Predict Great Game for Cisco Brownwood Clash

Doped as one of the outstanding cage attractions of the current year at the local gym, the Cisco Lobo-Brownwood Lion game scheduled for 7:30 tonight will do much toward deciding the outstanding quintet of this section, although the tilt is not a conference game and will not count in the interscholastic league race. One of the few undefeated (there are no ties in basketball) quintets in the state, the Lions boast a powerful aggregation of experienced cagers and number among their victims some of the outstanding central Texas fives. Among the titles which they hold is the Daniel Baker invitational tourney diadem. The Lobos are rated no mean cagers themselves having the Cross Cut invitational tournament title and the Ranger invitational crown among their laurels. In addition the Lobos are playing on their home court where they are more potent, having yet to lose a game there in some two years. Both Cisco and Brownwood defeated Stephenville, the only team both have met, by comfortable margins.

Survey Members Make Cisco Headquarters

Members of the U. S. coast and geodetic survey, department of commerce, under the direction of S. B. Robertson, observer, are making their headquarters with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Evans, proprietors of the Mobley hotel, while engaged in their work of establishing sea levels and earth curvatures. Other members of the group are, general director, Lieut. R. A. Earle, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hatcher, G. R. Tavener, John F. Smith, and H. H. Liverman. Work in the Cisco area will require approximately 10 days to complete.

American Grid Game Popular in Turkey

ANKARA, Jan. 16 (AP)—American football is the latest western idea to hit modern Turkey. American coaches are to teach the game throughout the country under a vast national "keep fit through sports" program launched by general Ismet Inonu, new president of the republic. Inonu, successor to Kemal Ataturk is a skillful rider and winter sports expert himself.

Lobo Feed Speaker

Head Coach L. R. "Dutch" Meyer of the Texas Christian University's Horned Frogs, 1938 national football champions, will be the speaker for the Cisco Lobo annual banquet sponsored by the Lions and Rotary clubs at the Laguna hotel Thursday evening.

Presbyterian Revival Draws Large Crowds

Dr. Jack Lewis of Lubbock, who is doing the preaching at the series of revival services being held this week at the First Presbyterian church of which Rev. M. H. Applewhite is pastor, had for his text at the Sunday morning service, "I will tell how great things the Lord has done for me." The sermon was attended by an unusually large congregation, as was the service last night. Services will be held each evening at 7:30, with day services at 10 a. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. A consecrated choir with pipe organ, is a feature of each of these services. Rev. Applewhite and Dr. Lewis join the congregation in a hearty invitation to the general public to attend these services.

Funeral Held Sunday for Tot, Victim of Scald

Funeral services for four-year-old Teleta Joy Hageman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hageman, whose death occurred Friday night at 8 o'clock from scald burns, were held from the Neil Lane funeral home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Luther Pryor, pastor of the Nazarene church, officiating. Burial was in Oakwood. The child was fatally scalded about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon when she stumbled backwards into a tub of boiling water which had been used in the family wash. She was rushed to Cisco but efforts to save her life proved futile. The child would have been four years of age on February 22. She is survived by her parents, two sisters and three brothers. The brothers and sisters are Mrs. Bill McLaster of Cisco, Mrs. Clifford Dugan of Eastland, Lenard Hageman of Tularosa, N. M., and Buford and Estil who live with their parents near Romney. Active pallbearers for the services yesterday were Lena Tonne, Edna Mae, Dorothy and Mary Louise Hageman, all cousins of Teleta Joy. Burial was in Oakwood.

New Peanut Doubles Little Spanish Yield

Pearl, a variety of peanuts bred by the Texas agricultural experiment station, almost doubled Little Spanish in yield per acre in a test made in 1938 by Entis S. Reese of Flatwood, according to a report he made the county agent. Reese harvested 39½ bushels of the Pearl peanuts from an acre whereas other peanuts on adjoining land, under the same care, yielded only 20 bushels per acre. The Pearl peanuts matured three weeks earlier than the others.

