CISCO COUNTRY FACES BRIGHTEST OUTLOOK

To Be Heard in Concert Here Friday

The Cowgirl band of Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene, which will appear in concert at the high school auditorium here to-morrow evening at 7:30.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Cisco needs a gymnasium. It needs a gymnasium badly. It ought to have a gymnasium capable of seating 500 or more people and capable of being utilized as an auditorium for conventions and so forth. It needs such an institution particularly for the service of the small communities about Cisco and the enlarged school program which has come about through the grouping of community school districts in alliance with the Cisco schools. A long while now we have gotten along with a 12-in.-wall gymnasium which served very well back the days when there was only one or two basketball teams to use it. But the facilities of that gymnasium were much too inadequate now for the space it occupies. It should be devoted to the physical education classes.

A larger and modern structure apart from the usual school buildings is very needed. Hardly any building without basketball courts from community centers near Cisco playing as a neutral site. Adequate accommodations would mean that these courts would come here in larger numbers and more frequently, and as a builder of goodwill and neighborliness nothing could be better.

We have found means for trying out WPA projects for other improvements. We do so for a gymnasium. If one is built, let's see it a good one. The success of the initial trial of the Cisco Livestock exchange last Monday has done one important thing. It has waked up a number of our people to the fact that the farmer and the stockman will come to Cisco properly induced. The exchange should inspire a widening of market and a service to the farmer that not only those immediate to the community come, but that those farther distances will find it profitable to come to Cisco to trade.

The test of a town's merchandising program is not at all. It is out yonder where the town's influence exerts the influence of attraction.

Republicans to Dine at $25 Per Plate

Cowgirl Band to Present Program Here on Friday

The Cowgirl band of Hardin-Simmons university, in Abilene, will appear in concert at the Cisco high school auditorium, at 7:30 o'clock, Friday night. A small admission fee will be charged.

The 40-piece band, under the direction of Herbert M. Preston, will present a program of overtures, marches, Italian airs, and soloist novelties and specialties. Two Cisco girls, Bobbie McWhorter and Norma Ghormley, are members of the band. Both are clarinetists.

Featured entertainers will be Marjorie Moore, trombonist; Jane Meskimen, pianist; Virginia Carley, coloratura soprano; Ann Rader, xylophonist; Marijohn Melson, accordionist; Jean Vandervoort, roper, and Edwina Walker, whistler.

The band's program: Eagle Band March (John Victor), and Overture "Lustspiel" (Bela Bela), Cowgirl band. "I Love Life" (Manza-Zucca), Marjorie Moore, trombonist; Jane Meskimen at the piano. "Czarda" (MacDowell), Jane Meskimen, pianist, pupil of E. Edwina Young.

"Villanelle" (Dell Acqua), Virginia Corley, coloratura soprano, pupil of Lola Gibson Deaton. "Song of Love" from "Blossom-time" (Romberg), Cowgirl band. Intermission. "Neopolitan Airs" (Victor Concert Folio), Cowgirl band. "Dark Eyes" (arranged by Coburn), Lucialis Morrison, Alline McGaughey, Betty McIntosh; Jane Meskimen, piano.

HALF BILLION REQUESTED AS DEFENSE FUND

Would Boost Army Budget to Over Billion and Half

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for an immediate appropriation of $525,000,000 as the "minimum of requirements" for bulwarking the nation's defense against the "possibilities of present offense against the United States."

In a special message the president requested that the amount be appropriated at once to be divided between the army and the navy. The fund would include $300,000,000 for a minimum increase of 3,000 in army plane strength. The total request would boost the defense budget to $1,661,558,000, the largest of any peace-time outlay.

Art Exhibit to Be Feature for Inauguration

AUSTIN, Jan. 12 (Sp)—Observance here of inaugural ceremonies for Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel, January 17, will be highlighted by the first major art exhibit sponsored by the newly-established college of fine arts at the University of Texas, it was revealed today.

With plans underway to hold the gubernatorial inauguration in the university's memorial stadium, the art exhibit will be part of the activities featured by the university in conjunction with the occasion. The paintings will be displayed in the "gold" room of the 30-story Main building, January 12-27.

