F. A. ENCAMPMENT OPENS AT LAKE CISCO

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

It has always been true and will always be true that people cannot accomplish much without cooperation. And their accomplishments are measured largely by the extent and reality of the cooperation that is afforded among individuals and among groups. One of the most serious faults with the Cisco system has been the lack of a coordinating center. Community energy has been largely dissipated. This is unfortunate, because the manpower and the mind-power of the community are as good as can be found in the average. The effect has been to split up this mind-and-man-power into bridge party, golf club and coffee-table coteries without any partial relationship.

It has been an almost impossible job to sell a sufficient part of the community on any single program to make that program worth the while. The chamber of commerce, the logical institution for the coordination of the business and civic power of the town, has existed as a sort of club, apart from any vital relationship to the community or any real representation of the businessmen of the town.

This, despite the fact that its membership is made up of business men. The method of appointing and organizing the board has been responsible. There is no large and representative membership with a vital sense of responsibility to the chamber and a feeling that the board is obligated to it. Hence, it is almost impossible to stimulate the community through the chamber. It has become strictly a case of "let the directors do it." It is much the same sentiment as that now so prevalent, and which looks to Washington and to Austin to do the job. It is a wonder that the institution has survived as well as it has.

A movement has been started to remedy this situation, however. It is a movement which has as its purpose the enlistment of the interest of all businesses, big and little, and of the professional men and women and the individual citizen in the service of the community through the chamber of commerce. It is intended as the means by which the community leadership can get across its community programs and the community can determine its leadership and get over to that leadership the sentiment it wishes.

The agency is the well-proven institution of the community business man's dinner as proposed by the chamber of commerce, such a monthly dinner would provide the effective "membership" which the chamber now lacks. There will be no cost other than the price of the meals. It is not a money

Resting at Del Mar, Calif., track, following victory in $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, Kayak II, which also won $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in March, takes peek over Tom Smith's shoulder as though he, too, were interested in racing results.

4-H Encampment Opens Today at Gorman Lake

The annual Eastland county boys and girls 4-H club encampment began today at Bass Lake, two miles south of Gorman. The encampment will close tomorrow. All 4-H club boys and girls are invited, together with parents and friends.

During the encampment the boys and girls enjoy recreational games, including baseball, swimming, and many others. A highlight in the encampment activities will be the recognition and awarding of Gold Star pins to Buster Wheat, Jack Walker, Niel Eaves and Dwight Bryant, who were among the one hundred best 4-H club boys in Texas in 1938.

Food is supplied by all those attending the encampment, and everybody will have plenty to eat. Committees in charge of camp activities are: registration committee, Joe Bob Browning and Mary Frances Stubblefield, both of Gorman, co-chairmen; L. V. Mauney of Gorman and Virda Jean Spurlen of Olden; swimming committee, Mr. Rucker of Gorman, chairman, Elmo V. Cook of Eastland; games committee, L. R. Higginbotham, chairman, of Kokomo; Nonnie A. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Erwin Celebrate 55th Wedding Anniversary Sunday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Erwin, at Sabanno, was the scene of the celebration Sunday of the 55th birthday anniversary of Mr. Erwin, who was born in the Mary's Creek community, near Fort Worth, August 2, 1861.

He was married in Weatherford February 28, 1884, and 1939 being their 55th wedding anniversary year, this celebration was in honor of both occasions. But it might have been included as a mid-anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Erwin, as she was born in Weatherford, February 3, 1864, being less than four years the junior of her husband. While yet a small child, and by reason of Indian raids in the Mary's Creek community, his par-

Hard Ball Replaces Soft Ball at Park

Hard ball is replacing soft ball at the Cisco Lions club park. With the approval of the Lions in their meeting yesterday, a series of legitimate baseball will be sponsored at the park by J. D. White and O. H. Dick. This evening at 8:15, the Baird and Cisco teams will meet there in the play-off of a three-game series, of which each club has already won one each.

