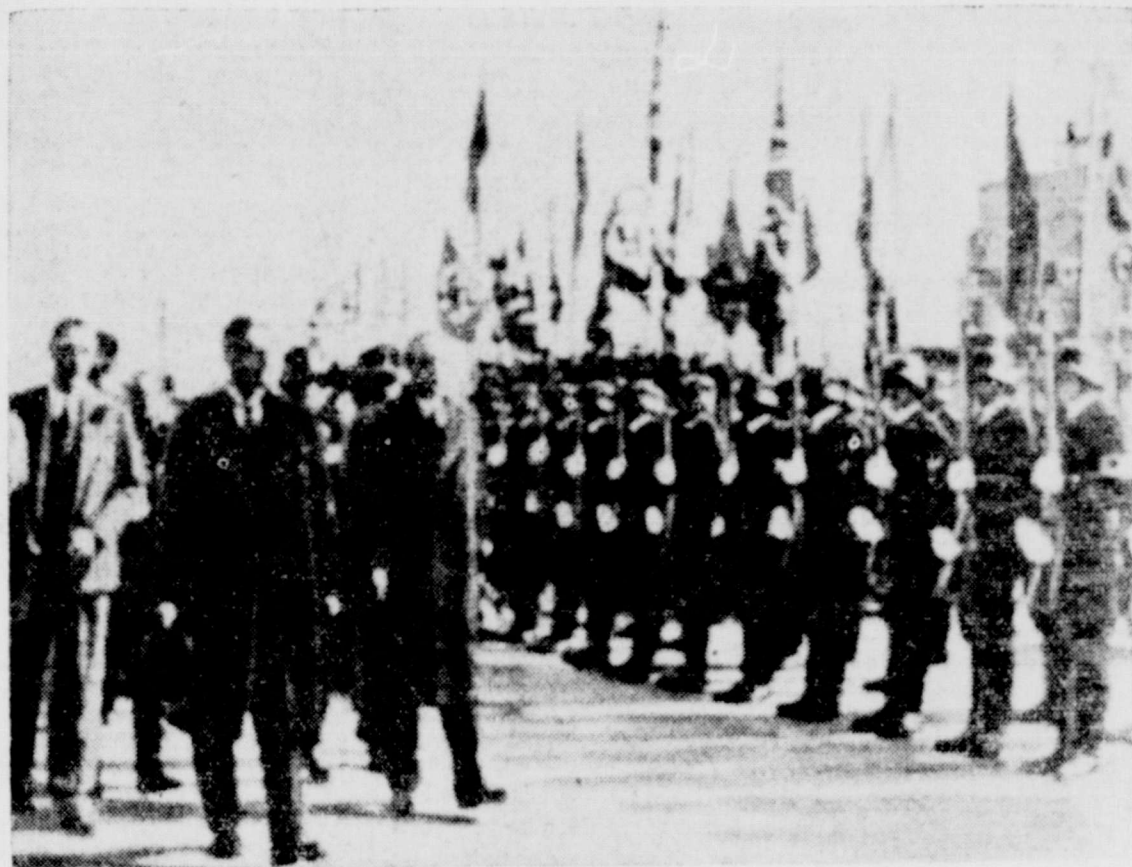

The chapter for the auxiliary will remain open until Nov. 5 and those who desire to have their names placed on the charter may still do so by sending in their application before Nov. 5. It is planned to hold open house in the near future and the public will be invited.

Agnew Associated With Ed Huestis

Ed Huestis announced that Mart Agnew has become a partner with him in the Ed Huestis Service Station at the corner of Main at Eighth, and will be actively associated with him in the business.

Mr. Agnew is well and favorably known in Cisco. He has recently been associated with the Continental Oil company with headquarters in Lubbock and Sweetwater. Mr. Agnew has moved his family here.

