RODEO DATES MOVED UP TO AVOID CONFLICT

WINTERS MAN NEW DIRECTOR OF LOBO BAND

Accepts Election to Succeed R. L. Maddox This Morning

R. J. Patterson, bandmaster of Winters high school for two years, will be the new bandmaster for the Cisco high school, President O. J. Russell of the Cisco school board announced this morning following a telephone conversation with Patterson.

The new director has been with the Winters schools for three years. He is 27 years of age, married, and his wife and Mrs. Patterson have no children. They are both graduates of an Iowa college. Patterson is nephew of Prof. Moreland, head of the department of education of Abilene Christian college at Abilene. Both he and Mrs. Patterson are members of the Presbyterian church.

Patterson has made an excellent record as director of the Winters school. He attended the Texas Tech school of band this summer.

He will succeed Robert L. Maddox, who goes to Mexia as director of the Mexia Black Cat band, after four years as Lobo band director. Maddox came to Cisco from Ranger where he spent seven years.

Ciscoans Urged to Attend Mineral Wells Ceremony

All friends of W. H. LaRoque, and especially every member of the Cisco Lions club who can possibly do so, was urged in a statement by Lion President A. G. Tuttle today to attend the ceremonies at Mineral Wells Thursday night. Mr. LaRoque is currently on his way to the office as governor of District 2-E of Lions International.

It is a distinct and unusual honor for Cisco and the Cisco Lions club to be permitted to furnish the governor for this district, said Mr. Tuttle. "Cisco and the Lions club of Cisco should show appreciation of that honor, which this appreciation can be shown in the presence of a large representation at Mineral Wells Thursday evening, when the formal inaugural ceremonies will be held.

This is not a closed program. It is open to all who wish to attend. I sincerely hope that the friends of Mr. LaRoque will attend and especially that members of the Cisco Lions club will be present at 8 o'clock at the Crazy hotel.

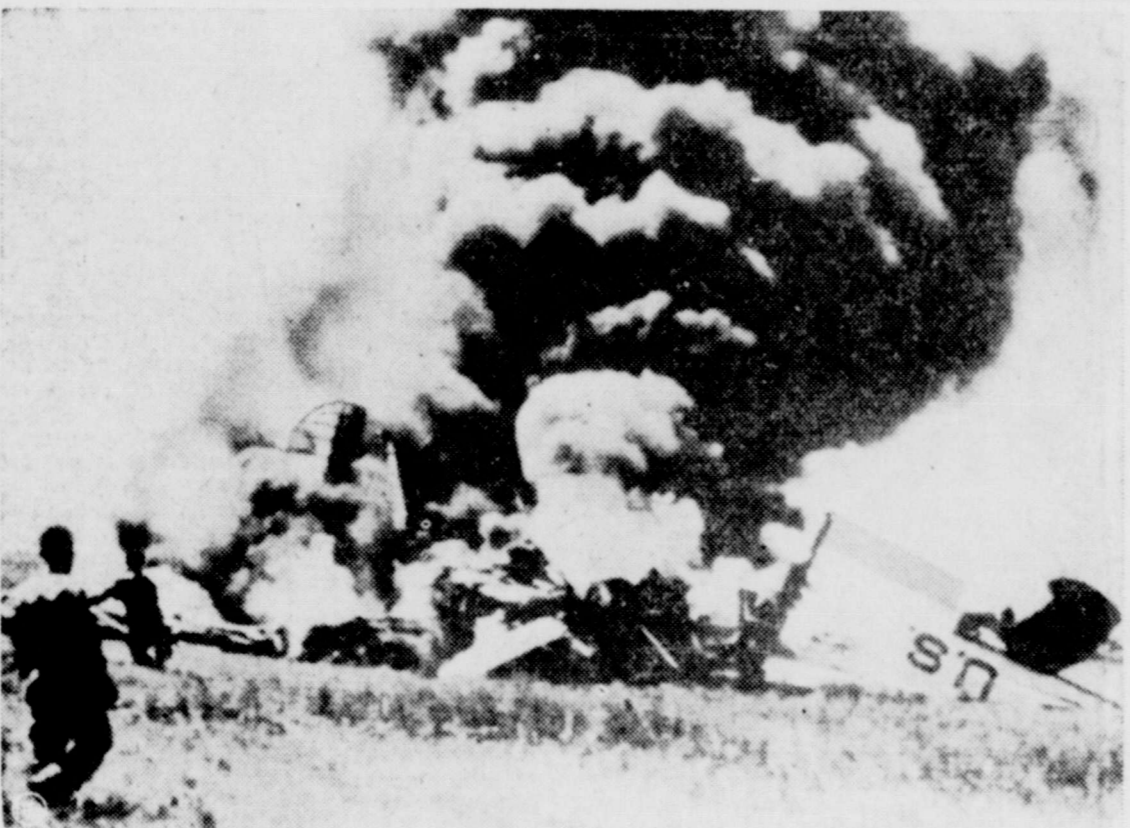

"I repeat—this is an honor to Cisco and the club that does not come very often. I hope that the friends of Mr. LaRoque and the club show their appreciation in a banner that will not cause any regret either on our part or that of the district."

Mr. LaRoque will be inducted into office in ceremonies at the Crazy hotel at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

Committee to Visit Gold Star Candidates

The committee for selecting the old star girl for Eastland county for this year will visit the demonstrators of the girls who are candidates for the award. Each club in the county has selected their outstanding member, and from this group the committee will select the girl who is most outstanding in the county. The committee is composed of Mrs. J. A. Cox of Ranger, chairman of the education committee of the Women's Home Demonstration club; Addie Spurlin of Olden, the old star girl for 1938, and Phyllis Condon of Kokomo, an outstanding 4-H club member.

Nine Die in Army Bomber Crash

A blazing mass of twisted steel and fabric, this U. S. Army bomber carried a crew of nine to death on a practice flight at Langley Field, Va., Aug. 11. Piloted by Lieut. Homer M. MacKay, commissioned last week, the huge twin-engined Douglas crashed in flames shortly after take-off. Crash crews raced to the scene on hearing the explosion as the plane struck ground, but could not remove bodies for two hours because of heat from the flames. A three-man board is investigating the crash, believed caused by motor trouble. This picture was taken immediately after the crash.

West Central Texas Operators Favor Shutdown

ABILENE, Aug. 15 (Sp.)—Representatives of west central Texas oil producers last night were reported to be favorable to the 15-day statewide shutdown ordered by the railroad commission.

Although not agreeing with the reasons given for cutting of crude oil prices by major purchasers, they were as a body of the opinion the shutdown order was the best action that could have been taken, in view of the situation into which the industry had been catapulted.

Art Frazier, president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas association, said that organization would try, during the 15-day shutdown period, to work with the state railroad commission and people of the oil industry, in an effort to get adoption of a statewide oil proration schedule that would be fair to all fields of the state and immune to attacks in the courts such as were made against the last statewide proration order.

J. C. Hunter, president of the General Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, and Frazier, left Abilene late yesterday for Oklahoma City, where a series of three important conferences of oil producers will be held today. The conferences will be held by oil states compact commission, headed by Ernest O. Thompson, of the Texas railroad commission; governors of oil-producing states or their representatives; and members of oil regulatory bodies of the various states.

Program for "Goat Day" at Terrell Ranch on August 25th Is Completed

Plans for the program during the Eastland county goat day at the Terrell ranch on Friday, August 25, have been completed by a committee composed of Dr. R. H. Hodges, Ranger; J. F. Donley, Ranger; John Thurman, Eastland; and Elmo V. Cook, county agent. Those appearing on the program will include Dr. T. C. Terrell, Ft. Worth; W. R. Nisbet, extension animal husbandman; Dr. I. B. Boughton, veterinarian, Texas agricultural experiment station; Frank Grayson, mohair marketing specialist, U. S. department of agriculture; Jack Shelton, vice-director, extension service; W. I. Glass, district agent, extension service; Miss Ruth Ramey, coun-

Paul Poe Named Legion Commander

Paul Poe was elected post commander of the John Williams Butts post of the American Legion at a meeting of the post last night. Other officers were chosen as follows: A. L. Clark, first vice commander; Fred Watson, second vice commander and L. G. McPherson, third vice commander; M. H. French, adjutant; Haywood Cabaness, service officer; Joe I. Patterson, chaplain; J. T. Eggen, child welfare officer; Roy Phippen, sergeant-at-arms. Delegates to the state convention at Waco August 27-28-29 will be Paul Poe and M. H. French.

Few Violations of Shutdown Order Reported

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (Sp.)—Scattered violations of the railroad commission's order shutting down oil fields were reported today.

Unconfirmed reports at Houston said a few wells in Galveston, Harris, and Montgomery counties were flowing.

In the Wichita Falls area a number of wells continued in production as operators mustered legal talent for a fight on the order.

Meanwhile the Interstate oil commission met in Oklahoma City this afternoon to discuss retaliatory measures against the price cuts announced by a number of the pipe line companies.

Cisco Scouts to Have Caucus On August 29th

All Cisco Boy scouts will be invited to take part in a big pre-school get-together, each scout to have the privilege of inviting his dad or someone to serve as his dad, on August 29, at a place to be selected later, it was announced today by Guy N. Quirl, scout executive for the Comanche Trail council.

Quirl was in Cisco in connection with the annual drive for Boy scout funds, under the direction of local Chairman G. R. Nance.

The arrangement committee for this caucus, he said, will consist of Jack Lauderdale, chairman, Crandall Jones, M. D. Paschall and Luther Ponsler.

