Black Dissents In Florida Opinion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Black, in a sharply worded dissenting opinion Monday, urged the tribunal to protect states from "needless" litigation brought in federal courts by companies or persons who "do not wish to obey" state laws.

The justice wrote his opinion in a case involving a Florida law which requires that canned citrus fruits be labeled with the name of the state in which they are grown. The majority of the high court, declaring that a lower federal court erred in dismissing an attack on the law by Florida producers, ordered it to proceed with the trial.

According to an agreement reached early in the year, the majority of business houses in Cisco will be closed on Armistice day. The holiday was one of several designated in an agreement which was entered into several months ago. Thanksgiving and the Monday following Christmas day were also designated as closing days.

The closing will make it possible for the greatest number to attend the Cisco-Ranger game at Ranger in the afternoon.

The time for the game has been set for 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Principal O. L. Stamey of the Cisco school said following a conference with Supt. Walton of Ranger this morning.

There will be no issue of the Cisco Daily Press on Friday.

The monarch made the announcement from the throne in the house of lords in an address opening the fourth session of the current parliament. The king did not disclose how the North American trip will be made. It will be the first time the British sovereign ever set foot in the former colony.

Jaycees Propose Baby Derby as Spur for Trade

At a meeting of the board of junior chamber of commerce directors at the Laguna hotel last night, it was voted to sponsor a Cisco Baby Derby, provided merchants who would be most interested approved the plan. A committee composed of Homer Ferguson and C. M. Nevill was appointed by President Carlton Holder, to contact retailers who would be most vitally concerned.

The plan, as outlined, provided for a voting contest for the most perfect babies, voting tickets to be given by merchants with each 25c purchase. Six classifications, ranging from six months old to six years of age were set up. A grand prize and lesser cash prizes, and prizes by Osborn's studio, are provided for in the plan.

Advocates of the plan contend that since babies are the most interesting things in the world and provide a true heart interest for every one, the idea should enlist interest over the trade territory. It is a part of the plan to encourage mothers outside Cisco to enter their babies in the contest. Of course, many mothers in Cisco would probably enter their babies or small children.

Merchants who become eligible to give voting tickets would pay an entrance fee of $2 out of which fund prizes would be provided. A small charge would be made for tickets for merchants.

The contest would be divided into three laps, one for each 15 days, culminating in a big rally on December 23, at which time winners would be announced and prizes awarded by the junior chamber of commerce, who would furnish committees to handle all features of the contest. There is to be no drawing nor game of chance connected with the idea but a simple voting contest where friends and relatives might rally to the support of their favorites in the derby.

Baird Election Contest Is Reset

BAIRD, Nov. 3—Judge Milburn S. Long, of 42d district court, has set for hearing Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock a suit brought by a citizens committee against the city of Baird, contesting a municipal bond election.

The hearing had been set for last week, but was postponed when plaintiff's counsel requested a jury.

Improved Market for Oil Is Seen

ABILENE, Nov. 3.—An improved market condition for the West Central Texas oil business is noticeable in monthly statistical reports of the Texas railroad commission, received Monday by the Abilene office for the month of September.

During the month, the 16-county district gained 99 new oil wells and produced 1,133,841 barrels of oil.

Reallocation of allowances and the Saturday and Sunday shut-downs brought the percentage of crude underproduction down to 2.33 per cent from the previous month's figure of 10.70 per cent. Underproduction is the actual reported crude runs in comparison to the allowance.

Storage during the period decreased 11,849 barrels, from 241,400 barrels in August to 229,551 barrels closing stocks on hand at the end of September.

Pipe line runs also decreased 93,475 barrels, from 1,194,997 in August to 1,101,522 barrels during September.

Number of operators reporting to the commission increased from 725 to 727.

35 SENATORS, 432 IN HOUSE TO BE CHOSEN

40 Million Ballots Expected to Be Cast Over Nation

(By Associated Press)

America's voters, 40,000,000 strong, helped today to determine the future course of the New Deal by choosing congressmen and state officials in a momentous off-year election. At stake were 35 U. S. senatorships, 432 representative seats in congress and 32 governorships.

Half a million Texans were expected to vote in what observers called "the quietest election in years."

In some states inclement weather appeared likely to lower advance estimates of the total vote.

