CROWNOVER WINS TITLE HERE SUNDAY

Doug Jones Second, Sam Connor Wins Consolation

Russell (Rusty) Crossover of Stamford retained his title Sunday when he defeated Doug Jones of Abilene, 3-1, in the final championship matches of the ninth annual Cisco Country club invitation golf tournament, held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The match was closely contested, with Jones going down under a barrage of near-perfect approaches and accurate tee shots. Rain, which fell in occasional sudden downpours, greatly hindered the golfers.

To gain the finals, Crossover defeated Bob Sikes of Eastland, 4-3, and Jones downed J. T. Hammet of Breckenridge, a favorite in the meet, one up, 19. The latter match was nip and tuck, with Hammet losing ground on short putts.

Despite inclement weather, 108 golfers registered for the meet, with very few matches conceded by default. A large gallery followed the semi-finals and championship matches Sunday.

Later prizes were awarded at the Country club to Crossover, who was medalist with a 67, and to flight winners, runners-up and consolation winners.

Sam Connor of Eastland won the championship consolation, beating Derrell Tully, 4-3. Roy Trower, the Ranger southpaw, won the first flight, 2-1, over the tall Elmer Norris, Jr., Ranger.

Benton Beasley of Fort Worth nosed Reuben Lindsey of Abilene in the second flight, with Red Milner winning in the third, 4-2, over Coach Red Petty of Eastland. George Van Horn of Rising Star got the fourth flight prize by beating O. J. Russell, one up. E. C. Feagan of Hamlin was the fifth flight champion, beating L. P. Bishop of Rising Star, one up, while Rupert Cole of Breckenridge won the sixth flight, 9-7, over Jack Collins of Eastland.

Third round results: Championship flight—Russell Crossover, Stamford, beat Bob Sikes, Eastland, 4-2; Doug Jones, Abilene, nudged J. T. Hammet, Breckenridge, one up, 19.

First flight—Elmer Norris, Jr., Ranger, bested Bill Tunnell, Rising Star, 2-1; Roy Trower, Ranger, laced Joe Elliott, Ranger, 3-2.

Second flight—Benton Beasley, Fort Worth, defeated Mason Altman, Abilene, 6-5; Reuben Lindsey, Abilene, beat I. A. Brunkenhoefer, 2-1.

Third flight—Red Milner bested Gene Alford, Rising Star, 2-1; Red Petty, Eastland, beat W. R. Cole, Ranger, 4-3.

Fourth flight—George Van Horn, Rising Star, won over Dr. Paul Woods, 3-1; O. J. Russell beat H. G. Jennings, Ranger, one up.

Fifth flight—L. P. Bishop, Rising Star, nosed W. C. Newman, one up; E. C. Feagan, Hamlin, beat Neill Sutton, Gorman, 2-1.

Sixth flight—Jack Collins, Eastland, defeated Burton Hones, Breckenridge, 6-4; Rupert Cole Breckenridge, swamped Bran Garner, Ranger, 4-3.

Here are the statistics on the battlers: Johnny—four feet tall, weight 60 pounds, aged nine years. The fish—three feet long, weight 40 pounds, and estimated to be older than Johnny.

RR COMM'N IN EMERGENCY MEET TUESDAY

An emergency statewide protraction hearing of the Texas Railroad commission will be held in Austin at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, a wire from the Abilene office stated today.

All operators were urged to attend.

East Baptist Revival Continues to Grow

In spite of the inclement weather, crowds have continued to attend the East Cisco Baptist revival, according to the Rev. Russell Dennis, pastor.

There were 22 additions to the church the first week. At the close of the service tonight, those who are candidates for baptism will be baptized.

The church building was filled to capacity Sunday night. If the weather permits Tuesday night, the services will be moved under the tabernacle, where there will be room for all.

The Rev. Graves Darby, the blind evangelist, is doing wonderful Bible preaching. He is assisted by A. V. Bradley of Fort Worth, musician. A cordial invitation to attend is extended the public.