The switch committee is composed of Bob Grantham, Phil McCantles, J. Donovan and Dennis King.

Many surprises, said Mr. Quirl, are hidden in the following program:

- 7 p. m. Assembly, Scout Glenn Tableman.
- Music, Hittson-Schaefer orchestra.
- Eats, (Cook your own).
- Music, orchestra and scouts.
- Camp Fire Indian and Scout fashion.
- 9 p. m. Impressive closing ceremony.

Taps.

All scouts wanting to attend should register their name and their buddy (dad or some man) with Jack Lauderdale at the Press office.

Ranger Clips Its Bonded Indebtedness

RANGER, Aug. 15 (Sp.)—Mayor Hall Walker of Ranger announced today that the city of Ranger had decreased its bonded indebtedness by $104,800.00 since the first of the present calendar year, and that the total general bonded indebtedness was now approximately $618,840.00. There are $30,000.00 in unexchanged bonds.

The reduction in the amount of outstanding bonds against the city of Ranger was affected by purchase of the bonds from the bondholders, thereby reducing the bonded debt and at the same time making a reduction in the amount of interest payments due semi-annually on outstanding bonds.

Work on ways to reduce the amount of outstanding general bonds was started more than two years ago, and much thought has been given the matter since it first came up for consideration.

4-H BOYS TO VISIT CISCO BEEF RANCHES

Will Select Calves for Feeding Projects During Winter

Thirty-five Eastland county 4-H club boys who plan to feed beef calves beginning September 1, with their dads, will tour with the county agent tomorrow to inspect some of the best beef herds in the county. A number of the boys have secured their calves and are preparing their feed lots where they will feed weaned beef calves for a 20-day feeding period.

Beef calves will be inspected at the George P. Fee ranch, one mile from Cisco on the Breckenridge highway, the G. P. Mitcham ranch, nine miles northwest of Cisco, the Bob Weddington ranch, five miles northwest of Cisco, Crofts brothers ranch, seven miles north of Cisco, Idus Echols stock farm, 10 miles southeast of Eastland in the Staff community, and Black brothers ranch, five miles north of Gorman.

4-H club boys who have been invited to make the tour with their dads are Billy Henderson, Billy Johnson, Ralph Wheat, Billy Walker, Wyatt, Winice, Graham, A. L. Wheatley, Clifton Beck, Harold Huling, Bill Nix, Ned Smith and Stuart Utley, of Eastland; Paul Davis of Cisco; Bobby Roy Eakin, Sig Faircloth, Jr., Dick Hodges, H. O. Woods, Jr., Howard Hinman, Allen Gleen Wheeler, W. K. Cooper, Lee Greer, Bobby Lowe, Wallace, Billy Joe Ogden, Wilbur Boone and Troyce Boone of Ranger; James Jobe, Harold Phillips, Edward Roberts and Tommy John Williams of Gorman; Ira E. Scott of Sipe Springs; Otis Adams, Jr., and Roy Wayne Acker of Carbon, and Billy Claborn and Herman Claborn of Okra.

Wichita Operator Will Defy Comm'n Shutdown Order

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 15 (Sp.)—J. S. Bridwell, large-scale independent oil operator, said yesterday none of his wells will be closed today.

"We will do nothing about the railroad commission's fifteen-day shutdown order until we receive an official copy. Then we will join the order," Bridwell said.

"The railroad commission was wholly without authority to issue an order based on the price of oil," Bridwell added. "This action was based on price and not on prevention of waste."

Bridwell said he had never opposed an order of the commission before, but asserted the 15-day shutdown, effective at 7 a. m. Tuesday, was impractical.

"We realize a number of operators will be granted exceptions, but we are tired of that kind of program," he said.

A number of other independent operators indicated they would await official confirmation of the order before closing their wells. One major company, the Texas company, said it would halt production in its 1,100 wells in the north Texas district at 7 a. m. Tuesday.

The North Texas Oil and Gas association, composed largely of independents, wired the commission, protesting the shutdown order and urging an immediate blanket exemption for the stripper wells in this area. To W. S. Farish, president of the Standard Oil company of the Humble Oil and Refining company, the association wired a request that he "clarify" his present position on conservation so the association might "intelligently determine its attitude on pending national legislation suggestions."

Mr. and Mrs. George Christie and sons spent Sunday in Temple.

Germany's New 'West Wall'

That Germany is fast becoming invulnerable against tank attack is shown in the picture, above, of concrete and barbed wire anti-tank barriers which stretch for miles opposite France's Maginot line. An important part of the new "invincible" Westwall fortifications, the barriers are being constructed by Germany's vast labor forces drawn from industry.

Deaths Mount to 23 in Rail Wreck

RENO, Nev., Aug. 15 (Sp.)—Deaths mounted to 23 Monday in the wreck of the crack streamline train "City of San Francisco" as police pushed a general roundup of suspicious characters in railway yards in quest of the mass murderer blamed for last Saturday's tragedy.

Two men were questioned in jails of two states as rescue crews found the bodies of two women and a man in the train's twisted wreckage. Two other men died in an Elko hospital of their injuries.

Latest victims recovered from the wreckage were Mrs. Henry P. Vaux, of Port Lodge, Rosemont, Pa., and her daughter, Susan M. Vaux. Their bodies were found late Monday in their demolished drawing car "Twin Peaks."

Albert Johnson, Chicago, at first reported by the Southern Pacific company to have perished in the wreck, was found tonight to be alive, though seriously injured, in an Elko, Nev., hospital.

One hundred fourteen others on the train were injured or badly shaken up, nearly 100 of them requiring at least first aid treatment, when the $2,000,000 train was hurled into a rocky Nevada canyon by a rail which authorities said was deliberately misplaced.

Would Release Suspect

Chief of Police Andy M. Welliver announced tonight that tomorrow he would probably release Bob La Duceur after federal, local and railroad police had spent all day questioning him.

Welliver said he was arrested because he answered the description of the "earless man" whose strange action made him one of the main objectives of the search.

Five men were taken from an eastbound freight train at Ogden, Utah, and held for questioning. From Ogden to Oakland, Calif., police watched railway yards for the "earless man" and for a railroad man who raved against the company the day before the wreck.

Chief Welliver said the earless man had been reported "acting suspiciously at Fernley, and had inquired yesterday morning at a Fernley garage. 'Has anything happened?'"

Under one of the cars, company officials said, wreck crews found the twentieth victim. Of the known dead eleven were passengers, six of the women. Seven of

EVENT TO BE PRESENTED ON AUG. 31-SEPT. 1

Midland and Ranger Labor Day Shows Are Avoided

Dates for the Cisco rodeo have been moved up four days in order to avoid a conflict with two other rodeos, it was announced this morning following the junior chamber of commerce dinner at the Laguna hotel last night and conferences with Ranger rodeo officials and Ollie Cox, who will put on the Cisco rodeo.

Cox strongly urged the move, pointing out that the Midland show would overshadow the Cisco show and attract all the cowboys, while the conflict between Cisco and Ranger rodeos would be a further deterrent because the cowboys would steer clear of what they felt was an inter-community fight.

"We would hate to put 100 or more head of classy stock on the field and have no cowboys to ride them," said Cox. "I have talked to lots of them, and it is the thing to do. If you move this show to Thursday and Friday, August 31 and September 1 you'll get plenty of cowboys. There isn't any other rodeo on those dates and you'll pack the park."

Tough Stock

Cox is bringing some of the toughest jockey stock in the west from his famous Double Heart ranch near Sweetwater to Cisco for this show. From here the stock will be taken to Arlington for a big show on September 11.

Reports to the junior chamber of commerce last night were greatly encouraging. Response to plans for the sponsors contest, in charge of Mrs. Sutton Crofts, has been excellent. Changing of the dates has materially helped this, also, it was explained, because so many towns could not send sponsors both to Cisco and to Midland.

At least 20 girls are assured for this part of the show. They will be here for two days under present plans.

Ranger rodeo officials, headed by Sig Faircloth, were making plans to reciprocate Cisco's courtesy in moving up the local show dates by designating a Ranger day at the Cisco show and bringing over a body of citizens. Ranger performers were also expected to enter the rodeo in large numbers.

Well Pleased

Charles Moad, general show chairman, was well pleased with the results, he said at a conference of committeemen this morning.

Saturday was set as the deadline for getting rodeo regalia to be worn by business men on the streets as an advertisement. The big iron portable jail, constructed by Charlie Sandler, is already on the street ready for occupancy. A fine of $1 or incarceration for one hour in this cell is the penalty for failure to wear some item of cowboy costume, rodeo committeemen said.

Building of the fence was under way at Chesley field today. Chutes will also be constructed. Lighting equipment will not be put up until a day or so before the show begins. The lights in use at the Lions' lighted park are expected to be used.

Cisco and Stamford Play This Evening

The Cisco hard ball team will play the Iron Mountain nine from Stamford this evening at 8:15 at the Lions club park, it was announced. Admission of 10 and 15 cents will be charged.

Ryee and Sublett will pitch for Cisco and Baldy Bowers for Stamford.

Miss Evelyn Osment will spend the week with Miss Norma Gholmley.

Baird Suit on Power Plant Is Postponed

BAIRD, Aug. 15 (Sp.)—Trial of a suit brought by a citizens' committee against the city of Baird et al, a new outgrowth of the squabble over construction of a municipal light plant, was postponed Monday by Judge Milburn S. Long, of 42nd district court, until August 28.