President Roosevelt was at Hyde Park where he sealed in an envelope his forecast of the outcome. Vice President Garner was at Uvalde.

Early reports recorded the arrests of 25 men for illegal registration at Albany, N. Y., and the jailing of six men in Harlan county, Ky., as the result of two shootings.

Fred Grist is election judge in the west box and W. W. Wallace is judge in the east box, with John Dill as acting judge.

Former Cisco Pastor Chosen SMU President

Dr. Umphrey Lee, a former pastor of the First Methodist church here and one of the most eloquent and able preachers in the Methodist denomination, has been elected president of Southern Methodist university. Dr. Lee, now dean of the Vanderbilt university school of religion at Nashville, Tenn., will accept, according to a statement by Bishop Frank A. Smith, chairman of the SMU board of trustees.

Dr. Lee was chosen from a field of four nominees. He probably will assume his new duties at the beginning of the second semester.

The trustees announced their decision after an all-day session. The action was unanimous.

Dr. Lee will succeed Bishop Charles C. Sliceman.

Dr. Lee, a native of Indiana, was pastor of the Highland Park Methodist church, which is adjacent to the university from 192 until 1936 when he received his appointment to Vanderbilt. He is 45. He received his B. A. degree from Trinity university, his master's from Vanderbilt and his D. D.'s from Columbia university, Union Theological seminary, and from Trinity university.

Let's show our appreciation of that A-1 fighting team by being a part of the greatest homecoming celebration ever staged.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

One of the few undefeated teams of the western part of the state, the Cisco Lobos Monday entered the final week of preparation for the opening of what shall call the home stretch of the eastern Oil Belt sector's chase. The Lobos meet Ranger Armistice day at Ranger, men Breckenridge.

They began preparations enthusiastically enough and they looked well in practise yesterday. Believe the boys are nearer the proper frame of mind for sound football than they have been in several years. There is no doubt at the squad has good material as good, I believe, as any marial anywhere in the district, ken on an all-around basis.

In view of that statement, it may appear illogical to predict a feat for the Lobos Friday afternoon. But that is just what I am compelled to do. As much as I want the Lobos to win the mystic day clash, I am convinced that Ranger will beat them. The score will not be close. It will be a hardfought one, but there are too many stars in favor of the Bulldogs afford any over-optimism.

In the first place the Ranger boys have always been a Lobo x. Only on rare occasions have teams of an equal strength defeated Ranger elevens. The bit has been for Lobo teams to be to inferior Bulldog elevens. Overer Cisco will be playing Ranger soil. That has its right. Thus we must give Ranger a 50 per cent advantage on psychological factors alone. The Bulldogs always play over their ads against Cisco.

In the second place, Ranger is not been at full strength all season, with the possible exception of the Brownwood game when the Bulldogs roundly outplayed the Lions and would have won but for the breaks. Brownwood, it will be recalled, gave the boys a desperate battle and the Cisco boys won their best-played game of the season on an intersted pass. Of course Cisco earned the victory, but it was earned by the best playing they have done all year and on their me field, too. Thus, on the basis of the records of the Lobos against Brownwood, we are compelled to rate Armistice day rivals as about equal in physical strength. And Ranger will be at greatest length against the Lobos for the first time next Friday.

For a third factor, let us consider passing. The Lobos have always been weak on pass defense. And Ranger has by far the best passer they will have met this season. I do not think Ranger will win through the line on running plays. But Ranger will win on passes. With a pass-attack, coached by a member of the famous SMU Rose bowl team of 1935 who ought to know all that is to be known about passing, the Bulldogs will primed and ready to take the st advantage of the chief weakness of the Lobos.

For a fourth reason Cisco will probably be overconfident. The feat which Ranger absorbed at the hands of the Stephenville flowjackets last week was decisive. But it serves to make Cisco boys feel that they have picked up the Bulldogs. They probably do not stop to think that with four of their main out of the lineup, a loss that would wreck almost any high

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

It is well; thy servant shall have peace.—I Sam. xx. 7.

Though we pass through tribulation, All will be well. Ours is such a full salvation, All, all is well. —Missy Peters Humiliation and suffering constitute under-neath all the joy of innocence, and all the confidence of sinful men. From them these holy flowers which grow at the foot of the cross derive all their sweetness.—Madame Swetchine.