First exhibit of its kind ever to be shown on the University campus, the paintings to be shown are by American contemporary artists and have been shown in art galleries and museums throughout the United States.

Ward Lockwood, chairman of the department of art at the university remarked that this was a step toward developing the university as an art center and is the beginning of a series of exhibitions of contemporary American art to be held at the university during the school year. He said that appropriations given the College of Fine Arts at the time of its establishments have made art exhibits possible.

Cisco Livestock Exchange Officers and Scenes

The pictures above were snapped at the Cisco Livestock exchange last Monday after completion of the first auction sale which attracted a capacity crowd and resulted in a lively sale. Auctions will be held each Monday afternoon. Upper photo shows in front, John Jones, Auctioneer Martin C. Tiemeier and John Trigg. Jones and Trigg are organizers. Below is a view of the pens after most of the crowd and stock had left. The exchange is located at 18th street and D avenue.—(Osborn Photos; Daily Press Engraving.)

PROSPECT FOR CROPS FINEST IN LONG TIME

Record Rains in January Cited as Assuring Prosperity

Cisco country farmers today faced the finest moisture conditions for starting their crops this winter and spring that they have had in many years. Records at the city hall showed that during the first 12 days of January 2.5 inches of rain had fallen, which, added to the two inches which fell late in December, brought the total precipitation within the last 30 days to four and a half inches, an amount sufficient to guarantee ideal season for spring.

Although little could be said for wheat conditions—it being too late to plant this crop—the outlook for oats and barley was bright. These crops can be planted for several weeks yet, and thousands of acres are due to be sowed as soon as the weather permits.

Farmers with soaked fields and ranchers with thousands of acres of grass land and great tanks—many of them only recently built—brimming with water, were happy over the promise of a prosperity for which they have long waited. Grass conditions are due to be the best in years when spring opens, while winter grass and weeds are already making the fields green.

Cattle, sheep and goat raisers were sitting pretty, facing a year of ample feed crops and markets that promise to bring even higher prices than last year. Cattle prices were soaring. Mohair is expected to bring as much as 40 cents with kid hair selling at 60, while many sheep raisers predict a price of 25 or 30 cents for wool.

Old-timers assert that a rainy January means a good crop year, and records at the city hall disclose no January of the past which registered greater precipitation than has already fallen this month.

Chaperau Pleads Guilty to Smuggling

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Albert N. Chaperau, who escaped customs inspection of jewels and Parisian finery on a false claim of diplomatic immunity, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a smuggling indictment charging conspiracy with radio comedian Jack Benny.

His attorney followed the surprise move by saying Chaperau, who had a wide acquaintance in Hollywood and on Broadway, would "help the government" by telling of smuggling activities. Assistant U. S. Attorney Joseph L. Delaney said Chaperau had not yet done so.

The indictment against Chaperau and Benny, returned by a federal grand jury Tuesday, alleged they smuggled, concealed and transported $2,131 worth of jewelry.

Factors for Better 1939 Listed by Rotary Speaker

Work at the Job and You Have Faith in it, Says Minister

Factors which will assure a better year in 1939 were discussed by the Rev. Clark W. Lambert, pastor of the First Christian church, who was the guest speaker for the Rotary club at its noon luncheon, presented by Ernest Hittson who was program chairman for the day.

The minister, speaking with especial regard to the economic situation, told the club that some of the essentials to insuring a brighter outlook for the year are an intelligent backward look, a disposition to face things as they are and not to be discouraged with them, a definite purpose, a faith in the work that is being done, a determination to have a definite part in the accomplishment of the program, a faith in fellowman and a faith in God.

Boulder Dam Laws Being Shaped

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11 (AP)—New Boulder dam power legislation began to take shape Wednesday.

Attorneys and power experts participating in drafting of a bill said they expected to have the job done by next week in time for final ratification by representatives of the seven Colorado river basin states.

Weather
West Texas—Friday fair, warmer in southeast portion.
East Texas—Friday partly cloudy and slightly warmer. Fresh northerly winds on the coast.