Humble Employee Is Injured in Wreck

Oliver Thomas of Humbletown was still in a Stamford hospital today with injuries resulting from an auto mishap near that city last week. Although he sustained no broken bones, Mr. Thomas was badly bruised and his car was damaged considerably. The accident occurred when a truck stopping at the side of the road for repairs failed to pull completely off the highway. In going around the parked vehicle, Mr. Thomas encountered another car and to save a head-on collision crashed into the truck. He is expected to be brought home tomorrow.

C. C. BOARD TO BE ORGANIZED TUESDAY NITE

Nine Members Named for New Terms Take Places

With nine new members, the board of directors of the Cisco chamber of commerce will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the chamber of commerce to organize for the new year with the election of officers and study of plans for activity ahead. President S. H. Nance urged that every member of the board, and particularly the newly appointed members, be present for this meeting. The organization is looking forward to one of the most active periods in its history. Members who were appointed last week by the city commission to serve two-year terms are B. A. Butler, J. D. Lauderdale, W. J. Leach, S. H. Nance, R. L. Ponsler, H. H. Monk, J. E. Spencer and F. E. Shockley. Paul Poe was elected to the unexpired term of S. R. Woods. Holdover members are J. J. Collins, E. P. Crawford, Dr. Charles Hale, Ed Huestis, Nick Miller and J. L. Thornton.

John Thurman Rids Ranch of Buzzards

When he started to lose newborn lambs and the mother ewes by having them killed and eaten by buzzards John Thurman, who operates the Terrell ranch, decided that it was time something was done. He told his troubles to the county agent who called in W. R. Nisbet, extension animal husbandman, for consultation. Thurman constructed a buzzard trap 40x20 feet in size from net wire according to Nisbet's plan. He waited the trap with dead lambs and other available bait and caught 102 buzzards in five days. His troubles from buzzards in that area are over, he thinks. He plans, however, to build another trap in a pasture a little distance from where he built the first trap. His next trap will measure 20x20 feet as he thinks that is sufficiently large.

Pioneer Eastland County Resident Buried Sunday

Funeral services for P. K. Maynard, 87-year-old pioneer of Eastland county, who died at the home of a son, L. D. Maynard, at Putnam Saturday evening at 6:30, were held at Eastland Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services took place at the home of another son, Claude (Curly) Maynard, at 114 East Hill street. The aged pioneer had made his home with Claude for the greater part of his latter years. His wife died last April 12, and burial was beside her body in the Eastland cemetery.

Born in West Virginia on February 9, 1851, Mr. Maynard would have been 88 years of age next month. He came to Eastland county in 1881, the year in which the Texas & Pacific railroad was built through Eastland, and worked in the construction of the line through that city. He was an early associate of Henry and Jim Schmick, pioneer Eastland county sheriffs; Charlie Connelley, one of Eastland's founders; Berry Hargus and others. When he arrived in this county he first settled northwest of Eastland and at one time taught school at Old Lines, northwest of Cisco. He was married 57 years ago to Mrs. Mary Hatten and seven children—five sons and two daughters—were born to them.

Where's That Race Track?

A promising miss is the first thoroughbred foal of 1939 at Rancho San Luis Rey in southern California. She also is the first offspring of Sarada, son of Sir Galahad III and a handcap and stake performer of several years ago. The filly's dam is Margie N by Runnymede. Pictured with the little runner of the future is Charley Cooper, maestro of San Luis Rey.