Chamberlain Views Crack Troops

Hitler's own crack regiment was ordered out, as seen above, to honor Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain during his visit to Munich, Germany, as a party to the unprecedented four-power conference which

averted a war in Europe by granting Adolf Hitler's demands for Czechoslovakian territory. The radiophoto shows Chamberlain (center) reviewing the troops. At the left of the photo is Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany. At Chamberlain's left is Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister.

Injuries May Weaken Loboes For Mountaineer Tilt Friday

Hurts Are Scattered Through Starters; Scrimmages Banned

Because of numerous injuries sustained in the Stephenville game there will be no scrimmage for the Loboes this week, it was announced today by Coach Petty. Bailey is nursing a twisted ankle, Stewart is in bed with the flu, Preston is sick and also has a badly bruised hand, and both Warren and Cone have wrenched knees. To complete the inventory Petty says Donham is weak from his attack of flu—although it's a little hard to imagine Donham weak. At any rate these injuries, even though they aren't especially serious, will doubtless weaken the team.

In addition it was learned that the top-heavy Breckenridge victory over Mineral Wells which everyone seems to be complacently pointing to in team comparisons, was achieved when two of the Mountaineers' best men were still ineligible. This pair, a full-back and quarterback, are now eligible and proved their ability when they led Mineral Wells to a 21-6 victory over Weatherford. The most optimistic prognosticators are not confident enough to give the Loboes more than a two-touchdown edge in pre-game predictions. Chances are that it will be an even closer contest than that.

This afternoon's drill will be spent mainly on the passing attack, with the running game coming in for plenty of work, and brushing up the kicking game—the Loboes have punted only five times in three games—with an eye to strengthening this department. Some time will also be spent on eliminating the costly penalties.

Chesley field will be put to good use for the rest of this week since three games are scheduled successively for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Wednesday at 3:00 the midgets will play Brownwood junior high; Thursday at 4:00 the Lobo "B" team will engage the "strong Graham "B" eleven; and Friday, of course, the Loboes will battle the Mountaineers at 3:00 in their second conference game of the season.

Roosevelt Asks Peace In AFL, CIO Relations

HOUSTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt made a frank appeal for peace between the American federation of labor and the committee of industrial organization today in a message to the convention of the American federation of labor.

"If the leaders of organized labor can make and keep peace between various opinions and factions within the labor group itself, it will vastly increase the prestige of labor with the country and prevent a reaction which otherwise is bound to injure the workers themselves," the president said.

YOUTH INJURED

BRENNHAM, Oct. 4 (AP)—Henry Lucek, Jr., 17, of Gal Hill, was in a critical condition in a hospital last night, his neck having been broken in an automobile accident yesterday. Five other boys riding in the same car suffered minor injuries.

Ft. Worth Business Men Cisco Guests

Led by Gaylord Stone, president of the Fort Worth chamber of commerce, 100 executives of Fort Worth were guests of Cisco business men at a noon luncheon on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel in its course of a goodwill tour of west Texas.

Travelling by special train the Fort Worth business men left Fort Worth this morning, paused in major cities along the Texas and Pacific route and at Cisco transferred to the MK&T railroad for the northward loop of a tour which will carry them to Stamford and Hamlin, thence south to San Angelo and eastward to Temple from which point they will return to Fort Worth Thursday evening.

Horace Condley was Cisco toastmaster for the luncheon. Mr. Stone presided for the Fort Worth group, introducing H. C. Burk, Jr., of the Continental National bank, who spoke, and Dave Tandy, chairman of the tour, who also made a brief talk.

Midgets Will Tackle Brownwood Wed.

The grammar school midgets will play Brownwood junior high school Wednesday afternoon, 3:30, at Chesley Field in what will be the first home game for the local eleven. The contest is expected to be a close one since Brownwood is known to have a strong aggregation and the midgets proved their scrappiness in the 7-7 tie they played Moran.

Since it is from these midget teams that future Lobo elevens must come, the support of Cisco citizens is greatly needed and townspeople are urged to attend.

