

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Weather makes manifest need of those in poverty. It is manifest the extent to which poverty afflicts the people. We have been so long accustomed to governmental relief for the poor among us that we ceased in a large measure to realize actually enough the responsibility that is imposed upon us—upon ourselves as individuals—for the care of those who have neither food nor clothing nor shelter. To an extent that is not to be denied, the emotion of sympathy has come to rely on the government to take care of our needy.

After billions have been expended we may believe that the need should be abated. But we are shocked to know that today there stood in the newspaper office of the welfare department here barefooted men seeking food and clothing. There are scores of such in Cisco.

This is the Thanksgiving time. We have lots to be thankful for. It would be much better for us if we could be thankful for having lost, or, if having lost, having regained that peculiar vital emotional current which, flowing through our veins, produces that great impulse known as humanity. It would be much better if we could realize that the mere contribution of money and clothing through functional organizations does not solve the question of poverty or meet even the need. No government that ever existed can accomplish something as a personal obligation. For the human need is a personal obligation, an obligation that cannot be shunted off upon someone else, or Austin or the city seat. Funds are necessary, but there must be also a community interest in the needs of the community.

Through the local welfare association Cisco can discharge this personal obligation, an obligation as correct as well as to alleviate. If the association had sound and continuing interest in the citizens in the work it is attempting to do, there would be need to ask for shoes for the needy children, for coats, dresses and underwear, for clothing and medicines and so on. These things would be necessary in sufficient quantities to meet the needs, and the help of the organization and the help of the community would be effectively turned toward those who are in need of the things.

The association this year was in opening its office. It has numbered a real, even desperate. It can depend upon no one but Cisco people for the help with which to meet this need. You can make today a day of real Thanksgiving, warm to your own heart even as you warm some chill body, with a few minutes attention to this appeal.

Freeze Expected Reach as Far South as Houston

DALLAS, Nov. 23.—(U.P.)—Wintry weather drove southward through Texas today, pushing ahead a bank of warm clouds that kept freezing temperatures over the coastal country overnight. Fifteen degree weather already moved across the South and around Lubbock and, the forecast said, it was expected to be strong enough to bring freezing temperatures as far south as Austin and San Antonio.

Baird and Woodson high school football teams will meet at Chesley field this afternoon at 2:30 in a game to determine the championship of District 11-B. Both of these teams, losers in early season contests, have come along strongly winning their conference games with decisive scores.

Baird is the favored team but the Woodson boys have a big, powerful eleven which is eager to avenge a defeat sustained at the hands of the Bears at the opening of the season.

Winners of this Turkey day clash will play the winner of the Nocona-Newcastle game in a bi-district championship contest. Team rosters are: Baird: Name Pos. No. Wt. Jerald Watts, q 40 153. Three Cases Are Assigned For Trial Monday EASTLAND, Nov. 23.—(U.P.)—B. W. Patterson, judge of 88th district court, Tuesday assigned three cases—two charging murder and the other a statutory offense—for trial Monday. Defendants, in the order of the case settings, are: Emmitt Rice, charged with a statutory offense; Mrs. Jackson Peters, charged with murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Marcus Pearce this year, and Fate Campbell in the 1936 death of Buford Tarver.

A special venire of 75 has been ordered by the court. The veniremen are to report at 9 a. m. It has understood that Milton Lawrence will represent Rice and Campbell. The Rice case recently was reversed and remanded by the criminal court of appeals at Austin.

T. M. Collie was originally counsel for Rice, having been appointed by the court. A five-year sentence was originally given Rice.

Frank Sparks has been employed by friends and relatives of the late Mrs. Pearce to assist Criminal District Attorney Earl Conner, Jr., in the prosecution of Mrs. Peters.

Rodeo Will Be Presented on December 3rd

The junior chamber of commerce rodeo committee today has completed its plans for the first of a series of trade promotion events to begin December 3 and continue through the month of December. Final details were arranged in a session of the committee, headed by John Trigg of Romney, at the chamber of commerce late Tuesday afternoon.