Hamilton Postmaster Son of Publisher

George H. Boynton, who was named as postmaster of Hamilton Monday, is a nephew of Mrs. F. E. Shockley of Cisco, who corrected the story of Mr. Boynton being publisher of the Hamilton Herald. It was the father of the appointee, George H. Boynton, Sr., whom the Press stated was named by the president. Mrs. Shockley stated that the elder Boynton died several years ago. The appointee is not a newspaperman, but has been connected with the government AAA administration.

School Salary Aid Payment Received

A total of $4,948, representing the final payment on salary aid for Eastland county school districts, has been received and disbursed by County Supt. T. C. Williams. Cisco district received approximately $350.

Area WPA Office at Eastland Closed

EASTLAND, Aug. 3 (Sp).—The area WPA office at Eastland officially became non-existent Tuesday in accordance with a district re-organization, which abolished similar offices at Wichita Falls, Vernon, Breckenridge and Fort Worth.

Eight of 12 employees of the Eastland office were transferred to Fort Worth, district headquarters, with the others remaining at Eastland. Duties of those who will remain at Eastland, however, does not necessitate their maintenance of an office in the city. Hereafter, project sponsors must contact district offices at Fort Worth on job proposals and other matters. Those remaining at Eastland were: R. Townner Dickinson, area engineer; Floyd Gilbert, time-keep supervisor; Virginia Sanders, social worker, and Bobby C. Miller, project employment officer.

Preston of Cisco; Mrs. Hazel Bailey of Selma, Tenn.; and Mrs. Velma Hatton of Eastland.

Mr. Preston went to work with the Cisco yard of the Burton-Lingo Lumber company on September 1, 1898. He was continuously employed with the company here until his death.

BIG INCREASE IN STUDENTS ANTICIPATED

More Districts Are Being Signed to Attend Schools

An increase of between 100 and 200 in the number of students attending Cisco public schools from outlying common school districts this fall was predicted today by school officials as the process of contracting with the trustees of these districts for transporting their scholastics to Cisco next year neared completion.

New groups to attend the Cisco schools already contracted with include the Komney high school, with 26 students, and Mangum high school students. Districts so far signed for the ensuing term are:

Sandy, Bedford, Central, Grapevine, Shady Grove Pleasant Hill, Reich, Friendship, Dothan, Bluff Branch, Cottonwood, Romney high school, part of Reagan, and Mangum high school.

There was prospect that attendance upon the Cisco school system this year would approach the 2,000 mark.

T. & P. Roadmaster Dies of Injuries

RANGER, Aug. 3 (Sp).—Funeral services for W. L. Beach, 50, roadmaster for the Texas and Pacific railway at Ranger were conducted this afternoon at his home in Popular Bluff, Mo., with burial in Popular Bluff.

Beach died at the Texas and Pacific hospital at Marshall, where he had been since he sustained serious injuries in an automobile accident at Eastland several weeks ago. The body was shipped to Popular Bluff Tuesday night, arriving Thursday morning. The family, from Ranger, left Wednesday night.

Beach was born in Missouri, Oct. 2, 1889, and had been employed by the Texas and Pacific railway since 1926, coming to Ranger from Fort Worth as yard foreman and later becoming yard master. Previous to his connection with the Texas and Pacific, he had been employed by the Fort Worth and Denver and the Missouri Pacific railways.

Survivors include his widow, and two sons, William and Donald, and two daughters, Virginia and Doris, all of Ranger.

Two Deaths and 22 Births in July and June

Only two deaths occurred in justice of the peace precinct No. 6 in the months of June and July, the records of Dr. W. P. Lee, city health officer, disclosed today. In both instances the deaths were those of non-residents. One occurred in Cisco and one in the precinct—which covers a fourth of the county—outside of Cisco.

In contrast, there were six births in Cisco in June and two outside Cisco in the precinct, and 11 births in Cisco in July and three in the precinct outside Cisco, making a total of 22.

The prize and fee list for the rodeo which will be a principal feature of the Labor day celebration sponsored by the Cisco junior chamber of commerce, has been prepared and will be announced as soon as it is approved by the rodeo director, Ollie Cox, it was announced today by Carlton Holder, rodeo committee chairman.

The prizes are sufficient to attract top hand competition, Holder said. He declined to make public the list until Mr. Cox of the Double Heart ranch has approved it.