In addition the grammar school pep squad has been organized will be on hand to lend all its usual enthusiasm to the event.

PREPARATIONS FOR POSSIBLE WAR REVEALED

Veterans Ordered to Report to Recruiting Stations

BUDAPEST, Oct. 4 (AP)—Numerous war veterans had orders to report to the nearest army recruiting station today as the Hungarian government pressed its claims to Hungarian minority territories in Czechoslovakia.

Requisition of raw materials and orders prohibiting exports of metals, textiles, chemicals and leather indicated that Hungary is preparing for eventualities.

Meanwhile, the foreign office awaited Prague's answer to their note requesting negotiations looking toward the return of Hungarian territories.

TREMENDOUS OVATION FOR HITLER

KARLSBAD, Sudetenland, Oct. 4 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, making a triumphal tour of the Sudeten territory, told an audience today, "I didn't know how I would sometime get here, but I did know I would come."

Hitler was given a tremendous ovation when he arrived at this world-famed spa. He spoke only a short distance from where the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein, last April formulated his famous eight demands.

Lobo Band in Contest at Abilene Today

The Cisco Lobo band left at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Abilene where it will compete in the Class A division of the west Texas band contest sponsored by the West Texas Fair.

In announcing that the band had been granted permission to make the trip and enter the contest this afternoon, school officials pointed out that due to the fact that the pep squad, as yet without its uniforms, would not accompany the band, it would not be eligible under contest rules to receive awards.

"This is largely a matter of goodwill between communities," it was explained. "We are glad to send the Cisco band to cooperate with Abilene and to demonstrate a friendly inter-community spirit."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace.—Ps. xxxvii. 37

Give us our daily bread
To cheer our fainting souls;
The feast of comfort, Lord,
And peace to make us whole.
For we are sick of tears,
The useless tears we shed.
Now give us comfort, Lord,
To be our daily bread.
—ADELAIDE PROCTER.

of the youth of the state. The child finishing the high school course was considered well educated and equipped for life. College education was regarded as something of a luxury if not a preparation for the comparatively thinly populated professions, such as those of the doctor, the lawyer or the minister. But today the advancing, shall we call it, the cultural awareness of the people—rural as well as urban—make the availability of college education at small cost, a strong community asset. Towns and cities with college facilities are favored over those without them, despite the fact that the latter may possess decided advantages in other respects.

There are other factors which are essential to the success of the local community program, factors involving agricultural and merchandizing aggressiveness. The fact that the Cisco public schools are already serving 12 common school districts about Cisco is something to be considered with regard for the influence which this exerts on the Cisco trade territory. Incidentally it gives more importance to the need for a college here. But the two matters mentioned in particular are matters that should immediately concern every citizen who is interested in the development of this community and which should be disposed of satisfactorily at once of the value of the other resources and advantages Cisco possesses is realized.

Why Has Relief Come to Stay?

SOON the New Deal will be six years old. After five and one-half years of striving to bring about the More Abundant Life in the United States, the New Deal is forced to recognize the fact that more than twenty million individual Americans are dependent on public aid from federal, state, and local sources. After five and one-half years of adherence to the philosophy of government-do-everything, 6,500,000 families—more than one-fifth of all the families in the United States—receive some public relief funds. And the number is increasing.

On September 3rd, the Works Progress Administration had 3,065,000 workers on its payrolls. This is the largest group at present receiving aid from public treasuries. Another large group is made up of needy old persons, needy blind, and dependent children. A third group, also large, is composed of families receiving direct relief. The National Youth Administration and the Civilian Conservation Corps add to the number of Americans who are being supported, to some extent, by tax money.

Naturally, all this costs a lot of money. In the single month of July, more than one-fourth of a billion dollars was paid out for public assistance. The total cost of this assistance for the first eight months of this year amounted to two billion dollars. That is the financial burden borne for the various forms of relief by federal, state, and local governmental units. Nor is it a temporary burden. Authorities agree that relief is here to stay; it has become a permanent problem.

