BANDEEN TO BE SPEAKER FOR C OF C DINNER

WTCC HEAD TO BE GUEST ON AUGUST 25TH

Program Will Be First of Planned Monthly Series

D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce and one of the outstanding men in chamber of commerce work in the southwest will be the speaker for the first of the series of monthly dinners to be sponsored by the Cisco chamber of commerce. It was announced today. Mr. Bandeen was contacted by telephone today and agreed to speak at the dinner which will be held on the evening of Friday, August 25.

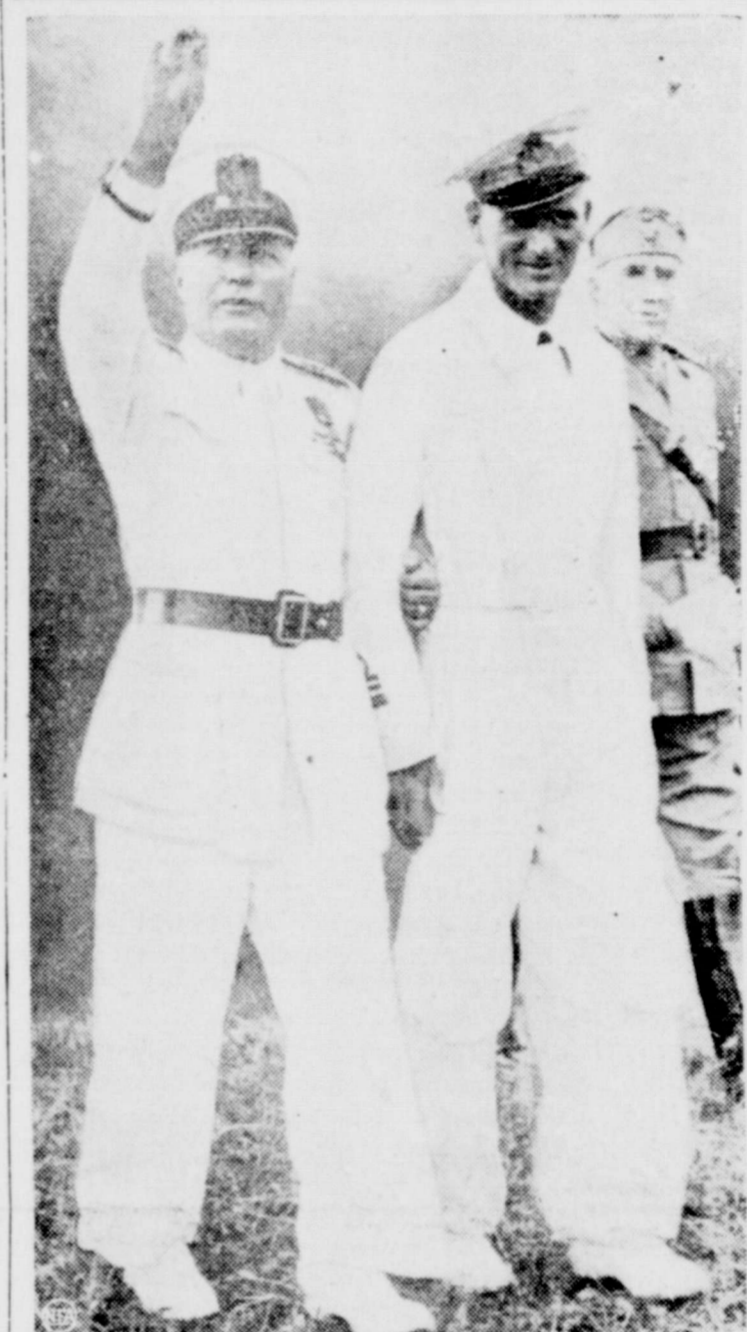

The dinner will be held at one of the churches and a price of 25 cents per plate will be charged. Mr. Bandeen's talk will deal with the opportunities before Cisco for community development and the necessity of community cooperation to accomplish this development.

The dinner will seek to bring about a liaison between the business and professional men and women of the community and the municipally supported chamber of commerce and to inaugurate a period of cooperative endeavor in behalf of a bigger and better community.

What the chamber of commerce is attempting to do will be explained. There will be an open forum during which a general discussion of community problems will be invited.