Peanut Festival Plans Are Made

EASTLAND, Aug. 3 (Sp).—Plans for the Texas Peanut festival Sept. 28-30, to be held in connection with the thirteenth annual county fair at Eastland, were advanced at a committee meeting Tuesday afternoon at the chamber of commerce in Eastland.

Cecil Barham is chairman of the festival committee. The committee decided that coronation of the Southwestern Peanut Queen will be held at 8 o'clock the final night of the festival and fair.

In addition, a king, to be selected by popular ballot in Eastland, will sit with the queen, who will be selected from a town in this territory.

Barham stated that he will spend two days in this territory to contact theater managers to assist in the holding of contests for selection of representatives in the queen event.

Plans for advertising the event also were discussed. Movie trailers will be made and shown in theaters of the section to advertise the festival.

The Rev. Johnny Burleson, pastor of the Fundamental Baptist church of Merkel, will preach at the Central Baptist church here Sunday and Sunday night, it was announced.

Mr. Burleson is a former Cisco resident and he will be glad to meet all of his friends at these services, he said.

150 BOYS AND TEACHERS AT LAKE AT NOON

Three Day Event to Be Concluded Saturday Noon

By noon today approximately 150 Future Farmers and their instructors had arrived at Lake Cisco for the annual FFA encampment sponsored by the Cisco chapter under the supervision of T. G. Caudie, Cisco vocational agriculture instructor.

The encampment was not expected to attract the attendance which that of last year drew, Mr. Caudie said this morning. This is due to the fact that the area from which it draws will have other camps this year and also because it was not possible to obtain the accommodations enjoyed last year, so great has the demand upon encampment facilities become.

However, a very successful three-day event is in prospect. The FFA members, most of whom arrived by school bus, are camping in the open parks in units, each unit doing its own cooking. The boys sleep in the open. This system is, of necessity, a departure from the usual custom of entertaining the boys with central dining hall and indoor bunks.

Soft ball tournament, boxing, swimming, water polo, and various other sports will be indulged in during the three days. The camp will close Saturday.

Assisting Mr. Caudie are: Doyle W. Graves, athletic director;

Roy Armstrong, playground baseball; W. B. Cowan, Jr., horseshoe pitching; Everett E. Turner, washer pitching; Charles B. Bell, swimming and diving; C. Littlepage, boxing, and J. S. Bridges, water polo.

Diversified Occupation Work Rotary Subject

Miss Octava Jones, graduate of the Cisco high school and post graduate student of the diversified occupation department of the school, was presented by C. C. Duff, program chairman, an interesting talk at the Cisco Rotary club's noon luncheon at the Laguna hotel today. Miss Jones discussed the work of the diversified occupation department and student objectives. Mr. Duff, director of the department, explained the work and showed how it had benefited students in preparing them for practical employment and providing them with jobs.

Guests of the club were G. A. French of Riverside, California, and H. W. Crofts of Tucson, Arizona, father-in-law and brother, respectively, of president Sutton Crofts; Paul McCarty of Abilene, a former Cisco citizen, and L. V. Holbrooks of Bryan.

Dies Shortly After Visit to Cisco

Death of Mrs. C. E. Galbreath of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Tuesday evening, only a few hours after she arrived at her home from a week's visit with Mrs. B. E. Morehart in Cisco, it was learned here today. Heart failure was ascribed. Mrs. Morehart and Mrs. Galbreath were school companions. Until Mrs. Galbreath came here a week ago, they had not seen each other for 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Watson are spending the week-end in Dallas.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work, to do His will, working in you that which is well-pleasing in His sight, through Christ Jesus; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.—Heb. xii, 20, 21.

Let nothing disturb thee,
Nothing fright thee,
All things are passing,
God never changes.
Patient endurance,
Who God possesseth,
In nothing is wanting,
Alone God sufficeeth.

—SAINT TERESA.

We Expect Much, But We Give Little

We expect a great deal from government. We expect it to maintain order, protect our property, to maintain friendly yet advantageous relations with other countries. We expect it to feed us if we're poor, to provide work for us if we're jobless, to save our business from bankruptcy with timely loans, to promote in general better conditions of life.