These are the facts. No effort will be made here to determine whether or not such huge expenditures are justified. However, in connection with these facts, consideration will be given to a sentiment expressed last week by American delegates to the seventh International Management Congress in Washington. At this meeting, a group of industrial spokesmen urged immediate cessation of the warfare between private industry and the federal government and called for cooperative measures to end the current economic depression.

In view of past experience, it may be taken for granted that no particular attention will be paid to this plea. It is the custom in governmental circles nowadays to blame business and business men for all the real and imaginary evils besetting the country. The idea of creating prosperity through legislation, rather than through hard work and the productive investment of capital, holds sway among the new dealers. The "economic planners," apparently so called because they know little of economics and have no sound plan for restoring stable conditions, won't listen to the voice of business.

Meanwhile, more than twenty million persons in the United States receive aid from public funds. Many of these twenty million would welcome the chance to go to work at regular jobs. But the policies followed by the new dealers inevitably have the effect of reducing the available number of jobs in private industry. And the various types of relief rolls keep growing and the cost keeps mounting.—Texas Weekly.

"The Door of Life," by Enid Bagnold; (Morrow; $2.50); "The Joyful Delaneys," by Hugh Walpole; (Doubleday, Doran; $2.50); "Rebecca," by Daphne du Maurier; (Doubleday, Doran; $2.50).

The bitter determination of the publishers to issue nothing at all through the summer, and to crowd all the good material they can find into the fall, has made it impossible for either the public or the reviewer to keep up with the stream of good novels. Three have slipped by, in a week.

Enid Bagnold's "The Door of Life" is by no means the book "National Velvet" was, but it deserves more careful reading than this department could give it. It's about the effect of the birth of a child upon the mother, and upon a household—indeed, the influence reaches even farther than that. It is much too "sensitive" in a way; one grows impatient with all the probing around. And it is certainly not a man's book.

Hugh Walpole has got himself a title and a comfortable fortune by writing his standard type of novel over and over. This time he does a romance of a sort, but it is not quite like those he has been doing all through the years.

It's about a family who face, very, very gayly, the march of poverty. They laugh when normal people would weep, just because they are Delaneys. In fact, the novel is called "The Joyful Delaneys." Their house is about to be taken from them, even though it is full of roomers admitted to stave off the end.

There are a lot of people in the book, and as usual Sir Hugh keeps them separate, makes them likeable, works them out in the end all plausibly. Actually the only difficulty this reader had was with the super-English joyfulness of those dratted Delaneys.

Daphne du Maurier has dug deeper into humanity in "Rebecca" than in "Jamaica Inn." The new novel is mostly atmosphere, but atmosphere more expertly handled and more reasonable. It is about the influence of Rebecca, dead eight months when the story opens, upon her successor in the great house of Manderley—the influence of Rebecca, that is, and Rebecca's belongings, her people and the aura which she almost seems to have left behind. Miss du Maurier has included suspense, a love story, many surprises and a dash of melodrama. A good read.

With football spirit mounting after the showings of Warren, Harrison, Latch, Reames and other outstanding players on the Lobo team, it is of interest to glance back through the years and see what we were doing in other days of football. . . . Turning back in the old files of December 5, 1926, we see these items on the front page.

"CISCO RECEIVES BIG ADVERTISEMENT AS RANGER WINS GAME"

"Cisco received considerable advertisement Saturday when the Ranger-Wichita Falls football game was being broadcast by radio station WBAP from Fort Worth in spite of the fact that the Cisco Lobos were out of the state race. A telegram sent the radio station by the Cisco chamber of commerce was read over the radio between halves.