Attendance of every citizen who is interested in Cisco's welfare is sought.

FDR WARNS HE WON'T GO WITH C ONSERVATIVE

Gives Young Demos No Hint on Third Term Policy

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt told the Young Democrats' national convention that if his party insisted on nominating "conservative or lip-service candidates" in 1940 he would take no active part in "such an unfortunate suicide of the old democratic party."

The chief executive, in a carefully worded message read to the crowded, opening meeting by Pitt Tyson, mayor of Montgomery, Ala., retiring president of the Young Democratic clubs of America, asserted flatly he would not support a conservative in 1940.

"If we nominate conservative candidates, or lip-service candidates, on a straddlebug platform," he said, "I personally, for my own self-respect and because of my long service to, and belief in liberal democracy, will find it impossible to have any active part in such an unfortunate suicide of the old democratic party."

He predicted the democratic party would "fall if it goes conservative next year, or if it is led by people who can offer naught but fine phrases."

Giving no hint as to how he feels on a third term, Roosevelt added he did not expect a conservative to be nominated "for I believe the convention (next year) will see the political wisdom, as well as the national wisdom, of giving to the voters of the United States an opportunity to maintain the practice and the policy of moving forward with a liberal and humanitarian program."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), in a keynote speech following Maner's opening address, favored a "third term for Roosevelt's ideas" in 1940, and asserted the "king-makers of Wall Street" already had picked Gov. John M. Brickner of Ohio, for president, and he believed, Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, for vice-president.

Roosevelt struck out at "republican and democratic reactionaries" who "want to undo what we have done in these last few years and return to the unrestricted individualism of the previous century."

He said radicals of all kinds "have some use to humanity because they have at least the imagination to think up many kinds of answers to problems, even though their answers are wholly impracticable of fulfillment in the immediate future," adding:

"Liberals on the other hand are those who, unlike the radicals who want to tear up everything by the roots and plant new and untried seeds, desire to use the existing plants of civilization, to select the best of them, to water them and make them grow—not only for the present use of mankind, but also for the use of generations to come."

"That is why I call myself a liberal, and that is why, even if we go by the modern contraption of polls of public opinion, an overwhelming majority of younger men and women throughout the United States are on the liberal side of things."

Asserting recent events "have demonstrated the necessity of a restatement and a reaffirmation of democratic principles," he told the young democrats they had a right and duty to say to those "who want to stand still—'have you no program other than standing still. We are not satisfied if you tell us glibly that you believe in taking care of old people, that you want the young people to have jobs, that you want everybody to have a job, that you believe in a fairer distribution of wealth—we insist, in addition, that you give us specifications of how you would do it if you were in power.'"

COUNTY CLERK REVENUES UP DURING 1939

Increase in Activity in County Is Reflected in Filings

Reflecting a considerable increase in real estate and oil activity the revenues of the county clerk's office for the first six months of 1939 show an increase of $646.58 over those of the corresponding period of 1938, a tabulation by County Clerk R. V. Galloway today revealed.

Recording fees, Galloway said, have been much heavier during the period, due to the increase in the purchase of homes from loan companies and the increase in oil activity.

Revenues for the first six months of 1939 were $4,579.08 as compared with $3,932.50 for the first six months of 1938.

The month of June was the biggest month in point of revenues that the county clerk's office has had in three years. Receipts for that period were $1,068.10. For June 1938 they were $627.35. Of the first six months of 1939, Galloway's tabulation shows, four months were ahead of the same period in 1938 and two slightly behind.

Iron Mountain to Play Lions Team

The Iron Mountain undefeated hard ball club from Stamford will play the Cisco Lions club at the Lions lighted field tonight at 8:30, it was announced today. Admission for this game will be 10 and 15 cents.

Lefty Sublett and Rylice will alternate in the box for the home club with Jake Sublett catching. The visiting team includes five brothers.

WPA Recreational Leaders to Study at Texas U.

AUSTIN, Aug. 11 (Spe) — To brush up on their techniques under the watchful eye of their national head, 80 WPA recreational leaders will study at the University of Texas August 14-19.

Drawn from 273 communities in which they operate as field supervisors and project superintendents, the leaders will attend a six-day institute and short course conducted jointly by WPA and University of Texas experts.

