to Ranger Friday night the Buckaroos and the mother-in-lawing the micromoments of plank seat and shuffling, crowds for the sake of the Breckenridge boys let the Ranger boys run the ball some, too. The bridge boys in their smart suits with stripes down the side most of the ball-carrying all of the scoring and it didn't look right.

disappointed in Ranger's play, myself, because, like all of Cisco, I wanted the Buckaroos to smack the Buckaroos out of our own standing all right. From what I had of the Ranger team, the game must not have been up to par Friday evening. They were very poor against the Buckaroos. Of course the Buckaroos have "it" in large quantities. Their line charged and ran beautifully and their backs were run with swift, powerful, choppy steps with reliable power and precision. Greenies are a well-coached team. All Eck Curtis' teams all coached.

by the way, has had plenty of opportunity to study the Buckaroos collectively and individually. He has officiated in at least 10 of the local games and that is to give him a pretty good idea of the peculiarities of every player of the team, information which is useful in advance of a game with the studied eleven. Cisco's own coaches had commensurate opportunities to study the Buckaroos, and I doubt the game that was played at the Breckenridge evidently fears will prove a contest of surprise character.

it is no secret that Breckenridge regards the Lobos as a chief obstacle in the eastern part of the belt. No game in the Lobos have participated in without a Breckenridge. There was one at Eastland. There was one at Cisco. The account of the game appears on another page, but it is the credit of the Lobos that kept the spirit they showed against Brownwood and proved a new and vital life has galvanized the gold and black into a game again in these parts.

Eastland, then Ranger — and out for Ranger against the Buckaroos — and then Breckenridge. The game at a time, folks. We are thinking of Eastland now.

East Texas — Sunday partly cloudy and colder except in the southwest.

14 Got Out Alive as Pilot Landed This Burning Plane

This charred wreckage was all that remained of an Eastern Airlines plane a few minutes after Pilot Dave Hissong landed the flaming ship near Montgomery, Ala., without serious injury to any of his 11 passengers, himself or two others of the crew. The plane, headed for New York, caught fire soon after leaving the Montgomery airport about midnight. In the searing heat of the control room, Hissong fought to control the ship as fuselage burned and one motor dropped out. In the dark and on a strange field, he brought the plane down, crew and passengers scrambling to safety as flames licked the ship.

Japanese Commanders Say Fall of Hankow Is Imminent; Chinese Are Reported Retreating

Former President of Czechs Now in London
LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, flying for the first time, arrived sick and tired in London today.
Benes said he would rest in the country for several months.
This was taken to mean that Benes will not proceed to Chicago, where he will lecture at the University of Chicago, until after Christmas.

Board Accused of Exceeding Its Powers
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—State officials who administer the joint federal-state unemployment insurance program accused of exceeding its powers.
By a voice vote, the 150 delegates from all states at the conference here adopted the resolution stating that the federal board "frequently infringed upon the administrative authority of the states," in connection with making grants to the states to carry out the jobless insurance program.

Show People Are Wintering Here
Mr. and Mrs. John R. McSpadden, show people whose headquarters are in Gullieck, Canada, will spend a part of the winter in Cisco. Traveling in their comfortable trailer car they arrived Wednesday, and have parked their traveling home on the Mickey Carroll lot in West Cisco.
They are combining their winter stay here with a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lieske, Mr. McSpadden being a brother of Mrs. Lieske. This is the second visit he and Mrs. Lieske have spent together in 20 years. He is manager of the McSpadden Midway, a carnival attraction. Foreign Shipping Ordered to Proceed Up Yangtze River
SHANGHAI, Oct. 22 (AP)—Japanese commanders said today the fall of Hankow was imminent and that the Chinese are retreating.
Mass bombing of the Hankow area to shatter the last Chinese resistance was foreshadowed in a memorandum delivered by foreign envoys here, warning foreign shipping to proceed up the Yangtze river at least ten miles above Hankow by midnight tonight.
The United States gunboats Guam and Luzon were among the foreign vessels at Hankow.
The memorandum, which also advised foreign shipping to avoid the Canton area in south China, explained that Chinese troops were retreating across the Yangtze at Hankow and said extensive bombing might be necessary.
Japanese forces stabbing at Hankow's outer defenses were pushing nearer to the city every hour.
The fall of Canton—Japanese announced the city was completely occupied—was said to have given impetus to the Central China drive against Hankow and the adjoining cities of Hanyang and Wuchang.
General Exodus
A wholesale Chinese withdrawal was said to be under way from both the Canton area in South China and the Central China Hankow region. Chinese were streaming northwest from occupied Canton, with Japanese controlling the area completely both on the ground and in the skies.
In the Yangtze river valley, Chinese troops were reported in retreat from defense positions east of Hankow to the city's environs.
Continue Steady Advance
Japanese troops and river boats kept up their steady advance. A mid-afternoon communique announced that ground forces had occupied Oeheng, on the south bank of the Yangtze 35 miles east of Hankow, and were driving directly west against Wuchang.
Air, naval and ground forces gained high momentum in the invasion which started July 7, 1937, has brought all of China's chief seaports, its major cities, and the rich North China area under normal Japanese control.
Might Rest on Laurels
Observers have predicted that Japanese, once the Hankow region is conquered, might rest on their gains, content to defend the occupied territory against possible guerrilla attacks.
This frequently expressed opinion, together with the pace of the

McCall Teaches First Women's Safety Class
Hartman McCall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McCall, safety instructor with the Humble Oil and Refining company, has the distinction of having taught the first class of women in first aid for the company. Forty-five women received certificates after completing a five-day course in accident prevention under his instruction, according to a story in the Houston Post, which was accompanied by pictures of the class. The awards were the first made to women by the company.
Three thousand Humble employees in the field are now receiving accident prevention and first aid instruction, Mr. McCall said.