200 Attend 4-H Banquet on Friday

Two hundred 4-H club boys, girls, their parents, and guests attended the 4-H banquet in the basement of the Methodist church in Eastland Friday night, June 14. A very interesting program featuring Joanna Drake, Norma Jean Huntington, Louise Eaves, and the Morton Valley girls in special music, Mrs. A. C. Pratt in a chalk talk, and Dr. Z. T. Huff, dean of Howard Payne college, in an inspirational talk, made the banquet a very pleasant occasion. Veda Ramsower, Morton Valley 4-H girl, acted as toastmaster.

This is the first time the 4-H boys and girls have attempted to have a banquet, said A. C. Pratt, assistant county agent, but the large attendance, and the fine spirit of cooperation shown by the 4-H members and their parents indicate that it was a success.

Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne college, was engaged to speak to the group, but he was unable to attend and sent Z. T. Huff to represent him. Dr. Huff, using "Loyalty," for his subject, made a very interesting talk, and through his talk and associations while here, he has won many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Nance and daughter, Mrs. Hartman McCall, and little Nancy Carolyn McCall left Sunday for Ada Oklahoma, for a visit with another daughter, Mrs. John Spier.

Army Plane Smashup Kills Twelve Fliers

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Twelve army fliers were killed today when two twin-motored Douglas bombing planes crashed from 2,000 feet over Bellerose, Queens, just within New York city.

THREE KILLED IN TULSA CRASH

TULSA, June 17 (AP)—Two flying students and an instructor were killed here today when two planes crashed in mid-air and plummeted to the earth in flames.

Ciscoans to Assist In Youth Crusade

The annual Methodist youth crusades are expected to begin within the next two weeks, to continue through August. The idea of the crusade, which is divided into "caravans," is to conduct encampments of study and play throughout the territory included in the Central Texas conference.

Miss Lela Latch, leader in young people's work in the Cisco church, and leader of a crusade last year, will leave soon for Georgetown, where she will conduct a caravan beginning with a training period there from June 29 to July 5.

She will be accompanied on her summer tour by four young people assigned to her, and their itinerary will include: July 6 to 12, Eddy; July 13 to 19, Central church at Fort Worth; July 20 to 26, Copperas Cove; July 27 to August 2, Breckenridge; August 3 to 9, Stephenville; August 10 to 17, Lake Cisco, and August 17 to 24, Clifton.

Miss June Morehart will also assist in a caravan, but her program has not yet been assigned.

Quickest, Perhaps, But Was It 'Sporting'?

RAWLING, Wyo., June 17 (AP)—It was the first time Tom Connelly ever had fished and so when he realized that there was a 32-inch, 13 3/4-pound Mackinaw trout on his line, he tossed the rod and reel down. Plunging into the water, he wrestled with the fish and finally landed it by hand. "I just thought that was the quickest way to do it," he explained.

A BEAR OF A FISH SHORY MONTEO, N. C., June 17 (AP)—

The fisherman knew he had a big one! He hauled in the line carefully. It was a 250-pound bear, dead only a day or so.

RED CROSS FUND ALMOST TO QUOTA

Contributions to the local Red Cross war relief fund have almost reached the doubled quota mark, it was announced today by Mrs. Chas. Sandler, chairman of the drive in Cisco, who appealed to the citizens to put the drive over.

She reported that $522 has already been received by voluntary donation, and that only $28 is lacking in the drive to complete the quota.

Latest donors to the drive are Mrs. Elizabeth LeVeaux, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Mendenhall, Mrs. W. R. Simmons and Mrs. O. U. Horn, Ibe.

Homemade Ark In Alaskan Waters

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, June 17 (AP)—Paul Satko guided the homemade Ark of Juneau into Alaskan waters at 11 a. m. Sunday, just fifty-six days after leaving Tacoma, Wash., to find a new home for his wife and seven children.

The cumbersome ark, a forty-foot cruiser, is powered with a 1926 automobile engine. Satko, jobless Richmond (Va.) welder, surprised Ketchikan welcoming committees as much as he did send-off committees in Anacortes, Wash., three weeks ago when he set out secretly on the international leg of his modern pioneering voyage.

Though still far from his announced destination of Cook Inlet, Satko had today accomplished what water front experts—and a Seattle court—had agreed was impossible. Where as the experts declared to a man that the ark would never reach Alaska, it arrived here with only a little more than the average number of accidents on its log.