The delay was on motion of the plaintiffs' counsel, who asked more time to prepare their case.

Filed last Friday, the suit was to have been heard Friday.

Plaintiffs are T. E. Powell, C. W. Connor and Mr. Hall, the same ones who filed the original suit contesting the validity of the election which favored the municipal plant.

Also named defendant with the city council is Albert C. Moore, consulting engineer of San Antonio.

The plaintiffs' petition alleges irregularities in preparation of specifications for competitive bidding.

Representing plaintiffs are W. E. Martin and Ben L. Cox of Abilene. Dallas Scarborough of Abilene and County Attorney Felix Mitchell are counsel for the defense.

Put On Stand

Powell, Connor and Martin were put on the stand Monday morning for questioning after Scarborough had filed a motion with Judge Long to interrogate them to prove that the suit was not filed for the West Texas Utilities company. Replying to Scarborough's queries, Powell and Connor denied that the utilities firm had anything to do with the case, and asserted that they had taken action solely on their own initiative.

Martin was asked who paid his fee in the election contest suit, to which he replied that he had

Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good... —3 John 11, 14

There seems but worthy one—to do men good.
It matters not how long we live, but how.

Safeguarding U. S. Lifeline Begins at Once

It is good to learn that the construction of the third set of locks of the Panama Canal is to begin at once.

More and more it is apparent that the Canal Zone is the jugular vein of the United States. In any "national emergency" that might be attempted in America, the Canal is vital. In any "national emergency" of naval force from east to west, the Canal is vital. The canal is vital. It is the only route to Panama, new air fields, new air bases, new air bases, and other defenses are to be provided as fast as possible.

When the Panama Canal was opened in 1914, it was not only a wonder of the modern world, but its facilities were considered ample. Today even those marvelous locks, which operate with such precision, are barely big enough. The great British battleship Hood, passing through the Canal, overhung the edges of the locks, and even knocked off a few lamp-posts in making the transit. Bigger ships are to come.

So purely from the standpoint of facilities, the new locks will be a good thing. But there is another aspect. In this day of undeclared wars, it is generally presumed that the first notice the United States would have a war on it by any other country would come in the form of an attack without warning on the canal. This would come either by air, or by the blowing up in the locks of a foreign ship making the transit. Either, if luckily carried out, might block the canal for many months.

The new locks, when completed will be understood to be for the use of U. S. naval vessels in general, with such exceptions as the military authorities might make. In time of crisis, none but U. S. naval ships would probably be allowed in them at all. That would eliminate the chance of blowing up a vessel and blocking them. Of course the new locks, while close enough to the old ones to be protected by many of the same aerial defenses, would be far enough off to require two very lucky attacks to close the canal rather than one. Every country in the two Americas may feel safer when this job is done.

BUT in addition, the Nicaraguan plan has not been abandoned. A commission of eight experts is on the way to that country to survey a moderate-draft canal and parallel highway system for that country. This survey results from recent conversations between President Somoza and President Roosevelt at the White House.

This would not be, at least immediately, a deep-draft canal that would handle the largest vessels, but it might afford some shallow-draft transit at comparatively small expense, and the beginning of what might later be made into a second Isthmian waterway.

All the American nations, and especially, of course, the United States, thus show that they are alert to the problem of hemisphere defense, and that they do not propose to neglect them while the world continues in its present jittery condition.

Oysters, according to a scientist, have no feeling and do not mind being eaten alive. This explains why we hear no screams of pain when we plunge a fork into the creatures' innards.

'Conservative Would Bolt'
A man close to a purge, one of those democratic senators the president tried to squeeze out of the senate last year.

"It all depends on what the democratic convention does in 1940. If the convention names a man acceptable to some of us, the president doesn't seem to like, all well and good. But if the president tries to run for a third term, or tries to put one of his yes-men in the saddle—and succeeds in doing either—it is my considered judgment that 90 per cent of the conservative democratic party will bolt. Yes, and most of them will vote the republican ticket!"

A democratic senator in the economy bloc.

"If the president runs for a third term, he'll split the democratic party wide open. That's all there is to it; it's happened before that way, and it will happen again."

There you have a fair cross section of opinion in high places. Note the various views. Yes, you've guessed it. They are no more sure of what it's all about than you and your neighbor. They argue just as much as you and your neighbor.

And which of these men are closest to being right? That's anybody's guess. But remember that both the democratic and republican opponents of the president in the rebellious house this year agree that the democratic party can kiss and make up before disaster occurs, with little harm done to either side. Those opinions look pretty fair to the experts who profess no interest in the fate of either party next year.

Hog Creek Included in Watershed Project

Land on the watershed of Hog creek in Eastland county, a small area surrounding Desdemona, is included in a proposed soil conservation district, which embraces also the western part of Erath county and small portions of Comanche and Hamilton counties. Interested landowners in the district will attend a hearing called by the state soil conservation board and Dublin at 10 a. m. Wednesday, August 23. The hearing, called upon petition of a number of landowners in the proposed district, will determine whether the state board shall call an election to determine whether a sufficient percentage of the interested landowners want to soil conservation district established. Landowners owning land on the watershed of Hog creek are being urged by County Agent Cook to attend the hearing at Dublin.

Political Forecasting

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, August 15 (AP)—Now that the men who make political history in the capitol have said all they have to say about 1940 FOR the record, what do they really think about the presidential year ahead—OFF the record?

I have put the question to several key men. I have talked to democrats and republicans, pro-Roosevelt men, and anti-Roosevelt men, economy-minded men and spenders.

They all are willing to think out loud for your benefit, so long as I do not give them away. It's too early to be putting definite opinion opposite one's name, especially for men in a position of leadership, or close to it. Early opinions often come home too soon.

But just so you won't be misled, I'm giving you a general focus on the political complexion of these men. That will also give you an idea how much what they say should be discounted, if any.

F. D. R. Practical

Here goes—
A republican representative close to the strategists who helped scuttle parts of President Roosevelt's program for 1939:

"There's a lot of talk that the president and his conservative opposition in the democratic party will split the party wide open in 1940. We are not convinced this is true. If it were, of course, that would be... we would win in a walk.

"We are well aware that the president is a practical politician. Some people even call him an opportunist. Therefore, he's not going to promote a suit unless he thinks the New Deal can win in the long run by such tactics.

"For instance, if the president thought the country were going republican in 1940 in spite of everything he and the democratic party could do, he might be tempted to split the democrats, separating the 'liberal' sheep from the 'conservative' goats, as he would put it, and let us win in the process. Then he could sit back on the sidelines in 1944 kibitzing for four years, hoping to get the New Deal back in the saddle in 1944.

"For that reason, we're not counting our chickens before they hatch, and the minority will be in there voting solid, holding its lines taut on the next congress."

'Breath Will Heal'

An economy-minded democratic representative who fought the president all along the spending line throughout the 1939 session:

"There is a fundamental difference between the president and the old-line democrats, such as myself, who believe in keeping down government costs on general principles. There's no getting around that.

"But I don't believe the split within the democratic party is hopeless. I rather look for the breach to be healed before 1940 rolls around. After all, we could support any candidate nominated by the convention, even a third-term Mr. Roosevelt, with perfect logic. We agree with his objectives, but we disagree with his methods.

"Furthermore, remember what Carter Glass said, 'The democratic party at its worst is better than the republican party at its best.' I think most all democrats will come running to the party fold in 1940."

'F. D. R. In Earnest'

A dyed-in-the-wool New Dealer, not a congressman or a senator, but a man who knows what the inner administration strategists are discussing among themselves:

SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CHRISTINE THORENSEN—came to visit her cousin, found a mystery.
BILL YARDLEY—had a reason for watching Christine.
GEORGE WILMET—employed Christine as a Boardwalk artist.
CHANDRA—looked into the future—and into the past.

Yesterday: When Christine arrives in Surf City to visit her Cousin Emma, there is no one to meet her. Christine calls her cousin's home, is told service has been discontinued. The telephone operator adds, mysteriously, "If there's any trouble, you're to call Main 2079."

CHAPTER II

"I was to tell you to get a room at the Crestview, and—" Abruptly the agitated voice at the other end of the line broke off. When the girl spoke again, it was with the studied impersonality of the regimented operator: "I am sorry. Your party does not answer."

For a moment Christine sat, stunned, trying to grasp the entirety of the dilemma in which she found herself. She did not even try to understand the amazing conversation she had just finished.

She could go to the hotel, of course—but in the present state of her finances, any hotel bill assumed the dimensions of a national debt. . . Or she might just sit here for the rest of the night. But in that event, how was she to get rid of that officious young man?

As she had expected, he was waiting inexorably when she went back to the platform.

"Well?" he demanded.

"Well," Christine told him, catching at the first phrases fate lent to her tongue, "it seems that as the result of an unexpected domestic upheaval, my cousin had no one to send to meet me. So I'm to go to a nice, quiet hotel for the night."

"A nice quiet, hotel in Surf City?" He grinned. "Have you one in mind?"

Scrambling about in her memory, Christine pulled out a name. . . "Crestview," the telephone girl had said. And Christine definitely recalled Cousin Emma's remarking once, "If there is a respectable hotel in Surf City, I suppose it's the Crestview."

"Oh, the Crestview, I suppose," Christine said casually.

"The Crestview, hm?" He looked at her with new interest. "Well, there's nothing like camping on the battlefield if you have Amalgamated shares to vote tomorrow."