"The telegram said: 'With the Big Dam Lobos temporarily in eclipse, Eastland county is still carrying on. The Ranger Bulldogs are covering themselves with glory at Wichita Falls. The Cisco grammar school wins the state championship of Texas over Temple this afternoon. Score: Cisco 17; Temple 0. Next Thursday Randolph college of Cisco plays a post-season game with Trinity University Tigers and on Christmas Day Randolph college plays Bellefonte academy of Bellefonte, Pa., in Cisco, for the junior college championship of the United States.'

You Can Sleep Well. If You Don't Find Some Work

By AURELIUS KINSEY
AP Feature Service Writer
CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Getting sleep is just a matter of letting go. Once relaxed, the next is Dreamland.

A guarantee says Dr. Edmund Jacobson is in bringing 300 persons in the University of Chicago and his own laboratory in his new book, "You Can Sleep Well," a summary of 30 years of experimenting. Dr. Jacobson says that coffee does not alter the cause of insomnia; that smoking has practically nothing to do with it; that city folk often sleep as well as rural residents.

He found that religion helps relaxation by quieting fears; that moderate exercise, fatigue, fresh air, a comfortable mattress and a screened room help induce slumber. But, he says, reading in bed is a bad business.

Here are the steps of a set of exercises of muscle and nerve limbering exercises Dr. Jacobson deems as the best method for relaxing, progressively:

1. Lie on the back with eyes closed and legs uncrossed for 30 minutes if restless and 50 minutes if sleeping without discomfort.

2. Raise the right arm, clench uncurl fingers and let the arm drop—limp—and do not touch the floor. Do the same with left arm. Stretch legs, bend down feet and let go limp, suddenly. Repeat twice.

3. Breathe a little more deeply than usual two or three times.

4. Droopy? Not now! Thanks to Syrup of Black-Draught. When your child is less keen and lively than usual, it may be a warning of constipation. If so, try Syrup of Black-Draught. It's pleasant to taste, and there's nothing in it that can harm a child's delicate intestinal system when given according to the directions.

THE KICK-OFF

60,000 Filipino Bachelors Have No Marital Hopes

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Sixty thousand bachelors, who have no hope of marrying or rearing families, are proving a problem to social agencies and themselves.

They are Filipinos—the latest addition to America's melting pot and the one that appears least likely to melt.

In the wave of immigration that preceded the Philippine independence act, the new arrivals were virtually all men. Now that the bars have been clamped down there is no way for them to obtain brides from among their own people. Few American girls have married them, nor is there much mingling with Mexicans, Chinese or other racial groups. The men simply remain single.

The U. S. Immigration service estimates that 97 per cent of the Filipinos now in the country are males, averaging 30 years of age. To permit them to go back to a normal life among their own people, congress voted free transportation to the islands but so far only 1,900 have taken advantage of it. The offer expires next December 31.

"We think our people should go home, but the movement will require time and careful arrangements," says Dr. Hilario C. Morcado, president of the Filipino Federation of America. "Filipinos are a proud people. The boys do not want to go back without money or without assurance they will earn a living."

Edward W. Cahill, district immigration commissioner, who has made a close study of the Filipino problem, finds that 65 per cent engage in farm labor, while those in cities work as houseboys, elevator operators, janitors, etc. Their earnings are small but few go on relief. They are Malay in race, Christian in religion.

Even their own leaders concede that Filipinos spend their money largely on "clothes, gambling and women." Their natty attire is their peanuts off the market until Oct. 10.

Starr said the Texas-Oklahoma peanut crop last year, about average, was 55,000 tons, and that the forecast for this year's crop is 80,000 tons.

The association, Starr explained, uses RFC funds and operates through the community credit division of the AAA. There are no crop reduction restrictions, but association members are charged a fee of 7 1/2 cents per acre.

Warehouses will be located at Tolar, Comanche, May, Rising Star, Ranger, Gorman, Abilene and Fort Worth.

noting that the chest relaxes as you exhale without forcing.