The program will feature a boys' rodeo to be held at the soft ball park in the afternoon. The events of the program begin with a parade to form at the north and a D avenue and move through the business district to the soft ball field, led by the Lobo band. President Carlton Holder of the Jaycees, said Wednesday that the committee wants every horse, Shetland pony and donkey in the Cisco trade area to be in the parade, if possible. Children were especially invited to enter their animals. The march will begin at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Rodeo events will be: 1—Goat roping for boys under 18 years of age. Prizes of $2, $1 and 50 cents will be paid winners. 2—Steer riding for boys under 18. Fifty cents will be paid each successful rider. 3—Calf roping. There will possibly be two classes in this event, one for men and another for boys. Prizes will be the same as in the first event.

Wild cow milking for men. Boys will not be entered in this event. There will be no prizes. 5—Bronc riding. There will likewise be no prizes in this event. Edward Lee will do the announcing for the rodeo and a loud speaker system will be installed. Other members of Mr. Trigg's committee are Charles Sandler, Garner Altom, Glen Caudle and James Harvey.

Third Man Charged in Car Theft Taken

Pete Eudy, charged as the third member of a trio which stole a car belonging to the W. H. Price, Church of Christ minister, here several days ago, was arrested in San Antonio early Wednesday morning by Deputy Sheriff Lou White and returned to Eastland county. Eudy and L. Powell and Rexford Holt, the latter two arrested at Fort Worth shortly after the alleged theft, are also charged with the robbery of a service station at Stamford.

FRENCH - NAZI PACT AGAINST WAR REPORTED

Action Seen as Cornerstone for Building European Peace

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(U.P.)—A French-German agreement to submit future disputes to consultation rather than to threaten each other with war was announced officially today. The announcement of the "war renunciation" pact came a few hours before the scheduled arrival of Prime Minister Chamberlain for talks from which a virtual French-British military alliance is expected.

The French-German understanding, a development which statesmen here are awaiting as a possible cornerstone on which to build European peace, complements the British-German anti-war accord.

The new accord goes further, however, by recognizing formally the present French-German treaty.

Jury Commission Named for 91st

EASTLAND, Nov. 23. (Sp.)—George L. Davenport, judge of 91st district court Tuesday named members of the court's December term jury commission.

Members of the commission, L. L. Hooper of Gorman, Rufus Cox of Okra, Ed. T. Cox, Sr., of Eastland, will meet Monday, Nov. 29, at the courthouse to elect members of three petit juries and of the grand jury.

The petit juries will be for weeks beginning Dec. 12, Dec. 19 and Jan. 9. The grand jurors will report for organization Dec. 5, date the December term of the court begins.

Robert Nail Directs New Albany Show

ALBANY, Nov. 23. (Sp.)—The Albany Lions club Christmas show will again be produced and directed by Robert E. Nail at the high school gymnasium on October 20, with proceeds devoted to welfare work. Director Nail worked out a ranch show last year that aroused widespread interest and a packed house witnessed something new in musical comedy, with many guests from the county and surrounding communities. Further production by Nail with an original play "Dr. Sheekel's Paradise," historical-comedy sketch of Sheekelford county and a smash hit in "Fort Griffin Fandangle" in the Albany stadium during the summer have gained widespread fame for the showmanship of the former Princeton university student, president of Princeton's Intime theatre and playwright-author, who is credited with writing and producing the best play ever coming from the pen of an undergraduate student in Princeton university of Princeton, New Jersey, captioned "Time of Their Lives." Albany people are ready for another show by Robert Nail and with the assistance of Miss Alice Reynolds of Albany, local music enthusiast. Mr. Nail has written several original songs for the December production, styled "Rancho Grande," carrying out a Spanish theme and coupled with a number of original numbers in song and dance. A fast moving arrangement of musical comedy has been set up and one of the most intricate numbers is made up of managers, auditors and clerks and is a national organization for education in hotel service and the promoting of good fellowship among hotel men. About 75 members of this division were present.

E. A. Brown, manager, Coy Guy, auditor and Raymond Steinback, night clerk, of the Laguna hotel, with Frank Roland, manager of the Gelsion hotel at Ranger, attended the monthly meeting at the Hotel Greeters at the Hilton hotel, Abilene last Monday night. The Greeters' association is made up of managers, auditors and clerks and is a national organization for education in hotel service and the promoting of good fellowship among hotel men. About 75 members of this division were present.