"Battlefield?" Christine echoed. "I hear there's likely to be a right gory little war over that merger between Amalgamated and National at the stockholders' meeting. . . But forget it. It's not my war anyhow. . . Well, shall we start? I'll drive you over. My car's out there."

"Thanks, but I'm taking a taxi," He shrugged.

"May I call one for you, or does your rugged individualism run to calling your own cabs?"

At that moment a taxi rolled into a berth at the end of the platform, and laughing a little, they hurried toward it.

While the driver was stowing Christine's bags away, the young man began almost diffidently, "Of course, I'm taking a chance of your shouting for the police, but the Crestview runs into money. . . . What I mean is—well, I know that young girls don't carry a lot around, especially when they're visiting relatives. If you—it would only be a loan—"

Christine thought, "It's strange which was perfect with the copper of her hair, and the open-toed pumps she had picked up for almost nothing at a little New York shop.

On her way through the hotel lobby it occurred to her that there must be a message from Cousin Emma, and stopped at the desk. . . . But there was no message for Miss Thoresen.

Christine thought a little forlornly as she went down the boardwalk, scrutinizing the menus posted in the windows of the cheaper restaurants. "I'll think of something—after I've had a good strong cup of coffee."

But even after two cups—neither of them too good—in a small cafe reeking of fried potatoes, the only idea that occurred to Christine was that she was practically broke, and stranded alone in one of the most expensive, most heartless pleasure resorts in the country.

As often happened when she was deeply absorbed, she reached for a pencil—found one a waitress had left on the table, and the only drawing surface at hand, the back of a menu card—and began to sketch.

Rousing from her abstraction, Christine compared her sketch with the original, the fat, insufferably self-satisfied looking proprietor of the cafe, she was frowning over the finishing touches when a voice said, "Excuse me, but that is really excellent!"

Startled, Christine turned. A plump, neat little man—bald except for a tuft of hair well back on a shiny pink scalp—was peering down at her sketch through astigmatic lenses.

He might have been any small-town businessman, or a teacher or clergyman on vacation. . . . Christine decided against the clergyman. After all, this was Surf City.

When Christine looked up, he gave a funny duck of a bow and coughed apologetically. Because he looked so like he was afraid of offending her, and because Christine was a friendly young woman, she gave him her best smile and said, "Thank you."

"I suppose," he asked, "that you but I never felt this way about a man before—as if I'd known him forever—as if borrowing from him would be perfectly right and natural.

Aloud she said, "I'm really all right. But thank you, Mr.—"

"The fellows," he told her, "call me 'Bill'. . . I wish you would, Miss Talbert."

"But my name isn't Talbert. It's Thoresen—Christine Thoresen."

Once in her luxurious quarters at the Crestview, Christine emptied the contents of her purse on the bed and counted anxiously.

When she had told the bare-headed young man that she was "all right," she had been guilty of a rash overstatement. After she had bought her railway ticket, she had had left a thin sheaf of bills which she optimistically expected to stretch into pin-money and modest tips to Cousin Emma's household.

Now, after the extravagance of a night at the most "respectable" hotel in Surf City, she would barely have enough for a return ticket to New York—and no prospect to speak of after she got back.

"Oh, well," Christine told herself. "Cousin Emma must have made some arrangement for me. I'll hear from her tomorrow."

She took a bath in the luxurious tub, put on her best satin night-gown, and fell into a dreamless sleep.

When the sunlight awoke her early next morning, her immediate interest was only in breakfast—lots of it.

She dressed carefully, selecting her green linen with the orange and black Balkan embroidery.

"I wish I were," Christine replied from her heart.

"Then," he asked, "you might consider my offer?"

"Just try making me one," Christine thought.

"You see," he went on, "I have a concession that isn't paying. I should be grateful if you could help me."

"Should you mind," Christine asked, clasping her fingers to keep them from shaking, "explaining what you want?"

"I need some one to do portraits—very much like that, but in color. You'd just stand in a studio near the boardwalk and draw passers-by at so much each. A fast worker like you should easily make $5 a day. . . . That is—he hesitated anxiously—"you'd probably have to pretty some of the customers up a little."

"For $5," Christine told him, "I'm entirely willing to make them all look like movie stars—especially if it will contribute to the self-esteem of the great American public. When do we start?"

Christine had no way of knowing that what her impulsive acceptance of what seemed unbelievably good luck, she plunged into the most tragic events of her life.

News From County 4-H Clubs

By VIRDA MAE EVANS Kokomo 4-H Club Girl I joined the Kokomo 4-H club when I was twelve years old. I have belonged to the 4-H club four years. The first year I completed all the work and received a club pin.

Then my second year of work I was garden demonstrator. With the help of my country home demonstration agent we placed three hundred feet of tiling under the tomatoes. I also built a hot bed. I completed all my goals that year and received a second year pin.

In my third year of club work I was wardrobe demonstrator. I papered it on the inside and outside. The closet is built with two doors. The top section is used for storing quilts. The door and door facing are painted. There are three long shelves in one end and three lower shelves in the other end. By using scrap lumber, paper and paint, my closet only cost $1.40. I have made and added to the closet four hat racks, a long shoe rack and a tie rack. I won second place in the county as the second best clothing demonstrator and was awarded a trip to the A. & M. short course. This same year I was also selected as second best reporter in the county.

For that the Women's council gave me a scrap book and two magazines for the year. I was president of the club and was selected as most outstanding member in the club for this club year. This year I am poultry demonstrator. My brother and I have fifty white leghorn pullets for demonstration. My brother built a small house for them and is planning on building a laying house soon. I care for them and feed them twice a day. This year in clothing I have made four hand-made garments and four machine-made garments. I have worked over three other garments. I have helped can several hundred jars of fruits and vegetables this year besides my regular club work.

I have been selected again this year as the most outstanding member of our club. In all four years of my club work, I have not missed a rally day, 4-H encampment, or achievement day. I have missed only one club Sunday during this time. I have missed only one club meeting during the four years' work, and have attended all parties and picnics given by our club. I have acted as waitress at two father and son banquets given by the club boys.

I helped in making the money for our club house and then assisted in making the draperies for it.

Through 4-H club work I have become a better member of our community and have learned the art of getting along better and to have fun while doing it.

promise, and the England, who has guaranteed Poland's independence, still is not ready to fight and would support a peaceful solution.

Diplomatic circles in London quickly pointed to similarity of the apparent bid for a four-power conference to the events which led to Munich, where Britain, France, Germany and Italy decided the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia last September.

New 4-Power Parley on Danzig Is Reported

A new turn in Europe's crisis was seen last night in reports from Berlin and Rome of a proposed new four-power conference to settle the dispute over Danzig.

So far neither the German nor Italian government officially sponsored by informed London quarters a new attempt to lead London, Paris and Poland down the path to another Munich and appeasement.

But in Berlin it was reported unofficially Carl J. Borchardt, league of nations high commissioner in Danzig, had received a mission from Adolf Hitler which might make him a mediator in the dispute.

In Rome, other unofficial reports suggested Italy and Germany had agreed to Salzburg to advance the conference idea.

In neither capital was it suggested Germany was not willing to give up her claim to outright annexation of Danzig. Newspapers and semi-official comment was to the contrary.

Telephone lines between London, and Paris and Warsaw were jammed. Despite rumors of diplomatic maneuvers, the Polish telegraphic agency issued an "official" denial Poland was in any way involved in proposals on a compromise. Responsible Polish quarters called the reports "Hitler propaganda."

Official Germany would not confirm or deny that Borchardt, a Swiss professor, had been given an important mission to London, but press and Nazi party circles heard that Hitler's next step would depend on "what Borchardt brings back with him in the next few days from his talks with Halifax" (British foreign Secretary Lord Halifax).

Informed Germans said they believed the Polish foreign minister, Joseph Beck, realizes Poland's precarious position in the event of war and is ready to com-

Deaths Mount--

Hurled Screaming The victims of the crash were hurled screaming to their death when the swaying dining car caught in the superstructure of a 60-foot steel bridge over Humboldt river, and pulled the train and the bridge into the ravine.

The whole train was set to rocking when it lost the support of an outside rail as it rounded a turn traveling 60 miles an hour. The rail had been moved four inches inward. To do this the crazed saboteur had to pull 44 spikes from 22 ties, remove the supporting angle bars, move the 30 foot rail, weighing 1,690 pounds, and again spike it down.

Railway officials calculated it would take two strong men more than a half an hour. The rail was moved in a four-hour interval between two trains—moved carefully so as not to disturb a block signal electric cable lying between the tracks which would have warned Engineer E. F. Hecox that something was wrong.

Thirteen of the 17 cars in the limited train were derailed, and six of them crashed into the river canyon. In these six were the scenes of the greatest horror.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Wage - Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews is wrestling with the problems of a school master these days. In its closing hours, Congress voted a deficiency appropriation of $1,200,000 for the Wage-Hour Division, and it is all to be spent on law enforcement—the division now finding itself with 19,000 unanswered complaints of violations on its hands.

With this money, Andrews will be able to increase his force of inspectors to 500 and his litigation force to 40 lawyers. But one trouble is that an inspector in this kind of work isn't much good until he has had some training, and Andrews is going to have to start his own schools to apply the training.

There will be four of them—in New York, Chicago, San Francisco, and Atlanta—and they'll be in operation by the first of September. New inspectors will spend about 10 days on their schooling—listening to lectures and getting general instructions, with older inspectors as the teachers—before they go out on the road.