5. Winkle forehead and trown, letting go extremely. Do this for several minutes. Avoid wrinkling forehead when trying to efface the trown.

6. Relax the eyes; open them, look to the right, then to the left, up and down, holding each position 30 seconds.

7. Lie in your favorite position on back, side or stomach, keeping eyes closed. Count aloud to ten, holding action of tongue, lips, jaws and that. Quit counting and relax these parts for three or four minutes, then count again, not so loud; repeat a third time under the breath. Relax the entire body. Do not bother to breath hard nor attempt looking in any particular direction. Let all parts go together.

All of his takes practice, Dr. Jacobson warns. He suggests practicing one step and then the next on successive nights until conscious relaxation is perfected to the point where one can do everything in a single "lie-down."

Peanut Growers Ass'n Will Have Nine Warehouses

EASTLAND, Oct. 4 — The Southwestern Peanut Growers Association expects to open storage warehouses at nine Texas points by Oct. 10, according to W. B. Starr, Dan Horn, association manager.

Starr will retire soon as manager, and Dick Weekes, Alameda, will succeed him. Headquarters of the association, which covers the Texas-Oklahoma territory, is at Eastland.

Starr explained that the association is a co-operative, working as a division of the AAA, buying and storing the surplus peanut crop to stabilize the market.

Whereas the present market price is 83 cents a bushel for No. 1 peanuts and 80 cents for No. 2 grade, the association, as soon as it obtains warehouse facilities, will pay 94.5 cents for No. 1 grade and 88.5 cents for No. 2, Starr said.

"The crop already is about 50 per cent harvested," Starr said. "I'd advise those farmers who have already threshed to hold EASTLAND, Oct. 1.—Eastland county's exhibit showing the portance of peanuts to the state will be taken Thursday for exhibition at the State Fair according to Extension Agent V. Cook.

The exhibit will show peanuts in the county average 40 bushels per acre, that 1935 crop is usually planted 45,000 annually for an average of receipts, or a total of $729,810,000 bushels of peanuts.

Wayne Thurman of the county committee member aiding in the exhibit preparation, has selected peanut products for inclusion in the display. These include peanut meal, peanut oil, peanut cookies, peanut muffins, peanut butter, peanut candy and peanuts.

What Our Wildlife Resources Mean to Texas

Did you ever consider just what value our wildlife resources mean to Texas? Of course there are several ways in which our wildlife resources aid us. Some of these seem to be rather indirectly connected, but are closely enough connected to merit our consideration.

German Flying Boat Is Given Up As Lost

BERLIN, Oct. 4 (AP)—Lufthansa officials said yesterday that a flying boat of the line, overdue on a trans-atlantic crossing from Brazil to Bathurst, Gambia, West African British colony, must be "regarded as lost."

The line said a mailbag and two pieces of wood from the fuselage of the plane were found about 25 miles off Bathurst. Two vacuum bottles and two lifebelts were fastened to the wood.

The plane left Natal, Brazil, Saturday afternoon. Its last report of position late Saturday placed it about 80 miles off the African coast.

money and efforts toward an extensive wildlife conservation program aid do all in their power to build up our wildlife resources in Texas as well as in other states.

Crane, Former Czech Minister, Is Killed

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 4 (AP)—Richard Crane, 56, former United States minister to Czechoslovakia and a figure in Virginia's social life, was accidentally killed with his own gun yesterday while sofa hunting.

Dr. J. R. Parker, Charles City county coroner, said Crane's gun discharged as he stepped from a boat in marshlands on his famous Rivers River estate.

Crane was formerly vice president of the Crane Company of Chicago and at one time was private secretary to Robert Lansing, Secretary of State.

He went to Czechoslovakia as minister in 1919 and remained two years. He was awarded the great cross of the Order of White Lions by that country.