Varied Program Is Enjoyed by Cisco Lions Club

Lions enjoyed a varied program at the noonday luncheon Wednesday when W. C. Deagh brought a musical program supplemented by a classification talk on his produce business, giving the history and interesting facts concerning certain branches of the fruit and vegetable distribution over the world.

John James Haynie, Glen Tiplan and Paul Ely presented the musical program consisting of trios and duets on band instruments. Little Nickey Streater was the guest of his father, D. G. Streater, and seemed to enjoy the proceedings.

Lion Deagh spoke of the discovery and development of the Irish potato, which is a native of South America. He also mentioned briefly the origin of the orange, apple and grapefruit. Interesting sidelights on the varied species interspersed the discussion.

At a directors meeting following the luncheon, Rev. Joe L. Patterson was allowed $5.00 for boys activities now being sponsored by the club.

20 PER CENT LEVY PUT ON GERMAN JEWS

Nazis Move to Collect Big Fine and "Write Final Chapter"

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—(U.P.)—The German government ordered a levy of 20 per cent on Jewish fortunes exceeding $2,000 today to pay the $400,000,000 fine imposed for the assassination of Ernest Vom Rath, Paris embassy secretary by a Jewish boy.

A decree defining the means of collecting the fine in four installments was published in an official gazette as the German propaganda machine went into full swing with a warning that no mercy would be accorded in writing the "last chapter of the Jewish question in Germany."

Suggests Alaska as Home

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—(U.P.)—Secretary Ickes today suggested that the United States consider the possibility of opening Alaska to colonization of Jewish refugees from Germany. He said he did not wish to be placed in a position of recommending the colonization of the territory's undeveloped areas but that the possibility of such a move should not be overlooked.

America Counts Many Blessings

(Editorial By BRUCE CATTON)

THIS ought to be a good Thanksgiving Day.
First of all, the season has been bountiful. The yield of our farms has been good, trade and industry seem to be picking up speed again, and most Americans will be able to sit down to a big dinner commemorating those facts.

But Thanksgiving has come to be more than just a seasonal feast. It has become a time for casting up our national accounts so we can see how we have fared during the last 12 months; a time for looking both to the past and to the future, and for assessing our own place in the general picture of the world.

And by any of those accountings, we have abundant reason to return devout and heartfelt thanks.

The last eight or nine years have not been easy. They have put our country, probably, to a greater strain than it has suffered since 1865; yet it has stood the strain nobly, and now it is becoming pretty evident that the worst is over.

A great many people have suffered rather severely, but the nation as a whole received no permanent damage—and the signs now are that things are going to go on getting better during the coming year.

If you look overseas, the reason for thanksgiving in America is even clearer.

In Europe and Asia bloody wars are aging; and millions of people have to live under the daily dread that tomorrow it will be their turn. Intolerance and persecution recall the Dark Ages.

From all of that, we are spared.

Alone of the earth's great nations, we can look forward confidently to years of peace—years which we can devote to construction, not to destruction, years which should increase the sum total of human happiness instead of decreasing it.

Truly, if ever a land had reason to return thanks, it is our land!

New Tide in World Affairs From the Trade Treaty

IT will be quite a while before we can tell whether the new British-American trade agreement is going to work out as well as the people who drew it up hope it will. At the moment, however, it can at least be said that the signing of the agreement is one of the most hopeful signs that has appeared on the world horizon in a long time.

For whether it works out well or badly, it is an attempt to restore to the world part of a long-lost freedom. It is a step toward a saner and more equitable form of world society, and the mere fact that such a step can be taken at all is immensely encouraging.

THERE are in the world today two diametrically opposed philosophies of life. One finds its expression in dictatorship, the other in democracy. The differences between them are not mere differences in governmental forms; they are fundamental, and affect every aspect of life and social organization.

Under the one philosophy, war and the international rivalries that go with war are taken as a matter of course. Every activity of life is conditioned by that assumption, international trade most of all. The old ideal of a free exchange of goods between nations is discarded; instead, each nation strives to be "self-contained"—as if any nation, in this day and age, could possibly attain such a state!—and the theory is that one people can profit only at the expense of some other people.