We expect all those things and a lot more. What do we give? Well, we give the taxes we pay conscientiously or unconscientiously, and we vote (some of us) every year or so. At election time, we may even give a few moments to reading the papers or listening to speeches to find out what goes on in public affairs.

By and large, most people contribute no direct time or effort to making democratic government work. Such contribution as we do make is usually confined to criticism of those who are giving their time to make it work, whom we lump under the name of "politicians."

In fact, the pitifully small attention given by the average person to public matters is well shown by a recent survey made by two Harvard professors. Their findings are shown in an article, "Where Does Your Day Go?" in Every Week Magazine. They arranged for 103 persons to record in detail how they spent the 1440 minutes of each day. So much for sleep (about eight hours and 24 minutes, by the way), and so much for eating, working, transportation, and so on.

And the amount of time devoted to civic and political activities was found to be no more than it takes to pronounce the four words themselves. Only about one-tenth of 1 per cent of the people queried had any such activities whatsoever.

In Germany, everyone puts in certain time at the service of the state. Spain has now instituted such a regime—15 days a year, hot or cold. Countries that are insisting on a levy of public service, or service to the general interest of all.

We don't want that here. The democratic way is to accept voluntary service to the republic in matters of general interest. That's what the word republic means. It derives from res publicae, Latin for "the public business."