DESDEMONA

Mr. and Mrs. George Crenshaw and their daughter, Miss Boyd Crenshaw, drove over to Stephenville Saturday to visit relatives. They went by the farm which they recently sold and from which they had moved on Thursday but had not gotten the rural carrier to change their mail to Desdemona. Their many friends are glad to welcome them to our town.

Mr. and Mrs. Don King and baby, whose home, three miles northwest of town, had burned on Tuesday morning, moved into town Thursday. They had been living on his father's farm which is near the Ezzell store on the Eastland road. Mr. King graduated at the Desdemona high school in 1927 and then went to the University of Texas at Austin.

Dr. P. M. Kuykendall was here on professional business Saturday. His many friends were interested in hearing him tell of hunting foxes Friday night on the island in Lake Brownwood. Ranger hunters directed by a state game warden are to rid the island of foxes.

The Methodist Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon for the first business meeting of the new year. Opening song was "Sweet Hour of Prayer," which was followed by the scripture lesson, read by Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass. The Bulletin of Missionary News was then presented. Mrs. Charles Lee read the letter of greeting from Mrs. Gid J. Bryan, who is president of the Central Texas Conference Missionary society. Mrs. G. S. Bruce read a letter of thanks from Mrs. W. L. Perry of Waco (known as Little Sister), who has served as conference treasurer for 27 years and was presented with an honorary life membership recently. The 225 auxiliaries that make up the conference society, gave free will offerings to make up the required amount, $100, for the membership. Among interesting items of foreign news was one stating that the American Foreign Insurance association had paid $28,460.14 for entire losses on Women's Medical college and Margaret Williamson hospital both in Shanghai. The manager of the company said the missionary council of Southern Methodist church was the only organization carrying war insurance in China. The translation of the Bible into the Otelela language for use in Congo Belge missions was also an interesting news item.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henry and daughter, Elizabeth Ann, visited relatives in Ranger Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McGuire returned Sunday night from Midland, where they had been to take their daughter, Miss Idell McGuire. They reported that the rains in that section of the country had been so heavy that the water sometimes reached the running board of the car.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Henslee and their baby daughter, Sandra, attended the picture show at De Leon Friday night.

Mrs. Hugh Abel and Mrs. Walter May drove over to Gorman Monday afternoon to take Mrs. Davis, mother of Mrs. Abel, who left by bus for Valley Mills, having been called there on account of the serious illness of her father.

Mrs. J. R. Buchan and daughter, Miss Lillie Buchan, drove up to Ranger on business Friday morning.

Mrs. R. J. Krapf drove up to Ranger Monday on business.

Mrs. Bill Parks returned Friday afternoon after having spent the week with her mother near Eastland.

Rev. Sherrod Stover and wife and little son of Tecumseh, Okla., came Monday morning for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover.

Misses Jossie Mae Wrinkle, Anita Crawley and Novice Lindley were among the number who saw the picture, "Angels With Dirty Faces," at Gorman.

Misses Ruth and Boyd Crenshaw attended the show at Gorman Friday night.

Clifford Moore, who farms just west of town, had the misfortune of losing two fine horses, one dying Friday night and the other Saturday night. A veterinary council of Southern Methodist

Mrs. C. A. Skipping was hostess Thursday to a very delightful party given in honor of Mrs. Murray Kay, a recent bride. After games were played many beautiful and useful gifts were presented to the honoree. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served to the large crowd that attended the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Henslee and baby, Sandra, left Saturday for their home in Fort Worth but before they left, Sandra, who is 11 months old, created quite a bit of excitement at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis. She crawled under the bed and then stood up, getting ready to walk, but instead her head got caught in the coils of the springs and required the efforts of all the family to extricate her. She won't cry the worse after the accident.

There is something to be said on Japan's side of the argument. The U. S. sells Japan all the old cars and junk in the country and then lends China money to buy new ones.

Increased Cotton Benefits Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (P)—A powerful farm group, the cotton growers, asked congress Monday to increase farm benefit payments to $1,500,000,000.

Grower representatives, who have been holding conferences with agricultural adjustment administration officials, estimated a billion dollars would be needed—in addition to the $500,000,000 already earmarked for benefit payments—to guarantee farmers a "parity income" from their crops.

"Parity income" payments to cotton growers alone would require between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 additional, they said.