G. Ott Romney of Washington, D. C., national director of the WPA recreation section, will attend, he has been announced.

Headed by Dr. D. K. Brace, physical education professor at the university, staff for the short course will be comprised of Miss (Continued on Page Four)

Mighty Muskie

Allen Van Camp, Wisconsin guide, has a tough time holding aloft the world record muskellunge taken from Grindstone Lake by Louis Spray of Grindstone, Wis. The 58-inch giant weighed 59 1/2 pounds, exceeding the former record by five ounces.

Drive for Boy Scout Funds to Be Made Tuesday

The annual campaign for financial support of the Boy Scout program in the Cisco district will be made next Tuesday, it was announced today.

A committee headed by G. R. Nance is now being completed and will give friends of Scouting an opportunity to contribute to this worthy cause. Cisco is a part of the Comanche Trail Council which comprises Eastland, Stephens, Erath, Comanche, Brown, Mills, San Saba and Lampasas counties. Communities receiving scouting assist each year in maintaining the expense necessary to carry on the work of the council.

It was pointed out that Cisco has not failed to do her part during the past several years.

E. P. Crawford vice president of the council is Cisco's chairman and J. D. Lauderdale is finance chairman for the local set-up.

They Had a Busy Day

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 11 (AP).—First a fire burned away the upholstery from the back seat of Fireman J. H. Adkins' car. Then a blaze did $100 damage to the garage of John Emyth, assistant fire chief. The department had a busy day taking care of its own.

Men Who Sail Floating Weather Vane Say They Like Sailing Nowhere

PARIS, Aug. 11 (AP).—The trans-Atlantic flyers' floating weather vane, carrying 62 men and a radish farm, came into port recently at LeHavre after 103 days of floating about on the North Atlantic.

The French meteorological ship Carimare has guided 14 transatlantic flights.

French, British and American air lines all joined together to back the Carimare. Its weather information is flashed by radio to all transoceanic air liners of these three nations.

The 62 men aboard, some scientists and weathermen, some sailors, came back from their fourth "voyage to nowhere" after 103 days to report that all went

Funeral for J. W. Wallace to Be Saturday

Funeral services for J. W. Wallace, 60-year-old native of Eastland county who died of a heart attack at his home on the Lake Bernie road yesterday afternoon, will be held at the First Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Joe I. Patterson, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Oakwood, with Green Funeral home in charge.

Pall bearers will be Walter Preston, Chuck Cannon, Jim Flourney, L. H. McCrea, Jess McCannies and W. H. Craddock.

Mr. Wallace is survived by his wife the former Miss Della Cone; two sons, Marshall and Wayne, of Cisco; two sisters, Mrs. Jonah Donovan and Mrs. Jesse Penn of Cisco, and a brother, J. B. Wallace of Kent, Texas. A sister, Mrs. Will Courtney and two brothers are dead.

Joseph W. Wallace was born on May 17, 1879, in Eastland county, the son of the late J. J. Wallace. All of his life was spent in this county. Death occurred at 5:30 Thursday afternoon following a heart attack which he suffered about 5 o'clock.

Did You Hear School Bells?

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 11 (AP).—Florida's strawberry schools have opened for the 1939-40 season.

The chief of them is Turkey Creek high school in the rich strawberry section east of Tampa. They are public schools in widely-separated sections of Florida's winter vegetable and fruit counties that hold classes most of the summer so they can let the pupils out to help with the crops in the rush of January, February and March harvest season.

Even in the bean and tomato sections, they're called strawberry schools because they started in the Hillsborough and Polk county sections between Tampa and Lakeland, where strawberries provide the chief winter money crop.

Commencement comes at Christmastime.

ORNITHOLOGICAL NOTE

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 11 (AP).—Santiago Maio, bird fancier, claims his cross between a Roller and a canary is the only black canary known in the western world.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Is Cisco growing?

That is a debatable question. Guy N. Quirl, scout executive for the Comanche Trail council told me this morning that it seems to him that it is. He has been coming through Cisco for ten years and more and lately his impressions of the community have been much more favorable than they were during the years of 1932 to 1936.

"There seem to be more people, more cars, less vacancies and a better spirit," he said. "The old spirit seems to be returning to the town."