Report Probe of Extortion Plot To Be Started
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22 (AP)—Reports at the capitol today said a federal-state investigation was being made of two extortion letters commanding $5,000 from Doctor H. G. Bennett, president of Oklahoma A. and M. college at Stillwater.
The report was not immediately confirmed.
An anonymous writer was said to have threatened to kill Bennett and blow up the college chemistry building if his demand was unmet.

Norther Brings Quick Temperature Drop
A norther accompanied by rain clouds lowered temperatures in Cisco some 28 degrees and deposited 2 of an inch of moisture during Friday night and Saturday.
The first drop in temperature occurred between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m. Friday when it dropped from 86 to 71 degrees, continuing to drop to 65 degrees at midnight, 63 degrees at 6 a. m. Saturday, 62 degrees at 12 noon, and 58 degrees at 3 p. m.

Escaped Convict Is Given Death Penalty
GREENSBORO, North Carolina, Oct. 22 (AP)—A superior court jury today returned a death verdict for James Godwin, Highpoint youth, who was charged with fatally shooting Donald Moss, Highpoint textile worker, a few hours after he escaped from Lexington jail, October 3, with the aid of the jailer's daughter.

THREE SPIES HUNG
BUDAPEST, Oct. 22 (AP)—Three men charged with treason and spying were hanged Saturday in the courtyard of the military prison.

Breckenridge Meeting May Be Moved to School
BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 23 (Sp.)—Dr. H. Raphael Gold, member of the faculties of both Southern Methodist university and Baylor Medical college of Dallas, has attracted so wide-spread an interest in the mass meeting to be held in Breckenridge Sunday night, that officials are contemplating removing the meeting to the Breckenridge high school auditorium for a larger seating capacity. Public officials and clergymen from all over the Oil Belt have written that they are bringing delegations, and unless additional seats can be obtained, the meeting will be moved to the school forum.
Eastland will be represented by the judges of the court of civil appeals and a city representation led by chamber of commerce president T. E. Richardson.
Delegations from Brownwood, Ranger, Cisco, Abilene, Sweetwater, San Angelo Big Spring, Albany Throckmorton, Graham, Mineral Wells and Weatherford will be present to hear the address of Dr. Gold.
Dr. Gold has been connected with the World Zionist movement since it began in 1918. His address will trace the history of the world's affairs since the war and their relation to the United States.
Mayor Floyd Jones of Breckenridge will be chairman of the meeting to begin at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Employment in Texas Shows Small Increase
AUSTIN, Oct. 22—Employment and pay rolls in Texas during September were slightly above the preceding month but were substantially below September last year, according to the bureau of business, research of the University of Texas. Reports received by the bureau from representative groups of Texas industries show that employment in the state was up 1.9 per cent from August but down 8.3 per cent from September last year. Pay rolls gained 0.4 per cent over August but were 7.2 per cent below September a year ago.
The estimated average number employed in Texas manufacturing during September was 116,288 compared with 115,627 the preceding month last year—practically no change from August but a decline of 11 per cent from September a year ago. The estimated total weekly pay rolls in the manufacturing industry of Texas is $2,520,253 in September compared with $2,543,598 the month before and $2,057,159 during September, 1937. This represents a decline in manufacturing pay rolls of nearly 1 per cent from August and 11.7 per cent from September last year, the bureau said.

Witness Tells of UAW Roving Bands
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Donald W. Garner testified today before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities that "roving bands of men" went about Lansing, Michigan, June 1, last year, forcing stores to close while a "labor holiday" was in progress. Gardner, who reported "holiday" developments for the Detroit Times, asserted many of the men carried sticks and clubs.
He said, "These were flying squadrons — shock troops of the United Automobile Workers."

Report 12 Hungarians One Czech Are Killed
PRAGUE, Oct. 22 (AP)—The general staff reported today that 12 Hungarian terrorists and one Czech gendarme were killed during fighting near Brehovo in southern Slovakia.

CAR SKIDS ON WET PAVEMENT; 3 WOMEN HURT

Victims Brought to Cisco; One Suffers Severe Injuries

Three Ohio women, en route to California, were in Graham sanitarium suffering from injuries which in the case of one were regarded as serious. They were Mrs. Lena Hays of Akron, O., suffering fractures of the left shoulder and wrist, general body bruises and possible internal injuries; Mrs. Ada Price of Akron, O., suffering with bruises and Mrs. Gertrude McCluer who sustained neck and shoulder injuries of undetermined degree and general body abrasions and contusions. Physicians attending the three women after they were brought to Cisco from near Dothan, where their large sedan skidded on wet pavement and overturned, said that it was doubtful how long they would remain.
Mrs. McCluer was the eldest of the three women. X-Ray pictures of her neck and shoulder were taken to determine possible fractures. It was not believed that Mrs. Hays, worst injured of the three, had suffered internal injuries.
Mrs. Price owns the car which was brought to the A-G Motor company here for repairs.

Pilot Is Hero as Plane Burns

Discovering that the right wing and motor of the passenger plane he had just taken out of Montgomery, Ala., were in flames, John David Hissong, above, Eastern Airlines pilot, brought his burning ship down in a field with only moonlight to aid him. By this feat, Hissong saved 14 lives, including his own. Later he commented that he hadn't done anything "any other pilot wouldn't have done."