Heart Attack Takes Air Center Chief

SAN ANTONIO, June 17 (AP)—Col. Augustine W. Robins, commanding officer of the air corps training center, Randolph Field, died suddenly of a heart attack at his quarters at 5:03 a. m. Sunday.

The 57-year-old Colonel, who has directed the expanded air corps training program through its first year, had apparently been in good health until a few minutes before his death.

Friday night, he returned to San Antonio by plane from Washington, D. C., where he had conferred with Major Gen. Henry Arnold, chief of the Air Corps, in connection with the training program, Saturday night, Colonel Robins dined in the city with his family.

CAPITULATION IS ANNOUNCED BY PREMIER

Hitler and Mussolini to Meet to "Discuss Situation"

BULLETIN
LONDON, June 17 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill reiterated today that Great Britain would fight on alone until Hitler is conquered.

After expressing sorrow for Britain's French allies, Churchill said in an international broadcast: "We have become the sole champion now in arms to defend the world cause. We shall do our best to be worthy of that high honor. We shall defend our island and with the British empire around us we shall fight on, inconquerable, until the curse of Hitler is lifted from the brows of men.

"We are sure that in the end all will be well."

BULLETIN
ROME, June 17 (AP)—Premier Mussolini will confer with Adolf Hitler in Munich tomorrow on France's request for armistice, a trustworthy source said today.

By Associated Press
France asked Germany for armistice today—the ninth nation to succumb to Hitler's armies in two years—as 84-year-old Marshal Petain, new French premier and World War "hero of Verdun," declared, "It is necessary to try to end the fighting."

A short time later a Berlin radio report broadcast the official announcement that Marshal Petain "has proclaimed France's capitulation" and Adolf Hitler would meet Premier Mussolini shortly to discuss the situation.

Petain announced France's readiness to lay down arms in a broadcast from Bordeaux.

"I made contact with the adversary last night, asking him as

REYNAUD REPORTED ON WAY TO AMERICA

LONDON, June 17 (AP)—A German radio report heard here tonight said that former Premier Reynaud of France had left Lisbon, Portugal, by plane en route to America. The announcer said it was believed Reynaud already was on American soil.

soldier to soldier to seek with me means to stop the fight," Petain said.

Even without the knowledge of whether the powerful French fleet would be involved in the projected surrender, Briain voiced a grim determination to "fight on to the end."

England was told by Sir Neville Henderson, the last British ambassador to Berlin, that a German invasion may now be expected "this month or in July."

FIGHTING CEASES DURING NIGHT

LONDON, June 17 (AP)—The collapse of France under Germany's military might was announced today by Marshal Petain, the new French premier, according to a British broadcasting corporation broadcast.

"The battle has had to cease during the night," Petain was quoted as saying. "I have approached the enemy with the view of finding out whether he would be prepared to put an honorable end to our hostilities."

Eyes on the Conventions

THE bird-and-snake fascination with which the American people are keeping their eyes glued on the terrible drama now stalking across Europe is causing a dangerous neglect of our own affairs.

Only about a week now remains before the republican party meets in Philadelphia to choose its candidate for the presidency. Three weeks after that the democratic party meets for the same purpose.

At the moment it is of course true that the present and future relations of the United States to the rest of the world are the most important concern of the people. Yet the president chosen this fall will be at the head of the government for four years. It is highly unlikely that the present war will continue that long. The incoming president will be faced with heavy responsibilities, not only to pilot the American ship through the present highly dangerous shoal waters of a world at war, but chart a course in the new and undiscovered seas which will open before us when the war is over. Of these we know nothing and can guess little, except that whatever the results of the war, they will almost certainly be different from anything we have known before.

THEREFORE the election of the president is not less important but more important than when only domestic issues are to the fore. There will be plenty of domestic issues in the post-war period, and the fact that they are temporarily obscured by the war does not mean that they will not come strongly to the fore by 1944.

Nobody can be elected president until he has first been nominated. So the current disregard of the nominating conventions is unfortunate.