Second Auction Is Highly Successful

At 1 o'clock today the second weekly auction of the Cisco Livestock exchange had outstripped in every department the first event and far exceeded the directors' most optimistic expectations. The newly constructed pens were filled by that hour with 175 head of both beef and dairy stock and 75 head of hogs together with a number of horses. Parking facilities at the site of the auction, on the south side of Cisco, were being crowded to capacity and buyers from Albany, Moran, Abilene, Stamford and Putnam, to mention but a few, were on hand while stock from equally distant towns was being unloaded constantly. Trailers overflowed the grounds and the auction barn itself was so crowded as to prohibit entrance. Buying was brisk and comparative prices were good. But perhaps the most striking part of the proceedings was the powerful feeling of enthusiasm in evidence everywhere, occasioned perhaps by the capacity business that the auction was doing. The unusually large turnout prompted the belief that transaction of the day's business would not be completed until late. Largest delegation to attend was from Moran, among whom were the following: J. E. Woods, T. W. Woods, L. B. Jones, Bud Booth, Don Hallmark, Virgil Morris, T. V. Brooks, Leon Andrews, H. C. Knight, W. G. Jones, J. G. Morris, Howard Knight, R. W. Brooks, and E. H. Brooks.

Hold Services For C. B. Long at Ten Tomorrow

Funeral services for C. B. Long, 73, father of Mrs. W. H. Hayes of Cisco, who died at 12:30 last night in a Dublin hospital where he was taken following a paralytic stroke here Wednesday, will be held at a Dublin funeral home tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Funeral services will be under the direction of the Rev. Walker, pastor of the First Methodist church at Eastland. Stricken in a grocery store here about 3 Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Long never regained consciousness. He was taken to the Dublin hospital immediately, accompanied by Mrs. Hayes. Mr. Hayes left for Dublin this morning. Mr. Long had made his home here with Mr. and Mrs. Hayes for a number of years.

Missionary Presents Program in Chapel

Students at the high school enjoyed one of the most entertaining chapel programs in some time this morning when Church Howe Smiley, missionary to India conducting a school of missions here, gave an address on Indian customs, the youth movement there, etc., discussing Mahatma Gandhi, his philosophies and ideas. Mr. Smiley had with him a turban such as is worn in that country and demonstrated its appearance by modeling it.

Will Nationalize Turkish Utilities

ANKARA, Jan. 16 (AP)—Complete nationalization of public utilities in Turkey by immediate repurchase of foreign concessions has been decreed by the Turkish government. The new policy affects French, German, Italian, and Belgian concerns operating street-car subway, and gas-lighting services at Istanbul, electric power and water supply systems in Smyrna, and electric supply stations in Brussa and Anatolia.

PICTURES OF 'BOWL GAME TO BE SHOWN

Either O'Brien or Aldrich to Accompany Meyer Here

The joint Lion-Rotary committee in charge of arrangements for the Lobo football banquet will meet at the Laguna hotel at 7:30 tonight for the purpose of completing the program, it was announced today. Anticipating one of the most entertaining banquets ever held here, members of the committee who will meet with Toastmaster O. L. Stamey said they had been informed that Coach Leo (Dut) Meyer, Horned Frog mentor and principal speaker, will bring with him either Davey O'Brien or Aldrich, all-American quarter, and center respectively. Music for the event will be furnished by Abilene Christian college's musicians and this, together with the several speakers scheduled to address the banquet, will conclude trimmings of the program. Main event of the evening will be motion pictures of a number of the Horned Frog games this year, among which, according to latest information, will be that of the Sugar bowl game between T. C. U. and Carnegie Tech. This game has been hailed as the outstanding grid clash of the year and will provide a real thrill for all. Tickets for the event are 75 cents and may be purchased at the Red Front Drug store. Members of the joint committee which will meet tonight for the purpose of arranging the actual program are Sutton Crofts, chairman, O. J. Russell and B. A. Butler, from the Rotary club; J. D. McKinzie, Jack Anderson, and Neil Lane, from the Lions club. Toastmaster Stamey will also meet with them to work out his part in the program.

Funeral Services Held Today For Mrs. J. H. Surles

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church in Putnam for Mrs. J. H. Surles, 75, of that city who died about 7:30 Sunday evening. Mrs. Surles, well known here, had been in ill health for some time as a result of frequent heart attacks. Her husband died 11 years ago the last of this month. She was born in 1863 and came to Texas at the age of 14. She is survived by two sons, R. L. Surles of Wichita Falls and C. S. Surles of Cisco, and three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Kennedy of Fort Worth, Mrs. M. I. Tarrant of Houston and Mrs. L. R. Burnside of Eastland.