HUTCHINSON, Kans., Oct. 4 (AP)—Harold L. Barrett, letter carrier who golfs for "exercise," pulled a brand-new No. 6 iron from his bag for the 130 yard 6th hole. He never had used it before. His first shot with it was a hole-in-one.

Dombey.

The shot wasn't fired from that table, though. It couldn't have been. Still, she could have slipped away in the darkness, then hurried back to the table before the lights went on.

Disgustedly Tait spun his cigar-ret into an ash pillar. "She couldn't be the one. Whoever killed Dombey was inside the mob that scrambled out when the lights went up again." The gun had been planted.

Tait reached into his pocket, upheld the bag and let the repocket's lining. The bag he brought out and transferred to an inside pocket. He couldn't hold the gun on the police, he told himself. But he resolved to keep

Eastland County
Young People's Banquet at Ranger

EASTLAND, Oct. 4—The Eastland County Young People's union will hold its annual banquet at the First Methodist church in Ranger at 7:45 Tuesday evening, with groups coming from Putnam, Cisco, Eastland, Olden, Carbon and perhaps other places, in addition to the Ranger group.

The evening's program will center around the theme of "Pion-neering." Bob Leslie of Cisco, who is president of the union, will act as chairman, with Hugh Smith of Putnam as toastmaster.

The musical numbers will include a Ranger girls' quartet and a marimba by Miss Elsie Ellen Hummell, accompanied by Miss Deris May.

The principal address, on the theme of "Modern Pioneers," will be brought by Rev. Stanley Williams of Carbon.

The banquet plates will be 35 cents, with all young people particularly invited, and a welcome

Do you realize she's liable to be in a tough spot?"

The girl stiffened. "You're not saying that she—"

"I'm not saying anything," Tait said quietly. "How long have you known her?"

"We've roomed together for five years. They don't come better than Myrna."

"This romance with Dombey.
Wasn't it sort of sudden?"

Anne flushed. "I'm afraid this is none of your business. I understood you were a newspaper photographer, not a detective. I'm going to see Myrna."

"Sorry . . ." Tait grinned sheepishly and let her go.

The kid was right, he thought.
What he should do was turn the bag and the gun over to the police and let them fight it out.
Yet, if he did that, the girl on there would find herself instantly embroiled in a sticky mess. She was hit hard enough as it was.

He was startled by Anne Lester's voice at his shoulder.
"Myrna's not in there?"

"Are you sure?"

Anne nodded. "There's a fire escape to the alley. She must have gone down that."

Tait hesitated a moment. Then "Do you think she might have gone to your apartment?"

"I—I can't think where else."
"Then listen. You get over there right now. And give me the address. If she's there, make her stay. Because if she pulls another disappearing act it's going to look bad. I know what I'm talking about. They'll want to see the girl future. What business is interested in is what people want when they have their own money and buy of their own desire—not of relief funds. A ditch dug with WPA labor is a good ditch, but the demand which dug it was the demand for the employment of some idle-workers, not the essential need of such a ditch. That same element of insincerity colors the whole relief program and hinders the recovery that is hoped for. It is no fault of the planners; no fault of the millions of people who need and must have jobs; and no fault of the business men and the investors. It is an execrable natural law of things which man cannot overcome.

The sooner that we recognize it and make plans for national recovery in keeping with the dicta of nature, the sooner will this country recover from stagnation.

Bell, better known then as "Doc" Bell, died 12 years ago in a Cisco hospital.

Their first home was at Belle Platin, and among other things who came to this section soon after their arrival, were John and James Heysler, and the Tanner family. "John Heysler married 'Sis Tanner," she said, who still survives, and is the mother of Virgil Heysler, of Cisco; Fred Heysler, who lives with his mother on the Heysler ranch, and Shields Heysler, of Wichita Falls.

The family later moved to a farm home on Battle Creek, near the Heysler ranch, then to the Bell horse ranch, now owned by Judge D. K. Scott, east of Sabanno, then to the home in the Sabanno community where she resided until her death today.