NEITHER party can afford at this critical time to nominate any but the man it believes best-fitted to pilot the nation through troubled waters. Back-room compromises and strictly political jockeying will find little sympathy. All attention of political leaders in both parties should be concentrated on choosing the leader of highest possible quality and ability.

The conventions have become vitally important, because from one of the two meetings will emerge the man who is to lead a united America in the troubled days to come. This is democracy in action, and nothing will be more reassuring to the American people than a straightforward, serious, statesman-like job at the two national conventions.

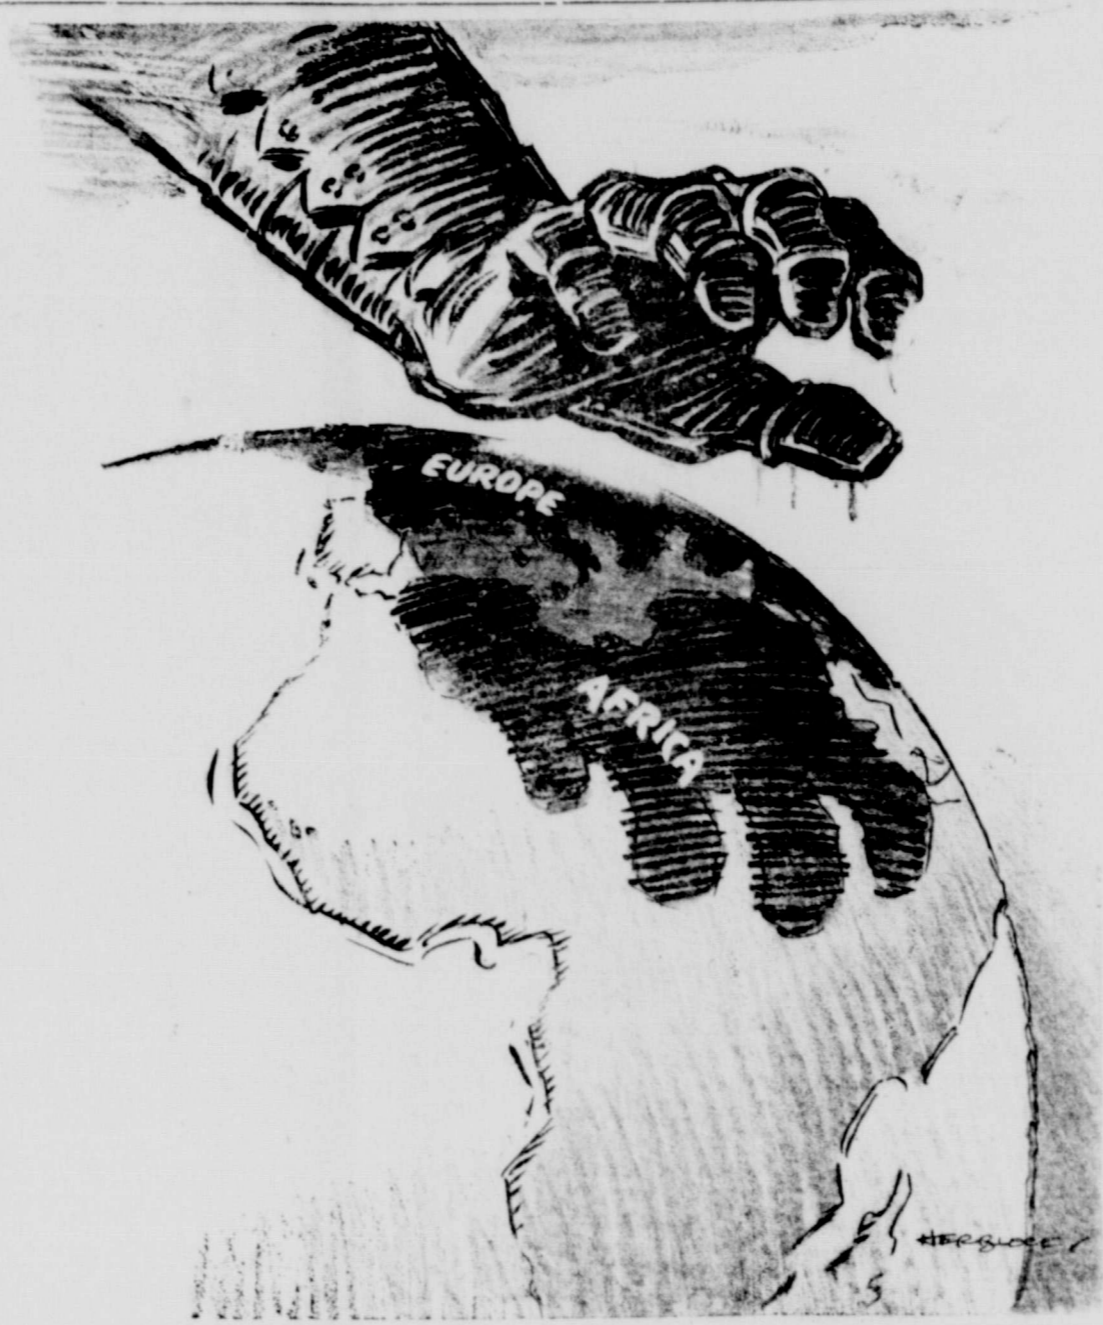

It is feared the nazis are attempting to incite the Indians to revolt against the U. S. The red men were the last we'd suspect of un-American activity.

The first corkscrew patent in the U. S. was issued in 1860. Before then, the pioneers were so hardy they just bit the tops off the bottles.

A henchman says it is Hitler's mission to make the world happy, the great job being, of course, that there is only one Hitler.

Haile Selassie is reported back on the warpath. His army, it is recalled, is the one that turns up invisible in a blackout.

The Dark Continents

News From County 4-H Clubs

One of the best swine demonstrations in Eastland county is being conducted by Jack Hodge, Morton Valley 4-H club boy, on his father's farm, three miles west of Morton Valley on the Breckenridge highway. This demonstration was visited recently by A. C. Pratt, assistant county agent of Eastland county, who pronounced it a very interesting piece of work.

Starting his demonstration with a weaned gilt last December, Jack made a self feeder so the pig would have access to grain, protein, and mineral feeds at all times. Water was provided in a clean steel drum with a hole about nine inches square cut in the top side at each end. This Billy Joe and Bobby Moore, Nolan Butler, Billie Henderson, Buster Wheat, Raymond Beck, S. W. Laminack, Jr., Winice Graham, and Sam and Dale Whately.