CHILDREN OF LESS THAN 14 NOT TO WORK

Administrator Andrews Rushes Work On Regulations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Boys between 14 and 16 may be employed as newspaper boys within the provisions of the wage-hour act.
Regulations issued by Miss Katherine Lenroot, chief of the children's bureau, specified that children of those ages were barred from employment in mining, manufacturing, operation of motor vehicles, and messenger service.
Children under 14 may not legally be given work in any industry covered by the act.
The wage-hour administration rushed work on last minute explanations of how industry should comply with the most far-reaching attempt to put a floor under wages and a ceiling over hours since the days of the NRA.
Administrator Elmer F. Andrews said he hoped to announce by nightfall the kind of records employers should keep to show conformity with the new law which becomes effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday.
His aids, meanwhile, were preparing a general interpretation of the act. This will be released for publication Sunday morning.
In a further attempt to clarify the public understanding of the measure, Andrews will make a series of radio broadcasts Sunday afternoon. He said he would attempt to answer as many as possible of the general questions asked by business men in the last few days.
Finish Unregulated Work
Hundreds of thousands of wage earners completed Saturday their last week of unregulated employment. When they return to their jobs next Monday morning, a pay rate of 25 cents an hour will have become the legal minimum for all who produce goods going into interstate commerce or whose work, in the words of a recent supreme court decision, places a "burden" upon interstate commerce.
Their standard work sheet will have been established at 44 hours with the requirement that they be compensated at the rate of time and one-half for each hour of over-time.
It also will have become illegal to employ in mining or manufacturing industries anyone under 16 years of age or to employ in any industry officially declared to be "hazardous" any person less than 18. Children between 14 and 16 may be given limited employment in non-mining and non-manufacturing industries.
Exemptions Complicate Law
These three principal provisions of the law are complicated by a great variety of special exemptions which Andrews has attempted to clarify by official rulings. He has retrained, however, from applying these rulings to any particular industry, explaining that each employer must decide for himself whether his business comes under the rulings. An employer may, however, appeal to the administrator for guidance.
Wage-hour officials pointed out that the courts rather than the administrator constitute the final authority on the act. Any official decision of the administrator may be challenged in court; his unofficial advice would not necessarily have weight there.

Governor Lehman to Back Principal Aims of New Deal
ELMIRA, New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—Governor Herbert Lehman, a source close to him said today, will endorse the "principal aims" of the new deal in an early re-election campaign speech.
The governor had "no comment" to make on the statement by New York's LaGuardia in which the mayor made clear he would not support Lehman unless he was firmly for the new deal.

Hallowe'en Program Details Are Announced
The West Ward Parent-Teacher association Saturday announced details of its annual Hallowe'en program, which it promised will be the biggest and best ever presented by the association. Central feature of the program will be the Country Store where a great variety of useful articles will be sold for extremely small sums. The bargains, it was explained, have been made possible by contributions of the "merchandise" by the parents of west ward school children and by merchants and professional men of the city. Each year at this time mothers check pantry shelves for preserves and canned goods which they can spare for contribution to the Country Store stock, and business men of the city meet requests for contributions generously.
The Country Store is not all, however. Many other attractions have been prepared for the amusement of Hallowe'en merry-makers. Bingo, cake-walk, doll show, street dance, outdoor games, popcorn and cold drink concessions and numerous contests are included in the amusements which have been prepared for the evening.
Proceeds of the carnival will be devoted to accomplishment of three projects, which are:
1. Visual education.
2. Radio.
3. Sponsoring a school telephone.
Whole-hearted support of the community in raising the funds necessary for carrying out this

Texas Dairy Products Show Big Decrease
AUSTIN, Oct. 22—Manufacture of dairy products in Texas during September were substantially below both the preceding month and the corresponding month last year, according to the bureau of business, research of the University of Texas.
Creamery butter production was down 29.4 per cent from August and 18.3 per cent from September last year; cheese production decreased 23.8 per cent from August and 1.8 per cent from September a year ago; and ice cream production declined 15.1 per cent and 8.9 per cent respectively from the two comparable months, the bureau said.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates.—Zech. viii. 16.

Remember:

A trusting heart, a yearning eye,
Can win their way above
If mountains can be moved by faith,
Is there less power in love?
—FABER

Until we learn the only way to serve God is to serve our neighbors, we may have knocked at the wicket gate, but I doubt if we have got our feet across the threshold.—George MacDonald.

The Way Now Cleared

THE agreement between holders of defaulted city of Cisco bonds and representatives of the city which is embodied in an order out of U. S. district court at Abilene last Thursday is a most encouraging step in a direction that has long been apparent as the only avenue to a permanent settlement of this problem. The order of the court disposes definitely enough of the question of litigation. It compels all legal approach to the matter to be brought through the U. S. district court and ends the probability of a lot of futile suing in a variety of courts. It compels all other litigants to bring their petitions to one tribunal for adjudication in accord with the rights and privileges of the others, and thus insures a just and equitable disposition of the claims of all without costly and conflicting litigation.

FOR CISCO it means, as we understand it, that the problem has been now placed on the earth practicability. The city and its creditors may now know the what, when, how and where of the matter and be prepared to advance to a final and satisfactory disposition of the problem.

It has long been obvious that there is only one solution—a solution based on the ability of Cisco to pay. How to arrive at that object has been the question. The way seems to have been prepared for it now. The U. S. district court has taken a most practical and sensible view of the issue. Better still, the city's principal creditors seem to have taken a practical and sensible view of it.

The New Mexico WPA Case

THE prudent course probably would be to "lay off" the sensational New Mexico "expose" of illegal WPA activities until something more definite develops out of the startling case in which 73 have been indicted by a federal grand jury for making political capital out of the federal work relief agency. But we cannot help viewing that "expose" in relation to utterances of Mr. Hopkins, the boss of the whole WPA program, and other authoritative administration spokesmen, who, while they have not plainly and forthrightly employed the WPA and other relief projects of the government as instruments of political suasion, have at least learned their weight on the teeter-totter.