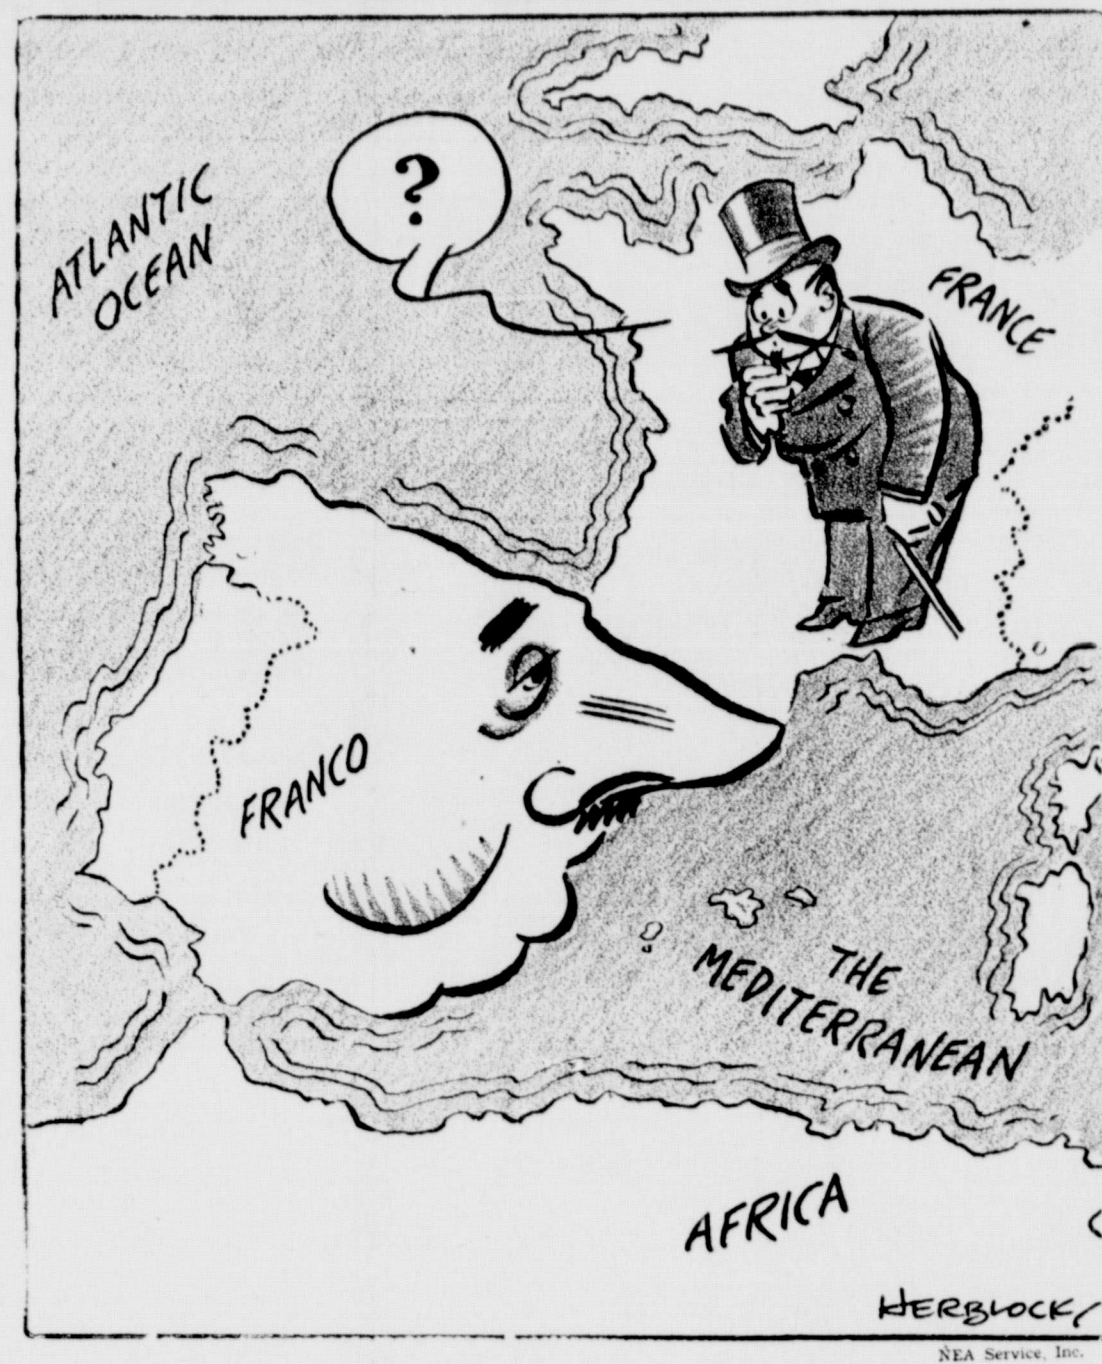

Yet for this public business, the average American has no time, not even the time to be well informed about it. His only interest usually is to squawk about how it is done by those who do take an interest. If you doubt it, just try organizing a committee among your friends for some public purpose, and see how many will actually lend an active hand. Yet the very genius of democracy is the voluntary acceptance of these duties and tasks. It is when they are not accepted that a man comes riding along on horseback and says, "Okay, boys! Now I'll do it!"

Summer "barn theaters" offer a fine repertoire. But in one of them, it's reported, the same cow sticks her head through the window in every drama.

Pickpockets got $706 which a Vermont resident had been carrying in his pocket for six years. If he went that long without spending any of it, he'll never miss it.

"If a woman has any clothes at all, she should wear them," says a speaker against modern semi-nudity. That's it, though. Did you ever see a woman who'd admit she had any?

What Goes on Inside There?

THE NINETY-FIRST DISTRICT COURT

(Judge Davenport, presiding)
Cases Filed

The following new cases are of recent filing in the office of the district clerk for hearing in the 91st court:

George Horn, Jr., vs. Lynell Horn, divorce and custody of minor child. Opal Young vs. Elbert Young, divorce. Bessie Nunn vs. T. A. Nunn, divorce.

Criminal Verdicts
The following verdicts of guilty were decreed by Judge Davenport during the past week:

State of Texas vs. B. L. Carson, drunk driving. Guilty, fined $50 and 90 days in jail. Sentence suspended.
Gene Squires, convicted about three years ago, and sentenced to a charge of murder, and granted a furlough by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson the day his commitment reached the penitentiary officials, was still in jail Friday. However, Sheriff Russell, penitentiary official, stated he would reach Eastland in a few days to convey Squires to the penitentiary. Squires violated his furlough, left the state, but was recently arrested by California officials and brought back to Eastland.