(A "parity price" for farm products is that which agriculture department economists estimate would give the farmers a fair share of the national income, based on the prices of products they purchase.)

The demands were set forth in resolutions made public after the farmer representatives had conferred with congressional farm leaders.

The resolutions also proposed

December New Car Sales Increase

AUSTIN, Jan. 12 (Sp.)—More Texans are riding in new automobiles than at this time last year, it is apparent from compilations of the bureau of business research at the University of Texas. Sales of new passenger cars during December were virtually the same as during the preceding month but 9.1 per cent greater than during December, 1937, the bureau announced today. Report to the bureau from 16 representative Texas counties indicate total sales during December one-tenth of 1 per cent below those of November. Aggregate sales for 1938 were 29.1 per cent below those of 1937. Sales in the lower-medium price group were substantially above those of both comparable periods; while those of the upper-medium group gained moderately. Registrations in the lowest price group were moderately below those of the preceding month but slightly above those of the corresponding month the year before; while those in the highest price group were sharply above those in December last year but moderately below sales in November.

SERIAL STORY NO TIME TO MARRY BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

CAST OF CHARACTERS JANET DWIGHT, heroine. She was engaged to handsome young architect. LANCE BARTSTOW, hero. Lance had great dreams for the future. So did CYNTHIA CANTELL, orphaned granddaughter of great-aunt Mary Cantrell. Still another dreamer was BARNEY MCKNIGHT, newspaperman. But Barney was more than a dreamer.

Yesterday, Lance breaks the bad news to Janet but she remembers something she knows Lance doesn't even guess. Later, she is to recall this with bitter amusement.

CHAPTER IV Janet watched three dead leaves flutter down to the ground at her feet before she spoke again.

"Well," she said at last, almost gayly from her secret knowledge that all this didn't really matter, "at least we can still eat."

"Eet? But, Jan, you don't understand. I had budgeted everything on the basis of the salary I have been getting—the payments on the house running expenses, insurance, service, entertainment—"

"Well, surely we might manage for a while without entertainment—and you can skip the item for service... Or do you imagine I'm too dumb to learn to cook? Why, Lance, it would be play in that lamb of a kitchen!"

"Let my wife scrub and stand over a hot stove? I couldn't bear that, Jan—your lovely hands!" His lips on her finger tips were angry.

"Besides, what would people think?" "I didn't know you intended me for a museum piece," Janet said, and was sorry when she saw the misery in his eyes.

"If it only weren't for the payments on the house, we could live as well, suitably—on what I'll still be earning... If only the house were paid for, Jan!"

"I'll tell him now, Janet thought. She must word it carefully in order not to wound that hot pride of his.

The excitement of anticipating his surprise made her words tumble a little.

"Lance," she began, "there's something I've never told you. If you'll let me, I can help."

"I—I don't understand," he said after the briefest of intervals. He did not turn toward her. Indeed, he did not move at all. Yet in his very stillness she sensed something that puzzled her. It was—why, it was almost like anticipation—as if already he knew what she was about to say, and still wanted very much to hear it.

But that was nonsense, of course. "I have some money, Lance," she went on. "It isn't a lot, but the income must be enough to make the payments on the house until—until times are better. If you'll let me, I'd love to."

When he did not answer at once, she hurried on. "After all, it is our house, isn't it?"

She hardly knew just when understanding came to her, or why. Perhaps it was because of the very aptness of his objections, because he said so perfectly all the right things, as if—almost as if he had written the scene and had rehearsed himself for it. When he finally allowed himself to be persuaded, Janet found her victory strangely hollow...

Yet he couldn't possibly have known that she had the money... Not that it mattered, of course. It could never really have made any difference between them.

Lance did not take her home, Janet sent him off contented and happy, to attend to the last-minute details of the bachelor dinner he was giving that night. Lance had planned the dinner for the week before the ceremony because, he said, "I'm not going to have any hang-overs chasing pink elephants down the aisle in the middle of my wedding."

A drizzling rain overtook Janet on her way up the trail, and driven by a chilling wind, increased to a downpour before she reached the avenue.

She stood shivering on the curb, looking about for a taxi, when a black coupe whizzed by, stopped so suddenly that the wheels slid on the wet asphalt, and backed toward her.