HOW, when Mr. Hopkins makes such remarks as his celebrated declaration that 90 per cent of all WPA workers will favor the administration at the polls, can we attach so much depravity or blame to a group of New Mexico officials, including an assistant United States district attorney, who are charged with doing boldly what a high official would do by implication? It may be more painless to be etherized and hit with a stuffed club, but it is just as certainly murder as being bashed to death with an oaken cudgel. And strange does it seem that in New Mexico alone should have occurred the brilliant idea and extensive political organization, thus charged, for the exploitation of political force latent in such a widespread federal program. And stranger does it seem that officers appointed of the present administration should be named as high priests of this political immorality.

HERE we have exhibited clearly, it seems to us, the fatal defect of centralized control of any such vast national undertaking as the WPA, the AAA and other ambitious federal schemes of subsidy or economic reform. The defect exists in the fact that it is impossible for the information or perception of one individual to be coextensive with the vast program given him. Hence authority delegated must be redelegated through successive ranks of officialdom; being removed with each delegation further from original source and final responsibility. Is it any wonder that alien motives and corrupt practices arise?

Mr. Wallace's Two-Price Marketing Idea

there was only two couples licensed to marry by the county clerk's force last week. These were: Rev. J. Beal Duncan, Scranton, and Margaret Allen Nibbling, Temple.

THE NINETY-FIRST DISTRICT COURT

(Judge Davenport, Presiding)
New Cases Pending

The following new cases are of recent filing in the district clerk's office for trial in the 91st court:

Expertise J. B. McKenish, application for beer permit. This case was originally filed in the county court where the application was rejected and a permit denied. The case is on appeal from the county court to the 91st court. Maude Carlton vs. Bill Carlton, divorce and custody of minor children. May Ella Shumate vs. Compton Shumate, divorce, are the cases docketed in the 91st court.

Judge Davenport on Bench

Judge George L. Davenport has returned to Eastland from Haskell where he has been presiding over the Haskell county district court, and has resumed his bench in the 91st court.

Judgments and Orders

The following decrees are recent judgments in the 91st court: J. G. Fenley vs. Maude Fenley, divorce. Judgment for plaintiff. Lillian Poole vs. Clyde Poole, divorce. Judgment for plaintiff. Rodessa Merritt vs. G. L. Merritt, divorce. Judgment for plaintiff annulling her marriage, and restoration of maiden name of Rodessa Eakin. It was the order of the court that Herbert Reed, appointed special attorney to represent the defendant, be allowed attorney's fees of $5, the same to be taxed as cost in this case.

THE EIGHTY-EIGHTH DISTRICT COURT

(Judge Patterson, Presiding)

The 88th court docket, in the district clerk's office, shows two orders pending for hearing in that tribunal. These are:

E. M. Howard vs. C. L. Keeley et al, petition for foreclosure of materialman's lien.

J. H. Reynolds et al vs. J. B. Mashburn, et al. Motion to cite Tom Mashburn for contempt of court. This motion is ancillary to the motion heard last week in which Judge Patterson found J. B. Mashburn and L. D. Barton in contempt, but suspended judgment until Oct. 27 pending compliance with the order of the court to deposit proceeds of cattle sold in to the registry of the court. In hearing the contempt motion last week evidence was developed on which the plaintiffs' attorneys based the motion to have Tom Mashburn made a party. Judge Patterson set Nov. 4 as the date for hearing the motion.

Verdict of Acquittal

One of the three capital criminal cases set for trial last Wednesday was disposed of Friday when the jury at 10:10 a. m. brought in a verdict of acquittal in the case of the state of Texas vs. T. Z. Short, who was charged by indictment with statutory rape. The case was given to the jury Thursday afternoon. The other cases, that of the state vs. Faie Campbell, murder, and Mrs. Jackson Peters, each indicted for murder, were continued for the term on motion of the state, and the special venire discharged.

Other Judgments

Other orders of the 88th court were: Maggie McAllister vs. Tom McAllister, divorce. Dismissed on motion of plaintiff. Julia Lindsey vs. Jesse Lindsey, divorce. Judgment for plaintiff annulling her marriage with defendant, and awarding to her the

Strong Passing Back; Defense Is Now Par

By DON K. SHERMAN

What was at once their hope and poorest dream of the year the Cisco Steers tied 13-13 by the Graham in a night game at Friday. As the score stands, it was an offensive game of the way and the Steers failed to score from their six-inch line.

For the first time this year the Steers wrapped off their backs and from the position they displayed in their own half it seems they will win one of the best balanced teams in years. The Cisco leads 8 of 13 passes for 42 yards and in addition opposing defense to an extent that led to many long runs.

Defense Costly

The Lobo defense in the final analysis proved the stumbling block—the boys seemed to play heads-up defensive ball for one, two, or three downs and then completely relax for one play, allowing the opposing eleven to tear off huge chunks of yardage. This let-down tendency seems to be the principal flaw in the Loboes' game at present and may cause a heartbreaking loss of some crucial game later on if not corrected. Poorest part of the defensive play was tackling in the backfield.

Outstanding in the backfield of course was Odell Harrison, who incidentally doesn't recall over a small part of what happened in the last quarter following a sturdy drive in the eye, with his powerful running and steering defensive play and Coy Warren whose passing was one of the big surprises of the day. Ramon Reames contributed some fine blocks and good punts, coming through time and again with substantial gains when they were desperately needed. Stewart's blocking in his first game at a backfield post was also noteworthy.

Offensive Lineplay Good

Offensive play of the Cisco line composed of M. Harrison, R. D. Donham, Robert Cone, John D. Skiles, who started his first game at center. Rex Pollard, Parks Bailey, and Warren Doggett, also starting his first game, was good although on the whole, the forward wall failed to display that rugged, impregnable defensive play exhibited during the Brownwood game.

King, Callerman starting his first game at guard, and Burnside were also in the thick of the fight for Cisco; Burnside on his first play in the game nearly tore a Graham ball-carrier in half on a smashing tackle.