Hollywood Discovered

A Vanishing Trait

THAT Hollywood movie company that went to a small town in Missouri to make a picture seems to have learned something fresh from the land of make-believe, where everybody acts a part off-stage as well as on and where the sorry old rule that it's every man for himself is followed right up to the hilt. These movie people spent a couple of weeks or so in a place of complete, unworried innocence.

The population of this little Missouri town was increased by about one-third when the movie people landed. Hotel facilities, of course, were completely inadequate; the Hollywood visitors had to take rooms in private homes. The few restaurants did a business such as their owners had never dreamed of.

But somehow these back-country Missourians didn't see all of this as a grand opportunity to gouge the rich folks.

THEY insisted on looking on the great mass of new-comers as their guests. The movie people actually had to argue, and argue hard, to get their hosts to take money for their rooms. The restaurant-keepers never thought of boosting their prices, but went right on selling chicken dinners for 50 cents.

When home-town talent was wanted for use in mob scenes, the townsfolk weren't especially eager to take money for that, either. They were glad to help out, of course—but they didn't see any particular reason why they ought to be paid for it. And although people came from miles around to watch the different scenes being shot, they stayed put when the directors asked them to and kept quiet when the sound cameras were turning—and proved infinitely easier to handle than half a dozen casual visitors on a studio set back in Hollywood.