The new inspectors are being chosen from the list at the Civil Service Commission offices, where the applicants took their examinations. Before going to school, most of the inspectors will be sent out for field work in company with older inspectors, so that they can get a first-hand glimpse of the job before they start studying about it.

It is no secret that the Wage-Hour Division feels mightily relieved over passage of the deficiency appropriation. It looked, for a time, as if the money would be denied, and officers of the division predicted that the entire law would collapse of its own weight if the money were not forthcoming. The compliance record has not been good so far, and they were afraid that if it got much worse all chance of the law would be gone.

W. H. Turknett Recalls Cisco Organization

A pioneer who came here before Cisco was, and who saw the engineers plotting the town into city lots, was William Henry Turknett, who came to this place with his father's family Jan. 2, 1879. The elder Turknett secured land from the Texas Central railroad company and built a home near H avenue, in the middle of what is now west Eighth street, between where the First Methodist church and the H. G. Eppler home have since been located. "Red Gap" was the trading point and post office for those living in this vicinity when we came here.

The public road ran immediately in front of my father's residence. The late Charles H. Jenkins, who died recently, was also one of our neighbors and friends and a companion of my youth. The Jenkins family was here when we came. Wild life was plentiful then. A few bands of friendly Indians were seen at intervals, though they were corralled on reservations north of Eastland county," Mr. Turknett said.

Cisco's First Church

He recalled the building of Cisco's first church by the people affiliated with the Baptist denomination. "This church was a log building, and was located near the Oakwood cemetery on land donated by the Rev. C. G. Stevens, father of the late Albert Stevens and grandfather of Mac Stevens. He also donated land for a cemetery adjoining the church, which is a part of the present Oakwood burying grounds.

"The Rev. Stevens was also the first pastor of the church he founded in Cisco, and a charter member of the church."

Mr. Turknett was born in Mississippi Feb. 17, 1869, and came to Texas with the family in 1869, and ten years later they moved to what is now Cisco, where he has resided continuously since. There were 17 children of Nathan Turknett, the father, one being a son by a later marriage, as the mother died before the family left Mississippi. He and his sister, Mrs. C. C. Plummer, four years his senior, make their home in the 1000 block on A avenue. Another brother, Lee Turknett, was a member of this household until his death last June. Another brother is Frank Turknett, a Cisco road contractor.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 28 (AP)—The experiment of allowing a sullen and intractable prisoner at Pentridge jail to have his dog in a jail with him has provided a great success. ## Time to Default Girls: Here Come The Grossnickles COLUMBES, Miss., Aug. 28 (AP)—Hang up your racquets, girls, here come the Grossnickle sisters.

It's gotten that bad—or rather Jessie and Frances Grossnickle have gotten that good.

When Jessie, 17, and young sister Frances, 14, won the state women's doubles crown here, it was taken as a matter of course.

The next day the sisters squared off against each other to settle in a nice, quiet family way the singles championship of the state. Frances won but it didn't matter. It was just another tennis victory for the family.

Two weeks earlier, Jessie had won the Cotton States singles crown at Birmingham. Frances was the other finalist.

Jessie had held the state high school championship for two consecutive years, he had to relinquish the title when she entered Mississippi State college for women. Sister Frances picked it up and has won the last two years.

There's just one thing more for the Grossnickles. They want brother Russell, 16, to improve his game a bit. Russell was eliminated in the semi-finals of the state senior tournament in Jackson.

"My children all play pretty good tennis," says proud Mother Grossnickle, who is on the sidelines at every match, "but just wait until you see Jimmy. He's 8, you know, and not quite ready for tournaments, but he's got a left-handed swing that is going to be heard from eventually."

Monahans Fire Victim Identified as Ranger Man

RANGER, Aug. 14 (SpC)—The body of a man, burned to death in a house at Monahans, and which was first identified as that of Virgil A. Merton, has been identified as that of Doyle Miller of Ranger, according to word received here yesterday. Identification is said to have been made by means of a watch and belt buckle found on the body.

At the Miller home in Ranger yesterday it was stated that Mrs. Miller had gone to Monahans to complete identification of the body, but no word had been received from her since she left. It was stated, however, that Miller had gone to Monahans seeking work.

The body was found Monday in the ruins of a house that was engulfed in flames after an explosion.

The house—a one story frame structure—was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brannowsky.

Officers learned that the couple who were in Monahans Sunday had gone to El Paso to buy beauty parlor equipment, and were advised that Brannowsky was returning to Monahans at once.

Mrs. Brannowsky planned to open a beauty shop in the house this week, friends said. Part of her equipment was destroyed in the fire.

All but a fragment of the clothing was burned from the body of the man found dead. In that fragment was a trouser pocket containing an envelope addressed to Brannowsky.

Officers said there were evidences of gasoline or kerosene all over the house and on a handkerchief, also found in the dead man's pocket, but could not determine whether the fluid was spread about by the explosion.

Brannowsky until recently had lived in Odessa. He traded in real estate and was reported to own several houses in Monahans.

Dorothy Nell Dossett has returned to her home in Dallas after visiting relatives here.

years in Bosque county, and Mr. leVeaux engaged in the banking business, taking over the banking institution of J. R. Fleming in which business he remained until his death in 1899.

Mrs. leVeaux will soon have another birthday, as she will be 87 years of age Nov. 2. These anniversaries are always occasions for visitors to pay their respects and offer their felicitations for having lived a long and useful life. She is still hearty, and is enjoying the sunset of a life that has been lived for the betterment of her friends and neighbors. She and her daughter, Mrs. Lilly Baugh, are the sole occupants of the old homestead that withstood the ravages of the 1891 tornado, being the only residence in the block, F avenue and Ninth street, to survive that blow. Despite her advanced age, her mind is perfectly clear, as she recalls many incidents and historical facts about Cisco that many younger people have forgotten. Especially is this true regard-

Laguna One of Best Hotels in West Texas

Completed in 1929 the Laguna hotel of Cisco is rated as one of the best small city hotels in west Texas. Its eight stories and 110 rooms together with adjoining store buildings represent an investment of upwards of $400,000.

Taken over in the early 1930's by the National Hotel company, it is operated as a unit of one of the largest hotel groups in the south, offering a service commensurate with the high standards of an organization which has achieved a distinct success in this business. The accommodations which it offers and the service which it provides are so well appreciated by the travelling public that many regular travellers through this section plan their itineraries to include Cisco as a night stop.

The Laguna hotel, under the ownership and management of the National hotels, is an integral part of Cisco's community life. Its contributions thereto are distinguished not only by the accommodations which it affords but by the active participation of its management and staff in the various enterprises which are undertaken to further community development.

ED BROWN

Ed Brown, the present manager who came to Cisco from Galveston on January 1, 1938, is one of the leaders of the Cisco junior chamber of commerce and extremely active in the promotion of civic enterprises which this organization of young business men undertakes. He has been with the National Hotel company, for four years, serving three years on the desk at the Hotel Buccaneer in Galveston and a year at the Jean Lafitte, also in Galveston, as catering manager. Prior to association with National Hotels he was assistant manager of the Hotel Edinburg, of which his father is manager.

Present Manager

Assisting Brown in the managing of the Laguna is Coy Guy, Daskam Stephens and Ray Steinhach are desk clerks.

The Laguna hotel is the headquarters for a number of civic and commercial organizations, including the Lions and Rotary clubs which meet regularly each week on the roof garden. Meeting rooms are furnished free for any community-minded organization which desires their use. Special party rooms are available for luncheons, bridge parties and other social functions, while the roof garden is open to dances and other social gatherings of a magnitude.

Party Rooms

The party rooms, known as the Red and Blue rooms, are said to be more attractively decorated than any to be found in hotels outside of the larger cities, and it is in these rooms that Cisco women, sorority chapters and various other social and commercial events find a favorite meeting place for special events and private and semi-private dinners and luncheons.

Under the management of Mr. Brown the Laguna coffee shop has achieved a new popularity for the excellence of its service and its cuisine. The latter is under the direction of Chef Halley Parker, formerly with the Fort Worth club.

As a further service to the community, the Laguna is Cisco agent for the Southwestern Greyhound Bus lines and the American Airways. The Postal Telegraph office for Cisco is also located there.

Operation of the Laguna, it is estimated, means the release of more than $3,000 monthly to Cisco trade channels in the form of payrolls and purchase of local supplies. This contribution makes it a sizeable factor in the business life of the community, while its first class accommodations and its conscientious service make it a center of community social and business life.

You Can Fool Doctor But Not Geometry

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—An industrial malingering who fakes stiff joints in order to collect compensation, can fool doctors, but he can't fool geometry.

The geometry snare is explained to the American Medical Association by Charles Murray Gratz, M.D., of Columbia University. The only tools are a yardstick, paper, pencil, and grammar school skill in measuring angles.

In comes a patient alleging one leg shortened by industrial injury. It is not too difficult, Dr. Gratz says, for a person to limp realistically.

He has the patient lie down, both legs stiff, one flat on the table, the other lifted in the air. In this position the legs form a triangle. The distance between the two feet, while one is above the other, is the base.

The angles the legs respectively form with this base give the length of each leg.

What the malingering can't do, under this test, is to shorten his leg twice in succession to exactly the same length. The angles are more accurate than his powers of deception.

Likewise a stiff elbow or shoulder is found by measuring the angle which a person is able to make drawing his hand upward behind his back. If he is faking he fails to repeat exactly, but the real stiff-jointed repeats.