"I warned you this wasn't good flying weather," Barney McKnight called out as he opened the door. "Better climb in before your wings begin to take ice."

"It isn't my wings," Janet laughed, displaying feet drenched to the ankles. "It's my landing gear."

She climbed gratefully into the warmth of the car.

"Swell brogues to be wearing in the wood," Barney said, casting a withering glance at her frail brown suede pumps. "Are those the only shoes you have? If you were a ten-back-a-week shop girl, there'd be some excuse for you. But a gilt-edge-bond heiress like you ought to be able to afford a pair of decent walking shoes."

"A gilt-edged—what?" "You heard me."

"You've been grossly misled, my lad. Anyhow, it isn't in bonds—it's mostly in A and S stock."

Barney checked his speed suddenly.

"What's the excitement?" Janet asked. "Oh, nothing," he said after a brief pause. "Skip it!" He drove briskly on. "Listen, Barney," Janet began as he skirted the park and turned into Elm street. "Does every one know that I—well, that I don't have to ask Aunt Mary for five cents every time I want to buy peanuts for the squirrels?" "Every one? Oh, I shouldn't say that. But as a rising young journalist, it's part of my job to keep abreast of the times. I know, for instance, why the Vasco gang had to liquidate Patsy Skidmore; what pressure was brought to bear to make the republicans scratch John Smizart the night before election; who's giving Washington the real dope about the latest international tangle—and incidentally what stocks are on the skids in Wall street today."

Human and... (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3) He drew up before the door of the Breckenridge. "Now run in and soak your feet in hot mustard water like a good girl... By the way—he hesitated as he opened the door for her—"you did say it was A and S stock you have, didn't you?" "Yes... Why?" "Oh, just thinking of taking a little whirl on a sure thing myself," he replied airily. But at something in his face she turned away vaguely puzzled. New Approach to Farm Problem Undertaken

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 11 (Sp.)—A new approach to the problems of agriculture, one in which farm families themselves take the major responsibility in formulating policies, was launched here when representatives of 13 state and federal agencies concerned with administering programs that affect farm people gathered for a discussion of the plan for the "new" United States Department of agriculture.

Agricultural workers have high hopes for the success of the idea because, they point out, policies will originate in the field, be coordinated into state plans, and will eventually be presented to Washington. In the past the procedure had a tendency to flow in the opposite direction.

basis of soil, rainfall and climate. Naturally these conditions vitally affect the agriculture of each area. It is no accident that one section of the state specializes in beef cattle production, another in mohair, another in mutton and wool, and still another a combination of all these, or that small farms are the rule in east Texas while large farms predominate in the south plains.

"The purpose of land use planning is to set up a systematic inventory of agricultural resources in each county and to have the farm people themselves develop a plan for the proper utilization of these resources. Upon the recommendations of the county committees will be erected the future programs of the various agencies concerned with agriculture."

Flatwood Club to Build Building

EASTLAND, Jan. 11 (Sp.)—Members of the Flatwood Community Agricultural association decided at a meeting Friday night to take steps in the construction of a clubhouse for use in the community.

Warren to Drill Shallow Test Near Scranton

Testing of the shallow horizons of the Scranton area, in which the Phillips Petroleum company was reported to have found excellent showings in the course of deeper drilling, was assured Saturday when L. A. Warren, Cisco operator, confirmed reports that he had secured rights to production down to 2,000 feet on large acreage held by the Phillips Petroleum company there and would drill a well within 60 days.

Location of the well has not been made, Mr. Warren said, but it will be on the Cozart tract near the deep test which the Phillips sank there more than a year ago and in which it was reported, the company found production good for an estimated 35 or 40 barrels at 1,700 feet.

The Phillips subsequently and before drilling their deep test, core-drilled the area extensively in order to secure authentic geological data for sub-surface mapping. The sandy nature of the country, it was pointed out, makes geological examinations difficult because surface indications are concealed.