The opposing philosophy is based on the belief that there is enough for everyone in this world if only some proper means of distribution can be found. Peace rather than war is looked on as the normal state; consequently, it is held that a nation prospers best by cultivating the greatest possible interchange of its goods with the goods of other peoples.

The first philosophy means regimentation, restriction, a steady narrowing of the orbit in which individual enterprise can operate; the second means the exact reverse of those things.

WHICH is why the Anglo-American trade agreement is so important.

For by this agreement the two greatest industrial nations in the world reaffirm their belief in the philosophy which works for freedom and abundance. They do more than reaffirm it; they offer a practical, working demonstration that that philosophy pays greater material dividends than any other.

Viewed in that light, the question whether the agreement is the best that could be obtained is relatively unimportant. It may need a good deal of revision; some of its clauses may work rather badly; it may take months or years to get it into final shape.
But the big thing is that the step has been taken.

A new tide in world affairs has been set in motion, flowing away from regimentation and toward freedom. And it may yet develop that the most important news of 1938 was the news of the signing of this trade agreement.

The course former President Beneš of Czechoslovakia will teach at the University of Chicago should have something to do with Undiplomatic History.

Of course the minute hand is useful for cooking eggs, or for taking medicine, or for marking time in the procession of recitations in a country school. Maybe the radio has brought usefulness to the minute hand of our watches; even the second hand if we wish to check the accuracy of the radio announcer. But most of the time could not most of us get along pretty well with just an hour hand on our timepieces? And if the whole thing gets broken or lost could we not soon recover the art of timing our meals pretty accurately by the feeling, our roosting time by the chickens, and our rising time by the sun? Maybe I seem to be arguing against the advantages of civilization, and to be advocating a return to private livwhat one might do if he had to, but hoping it wouldn't come to a point where he had to.

Bandit Car to Be on Exhibition Here

The "Death Car" in which Clyde Barrow, once public enemy No. 1, and his sweetheart, Bonnie Parker, met their death, which ended the ghastly, bloody career of two of the United States' most notorious members of the gangster world, will be on display at the A. G. Motor Co. showroom next Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The "Death Car" is now on a nation-wide tour, working in conjunction with the president in a nation-wide drive to prevent crime.

With this exhibition, a lecture will be given by C. Wiley Stanley, nationally known criminologist and long connected with the Association of Crime Union of America. Mr. Stanley gives a brief talk at the car, explaining what happened at the time the bandits were snuffed out by the officers, detailing something of their carriers and answering questions that he gives the audience the privilege of asking.

This exhibition shows the re-

Thanksgiving here again...
The day when everyone who thinks he has had a bad time during the year, should look about the world, through the newspapers, over the people of his own community, and see what has been happening to others... and then there is no doubt but what one will feel truly thankful for the manifold blessings that have come heaping upon himself and his family.

If one considers the Jewish people in Germany and their sad lot ... husband, father, brother... hiding lest the relentless storm troops of the terrible Hitler find them and drag them off to imprisonment... or to death... confiscation of business... property and what can be found... then one can see that, we in Cisco, are indeed blessed.

Or if one considers the fate of the Chinese who have been driven from all the homes, shelter and loved ones they have ever known ... into an unknown region without a trace of food or future existence... or the fact that they have seen all they have, blown into bits by the bombing of Jan air raids... then one is glad that one lives in our own Cisco, Texas, where no immediate danger threatens, and where we may have the fruits of what labor we do.

We see the great piles of most fragrant food stacked in our friendly grocery stores to be out-stayed this Thanksgiving day by our people, by even those whom we regard as very poor... and we know that most people will have a big turkey with all the trimmings ... surrounded by family and friends... The country is full of turkeys and the price is very moderate... Pumpkin pies, sweet potatoes, green beans, peas, and spuds... celery and salads to be eaten with the turkey and cranberry sauce... And then we see the stores being comfortably filled with shoppers... Yes, our own Cisco and the United States, has much for which to be thankful... and we join all our friends in giving thanks to our Creator for His most bountiful and choice blessings for life, for health and energy to work, and a measure of happiness with our friends.