In connection with the tours, three 4-H dairy demonstration teams will give demonstrations in selection of a dairy cow. On the Monday tour, Bobby Jean and James Walker of the Rising Star 4-H club will give the demonstration, on Tuesday Curtis and Grady Redwine of the Alameda 4-H club will give the demonstration, and on Wednesday, Raymond Beck and S. W. Laminack, Jr., of the Morton Valley 4-H club will give the demonstration.

water of water trough keeps the farm cool and clean. It is impossible for the pig to get into the trough.

Sudan grass was planted this spring on about 1-4 acre adjoining the hog pen and the growing pig has had plenty of grain feed. The grain feed not only helps the growing pig to be more thrifty, but reduces the feed costs. Many authorities believe that the economical production of hogs depends in a large degree on the kind of pasture provided for the hogs to graze.

Jack made a very successful showing of his gilt in the Cisco and Ranger livestock shows held in March of this year. He is keeping a careful account of the expense involved in keeping a sow on the farm, and everything indicates a very favorable financial report at the end of the first year.

4-H club boys of Eastland county are participating in many kinds of contests now that the schools are out and they have more time to devote to other activities, stated A. C. Pratt, assistant county agent, today. The collection of insects and making a study of the best methods of controlling them, is being done by 30 4-H club boys in the county. Many of these boys report the work very interesting and profitable.

Six 4-H club boys in the county are engaged in the contest of "Selecting a Dairy Cow." This is a very timely subject, for in the Morton Valley community alone, there have been nine registered Jerseys purchased from out of the county since November 1, 1939. Several other boys throughout the county have purchased dairy stock also.

Five boys are engaged in the farm accounting contest, in which records are kept on an enterprise such as peanuts and maize, and on the complete farm enterprise.