"Remco" Products Manufactured by Cisco Company

The Reynolds Manufacturing company, largest manufacturing industry in Eastland county and makers of automobile accessories and oil well tools and supplies, was brought to Cisco from Houston in 1934. The former Gude hotel building was purchased by the company and transformed into a factory.

Harry Reynolds, Cisco oil operator, is president of the company; Lawrence Keough, of Dallas, where the sales offices are located, is secretary-treasurer, and A. Sandhofer is superintendent of the plant and chief designer of the company's products and the machinery for the manufacture of these products.

First product to be placed on the market extensively by the company is the famous water-cooled automobile and office cushions. This cushion, which embodies the principle of the evaporation of water to give comfort from heat and freedom from perspiration to automobile drivers and office workers in hot weather, enjoys almost rational popularity.

All products of the company carry the trade mark "Remco" in the accompanying design.

In addition to the water-cooled cushions, the company manufactures the Remco circuit breaker which replaces the ordinary fuse in an automobile ignition system. This fuse does not "blow out." It simply trips out of contact and may be snapped back into place, so that the motorist will not be left helpless on the road for want of a fuse.

Another Remco product which is gaining wide acceptance in oil fields is a pumping packer equipped with a new design of sealing rubber which insures positive sealing but which can be removed easily. In this packer the rubber seal is actually "pulled" out of the casing wall rather than being forced out.

The Remco disc and seat valve for oil well pumping is said to represent a great improvement over the old ball and seat design, giving greater pumping efficiency with less wear.

A third type of valve made by the company is the Remco springless valve for reciprocating pumps. This product incorporates the same principle which the oil well pumping valve mentioned above employs and with the same results in economy and efficiency.

Lateral Drilling Tool

Latest development of the company, a product just now being placed on the market, is the Remco lateral rotary drilling bit, flexible bit which is used to drill laterally into producing formations to increase production.

This tool consists of a shaft in a flexible housing which is fitted into a rigid casing with a detector at bottom to direct the bit at right angles into the producing horizon. The tool is anchored in the bottom of the hole by four big tool steel spikes. A ratcheting device makes it unnecessary to pull out of the hole when drilling in one direction is completed and another direction to be taken. By merely lifting the tool up and setting it down, this device turns the bit 90 degrees.

Various safety features to make the tool practically trouble proof have been incorporated. Its overall length is about 40 feet and about 600 separate parts go into its construction.

ing but which can be removed easily. In this packer the rubber seal is actually "pulled" out of the casing wall rather than being forced out.

Valve Cluster

The Remco valve cluster for gas engines is another product which was recently introduced and is gaining in favor rapidly. Instead of a single heavy valve, the cluster employs a group of smaller

PROGRAM TO BE HELD AT 7:30 AT CITY HALL

Itinerary of Two Tours Announced; First to Occur Thursday

A "pep rally" to whip up interest in the pre-rodeo tours, which will advertise the two-day rodeo program to be sponsored here by the junior chamber of commerce August 31 and September 1, will be held in front of the city hall at 7:30 this evening.

The Lobo band probably will play. Jaycee President Neil Lane said. There will be pep talks after the old football fashion. Every Ciscoan was asked to be there at the hour.

The first of the tours will begin in the morning at 9 o'clock. The itinerary will include Eastland, Ranger, Breckenridge, Albany, Abilene, Clyde, Baird and Putnam. Stop for dinner will be made at Albany.

A public address system will be taken along, there will be music and cowboys in appropriate costumes who will distribute literature.

Cars and men to man them are needed, chamber of commerce officials said. They were asked to meet at El Moad courts before 9 o'clock.

Second Tour

The second tour will be made Friday. It will also begin at 9 o'clock and the itinerary will include Rising Star, May, Brownwood, Santa Anna, Coleman, Burnett, Cross Plains and Scranton. Lunch will be at Coleman.

Mr. Lane discussed the rodeo program with the chamber of commerce directors last night. He reported great enthusiasm among the junior chamber of commerce members and rodeo officials, and predicted a very successful event. All plans have been placed in good shape, with the "kinks" ironed out, and the program is moving forward splendidly, he said.

Change of dates from September 4 and 5 to August 31 and September 1 has avoided conflict with both Midland and Ranger rodeos, and assured plenty of cowboys for the show. Upwards of 50 performers will be required for the 100 head of stock that the Double Heart ranch will furnish, it was explained.

Thunderstorm Does Damage Here Today

A local thunderstorm, accompanied by violent wind, at 1 o'clock this afternoon drenched Cisco, doing damage to plate glass store fronts, signs and minor structures. Part of the show windows at the Grist Hardware company were blown out.

Part of the fence at Chesley park, adjacent to Oakwood cemetery, was blown down and portions of the old bleachers hurled across the road into the cemetery, reports said.

A West Texas Utilities Co. line was burned in two, near the West Texas Produce company about 2 o'clock, cutting off service for half an hour.

Monahans Fire Victim Identified as Ranger Man

RANGER, Aug. 24 (Sp.)—The body of a man, burned to death in a house at Monahans, and which was first identified as that of Virgil A. Merton, has been identified as that of Doyle Miller of Ranger, according to word received here yesterday. Identification is said to have been made by means of a watch and belt buckle found on the body.

At the Miller home in Ranger yesterday it was stated that Mrs. Miller had gone to Monahans to complete identification of the body, but no word had been received from her since she left. It was stated, however, that Miller had gone to Monahans seeking work.

The body was found Monday in the ruins of a house that was engulfed in flames after an explosion.

The house—a one story frame structure—was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brannowsky.

Officers learned that the couple, who were in Monahans Sunday, had gone to El Paso to buy beauty parlor equipment, and were advised that Brannowsky was returning to Monahans at once.

Mrs. Brannowsky planned to open a beauty shop in the house this week, friends said. Part of her equipment was destroyed in the fire.

All but a fragment of the clothing was burned from the body of the man found dead. In that fragment was a trouser pocket containing an envelope addressed to Brannowsky.

Officers said there were evidences of gasoline or kerosene all over the house and on a handkerchief, also found in the dead man's pocket, but could not determine whether the fluid was spread about by the explosion.

Brannowsky until recently had lived in Odessa. He traded in real estate and was reported to own several houses in Monahans.

Dorothy Nell Dossett has returned to her home in Dallas after visiting relatives here.

Monahans Fire Victim Identified as Ranger Man

RANGER, Aug. 14 (Sp.)—The body of a man, burned to death in a house at Monahans, and which was first identified as that of Virgil A. Merton, has been identified as that of Doyle Miller of Ranger, according to word received here yesterday. Identification is said to have been made by means of a watch and belt buckle found on the body.

At the Miller home in Ranger yesterday it was stated that Mrs. Miller had gone to Monahans to complete identification of the body, but no word had been received from her since she left. It was stated, however, that Miller had gone to Monahans seeking work.

The body was found Monday in the ruins of a house that was engulfed in flames after an explosion.

The house—a one story frame structure—was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brannowsky.

Officers learned that the couple, who were in Monahans Sunday, had gone to El Paso to buy beauty parlor equipment, and were advised that Brannowsky was returning to Monahans at once.

Mrs. Brannowsky planned to open a beauty shop in the house this week, friends said. Part of her equipment was destroyed in the fire.

All but a fragment of the clothing was burned from the body of the man found dead. In that fragment was a trouser pocket containing an envelope addressed to Brannowsky.

Officers said there were evidences of gasoline or kerosene all over the house and on a handkerchief, also found in the dead man's pocket, but could not determine whether the fluid was spread about by the explosion.

Brannowsky until recently had lived in Odessa. He traded in real estate and was reported to own several houses in Monahans.

Dorothy Nell Dossett has returned to her home in Dallas after visiting relatives here.

WHAT BROWN'S SANATORIUM MEANS TO YOU—

Brown's Sanatorium is your insurance against a spectre that hovers over every fireside—the spectre of disease and ill health. Its long record of positive cures by drugless methods is unchallenged. When all other methods have failed, its painless, Magnetic Masseur treatment has brought the flush of health to wan cheeks, relief to pain-racked bodies and ease to minds troubled with a nameless dread. Its corridors have become highways of health. Bring us your health problems. Our examinations are free.

Magnetic Masseur Treatments

AS EXPERIENCE IN DRUGLESS HEALING

WEST STREET

What Magnetic Masseur Treatment Is, and How it Cures

The Magnetic Masseur Treatment restores order in the deranged tissues of the body of the patient and assists nature in restoring health.

It is not limited, but in its technique employs any means mental or nutritive which may be required to remove a congestion which obstructs the restoration of health.

The various parts of the practice, both new and old, are the organized system we consider to be the natural results of the evolution of the arts of healing, which has grown up to supply the demand for treatment of cases that have failed to respond to other methods.

Man's powers may safely be called magical and measureless. Never until this present 20th century have men understood the meaning of this statement. It is through advancement in the study of relationship between physical and mental forces of man that the great truth is dawning upon the minds of men and women.

PERSONAL MAGNETISM is a scientific method of healing that has been practiced as far back as history dates. It is not an experiment but a natural law of healing. So we must turn the hands back on the dial of time and let nature prevail in her liberating of suffering humanity. Men have recognized the existence of this power of force and gave it various names. History says this force is "Life." Physicians say it is "Thought" or "Etheric Energy," and Philosophy, as represented by Herbert Spencer, says it is "An infinite energy from which all things proceed."

This treatment has been successfully applied for years in this locality. Practice has grown through our wonderful results until this institution is known over Texas and other states. We invite your investigation. RATES ARE REASONABLE.