Highlights of Game

Opening the game the Loboes kicked off to the Steers, the ball being downed on the Graham 27. After Graham picked up 13 yards and a first down the Lobo defense stiffened and Graham punted to the Cisco 11. Following Cisco's punt after three line plays had failed, Skiles intercepted the first of the two passes thrown during the game by the Steers and the Loboes began marching from their own 40.

Overcoming penalties and fumbles with passes and long runs the Loboes pounded their way to the Graham four yard line from where Coy Warren crashed over on an off-tackle smash after two line plunges had failed. Reames' place-kick was wide and the score stood 6-0 in favor of Cisco.

Three plays after the kick-off was received by Graham on their own 45, Clinton of the Steers scrambled through an aperture in the left side of the Lobo line for 42 yards and a touchdown. The kick was good and the Steers led 7-6 as the quarter ended.

Second Half

Play was more or less even during most of the second quarter until a few minutes before the half ended when the Lobos started marching, the half ending after the drive had carried some 40 yards.

Opening the third quarter the Loboes wasted little time in getting to the business at hand and after Reames' punt went out on the Graham 10, took the return punt on the Graham 40 and marched to a touchdown, mixing passes with runs and overcoming the handicap of several penalties. Odell Harrison took a fourth down pass from Warren from the 10 yard line and carried half the Graham eleven with him for the touchdown. Reames' place-kick was perfect and the Loboes led 13 to 7.

Play then see-sawed for the most part until Graham counted with three minutes remaining in the game. What was perhaps the turning point of the game came after the Loboes had marched deep into Graham territory and were seriously threatening to score again, when the referee slammed the door in the Loboes' faces by sticking them with a 15 yard penalty that halted the march. A few moments later a pass and four long runs by Jug Bennett, stand-out star for the Steers, who was shifted from guard to a backfield position, netted a touchdown. The kick was low and wide and the score stood 13-13.

Then the Lobo eleven went completely berserk, passing and running all over the lot. Marcel Harrison took the Graham kick-off on his own 32 to start things off and drove like a run-away locomotive to the Steer 46 where the last three men on the Graham eleven finally pulled him down. Then a pass, Warren to Odell Harrison, carried to the 30 where Odell lateralized it off to Marcel who reeled off 20 yards more to the Graham 10.

The Loboes then drove to the one yard line in two plays where Odell Harrison was knocked out and the period in which he recovered cost Cisco a five yard penalty for too many times-out. One play later Odell drove to the 6-inch line on a pass and a fourth down plunge was stopped an inch short of a touchdown.

Graham then took over and although the Steer punt was partially blocked, which would have meant the game if it had been entirely blocked, the ball went out to the Graham 19 as the game ended with the final count still 13-13.

New Rifle Makes Doughboy 5 Times More Effective

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Details of the United States Army's new Garand semi-automatic rifle, revealed to the general public for the first time today in Collier's, indicate that it will give the American doughboy a five-to-one advantage over any other soldier in the world, according to Frank D. Morris, associate editor of the magazine.

Describing the rifle as "the most important addition to our defense since the invention of the machine gun," Morris writes that it "will make every infantryman a walking machine gun rest and the equal of five men equipped only with bolt-action rifles." The Garand will replace the old Springfield rifle, standard in the United States Army since 1903.

"Physically the new rifle resembles the old Springfield," Morris states. "It weighs nine pounds and is generally of the same dimensions as the Springfield. For a precision machine its action is comparatively simple. You insert a clip of eight cartridges and pull the trigger. A gas chamber opens, discharging its contents. This operation automatically ejects the empty cartridge, cocks the gun and carries a new bullet into place. Your trigger finger controls all this; there is no cumbersome bolt to lift and slide before each shot as on the old Springfield."

The Garand rifle, perfected after a period of 12 years of intensive labor by John G. Garand of the government arsenal in Springfield, Mass., is rated at 12 to 24 per cent more accurate than the old Springfield, which itself was regarded as the equal or superior of any foreign military rifle. The Garand fires five times as fast, and has ten to fifteen per cent less recoil. Its cost will be approximately the same.

Pointing out that in effect the new weapon quintuples the nation's infantry strength, Morris quotes Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson as telling Collier's that "since the doughboy with the rifle is still the backbone of the army, whatever contributes to his greater effectiveness is bound to result in speedier and more certain victory in battle."

Equipment of the entire American army with Garands will cost approximately $10,000,000.

New York state has 62 counties, 932 towns or townships, 60 cities, 8,400 school districts, 554 incorporated villages, and 2,564 special districts.

Following is the order of the U. S. district court at Abilene Thursday for the disposition of the bonded indebtedness of the city of Cisco:

In the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas, Abilene Division.
Security Benefit Association vs. City of Cisco, et al.
No. 879 Equity

On this 20th day of October, 1938, came plaintiff, Security Benefit Association, by its attorney, C. J. Moore, John R. T. Rives, Hugh Richmond and John V. Abrahams, interveners herein by their attorneys, and came also the defendants City of Cisco, a municipal corporation, J. T. Berry, Mayor of city; J. R. Burnett, S. A. Huestis, W. J. Foxworth, H. C. Henderson, H. A. Bible, City Commissioners of the said City of Cisco, and Lonnie Shockley city secretary and treasurer and assessor and collector of taxes of said city of Cisco by their attorneys and said parties stated in open court that they have agreed upon an order to be entered herein. And it appearing to the court that the city of Cisco has in its hands the sum of $2352.44 representing funds allocated to its interest and sinking fund for the payment of indebtedness evidenced by the refunding bonds issued by the said city of Cisco dated November 1, 1937, and it further appearing to the court that default was made by the said city of Cisco in the payment of interest which matured on said bonds on November 1, 1937 and on May 1, 1938; and it further appearing to the court that the said plaintiff Security Benefit Association holds past due interest coupons which matured November 1, 1937, amounting to the sum of $165.00; that the said C. J. Moore holds past due interest coupons which matured November 1, 1937, amounting to $696.30 and that the said John R. T. Rives, Hugh Richmond and John V. Abrahams jointly hold past due interest coupons which matured November 1, 1937, amounting to the sum of $3,953.10, on the bonds held by them and particularly described in their respective pleadings filed herein, and that such past due interest indebtedness is entitled to be paid out of the funds in the hands of the said city;