Other boys are engaged in the rural electrification contest. This contest is conducted to make a study of electricity in the community, its practical uses, and a working knowledge of the principles of good lighting and electrical equipment.

In each of these cases except the entomology contest, gold medals will be given to the best boy. A gold medal will also be given to the boy with the best animal demonstration in the county in 1940. Another gold medal will be given to the boy with the most outstanding demonstration of any kind in the county in 1940.

H. A. Collins, Eastland 4-H club boy, is doing some outstanding work in plant propagation, according to A. C. Pratt, assistant county agent. "I am making lots of mistakes," said H. A., "but each time I make a mistake, I learn something."

Most of the work "H. A." has done is patch budding on nut trees, however, he has done some fine work with pear and apple trees.

Miller-Penney Conoco Teams Play Tonight

(By Softball Reporter)

Well, tonight should be a full night of entertainment at the soft ball field. Four good bouts have been arranged between white boys and Bubba is going to fight a negro from Eastland. After that, Conoco will play Miller-Penney. The fights should be very good, as they are well matched. J. V. Allen boxes Donald Flaherty, Bruce Watson and Travis Childers handle next, Bob Latson and J. C. Stockton fight third, and Dolinger and Callaman fight last. Following them, Bubba will show the Cisco people he can box.

Plans are just about completed for a colored night out at the park on Wednesday night, June 19. The game on that night between Scranton and Recreation will be moved up to Thursday.

On Wednesday four good colored bouts will be staged between boys from Eastland and colored boys from Cisco. After the fights, a colored ball game is scheduled

Heading for the White House?

The McNarys of Oregon

This is the seventh of a series presenting the republican candidates that may occupy the White House after next January. It is a study of the various possibilities and their wives will be interested.

AT 66 CHARLES LINZA McNARY is at last a republican presidential candidate. . . . Ever since he sponsored the McNary-Haugen farm bill in 1926, agricultural groups have been his constituency. . . .

The soft-spoken Salem, Ore., lawyer-farmer says the reason he is a candidate is to get a good sound farm plan on the G. O. P. platform.

He has long been an ardent airplane industry man, and big government power and navigation programs. . . . He has mid-age pensions before the New Deal.

McNary went to the senate in 1917 . . . for six years to G. O. P. floor leader.

Born of pioneer Oregon stock on an Oregon farm, McNary graduated from Stanford, served five years as dean of law at Oregon College of Law, Williamette. . . . Later, he was associate of the Oregon Supreme court.

McNary, sometimes called an animated Calvin Coolidge farmer at heart, loves nothing better than to get back to his Salem farm after congress.

His first wife was killed in an automobile accident . . . . Five years later he married Cornelia Morton of Walla Walla who knows quite a bit about politics herself.

Dairy Cattle Tours Planned on Three Days

Plans for three afternoon field tours to inspect the outstanding registered dairy cattle in Eastland county are being made by County Agent Cook and Assistant County Agent Pratt. The first tour will begin at 1:30 p. m., Monday, June 24, at the J. B. Eberhart farm, four miles north of Rising Star, and will end at the F. E. Walker home, Sipe Springs Lone Star plant, six miles east of Rising Star, about 4 p. m.

The second tour will begin at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, June 25, at the E. E. Blackwell farm, three miles north of Alameda, and will end at the Lee Deputy farm, four miles north of Desdemona, about 4 p. m.

The third tour will begin at the county agent's office, Eastland, at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, June 26, and will end at the S. L. Whately home at Morton Valley about 4 p. m.

On each tour a large group of interested people is expected to inspect outstanding dairy animals owned by 4-H club boys, FFA boys and dairy men. Groups of business men from each town in Eastland county are expected to join the farmers and farm boys on the tours.

On the Monday tour cattle will be seen that are owned by J. B. Eberhart, Cecil Shultz, Chas. Bell, A. W. Armstrong, C. L. Wilson, Bud Siekman, Bobby Irby, Harold Smith, Billie Forbes, Ira Swift, C. M. Cox, and F. E. Walker's sons, Jack, Bobby Jean, and James.

The Tuesday tour will visit dairy cattle owned by Ray and Herman Blackwell, James Calvert, L. C. Love, L. C. Cooksey, Alton Rogers, Curtis and Grady Redwine, Charles Sullivan, Bobby Wisdom, Kenneth Moore and Earl Erwin and Marion and Otto Dupuy.