Our smiling friend... always reading good humor and happi-

OF CHARACTERS
ALCOFF—a admiral's She faced a choice bego navy suitors.
IT CAMPBELL—ambitionnant. He faced a choice his wife and duty.
HANLEY—flying sailor, a test of a patient love.
HASTINGS—navy faced the test of being sailor.

At Marvel's wedding she saw the good-looking man who had attended at the restaurant that day.
Judy moans, "I can't I can't!" Jack quiets her.

be a fool!" Jack whispered. His hands closed her arm, in a vice-like mother's head was up, forward. Pretending had happened.

She touched Judy's arm.
"Come on, let's get it over with," and Diane and Judy, pushed forward among the laughing guests.
The four of them—Bill and Jack Judy almost upset a cup of coffee someone carelessly held in an outstretched hand. "Sorry," she mumbled. She glanced up. It was that man again!

The bride's uncle, a stout, pudgy man in a morning coat, was talking to Admiral Alcott. Dwight was standing beside his bride. Only to love and to ing, pressing around her, thought desperately, "She has me." And yet she'd have to convey her best wishes.

She'd have to look at Dwight and say, "I hope you'll be very happy."

Diane and Bill found them, and of the day Bill and I sneaked around the corner and got married!" She laughed. "He took off on a flight about two hours later, didn't you, darling?"

It was not that they hadn't seen weddings before—as beautifully managed as this one. It was simply that everything here shrieked of Marvel's millions. There was no hominess about this wedding—no dear, heartfelt tears, nothing that, except for the wedding bell on the cake, would have distinguished this quaint lunch from a thousand other fashionable lunches.

Bill said reflectively, "When he said, 'With this ring I thee endow,' I was reminded of the old one about the seaman first who married a millionaire's daughter.

Right at that part one of the sailors who'd come to the wedding yelled "There goes that guy's sentinel!"

Diane touched Judy's arm.

"That's unkind!" Judy snapped.
"Anyhow," Diane concluded,
"He wouldn't. He's got sense enough to know how it would look. I can see right now what a happy married life they'll have,
with her wanting to splurge and him trying not to be a naval sigolo."

"We sound like a group of old maids—gossipy old maids!" said Jack, definitely ending the conversation. But in her heart, she was thinking, "It's true. It's true.
He'll never be happy with her."

"Boy!" said Bill. The uncle rucked with laughter. Even Judy's father grinned.

Two middle-aged women in dark lace, who had sat on the bride's side of the church, came up then.
"Marvel, honey, it was too perfect! Oh, darling, I hope you'll be so happy." "Honey, you're the bride of the century. May you always have the best of everything."

"Thanks, Mrs. Kingsley. Thank you, Mrs. Drake," said Marvel.
"This is our chance," Diane whispered to Judy, and they withdrew from the group of people around the bride.

"Are they going away on a honeymoon?" Bill asked. "That boy looked nervous."

"They're going somewhere no doubt," said Diane. "But Mrs.
Lane told me Marvel wanted to go to Honolulu and Dwight couldn't get the leave. Not that it wasn't coming to him, but he told Captain Lane he didn't have the money and would rather have the leave later."

"She got the money," said Bill matter-of-factly.
"Darling, would you have liked me to take you to Honolulu for our honeymoon?" Diane banted.

"We did all right," her young husband grinned.

"I shouldn't have thought Campbell'd be proud that way," Jack said.

"That's unkind!" Judy snapped.

bride of the century. May you always have the best of everything."

"Thanks, Mrs. Kingsley. Thank you, Mrs. Drake," said Marvel.
"This is our chance," Diane whispered to Judy, and they withdrew from the group of people around the bride.

"Are they going away on a honeymoon?" Bill asked. "That
boy looked nervous."

"They're going somewhere no
doubt," said Diane. "But Mrs.
Lane told me Marvel wanted to go to Honolulu and Dwight couldn't get the leave. Not that it wasn't coming to him, but he told Captain Lane he didn't have the money and would rather have the
leave later."

"She got the money," said Bill
matter-of-factly.
"Darling, would you have liked

me to take you to Honolulu for
our honeymoon?" Diane banted.
"We did all right," her young
husband grinned.

"I shouldn't have thought Campbell'd be proud that way,"
Jack said.