Judgments and Orders
The following decrees were issued by Judge Patterson in the 88th court during the past week:

Ranger Independent School district vs. D. N. Waggoner et al, suit for school taxes. Judgment for plaintiff for $450 and foreclosure of tax lien.
George Horn, Jr., vs. Lynell Horn, custody of minor child. Judgment for plaintiff awarding him the custody of his minor child. It was shown to the court that the couple had been previously divorced, by a court in another state, at which time the plaintiff was residing in Eastland county, and the said minor child was still in his custody and cared for the minor child and will continue to do so, and furnish suitable home surroundings for the child. It was therefore the order of the court that plaintiff to have the care, custody and control of said minor, Jeanette Horn. It was the further order of the court that defendant, Lynell Horn, and others be enjoined from taking said minor child from his custody.
John Bowles vs. Lizzie Bowles, divorce. Dismissed on motion of both parties.
Lynnie Sanders vs. S. E. Sanders. Judgment for plaintiff.

THE ENIGHTY-EIGHTH DISTRICT COURT
(Judge Patterson, presiding)
New Case Filed

The following new cases are on file in the district clerk's office for litigation in the 88th court:

Laverne Howard vs. H. O. Howard, divorce and custody of minor children. Mrs. Anna Schaefer vs. West Texas Utilities Co., damages. Bulah Jones vs. J. D. Jones, divorce.

Roy Stallcup Gets Suspended Sentence

EASTLAND, Aug. 3 (Sp)—Roy Stallcup, of Eastland, has been given a two-year sentence, suspended, on a charge of forgery, according to 88th district court records Saturday.

Stallcup pleaded guilty to the offense, which was said to have occurred in February, and waived a jury trial. The sentence was suspended during good behavior. The charge was in connection with the forgery of a signature to a $125.00 check.

In another case in which he was charged with forgery of a $24 check, the defendant was released on personal recognizance in the sum of $1,000 pending final disposition of the first case.

when our second son hinted that he might bring a Ruth into the family. The possibility grew into a prospect and the prospect a likelihood and then a promise. Perhaps the name helped a little in adding to the welcome of a daughter-in-law. Then came what seemed a playful hint from the older son that he might also bring a Ruth to the family. But it rather took us off our feet when here came an announcement that it was already done. What we had hoped for as a single blessing in a daughter named Ruth was turning-out to be a double blessing—as we hoped. Of course, if either of us fond parents-in-law have a preference we have not breath-ered. Love seems to be one thing that is not diminished by being divided. So we are blissfully ignorant if there is a single thing to hinder us from welcoming to the full these indirect ways of having a wish of our early married life fulfilled. In fact, having altogether three sons, we look at one another and, half-playfully, half-anxiously, and maybe the other half, if there is another, say, "What if it were to be three!"

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—To understand the reason for much of the grief the New Deal has run into in Congress this summer it is necessary to know something about the strategic spot which the House Rules Committee occupies.

In some ways, this committee is one of the most important institutions on the Capitol Hill. Under ordinary circumstances, and with a few important exceptions, the rules committee can decide whether a bill may come up for a vote. In effect, it can shape the legislative policy of the House by deciding the subjects on which the House may act.

This is so because the House is an unwieldy body which annually faces more legislative material than it can possibly handle. When a bill is introduced it is referred to a committee, which may hold hearings on it and submit a recommendation for its passage or defeat. But with certain exceptions—principally appropriation and money-raising bills—this does not, of itself, bring the bill to the floor. That is up to the rules committee. It can confer privileged status on a bill, set the time for debate on it, and otherwise arrange the mechanics of bringing the bill before the House.