Joe Wilson Found Tented Town When He Came to Cisco

The family homestead, the present site of the town of Arlington, in Tarrant county, was the birthplace of Joe Wilson, justice of the peace of the Cisco precinct. His birth occurred Jan. 9, 1866. After a few years spent in Stephens county he located May 16, 1881, in Cisco, then a tented town, just moved from Red Gap, original trading point of this section. He said there was not a brick, reek or lumber building in the town.

but that a typical tented town, with saloons, hotels, gambling halls, a few general merchandising places, where the nucleus of what is now Cisco, but its growth was rapid, and soon this place became a thriving trading point.

Mr. Wilson was married to Miss Georgia Elizabeth Eddleman, November 1, 1889, at the home of the bride's parents in the 500 block on west 10th street. The old Eddleman home, the scene of the Wilson nuptials, is still standing, in good repair, and occupied by a family. The wedding was a simple event, with only relatives attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are the parents of eight children, four boys and four girls. Six of the children are still living. C. P. Wilson, R. L. (Tub) Wilson and Ernest Wilson, Cisco; Mrs. Ruby Grace Aycock, Sweetwater; Mrs. Ailine Griffin, Aquilla; and Miss Laura Faye Wilson, Roscoe. The eldest daughter died when about two years old, a victim of diphtheria, April 21, died of "flu" in 1918.

Mr. Wilson said his first job was with the Village Mills Lumber company, later taken over by the M. T. Jones Company, and he was in that business continuously until he was appointed justice of the peace here after the death of Justice McDonald. He put in the plant of Higginbotham & Harris company here, which he managed until the arrival of J. E. McCord.

Recalling early events and people coming here soon after his arrival he mentioned among others the Turkinetts, Charley Jenkins, Ruf. Weddington, Bob and Robert Cane, J. M. Poplin, Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Stephens, all deceased.

Speaking of the cyclone of 1903 Mr. Wilson is the possessor of a pamphlet enumerating donations made amounting to $62,100.94 in cash, clothing, lumber and merchandise, coming from practically every town in Texas, and from as far away as Baltimore, Cincinnati and other cities.

This pamphlet was published by the relief committee, which he says is the only one in existence. Of the 16 members of this committee C. H. Fee is the only one surviving. The personnel of this committee was G. W. Gaves, H. G. Eppler, B. W. Rose, O. T. Maxwell, C. H. Fee, W. N. Porter, F. C. leVeaux, David Redfield, J. H. Holcomb, R. F. Davis, W. D. Chandler, J. T. Creech, Rev. A. S. Buntin, Rev. J. M. Smith, Rev. H. C. Jolly and Jno. F. Patterson, chairman.

Man Sounds Bugle Before Making Deposit

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Regularly, twice a month, the martial notes of a bugle sound on the doorstep of a downtown bank here.

Customers look surprised, but bank clerks know it's George H. Neureuther coming to deposit his latest pay check. He's been doing it for 28 years.

"It's just a habit," he explains. Neureuther is a Lehigh Valley railroad switchman, his bugle is home-made, and besides playing it at the bank he toots it on his way downtown.

"The cops all know me and if I don't play when I go down Main street they all say, 'What's the matter?' Give us a tune," he said.

"So I play 'Taps,' 'Reveille' or 'Pay Day.' But usually I play 'pay day.'"

His bugle consists of a mouth-piece, a five-foot rubber hose and a funnel. The music comes out of the funnel, and by using a larger funnel he gets louder notes.

"I call it a trench horn," he said. "If you stand in a trench and blow one of these regular bugles, someone will hear you."

"But you can put one end of this outside, and blow your calls from a dugout and be perfectly safe."

Frank Hagerman German Emigrant at 17 Years

One of the thrifty German citizens who settled south of Cisco is Frank Hagerman, living in the Lutheran community. His farm adjoins the location of the old Ballard school house, now abandoned for educational purposes.

Hagerman was born in the province of Hanover, Germany, Aug. 17, 1867, and left his native land when 17 years of age, landing in Washington county, he located in Brenham, and worked as a farm hand, though he had been previously employed as a shoemaker.

Pioneer

JOHN T. BLACKWELL (Story on Page 32)

When I realized on profits from my cigars, I could not drink that much beer, so I finally gave up the cigar business.

"As stated, I learned the shoemakers' trade, but never worked at it after I came to Texas, except making shoes for a few friends. I made a pair of house shoes for one friend, and 30 years later those shoes were still doing service, and I suppose they are still in use."

"When Oklahoma was opened to settlement I went there, hoping to homestead a claim but failed. Remained in that state two years, rented land from an Indian, but crop failures caused me to return to where I intended to stop at Llano. I had nothing but my wife and a bunch of kids, and while en route stopped in Cisco, and here I have been for the past 38 years, and likely will remain."

In 1901, the year the saloons were voted out of Cisco, I worked for wages on the Shaltanbrand farm, now owned by E. K. Winge. Later I bought Sam Hitt's equity in 160 acres of state land, which is my present homestead. I just paid the last annual payment on the land to the state.

He said he has raised no cotton for 18 years, but confines his activities to the culture of fruits and vines. These consists of peaches, apples, plums and grapes. "The Delaware grape is the best for this section," he said. The late freeze this spring practically killed his fruit, even the grapes doing no good, but he keeps his orchard and vineyards in good shape.

Mr. Hagerman was married in Washington county when 20 years of age to Miss Minnie Holt in 1887. They are the parents of nine children, all grown and with families. They are Henry Hagerman, with the Humble Co.; Andrew Hagerman, Mrs. Sophie Hoffer, Sager-ton; Theodore Hagerman, of the Cook community; Mrs. Ed. Tomne, of near Scranton; Robert Hagerman, Lutheran community; Mrs. Anna Tomne, of San Angelo, and Charles and Otto Hagerman, of Cisco.

"I did no military service before I left Germany. All male citizens of the old Germany of 18 years of age, were subject to military service. I volunteered to put in my time as a cavalryman, but they rejected me because I was too fat to ride a horse, he said. "After coming to America I was called back for military service, but I told them to go to the devil. I did visit Germany in 1921 but not to fill my term in the army, Hagerman said.

"All German children are required to attend public schools until 14 years of age, when they are graduated from the common schools. "I was too small to remember much about the war with France."

List of Cisco Mayors Recalled

Among those who have filled the office of mayor since Cisco became an incorporated city the following names were given the Daily Press, from memory, but the list and tenures of office are substantially correct.

Major Pervo, 1885 to 1887; G. W. Graves, 1887 to 1891; John F. Patterson, 1891-1895; O. T. Maxwell, 1895 to 1899; Edgar Alford, 1901 to 1903; R. A. St. John, 1903 to 1907; L. V. Platt, 1907 to 1911; W. S. Michael, 1911 to 1915; J. M. Williamson, 1915 to 1931; J. T. Berry, 1931.

RODEO TOURS

PROGRAM TO BE HELD AT 7:30 AT CITY HALL

Itinerary of Two Tours Announced; First to Occur Thursday

A "pep rally" to whip up interest in the pre-rodeo tours, which will advertise the two-day rodeo program to be sponsored here by the junior chamber of commerce August 31 and September 1, will be held in front of the city hall at 7:30 this evening.

The Lobo band probably will play Jaycee President Neil Lane said. There will be pep talks after the old football fashion. Every Ciscoan was asked to be there at the hour.

The first of the tours will begin in the morning at 9 o'clock. The itinerary will include Eastland, Ranger, Breckenridge, Albany, Abilene, Clyde, Baird and Putnam. Stop for dinner will be made at Albany.

A public address system will be taken along, there will be music and cowboys in appropriate costumes who will distribute literature.

Cars and men to man them are needed, chamber of commerce officials said. They were asked to meet at El Moad courts before 9 o'clock.

Second Tour
The second tour will be made Friday. It will also begin at 9 o'clock and the itinerary will include Rising Star, May, Brownwood, Santa Anna, Coleman, Burnett, Cross Plains and Scranton. Lunch will be at Coleman.

Mr. Lane discussed the rodeo program with the chamber of commerce directors last night. He reported great enthusiasm among the junior chamber of commerce members and rodeo officials, and predicted a very successful event. All plans have been placed in good shape, with the "kinks" ironed out, and the program is moving forward splendidly, he said.

Change of dates from September 4 and 5 to August 31 and September 1 has avoided conflict with both Midland and Ranger rodeos, and insured plenty of cowboys for the show. Upwards of 50 performers will be required for the 100 head of stock that the Double Heart ranch will furnish, it was explained.

Thunderstorm Does Damage Here Today

A local thunderstorm, accompanied by violent wind, at 1 o'clock this afternoon drenched Cisco, doing damage to plate glass store fronts, signs and minor structures. Part of the show windows at the Grist Hardware company were blown out.