"That's unkind!" Judy snapped.
"Anyhow," Diane concluded,
"He wouldn't. He's got sense enough to know how it would look. I can see right now what
a happy married life they'll have,
with her wanting to splurge and
him trying not to be a naval
sigolo."

"We sound like a group of old maids—gossipy old maids!" said Jack, definitely ending the conversation. But in her heart, she was thinking, "It's true. It's true.
He'll never be happy with her."

"Boy!" said Bill. The uncle
rucked with laughter. Even Judy's father grinned.

Two middle-aged women in dark
lace, who had sat on the bride's
side of the church, came up then.
"Marvel, honey, it was too perfect! Oh, darling, I hope you'll be so happy." "Honey, you're the bride of the century. May you always have the best of everything."

you, Mrs. Drake," said Marvel.

NIMROD

SURPRISE CELEBRATION
Sunday, Nov. 20, the children, grand children and two great grandchildren of Mr. W. N. Compton, gathered at his home for a surprise birthday dinner on his 70th birthday. All the arrangements were made and some of the children had arrived before Mr.
Compton realized what was happening. This was the first time in several years that all the children had been at home at the same time.

At noon a bountiful feast was enjoyed with turkey and all the accessories, and other Thanksgiving delicacies and substantial viands. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Spencer and children L. C., Oma Lee, Don and Rayford, of Las Angeles; Talton Spencer, of Arlington; Miss Lou Spencer, of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Connor and children, Darlene and Virginia Raye, of Abilene; Dewey Compton and daughter, Helen, of Lorraine; Mrs.
Leslie Dubber, and husband, of Colorado, Texas; Mr. and Mrs.
Sam Hendrick and sons, Samuel, Jr., and Billie Frank, of Putnam; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McBeth and daughter, Mona Jo, of Abilene; Leman DeLoach, of Donna; Mrs.
Jim Free of Sycamore; Mrs. Allen Jesse and children, J. D., Opal Jeanne, Patsy Jo, and Cecil, of Sycamore; Paul Phulley and Miss

Marie Simpson, of Nimrod; and the honoree, Mr. Compton and Mrs. Compton.

Mr. Compton's children are Mrs. Spencer, Dewey Compton, Mrs. Alfred Holt, Mrs. Sam Hed-rick and Mrs. Cecil McBeth.

Miss Lenora Hopper, of Abilene, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Cliff Hopper, last week-end.

W. L. McCorkle is quite sick at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hall and children, Jay, Warren, Billie Jean and Mrs. Josie Barron, and husband, of Cisco, were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Maggie Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cozart.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Mann and children visited his sister at Leu-ders last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harrelson and children were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs.
Cecil Prickett.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Owen, Misses Frances Brawley, Orine and Beatrice Munn and Shortie Munn were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Owen and son, Cecil, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harwell and children, of Romey, visited here Sunday.

The W. M. U. met Monday afternoon at the church. Mrs.
George Brown, Bible teacher, taught the lesson from Matt., chapters 3 and 4. The ladies had baked about 40 dozen cookies and quilted a quilt to send to the Buckner Orphans Home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. McBeth visited their son, Claud McBeth, and wife at Cisco, Monday.

Mrs. Sallie Cozart has been ill for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stamford, Jr., visited Mr. and Mrs. Truman Prickett Sunday afternoon.

BAIRD, Nov. 23 (Special to the Cisco Daily Press)—The 42nd district grand jury, called into special session today, returned an indictment this afternoon at 2:30 charging Floyd Pretz, 26, with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his mother, Mrs. E. C. Pretz, 42, last week.

Baird officers said young Pretz probably would be arraigned Fri-

New Vaccine Cuts
Colds in Half

OVFORD, O., Nov. 23 (P)—A new cold vaccine was reported by associate director C. I. Stafford to have decreased colds nearly 50 per cent among Miami, Ohio, university students.

Dr. Stafford said that 649 students receiving the vaccine suffered only 22.5 days of illness and experienced 2.53 colds during the season. In previous years each student suffered an average of 5.17 colds, responsible for 58.3 days of illness. Many of those treated went through the entire school year without a cold.