Mrs. Crawford Circle No. Three Hostess

Circle Three of the First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. P. Crawford. The Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison, opened the meeting after which Mrs. Crawford brought the devotion from the fourth chapter of Philippians. This was followed by a discussion of the devotionary by the members. Mrs. W. W. Wallace introduced and pointed out the highlights in the new mission book, "The Star in the East," which will be taken up for study in 1935. The circle will meet next week at the church.

Those present were Misses R. S. Cope, Abbie C. Daniel, John Garrett, B. S. Huey, W. L. Jones, H. H. Monk, A. J. Alson, John Jones, Homer Slicker, W. W. Wallace, John E. Walker, N. A. Harper, Cannon, Miss Alice Johnson, and the hostess, Mrs. Crawford.

Mrs. Borman Is Circle Hostess

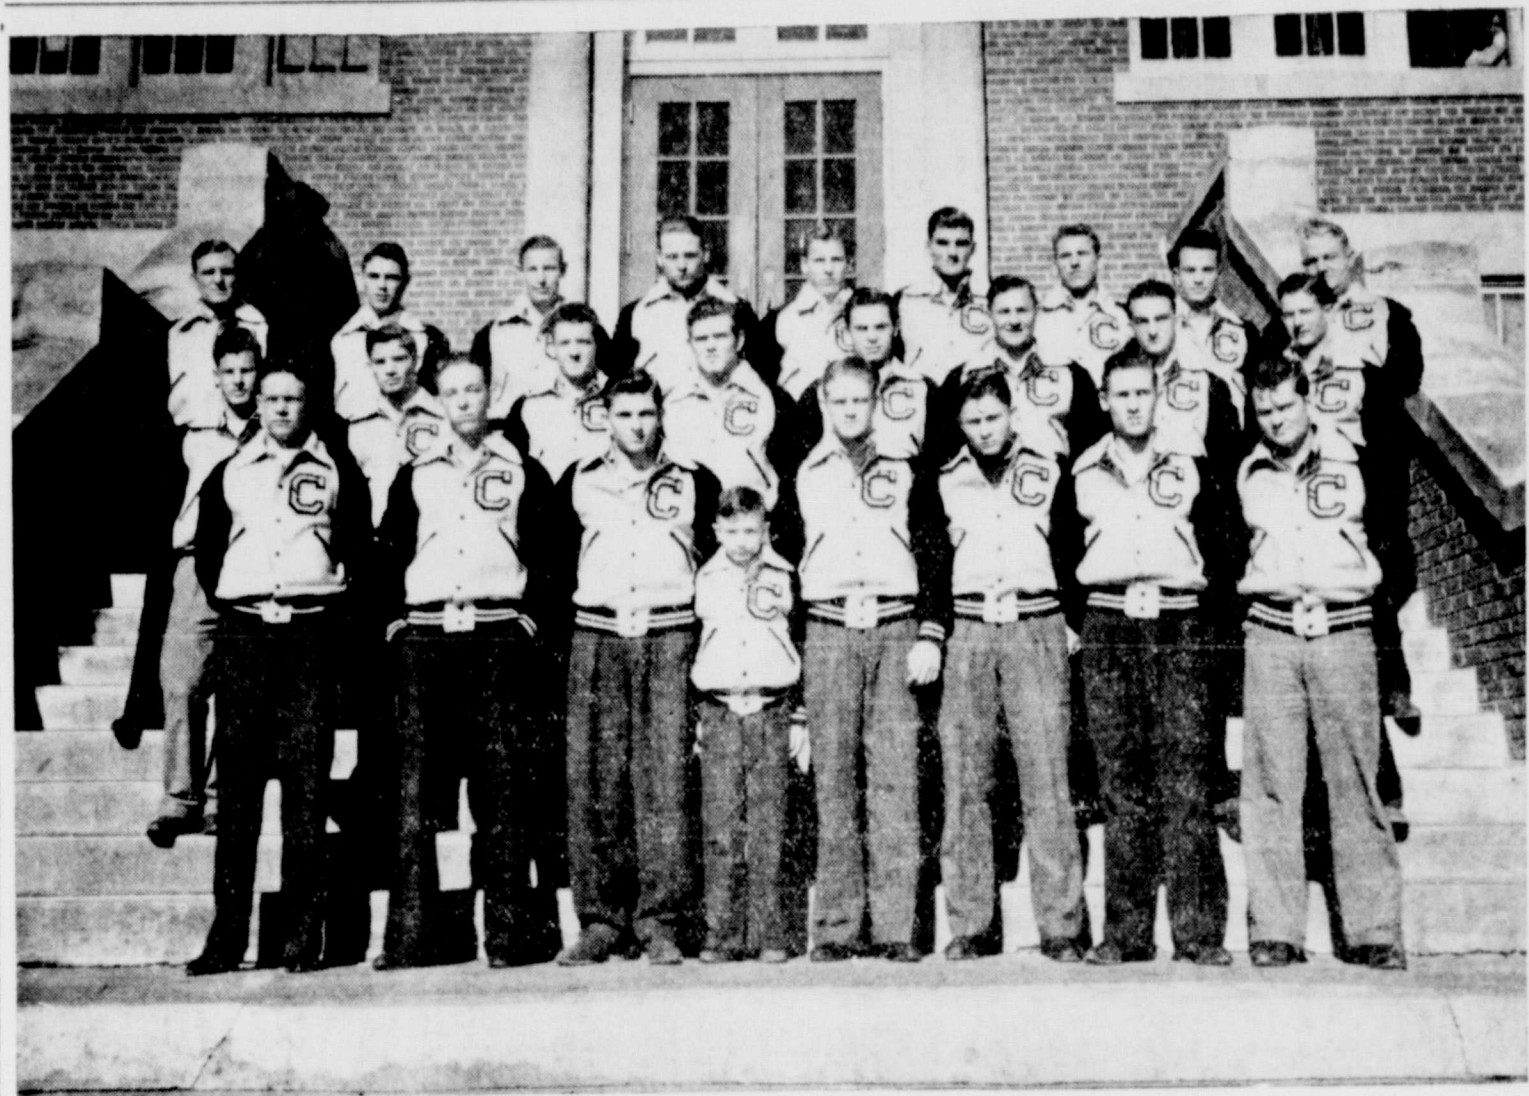

Mrs. F. J. Borman was hostess to the meeting of Circle One of the First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary in her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Elizabeth McCracken, presiding chairman, opened the meeting with a prayer and the devotionary was given by Mrs. V. D. Watson. The program, directed by Mrs. Joe Clements, was taken from the first two chapters of the foreign mission study book, "The Star in the East." Mrs. W. P. Lee discussed the first chapter, Mrs. F. D. Pierce the second. The circle adjourned to meet next Tuesday in the home of Mrs. N. H. Blizard with Mrs. H. L. Jackson co-hostess.