He was particularly impressed with the popularity of the encampments at Lake Cisco this summer and praised the manner in which the Lake Cisco Amusement company properties have been conducted.

To a person who has lived constantly in Cisco, improvement or growth is not apparent, if it is at all apparent, as it is apparent to those who come at intervals and have the opportunity to compare. I believe we are getting better, that we are improving right along, and this is borne out by the experiences of those of Cisco who have gone away for the summer and have observed what is taking place in other parts of the country.

If we can, as a community, conserve the resources which we have and develop the opportunities that are rightfully ours there is no reason why Cisco cannot grow. It is simply a question of making the right investment and working at the job.

The day of the small town is past. It is merely a new day that is beginning if we have the vision and the courage to take advantage of the opportunity that is presented.

Rising Star Records 75-Inch Rainfall

RISING STAR, Aug. 11 (Spe).—According to the rain gauge kept by Gus Bowden on his farm a few miles south of town, only 75 inch of rain fell during the month of July, which is lowest record for the month in several years. July last year, the month of the Brady and San Saba floods 6.99 was recorded here.

The gauge kept by Cecil Shults, on his farm three miles north of town, showed a total of .80 for the same period.

Notwithstanding a dry month, crops are reported not to have suffered to any great extent, and the fine rain on Aug. 4th will be of great benefit to them and will go a long way toward maturing the peanut crop. The reading on the Bowden gauge for the rain last Friday was 1.96. Aug. last year showed a total of only .51.

Following are the dates and amounts of rain for July:

July 1, 4 P. M.	.05
July 8, 3 A. M.	.40
July 2, 9 A. M.	.30
Total	.75

SERIAL STORY WAR AND A WOMAN BY BETTY WALLACE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
LINDA STORM—Fell in love with her best friend's fiancé.
MARCIA KING—Navy girl, loved a flyer.
JIMMY COOPER—Naval flying instructor at Pensacola.
GEORGE CAMERON—Linda's fiancé.

Yesterday, Linda tells Jimmy their marriage is impossible while her father lives, while Jimmy remains in the Navy. Later she meets George, refuses to tell him about Jimmy, gives back his ring.

CHAPTER XIII
"Linda!" Started out of his chair, George Cameron was grabbing at her. "Linda, you can't do this!"

She eluded him, ran up the steps and yanked at the door. Behind her, she heard a tiny metallic sound as the platinum and diamond engagement ring fell to the stone walk. Then she was stumbling inside, closing the door against him. She stood with her back against it, her breath coming fast, for a long minute before she went upstairs. George would not ring the bell, nor hammer on the door. He'd go away, quietly. She knew him that well.

She did not realize until much later that her subconscious mind had acted against the will she had imposed on herself. "Break the engagement," Jimmy had pleaded. She'd replied that she couldn't. And yet, almost before his airplane had time to take off from the airport, that blind impulse to tear George's ring off her finger had egged her on.

With a sinking heart, she remembered Daddy. If she didn't placate George quickly, Daddy would hear of this. He must not hear of it.

"No shocks," Dr. Logan had ordered. What a monster she was becoming! What a selfish, insane fool!

But on Monday, she could not force herself to telephone George. It was better over. No matter what happened, this much was finished. If only she could hide it from Daddy a little while, until he was stronger.

She dreaded the time when Daddy would ask, "Where's George? He hasn't come to see me."

Yet when the day came—only three days after that fatal Sunday—she managed to answer, lightly still Marcia, with her trusting brown eyes. "I didn't want to lie to you, Daddy," she sobbed. "But I couldn't bear to hurt you."

"Darling, it will always hurt me more cruelly to have you keep the truth from me. I'm your father. Surely I can understand anything that you feel is right . . ."

She didn't feel that those planes were right. She hated them. This other problem was one she must face and fight alone.

Daddy didn't ask her what had precipitated her quarrel with George. All he said was, "Come here, Linda." He kissed her forehead. Then he was holding her in his arms as he had held her on those long ago days when she had skinned a knee or stubbed a toe. "My little girl. My dear, dear little girl."

Rourke found them like that when she came in with the tray. "A fine mess!" she grunted. "Get off that bed." Grudgingly, she added, "Go on, stay here if you want to. I'll be glad of a few minutes away from this room. He's been grumpy as an old bear!"