THANKSGIVING
BE THANKFUL
The manifest course of world events is eventually and always controlled by moderate men—stolid, humdrum, every-day men whose single claim on the world is their own moderation. For every tyrant or clown, reformer or criminal — there are millions of those whose single-minded purpose makes possible all that is good in progress, morality and ultimate happiness.
At this time we can be thankful that the general order of things is pervaded by such a sane and influential stabilizer. We can be thankful for the foundation of such a temper-

The Humble Company is proud of the salesman who man its service stations. They are carefully selected and specially trained. They know what your car needs to keep it running right and looking good. They are courteous, friendly, genuinely anxious to be helpful.
The Texas motorist appreciates this Humble Station salesman! A heavy percentage of the service check cards received by the Company back up that statement; here are typical comments:
Your manager unusually courteous... Friendly—homelike... Thank him for me please... Pleasant employees... Courtesy is appreciated... Your friends will always back you up for your friendliness and prompt, efficient service... Friendliness... and courteous service... Very courteous, kind, efficient. Offers helpful suggestions... We were pleasantly greeted... This is one of the friendliest stations we have found... I always like to stop at Humble stations because they are so friendly. You too, will enjoy meeting and doing business with Humble Station salesmen. Next time—stop for service where you see the Humble sign!
Do you know—that the Texas oil industry furnishes the State a large and increasing percentage of its tax revenues? Some of the principal taxes paid in 1937 were: gross production tax, $16,365,736; regulatory tax, $948,012; gross receipts tax, $636,840; franchise tax, $141,520; other state taxes, $266,541; ad valorem tax, $22,800,000.
*Does not include $47,850,000 of state and $12,000,000 of federal gasoline taxes paid by Texas motorists.

Nearly 1/2 of telephone expenses in Texas goes for wages...
Out of more than 23 1/2 million dollars spent by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company to provide telephone service in Texas last year, about 10 million dollars... nearly half... went for wages. Wages to 9,000 telephone people, who in turn spent most of that money in Texas.
Telephone wages play no small part in keeping the state's business moving. And by assuring telephone users of the services of skilled, efficient people, they play a large part in giving you good telephone service at reasonable cost. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Former Cisco Pastor to Head McMurry College

The Rev. Frank L. Turner was the second former Cisco pastor to be elected a president of a Methodist institution of higher learning this year. Rev. Turner, pastor of the Cisco First church two years in 1934 and 1935, was elected president of McMurry college, Abilene, at the meeting of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church which closed Sunday night. He will succeed Dr. Tom Brubham who resigned to return to the pastorate. The Rev. Mr. Turner went from Cisco to a Fort Worth church. Dr. Umphrey Lee, who served the Cisco church for a short while about 20 years ago and who later was head of the school of theology at Vanderbilt university, has been elected president of

How to Go Broke Raising Chickens

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 23 (AP)—The University of Kentucky college of agriculture has compiled a list of ten ways to go broke in the poultry business. The list, gotten together from reports received at the college, follows:

"Start chicks too late; start with poor quality chicks; brood in filthy, poorly ventilated quarters; quit feeding mash after first few weeks; raise pullets on disease and parasite infested ground; allow pullets to become infested with worms; house birds in uncomfortable quarters; fail to control lice and mites; feed a ration of white corn and ice water in winter; fail to cull more than once a year."

A parachute jumper who was killed at Augusta, Ga., had sent a telegram to his father that morning saying, "I'm going to give up barnstorming after the show today."

The first being on Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church where about fifty guests gathered to honor Miss Agatha Genoway whose approaching marriage was announced. Hostess for the occasion was Mrs. Travis Hilliard who was assisted by several friends. Many gifts were received from others who were prevented from being present. Several forms of entertainment were enjoyed before the numerous gifts were presented to the honoree. The hostess served delicious sandwiches, cookies and coffee. The honoree is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Genoway and is to be married on the fiftieth anniversary of her parents' wedding. The groom to be is Morris Nance, youngest son of Rev. H. H. Nance who was pastor of the Desdemona Methodist church a few years ago. Their many friends are extending best wishes to the happy couple.