Rev. Pryor to Remain With Cisco Church

The Rev. Luther Pryor, pastor of the Cisco Church of the Nazarene for the past 11 years, has decided to remain here in his present capacity, declining the pastorage of the First Church of the Nazarene in Fort Worth, which it was his original intention to accept. The Rev. Mr. Pryor was persuaded to stay at a meeting last week in which final efforts were made to induce him to remain and which were successful. He was scheduled to leave January 22 for Fort Worth after building the church membership here from a tiny congregation to one of 125 members. He also completed a building program during his tenure without incurring any debt whatsoever.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickedness: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows. — Ps. xiv. 7.

Yes, for me, for me He careth,

Yes, in me abroad He sheddeth
Joys unearthly, love and light.

Thus I wait for His appearing,
Singing all the way to Heaven;
Such the joyful song of morning,
Such the tranquil song of even.

Remember: Study peace and holy walking if you would have your confidence firm and have wisdom and joy in God.—Leighton.

Democracy, Like Charity, Begins at Home

EVERY day this conviction is gaining strength in America: the way to fight dictatorship is to make democracy work.

Not by making faces at Hitler, not by berating Mussolini, not by deploring Japan will this victory be won. The real battle is at home, the fight to get the cockroaches out from under democracy's sink and make the house so spick-and-span that no body will want to hire a fascist housekeeper. Democracy will triumph in the long run only because it is demonstrably better.

LIKE the weather, democracy is a thing people talk about a great deal, but few people do anything about. Totalitarian countries are deluged constantly with propaganda persuading the people that they are lucky to be so well off.

That is not wanted here. But nevertheless it will do no harm for all of us to brush up on our democracy a little bit, and remind ourselves just what it is all about. It too often happens that a newly-naturalized citizen, fresh from a little cramming for his citizenship examination, knows more about what democracy means and how it works than native-born citizens. School "civics" classes, for a country which depends on general knowledge of the technique of democratic government, have sometimes been rather perfunctory.

Without danger of being too much propagandized, we can stand a good deal of reviewing on fundamentals of popular government ourselves. That is why the new plan of the New York City Board of Education sounds worthy of study. The board is promoting both school assemblies and instruction in racial and religious tolerance and understanding. New York is not assuming that its young citizens, exposed to plenty of foreign propaganda for racial discrimination and intolerance, will somehow draw from the air the essence of American principles of freedom and decency. It is going about a program of specific instruction in those principles.

THE office of education in Washington, too, is launching on a project for a series of nation-wide broadcasts to be called "Americans All—Immigrants All." The programs will tell how America, by making use of the talents and abilities of citizens of many races, creeds and lands, is forming a rich and distinctive culture of its own. These programs will be recorded and made available to schools through the office of education.

Thus America strikes for freedom and democracy with the best weapon of all—the determination to make life under democratic forms so superior to any other that no spurious claims of other forms can ever undermine it.

A Missouri rule that beer may not be sold within 300 feet of colleges was probably at the request of the athletic directors who want to keep their boys in trim.

Good will trip of an Italian warship to Montevideo wound up in a fist fight in a saloon. Evidently the natives didn't take kindly to good-will imposed upon them by the crew of a battle wagon.

The Shah of Persia is incensed again because the French word for "cat" is pronounced like the ruler's title. That ought to make the cats mad too.

'Guess We Better Let That One Through, Hub?'

Four Types of Men Eschewed by College Co-eds

FORT WORTH, Jan. 16 (Sp.). Four types of males are definitely unpopular with the co-eds of Texas Christian university, a campus survey shows. These four types are the "Big Shots," "Windbags," "Sheiks" and "Sissies."