"I want you to be happy," he persisted. "If you've found that George can't make you happy, that's all right. I—I don't mind as much as you think, my dear." He patted her hand affectionately. "Sometimes I thought it was my influence that was the only cause for your ever having become interested in George. I used to wonder if it was wise. Because you're so young and alive—the way your mother was."

Her mother. She had died when Linda was a baby. Daddy seldom mentioned her, his grief and loss had gone too deep.

"George is a fine man, Linda. You know what I think of him as a scientist and teacher. But when I saw you two together, sometimes, I had my doubts. I refused to face them." He smiled in a wry way. "I told myself that your youth and beauty were not as vulnerable as they seemed to me. I told myself you were enough my daughter to value George's mind, his scholarly achievements. I was an old fool, my dear. You are your mother's daughter. She married me for no reason in the world except that we loved each other."

Linda was weeping helplessly before he finished speaking. How correctly he had read her heart! She ached with love for him. But there was more to it than this. Much more. There were still those bombers, black against the sky.

adjusted the bed lamp. She straightened and tidied the room for the night, feeling a new and sweet peace pervade her. After Daddy was settled with his precious manuscript, and miles away from her, she sat down herself and picked up the evening paper.

Bad news. Bad news. She glanced at headlines impatiently, wanting not to connect them with the Navy or with Jimmy.

Suddenly a line of black type jumped up at her. Linda stiffened, her fingers crumpling the edges of the newspaper. She must be dreaming! But she had certainly read Jimmy's name.

Swiftly, her eyes were skimming over the column heads again. There it was. "TWO NAVAL OFFICERS KILLED IN CRASH." And under that, "LIEUTENANTS JAMES COOPER AND T. D. RYLAND INJURED AS CRACK NAVAL BOMBER BURNS."

Cold Water Is Recommended As Stain Remover

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 11—Summer stains from fruits and beverages, automobile grease, rust or mildew require immediate attention if they are to be satisfactorily removed, Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, Texas A. and M. college extension service specialist in clothing, advises.

It's best to begin work on removing immediately, she says, for old stains which have been "set" by improper treatment are frequently hard to remove. "Before using anything else," she suggests, "try the simple, universal remedy—cold water. It does no harm and may do wonders, for it sets no stains, endangers no dyes." Any water spot remaining may be steamed out easily.

"In removing a fruit stain, coffee, or tea, stretch the stained part over a pan and then pour boiling water on it from a height so that the water will strike the stain with force," Mrs. Barnes says. She adds that javelle water is also good for removing these stains. Many stain removers had best be purchased compounded, but a number can be made at home. Mrs. Barnes says, listing javelle water, oxalic acid, and potassium permanganate in this classification. In making javelle water, dissolve one pound of sal soda or pearl ash in one quart of boiling water, and dissolve one-half pound chloride of lime in two quarts of cold water. Stain both liquids and combine when cool. Bottle and keep in a cool, dark place. When applying a chemical, use a medicine dropper, she advises.

"For automobile grease, axle grease, or tar, use kerosene; then wash the article in soap and water," Mrs. Barnes says. "Clothing affected with mildew should be soaked in lemon juice or vinegar and salt and then placed in the sunshine. In removing iron rust use any of the following: Lemon juice, salt and sunshine; javelle water; or commercial iron rust eradicator."

Elisha: A Life of Helpfulness

TEXT: II Kings 5:1-10, 14

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

THE mantle of Elijah fell upon Elisha, who also was a man of courage although his is described in our lesson as "a life of helpfulness."

In Naaman's household was a little girl who had been brought captive when the Syrians had invaded Israel. This captive maiden might naturally have had no interest in Naaman's leprosy, or she might have had even the veneful feeling of delighting that a great Syrian of the armies that had torn her from her home had been smitten with affliction.

BUT the little maid may have received kindness in the household of Naaman, or she may have been of a loving and forgiving disposition. At any rate, she spoke to her mistress and assured her that if Naaman were with the prophet in Samaria (that is, in her own country) that prophet would heal him of his leprosy.

It was creditable to Naaman that he should have listened to the little girl's suggestion. Captains of hosts have not always been as considerate, and we like Naaman all the better on that account. When he told the matter to the king, the king gave him a letter to the king of Syria.