That funds in the interest and sinking fund of the said city of Cisco are insufficient to pay the full amount of its past due interest, but that there are sufficient funds to pay all interest evidenced by the interest coupons which matured November 1, 1937, and that the parties plaintiff and intervenors are entitled at this time to be paid the amount due on the interest coupons held by them which matured November 1, 1937; and that all other bondholders who intervene herein likewise are entitled to be paid the interest due them on interest coupons which matured November 1, 1937, after filing their interventions herein;

And it further appearing to the court that all of the funds constituting the interest and sinking fund of said city, as well as all such funds as may hereafter be collected should be conserved and impounded for the benefit of the holders of refunding bonds of the series dated November 1, 1934, and held for the purpose of paying the holders of said bonds who file their claims herein, to the end that a ratable participation therein may be had by such bond-holders; and it further appearing to the court that all of the holders of bonds of said series, as well as other creditors of the said city of Cisco should be given the right and opportunity to intervene herein to the end that their claims may be established herein, and their rights to participate in such funds as the said city of Cisco is able to apply to the payment of its debts may be determined herein;

It is accordingly ordered, adjudged and decreed that: (1) The said city of Cisco and its officials be, and they are hereby directed to pay upon surrender of interest coupons evidencing the past due interest due November 1, 1937, upon bonds held by said parties respectively to Security Benefit Association the sum of $165.00 to C. J. Moore, the sum of $696.30, and to John R. T. Rives, Hugh Richmond and John V. Abrahams, jointly, the sum of $3,953.40, all of such payments to be made to W. J. Rutledge, Jr., as attorney of record for such parties.

(2) As interventions may be filed hereafter in this cause upon bonds of said series dated November 1, 1934, the holders of such bonds shall be entitled upon order to be entered herein and upon surrender of interest coupons which matured November 1, 1937, to be paid out of funds remaining in the interest and sinking funds of said city of Cisco in the same proportion and to the same extent as is above provided in favor of plaintiff and intervenors herein.

(3) The said city of Cisco and its officials J. T. Berry, mayor; J. R. Burnett, S. A. Huestis, W. J. Foxworth, H. C. Henderson and

H. A. Bible, city commissioners, and Lonnie Shockley, city secretary and treasurer and assessor and collector of Texas of said city of Cisco be, and they are hereby ordered and directed to deposit in a special account in First National Bank, Cisco, Texas, all other funds in their hands allocated to the interest and sinking fund of said city, together with all funds hereafter collected belonging to said interest and sinking fund, and retain the same in said special account in said bank subject to the further orders of this court and that the same be disbursed only upon orders duly entered herein.

(4) All other holders of bonds as well as creditors of said city asserting the right to be paid out of the funds of said city available for the payment of its funded debt be, and they are hereby ordered and directed to present their claim by intervention hereby to the end that this court may determine the validity and may classify all such claims and direct the ratable distribution of funds available for the payment thereof.

(5) That notice of this order shall be given by said city of Cisco to all of such creditors and bondholders by mail where such creditors are known, and also by publication of a notice for three consecutive weeks in "The Dallas Morning News" and "The Bond Buyer," in which notice it shall be provided that all such claims shall be filed in this court on or before the 1st day of February, 1939.

(6) The city officials hereinabove named are hereby ordered and directed to take all action necessary and available by law to enforce the collection, promptly, of all taxes and other debts including water rentals due said city to the end that the revenue of said city may be increased to the maximum amount possible.

(7) Hearing upon the application for such other and further relief sought by plaintiff and intervenors herein, with respect to the amount of taxes to be levied, assessed and collected, and the portion of such other funds of the said city as should be applied to the payment of its funded debt, be held in abeyance, and jurisdiction over the parties and subject matter involved herein be retained pending the further orders and judgment of the court.

MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.
ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.
ANNE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.
DANNIE FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Feeley and Tait are unable to identify the attacker, but the taxi driver remembers a cat meowing as he fell. Tait recalls the Dombey song success. "The Cat's Meow."

CHAPTER XVIII

Neither Tait nor Feeley saw any humor in the fact that they were quite as much in the dark as the unfortunate taxi driver. Certain that the wounded man could enlighten them no further they left the General Hospital a disconsolate pair if ever there was one.

On the steps of the hospital Feeley looked at Bob Tait. "I know a good beer tavern near here."

"Lead me to it," said Tait wearily.

Within the next five minutes they were seated in a back booth of beer parlor a stein before each of them and a heaping bowl of popcorn between the steins. "Suppose," said Dannie Feeley, "that you start talking. You hire a taxi to take you on a foolhardy trip into the Millbay district. The driver gets knifed and thinks he heard a cat meowing. And you ask me if I ever heard of the cat's meow?"

"I mean the song," grinned Tait. "I told you about that song. If you paid any attention to swing music you'd know that song. The one that Lud Dombey was supposed to have written—and didn't."

Feeley nodded. "The one that was written by George Weeks. I remember."

"Yeah. So there's the chance that the guy who wanted to cut me up was our crook friend, the unknown musician." Tait took a drag at his beer, leaned forward and went on excitedly. "Look, Dannie. Put yourself in his place. Suppose you'd been a third-rate musician all your life, living from hand to mouth—"

"I wish," said Feeley in a tired voice. "I was."