The girls were almost unanimous in voicing their dislike of the boy who feels his own importance, who talks "big," who tries to impress with his beauty, and who falls very far short of being the "he-man" type.

Among the various other male characteristics which came in for a general panning on the part of the co-eds are the following:

1. Pests who find enjoyment in twisting arms, hiding purses, and other similar misguided pranks.
2. Bad dancers, especially if the girl likes to dance.
3. Boys who condemn a girl forever if dates get mixed once.
4. Boys who are jealous or conceited.
5. Those who seem lost and bewildered by the whole thing.
6. Men no one else wants.

19 Religious Groups Represented at TCU

FORT WORTH, Jan. 16 (Sp.). Members of 19 different religious groups are enrolled in Texas Christian university, according to the registrar's office.

Members of the Christian and Methodist churches constitute nearly half of the student body. Next in order are the Baptist students, Presbyterian, Catholic, Episcopal, Church of Christ and Jewish.

Eleven other groups are represented by from one to five students on the Horned Frog campus.

Rabbits Cause Heavy Damage to Fruit Trees

Jackrabbits are causing heavy damage to fruit trees in Eastland county and many fruit growers who have small trees are overlooking an important item by not protecting these young trees, according to Elmo V. Cook, county agent. If fruit growing is to continue in the county control of the rabbits is necessary. This can be done by poisoning them with poison grain or by treating the trees so that the rabbits cannot or will not damage them.

Poisoned grain should be used cautiously as it will kill domestic animals if taken in large enough quantities. It should not be put out when there are any farm animals running out.

Applying a repellent to the trees is another effective way of lessening damage from rabbits. Mix sufficient sulphur with linseed, cottonseed, or peanut oil to make it about as thick as ordinary paint. Apply to the trees with a brush but do not cover the entire tree, leaving several buds exposed on the tip of each limb. The oil should be heated before stirring in the sulphur but should not be boiled as it will harden the sulphur. Another mixture is made of four pounds flour, 4 pounds lime-sulphur, two pounds yellow ochre, one pint linseed oil, four ounces asafetida and enough sour milk to make about the same consistency as paint.

Mrs. Collie to Head Coffee Committee

JOHN T. FLYNN

By JOHN T. FLYNN

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
In President Roosevelt's address to congress he made frequent use of a word the full significance of which seems to have escaped most of the commentators. That word was "investment."

One can do wonders with a word. You can kill a politician by fixing on him the word "fascist" or "communist." In Russia they ruin a man by calling him a Trotskyite. And now the president plans, not to ruin, but to bless what most people call government spending, by calling it "government investment."

The idea behind this is to kill off the deficit. Conservatives clamor for the president to balance the budget. Apparently he cannot balance the budget by spending less or taxing more. So he plans to balance it by calling spending by another name. He proposes to wipe out the deficit or at least much of it by a word.

He followed this idea up in his budget address by urging a new method of keeping the nation's books—by segregating expenditures for current purposes from capital outlay, referred to as investments.

Now, as a matter of fact, it is possible for a government as well as a private individual to make an investment. And when it does there is no reason why such an investment should not appear on the government's books just as it would on a private concern's books. If the government builds a utility and operates it for revenue, that is an investment.

It is not in the same class with expenditures where there is no prospect of return. A man who buys a pair of shoes to wear is spending money. And men who buy a machine to make shoes which he will sell and thus recover the cost of the machine, is investing money. That is true of the government as well as individuals.

The trouble comes when we get around to putting this investment label on various expenditures. And what the president is getting around to is the much advertised plan to lump together expenditures designed to improve the condition of the country, such as roads, soil conservation, defense, as investments when they are not. A public school is of course an "investment in social values" but it is not an investment in the sense in which that word is used in public finance.

The chief task of the congress now must be to see that the nation's books are not tampered with to abolish a deficit by giving it a nice name. The greatest mistake any business man can make is to fool himself with his books. Our method of keeping the books of the national government is pretty bad as it is. It ought to be reformed.