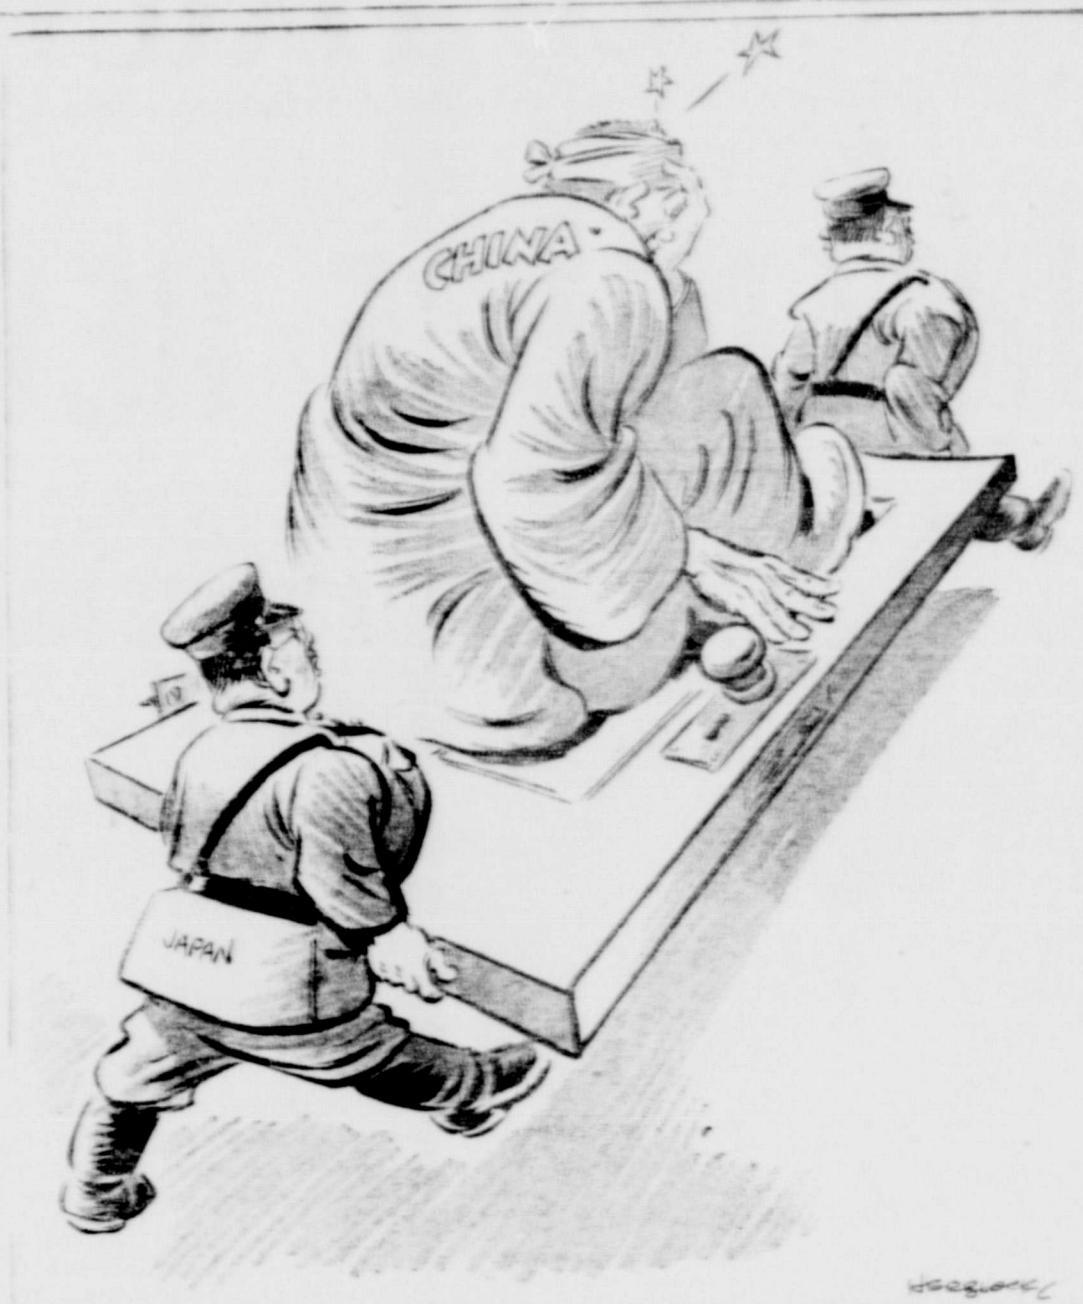

ALL of which was something of an eye-opener to the movie people, who aren't used to that kind of a world. And the rest of us—who aren't any too used to it, either—may meditate on the incident and use it as a measuring rod to gauge the short-comings of our modern society.

For the innocent, unsophisticated friendliness of that small town is the sort of thing which once was all but universal in this country. The books written by foreign visitors in the last century prove that; so, too, do the individual memories of a great many living Americans.

But the way of life which was natural to rural, small-town, horse-and-buggy America is not at all natural to the complex, civilized society we have today. The pace has grown too swift, the competitive struggle has grown too keen; we rub elbows with too many people, and are too constantly obliged to remember that it's every man for himself nowadays.

We have lost something, in developing this modern civilization that we're so proud of—lost something precious and irreplaceable. We may yet conclude that what we have gained in its place does not quite make it up to us for the loss.

Carrying Out the Open Door Policy

Meeting of Demo Executive Group Is Harmonious

MINERAL WELLS, Nov. 3 (AP)—An inexperienced but quickly learning state democratic executive committee avoided one delicate issue Monday and successfully opened with another in a meeting which produced none of the fireworks that had been expected.

The committee stumped national politics, spent most of the day in getting acquainted, and finally in a few moments of real action near the end of its session authorized Chairman E. B. Germany of Dallas to make his own selection for the post of secretary. He announced his choice was Clarence Butcher of Plainview, a brother-in-law of W. Lee O'Daniel, the democratic nominee for governor.

Indicative of some strenuous behind-the-scenes maneuvering was the speedy way a few moments previously in which W. S. Spert of Hallsville was elected vice-chairman. Spert, brother-in-law of Carr P. Collins of Dallas, a close advisor of O'Daniel, previously has been announced as slated by the secretaryship, and friends of the incumbent, Vann M. Kennedy of Austin had said they would fight for Kennedy's retention.

Kennedy formally offered his resignation, declaring positively his decision was final and that he would not consider no matter what action the committee took.

There had been a strong current of support for him in corridor gossip throughout the day, but the anticipated fight did not develop. A rumored row over possible endorsement of John N. Garner for the vice presidency in 1940 was squelched by caucus work before the meeting. No mention of endorsement of Garner or any other candidate was made. Chairman Germany some time ago had said the state convention's endorsement may have been interpreted by some as mandatory upon the committee to set machinery in motion to capture delegates for the Texans. Strong opposition to the idea developed quickly and a group came to the session here

Every once in a while we see some merchant who says, "If I was sure that advertising paid I would like to do a little for Goodness knows I need more customers." As if the thousands of actual results have not been enough to convince any man of the effectiveness of newspaper advertising. Just this morning in a state paper we read of the results secured by Dr. J. A. Stewart, pastor of West Point, Miss., Baptist church, whom he advertised in the classified column for his last church members who had not been in church in four months.