The Wednesday tour will visit dairy cattle owned by T. E. Richardson, M. A. Clyatt, Doyle Town,

BRUCE CATTON'S AMERICAN ROUNDUP

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—You can write it down in your book that some change in the Johnson act, to permit war loans to the allies, will almost certainly be done within a year—six months.

Catton

It won't be done right away, and this session of Congress—if it adjourns in mid-June, as per schedule—is not likely to touch it. But if the session continues beyond June, or if there is an extra session later in the summer, an amendment is extremely probable.

There has been a great shift of sentiment in Congress. Six months ago any move to lift the ban on loans would have lost overwhelmingly. Today some of the men who were most outspoken against the idea last fall are privately talking in favor of it.

The shift is due to two things: a growing concern over the plight of the allies, and a feeling that to make the loans would be good for business—especially the agricultural business.

General belief is that the allies have all the money they need, right now, for planes and munitions, but that they are conserving their funds as far as possible by cutting down on purchases of farm products. Let the farm belt statesmen once get convinced that loans would boom farm exports and you're likely to see action.

Best way to put it is that as of today a majority in Congress is not ready to vote for loans, but is ready to sit down and let somebody try to sell the idea.

SQUALUS DISASTER CAUSED NO SUBMARINE CHANGES

THE sinking of the submarine Squalus off Portsmouth, N. H., just over a year ago, was almost unique among U. S. Navy submarine disasters in that it did not lead to far-reaching changes in the design or operation of submarines or their equipment.

Reason for that is that most peacetime submarine disasters are due to some fundamental defect and teach the navy something important about the use of these tricky boats. The Squalus sinking wasn't in that class; the boat sank simply because of a mechanical failure in an induction valve, and that failure proved fatal because of a simultaneous failure in an indicator which should have given sufficient warning of the mishap.

Changes in the gear in question to keep such accidents from happening again have been made—and that's all there is to it. The Squalus, raised and reconditioned, is back in service again, under the name of Sailfish.

NAVY CONSIDERING ANTI-AIRCRAFT CRUISER

IF battleships have to be re-armored to make them bomb-proof, there is a chance that some cruisers also will be re-designed in order to fit them for more aggressive action against airplanes.

All warships carry anti-aircraft guns, of course. But an idea which is beginning to take hold among some U. S. Navy officers is that it would pay to have a new kind of cruiser, definitely classed as an anti-aircraft ship. General idea is to make the vessel fairly bristly with anti-aircraft guns, range and height finders, and so on, so that it could protect the fleet against planes the way a destroyer protects it against submarines. It's likely that a few experimental ships of this type will be built before long.

● SERIAL STORY

AN EYE FOR A GAL

BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ROSSY McAFEE—went to college to play baseball, get an education, and settle a feud.
JUDY TOLLIVAR—daughter of Lincoln College's president.
HANNAH SHRIDER—hillbilly girl who followed Rossy to college.

YESTERDAY: Rossy signs his contract, is sure of a future as a pitcher. When Judy tells him that Dr. Tollivar is responsible for bringing the scout to Lincoln, even for bringing Rossy to school, he kisses her, then rushes away. The next day, Rossy and Dr. Tollivar drive to the hills, stop at the ball diamond, Dr. Tollivar tells Rossy that he was picked to kill Jay McAfee, that he threw the ball that knocked Jay unconscious. "But I did not kill him. He was killed by a blow by a member of your own family."

CHAPTER XII
 ROSSY McAFEE just sat there gasping and gulping and staring at Dr. Tollivar. Tollivar looked at him now, met Rossy's eyes. "I said that it was not the bean ball I threw that killed your father, although it knocked him unconscious. It was a blow on his head with a bar of iron, just back of this grandstand, that cracked his skull and was the actual cause of death. That was what I said."