About Our Friends

By STEP A. LONG

And now Papa Bennie Butler is limping about this morning making grimaces like he was in terrible pain. Inquiry as to his ailment brought out the fact, rather reluctantly, that he had suffered one of the accidents incident to most proud and indigent fathers who arise in the darkness and gloom of the night to quiet the outcries of the precious little mite of humanity whose instinct knows no other way of making known its need of care in some form.

It seems that the little daughter was restless and Bennie being of a mind to make up for his lateness of fatherhood by solicitousness to attend every call of the wee miss, arose in the night and... Just like it has always happened and perhaps will continue to happen... a table misplaced itself... getting right in the way of Bennie and lo!... there it strikes him on a bony part of the lower leg... yes, a very bony and highly sensitive portion of his anatomy... Yes, sir, the table literally rose up and smote Bennie, or at least he didn't think the table was there when he retired for the night... and it gets more and more sensitive each time he thinks about it...

But Bennie, don't worry... you are only bearing wounds of martyrdom such as all papas wear... As time goes on you will find tacks strewn on the floor and perhaps pins or needles that have worked themselves into some kind of cloth to aid them in making their aim truer and more painful... You will be battle scarred from your broken toes to your knees, as a result of your mad dashes for the soothing syrup and other easements, to allow you to get back to that pleasant dream so rudely interrupted on such cold nights... and those things always happen on the bad nights... doctors will tell you so...

And this reminds us... we heard some men talking last night after church... to H. L. Kunkle about his two twin girls... as we understand them... "And at your time of life, Mr. Kunkle"... in inquiry brought out the further fact that they were exactly alike and then we heard Mr. Kunkle say that they had not named them since Mrs. Kunkle had said there was no use as no one could ever

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JANET DWIGHT, heroine. She was engaged to handsome young architect.

LANCE BARSTOW, hero. Lance had great dreams for the future. So did.

CYNTHIA CASTRELL, orphaned granddaughter of great-aunt Mary Castrell. Still another dreamer was.

BARNEY MCKNIGHT, newspaperman. But Barney was more than a dreamer.

Yesterday: Shipping back into the apartment early in the morning, Cynthia tells Janet that she is married. She dares Janet to guess who is the man.

CHAPTER VIII

Janet said, after a moment of bewilderment, "Why, Barney, of course. I supposed naturally it was Barney you meant."

"Oh, did you, indeed," Cynthia demanded drily. "Janet, was there any more reason why I should marry Barney tonight than there was yesterday—or a week ago—or a month?"

"Why—I don't know... Then, in Heaven's name, Cyn, who is it?"

"Why, Timothy Benton, of course. I thought you knew I was going out to dinner with him tonight."

"Timothy Benton!" Janet echoed slowly after what seemed to her so long an empty a silence that her own voice startled her. "But Cyn, you couldn't... You—couldn't! Why, you hardly know him! You couldn't possibly be in love with him!"

"In love with him?" Cynthia's voice was harsh. "Who said I was in love with him? I said I had married him... People can't always have everything, you know, Jan—like you. Well, I decided—"

perked this?"

"I won't say I expected this, but I've expected an explosion of some sort ever since—"

"Ever since what?"

For once, Aunt Mary seemed embarrassed.

"Well—ever since I've noticed how restless she is.

Janet knew that was not at all what Aunt Mary had started to say; but she also knew that there was no use pressing the point.

"And you didn't do anything to stop her?"

"When people reach Cynthia's age, my dear, there's not much use trying to stop them—or start them, either. All that should have been taken care of years ago with a birch rod. Did—Lance mention having heard about this?"

Janet set her coffee cup down very carefully.

When she had talked with Lance a while ago, she had not mentioned Cynthia's marriage for fear Aunt Mary would hear. Now she wondered a little blankly what he would think. She had so often had the feeling that Lance did not approve of Cynthia.