The ad read as follows: "Lost or abandoned—Undetermined number of Baptists from service of First Baptist church. Hope to find them Sunday morning in church." And Sunday morning he was greeted by the largest congregation of the year.

cool eleven. The Bulldogs gave a powerful Breckenridge team closer battle than any other in the district has done. All those four men back in the cup, the entire team smarting from the disgrace of having turned away a victory over a sch inferior eleven, and with a white hot spirit that always runs against Cisco to drive them desperate play. Ranger will be prime Friday, and don't you bet it.

The play of the Cisco boys must Eastland aptly illustrate a main reason that I am pressing a defeat for them against the traditional rivals on that day. Few teams in the state have such a wide variation of size. When they are up, the Lobs are really up. But when they are down—My, my, but they are. On the basis of their play must Brownwood they should be taken Eastland with ease. If they requested Eastland as easy. They knew they were going to win. And Eastland, who plays Cisco with a fervor equal to that of Ranger's, took the jump on them with a pass that scored—a pass, mind you—and pushed the Lobos to the limit to beat them by two touchdowns.

Because the psychological situation is dangerously similar to that which prevailed before that game at Eastland, I am compelled to believe that the Bulldogs will kick the punts off of our team next Friday afternoon.

Now, I probably will get some more critical letters because of this prediction. But if you follow me in this reasoning, you must admit that there is plenty of reason to arrive at such a conclusion. Cisco can beat Ranger. The Lobos have the better material. Most of the boys on the team have the right mental attitude. If all of the members had that attitude, if all of them were fired with the spirit to merge themselves in the team and work as a unit, to play the game for the team and for all that the game is worth, it would be a different story. If every man on the squad had the spirit of one youngster whom I saw out at the field yesterday, I am confident the Lobo team of this year would be one of the finest in the state. That kid is a substitute guard, with only an outside chance to get in the game. But he was off to himself practicing fundamentals, remaining the unspectacular measure of pulling out of the line and running interference and the other things a guard is supposed to do, with an earnestness that reminded of the way "Cooper" Kover used to practice. He may not play much football this year or next, but he got the coach's eye because he has the stuff that makes real teams. I must say that most of the Lobos on the first eleven have that spirit. But there are some who don't and these, like the bad apples in the barrel, lower the quality of the whole.

If the boys who make up the Lobo team this year ever begin kicking as they can kick, they can run with the best in anybody's league. But something is wrong. Something is loose somewhere. And I fear that it will not be located before the Ranger game.

For that reason, I believe Ranger will win Friday.

In Australia a rule must be taken every eight years on a personal to abolish liquor licenses. If 40 per cent favor it, all licenses except those of brewers must be cancelled. This makes liquor sales illegal.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hughes... Miss Wilma is remembered by most Ciscoans... even if you do not know Mr. Hughes.

And we met two of those ladies from Dayton, Ohio, who were in the car wreck some time ago... Mrs. C. G. Price and Mrs. Gertrude McClure... both jolly looking and seemingly finding this a lovely world as they look out on their friends through eyes that sparkle with enjoyment as they talk... The third lady in the party, who was sent to Dallas for a shoulder hurt, is reported progressing satisfactorily at the present... Her name is Mrs. K. H. Hays, of Akron, Ohio.

CARD OF THANKS
We want to express our appreciation and heart felt thanks to the good people of Cisco and Nimrod, who were so faithful in administering unto us during the illness and death of our dear husband and father.

We shall always be grateful to each and everyone for the beautiful words of comfort and for the beautiful funeral offerings.

Especially do we want to thank the splendid physician and Christian gentleman, Dr. F. E. Clark for his untiring efforts and many cheerful visits to the bedside of him who has gone on to claim his heavenly home of many mansions not made with hands. God's richest blessings be upon you all, is our prayer.