Those present were Misses W. P. Lee, A. Sandhoefer, J. E. Moriarty, F. D. Pierce, J. A. Jensen, Joe Clements, G. R. Bruggdon, Elizabeth McCracken, W. F. Watson, N. H. Blizard, H. L. Jackson, J. J. Tableman, P. R. Warwick, Miss Julia Blizard, and the hostess, Mrs. Borman.

Good Breed Required for Poultry Raising

EASTLAND, Jan. 12 (Sp.)—"A good breed of chickens is essential in raising chickens," said Miss Mable Caldwell, assistant demonstration agent, to the New Hope 4-H club girls Friday, when they met at New Hope school. "A good way to get a standard breed of chickens is to order baby chicks or buy eggs to set from a good tested flock of chickens. "Never have but one breed of and become dissatisfied with them, it is a sign they are going to do something about it," he said. "That is a healthful thing."

He spoke of the necessity of a purpose and of having faith in the ability to accomplish a task. "Work at it, and you will have faith in it," he said. "I have found it to be true that whenever a person says a thing can't be done, that person does not intend to try," he said.

"The crook thinks everybody is crooked. But that is not true. We must have faith in our fellowmen. Without that faith we cannot accomplish anything."

He concluded his address with the admonition to "look up." "In the midst of perplexing problems, and blind walls, look up," he said. He illustrated with the story of a traveler who, in a deep canyon in Arizona, had come to a turn in the passageway where towering walls shut out all horizontal view. The traveler spoke to a small boy: "Son, you can't see very far here, can you?"

"Why, mister," responded the boy, "if you look up you can see clean out of sight."