"All right, let's dream it, then. You are. All your life you've figured you are as good as some of these guys in the big dough. And maybe you really are. Then you write a song, and you're sure it's pretty good. But the song publishers don't think so. They never heard of you, anyhow, and what jobs have you had and with what orchestra? But you have faith in this song—it's called 'The Cat's Meow'—and you know how Ludden Dombey is the king of swine."

And this is a swing song. It's ready. It's a thing from the bowels of Africa. It's Beethoven and Irving and something from the drums of the jungle. You know it is, because you know music and you've got the feel. But you're stuck—because, somehow, some way, you didn't get the breaks. You begin to realize that the authors of the Declaration of Independence were nice guys all right, but they weren't quite right when they said that all men were created free and equal. You begin to tumble to the fact that something can happen between the time you were created free and equal and the time when you start to earn the daily bread. But that's all right. You're a good sport. You see that a guy named Ludden Dombey has got some breaks along with his hard work. So you take your song to him, and you ask him to put it over for you."

"I'm following you," said Dannie Feeley. "And I'll buy another beer."

Tait nodded. "Okay. Well—you've taken your song to Lud Dombey and he sees something in it. It's decided that you ought to let him plug it under his own name. Maybe he decides that, or maybe you do. Anyhow, that's the way it's done. And the agreement he makes is all right with you."

Tait nodded. "Okay. Well—you've taken your song to Lud Dombey and he sees something in it. It's decided that you ought to let him plug it under his own name. Maybe he decides that, or maybe you do. Anyhow, that's the way it's done. And the agreement he makes is all right with you."

Then, under Ludden Dombey's guidance, the song becomes one of the greatest contemporary hit smashes. And then . . . Tait paused a moment. "Then Dombey doesn't pay."

"I'd be sore," said Feeley. "Naturally."

"Not only that, Dannie. The song would come to be the one thing in your life. You'd think of nothing else. You'd see Dombey rising on that song. You'd hear it a dozen times a day. You'd want to scream out, 'I wrote that—I wrote it, I wrote it!' But you don't. Because you've an agreement with Dombey, and you think probably he'll pay out in the end and maybe he's getting more out of the song than you would with your name of—well, George K. Weeks."

Tait stopped long enough to let the waiter set down two fresh steins on the table. "Little by little, you get a little sere on the subject of that song. Maybe you get a little hungry, too, and a little tired of spending your nights in 20-cent flop joints. So you up and shoot Ludden Dombey dead after you've raised the price of a ticket to the Golden Bowl of the Pacific-Plaza."

Feeley nodded. "I get it. That's what I mean."

Feeley granted. "It sounds like something Leonard Macy would figure out with the help of the alienist, Doctor Darryl Mattise."

"Just the same it's a theory."

"Sure. And here's another one. Harris Rogers wanted to get even with you for doing him out of a soft job—with plenty of side money—and he figures to throw you off by making a noise like a cat. And the reason he does it is just because he thinks you'll cook up a fancy idea like the one you've been retelling to me."

"I agree with you, Dannie. That's another possibility, and probably it's a better one than mine. But what about that perfume?"

Feeley sighed. "You would bring that up. Are you sure you sets me off. I hear that a guy named Robert Tait has been elected manager of Dombey's band. And I still haven't got my money—and by this time I'd like a little recognition, too. So I inveigle you down to the Millbay district and make some passes at you with a knife. And while I'm doing it I make a noise like a cat's meow—because that's the name of the song I got on my addled brain."

"That's it! That's what I mean."

Feeley granted. "It sounds like something Leonard Macy would figure out with the help of the alienist, Doctor Darryl Mattise."

"I agree with you, Dannie. That's another possibility, and probably it's a better one than mine. But what about that perfume?"

Feeley sighed. "You would bring that up. Are you sure you smelled that stuff outside the Claremont Apartments where Anne Lester and Myrna Dombey roomed together?"

"If you'd seen the blond, Dannie, you'd remember it perfectly. It was in the entrance of the Claremont and it came from the district and it came from the district. It isn't the kind of perfume that Myrna would choose."

Feeley regarded the younger man oddly. "I see. Then we've got to consider the possibility that the person who wanted to bleed you to death was the blond."

"We have."

"And that she also was the girl who knocked Dombey off?"

"Yes."

Feeley shook his head. "I've had Mike Dunphy making the rounds of the names we got from Dombey's papers. But there was nothing doing. At least half of them were blonds, too."

Tait glanced toward the window. The first streaks of dawn were breaking into the all-night beer tavern. "What do you say we go back down to the Millbay district and have a look at that factory building now?"

"There're two things I'd rather do," said Feeley. "One is sleep, and the other is drink a third glass of beer. But when I see my duty . . ."

Arts Club Meeting Thursday

Industrial Arts club met this afternoon at the very interesting International Good and directed by Mrs. F. J. Jones. Mrs. F. J. Jones was the speaker for the afternoon and will speak at the next meeting. The country representative, Mrs. Smith spoke on "Foreign Customs" and the audience enjoyed the presentation. The program was prepared by Mrs. Jones and read by Mrs. Jones. The program was followed by an interesting and foreign songs. Mrs. Mmes. Clark and R. S. Cope, were present.

Mmes. H. H. Nance, Raby Hadden, Joe Wilson, E. J. Poe, W. W. Clements, O. L. Sutton Crofts, L. Smith, B. E. F. J. Borman.

Womans Guild Holds Bridge Tournament

The Womans Guild of the Episcopal church held a very successful bridge tournament at the home of Mrs. H. H. Enderly Friday evening. Low bowls of marigolds and zinnias were attractively arranged to decorate the rooms and a Halloween motif was used in the tallies and refreshments.

Mrs. Sam Kimmell won high for the ladies, A. C. Green high for men. Mrs. C. H. Abbott, low and A. D. McGinnis, cut prizes.