So, as a general thing, a bill gets before the House for discussion and voting only if the rules committee says so. Which means, of course, that it is all important for any administration to have a firm grip on the rules committee. Such a grip the New Deal does not have. The committee chairman, Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois, is a devout New Dealer—but real control of the committee has

Human and Other Nature

Perhaps all things do come to those who wait, if they wish for the right things and if they wait long enough. For some reason or other, which need not be told here—maybe some fair-haired or freckled-faced or otherwise little girl was a boyhood acquaintance with that name. I don't know—I like the name Ruth. So does my wife. So we could easily agree on that as the name of our first-born, and could also hope that she would be worthy of the name. When the first arrival turned out to be a boy, we just reserved the name for the second. This one turned out the same way, so we gave it up, perhaps with some slight hopes yet, or that some other way could possibly be found even if indirect. It seemed a pleasant surprise

June Business in Texas 5 Per Cent Up

AUSTIN, Aug. 3.—Texas business in June climbed five per cent above this time last year, University of Texas business statisticians said today.

Though the composite business index for June remained almost exactly at the May level, the gain over June, 1938, was termed "encouraging" by officials of the University Bureau of Business Research.

Little material change is anticipated during the next few months, but, as the national business picture appears to be definitely more favorable, "any departure from the present almost horizontal plane of the Texas business curve will have an upward rather than a downward tendency," it was stated.

"Such a development in the

Vacancies on Marine Corps to Be Filled

Twenty-five vacancies for service in the United States Marine corps are to be filled during August at the marine corps recruiting station in Dallas, Postmaster L. H. McCreary said today, according to information received from Captain J. L. O'Leary, officer in charge.

Applicants filling these vacancies will be selected from young men residing in Texas and Oklahoma, of which the Dallas office is headquarters. Young men between the ages of 18 and 25, of good moral character, and who have high school training are eligible to make application. Application blanks and other literature may be obtained at the post office or by writing to the U. S. Marine corps recruiting station, Dallas, he said.

The oldest rocks whose age has been definitely determined are in South Dakota and Manitoba—1,700 million years old.

national economy would tend to improve the demand for Texas' huge surplus commodities—notably oil and agricultural products—which in turn would stimulate Texas industry and trade in general," the bureau's report said.

SERIAL STORY WAR AND A WOMAN

BY BETTY WALLACE

COPYRIGHT, 1934. NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
LINDA STORM—Fell in love with her best friend's fiancé.
MARCIA KING—Navy girl, loved a flyer.
JIMMY COOPER—Naval flying instructor at Pensacola.
GEORGE CAMERON—Linda's fiancé.

Yesterday, Jimmy confesses that he no longer loves Marcia, that Linda is constantly in his thoughts. Angrily Linda blurt— "Even if there weren't Marcia, I'm a pacifist. I hate your work, and I hate you for being in it!"

CHAPTER VI

She hadn't meant to blurt it out like that. His eyes, stunned and stricken, were like holes in his face as he gazed down at her. She had hit him a blow in his most vulnerable spot—his work. She rushed on, "You Navy men, Army men, too—professional war mongers—don't realize what's going on in the minds of the rest of us. That's what Marcia tried to tell you that morning on the field. These planes here drive me mad! I read the papers, I see the dangers our country's in. I don't want us to be dragged into war, I can't stand the thought of people being killed. But you're teaching young men how to kill more effectively, Jimmy! That's your work, and it's part of you, and I hate it! So I hate you!"

She darted from his arms, her breath coming fast. She ran into the lighted room where people were dancing. Peter spied her at once. "My dance, Miss Storm!" Linda saw Marcia's eyes raking the room for Jimmy, and she was fiercely glad that here she was, right under Marcia's nose, dancing with Peter.

She mustn't think about Jimmy—mustn't think about what he was going through now. At last she saw Marcia heading for the porch.

"I—I've had enough," she mumbled to Peter. "I've a headache. Would you mind taking me home?"

"Gosh, I'm sorry." He led the way to his car, parked outside. They passed Marcia and Jimmy. Marcia's back was turned. Linda knew that Jimmy had seen her. Her chin went up. She took Peter's arm.

On the way home, with Peter driving, she tried to get control of herself. "Sure you're all right?" he asked once. "Perhaps we ought to stop at a drug store and get you a headache fizz."

"No, thanks. I'll be fine. But when you get back to the club, please tell Marcia... I forgot to say goodbye to her."

"It's just me," Linda said miserably. "I—I don't feel well."

"I'm sorry. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"No. I—I'll be all right."