The second shower was on Thursday afternoon at the Baptist church given for Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Williams and children who lost their furniture and almost all their clothing in the fire which destroyed their home Wednesday afternoon. At his shower there were gifts of sheets, blankets, quilts, clothing, two bedsteads, six feather pillows, some gifts of money and many other things. The Williams family are very popular and it seemed that everyone was glad to take part in the shower.

The third shower was at the home of Mrs. Jesse Sparkman on Friday where a large number of friends gathered to present to Mrs. Hardy Tidwell a shower of miscellaneous gifts. The hostess served lovely refreshments. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

WEDNESDAY

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 a fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home of Howard Williams and family, a house from which he was preparing to move to his new home. They had moved a few things to their new home that day had been packing ready to be moved the next day. Mrs. Williams was in the yard when she suddenly saw the whole roof was ablaze and the only thing they got out of the house was one rocking chair and a suit of clothes that was hanging on the back of it. Their many friends deeply sympathize with them over their loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roberts of Mewoka, Oklahoma, visited Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Skipping and other friends Thursday until Saturday. They lived here several years before moving to Oklahoma.

Let Us Be Thankful for the Privilege of Living Electrically

Thanksgiving

1620 They cooked a turkey before a blazing hearth fire.

1938 We depend on an automatic electric range to cook the turkey.

They baked in a dutch oven. We use controlled electric heat.

They dipped candles, had flickering light. We flip a switch, get a flood of good light.

They spun, wove and sewed cloth by hand. We use electric looms, electric sewing machines.

They spent weary hours cleaning house. We use electric vacuum cleaners, save time.

They chopped ice in rivers and lakes. We have electric refrigeration.

They didn't have it so easy. We have it a thousand times easier.

They would have been thankful for all the electric servants we now have. We are thankful to live in an age when Electric Service is plentiful—and costs so little.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel gummy phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

PILGRIMS of 1938

The still chill of a November morning, 317 years ago, gave no indication of man's feelings. Silent men, with flintlocks shouldered, and pale women, their cowls drawn close, slipped silently through early winter's snow.

Perhaps we of the streamlined twentieth century come by our comforts too easily; perhaps we fail, at times, to evaluate our ease of self-provision. But the "pilgrims" of 1938 are likened to those of 1621—all consummately appreciative of past blessings—all surprisingly confident of their hopes in the future.

STAMP NEWS

A TOTAL of 44 stamps have been issued by foreign governments and the United States in the last year to mark the 150th anniversary of the U. S. Constitution. Here is the list:

Brazil, 1; Dominican Republic 3; Ecuador, 7 airmails and 7 regular postage; France, 1; Guatemala, 1 overprint and a pane of four values, one of which pictures President Roosevelt; Haiti, 1; Honduras, 1; Nicaragua, 12; Poland, 1; Salvador, 2; Spain, 1 issued in sheets, miniature pane and overprinted for airmail service; United States, 2.

Taking the stand that philately had no right to tell governments what stamps to print or what not to print, the American Philatelic Society has rejected the Swedish-proposed resolution condemning "speculative and unnecessary issues."

The Swedish Philatelic Society had vigorously denounced the deluge of stamps issued by many governments, including miniature sheets and charity issues, and had asked the support of stamp groups in all countries to back its efforts to clear the markets of these values.

This constant production of stamps which serve no useful postal purpose has become a menace to the future of philately particularly in view of their fraudulent appeal to the tastes of juvenile collectors in whose hands rests the future of the hobby," the resolution declared.

Commemorating the 20th anniversary of the Armistice, the French government has issued a special stamp. It illustrates the Arch of Triumph, Paris, and marching troops carrying the flag of the entente powers. The Stars and Stripes are in the forefront together with the French Tricolor and the British Union Jack.

We join other Ciscoans in thankfulness for the great blessings we are enjoying during the year 1938. We are thankful that we have been able to serve our customers in a way that has been mutually satisfactory.

It is indeed a far cry from the old muzzle loading gun with which the early Pilgrims brought down their turkeys and other game which enabled them to exist during the early struggles of pioneer settlers...

And often their ammunition became damp or failed to fire... and their game was gone... likewise their dinner.

But the hunter today can be sure of his ducks or other game because he may buy from us, shells that never fail... Remington Nitro Express... Peter's High Velocity... the kind that always bring down the game.