Israel and gave him also great presents of silver and gold and raiment that he might bring these to the king of Israel. In turn, the king of Israel was greatly troubled by these things. He had no power to heal Naaman of his leprosy, and it looked to him as if the king of Syria was seeking to create a quarrel with him, possibly as a pretext for invading his kingdom.

It was under these circumstances that Elisha heard of the matter. So Naaman came with his horses and chariots to the door of Elisha. He may have expected that the prophet would come forth and bow before his greatness and give him obeisance. But instead, Elisha sent a messenger, who did not even bring a very conciliatory message, for he told Naaman that as a means of his cleansing he must go and wash in the Jordan seven times.

Can we wonder that Naaman was exceedingly angry? He of course thought that Elisha would greet him differently and with great ostentation tell him what he should do. Moreover, he was furious at the slighting of his own land, and he said, "Aren't Abana and Parphar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel?" It was true, too, for these streams were rivers running from the mountain, whereas the Jordan was sluggish and muddy.

Naaman was ready to go back to Syria in disgust, but he had a wise servant to whom he was wise enough to listen in spite of his anger. The servant reminded him that if Elisha had demanded of him some great thing he would have done it. Why should he then not do this simple thing that Elisha commanded? So Naaman went and dipped seven times in the Jordan, and his leprosy was healed.

What a wealth of teaching there is in such a lesson! How much greater are goodness and humility and common sense than pomp and splendor and the magnificence of armies and commandments!

Stock for New Furniture Store Is Moved In

Stocks of furniture direct from Chicago's August mart were moving into the building formerly occupied by the Home Furniture company this week as the R. A. Glenn Furniture company began preparations to open its store here on September 1. Mr. Glenn and his son, Ralph Glenn who will be in charge, were here yesterday afternoon superintending the unloading of the first trucks.

"We will have a stock as large or larger than any that has ever been on display in Cisco," said Mr. Glenn. "We will have prices as high as those offered anywhere. If we do not sell furniture we shall count it our fault—not the fault of the territory. We are going to advertise the Cisco store to the four corners of the Cisco trade territory and we are going to do business in such a way that we will sell furniture if it can be sold. We invite the people of Cisco to call on us."

Legally Married, He Must Pay

In Oklahoma City court, Fred P. Branson, former chief justice of Oklahoma supreme court, learns Madeline Braniff Branson, his former secretary, is legally married to him, entitled to $250 a month support. At hearing, 59-year-old Branson, now an oil man, had claimed wedding was illegal because it took place within six months of former wife's divorce.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Aug. 11 (AP)—Two Bowling Green orchardists have a solution for the current controversy over the new tennis ball, which Australian tennis players contend shows fuzzi quickly and becomes too heavy.

The two—Roger Porter and E. D. Hudgens—have "peach fuzzers" in operation on their farms.

The machines, through a system of brushes, turn out peaches minus the undesirable "whiskers" at the rate of a bushel a minute.

Exclusive Rain Falls in Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kas., Aug. 11 (AP)—It took a quirk of fate to do it, but there'll be plenty of corn next fall for the national cornhusking contest on the F. H. Leonard place.

Hot, dry weather burned a lot of the corn near Lawrence, but the Leonard crop is flourishing and green. It received a couple of rains that almost were exclusive. In both instances the rain came in the nick of time when the corn needed moisture and in both instances it fell only on the Leonard acres and on a few surrounding farms.

With Our WILD LIFE

By JOHN R. WOOD State Game Warden

The Old Roadrunner

Having determined to their satisfaction that the armadillo does very little damage to quail nests and eats practically no eggs, fi-ny, experts of the game department have been concentrating upon a study of the food habits of the roadrunner, that long-tailed bird so familiar to west and south Texas.

Stories have long made the rounds that the roadrunner was a destroyer of quail and their eggs.

Examination of the stomachs and contents therein of many roadrunners shows that there was no evidence of quail or their eggs being eaten. On the other hand, it has been definitely proved that 85.6 per cent of all foods of the roadrunners is insects. Reptiles, most of which were lizards, totaled 6 per cent. Vegetable matter composed 2 per cent and birds made up 6.4 per cent, including cactus wren, sparrow lark.