The telephone rang. Mrs. King rose to answer it. She came back quickly. "Lucky you happened to come in right now. That's long distance for you."

George! Linda experienced a surge of thanksgiving. George had not written because he was so busy getting ready to leave, and now he was waiting to tell her, "I'll be there day after tomorrow. I'm taking the train right now."

"Hello," she said into the phone. "Hello, George."

"Hello, Linda." How good it was to hear his voice! Just the sound of it brought back Queensville and Daddy and home. All the safe, solid, everyday things that had been slipping away from her in the confusion of these past few days.

"George, you're coming down, aren't you?" she cried eagerly.

"Oh, I'm so glad! When will you be here?"

Instead of answering that, he was asking, "What happened Linda? Your letter sounded so queer, it alarmed me. What's the matter?"

"Nothing's the matter. I just missed you and I—I thought it would be nice if you could come and I—oh, George, surely you can leave the laboratory just for once! Surely I'm just as important to you as those instruments."

"But why do you need me, Linda?" She had forgotten how matter-of-fact George could be. Forgotten the solid common sense which always motivated him.

"I miss you," she urged desperately. "Isn't that enough? I—I'm lonely here. I—I wanted to go back, but Marcia wouldn't let me. Please come down, George."

"It's out of the question, Linda."

I can't afford a jaunt like that now. I'm up to my ears in work and I simply haven't the time, my dear."

"But, George, I want you here!" There was a silence. His voice came at last. "You know if there was any urgent reason, I'd come at once, Linda. But this is silly! You're in a strange place and you're probably homesick..."

"Then why did you bother telephoning me at all?" she choked. "Why didn't you just throw my letter into the wastebasket and forget it? If it doesn't matter to you that I need you, if you think I'm silly—"

"Linda!" he cried. "Linda, there is something wrong! You're not yourself."

"Oh, I'm myself, all right!" she replied swiftly. "And you're being yourself, too. I see it now. Your work comes first, it always has. I don't matter. All right, stay there. Go on with the experiments. Never mind about me. I'll get along."

"She took a deep breath, urged on by some malevolent impulse she did not fully understand herself. "Goodbye, George!" Of her own volition, her hand slammed the telephone back on its cradle, and she was getting up, walking unsteadily to her room.

When Marcia came in, hours later, Linda pretended to be asleep. She heard the other girl rap softly on her door. She heard her whisper, "Linda, Linda!" Then the footsteps went down the hall.

In the morning, Marcia's mother told her over the breakfast table, "That long distance call came through again last night. But you didn't answer when we called you."

Linda crumpled her toast. "Did it?" There had been nothing further to say. George wasn't coming, and any excuses would only make matters worse.

"What ailed you last night?" Marcia wanted to know. "Peter said you had a headache and ask—"

Louisiana Grand Jury Indicts Leon C. Weiss

55th Wedding--

eldest, Mrs. Laura McCoy of Breckenridge, was born in Weatherford before their coming to Sabanno.

The anniversary dinner, at which about 50 of their children and intimate friends were present, was served in a cool live oak grove on the Erwin homestead. Many others called in the afternoon to felicitate the couple on their long and harmonious residence in the Sabanno community, and their beautiful marital relations for more than a half century.

Both were young people when they settled their present homestead, and the country was virgin, the land fertile and plenty of game and wild animals inhabited the forests in that section. Crops were good and, like most of their neighbors, the Erwins prospered.

Now they are facing the western horizon of life, happy that they have lived in that beautiful conjugal bliss, and the knowledge that they are the parents of honorable men and women, whom they have watched and nurtured into manhood and womanhood, and are now surrounded by a large number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren upon whom they bestow their affection as was the case when their own children were young.

All of their eight children were present to do them honor on this occasion, and most of the grand and great-grandchildren. Of their children, their husbands and wives, were the following:

Mrs. Laura McCoy, Breckenridge; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Minix and son, Dundee; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Goodrum and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Little and family, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Erwin and sons, Jal, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Erwin and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Finis Erwin and family, Sabanno, and Miss Leona Erwin, Cisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin were charter members of the Sabanno Presbyterian church, in which all of their children are affiliated.