Before she could answer, the knocker on the hall door sounded sharply.

"The representatives of the press, I presume," Aunt Mary sighed. "Cynthia might at least have supplied us with a few more essential facts. Just what am I to tell them I'm sure I don't know."

(To Be Continued)

Janet said swiftly, "I don't think she's coming to breakfast, Aunt Mary. Hadn't you better butter your roll while it's hot?"

It sounded patrot-like and rehearsed—as it was.

Aunt Mary set down the silver pot from which she had been about to pour her niece's coffee, and folded her hands before her.

"Janet Dwight," she said, "you're the most transparent equivocater I've ever had the privilege of listening to."

"All right," Janet said desperately. "It was Cynthia who called me last night—and I muffled the telephone bells. I did it because we didn't want the newspaper to bother you."

"The newspapers?" If Aunt Mary had turned a little white, her voice was not less steady. "My dear child, if this is your idea of breaking something to me gently, you might as well give a war-whoop and fire off a gun. Anyway, I've had so many unpleasant things broken to me in my day that I'm practically shock proof."

So Janet told her what had happened between Cynthia and herself.

When she had finished, the old lady nodded her head slowly and murmured, "Timothy Benton, hm? ... Well, I can't pretend to be surprised."

"Aunt Mary, you mean you ex-

Farmers and Ranchers Urged to Keep Records

Farmers and ranchers who wish to keep up with their business and know where they are making profits and where they are sustaining losses are being advised by County Agent Cook to keep a complete farm or ranch record in 1939. "Now is the time to start these records," states Cook. "No time in the year is quite as good for beginning records as at the first of the year."

Farmers and ranchers who wish to start keeping records can get a complete and simplified farm or ranch book through the county agent. The A. & M. college of Texas has printed a farm record book for use in this purpose for several years in a form so simple that anyone can understand it, yet it contains all the information needed for complete records.

A few of the reasons that can be given any farmer or rancher for keeping records are:

1. Determine where the profits or losses occur and remedy the losses.
2. Establish proof of production for use in the AAA program or in case it is needed to help make a sale.
3. A means of keeping permanent accurate records for any purpose needed, such as dates of births of registered animals, etc.

Malnutrition of Concern to Health Officials

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (Sp.)—"The past half decade has seen malnutrition become a matter of concern to public health officials, physicians and teachers in Texas. It is estimated that 50 per cent of the school children in the state are malnourished to some degree. And in view of unemployment and adverse economic conditions among certain groups of the population, malnutrition is being greatly intensified," states Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

"Strictly speaking, malnutrition is not a disease but rather a condition due to poor or faulty nourishment. The child is usually thin, though he may be fat or flabby. He is often pale, with dark hollows under the eyes, lacks muscular tone, has round shoulders and in the more advanced stages, malnutrition produces a child with a narrow and flat chest, protruding abdomen and without spirit or mental vigor.

Specific causes of malnutrition are insufficient or unsuitable diet, wrong food habits, insufficient sleep, chronic fatigue, lack of exercise, disease, physical defects and an element of heredity.

Justifies Concern

"Malnutrition in itself justifies concern. However, the results of malnutrition present the biggest problem and involve stunted growth, anemia, nervous irritability and diminished energy. Its most serious consequence, moreover, is increased susceptibility to disease and lack of resistance to it. Too, the relation between malnutrition and tuberculosis is conclusively and pathetically established. In short, malnutrition is an abnormal condition which if it is permitted to continue, in many cases, results in serious illness and possible death," Dr. Cox further stated.

"Increased malnutrition is facing not only Texas, but the nation at large. A well balanced program of meals is the best weapon against it. Parents must realize the importance of an intelligently applied dietary. Communities can ill-afford to underestimate the vital and elemental factor in their welfare activities.

"It is not too strong a statement to make that malnutrition among our youth, especially among the families of the unem-played and the low economic stratus, represents a powerful enemy against the nation's future welfare. Intelligent action is needed to successfully combat it.