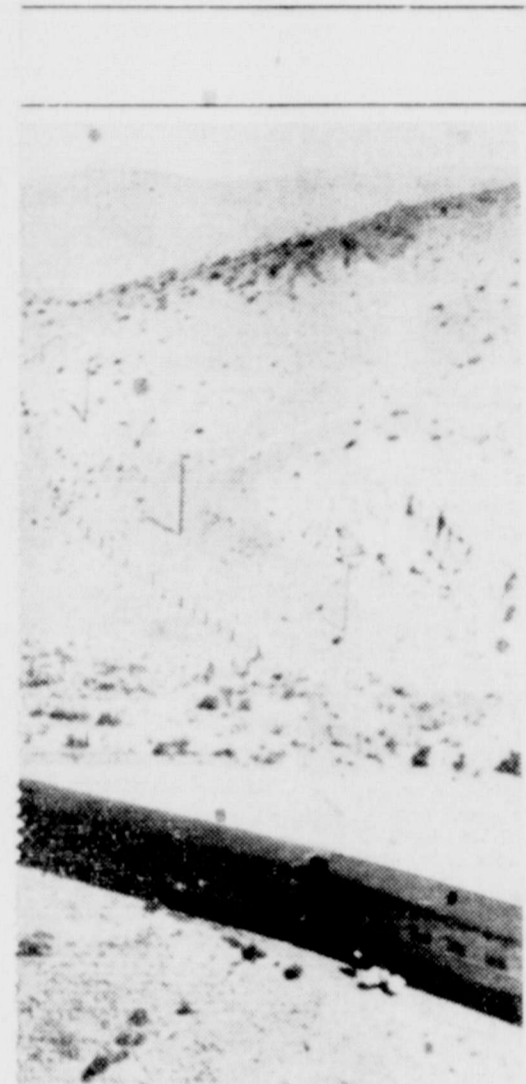

Part of the fence at Chesley park, adjacent to Oakwood cemetery, was blown down and portions of the old bleachers hurled across the road into the cemetery, reports said.

A West Texas Utilities Co. line was burned in two, near the West Texas Produce company about 2 o'clock, cutting off service for half an hour.

Monahans Fire Victim Identified as Ranger Man

RANGER, Aug. 14 (Sp.)—The body of a man, burned to death in a house at Monahans, and which was first identified as that of Virgil A. Merton, has been identified as that of Doyle Miller of Ranger, according to word received here yesterday. Identification is said to have been made by means of a watch and belt buckle found on the body.

At the Miller home in Ranger yesterday it was stated that Mrs. Miller had gone to Monahans to complete identification of the body, but no word had been received from her since she left. It was stated, however, that Miller had gone to Monahans seeking work.

The body was found Monday in the ruins of a house that was engulfed in flames after an explosion.

The house—a one story frame structure—was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brannowsky.

Officers learned that the couple, who were in Monahans Sunday, had gone to El Paso to buy beauty parlor equipment, and were advised that Brannowsky was returning to Monahans at once.

Mrs. Brannowsky planned to open a beauty shop in the house this week, friends said. Part of her equipment was destroyed in the fire.

All but a fragment of the clothing was burned from the body of the man found dead. In that fragment was a trouser pocket containing an envelope addressed to Brannowsky.

Officers said there were evidences of gasoline or kerosene all over the house and on a handkerchief, also found in the dead man's pocket, but could not determine whether the fluid was spread about by the explosion.

Brannowsky until recently had lived in Odessa. He traded in real estate and was reported to own several houses in Monahans.

Dorothy Nell Dossett has returned to her home in Dallas after visiting relatives here.

LCACO Enjoys Best Season in Its History

Under the management of P. G. Berry, who is completing his third year in that capacity, the Lake Cisco Amusement company is enjoying the most successful season in its history. The past three years have seen great advances in the development of the resort, the general improvement of all its facilities and the addition of many popular attractions which have broadened the service of this "Playground of West Texas" to the thousands who annually go there seeking recreation in its enormous concrete swimming pools, the municipal parks that surround it, and on Lake Cisco where boating, fishing and hunting attract sportsmen from far and near. Skating is another pastime which Mr. Berry has added to the recreational program he has developed and this sport is proving one of the most popular that the resort has ever offered.

The resort is the favorite place for family gatherings, reunions, picnics of large companies which draw from distances of hundreds of miles. FFA encampments and many other large and small gatherings. Various attractions are constantly offered, including carnivals, amateur nights, water contests, bathing revues and so forth. Steady Growth

The Lake Cisco Amusement company since it was taken over by local citizens several years ago has steadily advanced in patronage and in the improvement of its facilities. Rated high by state and local health authorities, its big pools, divided by a large tree shaded island, draw swimmers and lovers of water sports from great distances. Accommodations provided for them are of the best. Bath houses for men and women are housed on the lower floor of the big pavilion which fronts the pools. The upper story of the pavilion is given over to dancing and skating.

Boats are available for rent to fishermen, hunters and to those who want boats for boating sake.

A sandwich and cold drink stand at one end of the big concrete dam, towering 125 feet above the swimming pools, is headquarters for the boats and also a place of supply for fishermen. A two story rock lodge nearby furnishes accommodations for hunting and fishing parties. The city of Cisco, from which the Lake Cisco Amusement company secures its franchise, has applied for a WPA project to build 25 rock cottages

Birthday of Bill Dill Occasion for Annual Reunion

The natal day of W. F. (Bill) Dill, May 29, is an annual occasion for a reunion of the clan of Dill, and each year as many of the half hundred of the descendants of Mr. Dill and his estimable wife, who can do so, are present to celebrate the anniversary. But the natal day is an annual event, even if only a few of the descendants can participate in the festivities. At the 77th anniversary May 29, 1936, there were 42 direct descendants of this well known Ciscoan who gathered at the ancestral home to felicitate him on having passed his allotted three score and ten. In 1937 the celebration, while largely attended, was not participated in by as many as was the event of the year previous.

May 29 of this year, the celebration was held at Lake Cisco, instead of the home, and it was there the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren gathered to make merry the occasion and enjoy the reminiscences of earlier days.

Bill Dill, as all know him, is another of those Bourbon democrats who believe in the fundamental principles of democracy as enunciated by the fathers, as well as the "heart-of-oak plank in the of the best type, to add to the facilities already present.

The Lake Cisco Amusement company is one of Cisco's prime assets, an institution which draws thousands of people to this community annually. President of the company is F. E. Harrell, Cisco lumber dealer and rancher.

came to Eastland county when a young man, locating near Rising Star, where he was married to Miss Clara Bell Rae, daughter of a pioneer family of that area. There were 11 children born to this couple, nine of whom are living. There are 32 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. The family lived in the Rising Star community until about 20 years ago when they moved to Cisco, which has been their continued residence, the family home being at 311 East 21st street.

Mr. Dill and his children have been honored and useful citizens of Eastland county, and have contributed much to the progress, prosperity and material worth of this section. He will have reached his 80th anniversary when the annual event is celebrated in 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Erwin 52 Years in This County

Native Texans and residents of the Sabanno community for the past 52 years, are Mr. and Mrs. J. Sam Erwin, who moved to this virgin country of Sabanno two years after their marriage, on Feb. 28, 1884, in Parker county. Mrs. Erwin was Miss Ellen Wampler. They are the parents of eight children, all grown and with families of their own. There are 22 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Laura McCoy, Breckenridge; Mrs. Eddie Little, San Angelo.

J. SAM ERWIN

MRS. J. SAM ERWIN

Mrs. R. R. Goodrum, Bolan; Mrs. H. E. Minnex, Wichita Falls; Miss Lorena Erwin, Cisco; Everett Erwin, Wink; and Edwin and Finis Erwin, of Sabanno.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Erwin were born in Parker county. His birth occurred August 2, 1861, and Mrs. Erwin was born in Weatherford Feb. 3, 1864. The first two years of their married life were spent in Parker county, which they left to make their home in Eastland county, choosing the fertile valley of the Sabanno country as their permanent residence in 1886. There all their children were born and reared to manhood and womanhood.

It was to a virgin country that Sam Erwin brought his bride, and as this section was supposed to be an arid country in those days, like most of the pioneers, the Erwins pitched their homestead near a stream, choosing the valley of Sabanno creek, where an abundance of pure water was available at a shallow depth.

"There were no Indians in this section when we came to Eastland county," Mr. Erwin said, "but I can still recall many raids of the Reds in the early days of Parker county before we came here. This was a goodly land when we first came. Neighbors were near enough to be neighborly, but at such a distance not to be crowded. Land was very fertile and productive, with plenty of wild game, and being an open country, grass was so luxuriant that stock raising was easy and profitable.

Seen Many Changes

"I have seen many changes since my 52 years residence in the country. Years fraught with many obstacles, yet I can truthfully say we have enjoyed many blessings, and when my last days will have been spent I shall be ready to go with few regrets."

The wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin falls on the 28th day of the month, but their golden wedding celebration was postponed until the following Sunday, March 4, 1934, when all of their children an almost of their grandchildren were present. The nuptial scene that was performed Feb. 28, 1884, was re-enacted with the pastor of the Sabanno Presbyterian church, Rev. S. P. Collins, officiating. After the ceremony a reception was held when many friends and neighbors from the Sabanno community, Cisco, Breckenridge and Eastland called to extend felicitations.

In point of residence this couple claims prominence among Eastland county's oldest citizens, as well as an uninterrupted married life of felicity.

Life-long Presbyterians, the Erwin family has always been affiliated with that denomination and lived according to the tenets of the church. They are now nearing the western horizon of life, but happy in their declining days, which are being spent in blissful marital companionship and the love and loyalty of their children and grandchildren.

DENVER, Aug. 28 (AP)—Two Denver golfers, Harvey Carpenter and Tommy Thompson, had to play six matches to move from the first to the third round in a Scotch foursome tournament at Lake Wood.

Their initial match was a deadlock, so they played it over and won. Their second round opponents were twice as tough. Three times the match ended all even until the Carpenter-Thompson due won out in the fourth attempt, 2 and 1.