"I heard ye," Rossy said, hoarsely. "But how you know when you hauled out? Didn't you turn tail and run after you seen what you had done?"
 Dr. Tollivar opened and shut his hands. His face was tight with remembered shame.
 "Yes, I did. To my everlasting grief I ran. I plead in defense the fact that it was all I knew to do. My branch of the Tollivars were cowards, I suppose—in a physical sense. We were never fighters, had no idea ever of becoming killers. My father left the mountains because of that. He them. There was no appearance of handcuffs, or the heavy hand of the law.

 Soon the small room was packed and Judge Jesse was clearing his throat getting ready for one of his typical courts that were not officially courts, but mountain justice. The last to appear was Scout Ike Hill, and Coach Hurd. Leverage pounded the table for order in court and said:

"Folks we are gathered together to settle something what's been hanging fire for nigh a generation, namely, to-wit, who killed Rossy McAfee's paw, and how come. Now, I allus have said to let sleeping dogs lie. But this pup wants wakening. Dr. Tollivar, will you stand."
 "Yes, sir, Judge," Dr. Tollivar said, and got up.
 "Was you the Tolliver boy what pitched that Fourth of July game when McAfee was beamed?"
 "Yes, sir, Judge, I was. But it was an accident. Not for the world would I have done it. I've tried to atone for it to Rossy McAfee. But I was the one." He sat down.
 Rossy, sitting between Judy and Hannah, felt Hannah nudge him viciously, with her elbow. "And he more than done it, too, fool. Pity he wasn't your paw. You'd be riding a pacing hoss."
 "Shut up!" Rossy whispered. "Stand up, Ike Hill."

THE scout stood at the court's order. "Yes, sir, Judge."
 "Was you, as this letter of yours I have before me, present at that same game, scouting?"
 "Yes, sir, Judge, I was. I'd heard of this Tolliver boy and wanted to see him in action. If he was as good as they said, he must be a house afire."
 "Then you seen the actual bean-ball—that right?"
 "Yes, along with a lot of people here. I saw what happened to be you seen him?"

 "I think so."
 "Look around. Is he here?"
 Hill looked around, and then back at Leverage. "He is here."
 "Sit down," Judge Jesse said. "One more point. There was a dispute about the McAfee lands and timber after he was accidentally killed. Seems McAfee was trying to keep neighborhood peace and not lose out in law by transferring his property to his half sister. Some men put their property now in their wife's names. But after he died the property was held back and kept."
 "Steve Hogg. You here? Will you stand up?"
 HIS face drawn and hard, Steve Hogg got up, holding to the chair ahead of him to steady himself.
 "Steve, how'd you feel about giving back that land and timber to Rossy McAfee and his maw?"
 "I—I think it could be arranged." Steve said thickly.
 "I'm all for letting feuds and such like sleep in thar graves." Leverage went on thoughtfully. "TVA and cyars should make thar sleep peaceful. Just the same, murder is murder, and I reckon, Constable, you mout as well as take your prisoner along. He'll feel better in their company."
 When Steve Hogg went out with the officer, joining the sheriff waiting outside, there was a moment of odd depression.

JUDGE JESSE cleared the atmosphere.
 "Now would thar be a gal and boy here who mout want to get married or something?" He beamed all over. "I feel it coming on me—the marriage ceremony. I could hitch anybody up in good law, recollect; and hit would make a powerful fine occasion to celebrate, so's we could have a square dance tonight, after a big barbecue supper. Of course, we aim to have the supper anyhow; but the dance—well, now, we ain't got no rightful excuse for the dance."
 He continued to beam, and the beam seemed to focus on Rossy McAfee, sitting between Hannah and Judy.
 "You needn't look at me, Rossy!" Hannah said. "I'm not even thinking about marrying, nor you nor anybody else! Life's beginning for me at 20, and I aim to get a college education and enjoy it before I get hitched up!"

 "Who was looking at you?" Rossy growled. "I'm looking at Judy. How about it, Judy?"
 Judy blushed furiously, and then dimpled. "Well, my mother took a chance on another wild Hell'n-Damnation baseball pitcher, and won her game; I see no reason why I shouldn't do as well. If you want, Rossy, I'll take my chances with you!"
 "Okay. There's the plate and the mumps and all we need do is go to bat."
 They moved up and stood before Judge Jesse Leverage, who yelled, "Play ball—I mean, do you take this here woman—"