Refreshments were served to eight tables of players.

IT'S moving day for after-dinner coffee! Right out of the dining room into the living room! Leave the table feeling as though you could eat a little more—but relax with after-dinner coffee in more comfortable surroundings and become accustomed to a pleasant custom. The elegant service pictured in the illustration, accompanied by nuts and candied berries, is smart—but not a necessity. Use your usual coffee cups and make your coffee double-strength (two heaping tablespoons to each cup). Have coffee with your meal—and have it after dinner in the living room.

XX Century Club Holds Meeting Friday Afternoon

"Five Prominent Women Poets," was the program presented at the meeting of the Twentieth Century club held Friday afternoon at the club rooms. The poets were Lizette Woodworth Reese, Beatrice Rayvel, Olive Tilford Dargan, Virginia McCormick and Elizabeth Maddox Roberts. A brief sketch of each was given by Mrs. F. E. Harrell. Mrs. P. Pettit spoke on the "White and the Negro" and Mmes. F. D. Wright and W. J. Leach gave interesting accounts of travel in the south—Florida.

Mrs. G. B. Kelly was hostess and used zinnias and roses as decorations. Those present were Mmes. J. R. Burnett, S. E. Hittson, E. P. Crawford, Alex Spears, J. J. Butts, C. H. Fee, J. E. Mortlary, F. D. Wright, John Shertzer, Homer Slicker, C. R. West, F. E. Harrell, William Reagan, T. J. Dean, Edward Lee, P. Pettit, W. J. Leach, G. B. Kelly and J. E. Crawford.

Formal Ermine Has Casual Cut

The contrast between the elegance and formality of the fur of which it is made and the casual lines on which it is cut make this evening wrap one of the loveliest in current collections. Of snowy white Russian ermine, it has squared shoulders, wide sleeves and a small collar. Dein Bacher designed it.

Entre Nous Bridge Club Meets Thursday

Mrs. A. G. Tuttle was hostess to members of the Entre Nous Bridge club for the meeting Thursday morning. Zinnias in Fall shades formed an attractive decorative theme for the rooms where two tables were placed for the players. Mrs. Sam Kimmell won high score and Mrs. Jack Anderson cut prizes.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. F. J. Borman, E. L. Smith, Rex Moore, H. H. Monk, Sam Kimmell, Jack Anderson, L. A. Warren and the hostess.

will affect life of every day. A law strictly prohibiting all secular activity might seem to some Christians the best solution to the question of Sabbath observance. But after all it is not a good solution. A law that protects worship is needed. But if every one were to be made inactive on one day a week by a law it would be putting his spirit in a straight jacket. No one could be made religious that way. Therefore the Christian should find his right observance of the day in his own right convictions that prompt him to do the thing that is becoming of his profession. The one who is not a Christian is to be brought to a right consideration of the day by becoming first a Christian. Respect for institutions ought to regulate pretty well the observance of the first day of the week in any community. When respect will not reach then law is needed to the extent of preventing disturbance of worship. One had better work all day on the Lord's day than dissipate. But he had better worship than work. If, instead of making this day which is of religious origin the big day for celebrations and other occasions, the community would cooperate in making it a day for building up its religious institutions and its spiritual resources the community would be tremendously to the good.

Japanese campaign in central and south China, brought renewed talk of possible peace negotiations.

From Chungking came reports crediting former Premier Wang Ching-Wei, chairman of the central political council of the Kuomintang (Nationalist party), with having said that China might accept peace terms from Japan.

However, Wang was said to have stipulated that such terms must not hamper the nation's existence.

Recurrent rumors that neutral powers were attempting to mediate were met with denials in diplomatic circles both at Shanghai and Hong Kong.

Behind The Scenes in Washington

—BY RODNEY DUTCHER— NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 —Economic deponents who expect something of a business boom this winter have been trying to figure out how people will spend their money when it comes. They conclude a lot of money will be put into home-building and they think that's fine.

The fact that more houses have been built this year than last, despite the sharp recession, indicates a strong trend which presumably will make itself even more evident when business seems definitely on the upgrade. Money put into housing, the economists figure, not only provides a relatively large amount of employment but is spread over a wider area and through a longer time period with the result that it contributes to sound recovery. Martin Taitel, head of Leon Henderson's administration clearing house of economic information, prefers to be conservative in his estimates, but suggests about 400,000 dwelling units may be built next year, compared with around 319,000 in 1933.

Because at least 10 per cent of the cost of a house has to be paid in cash and few care to draw on their savings in hard times, the state of the country's savings has an important bearing on housing prospects. Taitel says the savings banks just weren't there, roughly speaking, in 1933-34-35, that they were built up through 1937 and that the 1937-38 recession wiped out no large portion of them. People generally have built up personal supplies of clothing, furniture and similar articles.

A vacancy percentage of around 15 has gone down to 2 or 3 per cent and rents have decreased little in the last year. Building costs are relatively high, but the index figure on them is about 112 as compared with 117 a year ago. All these factors are considered encouraging.

If Chairman Dies of the House "isms" investigating committee wants the Labor Department to continue investigating the Pacific coast labor leader, Harry Bridges, and he has persistently demanded Bridges' deportation — he had Taitel says the savings banks just weren't there, roughly speaking, in 1933-34-35, that they were built up through 1937 and that the 1937-38 recession wiped out no large portion of them. People generally have built up personal supplies of clothing, furniture and similar articles. A vacancy percentage of around 15 has gone down to 2 or 3 per cent and rents have decreased little in the last year. Building costs are relatively high, but the index figure on them is about 112 as compared with 117 a year ago. All these factors are considered encouraging. If Chairman Dies of the House "isms" investigating committee wants the Labor Department to continue investigating the Pacific coast labor leader, Harry Bridges, and he has persistently demanded Bridges' deportation — he had
